Soviet Fliers Land Safely In California

Establish Un-Official World's Record Of 6700 Miles In Hop From Moscow To US

Plane Comes Down With Leaky Tank

Army Officer Greets Group, Flying Them Back To Army Field

SAN JACINTO, Calif., July 14.—(AP)—The Russian trans-polar fliers landed here safely after 62 hours in the air during which they flew more than 6,700 miles from Moscow to this city, establishing a new unofficial world record for the distance.

The plane landed in a field about three miles from town. The gasoline tank was leaking but the fliers made a safe landing.

Three Soviet fliers, Pilot Mikhail Gromov, Co-Pilot Andrei Yumoshin and Navigator Sergel Danilin, were unable to speak English to the townspeople who gathered to the plane.

The second trans-polar flight far exceeded the first which recently ended at Vancouver, Wash., after a hop of 5,288 miles.

Major Victor H. Stahn of the Army flew here from Houston Marsh Field and greeted the fliers. He then took them in his own plane to the army field.

For a time yesterday, as Michael Gromov and his two companions battled a storm over the Canadian northwest, it seemed possible they would switch their course and come down in Chicago or New York. But a Canadian National Airways station agent at Uk sighted them at 4:23 P. M. E. S. T., on their original route.

Their flight over the North pole in a single-engine Ant-25 type plane of exceptional power and endurance, was a steady procession of obstacles overcome and objectives achieved. They sought the better record of Paul Godes and Maurice Rossi, who flew non-stop from New York to Syria, a distance of 5657 miles.

LEADING FIGHT ON COURT PLAN

Senate debate on President Roosevelt's court bill reached the height of angry dissension when Senators O'Mahoney of Wyoming and Bailey of North Carolina, both Democrats, took the floor and assailed the plan bitterly. They are shown laying plans for their oratorical battle. O'Mahoney stands at the left.

Hunt For Fliers May Be Given Up By Navy Saturday

Authorities Are Pessimistic Over Ever Locating Lost Pair

HONOLULU, July 14.—(AP)—Naval authorities directing the vast aerial search along the Equator for Amelia Earhart and Fred Noonan, world fliers, reduced the number of searching planes today and indicated the hunt may be abandoned Saturday.

The fliers, now missing 12 days, are feared lost in the Pacific. Sixty planes from the aircraft carrier Lexington failed to locate the fliers yesterday.

Three planes from the battleship Colorado, the vessel itself a mine sweeper and coast guard cutter also have failed to find the fliers.

Many Navy officers believed the chances of finding Miss Earhart and Noonan remote; that they were lost with their ship, beneath the waves.

For days, the search was made by sea and air, first by a British freighter and the minesweeper Kwan, finally by the battleship Colorado, which catapulted three planes into the air repeatedly to search the tiny islands in the area, and of the intervening sea.

Summer-Gram Campaign Of Florida Power And Light Co. Proves Success

With nearly 200,000 of the cards distributed throughout the state for mailing, the Summer-gram campaign of the Florida Power and Light Company will come to a close Thursday, July 15, H. H. Coleman, manager of the company here, announced today.

The spontaneous response of the citizens of Florida to the campaign far exceeded company expectations and the original number of cards ordered had to be increased several times. Thousands of residents have mailed these cards to people they know residing outside the state, inviting them to spend their summer vacation in Florida.

Citizens of Sanford and vicinity have done their share, Manager Coleman said in reporting that thus far 430 cards have been distributed here. Of this number 270 were deposited in the box at the company's offices and postage on these was paid by the Florida Power and Light Company.

Although the campaign was launched but little more than a month ago—first announcement being made June 6—signs of its success are already apparent. Numerous reports have been received in company offices throughout the state from people who said they were impelled to come to Florida this summer by the Summer-gram cards.

Various company indices, such as the number of customers on power lines, show that not only are there more people in the state than there were at this time last year, but that in most instances, the percentage of growth is markedly above the normal.

Manager Coleman said, "The company sought in this campaign to aid in popularizing Florida as a summer resort. It is our belief that our many summer advantages will attract thousands of summer visitors if more attention can be called to them. By having the citizens of the state actually co-operating, not only were thousands of people reached but they were reached in a most effective manner. We believe that the results speak for themselves."

A short session of the Municipal Court will be held in the Police Station this afternoon at 5:00 o'clock, Chief of Police Roy G. Williams reported today.

Athletic letters and scholarship awards for outstanding student activities during the last month of the school year have arrived, it was announced today. (Continued on Page Two)

Trailer Camp Plans Talked Over At Meet

Higgins, Williams Are Added To Committee Investigating Possibilities In City

Mayor Edward Higgins and Fred T. Williams were added to the committee investigating the possibilities of a local trailer camp at the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce last night, with T. E. Simpson presiding.

