Suit Dismissed In Youngster's Death

By GARRY GRAU Herald Staff Writer

A lawsuit concerning the death of a 6-year-old boy last year in an abandoned refrigerator was dismissed Wednesday by Seminole County Circuit Judge Clarence J. Johnson.

Schultz suit, filed last June, charged that Lake Kathryn Estates and Zimmer Homes were negligent in failing to remove old refrigerators or their doors in abandoned trailers. The suit also alleged the park owners knew children used the trailers as playhouses and clubhouses.

Ethics Committee Lives By The Bible

The equivocation of the Senate Ethics Committee toward Sen. Herman E. That this should be true is a measure of the continuing disillusionment with Washington.

Following a Herald story last week on a new procedure for handicap parking, confusion erupted. The article was based on a new release from the Seminole County Sheriff's Department stating that Jan. 1 the four provisions needed to obtain handicap license plates has been changed to just one, a letter from a doctor stating the applicant is a severely disabled person with permanent mobility problems which substantially impair his (her) ability to ambulate.

Fourth, the new taglet allowing parking in handicapped areas can be screwed onto any license plate of a vehicle that the handicapped person is a passenger in. The tag, therefore, is issued to the person, not the taglet.

ANGLE-WALTERS It All Adds Up To Inflation

LIGHTER SIDE

How To Quit Gracefully

WASHINGTON (UPI) — I'll leave to others the debate over whether President Carter should have been in the race in the first place. The only indisputable point seems to be that he didn't get out of it in time. He waited until his legs turned rubbery, skin waxed, breathing labored. All of which are nature's way of telling you you should have stopped 20 minutes ago.

The tiny Aurora cemetery is often searched with hopes of uncovering the pilot's gravestone.

'Downed' 83 Years Ago

UFO Believers Still Look For Pilot

By TOM TIEDE
AURORA, TEXAS (NEA)—There's almost nothing to do in this north Texas farm community. The nearest city is Dallas, 45 miles to the east, and the nearest beach is on the Gulf Coast, down towards Mexico. The only business in town is a service station — and it's not open much anymore.

This wide spot in the road is a shrine to their convictions. Many years ago, they say, a great space ship fell from the sky and crashed here; the pilot of the craft was supposed to have been killed and then buried for the ages in this place. The tourists, they come to find the body, or what's left of it. They search the reported crash site, on a hill behind the gas station, and they study the grave markers at Aurora's small cemetery. If even a bit of bone can be found, they say, it will change the course of human history. A bit of bone? Most locals snicker up their sleeves at the visitors. The opinion among tourists is that the story of the dead spaceman is a hoax. At the same time, residents admit the hoax is founded on a vague fact; records indicate that something of this nature may indeed have happened here.

Bachelor Writes Masterful No. 1 Tune

TOKYO (UPI)—For five weeks now, Japan's top record has been a song in which a "husband and master" tells his bride-to-be to "keep quiet and follow behind me."

Mathematical Skills Declining

NEW YORK (UPI)—Math students are trying harder and doing worse, according to a report issued Thursday which puts the blame on the back-to-basics movement.

The saving grace of the tune as far as women are concerned apparently is the last line, "Don't die before me, you are my only true love."

Hiroko Yamagishi, a 33-year-old housewife, said the conclusion was "the most beautiful phrase I have ever heard."

Mrs. Yamagishi was one of more than 300 women who wrote to the newspaper Yomiuri Shinbun after it printed a letter from a young woman office worker who said "the song is an insult to women."

The newspaper reported that most of its correspondents disagreed, saying they enjoyed Sada's singing and message.

At a recent concert, women in their teens, 20s and early 30s flocked to the auditorium to hear Sada sing the hit record.

Although the status of women in Japan has improved considerably since World War II, they account for only about 5 percent of managerial jobs.

But a life insurance company's survey last year of fathers between their 20s and 50s showed only 41 percent thought they were the best bosses at home.

