Flight school enticed to stay

By MARIA OREM

SANFORD - In an effort to quell concerns of a flight school based at Orlando Sanford Airport, officials will build a new hangar and provide a five year lease with a 30-day out clause.

COMAIR Aviation Academy, which accounts for about 60 to 70 percent of the airport's estimated 350,000 operations this year, has tentatively agreed to stay in Sanford, according to Steve Cooke, executive director of the airport.

"We have agreed to build them a new hangar and lease to them for the same amount they have been paying," Cooke said. The hangar project at a cost of about $350,000 will be funded through a Department of Transportation grant; the remaining 50 percent will come from a loan.

Should the new hangar be vacated, Cooke said it could be leased within a week because of the high demand for such space.

With the continued growth at the airport, it was necessary to build a new runway for safety reasons to keep the large planes separate from the small ones, Cooke said. The proposed runway would be located about a mile east of COMAIR's existing facilities which include five buildings and a 17,000 square-foot hangar. News of the proposed project had flight

Mayor on police: No intention to fire every body

Teamwork is key to SPD makeover

By RUSS WHITE
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - "Whatever we do, we'll do it as a team," Mayor Larry Dale said today before the first of his strategy meetings with Chief Joe Dillard to determine the re-organization of the Sanford Police Department.

Although rumors seem to be spreading that there will be major personnel changes at the SPD, Dale said there was no intention on anyone's part to "go firing everybody."

Dale, the City Commission liaison to the SPD, said he assured Sanford Police Sgt. Darrel Presley on Tuesday that it was important for everyone to be positive about the re-organization which is going to include certain partnerships with the Seminole County Sheriff's Office.

"The object is to give the citizens of Sanford the best law enforcement service we can give it - something that they haven't had in the past," Dale said.

Presley, a spokesman for the Fraternal Order of Police, said all officers of the SPD would be "involved in every aspect of the reorganization - We agree with the team approach, which means we'll support the city commission and the chief," Presley said.

This support, Dale said, was evident in a draft of a General Order package the SPD presented to the city commissioners when they met Monday at

Disabled children's center burglarized

By DAVID FRAZIER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - Disabled children lost equipment used in their care after a burglary to their facility this past weekend.

The United Cerebral Palsy Early Intervention Center at the corner of Third Street and Park was burglarized with nearly $1,500 in property stolen.

Gomez said the incident occurred sometime Sunday morning. UCP is leasing its space from First Presbyterian Church. George Weld, chairman of the property committee for the church, said there was no apparent sign of forcible entry into the Christian Education Building that houses

UCP's office and facility, but Weld said that the panels had been taken off the doors of the UCP rooms.

Among the items stolen from the center were two televisions, a VCR, a phone, a microwave, a wagon, money, tapes and a tape recorder.

UCP aids children with developmental disabilities. Gomez said that the center cares and assists with 12 children on a daily basis and usually 15 outpatients on a weekly basis. UCP is funded by federal grant money and Medicaid from the individual.

"Any donations would be great," said Gomez. However, UCP officials said that most of the loss is covered by insurance. The church only reported a CD player stolen.

Airport to expand international terminal

By MARIA OREM
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - The Orlando Sanford Airport will expand its international terminal to accommodate the growing number of passengers.

OSI, operator of the international terminal which was built in April 1996, will submit a site plan for the proposed project to the planning and zoning commission at its meeting Thursday at 7 p.m. at City Hall. In addition, OSI wants to relocate further east its employee parking lot and the roadway to the airport's control tower.

According to Brendan Carmody, president and managing director of OSI, the expansion is necessary because of the heavy passenger traffic. The 30 percent expansion will add about 40,000 square feet to the existing structure including SANFORD - Robert Kinney and Robert Walsh couldn't know in January when the negotiations on the house they hoped to buy fell through that it was one of the luckiest days of their lives. Disappointed but not discouraged, they continued their search for a house with the right character and history. In June of this year they moved into the house they knew they were meant to have.

