

YOUR NEWSPAPER
Published in Florida's Heart
The World's Greatest Vegetable
Spot and Suburban Garden Land.

The Sanford Herald

THE WEATHER
Showers tonight and Friday with increasing winds Friday.

VOLUME XXIV Member Associated Press SANFORD, FLORIDA, THURSDAY, AUGUST 31, 1933 Price Five Cents NUMBER 252

STATE IS NOT MENAGED YET BY HURRICANE

Miami Meteorologist Says Storm Is Of Small Diameter And Of Slight Intensity

MIAMI, Aug. 31.—(A.P.)—Richard W. Gray, government meteorologist, said there would be no dangerous winds along the Lower Florida east coast during the next 24 hours despite the presence of a small tropical disturbance in the Bahamas near Long Island.

The storm is of only moderate intensity, Gray said, and of very small diameter. Long Island is approximately 350 miles southeast of Miami.

Radio reports from the Bahamas, he said, failed to show the storm is attended by dangerous winds. Winds of gale force are probably occurring over a very small area near the center of the disturbance, but Gray said there will be no dangerous winds in Florida during the next 24 hours.

Roosevelt Leaves On Yachting Cruise

POUGHKEEPSIE, Aug. 31.—(AP)—President Roosevelt set out to sea from the docks here today aboard Vincent Astor's yacht for a week-end cruise to Washington. Before leaving the President held a last-minute conversation with General Hugh S. Johnson, industrial administrator, who assured him that the new working agreement for the coal industry would be on his desk when he arrived in Washington Tuesday.

PLAN OFFERED FOR COMBINING POLICE FORCES

Huge Army Crusading Against Crime With Backing Of National Guard Is Suggested

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Aug. 31.—(AP)—A revolutionary plan to unite the nation's police forces into one huge army crusading against crime with the backing of the national guard and the regular army was placed before the American Bar Association yesterday by the man in charge of the government's war on racketeering and kidnapping—Assistant Attorney General.

The plan, which was presented by the man in charge of the government's war on racketeering and kidnapping—Assistant Attorney General.

CORPORAL GIVEN STIFF SENTENCE FOR ESPIONAGE

Found Guilty Of At- tempt To Transmit Military Secrets

PORT HERMAN, Canal Zone, Aug. 31.—(AP)—A sentence of equivalent to 20 years of hard labor was imposed last night on Corporal Robert Osman, of Brooklyn, N. Y., following conviction of violating the United States espionage act of 1917 in attempting to transmit secret military documents to America.

The defendant was found guilty after five minutes of deliberation in a court martial here following testimony by Osman himself that he was acquainted with a number of Communists in New York.

"Blond Tigress" Is Given 199 Years On Charge Of Murder

CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Jarman, called the "Blond Tigress" by police because of her alleged participation in holdups, was sentenced to 199 years in prison following conviction on a charge of murder in connection with the recent slaying of Gustave Hish in his haberdashery.

Her companions were: George Dale, her alleged sweetheart, also Leo Minnell, convicted at the same time. Dale, accused of being the actual slayer, was sentenced to death in the electric chair, while Minnell received a 199-year term.

Industrial Output Shows Increase But Employment Is Lagging, States Report

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(AP)—A 59 percent increase in industrial output between April and July, but with employment lagging far behind in this period, before the Blue Eagle movement is reported by the Federal Reserve Board.

"Employment has expanded at a much slower rate than production, as is usual in the early stages of recovery, since giving more work to those already on the pay rolls precedes the hiring of new workers," the board said in its monthly review of business conditions. "More than 1,500,000 persons were re-employed during the second quarter, but the number still idle in June approximated 11,000,000."

LONG REFUSES TO TALK ABOUT RECENT SPREE

Declines To Comment On Reported Offer Of $1,000 Per Day To Appear In Side Show

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Senator Huey P. Long arrived in New Orleans last night, fighting mad from his recent experiences in Milwaukee and New York and wearing the wound over his eye received in a fight in a New York club.

He flatly refused to comment on any subject put to him by newspaper reporters and he ordered 10 men who met him at a suburban station to prevent photographers from taking his picture.

Clifford Bell Killed At Coronado Beach

While teaching another person to fly an airplane over Coronado Beach this morning, Clifford Bell, of New Smyrna and a former resident of Sanford and the Chuluota section, was instantly killed when the airplane crashed into sand dunes. Max Massey, the pupil received a broken leg and body lacerations. Mr. Bell was the son of the late Captain and Mrs. A. B. Bell. They resided on Mellenville Avenue on what was known as the old Vaughn place. Captain Bell was head of the convict camp for many years. Young Bell married Miss Ruth McLain, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. McLain, of Geneva, some years ago. Prior to his departure for Detroit where he learned aviation, Mr. Bell was employed with his brother-in-law, W. L. Setz, in a general store at Chuluota. The Bells have been living at New Smyrna for several months. They have two small children.

JOHNSON SAYS NRA IS IN NO WAY CZARDOM

Denies Recovery Ad- ministration Is At- tempting To Make Business Goose Step

BOSTON, Aug. 31.—(A.P.)—Hugh S. Johnson denied yesterday that the national recovery administration was attempting to make business "goosestep."

"NRA is in no sense a czarism," the administrator told a mass luncheon meeting of recovery workers.

"It is a sort of rules committee where the great energies of the American industrial and labor forces are collaborating to make a new and fairer game out of business competition in this country."

Negro NRA Drive Is Reported As Having Success

The NRA program, carried into the homes of every negro resident of Georgetown and Goldboro Tuesday and Wednesday by a group of negro workers headed by Frank Harris and J. W. Knowles, has resulted in the signing of over 1000 cards pledging active support in the campaign.

This report came through Col. N. A. Newman of the local Campaign Army, who delegated Harris and Knowles to head the campaign drive in the negro section of the city.

Knowles, whose group covered the Goldboro area, turned in 536 pledge cards with the report that absolutely no opposition was met with, and that instead, every sign of evidenced much interest in the drive.

70 Millions Turned Over For New Work

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(AP)—The public works administration turned $70,000,000 over to the War Department for rivers and harbors work on 94 projects in all parts of the country today. It was a lump sum from the $3,500,000,000 public works fund and in addition to more than $48,000,000 already apportioned for flood control and harbor work for various projects.

The War Department said it would announce specific allotment for the 94 projects later. Army engineers said the $70,000,000 will provide 40,000 man-years of work meaning the employment of 40,000 men for one year.

Georgia's New Highway Board Is Held Legal

BUCHANAN, Ga., Aug. 31.—(AP)—A civil jury held late yesterday that Georgia's new highway board, born of a martial law regime, is legal.