Hand Reattached, He Eyes Return To Basketball

DETROIT (UPI) — Surgeons report success in reattaching Todd Nadeau's severed right hand, and the suburban teenager says he'll give it my best shot in trying to resume his interrupted basketball career.

hospital today. Nadeau said he hopes he will be able to play basketball again this year. "All I've got to do is move it (the hand) a little bit," Nadeau said. "I'm a lefthander. If it doesn't hurt, I'll be out there. I'll give it my best shot."

Nadeau still faces "a minimum of four pretty good operations." In addition to the original surgery to reattach his hand, Nadeau has had five skin grafts. Larsen said he believes Nadeau will be able to play sports again, but was unable to predict how much use the boy will get out of the restored hand.

Night Of The Big One

Friday's a big night on the high school football front. There are some big games on tap. And some big rivalries.

Tack on a few big hopes, plus as many big disappointments, and it shapes up as quite a night. Seminole and DeLand are the oldest rivalry. But that isn't the only one going.

Check these goodies: Lake Brantley is at Lake Howell in the battle of the Lakes; Lyman travels to next-door neighbor Apopka; Oviedo continues an on-going A.A.A. war against Kissimmee; and on Saturday it's Class A warfare between Heritage Prep and Trinity Prep.

Lake Brantley 28, Lake Howell 7 — This is the week the Patriots take out earlier frustrations on the Hawks.

Lyman 31, Apopka 7 — The Greyhounds continue their undefeated streak, and again, it's the defense that gets the unsung hero award.

Kissimmee 7, Oviedo 6 — Figures to be a knock-out tussle all the way.

Trinity Prep 18, Heritage 14 — A close one, yes, but watch the extra points. A little can be a lot.

Watson Seeking $500,000 Year

ALTON, Ohio (UPI) — Tom Watson today began pursuit of his newest goal — to become the only golfer ever to win $500,000 in one year.

"It's a record that hasn't even been attempted yet," said Watson, looking toward what he calls the World Series of Golf. "But if I can finish first or second here, I can do it."

Watson already owns the PGA single season money winnings record with $477,000 so far in this year, topping his previous record of $350,000 last year.

"I'm in a real good frame of mind," he said. "I've taken the last couple of weeks off. My wife just had a baby on Sept. 13, and both mother and daughter are doing great. I figure if I win here, it will be a nice present for my new daughter."

The tournament is being played at the 7,179-yard par 70 PulteCountry Club South Course, a layout that has grown over the years to be one of the sturdiest tests for even the best golfers.

Lions Frosh Wins, 19-0

The Oviedo high freshmen football team won its first game on Wednesday night, 19-0.

GRANDMOTHERS NEVER HAD IT SO GOOD!

Ah, but the joys of grandmotherhood! Gloria Prosser, of sponsoring Jack Prosser Ford, passes out checks to the winners of last week's grandmother's tournament at the Mayfair Country Club. That's Jonnie Elam of Sanford in the middle and Grace Sayles of DeBary on the right.

Guidry Wins 12th Of 13

By United Press International It's a sad commentary, but Ron Guidry, acknowledged as baseball's best pitcher just a year ago, has suddenly become a forgotten man.

Guidry pitched a seven-inning Wednesday night and struck out 11 batters, bringing his season strikeouts total to 197 and helping the Yankees to a 6-3 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

In itself, the game meant nothing. To Guidry, it meant a personal gain. "In order to get strikeouts tonight, I was trying two good fastballs first and then a hard slider," said Guidry, who wants desperately to reach the 300-strikeout plateau. "I know I may be sacrificing the ERA title in trying for strikeouts and the ERA title is more important to me, but I only need three more strikeouts. If it rains Sunday (Guidry's next start)," trial, 10-1, Atlanta outscored Houston, 4-1, Cincinnati edged San Diego, 4-3, and Los Angeles defeated San Francisco, 8-4.

Elsewhere in the AL, Cincinnati led the Yankees to a 6-3 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

Occur Gamble knocked in four runs with a double and a homer to back Guidry, 18-6, who has now won 12 of his last 13 decisions and lowered his league-leading ERA to 2.82.

