House OK's Marina, Port

Bottom Land Transfer To City Expected

BULLETIN
Rep. S. J. Davis Jr. telephoned The Herald early this afternoon the information that the Port Authority of Seminole County and the marina complex bills were approved by the House of Representatives this morning.

Davis added that the Port Authority measure was amended to provide for public meetings of authority in Seminole County and for filing of financial statements with the Board of County Commission and submission of budgets to the County Commission, public hearings on budgets and annual audits.

The Port Authority and marina bills were certified to the Senate for its action this afternoon or Friday, last day of the session.

By Dottie Austin
Last legal stumbling blocks toward construction of the Sanford waterfront development-marina complex were expected to be cleared away today with passage of a bill in the Florida Legislature giving the City of Sanford clear title to approximately 22 acres of bottom land in Lake Monroe.

Sen. Mack N. Cleveland Jr., reported to The Sanford Herald today that Rep. S. J. Davis Jr. informed him he expected the bill to pass the House this morning and be sent over to the Senate for action this afternoon or early Friday, last day of the session.

Control of fresh water bottom lands rests with the trustees of the State Internal Improvement Fund and it is necessary for the city to be granted "fee simple title" to the land before the marina landfill area may be leased to private investors for construction of the motel-restaurant-club complex.

"We appreciate the diligent work of our legislative representatives in clearing this hurdle for us and hope that we will encounter no further difficulties in proceeding with plans for the waterfront development," said Mayor J. H. Crapps, contacted at his home, where he is convalescing.

W. E. Knowles, city manager, said the city's fiscal agent, Loomis Leedy, already is at work preparing the necessary bond ordinance and the next step in working toward the marina will be to finalize private capital interests for the commercial aspects and then to obtain engineering designs for the actual construction.

Compromise Made On Court Location
TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — A compromise was worked out today in the session-long dispute over location of a proposed fourth district court of appeals.

Senators and representatives from the 11-county district stretching from Fort Lauderdale to Daytona Beach met Wednesday night and met again this morning before agreeing on a bill to let the State Supreme Court decide where the court headquarters shall be located.

Drought Solution Sought For Glades

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Members of Florida's congressional delegation sought a solution today to the critical water shortage problem facing the Everglades National Park.

Florida's two Democratic senators, Spessard L. Holland and George A. Smathers, and Rep. Dante Fascell, of Miami, said they were attempting to organize an early joint meeting with the secretaries of defense and interior, Gov. Haydon Burns and officials of the Army Corps and Engineers and the South and Central Florida Flood Control District.

The lawmakers said that in contacting each agency they had found wide differences of opinion on what should be done to save the plant and wildlife in the Everglades.

"The intent of our proposed meeting is to obtain the facts and then get essential immediate action, with the secondary goal of establishing policies and practices to of the present recurrence of the present crisis," a statement declared.

The lawmakers said they hoped the meeting could be held in Washington early next week.

South Florida presently is in the throes of the longest spring drought on record. Very little rain has fallen on the area since last March 4 and the 1.5 million-acre national park, normally a wet swampland, has been drying up.

TORNADOES HAMMER U.S. MID-SECTION
United Press International

Tornadoes, thunderstorms and hail hammered the nation's mid-section Wednesday night, killing at least two persons and injuring more than 60. Two others were missing in the crash of a small airplane.

Rain splattered areas from the Atlantic Coast to Minnesota today. Showers and thundershowers also hit sections of the central Rockies and the Great Basin.

A woman was killed and her husband was critically injured late Wednesday when a tornado flattened their home at Cotton Center, Tex., then spun through nearby Hale Center, Tex., injuring a total of 60 persons.

Rec Center Bids Dumped By Altamonte

By Donna Estes

All six bids submitted on the Altamonte Springs recreation center were rejected at regular meeting of the town council Wednesday evening.

The board decided to have plans for the center modified and resubmitted for bids.

