Both the Americans and the British urged Chamberlain to instruct the Bulgarian government to suspend the sentence until the commission had full opportunity to review the case.

Replying to the American letter, Chamberlain wrote: "I do not consider it possible for the Allied Control Commission to interfere in any way in the affairs of Nikola Petkov, inasmuch as it is purely an internal Bulgarian matter."

There is, therefore, no reason why the Allied Control Commission should take upon itself the problem of reviewing Nikola Petkov's case.

The reply was handed to the American Information Service. Maj. General Walter Robertson, U. S. member of the Commission, informed Washington. Decisions of the Allied Control Commission must be unanimous, and Russia's refusal ended the possibility of an allied review of the case.

He also advised parents that at the first sign of illness the child should be taken to a physician for examination, diagnosis and treatment if necessary. After diagnosis all uncompleted cases must be treated in the home. The patient is to be isolated in one room and only one attendant in the family allowed to enter.

All other members of the family are to be isolated on the premises except the bread winner of the family, he stated. He or she shall not enter the room of the sick person or child but is permitted to attend to his work or business.

We suggest, however, said Dr. Quillman, that, where possible, he stay elsewhere until the child is released by the medical attendant.

Complicated cases, he asserted, may be taken to the hospital and placed in a private room or isolation ward when this is deemed necessary by the physician. Only the nurse and physicians may enter the room or ward. The hospital and nurses are familiar with the rules regarding precautions to prevent spread of the disease to other patients.

The Health Unit personnel, he declared, will work with the physicians and release isolation of contacts at the proper time.

These suggestions, he pointed out, are a result of a conference of representatives of the Seminole County Medical Association and the Seminole County Health Unit.

Baton Pupils Should Start at Early Age

By ADELAIDE KERR
AP Newfeatures Writer
Antonia Brico, one of the world's few women symphony conductors and one of its pioneers in teaching symphony conducting to children, bent over the score of Beethoven's Fifth Symphony, her amber eyes alight. She made a few crisp final comments to the pupils who accompanied her from their home in Denver to New York enroute to Europe, where she will conduct symphonies in several countries, and then dismissed them with a smiling nod.

"The more I teach conducting the more I am convinced that pupils should start young, at least with the baton technique," the European-born American conductor said. "I've had them as young as nine or ten. Then they are supple enough to learn a clear, graceful fluid motion. Some conductors make such contortions! Their gestures have no connection with the music. If there is anything an orchestra dislikes, it's a conductor making stiff, jerky motions!"

"I teach each of the youngsters to conduct to the piano arrangements of certain symphonies. Four people play two pianos. The conductor cues the violins, the flutes and drums just as if they were there. The pianists follow his or her direction exactly. If the conductor conducts wrong, they play wrong. The youngsters always conduct in the presence of other students and they and I criticize the conductor. The children begin with the simple Haydn symphonies and progress to the bigger music of Mozart and Beethoven. Thus they grow into the music and don't try to tackle too many complicated things at once."

"Conducting is good for their musicianship. Also, it teaches them to take criticism good-naturedly before a crowd as it makes intelligent listeners of them. I am convinced that the reason most people don't go to concerts is that they do not understand the music."

Brico, who now teaches piano and orchestra conducting in Denver, will conduct symphonies in Denmark, Finland and Holland this fall. She is a tall, vigorous woman with a pianist's powerful hands, which move in simple, expressive gestures from the podium.

"Lots of conductors make speeches to their musicians about the beauty of the music," she says. "My theory is that if your motion is clear, you don't have to make a speech."

Miss Brico, who was born in Holland of Dutch and Italian parentage and orphaned in infancy, came to the United States as a five-year-old with her foster parents, who settled in Oakland, California. She began the study of music early, was graduated from the University of California in 1923, studied with Sigismond Stojowski in New York and, in 1929, was graduated from the Master School of Conducting at the Berlin State Academy of Music. She earned much of her way by teaching and playing in radio. She made her debut as a conductor with the Berlin Philharmonic Orchestra in 1930 and since then has guest-conducted symphony orchestras in Hamburg, Warsaw, Riga, New York, San Francisco, Washington, Detroit, Hollywood and Denver, as well as European operas. As a conductor she has won warm applause from such famous musicians as Jean Sibelius, Bruno Walter, Arturo Toscanini and from numerous European and American critics, who comment on her clear, easy-to-follow heat.

