$3 million bond vote Sanford expected to call for recreation needs referendum

By NICK PFEIFAUF Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - The city commission will discuss placing a $3 million bond referendum on a city-wide ballot on Oct 8. The bond issue has been determined to be the only way to finance the multi-faceted program.

The project calls for a swimming pool, to be located at Seminole High School, construction of four lighted athletic fields, a community center building and additional facilities at Pinecrest Municipal Park.

Financing of the swimming pool, estimated at $1.2 million, will be shared with the Seminole County School Board. The City and the School board would each pay $600,000.

The four atletic fields are also located on School Board property at Seminole High School. The plans call for two 300 foot softball fields, a 360 foot baseball field and a 200 foot youth baseball field. A Soccer field and 8 tennis courts are also proposed for the area. The Tennis courts would be constructed by Seminole High School. The City's cost for the baseball courts is estimated at $500,000

Projects at the Pinecrest Municipal Park are varied. The city staff estimates the total park project would amount to $2,005,200, but expect to drop the total down to $1.9 million. Included in the amount is the planned 26,580 square foot community center building estimated at $1.3 million, with an additional $96,300 for building equipment. Proposed recreational facilities in the building include a gymnasium for basketball and volleyball, a weight room, game room, and handball courts.

In a memo to the City Commission, City Manager Bill Simmons explained the adoption of the resolution must occur no later than the commission meeting on Aug. 26, in order for the referendum to occur as planned, on Oct.8.

The proposal is to be brought up Monday night, during the Sanford City Commission meeting, beginning at 7 p.m., at City Hall.

Rare koala birth in captivity

TAMPA - A secretive koala at Busch Gardens kept her baby well hidden, but the staff of the tourist attraction has finally confirmed the rare birth.

After two years of trying to mate koalas, the theme park has recorded its first birth among a group of Australian imports on permanent loan from the San Diego Zoo.

"We'd been suspecting since May, which was about the time it was born." said Glenda Gilmore, spokeswoman for Busch Gardens, "But if you don't see it, you can't confirm it,

The tiny koala poked a pink claw out of its mother's pouch about two weeks ago - just long enough to be spotted by one of the keepers. The koala hasn't been seen since and likely won't be in the public eye until October-

By that time, the fuzzy baby will make its way to his mother's back.

Koala pregnancies are hard to detect because the plump bears don't look any heavier and there's no medical test to try.

Attorney agrees to psychiatric help

TAMPA - An attorney in a high-profile rape case has agreed to get psychiatric help after authorities had him forcibly committed earlier this week under the state's mental health SW3.

Frank Vaccaro also withdrew Thursday from defending a man charged in connection with a reported rape at the home of a Tampa Tribune executive. Florida Bar rules say that a lawyer who has been committed for mental help is temporarily prohibited from practicing law. The lawyer must petition the Bar once he's discharged from treatment.

Vaccaro, who was taken to the county's mental health crisis center. asked that he be treated at the University of South Florida Psychiatry Center, said Vaccaro's lawyer, Paul Antinori Antimori declined to say what Vaccaro is being treated for, but said he will be given therapy that includes drugs and is expected to be released in 10 days to two weeks.

NEWS FROM THE REGION AND ACROSS THE STATE Community marches against drugs

By VICKI Deed Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - Seturday morning, about 75 young people took to the streets of Midway in an effort to take the streets back from drug dealers.

"I wanted to do something good for this community, Sabrina Givens said. "Even if it's only walking down the street it's saying something."

The protest against drugs and the drug dealers who operate along the streets of the small community west of Sanford was organized by the education de-partment of St. Matthew's Missionary Baptist Church on Main Street.

Cynthia Oliver, who overanw the planning of the event said that she believed that the time for intense education and action had come in Midway's fight against drugs.

"Telling them to just say no doesn't work any more," she said. "We have to teach them to do the right thing."

Doing the right thing was the theme of the youth revival that St. Matthews sponsored this weekend.

Sammie Stevens said that he agreed that the march was making a statement to the community that there was no room for drug users and their dealers in the Midway community anymore.

I don't think no one should do drugs," he said. "I wanted to get out there and tell them drug dealers to get out."