In the National League, New York downed Chicago, 8-3, Philadelphia routed St. Louis, 11-4, Pittsburgh clobbered Montreal 10-2.

Neil Miller and Dave Hlinick hit home runs Wednesday night in the Sanford Metro Softball Association to pace Oviedo Athletics to a 18-1 triumph over Oak's Corsair.

Three teams had for second place in a block of practices after recently falling and injuring her right collar bone.

Ozark Getting Feelers

NEW YORK (UPI) — Danny Ozark, whom everybody likes, has been getting feelers from a number of big league clubs.

The 34-year-old Kansas City Royals failed to win their division title for the first time in four years hasn't cooled off any outside interest in Whitely Herzog. Not only is he among the candidates for the Cubs' managing job, but he also could wind up in the front office with either the Mets or Padres.

Big John Toltz, who meets Gerrie Coon for WBA heavyweight title in Pretoria, South Africa, next month has been down from 24 pounds to 232 in the past seven weeks. The first words out of his mouth after finishing his workout and getting back to his camp was "I feel like a pig."

Chris Knappner for another on a 6-2 yard pass, George Dumas ran 13 yards for the other score.

LSU Picked To Upset So. Cal

By FRID McMANE UPI Sports Writer "Death Valley" and the "Snake Pit" are some of the nicknames opposing players have for the home of Louisiana State University's football team.

among it, they ain't seen nothing yet. Picking against the Trojans is certain to draw a lot of hooting and catcalls, but emotion is a major part of college football and LSU will be psyched to a fever pitch.

Michigan State 28 Wake Forest 8 — Playing on Tobacco Road, three days can be hazardous to your health.

It will be Southern Cal's first game over with LSU if they think playing in Los Angeles crown in seven of the past eight seasons.

Alabama, equally impressive in wins over Georgia Tech (30-6) and Baylor (42-0) — the week after the Bears beat Texas A & M which had just won the national championship.

McClendon's Success Puts LSU Boosters On Spot

By United Press International Those Louisiana State fans who are responsible for Charles McClendon's success as coach of the Bengals face a dilemma.

Alabama, equally impressive in wins over Georgia Tech (30-6) and Baylor (42-0) — the week after the Bears beat Texas A & M which had just won the national championship.

Florida State is the nation's highest-ranked independent and likely will still be in that position when the Seminoles visit LSU Oct. 27.

Such an upset would vault the 16th-ranked Bengals into the top 10 and probably earn national coach of the week honors for McClendon, eighth winging active college coach and president of the American Football Coaches Association.

A Germ Is Cause Of Tuberculosis

DEAR DR. LAMB - Would you please give me some information on tuberculosis? What type of disease is it and how do you know you have it? Is there a cure or prevention for this disease? Can you get this disease from one live a praporous life? I do not have the disease but my boyfriend does and he is getting treatment for it now. So it's a matter of my marrying or going our separate ways. DEAR READER - Tuberculosis is an infectious disease. It is caused by a germ. Actually the germ that causes it is called Mycobacterium tuberculosis. It is a long, thin, rod-shaped bacterium that can live in the lungs, but it can also live in other parts of the body besides the lungs. People who are in direct contact with individuals known to have tuberculosis should be tested to be sure they do not have the disease. Since your situation involves a personal relationship, I'll elaborate to emphasize to you again that the disease can be cured and then will not spread in most cases when a person is adequately treated. Since your boyfriend is under medical treatment, I'm certain that his doctor has already considered this aspect. There is no reason that tuberculosis should interfere with his leading a completely normal life. Whether it's praporous or not is another matter. It takes that kind of tuberculosis to spread to either his health or yours. You might want some basic information on how the lungs work, so I'm sending you the Health Letter number 2-4, "Keeping Your Lungs Fit." Others who want this issue can send 75 cents in check or cash with First Air Mail to the address enclosed for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1001, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10101.