Symphony conducting is the love of her life, but she admits that the path of that love is far from smooth for a woman.

"I'm having a hard pull," she said with a smile. "Not because of the musicians or the audience, but because of the boards of directors and managers. Sometimes, at first, I have been aware of tremendous resistance of the musicians in an orchestra, though I have never had any objections from them or difficulty with them. But when they begin to play, they don't care if a conductor is a man or a woman as long as that conductor knows his or her business."

In 1934 Brico founded the New York Women's Symphony Orchestra to prove that women can play any instrument well.

veto, many unions had taken action similar to that of the Ford workers. In New York City the greater New York CIO Council estimated that 65 percent of the 10,000 employers having contracts with 300 CIO locals there had signed one-year contract extensions before the deadline.

In San Francisco, the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union (CIO), in a dispute over employer refusal to recognize unionization of longshore walking bosses, warned shippers of the possibility of West Coast maritime tieup and at the same time advised its locals of an impending "lock-out" sometime after today. The six-week dispute has tied up six Luckenbach Steamship Company vessels.

In what probably was the last collective bargaining election under the old National Labor Relations Board set-up, the IAW led three-way balloting last night at the Glenn L. Martin Airplane Manufacturing plant at Baltimore. Ross Madden, regional NLRB director announced the vote, with none getting a majority.

The executive board of the American Communications Association (A. C. A.), claiming 35,000 members, voted to refuse to submit any issues to the determination of the Taft-Hartley National Labor Relations Board. The International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees and Moving Picture Machine Operators (I. A. M. P. M. O.) would submit reports required under the law, including affidavits, that officers are not Communists, on the grounds that withholding them would not "help legitimate trade unions in this fight" against the act.

Still to be filled are such other major posts as chiefs of staff for the Army and Air Force, chief of naval operations, director of a central intelligence agency and members of three boards, national resources, munitions and research development.

Suffered From Nervous Indigestion No Matter What Or How Little She Ate, She States. Eats Anything Now And Feels So Much Better Her Work Is A Pleasure

Among the latest well-known Florida men and women to come forward with a grateful public endorsement of Retonga after trying this famous gastric tonic in their own cases, is Mrs. O. L. Jernigan, well-known home owner of 912 West Alfred St., Tampa, Fla. "It seemed to me that no matter what I ate, or how little I suffered continually from nervous indigestion," declares Mrs. Jernigan. "My appetite dwindled away to where I seldom cared whether meal time came or not. I lost weight and slept so poorly that I never seemed to get rested. My elimination was very sluggish, and it seemed to me I hardly had the strength and pep a person of my age should have. "I tried so many medicines that I was beginning to feel discouraged, but Retonga gave me both prompt and splendid relief. My appetite was never better. I eat anything I want, and I sleep soundly and restfully. I have regained my lost weight, and I feel so good again that work is a pleasure. Retonga is grand." Retonga is intended to relieve distress due to insufficient flow of digestive juices in the stomach, loss of appetite, Vitamin B-1 deficiency and constipation. Accept no substitute. ## Reds Demand A-Bomb Count For U N Data

Gromyko Says Failure To List Stockpiles Would Make Figures "Unrealistic"

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 25 (AP)—Russia demanded today that any United Nations proposals to collect official data on troops and arms from the 55 member governments must include figures on atomic bomb stockpiles.

Soviet delegate Andrei A. Gromyko said it would be "unrealistic" to gather military figures without listing the number of atomic bombs held by any country.

Gromyko took his stand as the 12-nation commission on conventional armaments, now limited in its discussions on arms reduction to weapons outside the mass destruction category, failed to agree on a suggestion for collecting information.