The large, white Colonial style house on Park Avenue was built circa 1925 for City Attorney George DeCottet and his wife Myrtle. Kinney and Walsh are fortunate enough to have an Abstract of Title and blue prints of the original house. These records indicate that the house was inherited by Mrs. DeCottet's son Frederic Bell. In 1951 the house was sold to Robert and Dorothy Williams. For the next thirty years the house was the family home of the Williams and their six children. They sold the house in 1981. Sixteen years later Kinney and Walsh found the house remarkably intact. "We wanted something different than a tract house," said Kinney. "The integrity of the house remains.

It needs cosmetic touches and dressing up". The kitchen area is the only area that had been drastically changed by recent remodeling. A butler's pantry originally built into the area

'Tis better to give...

By MARY ROWELL
Herald Correspondent

The holidays are a time of year when people are in the giving mood. But who do you give to, and just as important, what do you give? The Sanford Herald has compiled this Giving Guide, a list of organizations here in our area who need your help. If an organization is not on the list, it doesn't mean they are not a viable organization, it just means we didn't know about them or could not get in touch with them before press time.

Many of the organizations listed below have special needs for the services they provide. Many have the same needs. Any time toys are listed, they should be new unwrapped toys. Many of the organizations take used toys at other times of the year, but for the holiday season, new is preferred. For the Make-A-Wish Foundation, because many of the children they grant wishes to have suppressed immune systems, new is a must. Many of the organizations have thrift stores, all of which take used toys. Money is not specifically mentioned on any of the lists because ALL of the organizations need donations of money. If you have nothing to give and no money to spare, you can always give yourself. Many organizations cannot run without volunteers. They need volunteers during the holiday season and throughout the year.

Some organizations are dedicated to our four legged and feathered friends. They also need help now and throughout the year. Two of these organizations are listed at the bottom of the list. They also need money and volunteers throughout the year.

BETTER LIVING FOR SENIORS, Lake Mary, 333-8877, Cindy Collins, ext. 20 or Tessa Chisolm ext. 106

The goal this year is to keep the seniors warm. They need donations of blankets, sweaters, flannel pajamas (M-XL), slippers, gloves, socks, anything that will help keep them warm. You can drop items off at the Better Living for Seniors office at 1097 Sand Pond Rd. in Lake Mary. If you can't drop off, call and they will arrange to pick it up.

CHILDREN'S HOME SOCIETY OF CENTRAL FLORIDA-SEMINOLE COUNTY-Jo Howard 324-3200

New baby gifts and baby items, school supplies, children's underwear and socks (boy and girl, all sizes), infant and toddler clothing (new and nearly new), household linen (new and nearly new), and non-perishable food.

CHILDREN'S RIGHTS FOUNDATIONS, INC. Casselberry, Bob McCarthy 695-8222

Toys for all ages, scanner for IBM compatible computer, office supplies, copy paper and fax paper rolls, department store gift certificates, non-perishable food, turkeys, and used shoes. Also need used clothing and household items for their thrift store.

CHRISTIAN HELP FOUNDATION, Longwood, Lynn Holliday 834-4022

Turkeys, hams, toys, and canned goods for their holiday baskets, toiletries.

FATHER FLANAGAN'S BOYS TOWN, Sanford, Linda Adams 366-3667

The Sanford location desperately needs gifts for the holidays. The children at that location are teenagers, so generic gifts, such as T-shirts, would be helpful. Also, sports caps for boys and jewelry for girls would be nice.

Couple charged with conspiracy to murder

From Staff Reports

LONGWOOD - Carl Heinman, Jr., 34, of 240 Orange Avenue, Longwood, and Leslie Wilson, 27, of the same address as Heinman, made their initial court appearances Tuesday in the courtroom at the Seminole County Correctional Facility. Each is charged with two counts of conspiracy to commit first degree murder.

Investigators from the Sheriff's Office Major Crimes Section arrested Heinman about 5 p.m. Monday in his cell at the jail. Wilson was arrested about 6:30 p.m. at her home.