The march began at Midway Elementary School on Jitway, proceeded down Sipes Avenue and went down Main Street to the church.

Most of the young people who participated in the protest were recruited from local churches.

We sent out invitations to all the churches in the area." Oliver said. "And we got a fairly good response."

The settlement check written Wednesday covers an estimated $2,680 to patch up the builet holes and replace broken glass and $4,000 for mental suffering, said city spokesman Carlton Proctor.

'We've worked everything out with them, and we're quite satisfied." said homeowner Michael Ellis, who had threatened to sue the city if it failed to make a suitable offer.

Ellis and his 15-year-old son were asleep and his wife. Roberta, was watching television July 25 when lead began to fly. Mrs. Ellis dodged the bullets by crawling on her belly to a phone. She dialed the 911 emergency number to report the shooting.

Homicide detective charged with DUI

WEST PALM BEACH - The lead homicide detective for the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Office has been charged with drunken driving after witnesses say he hit three cars.

Police also charged Sgt. Lou Sessa, 41, with fleeing the scene of the July 11 accident and making an improper turn, but did not book him into the county jail.

Police said Sessa's blood-alcohol level was 0.28 percent. Under Florida law, a driver is presumed to be impaired with a blood-alcohol level of 0, 10 percent or higher.

West Palm Beach police said Sessa was not booked into the jail because he was taken to the hospital. Florida law requires drunken-driving suspects be either booked or held for four hours.

Sessa's attorney. Mike Salnick, said he would plead innocent at an Aug. 16 hearing.

EDITORIALS Photo reignited fate of MIAs

The Pentagon believes a fuzzy photo of three MIAs in Vietnam is a fake, a cruel hoax fabricated by a ring of Cambodian opportunists. There's no reason to doubt this conclusion.

Real or not, the photo has reignited the long controversy over the fate of 2,273 Americans missing in action during the war in Southeast Asia. The questions bubble up from a doubting public even though it's unrealistic to think that men missing for 20 to 25 years somehow will walk out of the jungle and rejoin their loved ones.

But hope is a powerful — if sometimes mischievous — force. The belief that some were left behind, alive, in Vietnam and Cambodia was not quelled when former President Jimmy Carter declared that the MIAs must be presumed dead. Nor did Carter's successor, Ronald Reagan, silence the questions with campaign promises to seek the return of prisoners of war, living or dead.

Now, it is the Bush administration's turn. U.S. military experts are in Cambodia, checking out MIA rumors. Bowing to presaure, the Pentagon announced recently that is assigning an additional 88 staff people to investigate the MIA and prisoner of war cases. The Pentagon has an obligation to try to discover what happened to those who disap-peared in the war. But adding 88 people — or 800 - to this mission is not likely to put the MIA issue to rest apon.

School bells will be ringing soon

Aug. 25, 1991 is the day Seminole County School children will be returning to school or beginning for the first time. The one exception is the children at Lawton Elementary School who are participating in the county's year 'round school experiment.

It is incumbent upon parents of first time school school enrollees to prepare their child for school, emotionally. The trauma of leaving home for the first time will be less acute if parents help their children to bridge the change. First parents must be ready to entrust their "baby" to the school. An anxious parent who has separation anxiety will transmit this anxiety to the child. The child's response to coming to school may be totally negative. He may cry, not want his parent to leave him at school, demand all the teacher's attention and not participate in the classroom activities.

Once parents have effectively dealt with their own separation anxiety, they are free to focus upon alleviating the natural stress associated with change that their child may be experienceing. It is a big world out there and all of us are apprehensive about facing unknown situations. Information about the situation will do much to alleviate concerns. A drive by their child's school will acquaint the child with the facility visually. Explanation about the roles of the principal and teacher will be helpful. The principal is in charge of the school. The teacher will help you and will depend upon you to help her. If there is a friendly responsible neighbor who attends the school, parents may enlist their aid in helping your child make the transition. If there is an older youngster who knows your child and will sit with him on the bus and walk him to the classroom this will be helpful. The neighbor's assistance to the classroom should only last for the period necessary for him to learn his own way. The neighbor should be responsi-ble because forgetting to pick him up for the trip home on the bus could be unnerving.