The United States, Britain and France also opposed proposals for the figures but their objections were on the grounds that the moves were premature.

The original data proposal, offered by Australia and Syria and supported only by Belgium, finally was dropped without vote but Australia and China then submitted new plans along the same lines. These will be taken up in detail next Thursday.

Today's developments left the UN with virtually no accomplishments after nearly a year of fiddling with Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov's proposals for global arms slashing in the General Assembly last October.

Plans Discussed For Glider Meet To be Held Here

Plans for a second Southeastern Glider Contest to be held in Sanford Jan. 15-18 were discussed over the weekend by William C. Lazarus, state director of aviation, and local officials at a meeting last week. Lazarus said the contest would be the last in a series of proposed air activities which include the Flying Alligator and the All American Air Maneuvers party at Melbourne on Jan. 7 and 8 and the All American Air Maneuvers at Miami on Jan. 21.

The three air attractions are being planned in rapid sequence in order to attract a large number of pilots to Florida. Lazarus stated that planes flying north from the Miami area would be routed through Sanford and Lazarus estimated that there would be at least 300 planes a day making this stop.

BY STANLEY SWENTON
BAFARIA, Java, Aug. 25 (AP)—The Dutch and Indonesians reported continuing fighting in Java, Sumatra and Malacca today, though at midnight tonight there was a mutual cease-fire order went into effect by request of the United Nations Security Council.

A Netherlands army communiqué today said 28 clashes with Indonesians had taken place yesterday on the three islands. It said that the Dutch launched "strong offensive and guerrilla bands, consisting of clearing action" in all sectors and that the Indonesians in return attacked Dutch positions and patrols. Nine Dutch soldiers were reported killed, 23 wounded and one missing.

A Republican army communiqué yesterday said the Dutch had taken strategic Bogis airfield some six miles northwest of Malarang, east Java, and were fighting for Tenghil airfield, four miles from the captured base. It reported the infantry had taken and supported in the Bogis operation.

Merchants Urge Action On Cross State Highway

Association Votes To Aid In Speeding Up Decision On Route

The Sanford Merchants Association Friday evening voted to offer its assistance to City and County officials to find some way to speed up decision and action by the State Road Department in determining an east-west route through Sanford on Route 46.

The Chamber of Commerce Manager Edward Higgins pointed out the full authority to plan and schedule the Road 46 route, in making a decision as to whether to use the left-of-road route or the Twenty-fifth Street route. Too much controversy will further delay the road building, he said. He declared that the first cross state road through Sanford had been proposed in 1916 and that the issue had been kicked around ever since.

H. B. Pope, chairman of the Board of County Commissioners said his group was working with the State Road Department to select a suitable route through Sanford for Road 46, but also warned that if there is too much controversy, neither route contemplated will be selected.

Jack Ratigan outlined the City's financial and tax situation and pointed out the reasons for increased assessments and taxes. He deplored the lack of interest of the Chamber of Commerce in its meetings, and declared that during the time the issue of parking meters was brought up only two citizens attended the meetings. At the average city election only 200 to 300 voters turn out, he said.

Frank Shames suggested that the Association form a committee to aid the City Commission in solving its financial difficulties. This suggestion was favorably received.

Steady Growth Of Livestock Industry Forecast In State

JACKSONVILLE, Aug. 25 (Special)—Continued, steady expansion of Florida's livestock industry was forecast today by William L. Wilson, Director of State Markets, in discussing activities throughout the system of sales centers he heads, in announcing the recent appointment of M. M. Johnson, as manager of the DeFuniak Springs State Livestock Market. Cattle and hogs have provided a substantial amount of revenue to producers in the territory immediately adjacent to DeFuniak Springs for many years, Director Wilson noted, and he expressed feeling that facilities provided by the State Market should be of considerable assistance to the future development of the livestock industry in that section.