Heinman and Wilson are accused of trying to hire a man to kill Heinman's father and stepmother, Carl Heinman Sr., 57, and Lavana Heinman, 51, both of Longwood.

The Sheriff's Office investigation began on November 23 when an inmate at the Seminole County Correctional Facility told deputy sheriffs that Heinman had asked him to kill his father and stepmother. The inmate, Jerry Andrews, said Heinman had offered to pay $5,000 for the double murder. Heinman eventually provided Andrews with detailed background information on his parents including a map of their home.

Heinman allegedly wanted his parents killed so he could get a large inheritance from their estate.

Heinman is classified as a habitual offender. He has a record of 35 arrests for a variety of crimes such as burglary and theft. Conspiracy to commit first degree murder is a first degree felony. The maximum penalty is life imprisonment. Heinman and Wilson are being held without bond at the county jail.

So you still have leftover turkey in the refrigerator?

The microwave oven was, I believe, invented for the day after Thanksgiving. On that day, each member of the family can load his or her plate with leftovers and make up a feast that's almost as good as the day before. (In some ways it's better — all the work's been done, and the big clean up, too.) But at our house, that day after feast spells the end of the good stuff — mashed potatoes, dressing and gravy — and we're left with — the turkey. Sometimes it seems like it will take until Christmas to finish the bird. Unless, of course, you have some good recipes for leftover turkey.

And here they are. The Turkey Oscar recipe was given to me by Chef Michele LeBorgne of the New England Culinary Institute in Montpelier, Vt., and is absolutely elegant and delicious. The pasta dishes are from the National Pasta Association's booklet, "Light & Healthy Pasta Recipes."

The final recipe is a favorite of my kids. The sweetness of the cranberry jelly plays off nicely with the heat of the jalapenos. I like it best without cheese.

TURKEY OSCAR

- 2 tablespoons butter
- 2 shallots, peeled and minced
- 1-1/2 pounds button mushrooms, cleaned and sliced
- 1/2 cup heavy cream
- Pinch of salt, or more, to taste
- 1 tablespoon cognac

FOOD

MARIALISA CALTA

1-1/2 to 2 pounds leftover, cooked turkey breast, thickly sliced

Preheat the oven to 250 degrees. In a heavy-bottomed pot, melt the butter over medium heat. Sauté the shallots until soft, then add the sliced mushrooms. Cook, uncovered, over medium low heat until the mushrooms have given up all their liquid and the liquid has evaporated.

Spoon the mushrooms into the bowl of a food processor fitted with a metal blade, or into the container of a blender. (A food processor works better.) Pulse until chopped very fine. Return to the pot, add the heavy cream, salt and cognac. Cook down until the mixture has thickened to a paste-like consistency.

Place the turkey in an oven-proof, shallow baking pan and spread each slice with the mushroom mixture, overlapping slices. Then spread the entire mound of turkey slices with the mixture. Cover with a loose "tent" made of aluminum foil and heat very

RADIATORE WITH PUMPKIN SAUCE, TURKEY AND CRANBERRIES

1 pound radiatore or other medium

- 1 tablespoon olive or vegetable oil
- 1-1/2 cups sliced scallions, white and green parts
- 3 cloves garlic, peeled and minced
- 1 teaspoon fennel seed
- 1 12-ounce can evaporated skim milk
- 1/2 cup low-fat milk
- 2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon black pepper

- 1 15-ounce can solid pack pumpkin
- 3 cups chopped cooked turkey
- 1-1/2 cups dried cranberries
- 1/4 cup freshly grated Parmesan cheese

Prepare pasta according to package directions.

While pasta is cooking, heat oil in a large, deep, non-stick skillet over medium-high heat, until hot. Add scallions, garlic and fennel, and sauté 3 minutes.

In a bowl, combine the milk, flour, salt and pepper until smooth. Stir into the skillet. Bring to a boil over medium heat, boil until thickened, stirring constantly. Stir in the pumpkin, turkey and cranberries until well blended. Reduce heat to medium; cook until heated through, about 3 minutes.