It upheld contention of the state that Capt. J. W. Barnett, ousted by Gen. Eugene Talmdade as chairman of the highway board, had abandoned his office. It established a precedent in Georgia and (Continued On Page Three)

Georgia's New Highway Board Is Held Legal

TAMPA, Aug. 31.—Direct benefits to the citrus industry of Florida, from the NRA and allied movements already are in evidence in the North, according to E. E. Patterson, sales manager of the Florida Citrus Exchange, who has just returned from a campaign of the principal fruit market.

"Increased employment of labor at higher wages, reflecting itself in greater buying power, encourages dealers to feel they can sell more grapefruit, oranges and tangerines than they did last year," Mr. Patterson said. "If this enlarged demand is filled without glutting the markets, better prices will result, giving Florida growers a chance to realize at least their costs of production."

COOPER RETURNS FROM LONG TRIP TO VARIED SPOTS

Sees 'Great Possibilities' In U. S. Trade With Latin America

Enthusiastic over the business possibilities which he sees lying in a closer association with Latin America, local realtor and bond broker, who returned Monday after a seven-week tour through the Panama Canal, the West, and Canada, today declared that "America should awaken at once and take advantage of a situation which is made advantageous because of the friendly, courteous, and eager attitude of the peoples of those nations."

Briefly reviewing the tour which took him, Mrs. Cooper, and their son, Leroy Cooper, into widely separated and varied sections of the Western Hemisphere, Mr. Cooper stated that the trip through the Canal "made" the entire vacation as far as he is concerned.

COOPER RETURNS FROM LONG TRIP TO VARIED SPOTS

Mrs. S. E. Jones, who is head of the Women's Division of the local NRA Campaign Army, told Sanford Kiwanians gathered at the Montezuma Hotel yesterday that all that is needed in "this great crisis in our nation is faith, loyalty and patience."

In a short NRA talk, Mrs. Jones called the Kiwanian support in the local effort to put the program across to the people. She pleaded for a return of the days when American business men will again derive some pleasure from their work. She stated that only one rule is applicable to the conduct of the American people at the present time: "Whatever you would that men should do to you, do even so to them."

23 Kiwanians Give 1 Dollar Each For Florida's Exhibit

Karl Lehmann's "Friends of Florida" campaign received an entirely unlooked for and more or less sizable contribution yesterday noon, when at the conclusion of a Kiwanian Club meeting, 23 members of the club came forward to make donations of $1 each.

Mr. Lehmann had made a talk on the World's Fair. He told of the necessity for maintaining the Florida exhibit until the closing of the Fair, and he said that funds are lacking at the present time.

City Commission To Make Inspection Trip

At 8:00 o'clock this afternoon, members of the City Commission will gather at the City Hall for the purpose of making a final inspection of the city, inspecting the various projects which their owners have submitted to the high.

Commissioners have been examining claims for some time and will meet at 10:30 o'clock. Meetings also are held on Monday and Wednesday mornings, but next Monday's meeting has been called off.

Elks Will Visit Home For Crippled Children

Howard Overlin, secretary of Sanford Elks Lodge No. 1511 announced this morning that members of the lodge will start a motorcade to the Harry-Anna Memorial Hospital for Crippled Children at Umatilla next Sunday, leaving Sanford at 2:30 o'clock.

"We want every Elk in Sanford and every other person who is interested in visiting young unfortunate children," he said, "to join us in this motorcade and visit. We will leave the lodge rooms at about 2:30 o'clock, and we will have plenty of room for every person who cares to go. The party will leave Umatilla in plenty of time to arrive in Sanford before night."

Sum Allocated For Okeechobee Levees

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(AP)—The War Department allocated $4,500,000 of the $70,000,000 public works program funds to construction of locks and levees in Lake Okeechobee and the Caloosahatchee River flood control project.

1800 Consumers' Pledge Cards Are Signed By Citizens In NRA Drive

Having completed a house-to-house canvass of this city, a large delegation of women and a small committee of men, reporting to Col. R. A. Newman of the local NRA Campaign Army, stated that upwards of 1800 consumers' pledge cards were signed by willing housekeepers, merchants and employees on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

Mrs. F. E. Rounhill, who with Mrs. S. P. Preston, directed the activities of the women workers, stated that her group had gathered about 1100 cards, while Mrs. Preston's group had secured probably 400 cards.

Red Cross Sewing Room Being Moved

Local Red Cross officials today were busy removing their sewing rooms from the DeForest Building at Second Street and Sanford Avenue to the Smith Furniture Co. building on First Street.

Large supplies of old and newly made clothing, and yards and yards of cloth which is to be used in making clothes for the indigent, were removed to the new location along with sewing machines and other equipment.

RED CROSS MEET CALLED

Mrs. F. E. Rounhill of the local Red Cross Chapter this morning called a special meeting of the Chapter, to be held at the City Hall on Saturday afternoon at 8:00 o'clock. Meetings of special and vital importance are to be discussed, and all members are expected to attend.

Hearing Being Held On Kenney, Eckerson

Circuit Court Judge Millard H. Smith was presiding at a special hearing held today in the Court House in which a point in the case of Richard Kenney vs. Eckerson Fruit Canneries, Inc. was being argued before a jury.

A hearing was held last week and at that time attorneys for the Eckerson interests sought to have a writ of attachment on a large amount of canned goods, dissolved. Mr. Kenney's attorneys argued for a trial by jury to settle this point.

NRA GROUP TO MEET

Some very interesting problems having to do with the progress of the local NRA program campaign are to be aired at a meeting of the Advisory Committee tomorrow morning, according to Karl Lehmann, chairman of the Committee. This group will meet at 10:30 o'clock. Meetings also are held on Monday and Wednesday mornings, but next Monday's meeting has been called off.

Sum Allocated For Okeechobee Levees

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(AP)—The War Department allocated $4,500,000 of the $70,000,000 public works program funds to construction of locks and levees in Lake Okeechobee and the Caloosahatchee River flood control project.

Sum Allocated For Okeechobee Levees

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(AP)—The War Department allocated $4,500,000 of the $70,000,000 public works program funds to construction of locks and levees in Lake Okeechobee and the Caloosahatchee River flood control project.

Sum Allocated For Okeechobee Levees

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(AP)—The War Department allocated $4,500,000 of the $70,000,000 public works program funds to construction of locks and levees in Lake Okeechobee and the Caloosahatchee River flood control project.

Sum Allocated For Okeechobee Levees

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(AP)—The War Department allocated $4,500,000 of the $70,000,000 public works program funds to construction of locks and levees in Lake Okeechobee and the Caloosahatchee River flood control project.

Sum Allocated For Okeechobee Levees

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(AP)—The War Department allocated $4,500,000 of the $70,000,000 public works program funds to construction of locks and levees in Lake Okeechobee and the Caloosahatchee River flood control project.

