Defense Activity Is 'Better Than Good,' Member Of Cabinet Says At Luncheon

Official Sees No Place For Delay

Commerce Head Asks That Good Job Be Done For Defense

NEW YORK, Apr. 21.—Secretary of Commerce Jesse H. Jones in a speech prepared for delivery at the annual luncheon of the Associated Press asserted today that although defense activity is "better than good," there is no room for American complacency.

He expressed two warnings: "If the aggressor nations are successful, our generation is apt to see little of tranquility."

"If we are to get ready to defend ourselves, let us not be lulled by the fact that we are doing a good job."

At the United States Commerce Department luncheon, Jones said that the United States is doing a good job, but that it is not doing a great job.

Branch Of State Legislature Votes Hospital At Lake Mary Is Proposed

Seminole County Is Passed Over Avon Park, Tampa Sites

John G. Leonard, Seminole County representative to the State Legislature, will introduce a bill in the House regarding a proposed branch of the State Hospital for the insane to be built near Lake Mary, Edward Higgins, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, said today.

"A proposition to build another state hospital in the central part of Florida has been agitated for several years," Mr. Higgins said.

In 1939 the Legislature named a committee to visit and investigate three sites, in Seminole County, at Avon Park and near Tampa, for the hospital branch, Mr. Higgins said, adding that "the report of the committee was much in favor of the Seminole County site over the others offered."

The Chamber of Commerce has furnished Mr. Leonard with a description of a 210-acre tract south of Lake Mary, which was offered in 1939 by Frank Evans of Lake Mary and John Melich of Sanford.

Mr. Evans, who is now in Boston, Mass., telegraphed the Chamber of Commerce and again offered the Lake Mary site for the hospital branch, Mr. Higgins said. Mr. Leonard advised the Chamber of Commerce that he has the support of the 1939 investigating committee in his bill.

Cox Asserts Private Ownership Stands At Mercy Of Bureaucrats In U. S.

WASHINGTON, Apr. 21.—(AP)—Sidney Hillman, associated director of the Office of Production Management, today told a Senate committee he believed "we are going into an era of greater collaboration between management and labor."

Hillman said it was "very unfortunate" that the new labor disputes which had led to work stoppages had attracted public attention while many disputes settled amicably went unnoticed.

WASHINGTON, Apr. 21.—(AP)—Declaring that private ownership in this country "stands at the mercy of government bureaucrats and unionist dictators," Rep. Cox (D-Ga.) urged Congress today to "strike the shackles which have been forced upon the nation's defensive industry."

For some years, Cox asserted, "bureaucratic dreamers" have been promoting in this nation "an insidious revolution" of "planned economy" and "collectivism."

There were indications in Washington that the government might take some further action today in the protracted shut-down in soft coal mining. The United Mine Workers C. I. O. and Northern mine operators rejected Saturday a plea from Secretary Perkins for reopening of mines in that area.

It previously won Senate approval and now goes to Governor Holland to recommend it. The seventh cent produces about $4,000,000 a year. Half the money goes to public schools, and the other half goes into the general treasury.

Revenue from the other six cents is divided equally between the counties for bond retirement and the Road Department for construction and maintenance.

Two major phases of Governor Holland has proposed that the revenue from the per cent be divided into four parts, two to roads and two parts to the counties.

3 Blazes Put Out; Little Damage Done

Three runs were made by the Fire Department during the week-end but damages in all of the cases were negligible, according to a report of the department.

W. L. Holcomb of 1803 Douglas Avenue put in a call to investigate a short circuit in a wire at his home. No damage was done. Another wire shortage occurred at Fourth Street and Palmette Avenue on one of the lines of the Florida Power and Light Company but no damage was done.

A Kanner called the department to extinguish a blaze under the hood of his automobile when gasoline dripping from the carburetor on to the motor caught fire. Little damage was done to the car, according to the report.

Chief Mack Cleveland left for the convention of the Florida State Firemen's Association in Jacksonville yesterday and is expected to return in a few days.

The Nazi Drive In Greece

British forces are repulsing with heavy losses Nazi columns attempting to take strategic Katerine, above Mt. Olympus on the eastern flank of the Allied defense line. Meanwhile, British and Greek forces were desperately fighting to stem the Nazi advance toward Kalabaka, rail center in the center sector, where a break would cut off the right flank. ## World Has Always Had Its Struggles, Rotarians Told

Building Program At Southern College Described By Spivey

"The world today is going to the devil," declared Dr. Ludd M. Spivey, president of Southern College at Lakeland. "It always has but out of the struggles of today will come something better for the world of the future."

Dr. Spivey was the principal speaker today in an international service program at the regular weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club.

Dr. Spivey, who was introduced by Dr. W. P. Huhman, pastor of the Methodist Church, invited the Rotarians to visit Southern College at Lakeland, where an extensive building program under the architectural direction of Frank Lloyd Wright, one of the country's most famous architects.