Helen Hayes Thrilled By Mass Audience

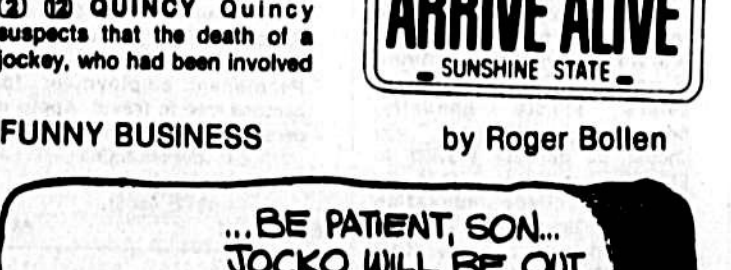

By JOAN HANAUER UPI Television Writer NEW YORK (UPI) - Helen Hayes won't let retirement come between her and a live audience of 80,000 people. That's the expected attendance at Yankee Stadium Oct. 2 when Pope John Paul II celebrates a papal mass in which Miss Hayes will serve as first lector, reading from Genesis. At one point in the program that focuses on the lives of old people, a resident of a retirement home interprets the attitude toward the old as, "Why don't you die?" "Well, at least don't interrupt," shoots back a woman resident. One of Miss Hayes' favorite segments of the show highlights the fact there are more than 110,000 Americans over 100 years old, by training the camera on a hard-working 106-year-old produce handler. "The script is another voice raised in defense of the old, or elderly, or whatever you call anybody's memories" by further Broadway stage appearances, after 10 years of "trying to wiggle out of the theater." But she can be tempted by something special on television - such as her appearance last year with First Air Mail in NBC's "A Family Upside Down." "The script of 'Miles to Go Before We Sleep' is another thing that did it for me," Miss Hayes said. The script is an hour-long documentary to be broadcast by PBS Sept. 29 at 8 p.m. Eastern time (check local listings), examining the high cost of mandatory retirement in the United States, both in monetary and human terms, narrated by Miss Hayes.

ABC Reclaims The Olympics

LOS ANGELES (UPI) - ABC-TV has reclaimed the Olympics, agreeing to spend at least $20 million for permission to broadcast the 1984 summer games from Los Angeles, more than three times as much as the previous record price. The agreement, announced Wednesday by officials of ABC, the International Olympic Committee and the Los Angeles Olympic Organizing Committee, appeared to be a major step down the road to profitability for the 1984 games, organized as a private project for a change. But it did not change a request from the city to the federal government for $14.5 million in aid to build better sports facilities. The network agreed to pay $20 million for the broadcast rights to the IOC and the Los Angeles organizers, and spend up to $60 million to provide services to foreign broadcasters. ABC executives said repeatedly they expect to make a profit, indicating commercial time during the 300 hours of broadcasting will not come cheap. Costing perhaps as much as $10 million a minute, the ABC-TV offer far surpassed that of the other bidders, and was much more than the $27 million NBC-TV paid the Soviet Union for the Moscow games. The income from the network, and the possible $14.5 million from the federal government, would give the organizers of the games an estimated $13 million in income, against $60 million in expenses, for a profit of $21 million.

Life Through Artist's Eyes

By DON REYNOLDS
Arts Council Cultural Coordinator for Seminole

Remember when, as a child, every moment of life was an adventure? In that respect, I've grown up, not because of non-productive learning, but just the opposite.

I am an artist, and like many thousands of other artists I have not lost that outlook on life. Like the child, the artist is a natural explorer. To the child every new image is analyzed through his senses and is absorbed. The artist, perhaps on the same mental plane, takes all of what he has absorbed through his senses and creates a newly formed image. This process repeats itself endlessly.

What is the reason or purpose for it? The difficulty of explaining begins... It begins, I suppose, with a great feeling inside, often unexpectedly and never enough. I refer to an elusive quality generally regarded as inspiration.

All of us have felt the frustration which accompanies our attempts to describe a moving experience, like a religious experience to some or the waking moments of a sunrise far out on the ocean, at which point we usually say, "You just have to see for yourself," or "You just had to have been there." Some of us must reach it again, however, and go searching for it, "it" being the perceived mental image that we must express in some physical way.