When pasta is done, drain it and place it in a large bowl. Add pumpkin sauce and toss. Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. Serve immediately. Yield: 6 servings

ROTTINI NICCOISE WITH LEMON Vinaigrette

- 1 pound rotini (pasta spirals)
- 2 cups canned white (cannellini) beans, rinsed and drained
- 2 cups cooked turkey meat (preferably white meat) cut into chunks (about 1/2 pound total)
- 1 14-ounce can artichoke hearts packed in water, drained

- 8 ounces green beans
- 1/4 cup olive or vegetable oil
- 1/2 cup low-sodium canned chicken broth or homemade turkey stock
- 1/2 cup freshly squeezed lemon juice
- 2 cloves garlic, peeled and minced
- 3 teaspoons Dijon mustard
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
- 12 cherry tomatoes
- 16 black olives, preferably Niçoise olives

Prepare pasta according to package directions. Drain. Rinse the pasta in a colander under cold running water, drain again and put into a large mixing bowl. Add white beans, turkey and artichoke hearts and toss well.

Meanwhile, bring a pot of water to a boil. Snap the ends off the green beans. Rinse beans and allow to drain. Plunge the beans into the boiling water for 1 to 2 minutes, then remove and quickly run under cold running water. Allow to drain. Set aside.

In a medium bowl, whisk together the oil, broth, lemon juice, garlic, mustard, salt and pepper. Pour the vinaigrette over the pasta and toss well. To serve, spoon pasta onto a large serving platter. Arrange the tomatoes, green beans and olives around and on top of salad.

Yield: 6 servings — Recipe from "Light & Healthy Pasta Recipes," the National Pasta Association.

DEAR ABBY: I was appalled at the arrogance of the teacher who recently wrote, "I have never met a parent who can give his/her children the quality of education I can offer." Does she really believe she can adequately assess my child's needs and give my child a better education in a class filled with 25 other students than I can give on a one-to-one basis?

The National Home Education Institute has recently released data that indicate home-educated students typically score in the 85th percentile on standardized tests. These results are achieved by students whose parents are often not certified teachers and who have spent, on average, $546 per child per year to educate them. The county in which I live recently reported spending $4,791 per student per year and cannot boast equivalent standardized test scores.

I have been a home-school mom for five years and have seen remarkable results in the home-school community. A recent example: a young man who achieved a perfect score on his SATs and was eagerly accepted into the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. PATRICIA A. BERNHAUSEN, RICHMOND, VA.

DEAR PATRICIA: In recent months I have published letters from home-schooled children and educators. Your letter is one of a tidal wave of articulate letters from parents rising to defend home-schooling. Read on:

DEAR ABBY: If every teacher could give the "quality education" the one teacher in California claims to give, there might not be a need for parents to teach their children at home. Obviously, when children graduate and can't read, the system has failed. Home-schooling a child is about more than hoping the child receives a good education. It's about safety, instilling the basics of reading, writing and arithmetic, and as a Christian, teaching biblical values.

One reason we don't send our children to school is because of the retired teacher in Florida. His values are not our values. He writes, "Parents should examine the teaching materials — to make sure they are compatible with their own beliefs." Abby, we are familiar with the material. We know what our beliefs are, and we intend to pass them on to our children, who are well-behaved, courteous, intelligent and interact well with others.

Parents who make the enormous sacrifice to teach their children at home can offer them an education that will far surpass any they could receive in a public school. Home-schooling is not for everyone, but if you're concerned with the education your child is receiving, then it's something to consider. MELISSA SHREVE, QUINLAN, TEXAS

DEAR ABBY: Unbiased research by such respected institutions as Harvard and the University of Michigan to evaluate the results of home-schooling indicates that home-taught students fare better than their public education peers. Reader's Digest reported these findings in an article published several years ago. While I don't believe that all parents would do an adequate job of educating their own children, many can. And the vast majority of home-schooling parents are proving it. It makes me wonder what those who are condemning us are afraid of. RHONDA RANDALL, CINCINNATI

DEAR RHONDA: Approximately 1.33 million American children are being taught at home. Several home-schooling parents mailed me an interesting study provided by the Home School Legal Defense Association, titled "Home Education Across the United States." Its research represents the largest and most comprehensive study on home-schooling ever done — data collected on 2,403 students during the 1984-85 and 1985-86 academic years. Those readers interested in ordering a copy should send $3 to Home School Legal Defense Association, P.O. Box 3000, Purcellville, Va. 20134. The Internet address is www.hsd.org.