Some 14 new buildings are contemplated in the program, including a chapel, one of the most beautiful in the country, already started, and a library which will be started tomorrow. More than 20 acres of ground are involved in the program. The buildings will be made of coquina rock and much of the work is done by students themselves.

Dr. Spivey said that the world has always passed to go to the devil, Dr. Spivey quoted from Jesus: "The way to the devil is so broad that most people will always take it. Jesus was no pessimist," Dr. Spivey added.

Forest Fires Raging In Six Eastern States

Two Dead, Scores Of Homes Destroyed, Cities Threatened

Fire, some of which were still out of control at nightfall, blackened thousands of acres of woodland in six states yesterday, destroyed scores of homes and caused two deaths and injuries to many.

In forests made tinder-dry by a two-weeks' warm spell, 148 fires raged in West Virginia, 45 in New Jersey, and numerous others were reported in New York, Massachusetts, Maryland and Virginia.

One firefighter died in West Virginia, another burned to death or killed by a falling tree, and one man died of a heart attack while defending his home near Lakewood in the Jersey pin-belt, where one of the day's worst fires threatened the town's business and main residence.

Some 14 new buildings are contemplated in the program, including a chapel, one of the most beautiful in the country, already started, and a library which will be started tomorrow. CALF IN THE RAIN

Judy Van der Veer The spotted calf came in the rain, It could not lift its head...

With cold rain beating on her back The mother cow stood still, As though she waited for the sun...

It was a deep and knowing thing— The patience in her eyes; As if she told the calf to wait, That she was old and wise.

As if in her strange speechless way She spoke of better things— Of sunshine upon the grass, Of birds with bright blue wings...

Smiling in the sun— She loved some deep and loving truth, To this new trembling one...

So when it lifted up its head And struggled hard to rise, And she spoke once again and watched with pride and shining eyes...

The Tourist Business

Biggest industry in Florida today is the tourist business and its allied lines. We do not know how much money is invested in hotels, apartment houses, homes, restaurants, night clubs and transportation lines catering to the winter visitor...

Pointing out that in spite of a slow start and other factors such as the war which restricted somewhat the normal tourist crop, Commissioner Johnson says that some 2,600,000 tourists spent an average of 35 days in Florida last winter. Estimating that the average tourist expenditure is $5 a day, or $175 for the season, he figures that altogether they left $455,000,000 in the state.

It is not necessary for The Herald to add that this business is worth sharing in. In recent weeks, as in years gone by, we have heard many reasons advanced for Sanford's failure to develop and keep pace with other rapidly growing Florida communities. There is only one reason why Sanford has the same population today it had 10 years ago: its failure to appreciate the value of the tourist business.

Sanford was started as essentially an agricultural community. Throughout nearly all the years of its life it has been content to remain an agricultural community. Agriculture in the beginning was responsible for its growth and development. In later years farming operations were not so profitable. Sanford stagnated while other Florida cities which catered to the tourist crop doubled and tripled in population.

More recently civic leaders appreciating the value of the tourists and realizing that if something is not done to bolster the community's income even more serious times may be expected, have made an effort to get a slice of this tourist melon. During the past winter nearly $2,000 was spent advertising Seminole County in northern newspapers, by booklets sent to the World's Fair, by folders and circulars sent to other chambers of commerce and travel bureaus, by billboards and in various other ways.

That this drive to get tourists for our section was successful is attested by every index we have for gauging our winter population. The Joyce information both on the Lakefront reveals a surprising number of inquiries made at this focal point for disseminating news of Sanford. Restaurants and hotels report their best season's business in years. Out-of-state cars stopping at the zoo have exceeded all previous records. And our merchants report a substantial improvement in business, part of which they attribute to unfamiliar faces.

In order to continue their efforts to bring tourists here, the Chamber of Commerce is planning the largest advertising appropriation in years. Next year officials hope to be in a position to devote not less than $5,000 to advertising the advantages of our section from a tourist point of view and thus to bring in more visitors than have ever stopped here before.

This advertising campaign as well as the numerous other activities planned by the Chamber of Commerce will necessitate a larger budget than usual. A drive will soon be made to obtain funds and The Herald hopes that every person in our county who wants to see conditions improve will contribute more liberally than ever before so that a really progressive program can be carried out.

Wildlife Increasing

Despite the inroads of civilization and the widespread development of rural areas throughout the southeast, wildlife in the forests of Florida, Georgia and South Carolina is actually on the increase. This is attributed largely to the development of national parks and to the careful supervision of game in them by competent authorities and the co-operation of the region's sportsmen.

The figures compiled by the Forest Service of the Department of Agriculture show that the national forests of the south harbor 38,000 whitetail deer, 800 black bear, 600 wild boar, 50 elk, and 9,500 alligator. Furbearers on these forests number more than 80,000 fox, nearly 400 beaver, 14,000 mink, 1,500 otter, 19,000 muskrat, 285,000 opossum, more than 80,000 raccoon and some 100,000 skunk. Small game is becoming abundant and includes nearly a million gray and fox squirrel, 10,000 turkey, and 37,000 ruffed grouse.