Mayor Higgins, in speaking of the proposed project, stated that the city is not financially able at the present time to construct a very large camp this year. He said, however, that a drive might be instituted among Sanford merchants to get sufficient funds for a temporary camp.

Mayor Higgins' estimate for a minimum cost for the camp is about $5,000, which will include lighting, and a bath house.

Walter Coleman stated that a camp so cheaply built would not command the higher classes of people. He pointed out that one built at an approximate cost of $20,000 would have a dance floor, a recreation hall, shuffleboard and tennis courts, electric lighting, sewerage, steam heat, and hot and cold water. Such a camp would have powerful tourist attraction, he said.

A location near the business section of town was urged by Fred Wilson, who showed that a camp farther out would tend to give visitors the opportunity of going to nearby cities to trade.

Mr. Wilson's opinion was shared by W. R. Dupree who added that a downtown location would be better because of the proximity of police protection.

J. G. Sharon pointed out that a location near the lake would be very cold in winter and such a condition might drive tourists away. If farther out, the camp would be protected from the cold by trees, he said.

The group decided to have plans drawn up for the camp which would be inspected in the near future.

At present, the trailer camp committee includes: Walter S. Coleman, L. Hawkins, Councilman, H. H. Coleman, E. H. Lacey, D. L. Thrasher, Mayor Higgins, and Fred T. Williams.

Ralph Bagwell, secretary, announced that Boy Scouts at the National Jamboree in Washington had distributed booklets advertising Seminole County in that city.

Mr. Bagwell also stated that the Greater Orlando Chamber of Commerce had issued an invitation to the Sanford body to sponsor a 45 minute radio program over WDBO Aug. 3.

President's Son Peace Effort In Offers To Show Far East Crisis His Tax Returns Halts Fighting

WASHINGTON, July 14.—(AP)—President Roosevelt's eldest son, James, agreed yesterday to disclose his income tax returns in response to a republican demand.

The lanky younger Roosevelt, who is one of his father's secretaries, registered unexpectedly before the Senate-House tax committee when it renewed its study of personal holding companies, alleged to be used as tax avoidance devices.

Yesterday's testimony put into the record the names of William Randolph Hearst, publisher; President William S. Paley of the Columbia Broadcasting Company; C. F. Kettering, vice president of General Motors; and Jacob Ruppert New York brewer and baseball magnate.

River Line Purchases Equipment And Franchises Of Two Other Companies

St. Johns River Line, recently closed negotiations for the purchase of equipment and franchises of two transportation lines operating in Florida at a cost of approximately $50,000, Otto Caldwell, manager of the local terminal, reported today.

As a result of the transaction the River Line received all equipment and franchises from the Star Truck Line, operators of a system of trucks out of Orlando to points south, and the Brown Boat Line, freight carriers between Jacksonville and Daytona Beach. These additions make the St. Johns River Line one of the largest transportation agencies operating in the state at the present time, Mr. Caldwell indicated.

Repairs which will cost approximately $2500 are being made to the local terminal of the line, the local manager stated, and will include the re-roofing of the dock and replacing of all unsafe piling under the building.

Mr. Caldwell also reported that the company had placed the "City of Sanford," which had been chartered for several years, on a run between Jacksonville and Miami for the summer season. The Dexter, a smaller craft, is serving in its place.

Yesterday the City of Orlando left the local dock with a cargo of miscellaneous freight purporting to be company officials to be the largest shipped this season.

Meanwhile Japan Prepares For Engagement Of Real War

NANKING, July 14.—China's national government hastened troops to concentration points, avowedly to resist what the Chinese believe is a Japanese effort to dominate the northern provinces of Hopei and Chahar. Signs of massive military preparations were evident in the capital itself.

The main road through the city was loaded with a variety of military and mechanical equipment. The troops were said to be moving northward.

PEKING, July 14.—(AP)—Peace negotiations were underway here, a high Japanese source said, to settle the North China crisis without consulting the national government of Nanking.

Conferees are Chinese local authorities and Japanese military leaders.

Fighting between the regular Japanese army troops and Chinese soldiers has been going on for about a week.

In Japan preparations are being made for a real war although authorities said they hoped it would not be necessary. Most of the actual fighting has been halted pending peace negotiations.

Steel-helmeted Japanese regulars swept northward over the plains below Peiping yesterday in a stunning drive that reached the walls of the ancient city, while roaring trench mortars lobbed shells at the gates of the city itself.

The smashing offensive against entrenched veterans of the twenty-ninth route army, who dug in at the edge of the walled city in a desperate battle to hold the Japanese back, had virtually ended hope that the war in North China

Death Causes Immediate Speculation Regarding Successor

WASHINGTON, July 14.—(AP)—Senator Joe T. Robinson, 64, Democratic leader and new deal legislative king-pin, was found dead in bed this morning.