Sum Allocated For Okeechobee Levees

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(AP)—The War Department allocated $4,500,000 of the $70,000,000 public works program funds to construction of locks and levees in Lake Okeechobee and the Caloosahatchee River flood control project.

The Sanford Herald

Published every Thursday except the first and last of August, Florida edition of the country with features of local interest in Sanford and New York.

Subscription Rates: Single Copy 10c; 3 Months $2.50; 6 Months $4.50; 1 Year $8.00.

Advertising Rates: 10c per line per week; 10c per line per month; 10c per line per year.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 31, 1933

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

FRUIT OF THE SPIRIT: Love, joy, peace, long suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance...

Max West is the latest to join the ranks of the NRA boosters. According to Sparky Kennon, the other day she said, "Why, she's a consumer some day!"

One of the most encouraging features about the re-orientation of the bicycle craze is that it may do away to a certain extent with the lack seat driver.

Germany has just authorized a special 10,000,000 mark fund for public purposes. In this country we don't have to have such a fund. We organized the NRA instead.

City Bankers For Loan To Meet Payroll on Friday—headline. No not in The Sanford Herald, but in the New York Herald Tribune. We're all in the same boat these days.

If Professor Moley's new magazine is as illuminating and exciting as the weekly column he has been conducting since March 4 for some of the newspapers, his new readers will die of ennui before they finish the first issue.

After reading Huey Long's account of his experience at the Sands Point Bath Club, we have come to the conclusion that an excellent occupation for him after the Louisiana electorate has cleaned up its politics would be writing mystery stories.

Postal savings accounts dropped from $1,184,900,000 in June to $1,176,800,000 in July, the first decline in a long time. That may indicate returning confidence in the banks, or a more active use of savings by the public.

Commending the new capital stock tax, James McMillin, New York correspondent, says that the simpler the law the harder it is to duck. The chief trouble with most of our laws is that they are so complicated that no one can figure out just what is supposed to be done, and hence everyone gets out of doing anything he doesn't want to do.

In New York City there is not only some difficulty with violators of the President's Agreement but also with picketers who encourage boycotts of concerns flying the Blue Eagle. A few pickets standing out in front of a store telling prospective customers that the Blue Eagle flies there unlawfully would wreck most businesses in a few days.

Attorney General Landis at the national convention of attorney generals predicted that Florida will have to resort to the general sales tax. Very likely that will be the big issue of the 1934 legislative election. But how many people would deliberately vote for a candidate pledged to the sales tax? And what else can any candidate do after being elected? The sales tax appears to be inevitable regardless of who may be elected.

Out of Miami comes the story that domestic help in that city is very scarce. NRA left household servants out in the cold. One woman complains that she had to work 12 to 14 hours a day and is paid only $5 a week by a man who is employing a Blue Eagle of his own. Instances of even less pay would probably be cited. But let her be to do household work if she doesn't want to, and the instance of this nature cannot be cited. The NRA will take care of the rest. The NRA will take care of the rest. The NRA will take care of the rest.

What's The Answer?

A friend of ours returning from New England tells a story about a tobacco grower in Connecticut who accepted around $50 an acre to take some of his farm out of tobacco production. When he received the money from his government, he agreed not to sell anything else grown on the land in competition with any other farm product.

Such instances as this lead us to the belief that nothing will work any better than the people want it to work. There are perhaps thousands of illustrations which might be cited to prove that you can't make a person any happier than he wants to be, that you can't legislate ambition into a lazy man, that no government is any better than the people governed.

We are now engaged in another great experiment. For three years six or eight million persons have been unemployed. For over one year ten to twelve million persons have been without jobs. They have suffered for want of shelter and clothing. They have gone hungry and have seen their children go hungry.

A giant organization has been set up in which employers, employees, and consumers, all over the country are asked to join. In furnishing jobs to unemployed. Employees are asked to contribute funds in the form of higher payroll schedules. Employees are asked to divide their accustomed working hours with others so that those who are now working, work less, and those who aren't working, can be given at least part time jobs.

During the past month it has become increasingly evident that practically everyone is anxious to signify a willingness to co-operate. Blue Eagles are being displayed everywhere. But it is not so certain that the Blue Eagle always means exactly what it is supposed to mean.

One good illustration of what some are doing has been furnished by the textile factories. They constituted the first industry in the United States to get together on a code which was given Presidential approval.

So more than two months ago, they speeded up their factories. They put on day and night shifts. They increased production to full capacity. But they did not increase wages at that time, nor did they reduce working hours. They were waiting for the final adoption of their code.

And it isn't only the employers who are ducking. Consumers too, and that includes some of the very employees and formerly unemployed who are receiving prime benefits from the program, are also showing traces of selfishness.

We have no way of knowing how general this attitude is, but if it is general, where will the NRA lead us? Is public opinion strong enough to force compliance? If violations are wholesale, can the government prevent them any better than it did for prohibition? Does it all depend on the charitable nature of human nature and the willingness to do something for another? Is the Golden Rule to be the only law enforcement agency? And if it is, can the American public make the grade?

Huey On The Way Out

Huey Long has been staying afloat much longer on the sea of politics than is hardly possible to conceive, but like sinking ships which plunge with unexpected rapidity once they have taken on a sizable amount of water, the Louisiana Kingfish appears to be in the last throes of his efforts to keep his head above the surface, and seems to be nearing a quick submersion.

Thoroughly discredited in his own home state, where every decent citizen bemoans the grip which Huey and his henchmen have on the reins of Louisiana's government, he has been scarcely less esteemed since entering national politics as a United States senator.

He has, by a clever trick of demagoguery, been able to gain a certain amount of following, this by lambasting Wall Street and by calling for a more equal distribution of wealth, despite the fact that he leads the life of an ultra-plutocrat, with high-powered cars at his disposal, with a beautiful mansion in New Orleans, with a wardrobe of scores of finely tailored suits of imported materials, and with a record for personally spending money like a drunken sailor when he goes out on a spree.

The Senator tells the folks back home he doesn't like the "big rich," but when he was in New York recently he approved of their company so much that he attended a social affair at the fashionable Sands Point Bath Club, where he became so offensive that one of the other guests took a poke at him and left a two-inch cut over the senatorial brow.

Even this escapade might be overlooked by his constituents, but Senator Long did something a few days later at Milwaukee, when he addressed the convention of Veterans of Foreign Wars, which will not be soon forgotten. His condemnation of all newspapers will be taken as a compliment by the press of the country, but his criticism of his own government in which he called it a "traitor" to its own cause and hoped the NRA program will be reorganized, and in our opinion, will be the last shovelful of dirt, so to speak, to completely bury him.