Sometimes this image is found again through bits of clay, paint, a movement or a melody just for the sheer excitement of seeing it again. Like any endeavor, if the process is repeated often enough by the person experiencing it, the subsequent ability to do it improves and with that a reflection of life is offered to the world, like an autobiography interpreted through colors, lines, symbols, shapes or forms.

Art is a force much like waves rolling and breaking upon a beach, each one seemingly competitive with the other to look the best as it performs, but all joined in unison to enhance the great body of ocean behind them. What is brought with this motion is laid before you to be disregarded as a worn piece of driftwood, or to be chosen and pulled closer, magically, like a perfectly formed sea shell.

We can characterize our times as being forever changing despite a futile effort by some who wish time would stand still. I suppose if time did stop, we could experience a constant set of values and standards in order to separate with certainty the good from the bad. But it does not stop. If we are to have any process at all, we must be willing and ready to accept change, even though like a hurricane, change can sometimes bring violent results.

"Our" strength lies in our individuality, to grow like branches of a tree in all directions to produce a balanced and visible whole. "If we are to honor our individuality, we must be ready to honor its expression."

Genuine art sells its own quality without subordinating itself to a product. It exhibits an assemblage, if you will, of elements, put together in a relationship to convey human feelings. "The means most frequently used are prose, poetry, music, the dance, the cinema, the theater, and the plastic and graphic arts. . . the last two groups include painting, prints, drawings, sculpture, ceramics, and architecture."

What is the importance of it all? One example can be identified, again, as in the beginning. The child who is given the opportunity to express him or herself with various materials is really learning the mental process needed to find solutions, creative solutions that can be applied now or later in any field, to solve a problem or to further advance a goal.

Today too many of our children are never put into that creative atmosphere and are not called upon to invent their own solutions. True leaders do not emerge from such a situation, only absorbing information fed to them but not contributing any information of their own making.

Russians Blast Carter For 'Threats'

President Plans TV Speech On Soviet Troops

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter will go on television Sunday night to report on the U.S.-Soviet deadlock over 3,000 Russian troops in Cuba, it was learned today.

Sources said Carter will discuss the latest developments — and probably his response to the Soviet Union — in the nationally broadcast talk.

Carter met Thursday night and again today with Secretary of State Cyrus Vance and other top national security advisers on the situation.

The meetings followed the breakdown of talks between Vance and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

Vance met with Gromyko in New York Thursday, then flew here to meet with Carter. Gromyko was to return to Moscow today.

"We're evaluating the situation and the response as a result of inconclusive talks," an administration official said today.

In the Senate, meanwhile, Sen. Nancy Kassebaum, R-Kan., introduced an amendment to the SALT II treaty under which the pact — even if ratified — would not take effect until Carter certifies the Soviets have no combat capability in Cuba.

Under the amendment, the president also would be required to tell the Soviets that any future combat capability in Cuba would jeopardize the continuance of SALT.

Senate Democratic Leader Robert Byrd termed the situation a "pseudo-crisis" and said there should be no connection between the presence of the troops and a decision on SALT II.

He told the Senate the troops have created a mood of "near hysteria" in some quarters although the Soviet combat group has been "long located but only recently identified."

In his address to the nation, Carter is expected to display sensitive information the administration has compiled on the Soviet combat presence in Cuba.

Carter has ruled out military action in the dispute, but is said to be considering pressuring the Soviets in areas of Russian interest.

Powell said earlier "sufficient information" would be made public, indicating it could include photographs and intercepted messages.

The Soviet Union assailed President Carter for "inventions, attacks, and threats" on the issue of Soviet troops in Cuba and called for a quick end to the crisis.

The official Tass news agency commentary came Thursday as talks in New York between Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and Secretary of State Cyrus Vance broke down over a solution to U.S. charges the Soviets have up to 3,000 combat troops in Cuba.