Florida State Livestock Markets have continued sales throughout the summer at a number of points, and some of these were referred to by Director Wilson in his statement today. The Quincy State Livestock Market, in its weekly sale handled 120 cattle and 415 hogs, for a cash grand total of $15,820.37. The Jay State Livestock Market, also in northwest Florida, reported sales totaling $2,370. The one-day auction handling 120 cattle and 224 hogs, Arcadia State Livestock Market in its one-day auction sold 417 cattle and 62 hogs, for $22,480.64, leading the State-operated livestock sales centers for the week. This Arcadia sale also followed close on the heels of that market's outstanding B r a m a Sale, Aug. 15, at which gross sales ran to $24,810, for 14 males and 24 females of this breed. The males sold at prices ranging from 270 to $2,200 each and the females from $380 to $1,250 each.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY... A SMILE COSTS NOTHING, BUT THE LACK OF IT MAY LOSE A FRIEND

ROAD BACK HOME... Over the hills on a road that is winding... Down through the pines and their patterns of light

ROAD BACK HOME... I stand by the bridge where the brooklet is flowing... And view the return of the waters that roam

ROAD BACK HOME... I'm glad for their welcome, for always it seems... The voices of night, where the shadows are playing

ROAD BACK HOME... Are calling to me down the road of my dream... I'm glad for their welcome, for always it seems

Australian Immigrants

Australia has had a change of heart. After doing her best for years to keep immigrants out, she now wants them. It is announced that the International Refugee Organization will send 12,000 displaced persons per year, from Germany to Australia as long as the supply of willing emigrants holds out.

The war has caused this change. For a long time the Australians believed that every newcomer took a job away from a native citizen, or at least threatened his rate of pay. Now they begin to see that the work of greater numbers increases the prosperity of all.

The Australian contribution to the displaced problem is less than a drop in the bucket. The world will, however, welcome a more liberal immigration policy by a country with the resources of Australia.

There is also a valuable intangible byproduct. New loyalties are found to develop to the new land under such circumstances, increasing the mutual understanding between the old and new citizens.

Library coverage should be planned on a nation-wide basis, said Miss Ruth Ersted of the Minnesota Department of Education, speaking at the annual institute of the Graduate Library School in Chicago.

The fact that half of the children in the United States do not have access to a good library is the fault of school and children's librarians, said Miss Ersted. She advocated their taking the responsibility for nation-wide planning of library service, as coordination makes for money-saving and efficiency in libraries as elsewhere.

There is something to be said for this theory, but it needs examination. The county library system has met with great success in many states, and is giving excellent service to rural districts which are without library facilities.

This system supplies constantly changing collections to strategically placed branches, and operates lookmobiles which bring the library to the farmhouse door. A county-sized organization is more easily handled and more personal in its application than a national set-up could be.

States not having library service should look into those operating in California, Ohio, New Jersey and other states.

Rotary Meet

Members of the Rotary Club met for their monthly luncheon at the club house last night. The meeting was held in the presence of Mrs. J. H. Greenlee, guest.

The people in the oil business are generally fair and square, he stated, and the brokers generally want to see landowners get the most they can for their lease. Many lawyers do not know how to draw up oil leases, he said, and therefore the oil broker has to be able to do this.

President Gordon Brisson announced that the club next Monday will meet at the club house. He stated that a picnic will be held on Wednesday at Blue Springs. Visitors included Edward Rusli, Jacksonville, and Dr. Charles L. Persola of Sanford.

Prelate Injured

When Monsignor Ullmar reached San Diego Sunday, he was met by a crowd of well-wishers. He was then taken to a hospital where he was treated for injuries sustained in a fall.

To Live Longer

W. V. Bittling, Touchon Drug Co., says that preparation for a long life against disease in infancy and begins with immunization. He states that the best way to live longer is to eat regular meals of nutritious food.

Soldiers Story

(Continued from Page One) They believed a Korean soldier had hung his coat over the barbed wire, and they were the first to see it.

There were no questions about American installations or operations in south Korea, the soldier added, and the only time politics came up was when they were asked if they had heard of Stalin and Lenin. The three answered "Yes."