SANFORD, TWENTY YEARS AGO

Putting the results of their labors for the past month in the form of a typewritten document, Messrs. A. B. Johnson and H. C. DeBose, who have been preparing a financial statement of the affairs of Orange and Seminole counties have put the finishing touches to their task and filed the statement with Clerk B. M. Robinson for the consideration of the commissioners of the two counties when they meet Tuesday.

One of the worst fires that has occurred here in the past twelve months was that of the Virginia-Carolina Chemical Co. plant that was totally destroyed about 10:00 o'clock Sunday evening. The origin of the fire is still a mystery, although in a fertilizer factory there are innumerable materials that are most inflammable.

Mr. and Mrs. Vance Douglas are the proud parents of a fine girl baby and Clerk Douglas has another grand daughter. After an illness of three weeks Robert Henry Freeman died at the home of his daughter Mrs. Anna Walker last Thursday morning at 3:30.

The commercial associations of DeLand, Daytona and New Smyrna are making a request that the board of commissioners of Volusia county appropriate $2,500 for advertising what the county has to offer home seekers. Report shows that the net earnings of the last year for the United States Steel Corporation have been gratifying. One hundred and eighteen million dollars, as against $112,000,000 for the past year is the record.

Mrs. Gertrude Spear, of Oakland, is visiting at the home of Mrs. L. R. Phillips. Mrs. Peters, of DeLand, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. J. H. Cowan, of Sanford Heights. Mr. and Mrs. Henry McLain left Wednesday for a business and pleasure trip to New York.

Mrs. Zachary and her daughter Miss Beatie Zachary left Tuesday for a visit at Daytona Beach. Miss Margaret Wight is spending several days with Miss Nellie Elder at her beautiful country home. The regular meeting of the West Side Improvement Association will be held at the Robbins Next Thursday afternoon at 3:30.

Teachers Seeking To Get Acceptance Of Their NRA Code

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—The teachers of the nation know they don't come under a code, but they are volunteering.

So explained J. W. Crabtree, secretary of the National Education Association, yesterday as he awaited the arrival of Dr. Joseph Saunders, of Newport News, Va., head of the NEA committee on code to seek acceptance of a teachers code. Crabtree said the NEA hoped to get an audience with NRA.

"We understand that the blanket code is industrial, and education doesn't fall under it," Crabtree said. "We know, too, that many teachers are government employees, who don't come under the code. We are excluded. The question is whether they will let us come in voluntarily and comply with the requirements."

"If we can, it will cause boards of education to employ more teachers perhaps. Some teachers now are drawing as low as $30 a month, which is but $7.50 per week, far below code minimum wage requirements. "We believe boards of education would endorse the code, and would feel that to be loyal they should comply with at least a $15 a week minimum. "We feel if that kind of a minimum salary were recognized, even though at the moment the funds are not available to pay it, it would enable our profession to come back more quickly. "Our whole purpose is to come in and help out in a great cause."

Three Boy Scouts Are Rescued From Cliff Of Mountain

LAKE PLACID, N. Y., Aug. 31.—Rescued from the narrow ledge on which they had been trapped for two days, three Plattsburgh boy scouts were brought down through a wild Adirondack mountain trail last night from the great cliff of Wallace mountain.

They were hoisted from the two-foot shelf one at a time on the end of a 225-foot rope to a higher ledge from which there was a difficult, but not impossible trail to the bottom of the gorge 600 feet below.

Under a physician's care, the boys, Robert Glenn, 17, Tyler Grey, 19, and William La Due, 21, were weak and exhausted from lack of sleep and food when they arrived at a lodge six miles away, some hours after dark last night. They had passed 24 hours without food or water and had huddled together through a freezing night clad only in light hiking clothes.

Trapped early Tuesday morning when they found themselves unable to proceed higher or to retract their steps in their effort to climb the perpendicular wall of the cliff, they were without food until noon yesterday when rescuers succeeded in lowering oranges, sandwiches and water over the shelf high above.

The ledge on which they were snowed in 400 feet high and veteran mountain climbers in this section had thought it inaccessible. Their predicament had drawn scores of volunteer rescuers, including state police, the coast guard, the state conservation department, airplane pilots and expert climbers from all over the Adirondacks.

The boys were lifted from their perilous position by five men, who had made their way to a ledge above.

They lowered a one-inch rope, dropped to them by Fred McLane, Lake Placid pilot, and the boys, two of whom are eagle scouts, made the proper loops on the end of the rope. Bracing themselves against a boulder, the five men drew the youths to safety. All three had been lifted from their trap within a little over an hour after the rope was dropped from the plane.

Mimograph Printing TYPING Special Investigations SEMINOLE COUNTY CREDIT ASSOCIATION 2000 Bank Bldg. Sanford, Fla.

PRINTING We are equipped to produce first class job work at the lowest possible prices. Give us a trial. Herald Printing Co. Phone 144

Make your travels really before the colony season begins. We can give you prompt and efficient service. Martin's Garage. MARTIN 211 E. N. St.

LUMBER Long leaf yellow pine, white oak, cypress, etc. all kinds of building materials. Hill Lumber Co. 13th and Holly ZIP SERVICE Phone 125

They'll Cut Like New I I Surgical tools; all kinds of saws and knives; pruning tools of all kinds, etc. Expert saw filing. LAWN MOWERS Repaired and Sharpened Also For Sale. Have your work done by a real mechanic. J. W. SHADOIN 125 Elm Phone 719-W

DOZIER & GAY'S QUALITY PAINTS "Best For The South" Although painting costs are still near rock-bottom, prices are climbing rapidly. PAINT NOW — SAVE MONEY! STANLEY-ROGERS HARDWARE CO. 204 Sanford Avenue

Park your LABOR DAY TIRE TROUBLES here before they happen! START ON NEW GOODYEAR TIRE INSPECTION FREE Drive around—try our service before you start! PRICES STILL DOWN—most Goodyears now cost no more than they cost a year ago! Think of that! Cotton's up 100%. Rubber's up 100%. But you can still buy Pathfinder, the quality tires within the reach of all, at the prices shown here: GOODYEAR PATHFINDER 4.00-21 $5.55 4.00-17 $7.20 4.50-20 6.00 4.50-16 7.45 4.75-17 6.30 4.75-15 8.10 4.75-14 6.70 4.75-13 9.48 GOODYEAR ALL-WEATHER Supermarket Cord Tires World's standard of value because they're the world's best 7.20 and up. How's your Spare Tire? Will it carry you through the next time you need it? Better have us look it over for you. GUARANTEED Tire Repairing All Makes Our factory-trained repairman uses factory equipment and materials. We guarantee our repair to last the life of the tire. Estimate Free. ROCKEY'S TIRE SHOP Phone 265 Sanford S. Park Ave.