Unsung Heroes

Lake Mary's Olson - a dream leader

LAKE MARY - In the world of high school sports, there are leaders, followers and those who rise above the rest.

Jeremy Olson is one of the latter. A cross county runner for three years, Olson has risen to the top of the team, not only as the named team captain, but also as the leader by example.

"Jeremy is always talking to the guys and keeping them going," said Lake Mary high school cross county coach Mike Gibson. "He's always doing things before I even ask him. I have seen him sacrifice himself in the middle of a race to get the guys back on track and produce a win for the entire team instead of taking the good time for himself. He has been unbelievable to me and this team. Jeremy is exactly what you need as a first year head coach. He has helped me immensely."

The reason Olson has been such a leader on the team is two fold.

First, he has a very strong work ethic. He is constantly working to improve both himself and the team by encouraging his teammates and working diligently over the summer to improve his natural abilities.

Jeremy has been running since he was 10 years old on AAU teams. At first, he wasn't sure that he liked running, but his father encouraged him to stick to it and he's glad he did.

So is the Lake Mary team. The second reason that Olson has risen to the top of the team is the fact that he wanted just that...a team.

"I found that the team wasn't really that close," Olson said. "There always seemed to be a couple of guys who had real potential but were left out for some reason. I figured that if I could help them along and give them a team to run for, things as a whole would get better. If I could make sure that everyone felt like a part of the team, they would run better."

And that's exactly what happened. Although the team did not make it to the state tournament, which they had the talent and coaching to do, every runner was very pleased with their end of season performance. In fact, Olson ran his personal best for the three mile at the last meet of the season with a 16:17.

Olson was named to the all conference team last year and this year was named to the second all county team. Despite his enjoyment of the sport and obvious successes, Olson has decided not to try out for the cross country team in college.

He will be attending the University of Florida to pursue a degree in wildlife biology. There just might not be enough time to dedicate to both his studies and running.

All is not over in the running department for Olson, however. Track is right around the corner and after a short break for the holidays, Olson said he will begin training for his senior track season and an improved 800 time.

Seminoles slam Bears

Tribe routs Winter Springs with huge second quarter

Rosetta Jackson drives past the Winter Springs defense to score two of her game-high 20 points in Seminole High's 58-35 thumping of the Bears Tuesday.

SANFORD - The Fighting Seminole girls basketball team brought their record to 7-2 Tuesday night with a 58-35 thrashing of Winter Springs in a Seminole Athletic Conference contest at Bill Fleming Memorial Gymnasium.

"We played good defense and got a chance to play different combinations of girls," said Seminole coach Sylvester Wynn. "Everybody was able to get some playing time."

Despite only leading 11-6 after one quarter, Seminole dominated the first half leading by as many as 40 points and taking a 40-14 lead into the lockerroom at intermission.

Rosetta Jackson led the Tribe with 20 points and eight rebounds while Natoasha Fisher scored 15 points and Shemika Stokes ended the night with nine points and 13 rebounds.

"It was a relaxing game for us but Winter Springs did play tough," said Wynn.

The Dedelow twins, Kris and every, led the Bears with 10 points each.

Seminole travels to Lake Howell and Lake Brantley heads to Winter Springs on Thursday with tip-off time at 7:30 p.m.

Lake Mary ready to hit the mat

By JEFF BERLINICK
Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY - It was the day after Thanksgiving and the Lake Mary wrestling team was paying for their day of indulgence.

In front of coach Steve Katz, a few of the wrestlers said they didn't get carried away but Katz just grinned knowingly.