Contractors and their bids submitted were Robert Fortier, $19,700; Fowkes Construction Company, $19,929; S & T Construction Company, $21,847; Darwin Shea, $22,234; Oakland Estates, $27,429; and Modern Builders, Inc., $28,716.

In other business, the board, at recommendation of Mayor W. Lawrence Swafford, agreed to retain Jack O. Williamson, accountant, to keep the town books in proper order and to prepare monthly statements.

A warranty deed from Oakland Estates developer Leedy giving a lot in the subdivision to the town under the conditions that the lot be used as a recreation area, open to the general public, was not accepted.

Mayor Swafford stated the difficulties involved in having a lower recreation facility open to the general public, pointing out that persons from outside the town or county could use the area at will. He urged that Cohn be requested to change wording in the deed to "open to the citizens of Altamonte Springs." Acting town attorney, Douglas Stenstrom, suggested adding the phrase "subject to ordinances of the town."

Stenstrom prepared the restrictive phrases and the matter was turned over to Councilman Irl Chapman for discussion with Cohn.

RESCUE MISSION LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—Government troops led by mercenary commander Col. Michael (Mad Mike) Hoare today slashed through dense jungles hoping to rescue white hostages held by rebel forces.

There will be an adjourned meeting of the Sanford City Commission at 8 tonight in the City Commission Room of the City Hall.

White Delays 'Walk'

BULLETIN

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — Astronauts James McDivitt and Edward White decided today to wait until the third orbit of their Gemini-4 spacecraft for White to attempt America's first "walk" in space.

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — Astronauts James McDivitt and Edward White flew into orbit aboard their Gemini 4 spacecraft today but failed in history's first attempt to achieve a close rendezvous with the second stage of their Titan 2 booster rocket.

Still on schedule, however, was a space-walk attempt which would make White the world's first self-propelled spaceman.

Command pilot McDivitt tried to fly Gemini in formation with the orbiting rocket stage but ran so low on jet maneuvering fuel that he was warned by ground control to abandon attempts to make a close approach to the rocket.

A Titan-2 rocket hurled the Gemini-4 spacecraft into the sky at 11:16 a.m. (EDT) after a delay of one hour and 16 minutes caused by an electrical failure. The failure prevented the removal on schedule of the 138-foot erector which cradled the spacecraft before liftoff.

Otherwise the countdown had been perfect. The weather, here and around the world, was fine. The astronauts were in perfect physical condition and eager for their adventure.

The spacecraft, thrown into the sky with a roar and volcanic bursts of fire and black smoke from the booster rocket, went into orbit at 11:22 a.m. (EDT).

The flight is scheduled for 62 orbits in four days, covering 1.7 million miles.

Assuming everything goes as planned, McDivitt and White will come back to earth next Monday afternoon, splashing down in the Atlantic some 400 miles southwest of Bermuda and about 600 miles east of Cape Kennedy.

Except for the delay in lowering the erector, the countdown and flight looked perfect at the outset. The plan had been for Gemini-4 to take an initial path ranging from 100 to 185 miles in altitude.

The orbit actually achieved was 100 to 175 miles, and the mission control center at Houston happily announced: "This is exactly what the book called for."

On the ground, fellow astronaut Gus Grissom advised McDivitt that "Everything looks good, Jim."

McDivitt radioed back: "It looks good up here."

Eight minutes after liftoff, McDivitt turned the spacecraft to look at the booster. "It looks pretty," he reported.

Lights were blinking on the second stage Titan-2 rocket which White was scheduled to "walk to" later in the flight.

McDivitt reported the rocket was tumbling slowly despite his best efforts to ease gently away from it.

Within 15 minutes, Gemini-4 had nearly spanned the Atlantic Ocean and was beginning its path southeastward across the Sahara and Central Africa.

Gemini control reported McDivitt and White took two 16-mm movie cameras aloft. After White opens his hatch to begin his walk in space, he was to mount one of the cameras on the outside of the capsule.