Social And Personal Activities

MARGARET FINNERS, Society Editor

Telephone Office 148

Personals

Mrs. Henry Russell has returned from Chicago where she spent several days.

Mr. Anna C. Carl, of New York City, has arrived to spend two weeks here with friends.

James Jarrill is expected to return from Savannah, Ga., on Saturday where he has been spending his vacation.

Miss John Higgins, who has been confined to her home on Park Avenue because of illness, is recovering rapidly.

Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Inabinet are moving from their former home to the Thresher Apartments to 117 Squamish Avenue.

Miss Maude Ramsey, who has been spending a month's vacation in Chicago and Jacksonville, returned to Sanford last night.

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Price returned to Sanford on Tuesday after spending two weeks at Wrightsville and Augusta, Ga.

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Tolar, and Mrs. Ralph, have returned from North Conway, New Hampshire where they have been spending several weeks.

Miss Hazel Harvey will leave for Philadelphia tomorrow afternoon where she will enter the training school of the Protestant Episcopal Hospital in that city.

Cards received in Sanford from Mrs. Robert Meriwether state that she and her daughter Ellen are enjoying a visit in Chicago and points in that section.

Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Sayer and daughter, Norma Jean, returned from Asheville, N. C., on Monday afternoon after having spent two weeks with friends and relatives.

Miss Alma Rowland returned home on Friday from Wrightsville, Ga., where she has been spending the past two weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Rowland.

John Morgan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Morgan, will return to Sanford on Saturday after having spent two months at Chincoteague, N. C., and in Chicago, attending the World's Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Lingle, and son, Glenn, Jr., and Maxwell Stewart, are expected to return from Chicago and points in Illinois tonight. They have been away for several weeks.

Miss Margaret L. Cox sailed Tuesday on the S. B. Algonquin from New York City for Jacksonville after spending the summer in Massachusetts and New Hampshire. Miss Cox is expected to arrive here Friday afternoon.

Among the Sanford persons who are expected to be in Lakeland tomorrow attending an important hearing related to the citrus industry are: H. M. Papworth, J. Linton E. Allap, and B. F. Haines, of Monticello Springs.

Mrs. Joe Bill and son, Joe III, who have been spending a few weeks here with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Bailey, will leave for their home in Georgetown, S. C., tomorrow. Mrs. Bailey will accompany them.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Papworth, who have been spending the past two weeks at Daytona Beach, have returned home. Mrs. Papworth expects to leave on Saturday for Asheville, N. C., where she will spend about a month.

Alvin Brannan, cashier at the Sanford-Atlantic National Bank, will leave tomorrow by train for Miami, Fla., where he will spend the weekend with his family. He expects to return on Wednesday morning.

Miss Alice Vinton left Tuesday for Jacksonville where she is board of the S. B. Algonquin for New York City. She will visit friends and relatives in New York City and she will spend two weeks visiting her brother, Eric, who is at the Lake Placid Club in that state.

DANCE
LARRY BARTY
COMING TO THE
THEATRE
FRIDAY, AUGUST 25, 1933

Scholarship Addition Will Be Held Tuesday

By entering an addition which is to be held at the home of Miss Mildred Nix, 2471 Palmetto Avenue, next Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, some young boy or girl of this city may be the winner of a scholarship worth $100 at the Stetson University. Marie School, it was announced today.

Silver Tea Is Given At Mrs. Clark's Home

A silver tea, held at the home of Mrs. W. L. Clark on Laurel Avenue yesterday with Mrs. Clark and Mrs. John Clark as hostesses, resulted in bringing further aid to the benevolent fund of the First Methodist Church.

Edmund Lowe, Nancy Carroll At Milan

Edmund Lowe, Nancy Carroll, Robert Armstrong, Law Cody, Warren Hymer and Dorothy Burges are featured in "I Love That Man," drama which opened today at the Milano Theatre. The film, produced for Paramount by Charles R. Rogers, was directed by Harry Joe Brown.

Lowe plays the role of a slick confidence man; Nancy appears as a girl of good background who realises, at the moment she meets Lowe, that he is the only man she can ever love. Though she knows he is a crook, she joins him on his tour of the country to separate every available sucker from every available dollar in a series of amazing "get-rich-quick" schemes.

LONG REFUSES TO TALK ABOUT RECENT SPREE

(Continued from page one) Island or on his experience in the New York club.

Two nuns who were reported to have had the train conductor pushed against them by Senator Long as he was collecting their tickets, said: "We prefer not to discuss it."

Senator Long sought to avoid newspapermen by leaving the train at a suburban station but he was met there by a delegation of photographers and reporters.

From the steps, the senator shouted to his guards: "Hit 'em! Don't let them take my picture."

With that the guards held the photographers so they could not use their cameras.

ABOARD TRAIN EN ROUTE NEW DELRANA, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Locked tightly in his drawing room, Senator Huey P. Long sped home last night, silent regarding a thousand dollar a day offer to appear in a Coney Island side show.

The self-styled Louisiana "Kingfish" avoided newspapermen and photographers, refusing to leave his compartment or grant interviews.

Stationed at the senator's drawing room door was a military aide who accompanied his chief to Milwaukee, where Tuesday Long addressed Veterans of Foreign Wars, gathered in annual convention.

At Memphis, Senator Long's car was visited by a battery of news men and photographers, but none

W. H. LONG
Bank Building 221 E. 1st St.

Social Calendar

TUESDAY.
First Baptist Church service will meet at 3:30 o'clock at the following homes:
Circle No. 1 will meet with Mrs. J. T. Newby, 1004 Palmetto Avenue.
Circle No. 2 will meet with Mrs. R. B. Pippin, West First Street.
Circle No. 4 will meet at the Church annex.
Circle No. 5 will meet with Mrs. R. W. Lawton, 308 Park Avenue.
Circle No. 6 will meet with Mrs. Uriel Blount, 221 E. 10th St.

Silver Tea Is Given At Mrs. Clark's Home

A silver tea, held at the home of Mrs. W. L. Clark on Laurel Avenue yesterday with Mrs. Clark and Mrs. John Clark as hostesses, resulted in bringing further aid to the benevolent fund of the First Methodist Church.

NRA To Benefit Citrus, Believes Sales Manager

(Continued from page 1) federal supervision of marketing, under which supplies can be regulated, in quantity and as to quality. The demoralized conditions that prevailed through the 1922-33 season caused nearly all of them to lose on the citrus they handled and in the main they realize their interests are exactly the same as those of the growers in respect to means of improving the situation.