"I just told them if they wanted to eat a lot to make sure they ran it off," Katz said. Just to be sure, last Friday he put the Rams through what seemed to be a brutal workout.

Turns out, Katz said, it was one of the Rams easiest practices all season, even though his team left the gym after some grueling exercises, punctuated by chants of, "Lake Mary, Lake Mary."

Not that they had to be reminded but, as the wrestlers went through their final workouts, Katz yelled, "While everyone else is sitting at home right now, we're out here working."

That's the kind of attitude his team has as it embarks on the new season. A lot of people are ready to hand the Seminole Athletic Conference to Ovido but Lake Mary isn't conceding anything.

"If we work as hard as we can, it doesn't matter what Ovido does," wrestler John Hott said.

That the kind of attitude Katz, preparing for his third year at the Lake Mary helm, wants.

"I'm enthusiastic about how hard we've worked," Katz said. "As far as Ovido, I'm not concerned with them. I'm concerned with Lake Mary. We can compete with anybody."

First, the Wrestlin' Rams had to compete with themselves. Katz said he expects several wrestle-offs to secure a spot in the lineup.

"In our program, some of the toughest matches our guys face comes during the wrestle-offs," Katz said. "It all comes down to, if you win, you're the man."

Some of the men Katz wants are football players. Katz is an assistant coach for the Rams' football team and makes sure to encourage his player to take up wrestling in the off season.

"If you are an offensive or defensive lineman, you're crazy if you don't wrestle," Katz said. "I recruit my football players. Some of them don't come out because they are afraid to lose weight but they pick up in quickness and speed."

Lake Mary linebacker/wrestler Mike Stephenson agreed. He said his game improved greatly after joining the wrestling team.

Katz pointed to lineman Jeremy Klaver as another player whose game improved after joining the team.

"As a junior, I wouldn't even get Jeremy into a stance," Katz said. "He came out for wrestling and got into it, and this year he started 10 games."

Katz has a lot to consider when he'll decide who will start on his wrestling team this season. At 103, there are four people competing for a job. Scott Leitner and Don Simpson are the favorites but one will have to wrestle at 112. Leitner was third in the district last season and

Orlando ekes past Portland

From Staff Reports

PORTLAND, ORE. - Penny Hardaway scored 29 points and Bo Outlaw came up with a steal with 2.6 seconds left to deny Portland a final shot as the Magic edged the Trail Blazers 89-88 Tuesday night.

Hardaway very nearly didn't play in the game after feeling pain in his hamstring, knee and lower leg and not taking part in the afternoon shoot around.

The win soothed somewhat the 103-81 loss to Seattle on Sunday and gave Orlando an 11-6 record and a share of the Eastern Conference lead with Miami (10-5). The Magic will be in action again tonight, taking on former head coach Brian Hill and the Vancouver Grizzlies at 10 p.m. The game will be shown locally on WKCF 18.

Also leading the Orlando attack were Rony Seikaly (14 points and 10 rebounds), Outlaw (11 points) and Nick Anderson (11 points on 4-of-6 shooting in 13 minutes).

Herald Photos by Arch Beattie

Nick Anderson again bounced back from the dead Tuesday night, coming off the bench to hit back-to-back three-pointers in the third quarter and finishing with 11 points on 4-of-6 shooting in just 13 minutes of play.

UCF falls in finals of Turkey Shootout

Special to the Herald

ORLANDO - The University of Central Florida women's basketball team lost to Syracuse University, 104-88, in the championship game of the UCF Turkey Shootout.

Tournament MVP Teakya Barnes scored 19 points for the Orangewomen (3-1). All-tourney selection Caryn Schoff added 13 points and a game high 12 rebounds, while Ernestine Austen (15 points), Beth Record (11 points) and Raquel Nurse (10 points) also scored in double figures.

All-tournament picks Stacey Deveux (19 points) and Chartya Davis (11 points) led UCF (3-1).

In other action, the University of Denver (1-4) defeated Radford University (1-5), 79-69, for seventh place as all-tournament selection Sara Fadenrecht scored 19 points.