The greatest help parents can be is to realistically prepare their child for his new role as a student. Parents should take the child to meet his teacher and see his classroom, if the school has orientation for new students prior to school opening. This will serve to acquaint the child spite of all the preparation, when the inted day arrives our first time student may me a intie unnerved. Parents need to be become a intie unnerved. Farents need to be from and reasoning. Parents should refrain from selling their child that everything will be "wonderfal" at school because some days will definitely not be wonderful. It is better to explain that the teacher will help when he has a problem that requires help. He needs to understand that the teacher is responsible for all of the children in her room and has to share her time with all of the children. Encouraging your child to be self-sufferent and a team player in the classroom will contribute to his positive development. Before sending your child to achool be sure you have placed his name, address, phone number and teacher's name permanently and pro-minently on his school backpack.

Part of the problem has been that G-Men have been outmanned and outgunned by white-collar crime, and the resources have been allocated for the sexier shoot-outs. Few incidents typify this syndrome more effectively than the experience of William Crawford, former commissioner for savings and loans in California. He told us that he once had to phone the FBI 17 times to get them to respond to a case of fraud at North American Savings and Loan. The owners were practically carting off the vault, Crawford said, and he was helpless to stop a massive fraud in progress because the FBI was so swamped with other priority cases. In 1963, a boom year for bank fraud, the FBI had only 258 agents assigned to all such investigations. There were only about 337 special agents in 1987 to handle more than 11,000 cases. Crawford correctly points out that if he had called the FBI and said that there was an armed robbery in progress at North American Savings and Loan, police would have de-scended en masse. North American was shut down in 1966 and cost taxpayers approximately $209 million to ball out. Federal and thrift regulators have complied a list of the most egregious 100 top criminal cases at financial institutions. About 60 come from the nearly 700 thrifts already under the control of the Resolution Trust Corp., assigned the job of disposing of failed S&Ls. The crime wave hitting banks is such that the FDIC now puts out a newsletter to bankers exclusively focused on the latest film-flams and frauds In two of the most recent examples, the FDiC cracked a wire-transfer caper that spread to several major cities in which the perpetrators masqueraded as FDIC examiners claiming to be testing the system of electronic funds transfer. The bank's big corporate customers were contacted by these con men for the purposes of obtaining valuable information to accomplish the fraud.

Bush unpatriotic?

While President Bush gives billions of dollars to Gorbachev and promises billions more, the Soviets are rearming with a new urgency: Launching a new nuclear-armed submarine every 37 days; modernizing their ICBMs; producing a new generation of mobile missiles: continuing to produce long-range bombers; sustaining their fortress - Cuba; and maintaining an occupational army of 800,000 troops, with which they are bludgeoning their captive nations into subjugation.

The American taxpayers are being forced to help fund the above Soviet military build-up.

Patriotism means to support our country, It doesn't mean to support the President, excepting to the exact degree that he, himself, supports the country. It is unpatriotic not to oppose the President when he is doing a disservice to the country.

ELLEN GOODMAN Summit of the Absurd

BOSTON - Watching the two men sign the START treaty was a bit like witnessing Elizabeth Taylor's eighth wedding. God knows, you wish everybody well. But it's a little hard to get excited.

This U-turn in superpower relations - pass the pens, uncork the champagne - got us right back to where we started. Nine years of negotiations, and nuclear weapons were reduced by the amount they had been increased during the negotiations.

At the risk of being the cynic at the celebration, there was enough material to label this the Summit of the Abourd.

Absurdity One: The long-range nuclear weapons we all paid for turned out to be bargaining chips after all - for the long-range nuclear weapons we all paid for. First we built them, now we take them apart. It's like an international game of Chutes and Ladders. Only deadlier.

Absurdity Two: At the end of the lovefest see Barbara and Raisa hold hands, hear George and Mikhail toast friendship - relations between the United States and the Soviet Union were called "nearly normalized" This is what normal looks like: 16,000 nuclear weapons pointed at each other. And no test Absurdity Three: Having helped to wreck the Soviet economy - the arms race bankrupted them (moments) before it bankrupted us - we may now have to help stabilize their economy.