"With the credit situation strained as it was, and still is, only the strongest wholesale houses were able to keep their heads above water and in some cases firms that previously had fine reputations found themselves forced to the wall by bad accounts with retailers and by a large volume of business on which no profits could be made. In rebuilding the citrus exchange sales machine for the 1933-34 season, we have been gratified that the best financed jobbers and the most efficient brokers prefer to handle Seald-sweet and Mer-juice fruits because of the grade and pack and for the reason they can depend upon regular supplies.

"Having for the most part gone into the red on their citrus operations last season, just as the Florida growers did, fruit distributors naturally have been watching economic developments closely for indications of a return to better times. In August, the outlook was reported as materially brighter almost everywhere I went. In automobile manufacturing towns such as Detroit, Indianapolis and Toledo, output much larger than for a long time is finding buyers. Furniture marts at both Grand Rapids and Jamestown were crowded with buyers. Household refrigeration equipment factories of the Middle West in some instances actually were working to capacity. Steel mills in the Pittsburgh, Cleveland and Chicago areas have been opening furnaces idle for several years. Textiles, paper, leather goods and numerous other lines are showing the upward trends."

Impressions gained by Mr. Patterson on his trip confirm the confidence expressed by official Washington that NRA activities will soon extend the employment of labor far beyond the index of last winter. Intent to support the movement, wholeheartedly is shown, he believes, in the demand for industrial codes that are practicable.

The Wisconsin-News regretted that the Senator did not remain to contribute to the "lively of the veterans' convention." It stated that one of the photographers removed from the municipal auditorium at Senator Long's request was a war veteran, and "his war wasn't fought in a washroom."

MEETINGS POSTPONED
All scheduled meetings of First Methodist Church Women's Missionary Society Circles have been postponed until Monday afternoon Sept. 11 at the same scheduled hour.

We Are Pleased To Announce That After Sept. 1st, 1933

Mrs. E. W. RIVE

formerly of Seminole County Title and Abstract Company will be associated with Title Guaranty & Abstract Company, 107 B. Park Avenue

Title Guaranty & Abstract Co.

By H. M. WATSON, Sec.

ABOARD TRAIN EN ROUTE NEW DELRANA, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Locked tightly in his drawing room, Senator Huey P. Long sped home last night, silent regarding a thousand dollar a day offer to appear in a Coney Island side show.

The self-styled Louisiana "Kingfish" avoided newspapermen and photographers, refusing to leave his compartment or grant interviews.

Stationed at the senator's drawing room door was a military aide who accompanied his chief to Milwaukee, where Tuesday Long addressed Veterans of Foreign Wars, gathered in annual convention.

At Memphis, Senator Long's car was visited by a battery of news men and photographers, but none

JOHNSON SAYS NRA IS IN NO WAY CZARDOM

(Continued from page 1) visionism. That is the new freedom. And the rules of that game are simple. For the consumer there is only one and I can say it in 17 words. "Buy under the blue eagle—buy freely and buy new to the limit of your present needs."

After recalling that the American revolution was not a rebellion against the British constitution but "resistance to economic pressure—a business exploitation," he said, "we are still a land of limitless resources. We are still a people of boundless energy. There is no more sense in starving in a land of plenty now than there was in 1776."

"The trouble is plainly and simply that producers have not received enough for their output to enable them to buy it back and keep our farms and factories going."

"That is the reason for unemployment and falling business, exhausted savings and abandoned homes. That is the reason and until that reason is reversed there isn't going to be any recovery."

"There is no use in pointing back at the 1928 boom and saying that prosperity is possible without change—God save us from any more prosperity of that pipe dream substance."

"The smoky dream was built on an expanding export trade which we got by lusting basted foreign customers lavish billions to buy our goods when we were already on notice that they could not or would not pay even a portion of other lavish billions they already owed us."

"Anybody who wants any more prosperity of that kind is a candidate for some economic Keely cove."

"I have yet to hear our President promise any magic cure for all this or proclaim any certain formula. What, in effect, he has said over and over again is that there are so many good things in this land of ours that there is enough to keep everybody happy if only we spread them more evenly."

"It would be essential that the direction of such a plan be concentrated under one head, the attorney general of the United States."

(Constitutional objections, he said, should be set aside "in this day of emergency.")

The constitution, Malley asserted,

should be made responsive to the "demand of its creation—that is, the preservation of the public welfare." At another point he declared that "America has spent $30,000,000 a year and waived its right to precious revenue to enforce an unpopular law. It should be prepared to spend twice the amount to stamp out this outrage (kidnaping and racketeering)."

The far-reaching proposal, which contemplated the arming of every law enforcement officer in the nation—sheriffs, policemen and all—with federal commissions, came a short time after the association's president had opened the annual convention with a declaration that federal laws are encroaching on the rights of states.

But the president—Charles E. Martin—also had warned that the crisis situation is getting out of hand and declared that "racketeering is a crime breeding and criminal protecting nation."

Malley declared that "we are facing a crisis in dealing with the problems of the racketeer and kidnaper."

"We should federalize the police forces of America," he said. "What does that mean? It means every United States attorney and his marshal and his assistant, every state and county prosecuting attorney, every sheriff and his officers, and every state police officer in the country would hold a commission from the federal government and be a unit under one directing head to take up the trail and make swift and sure the capture."

"It would be essential that the direction of such a plan be concentrated under one head, the attorney general of the United States."

(Constitutional objections, he said, should be set aside "in this day of emergency.")

The constitution, Malley asserted,

should be made responsive to the "demand of its creation—that is, the preservation of the public welfare." At another point he declared that "America has spent $30,000,000 a year and waived its right to precious revenue to enforce an unpopular law. It should be prepared to spend twice the amount to stamp out this outrage (kidnaping and racketeering)."

The far-reaching proposal, which contemplated the arming of every law enforcement officer in the nation—sheriffs, policemen and all—with federal commissions, came a short time after the association's president had opened the annual convention with a declaration that federal laws are encroaching on the rights of states.

But the president—Charles E. Martin—also had warned that the crisis situation is getting out of hand and declared that "racketeering is a crime breeding and criminal protecting nation."

Malley declared that "we are facing a crisis in dealing with the problems of the racketeer and kidnaper."

"We should federalize the police forces of America," he said. "What does that mean? It means every United States attorney and his marshal and his assistant, every state and county prosecuting attorney, every sheriff and his officers, and every state police officer in the country would hold a commission from the federal government and be a unit under one directing head to take up the trail and make swift and sure the capture."

"It would be essential that the direction of such a plan be concentrated under one head, the attorney general of the United States."

(Constitutional objections, he said, should be set aside "in this day of emergency.")

The constitution, Malley asserted,

PLAN OFFERED FOR COMBINING POLICE FORCES

(Continued from page 1) tancy General Pat Malloy.