McDivitt will operate the other movie camera as he peers at White through the left-hand hatch window.

Early in the flight, the two astronauts flew into the first of the many "sunsets" they will view in space.

RIDING HIGH—If any outer space creatures peek into the windows of Gemini 4 while it is in orbit, this is probably what they'll see—Astronauts James A. McDivitt, left, and Edward H. White II, at ease on their contoured flight seats. They wear the space suits specially designed for "space-walking" outside the cabin. The suit is also a backup system for the cabin pressure. Should that fail, the spacesuit provides life support.

Metal Shortage

Silver Coins May Vanish

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson asked Congress today to eliminate silver from dimes and quarters and to reduce the silver content of half dollars by more than one half.

New dimes and quarters would be three-layer "sandwich" of copper and nickel. Except for a dark ring around the edge, they would look very much like the 5-cent and 25-cent pieces currently in use.

The new half dollars also would be three-layered — but would be all but indistinguishable from present 50-cent pieces.

In a special message to Congress, the President made no mention of any possible change in coin denominations.

The reason for cutting back on silver content of coins is that the Treasury is running out of silver.

Johnson warned Congress that unless the mint stops using so much silver for coins, the government will run out of the metal in about three years.

If this happened, he said, the price of silver probably would rise to where it would pay industry to melt down coins to get silver.

A reduction in silver content of coins was deemed necessary to keep billions of coins out of the melting pot. Sudden loss of so many coins could cripple the nation's commerce, administration officials said.

Nickels do not contain silver and would continue to be made of copper-nickel alloy. Pennies still would be made of copper.

There would be no reduction in silver in the $1 coin. It would continue to be made of nine parts silver and one part copper — a formula that has been in use for silver coins for 173 years.

Johnson proposed that the new coins be placed in circulation some time next year.

"I want to make it absolutely clear that these changes in our coinage will have no effect on the purchasing power of our coins," the President told Congress.

Voicing Machine Tie-Up Explained

The current legislative session in Tallahassee indirectly is the reason that Seminole County voting machines still are impounded. And why the City of Longwood had to borrow voting machines from Orange County in last Tuesday's municipal election.

Circuit Court suit of E. Pope Bassett, Republican, against county officials, charging irregularities in last November's county commission race against W. Lawrence Swafford, Democrat, still is in court.

Swafford, the winner by a bare margin, explained today that a motion for dismissal of the case, in which he also was the winner, is being held in abeyance pending the legislative session because his attorney is Rep. S. J. Davis Jr.

The machines were impounded to retain the voting count.

Seminole High Class of 1940 will take part in Class Day exercises Friday at the high school. Time of the activities is 1:30 p.m. instead of 2:30 p.m. as previously stated.

Buck Metts, new Seminole High football coach, will be remembered by his classmates as "Junior Metts." He also was referred to as the "Labe Monroe Locomotive" in newspaper accounts of his feats in the early 1950s.

Apparent overexuberance of some Seminole High School seniors — and possibly juniors — is causing great concern to city manager W. E. (Pete) Knowles. It seems some people have been traveling around town writing the numerals "45" and "68" on many of the street traffic signs. In many instances the painted numerals obliterate the signs, which are erected as safety factors.

Awards Day program will be held at 2 p.m. Friday at Crooms High School.

Gary Hudgins, manager at Strickland-Morrison, has a puppy which he'd like to give away. It was a stray that made itself at home at his house. Anyone want a puppy? See Gary.

Rupert Strickland has been unanimously nominated by the Sanford Kiwanis Club for the post of Lt. Gov. of the Kiwanis Sixth District.

Do you have any old glasses that you no longer wear? Or frames, cases, even prescription sunglasses? Turn them over to one of your Kiwanian friends. They know an organization that can use them to help those who can't afford to buy them.