Carter summoned his top military and political advisers to the White House Thursday evening for a special meeting to discuss the stalemate.

"There is no doubt that the artificially started, artificially whipped up and absolutely unpromising venture has been protracted beyond any measure," Tass said.

"It is high time to end it."

Within the past few days Carter has set up a special committee, headed by former Defense Secretary Clark Clifford, to re-examine intelligence data gathered on Cuba. Other members include former secretaries of state Dean Rusk and Henry Kissinger and a number of officials from previous administrations.

Sweetwater Couple Sues Over House On Sinkhole

By GEOFFREY POUNDS
Herald Staff Writer

A Sweetwater Oaks couple is asking for a jury trial to determine whether the builder of their $100,000 home deliberately concealed the fact the home was constructed over a sinkhole.

Stanley and Cynthia J. Walwick have filed suit in circuit court seeking to gain the return of the money they spent for a home at 402 Sweetwater Cove Blvd. in the exclusive south county residential development. The suit lists Bradley Howard, Inc. of 107 Concord Drive, Casselberry, and E. Everett Huskey, who maintains several Seminole County offices, as defendants. The suit also asks the defendants to pay an unspecified amount of damages to the Walwicks.

The suit alleges that the builder of the home, Howard, "knew or should have known that the ground underneath the residence had shifted and settled to a great extent, that the trusses and supporting walls of the residence had collapsed and were severely damaged."

The Walwicks contend their home slopes 18 inches from a level plane and that Howard knew or should have known that the shifting and settling "created a dangerous hazard to any person attempting to occupy the residence."

It is further alleged that Howard was aware of numerous construction defects, yet he represented the home as suitable for use when the sale to the Walwicks was negotiated in June of 1978.

Howard "willfully, wantonly, capriciously and fraudulently or through gross negligence concealed defects," according to the suit.

Howard could not be reached for comment today, but his wife said by phone that he has been advised by his attorney not to comment on the case.

There are 17 homes in the Sweetwater Oaks development. They are marketed by Huskey Realty. The Walwick's suit alleges Huskey told the Walwicks that the defects to their home were normal and that they should not be concerned with the abnormal slope which developed in their home following construction.

Attempts to reach Huskey for comment this morning were unsuccessful.

If the case goes to trial, it is expected the Walwicks will present the findings of two firms which examined the home, Jammal and Associates, geotechnical engineers with a Winter Park office, and the architectural firm of Howard, Needles, Tammer and Bergendoff of Orlando.

Jammal engineers determined the slope of the home was a result of its construction of top of an active sink. A report by the firm states, "most of the settlement occurred during construction and most certainly had to have been obvious to the builder and/or his subcontractors since numerous corrective measures have obviously been taken to cover up or otherwise conceal the fact that the floor slab is uneven and that the framing, window and door openings are out of square and not plumb."

The report from the architectural firm also notes what its investigators claim are attempts to conceal known defects.

There are indications that some of these problems existed to some extent during construction," the report said. It stated that the garage door has been hung askew in the wall opening to compensate for the warp of the opening.

In July of this year, county building official Douglas Kerr examined the building and noted several building defects after which a letter was sent to Howard requesting him to correct the problems.

Construction On His Home

Lake Mary Tells Bennett To Stop

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

"No one in these days and times, can build a house alone," City Manager Phil Kulbes told the Lake Mary City Council Thursday night as the board instructed him to stop construction on a new home on Rinehart Road.

The house under construction for the past six months by Terry Bennett has run afoul of the home in violation of Southern Standard Building Code. Neighboring property owners are complaining it is not only a safety hazard but also piles of construction materials scraps are unightly.

And, Kulbes who had been visiting the construction site almost daily to offer advice and point out deficiencies in the early stages of construction has stopped giving this assistance.

He stopped after an attorney representing Bennett, according to Kulbes, threatened legal action for harassment.

Kulbes, displaying photographs of improper workmanship on the home, in violation of Southern Standard Building Code to the council, said he received a letter from Bennett's attorney threatening a lawsuit seeking $500,000 for harassment.