The suggestion from the official, high in the Washington administration, shouldered interest in the organization's official attitude toward the national recovery program out of the picture. Comment ranged from protests that the project would be impossible to tentative expressions of belief that it might work.

The far-reaching proposal, which contemplated the arming of every law enforcement officer in the nation—sheriffs, policemen and all—with federal commissions, came a short time after the association's president had opened the annual convention with a declaration that federal laws are encroaching on the rights of states.

But the president—Charles E. Martin—also had warned that the crisis situation is getting out of hand and declared that "racketeering is a crime breeding and criminal protecting nation."

Malley declared that "we are facing a crisis in dealing with the problems of the racketeer and kidnaper."

"We should federalize the police forces of America," he said. "What does that mean? It means every United States attorney and his marshal and his assistant, every state and county prosecuting attorney, every sheriff and his officers, and every state police officer in the country would hold a commission from the federal government and be a unit under one directing head to take up the trail and make swift and sure the capture."

"It would be essential that the direction of such a plan be concentrated under one head, the attorney general of the United States."

(Constitutional objections, he said, should be set aside "in this day of emergency.")

The constitution, Malley asserted,

should be made responsive to the "demand of its creation—that is, the preservation of the public welfare." At another point he declared that "America has spent $30,000,000 a year and waived its right to precious revenue to enforce an unpopular law. It should be prepared to spend twice the amount to stamp out this outrage (kidnaping and racketeering)."

The far-reaching proposal, which contemplated the arming of every law enforcement officer in the nation—sheriffs, policemen and all—with federal commissions, came a short time after the association's president had opened the annual convention with a declaration that federal laws are encroaching on the rights of states.

But the president—Charles E. Martin—also had warned that the crisis situation is getting out of hand and declared that "racketeering is a crime breeding and criminal protecting nation."

Malley declared that "we are facing a crisis in dealing with the problems of the racketeer and kidnaper."

"We should federalize the police forces of America," he said. "What does that mean? It means every United States attorney and his marshal and his assistant, every state and county prosecuting attorney, every sheriff and his officers, and every state police officer in the country would hold a commission from the federal government and be a unit under one directing head to take up the trail and make swift and sure the capture."

"It would be essential that the direction of such a plan be concentrated under one head, the attorney general of the United States."

(Constitutional objections, he said, should be set aside "in this day of emergency.")

The constitution, Malley asserted,

should be made responsive to the "demand of its creation—that is, the preservation of the public welfare." At another point he declared that "America has spent $30,000,000 a year and waived its right to precious revenue to enforce an unpopular law. It should be prepared to spend twice the amount to stamp out this outrage (kidnaping and racketeering)."

The far-reaching proposal, which contemplated the arming of every law enforcement officer in the nation—sheriffs, policemen and all—with federal commissions, came a short time after the association's president had opened the annual convention with a declaration that federal laws are encroaching on the rights of states.

But the president—Charles E. Martin—also had warned that the crisis situation is getting out of hand and declared that "racketeering is a crime breeding and criminal protecting nation."

Malley declared that "we are facing a crisis in dealing with the problems of the racketeer and kidnaper."

"We should federalize the police forces of America," he said. "What does that mean? It means every United States attorney and his marshal and his assistant, every state and county prosecuting attorney, every sheriff and his officers, and every state police officer in the country would hold a commission from the federal government and be a unit under one directing head to take up the trail and make swift and sure the capture."

"It would be essential that the direction of such a plan be concentrated under one head, the attorney general of the United States."

(Constitutional objections, he said, should be set aside "in this day of emergency.")

The constitution, Malley asserted,

Georgia's New Highway Board Is Held Legal

(Continued from page one) gave Talmadge another victory in the courts.

The decision rendered in Hialeah County Court, held that J. J. Mangham, appointed highway commissioner to succeed Barnett, was legally appointed and legally obtained to carry out duties of the post.

The case, unique in annals of Georgia jurisprudence, was brought by Barnett. He sought ouster proceedings against Mangham, charging the Talmadge appointee had usurped the office. Mangham countered with a charge that Barnett had abandoned his office.

The court ordered a jury to decide the questions and since Monday both sides have poured evidence into the jury's ears. Most of the evidence was of a political nature, including many charges that Barnett had a subtle influence in political matters of the state even while he was chairman of the board.

The case went to the jury yesterday and was decided quickly. The ramifications of the case are many. It is the first jury decision in the Talmadge-Barnett feud. It brings the $10,000,000 federal appropriation for Georgia highways, held up pending settlement of the Georgia controversy, squarely back into the picture. Reports from Washington have said the government was holding the money until state courts have passed on legality of Georgia's new board.

The controversy began several weeks ago when Talmadge ordered the highway department under martial law and removed Barnett and W. C. Vason, another member of the board. Dispute of the board and retention of engineers provoked the controversy. The governor later removed the martial law restrictions and appointed Mangham to the chairmanship.

The case, unique in annals of Georgia jurisprudence, was brought by Barnett. He sought ouster proceedings against Mangham, charging the Talmadge appointee had usurped the office. Mangham countered with a charge that Barnett had abandoned his office.

The court ordered a jury to decide the questions and since Monday both sides have poured evidence into the jury's ears. Most of the evidence was of a political nature, including many charges that Barnett had a subtle influence in political matters of the state even while he was chairman of the board.

The case went to the jury yesterday and was decided quickly. The ramifications of the case are many. It is the first jury decision in the Talmadge-Barnett feud. It brings the $10,000,000 federal appropriation for Georgia highways, held up pending settlement of the Georgia controversy, squarely back into the picture. Reports from Washington have said the government was holding the money until state courts have passed on legality of Georgia's new board.

The controversy began several weeks ago when Talmadge ordered the highway department under martial law and removed Barnett and W. C. Vason, another member of the board. Dispute of the board and retention of engineers provoked the controversy. The governor later removed the martial law restrictions and appointed Mangham to the chairmanship.

The case, unique in annals of Georgia jurisprudence, was brought by Barnett. He sought ouster proceedings against Mangham, charging the Talmadge appointee had usurped the office. Mangham countered with a charge that Barnett had abandoned his office.

The court ordered a jury to decide the questions and since Monday both sides have poured evidence into the jury's ears. Most of the evidence was of a political nature, including many charges that Barnett had a subtle influence in political matters of the state even while he was chairman of the board.

The case went to the jury yesterday and was decided quickly. The ramifications of the case are many. It is the first jury decision in the Talmadge-Barnett feud. It brings the $10,000,000 federal appropriation for Georgia highways, held up pending settlement of the Georgia controversy, squarely back into the picture. Reports from Washington have said the government was holding the money until state courts have passed on legality of Georgia's new board.