The sudden death of the Senator from Arkansas shocked the capital and threw the Administration's legislative program into a turmoil.

Robinson has been a Democratic leader since 1922, and was personally in charge of the President's two major legislative campaigns to enact bills to reorganize the courts and executive departments.

His colleagues generally had expected his appointment to the Supreme Court to fill the vacancy created by the retirement of Justice Vandevanter.

Although Robinson's health has not been good, his death was entirely unexpected. Mrs. Robinson was away on a visit to her home in Little Rock, Ark.

Robinson's death caused immediate speculation about his successor as the Democratic leader.

Those mentioned include Senators Byrnes of South Carolina, Harrison of Mississippi and Barkley of Kentucky.

Robinson attended the University of Arkansas and Virginia Law School. He served in the Arkansas legislature 10 years of the national House of Representatives from his home state and was elected governor of Arkansas but went to the United States Senate to fill a vacancy a few months after becoming governor.

He was chairman of the Democratic National Convention in 1920 and 1936. He was a candidate for vice president in 1928 when Al Smith ran for president on the party ticket.

The sudden death of Democratic Leader Robinson upset the Administration drive to enact a substitute for the Roosevelt court bill. The Arkansas senator not only was directing the drive to push a compromise measure through the Senate but

Presidential Timber

Although it is a long time away until 1940, already there have been rumors about Presidential possibilities among the Democratic leaders, and discounting the chances that Roosevelt will seek another term, no other man stands out like Governor Earle of Pennsylvania. He is far and away the most colorful, the most magnetic, and the most plausible candidate on the horizon at the present time.

He is the type that can appeal to all classes at all times. A wealthy Philadelphian, who plays polo and flies his own airplane, an ardent New Dealer, a friend of labor, a former Republican, a man who is equally at home among the coal miners and the society folks of Mayfair, his other candidate could be so many things at once as he.

He has what it takes to catch the popular imagination. He is as rugged as any coal miner in the hills of his native state. He recently jumped into a lake fully clothed to rescue a dog. He is a friend of Roosevelt and John L. Lewis. He recently told a group of coal miners "you don't need to resort to violence as long as you have a President like Roosevelt and a Governor like me."

There is one fly in his ointment, however, which may be the bug that will be his undoing. It was Governor Earle who promulgated a statute enforcing racial equality in Pennsylvania in an effort to capture the large negro vote. It is believed he had his mind on the significance of this action when he addressed the Southern Society recently and eulogized the South and praised it for giving him his wife and Jeffersonian democracy.

It will be interesting to watch how this political star will fare when the time comes for his opponents to throw the negro issue into his face.

No Way To Prevent It

Considerable criticism has been directed at Amelia Earhart for attempting such an ambitious flight in the face of the dangerous risks involved. Her apparent demise in the middle of the Pacific has aroused considerable attention by the department of commerce prohibiting flights involving unusual risks unless the flier has made adequate preparation.

But, as the Sarasota Herald points out, "It is hard to see how it will prevent such catastrophes as that which is all too likely to have overtaken Amelia Earhart, who took every precaution for safety and whose experience in the air qualified her above the average for her trip along the equator."

"There was nothing the department of commerce or any other agency could have suggested to reduce the inevitable hazards of Miss Earhart's undertaking. She had complete knowledge of all circumstances of her flight, was not predisposed to take unnecessary risks and had the services of a first class navigator. She was cool in emergencies, as witness her prompt action in turning off the ignition when her plane cracked up in Hawaii, thus preventing fire which would have made her own escape and the escape of her navigator, Fred Noonan, impossible. Several times on her present flight she interrupted the schedule to repair and recheck minor defects in her plane. Yet, she is lost, and hope of her rescue fades as the Lexington's great flotilla of airplanes search an ever widening area of the north Pacific without finding a trace of her. Empty gas tanks which were expected to act as buoys if she was forced down, and a rubber life raft seem to have failed in the crisis."

"Thus, it would seem, that until man has completely conquered nature and discovered ways of doing this, at present, impossible, ocean flight tragedies cannot be eliminated."

Was Ardent Supporter Of President In His Fight Against Court And Other Reforms

(Continued from Page One) was the foremost support of the substitute. He had been given a free hand by the President to negotiate the bill the Senate would pass.

The immediate effect of Roosevelt's death was to interrupt the debate which had been proceeding in the Senate more than a week. What the ultimate effect might be so the law will be to forecast.

Senator Wheeler, Montana Democrat, after expressing regret at the "untimely passing" of "my political and personal friend," predicted the court controversy might be terminated, speedily as a result of the leader's death.