Butler (3-2) edged Sam Houston State (1-3), 84-78 in overtime for fifth place, and all-tourney pick Charlotta Jones scored 16 points as Bowling Green State University whipped the University of Buffalo, 74-54, in the third place contest.

Is ginkgo biloba safe to use?

PETER GOTT, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: What are the advantages of ginkgo biloba? Is there any harm in taking it?

DEAR READER: This is the second in my series on herbal remedies. Many readers have expressed interest in ginkgo, based on glowing testimonials by purveyors of health foods.

Ginkgo biloba is about 200 million years old. It is considered to be the oldest living plant species, and its extract is the most commonly prescribed plant remedy in the world.

Ginkgo increases blood flow through the brain, leading to increased uptake of oxygen by nerve cells. More important, the product extends the ability of brain cells to withstand periods of oxygen deprivation. This makes it useful in treating strokes. It also acts as an anti-coagulant.

Consequently, it's not surprising that ginkgo has been widely used in Europe for dementia, vertigo, tinnitus (ringing in the ears), Alzheimer's disease and strokes. Healthy people given ginkgo often experience an improvement in cognitive thinking, memory performance and learning capacity.

Side effects include occasional intestinal upset, headaches and allergic reactions.

The usual dose is 120 to 240 milligrams of native dry extract two or three times a day for up to three months.

As with other unregulated herbal remedies, potency varies from batch to batch and there is no federal supervision of ginkgo extraction or manufacture. Therefore, consumers are encouraged to buy ginkgo only from reputable sources. More U.S. studies are desperately needed to prove whether ginkgo biloba could play a valuable role, as a traditional medicine, in treating a wide variety of nervous system and/or circulatory disorders. (Next time: St. John's wort.)

To give you more information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Fads II: Herbs and Healing Fads." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2017, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Following a strep throat several years ago, I developed what my doctor called a "geographic tongue." What can I do about this?

DEAR READER: For unknown reasons, some people occasionally develop this harmless condition, which is marked by an irregular pattern on the tongue's surface: Areas of painless, denuded tissue interspersed with normal tissue, resembling a map. No treatment is necessary; the affliction is not associated with any health problem.

DEAR READER: NO, NO, NO. This awful practice, which was common during the first half of this century, caused millions of children untold stress. We are born either right- or left-handed. Your granddaughter's father could alter this biological fact, but insisting on right-handedness could lead to unpleasant consequences such as poor coordination and extreme anxiety. I think it's too bad that our society is geared almost exclusively toward right-handed people; this is well exemplified by the fact that most desks in schools are not suitable for left-handed students. In my opinion, your family should accept her left-handedness, support her biological inheritance, and thank her lucky stars that the child is healthy.

WIN AT BRIDGE

A brace of novels

By Phillip Alder

Two novels with a bridge element have been published recently. To be honest, I'm not fond of this style of book. The authors seem incapable of getting away from cheating scandals and situations that stretch credibility too far. Still, if you like this type of thing, call Baron Barclay at (800) 274-2221 to order "Death by Contract" by Shirley Presberg (Zookkeeper Publishing) and "Bridge Below the Belt" by Liz Davis and Larry Cohen (Narco Press).

The first contains four deals (all interesting) and some bridge inaccuracies, the worst being the wrong ruling following a bid out of turn. The second has too much "meet the characters," though the last 30 pages are good and most of the 13 deals are excellent, of which today's is one.

After winning the first trick with the heart king, East switched to the club king. Declarer ruffed, dropped the singleton spade king offside, drew the remaining trumps, led a diamond to dummy's queen, and ducked a diamond on the way back. When West's ace fell on empty air, South had produced an overtrick for a top in a pair event. Why did South play this way?

When East showed up with the heart king and club king-queen, West was marked with the spade king and diamond ace. So, there was no point taking a doomed trump finesse.

In the bidding, East denied a four-card major. Also, as West rebid clubs, he had to have six. So, West was marked with 1-4-2-6 distribution.