The controversy began several weeks ago when Talmadge ordered the highway department under martial law and removed Barnett and W. C. Vason, another member of the board. Dispute of the board and retention of engineers provoked the controversy. The governor later removed the martial law restrictions and appointed Mangham to the chairmanship.

The case, unique in annals of Georgia jurisprudence, was brought by Barnett. He sought ouster proceedings against Mangham, charging the Talmadge appointee had usurped the office. Mangham countered with a charge that Barnett had abandoned his office.

The court ordered a jury to decide the questions and since Monday both sides have poured evidence into the jury's ears. Most of the evidence was of a political nature, including many charges that Barnett had a subtle influence in political matters of the state even while he was chairman of the board.

The case went to the jury yesterday and was decided quickly. The ramifications of the case are many. It is the first jury decision in the Talmadge-Barnett feud. It brings the $10,000,000 federal appropriation for Georgia highways, held up pending settlement of the Georgia controversy, squarely back into the picture. Reports from Washington have said the government was holding the money until state courts have passed on legality of Georgia's new board.

The controversy began several weeks ago when Talmadge ordered the highway department under martial law and removed Barnett and W. C. Vason, another member of the board. Dispute of the board and retention of engineers provoked the controversy. The governor later removed the martial law restrictions and appointed Mangham to the chairmanship.

The case, unique in annals of Georgia jurisprudence, was brought by Barnett. He sought ouster proceedings against Mangham, charging the Talmadge appointee had usurped the office. Mangham countered with a charge that Barnett had abandoned his office.

The court ordered a jury to decide the questions and since Monday both sides have poured evidence into the jury's ears. Most of the evidence was of a political nature, including many charges that Barnett had a subtle influence in political matters of the state even while he was chairman of the board.

The case went to the jury yesterday and was decided quickly. The ramifications of the case are many. It is the first jury decision in the Talmadge-Barnett feud. It brings the $10,000,000 federal appropriation for Georgia highways, held up pending settlement of the Georgia controversy, squarely back into the picture. Reports from Washington have said the government was holding the money until state courts have passed on legality of Georgia's new board.

The controversy began several weeks ago when Talmadge ordered the highway department under martial law and removed Barnett and W. C. Vason, another member of the board. Dispute of the board and retention of engineers provoked the controversy. The governor later removed the martial law restrictions and appointed Mangham to the chairmanship.

The case, unique in annals of Georgia jurisprudence, was brought by Barnett. He sought ouster proceedings against Mangham, charging the Talmadge appointee had usurped the office. Mangham countered with a charge that Barnett had abandoned his office.

The court ordered a jury to decide the questions and since Monday both sides have poured evidence into the jury's ears. Most of the evidence was of a political nature, including many charges that Barnett had a subtle influence in political matters of the state even while he was chairman of the board.

The case went to the jury yesterday and was decided quickly. The ramifications of the case are many. It is the first jury decision in the Talmadge-Barnett feud. It brings the $10,000,000 federal appropriation for Georgia highways, held up pending settlement of the Georgia controversy, squarely back into the picture. Reports from Washington have said the government was holding the money until state courts have passed on legality of Georgia's new board.

Lindy Visits Land Of His Forefathers

HELSINGBOR, Sweden, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh visited the land of his forefathers a few hours today when he and Mrs. Lindbergh were guests of the Swedish Crown Prince and Princess at their summer residence. They went from Denmark to Sweden and returned by ferry.

The controversy began several weeks ago when Talmadge ordered the highway department under martial law and removed Barnett and W. C. Vason, another member of the board. Dispute of the board and retention of engineers provoked the controversy. The governor later removed the martial law restrictions and appointed Mangham to the chairmanship.

The case, unique in annals of Georgia jurisprudence, was brought by Barnett. He sought ouster proceedings against Mangham, charging the Talmadge appointee had usurped the office. Mangham countered with a charge that Barnett had abandoned his office.

The court ordered a jury to decide the questions and since Monday both sides have poured evidence into the jury's ears. Most of the evidence was of a political nature, including many charges that Barnett had a subtle influence in political matters of the state even while he was chairman of the board.

The case went to the jury yesterday and was decided quickly. The ramifications of the case are many. It is the first jury decision in the Talmadge-Barnett feud. It brings the $10,000,000 federal appropriation for Georgia highways, held up pending settlement of the Georgia controversy, squarely back into the picture. Reports from Washington have said the government was holding the money until state courts have passed on legality of Georgia's new board.

The controversy began several weeks ago when Talmadge ordered the highway department under martial law and removed Barnett and W. C. Vason, another member of the board. Dispute of the board and retention of engineers provoked the controversy. The governor later removed the martial law restrictions and appointed Mangham to the chairmanship.

The case, unique in annals of Georgia jurisprudence, was brought by Barnett. He sought ouster proceedings against Mangham, charging the Talmadge appointee had usurped the office. Mangham countered with a charge that Barnett had abandoned his office.

The court ordered a jury to decide the questions and since Monday both sides have poured evidence into the jury's ears. Most of the evidence was of a political nature, including many charges that Barnett had a subtle influence in political matters of the state even while he was chairman of the board.

The case went to the jury yesterday and was decided quickly. The ramifications of the case are many. It is the first jury decision in the Talmadge-Barnett feud. It brings the $10,000,000 federal appropriation for Georgia highways, held up pending settlement of the Georgia controversy, squarely back into the picture. Reports from Washington have said the government was holding the money until state courts have passed on legality of Georgia's new board.

The controversy began several weeks ago when Talmadge ordered the highway department under martial law and removed Barnett and W. C. Vason, another member of the board. Dispute of the board and retention of engineers provoked the controversy. The governor later removed the martial law restrictions and appointed Mangham to the chairmanship.

The case, unique in annals of Georgia jurisprudence, was brought by Barnett. He sought ouster proceedings against Mangham, charging the Talmadge appointee had usurped the office. Mangham countered with a charge that Barnett had abandoned his office.

The court ordered a jury to decide the questions and since Monday both sides have poured evidence into the jury's ears. Most of the evidence was of a political nature, including many charges that Barnett had a subtle influence in political matters of the state even while he was chairman of the board.

The case went to the jury yesterday and was decided quickly. The ramifications of the case are many. It is the first jury decision in the Talmadge-Barnett feud. It brings the $10,000,000 federal appropriation for Georgia highways, held up pending settlement of the Georgia controversy, squarely back into the picture. Reports from Washington have said the government was holding the money until state courts have passed on legality of Georgia's new board.

The controversy began several weeks ago when Talmadge ordered the highway department under martial law and removed Barnett and W. C. Vason, another member of the board. Dispute of the board and retention of engineers provoked the controversy. The governor later removed the martial law restrictions and appointed Mangham to the chairmanship.

The