"Soup, soap and salvation" was the early slogan of the Salvation Army when it started 100 years ago, Major Sven Ruthstrom, commanding officer of the Men's Social Service Center in Tampa told Kiwanians, Wednesday.

Time is drawing near when all "city dogs" must have their rabies shots and new tags. July 1 is the deadline. You can get "shots" at City Hall June 16 and 23. Tags, too.

Let's see now, didn't Buck Metts sell his home in Ravenna Park when he took off for Tampa? And now here he is back in Sanford again as Seminole High School's new football coach. That's the way the ball bounces—and it's a FOOTBALL, it takes some real CRAZY bounces.

South Seminole Jaycees have announced a helping hand project for benefit of the Wilkens family, mother and four children, whose home was burned last week in Casselberry. Sunday, from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m., a percentage of gas sales at either of Bob Newall's Elk Service Stations (one in Casselberry, one in Altamonte) will go to assist the family.

Jaycees To Have Installation At Rolling Hills

Annual installation meeting for South Seminole Jaycees will be held at 7:30 p. m. next Wednesday at the Rolling Hills Country Club with Don Asher of Orlando, newly elected state president, as installing official.

Asher, who was supported by the local group, was elected at the state convention held recently in Jacksonville. South Seminole members and their wives attending were Mr. and Mrs. Bob Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hattaway, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph David, Mr. and Mrs. Don Stevens, and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Walters.

Mothers Feted By Cub Scouts

Cub Scouts of Pack 510, sponsored by the Casselberry Community Methodist Church, honored their mothers at a Mother-and-Son banquet held in Weaver Hall.

Cubmaster Dave Waters and his committee of fathers prepared and served the meal of fried chicken and shrimp, so that the mothers could enjoy a well deserved rest.

The invocation was given by Rev. Delmas Copland, minister of the local church.

Achievement awards were presented to Paul McKay, wolf badge; Nickolas West, Paul McKay, Joub Chervas and C. Johnson, gold arrow and Paul McKay, silver arrow. John Craft was awarded his Bobcat pin.

Neckerchief slides were given those selling tickets for the "Scouting the World" show.

Mrs. Waters, wife of the Cubmaster, was surprised with a skit of appreciation presented by the cubs, for sharing her husband so generously with the pack.

Den Mothers participating in the program were Mrs. Francis Krus, Mrs. Laverne McKay, Mrs. Clydene McKanste, Mrs. Ruth Montgomery, and Mrs. Linda McCall.

ART OF cake decorating was demonstrated by Arthur Paul, head of a local bakery, for members of the South Seminole Welcome Wagon Club as program for the fifth anniversary luncheon. Chuluota Club Beach, Rec Area To Open Monday

By Joan Magin
The Chuluota Community Club beach and recreation area will open officially for the season on Monday.

Beach hours will be 10 a. m. until noon and 1:30 until 7:30 p. m. on weekdays and from 1 until 7:30 p. m. on Sundays. Closing the beach for an hour and a half each day ensures the lifeguard and swimmers a lunch and rest period and absolutely no one will be allowed in the water when the lifeguard is not on duty.

Red Cross qualified lifeguards for the season will be S. Mello and J. Jepson.

Beginning Monday, swimming lessons will be conducted by Red Cross instructors Mrs. Glenna Shearn, Mrs. Barbara Zelle and Mrs. Barbara Russell, on the following schedule:

Beginners (minimum age of seven years or completion of first grade) 9 to 9:30 a. m., June 7-18; advanced beginners (completion of beginners class) 10 to 10:30 a. m., June 7-18; intermediates (completion of advanced beginners) 10 to 10:50 a. m., June 7-18; Junior lifesaving (must take test to qualify) ages 12-15, 11:30 a. m. to 1:30 p. m., June 7-18.

Classes are free of charge but will be limited to families of club members with each class having only 15 students. No other swimmers will be allowed in the water when classes are being conducted. Those interested in signing for any swim instruction should contact Mrs. Mello not later than Saturday in order that schedules can be completed.