Nobody wants some Azerbaijani mayor with nukes in his neighborhood.

Abaurdity Four: The USSR is now declared a 'most favored nation." But the USA is still paying for 300,000 men and women of the armed forces to protect Western Europe from its most favored nation.

All in all, it's easier to name Liz's seven previous husbands - Richard Burton twice than to unravel the mysteries of our own international relationships. But the central question is why we are still paying for the war we've won: the war against communism.

Coming down from the summit high. It's fair to expect that a Cold War win should bring home a victory dividend. A big one.

Not a few people, including members of Congress like Rep. Barney Frank, whose sense of the absurd is sharply honed, think that it's time to take back some of the tens and tens of billions of dollars that go to NATO.

The money was originally supposed to defend Western Europe from the Warsaw Pact countries led by the Soviet Union. But the Warsaw Pact no longer exists. Czechoslovakia and Hungary aren't exactly a threat. And West Germany ian't afraid of being invaded by East Germany - they're one country.

As Frank pointed out in a recent speech, "We cannot afford today to help Poland reach democracy. We are too busy spending money protecting France and Denmark from a Polish invasion.

Of course there are still Soviet troops in Germany, but to lend irony to this theater of absurd, that's because the Soviets don't have housing or jobs for them back home. The Germans are now paying for the Soviet troops as a kind of foreign

ald. So, as Frank described the post-Cold War scenario: "The American troops that are in Germany to protect the Germans against the Russian troops that the Germans are paying for. are being paid for by the American taxpayers."

It should be noted, All in all it's by the way, that West Europeans enjoy all sorts of social amenities - like national health insurance - that Americans are told we can't afford. We are spending our own money protecting them from a "threat" they no longer feel.

We are also spending some $5 billion unreimbursed tax dollars - to protect the Japanese from the communists. We go deeper in the hole to pay for their defense and then we pay for their Toyotas.

My favorite line in this Summit of the Absurd came when Bush was lecturing the Soviets. "People must be free," he said. "to work, to save, to own their own home, to take risks, to invest in each other and, in essence, to control their own lives."

That sounds like a Democratic campaign speech. It's not a bad prescription for what is needed here. Jobs, homes, savings, investments - control over our own lives. A victory dividend is a good place to begin.

The pens they used to sign the START treaty were beaten out of scrap metal from old missiles. They make a nice souvenir. But it's much better to bring home the money.

A second example carries this lesson for consumers: Beware of above-market interest rates for deposits. Some investors who were lured by the too-attractive rates of interest on certificates of deposit wound up losing their money because they didn't fully understand what they were signing.

The FDIC is facing the depressing reality that Willie Sutton is alive and well wearing a business suit.

We then went home for hunch and back to the ball park for the afternoon contest. Night games were at least a decade in the future.

In the late 1920's the old Florida State League folded because of the Depression. It was revived in 1936 when Sanford, Orlando, DeLand, Daytona Beach, Gainesville and St. Augustine reorganised. Again. day mores were played. But by the start of the 1937 season all the teams had lighting systems - including two new additions to the league, Palatka and light be Night baseball caused minor league athletics to flourish all over the nation. And it did so until Japan attacked Pearl Harbor and once more lower class minor league baseball was forced to curtail operations.

No sooner had Japan surren-dered to the Allied Forces in August 1945, baseball fans evcrywhere wanted to resume minor league bamball.

Representatives of Sanford, Orlando, DeLand, Leesburg, Daytona Beach, Gainesville,