Peace Effort In Far East Crisis Halts Fighting

As the Japanese Kwangtung veterans swarmed over the rolling plains where members of the Peiping hunt club ride to sport in the mornings, their heavy field guns opened fire on Tahungren village, which nestles against the gates of Peiping itself.

Under cover of the bombardment, the Japanese infantry and machine gunners moved up and killed away at the entrenched Chinese regulars of the twenty-ninth army dug in.

Wage-Hour Bill Is Being Opposed By Florida Senator

Disaster For South Is Seen In Passage Of Proposed Measure

JACKSONVILLE, July 15.—(AP)—Opposition to the Black Country bill, popularly known as the "Little Necker" bill, is in the form and warning that it may be passed without further delay unless Florida and the South muster more support. A comprehensive wage and hour differential between Northern and Southern industry was voiced today by Florida's Senator Charles O. Andrews in a letter to Harold Cole, president of the Florida State Chamber of Commerce.

The proposed measure provides for Federal regulation of industry and sets up minimum wages and hours for such pursuits. Industrial leaders in Florida and the South declare it will seriously cripple Southern industry unless a differential is made between Northern and Southern wage and hour scales to allow for lower living expenses in the Southern States.

Senator Andrews said: "This particular bill is very intricate and involves a large number of problems, and I am opposed to its passage in its present form. As you know, effort has been made on behalf of the Argentine, lumber, citrus and agricultural interests here to bring about changes in the bill, so that our State will not be penalized, or, for that matter, practically crippled in many ways."

"Having lived in Florida all my life, I have a close personal knowledge of the labor situation, and this I try to assure you I intend to do everything I possibly can to see that the South has a comprehensive wage and hour differential, which is no necessary."

"I think that it is no more than fair to tell you, however, that there is strong support here in the Congress for the bill in its present form, and unless other senators and representatives can be swung in line to see it our way, the chances are it will be passed in spite of our efforts to the contrary."

Sanford, Fla., July 15.—(AP)—The regular weekly meeting of ship "Seminole Lion" will be held tonight at the Junior High School at 7:30 o'clock. Clifford Bell, skipper, stated today.

C. R. Dawson, county agricultural agent here, will return to Sanford tomorrow accompanied by his wife if it was indicated today.

J. F. Cowan was issued a permit today by G. P. Paxton, local building inspector, to make minor repairs to his home on Oak Avenue.

Fire Chief Mack Cleveland was in attendance at the annual Fire College in Daytona yesterday and reported that approximately 200 firemen from different sections of the State were present at the session.

The reduced water rates recently OK'd by city fathers in our effort to increase beautification work in this city, are effective for all water used since the last reading of the water meters. City Clerk Frank Lamson reminded Sanfordites today, adding that the new rates applied only to residents, clubs and churches and would be discontinued after the summer months. Under the new rates water will be furnished at 15 cents per thousand gallons for accounts used in excess of the regular 1250 fee which is barely the cost of pumping and transferring the water.

Both Sides Prepared For Action In Case Present Crisis De- velops Into War

Tokyo Is Sending
Force From Home

President Roosevelt
Considers Far East
Situation As Grave

The armies of China and Japan were poised for action in North China if the crisis there developed into a widespread conflict.

There has been no serious fighting in the area surrounding Peiping for 48 hours. The Chinese government's foreign office spokesman in Nanking said the government had ordered reinforcements to North China to support the 25th Army which have been fighting Japanese troops for the past week.

The spokesman said six divisions, about 40,000 men, were standing by "somewhere in North China."

The Japanese war office announced in Tokyo that troops will be dispatched from Japan proper to North China to aid Japanese troops regularly garrisoned there and the units of the Japanese army in Manchuria rushed to the battle area last week.

Peiping dispatches reported an agreement at Tientsin between local Chinese and Japanese authorities to settle the crisis in the satisfaction of Japan.

In Washington, President Roosevelt considers the Far Eastern situation serious. The White House announced.

Four samples of the white sapota, a tropical fruit, were brought to the Herald office this morning by J. W. Moore after being grown successfully in Mount Plymouth by Victor E. Lent.

Mr. Moore stated that the sapota is a native of South America and Central America. After being first brought to California, it was experimented with for about 200 years. In 1914, the Federal Government gave seedlings to Florida nurserymen.

The fruit is about 2 1/2 inches in diameter, is light orange in color, and has a very exotic flavor. Each one contains five seeds which may be planted with good results. Mr. Moore said. One of Mr. Lent's trees has grown to a height of 20 feet.

The two trees in Mount Plymouth have an approximate bearing of 10 bushels a year. Mr. Lent is attempting to popularize the fruit in Florida in the hope of creating a demand for a new horticultural product.