It has cost the city money to give Bennett help through

Southward, instructing the manager to "stop the hand holding."

Councilman Cliff Nelson said

'No one man can build a house by himself'

It is imperative that Bennett be ordered to cease construction. Bennett began construction on his home after he was ordered by the city to remove his wife and family from a tent he had placed on the one-quarter acre building site a year ago.

After he had plans prepared for the home he began construction last April. But, Kulbes told city councilmen Thursday night the man, inexperienced in the building trades, cannot build the house himself. "No one man can build a house by himself," Kulbes said. "He needs help."

Neighboring property owners represented at the city council meeting by William Colbert of the law firm of Stenstrom, Davis, McIntosh and Julian, said his clients were concerned about protecting the investments they have made in their homes. "My clients feel you are walking a fine line between rights — their rights and Bennett's rights," Colbert said.

Councilman Francis Mark told Kulbes to treat Bennett as he would any other citizen. The manager reported he had not charged Bennett to this point $10 inspection fees after items were disapproved. The council told him that the additional fees must be charged henceforth. — DONNA ESTES

Panel Suggests Vote On Tax Hike For Buses

The citizens advisory committee to the Metropolitan Planning Organization has recommended the calling of a public vote on a proposed special assessment to taxpayers in Orange, Seminole and Osceola counties that would generate additional funds for mass transportation.

By a 6-2 vote, with eight members absent, the advisory panel this week endorsed the plan for county referendums as put forth by John Hedrick, spokesman for the People's Free Transit Organization. The matter will now go before the tri-county MPO for a formal vote on Oct. 18.

"We expect to see the issue put to the voters in a referendum in March when the presidential preference primary is held," Hedrick said.

The plan Hedrick hopes to put to the voters calls for a $3 fee per month to every homeowner in the three county area and a $1 fee to non-homeowners. The fee would be included on monthly utility bills.

Hedrick said the estimated $6.6 million a year generated from the fees would be used to subsidize bus service and to increase the number of buses and routes in the metropolitan area. The plan also calls for a reduction in bus fares from 50 cents to 35 cents during rush hours and 10 cents during non-rush hours.

The Metropolitan Planning Organization is composed of officials from the three counties. They can recommend policies, but Hedrick's group will have to persuade the county commissions in Orange, Seminole and Osceola counties to put the special assessment question on the March ballot. — GEOFFREY POUNDS

Mayor Walter Sorenson and the individual council members did, however, promise to channel any extra money which becomes available to the voters.

And Chief Orioles pledged the department will do the best job it can. "We will offer fire protection until the vehicles freeze up," Orioles told the city council.

Orioles said it is imperative that personnel from his department continue receiving para-medical and emergency medical technician training. He also said the entire communications department and the fire truck.

Noting he did not favor cutting any of the three, he said however, of the three only the fire truck for the fire department was cut. In addition, he pointed to cuts totaling more than 40 percent in other proposed fire department expenditures for the department.

Orioles reminded the council he favored the tax increase and that the council had said if it did not receive voter approval, four police patrolmen would be cut, as would the entire communications department and the fire truck.

Orioles added the purchase of a new fire pumper which had been considered would include the fire hose needed.

When the tax referendum failed, not only was the proposed purchase of the new fire pumper eliminated from the budget but also eliminated was $7,000 in other proposed expenditures for the department. Among those cuts were $1,000 for education, $2,000 from motor vehicle repair and $900 from general operating supplies. The budget approved for the fire department was $10.67 million.

Councilman Francis Mark told Orioles that some members of the fire department are spreading the rumor that cuts were so severe in the budget we do not have the money."

Councilman Francis Mark said he felt he ought to be the city's public safety department personnel composed of both the police and fire units. "If we can get $10,000 together it will go to the fire department," he said.

Orioles also made it clear to the council that there is no way the fire department can raise the money itself to purchase a fire pumper, contrary to statements made by one citizen in the community. "We cannot go to a used fire engine lot and buy a fire truck," he said. "We do not have the money."