Paletka and St. Augustine called a league reorganization meeting a lengue reorganization meeting for the FSL in Tampa. Ed Higgins Sr., then manager of the Seminole County of Commerce - as it was then known - asked John Krider, Brailey Odham and us to attend the Tampa affair. We were delighted to realize that every city in the league prior to World War II was not only present but highly interested in reorganizing the league - and wanting to start operations in 1946. The Sanford delegation raced back to Sanford and attempted to line up a "players agreement" with some major league club or a high ranking minor league orga-nization. But it was not to be. Major and minor league clubs just weren't rendy to not that suddenly. So, the first thing Sensord had to do was to get some kind of organization - at least on paper. The Sanford Baseball Association was orga-nized officially. Postmaster Joel Field was named president and Claude Whiddon was crected ecretary-treasurer. The next thing was to select a manager and do so quickly. That didn't take long. Field felt Samford had a local man who had enough major league experience to do the job. His name was Ed Levy. Ed was a product of Rollins College. He was "all-everything" when he played for Baseball Coach Jack McDowall. Ed had been signed by the New York Yanhous right out of Rollins. It was pretty well figured that when Los Gebrig wound up his career with New York Levy would be the man to be the Yanhoes' next first baseman. But a back injury sidelined Levy and by the time he had recoperated the Yanhoes had sold him to the Philadelphia Athletics where Consis linck made an effort to convert him into an outfielder.

Company and the

But it didn't pan out. Levy returned to Central Floride. He eventually turned to golf. For several years he was the pro-at the Maylair Country Club. But when Levy signed to manage the FBL club in Senford he found he could handle the area around first base and he could still put the ball over various fences around the lengue - as many as three times an evening. Early in 1946 Levy picked up a bunch of "rag tag" ball players who had difficulty getting jobs with the more "organized" clubs and he led them to the finals of the FSL playoff. We'll tell you more of some of their exploits

The 1946 sensor, considered a success, left much to be desired in 1947 - so much so there was even talk of distanding the club and dropping out of the Florida State League. But in 1948 the New York Giant Farm System, under the direction of Carl Hubbell, catablished its base in anford. It took over ownership of the club, provided players, a manager, uniforms and everything else to make minor league professional baseball a success in Sanford.

So the question is: Why doesn't Sanford have ofessional baseball today? In the 1920's professional baseball dies because of the Depression.

In the 1940's World War II shut down minor league baseball in towns like Senford

In the early 1960's television took the spotlight and minor league baseball as we know it simply faded away.

Facts of sexually transmitted disease

The explosion of media communication, the easiness of traveling, the inherent curiosity of the human being, the lack of fear, the lack of knowledge, the expansion of medical knowledge have contributed to bring to the forefront of medical news the sexually transmitted diseases, (STD's).

HOUSE CALL

Today under this heading can be covered all of those diseases in which skin/mucosal contact and/or exchange of secretions is necessary for the transmission of the disease. Actual sexual intercourse is not a requirement for such transmission.

Sexually transmitted diseases are not limited nor encouraged by gender, race, age, religious beliefs, occupation or sexual practices.

The expansion of medical knowledge has been unable to explain some of the mechanisms used by the germs to win battles against the therapeutic schemes in place to combat this disease. Diseases that at one point were thought to be on the "run-out" of society are unfortunately on the "run-in."

Syphillis, "the great imitator," on the decline three decades ago, has resurged with the same old and some new presentations and problems.

Rotary Bowl becomes more attractive game

By TONY Deconum Herald Sports Editor

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS - As fund raisers go, the annual Rotary Bowl high school football game wasn't everything the Southeast Seminole County Rotary Club had hoped it would be.

After drawing approximately 6,000 fans for the Winter Park-Lakeland game in 1965 and about 5,000 for the Lake Mary-Evans contest in 1966, attendance has slid down to the 2,500 to 3,000 mark the last four years.

Good, but not great.

The problem is that because only leams that have been eliminated from the state playoffs can participate in bowl games, the Rotary Bowl - played the night before Thanksgiving - had taken on the aura of an "also ran" game. As a result, fans of the schools involved would come out to the game but the casual fan would be looking ahead to the first round of the playoffs, which is played the Friday after Thanksgiving.

"We needed to revitalize the game." said Larry Cowart. a member of the Rotary Bowl selec-tion committee, at the Rotary Club's breakfast meeting Friday morning at Maison et Jardin.

"Since teams who make the playoffs aren't eligible to play in bowl games, we're forced to take second-place teams. That's great for the programs of the schools and great for the kids, but we needed something a little more exciting to draw more fans."

On Friday morning, the Southeast Seminole County Rotary Club took what it hopes is a step toward correcting that problem by formally extending an invitation to Bethlehem Catholic High School, the defending Penssylvania Class

LAKE MARY - In determining whether or not the summer-ending banquet at Timacuan Country Club was a success. Junior Golf Association of Central Florida President Larry DeGenhart needed only to look into the sparkling eyes of the 200-plus youngsters as they watched a television idol hit range balls just a chip shot away from them.