"We could have run out when we saw two Russian soldiers and one officer approaching us," said 19-year-old Hope, "but we didn't know then whether we were north of the border or the south."

He said they were taken about 100 miles north by train next morning to a detention camp. After being held in a Russian barracks for four days, they were moved to a Korean house occupied by Russians.

He said the Russians offered them greasy fish stew which the Americans couldn't eat. At the barracks—where they had been given what they assumed "perfectly good" chocolate of note to be the regular Soviet diet.

Decision May Result In Labor Law Test

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 (AP)—The possibility of a quick Supreme Court test of the Taft-Hartley labor law said Communist officials arose today in a National Labor Relations Board session.

The board ruled 2 to 1 that the Geraldine Novelty Company, Inc. of Greenville, N. C., must reinstate eight employees, who were members of the NLRB and had been fired for alleged Communist activities.

The decision was handed down Aug. 21 the day before the Taft-Hartley became fully operative in its new provisions affecting the National Labor Relations Board. The head of the firm and its lawyer were in San Francisco.

The Taft-Hartley law bars NLRB aid to unions, unless their officers file affidavits disavowing Communist affiliations.

JACKSON, Miss., Aug. 25 (AP)—The late Theodore G. Bilbo's seat in the Senate will remain vacant until the general election of Nov. 4 unless Congress goes into special session. Gov. F. F. Taylor said.

The governor, empowered by law to appoint a senator who would serve until the election, said yesterday such an appointment would be made.

U. S. OFFICIALLY WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 (AP)—A State Department spokesman said "it is too early to say" when asked today whether the United States would recognize the new government of Ecuador.

Treas. Officer Lincoln White said the department had received only preliminary reports of the "shoot-out" result which occurred last night in Havana.

Detention of the men was not announced until eight days had elapsed. American headquarters here said then that the Russians once had reported the trio would be released, but that they later explained the three were being held for further investigation.

Miss Jeannine Manning Becomes Bride Of Julian Sirmons In Church Ceremony

In a beautiful candlelight ceremony performed in the First Baptist Church Sunday at 4:00 P. M. Miss Margaret Jeannine Manning became the bride of Julian Robert Sirmons. The Rev. W. P. Brooks officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The church was decorated with tall baskets of white gladioluses placed against a background of potted palms and fern. Seven branched candelabra held the burning white tapers. The Baptist was adorned with fern and also small lighted candles. The family pews were marked by sprays of white gladiolus tied with satin ribbons.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Evans McCoy presented a program of nuptial music and John Miller sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly". The traditional wedding matches were also used.

The bride, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Alfred Manning, was escorted to the altar by her father. Her wedding gown was a creation of all-over lace and parachute silk which the bridegroom brought back from Guam. The figure-molding bodice was attached at the hipline to the voluminous three-fold skirt with a lace ruffle. The lace yoke was fashioned with a high round neckline and finished with a lace ruffle and the long, light fitting sleeves ending in points over the hands of the all-over lace.

Small self-covered buttons fastened the dress down the back. Her fingertip length veil of sheerest illusion edged with lace, was attached to a coronet of seed pearls. She carried a circular bouquet of white tuberoses and fern centered with a purple-throated orchid and tied with white tulle and satin ribbons. Her only ornament was a single strand of pearls.

Mrs. Thomas A. Cobb attended the bride as matron of honor and Miss Peggy Best served as bridesmaid. Little Margaret Benham was junior bridesmaid. For his best man Mr. Sirmons chose Cecil Mixon and ushers were James Manning and Thomas Kattliff, Jr.

Mrs. Cobb's dress was fashioned of pale blue taffeta with a sleeveless basque waist finished at the low neckline with a taffeta ruff and a very full gathered skirt. On her hair she wore a coil of matching tulle. Her bouquet was a large nosegay of vari-colored asters and sweetheart roses tied with rainbow colored ribbon.