Figures for Florida, including the Ocala, Osceola, and Apalachicola National Forests show the following quantities: 8,000 whitetail deer, 6,000 alligator, 100 black bear, 6,000 fox, 4,800 bobcat, 180 mink, 850 otter, 14,500 opossum, 15,000 raccoon, and 10,300 skunk. Small game estimates are 18,500 cottontail rabbits, 89,800 gray squirrel, 7,200 fox squirrel, 200 turkey, and 18,500 bobwhite quail.

The most noteworthy increase has been in whitetail deer, since the 8,000 figure for this year shows an increase of 2,500 head over the 1939 estimate, and the Ocala National Forest is now the habitat of the largest deer herd in the south, with over 7,000 head.

As an indication of the increasing importance of the Florida National Forests to the average non-landowning sportsman in the state, Supervisor Albert points to the fact that in 1940 sportsmen spent 18,200 man-days hunting big game, 11,000 man-days hunting small game, and 41,000 man-days fishing on the local national forests.

"Wildlife is recognized by the United States Forest Service as one of the natural resources of the national forest. Both are susceptible to management and, if conservatively and intelligently handled, will produce a continuing and perpetual supply. Wildlife management is an integral part of the multiple use plan of national forest administration, under which the use of all the resources of the forests are developed according to their relative importance and in such a manner that the greatest public good will be forthcoming from the land."

Fungoid Hospital Miami Herald

THREAT of attendance at Jackson Memorial Hospital to walk out, if provision is not made in the city's next budget to remedy unbearable conditions, dramatically focuses the attention of the citizens of Miami on the crying need for adequate hospital facilities.

We must not be too critical of these employees for their threatened walk-out, if they could see for a moment the conditions they are under when not at work. They would wonder why they had not shown up their job long ago.

One hundred twenty-five staff doctors, the largest number of any hospital in the city, are now on strike. The trustees, recognizing the hospital's plight, he physicians recognize it, too, but their body, which alone has the power to clean up the mess, has been unable to find a solution for it.

The Jackson hospital was planned for a city of not more than 75,000. It is trying to meet the demands of a city more than twice that size. The result—a totally inadequate hospital.

An aroused public should demand that the commission face matters realistically. The Herald suggests, in keeping with the physicians, that a hospital consultant, an expert if you please, be called in to determine a policy.

With a scientific survey made the commission then can go ahead to put a plan into operation that is not a hit-or-miss affair.

If we need a new hospital away from the murky pall cast over the Jackson by the municipal incinerator, the city should definitely plan for it. In the meantime the city must improve the incinerator it has.

That fungoid growth called Jackson Memorial is not filling the bill. Perhaps funds can be obtained from the Work Projects Administration. Hospitals come in the defense category. Money can be had, must be had.

The threatened employee walk-out drives that lesson home. Let there be an end to the body of final reply, "We haven't the money." The public is tired of the answer.

The commission should have the ability to visualize hospital needs and develop plans to meet them.

(Continued From Page One) group to work making the most far-reaching use of the money they have. It is expected to be brought to the House floor by the middle of May.

Changes under the consideration include: A raise in the normal income tax from 5 percent to 6 or 7 percent.

Application of surtaxes to incomes of $2000 and over instead of those of $1000 and more as at present.

Leaving the exemption for a married man from 1939 in 1940. There is opposition to reducing the exemption for a single man below the current $2000.

A one-cent per gallon increase in the gasoline levy.

Increases in the excise taxes on automobiles, tobacco and alcohol and a return to World War levels on railroad tickets, soft drinks, candy, cigarettes, etc.

The new taxes, which are to be added to those already in effect, would increase the government income to $12,000,000. The program was devised with the objective of raising sufficient money to finance through taxes repayment of the $25,000,000 prewar government operation. The remainder will be raised through Treasury borrowing.

Tough War-Time Job Handled By Ellen Wilkinson

By ADELIA KERR
AP Feature Service Writer

A five-foot, husky voiced, middle-aged spinster is roaming around London in one of England's toughest war-time jobs. She is red-headed Ellen Wilkinson, who has the staggering task of keeping England's millions of people from going hungry. Besides being a member of Parliament, "Story Girl" Wilkinson is also parliamentary undersecretary to the Ministry of Home Security. So she races around each night, inspecting the communal shelters built in underground tubes and basements.

She says, "My first job was to find shelters and make people comfortable in them. Now we have a new problem. People like to live in the shelters and we must keep them turning them into night clubs."

Nancy, the daughter of a Manchester insurance agent, was found in police 23 years. In that time she has crossed being a workwoman, a housewife, a mother, and a woman who has been shelled down in a common shell in Spain and bombed out of two houses and one office in London. Her only consolation seems to be her wit and her wit.

Nancy's first job was to find shelters and make people comfortable in them. Now we have a new problem. People like to live in the shelters and we must keep them turning them into night clubs."