Gary Player's mini-clinic highlighted the three hour festivity, which featured the winners of the JGA two-day tournament held on Monday and Tuesday.

Player, the only golfer to have won each of the four majors on the PGA and Senior PGA Tour, wowed the overall crowd of 500 with 15 minutes of golf and fun. His presentation was cut short by severe weather and Player scrambled to safety wihtout comment.

But the rain didn't dampen the spirits of either the junior golfers and their parents or the Golf Academy of the South students and Timacuan Country Club staff, who Bee Golf, Page 3B

Night fishing best bet during hot months for avid bass fishermen

would be wise to try some night fishing for the remainder of August. Torrid temperatures and the intense rays of the sun combine to burn out both fish and fisherman.

Night fishing provides a nice change of pace from the glaring sun and the poor fishing of the daytime. Summer bass are much more active after the sun sets, and they will feed heavily at night in order to avoid exerting themselves in the heat and bright sunlight.

I prefer to night fish around the full moon because bass are more active during this period and it is also easier to see for fishing and navigational purposes. Around the full moon period, it is light enough to tie a knot without the aid of a Nachlight!

There is nothing mystical about night fishing for bass because they basically feed in the same places as in the daytime hours. The only exception to this rule is that bass are often fond of moving up into swimming areas and boat docks after dark. Human activity in glasses for a good flashlight.

Died-in-the-wool bass anglers these areas often leaves white, sandy areas that makes prey easy to spot for hungry nighttime bass.

Many anglers believe that only noisy topwater lures are effective for base that feed in the dark. While it is true that Musky Jitterbugs and other outsized plugs are deadly, the quiet. slinky plastic worm is the alltime favorite lure for late night bass.

The most obvious advantage of fishing after dark is to escape the sun. Another fringe benefit is the peace and solitude. Many times, you will be the only angler on the water and the musical noises of insects and frogs provides a nice change from loud outbursts of giant outboards and churning water. Not only do you escape the sun and have some peace and quiet. but you will also catch larger fish. The average nighttime bass will be much larger than its daylight counterpart.

Why not beat the heat and catch some bigger bass? Try night fishing just one time, and you might trade in your sun-organized the affair. The crowd was the largest in JGA history and surpassed last year's attendance by over 300 people.

The program will do nothing but go up," promised DeGenhart at the banquet. "We'll try to upgrade the facilities."

DeGenhart is stepping down after two years as the tournament director but will still serve as the president. He plans to continue to give to junior golf through his new job as Golf Director at Eastwood Country Club, located outside of Oviedo. He hopes to get courses such as Interlachen, Lake Nona, and Bay Hill on the summer tour.

Aside from the trophy presentation, over $3000 in scholarships were given away by the JGA. Zeilwood Country Club Volunteers, Tee Times Magazine, and United Trophy. Recipients included recent Lake Mary graduate Rob Dazey, Mark Stephens, Cohlin Cone, Mickey Rudd, Connie Masterson, and John Convoy.

"It's been a great amount of fun because everyone is happy and because we've done something that no one else has done - double in size," DeGenhart explained. "That's pretty inspirational."

and the rest of the Rotary Bowl selection committee are now free to look for the single best Central Florida non-playoff team to take on the Bethlehem Catholic Golden Hawks.

On Friday, Cowart said that they would be looking beyond the Metro Orlando area - from which 28 of the 34 teams in the previous 17 Rotary Bowls have been drawn - and consider teams "from the East Coast to Tampa.'

Cowart believes that having a quality opponent like Bethlehem Catholic [12-2 last year and 79-17-1 over the last nine years under current head coach Bob Stem) in place will make the Rotary Bowl a more attractive alternative to non-playoff bound teams than the Kumquat Bowl.

According to DeGenhart, Ellis asked Player to do the clinic as a personal favor.

"Gary Ellis was a key player in opening a lot of doors this year," commented DeGenhart. "My hat's off to him."