Miss Best's dress was fashioned along the same lines as that of the matron of honor in yellow taffeta and Margaret Benham was crowned in a similar dress of pink taffeta. They also carried nosegays of the vari-colored asters and sweetheart roses and wore veils of matching tulle on their hair.

The bride's mother chose for the occasion a street length dress of aqua and black and a corsage of American Beauty roses and tuberoses. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Rosa Sirmons, wore a Navy blue dress with matching accessories and a corsage of American Beauty roses and tuberoses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents on Park Avenue. The rooms of the Manning home were decorated with white gladioluses and fern and the dining table, covered with a handmade lace cloth, was centered with a three tiered wedding cake, topped by a miniature bride and groom. Mrs. B. Loveley served the coffee and Mrs. Edward Smith presided at the punch bowl.

Miss Jean Williams assisted in serving and Miss Charlene Caldwell had charge of the bride's book. The couple left late in the afternoon for Daytona Beach where they plan to spend a short time before going to Dallas, Tex. where Mr. Sirmons will enter the Dallas School of Aviation. For traveling Mrs. Sirmons wore a black gabardine suit with black patent accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Betsy Dibble Wed To Harry Brownlee In Beautiful, Candlelight Wedding

The marriage of Betsy Hemenbrance Dibble, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Frederick Dibble of Deland, to Harry Gibson Brownlee, son of Dr. and Mrs. Edwin Darnall Brownlee, was solemnized on Saturday afternoon at 5:00 o'clock in the First Presbyterian Church of Sanford. The beautiful, double-ring ceremony was performed by the groom's father, Dr. Brownlee, before a large assemblage of relatives and friends.

The rostrum of the church was carpeted with asparagus fern and groups of palms and tall baskets of white gladioluses and asters were placed at each end. The choir loft was banked with fern and branched brass candelabra held burning white tapers. Palms and white flowers decorated the vestibule and the family pews were marked with sprays of asters and fern.

Mrs. George Dannels of Deland, organist, rendered a program of nuptial music which included "Ave Maria", "Choir de L'Unité", "Bells of St. Margaret", "Tranquill", and the "Delta Six Love Song" which is played when each member of the fraternity is married. Dick Aiken, soloist, sang "Because" and "At Dawning" and at the conclusion of the wedding service he softly sang "The Lord's Prayer".

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white slipper satin designed with a fitted bodice, round neckline and long pointed sleeves. The skirt was full and featured a sport flared tunic in the front which extended into a train in the back. Tiny sprays of orange blossoms were attached to the veil which was of sheer bridal illusion and the blossoms also formed a coronet for her hair. Her bouquet was of white carnations and lilies of the valley and was centered with a pale lavender orchid.

Her sister, Miss Marguerite Dibble, served as her maid of honor and only attendant. She wore light green taffeta which featured a fitted bodice, draped waistline and a long full skirt. A coronet of green illusion edged with tiny yellow flowers formed her headpiece and tuberoses, and yellow chrysanthemum were tucked with green and white callidium leaves to form her bouquet. Streamers of yellow and green satin fell from the flowers.

Mr. Brownlee chose for his best man, Arthur Branan, and the ushers were Joe McCaslin, Rhodes Spell of Deland, Russell DeLoun of Cocoa and Ralph Eckles of Miami Beach.

Mrs. Brownlee, mother of the groom, wore an afternoon gown of an aqua shade with which she wore a flower hat in tones of rose and aqua. Her accessories were white and her corsage was of sweetheart roses and lavender orchids. The mother of the bride, Mrs. Dibble, was unable to be present because of a recent illness.

For traveling Mrs. Brownlee wore an aqua silk jersey dress with a black hat and accessories. Lavender orchids formed her corsage. Mr. and Mrs. Brownlee plan to spend about two weeks in the mountains of North Carolina after which they will return to Sanford. In the fall they will make their home in Philadelphia where Mrs. Brownlee will study for her master's degree in bacteriology at Temple University and Mr. Brownlee will resume his studies at Temple Medical School.