Perhaps the best tribute to the Improvement of the JGA of Central Florida this season came from Longwood resident and Lake Brantley junior Michael Berzovich, who won the overall title with a record one-under-par 143.

"We've been playing great courses this past year," stated Berzovich, who won JGA events in his only two starts this summer. "It's been a very good organization. More and more people will keep coming (to the tournaments)."

And for DeGenhart, that would be the biggest compliment of them all.

Mike Berzovich

A portion of the gallery justered around the trailer used for the conference, cheered and applauded when golf's newest idol reported he had escaped a two-shot penalty.

The popular ruling upheld the 3-under-par 60 that Daiy ham-mered out of the vast acres of Crooked Stick, the longest course ever used for one of goll's Big Four events, and preserved Daly's three-shot lead going into Sunday's final round.

For a while, both his score and the dimensions of his lead, if not the length of his shots, were very much in doubt.

Jim Awtrey, executive director of the PGA, said at least three television viewers telephoned to question the action of Daly's caddy while he was playing the 11th green.

The caddy, standing about 2 feet behind the cup as Daly lined up a 25-30 footer for eagle, rested the base of the flagstick on the green as he pointed to the hole.

The action prompted questions from viewers concerning Rule 8-26, which prohibits touching the green on the line of placed.

"It was at least 10 inches to a fast outside the line of the putt." said Bruce Lietzke, who was on the dolleg hole, a 260-yard

"It might have bothered me if I'd got two shots." said Daly, a 25-year-old tour rookle, "but now I'm going to go ahead and see if I can win this thing."

There was no doubt he was the popular choice, a storybook hero from the ranks of the Ben Hogan Tour, the last alternate to get in the field and - to top it all - the longest hitter in the game with a 286-yard average off the tcc.

His emergence as the second-round leader brought the gallery flocking to his side - a gallery that two days ago didn't know his name and couldn't have picked him out of a twoman lineup.

Daly hooked his drive around carry, and left himself with only 170 yards to the hole - for him. an 8-imn.

Back on the tee, Lietzke bent over to put his peg in the ground, smiled wryly and shook his head in wonder. Then he hit a 260-yarder of his own, only to land 75-80 yards behind Daly.

And that's where the field was when the day's play was over and the fuss and furor of the ruling was done.

Kenny Knox, the chipper, short-hitting journeyman pro, hung in there with his putting touch and his scrambling and was tied for second with Craig Stadler at 208, 8 under par and three shots behind Daly.

Last year, for example, the Rotary Bowl pitted Dr. Phillips against Lake Mary. Dr. Phillips was 7-3 and finished fourth in 5A-District 5 while Lake Mary came in at 5-5, good for a share of fourth place in 5A-District 4. Meanwhile, Mainland and Winter Park, both 9-1 and the second-place finishers in their respective districts, squared off in the Kumquat Bowl. The Rotary Club is gambling

Your hair may need late summer boost

By LACY DOMEN Herald People Editor

SANFORD - Hair color consultant Beth Minardi said summer hair in Central Florida could be as faded now as summer clothing bought early in the season. You can color your hair at home for an end of season lift.

Minardi, named Haircolorist of the Ycar by American Salon Magazine, owna one of New York City's most prestigious hair salons and travels around the country for Clairol. But she grew up in Central Florida, and while recently visiting in Sanford ahe said ahe knows women here have special hair needs.

"It's natural to be concerned about the sun. and my feelings are you should take your cue from it. If your hair blonds naturally in the sun, beef it up a little. If red undertones in your brown hair are noticeable in the summer, enhance them!" she advised. Minardi said it's not a good idea to try and fool mother nature.

"Make what you've got going for you a little better. It is very difficult to go from one extreme to another, very dark to very blond for example. Some women can do it. Loni Anderson looks terrific, but she is definitely in the minority," Minardi said.

Skin tone and eye color should be a barometer to choosing hair color.

"Warm skin, warm hair color. Women with cool skin tones, alabaster or olive can go real blond," she said.

Minardi suggested rinsing chlorine out of your hair with club soda and conditioning your hair every time you shampoo in the summer.

"Of course the sun affects all hair, not just hair that has been colored." she mid.

Trends in hair color include better blonding. brighter colors, and more men coloring their hair at home.

"Men tend to want to be less gray. Women will experiment a little more. It's OK to color. It's safe and a beautiful way to accent the way you look," she said.

For anywors to any hair coloring questions you may have, call toll free, 1-88-252-4745, between 8:38 a.m. and 8:38 p.m., Menday through Friday or 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday.

Fall fashion fills shops, but we're not ready yet!

By LACY DOMEN Heraid People Editor

SANFORD - Fashion authorities are telling us it will be a plaid, plaid, plaid, plaid world this fall, but for now, Seminole County residents must contend with scorching heat and stores filled with tweeds and heavy woolens. What are we wearing to work as summer winds down but the temperature doesn'1?

Area professionals who must opt for suits make sure that what's under the jacket is comfortable and often a fashion statement. As a personal banking officer with Sun Bank in Sanford, Joann Turnbull may dress in a banker's pinstripe gray suit, but she always wears a shirt that is cool and feminine such as a short sleeved crisp white cotton one with touches of lace.

"I can remove the jacket at work, but if I have to run. I grab it and go," she explained.

Turnbull said she doesn't limit herself to dark, conservative colored suits. "More often than not, I wear bright colors. You might see me in a red or white suit. But yes, I almost always wear a suit."

Roy Vinson, executive director of Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford, also wears a suit daily: usually made of wool or a wool blend.

"It breathes and wears well. I just wear a summer weight wool, but it is very comfortable." Vinson said.

Although Vinson also must maintain a conservative image in his job, he makes a fashion statement under his jacket. Suspenders always hold his pants up.

"It's for fun, but all my pants have suspenders now. I like them." he said. Office manager Kathy Marshall, stays busy supervising business for Sanford doctors Quinn and Fraser, tending to husband and family, and finishing her college work at University of Central Florida. She opts for cuol comfort in an environment that does not demand a suit. Bee Fashion, Page 73

Ups always win out for fun couple wed 50 years

Around Sanford for the past 50 years, Mr. and Mrs. H.G. "Pete and Ruby" Echols have been known as a fun couple. Today, they still enjoy a good time.

If Ruby had to do it all over again, she said she "wouldn't hesitate" to marry Pete. Like most other couples, they have had their ups and downs, but the ups always win out.

At times, she said, "It seems like I have been married all mylife and again, it couldn't possibly be."

In celebration of their golden wedding anniversary, Pete and Ruby were the guests of honor at a southern style barbecue given at the Sanora Clubhouse on Aug. 3 by their three children, Lynda Carter, Terry Echols and Gay Barks.

About 60 close friends and relatives enjoyed chicken, ribs and all the fixings topped with entertainment by Darryl Brannon, a country singer and family friend, from Nashville.

Pete and Ruby were married in Sanford on Aug. 7, 1941. Ruby is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Peters of Valdosta, Ga. Pete is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Elmer C. Echols, founders of Echols Bedding Company.

Ruby is a well-known veteran hairdresser in Sanford. But today, she has traded the beauty business for the pleasure of the company of her seven grandchildren and seven greatgrandchildren. She also enjoys plants, flowers and gardening in general.

Pete ran the family bedding business for years and today, he helps his son with Echols Tree Service.

Ruby has some words of wisdom for those seeking a successful 50-year marriage: "Be very careful who you select and go into it with the intention, this June McFadden at Mary Kay.

During the service. Domarius, pretty and prim in a floral print dress complemented with a pink rosebud corsage, proudly Introduced her family to the congregation. Later, she said, "I am very, very thankful for my children and grandchildren."

The family presented the honorce with a 28-inch television set and an original Elizabeth Homecoming doll by Artist Cathy Barry-Hippensteel. Domarius raved over the doll and calling herself a "would-be collector" said, "If I just had the money. I would buy all those designer dolls you see in magazine advertisements."

Born Aug. 5, 1911. in Tallassee. Ala., Domarius is a graduate of Fort Deposit High School and is the only survivor in her class. She has lived in Sanford for about 52 years, not including several years when she moved back to Alabama. At 70, she became the bride of Julian Varn, a railroadman.