Youth Job Office To Open Monday

Youth Employment Service, a volunteer organization that helps find summer jobs for high school and college students, will begin operation Monday at the Florida State Employment Service office at Second Street and French Avenue, Joseph Fay, manager, announced today.

Fay said that letters will be sent to all employers in the county asking that they add one or more summer trainees, part-time or full-time employees.

The campaign to help find summer jobs for students is in line with President Lyndon B. Johnson's Youth Opportunity Campaign calling on private industry, Federal, state and local governments, labor and other organizations to participate.

After the end of school this week several thousand high school and college youths in Seminole County may be expected to be seeking summer jobs or full time employment.

A special telephone will be set up in the FSES office by the Kiwanis Club, manned by a volunteer student, who will take calls from employers and applications from students.

Compensation For Lost Eye

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The House passed and sent to the Senate a bill paying $5,000 to M. C. Anderson, of 810 Pecan, Sanford, to compensate him for injuries received at the hands of two escaped convicts.

Anderson lost an eye in a fight May 27, 1964, with the pair who after escaping from the Oviedo prison farm, attempted to steal his car. The pair was apprehended later that day in Daytona Beach and now is in Raiford Prison.

U. S. Pondering Withdrawal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — If all goes relatively smoothly in the Dominican Republic during the next few weeks, the United States may withdraw all or most of the 21,000 Marines and Army paratroopers there.

They would be replaced by an Army infantry brigade of about 4,000 men that eventually could be incorporated into an inter-American peacekeeping force of perhaps 6,000 men.

Audit Result 'No Surprise' To Mayor Of Altamonte

By Donna Estes
Altamonte Springs Mayor W. Lawrence Swafford, on releasing to The Herald the report of the state audit recently completed in the town, stated he "is satisfied with it, that it contains no surprises, and that no moneys are unaccounted for."

Swafford said, however, that in his opinion expense incurred by the audit was "completely unnecessary."

In the "Scope and Opinion" given on report of the audit, it is stated: "Our examination disclosed nothing that would cause us to question in any material respect the data presented."

The audit was ordered by the Governor when he was petitioned by six per cent of registered voters in the community, including the mayor and all members of the former council, in October, 1964, prior to the general election.

The report gives the opinion that "the town system of internal control was weak. Employees' duties were not sufficiently diversified in that cash handling and record keeping functions were performed by the same person."

It further states, "however, our examination did not and could not in reasonably economical limits provide an adequate substitute for such control."

The full 50-page report is available for inspection by interested residents at the Town Hall.

International Police Urged

WACO, Tex. (UPI) — President Johnson, reporting the scheduled withdrawal of an additional 1,700 U. S. troops from the Dominican Republic, called today for a new and much faster international system for snuffing out attempted Communist takeovers in this hemisphere.

The Chief Executive, speaking at Baylor University commencement exercises, was grateful that a Dominican cease-fire had ended the threat of "wholesale bloodshed" sparked by "a well-trained, disciplined band of Communists."

'Glades Bombed In Water Hunt

HOMESTEAD (UPI) — The Air Force has been bombing the Everglades, but only in hopes of reaching water beneath the surface.

The Air Force confirmed that a five-man team had been flying about the swampy land in a helicopter setting off non-lethal explosives.

The Everglades had had only three-thrths of an inch of rain since March 4, causing much alarm to conservationists because of the dangerous fire conditions and possible loss in animal life.

Border Incident Claims 2 Lives

JERUSALEM, Israel (UPI) — Israel charged today that Jordan invented a border incident as an excuse to open fire on civilians.

A teen-aged Jewish girl and a Christian Arab carpenter were killed when two Jordanian Legionnaire posts fired into the Israeli section of this divided city.

Groza, At 41 Inks '65 Pact

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI) — He may be the grand old man of the pro football players, but Lou (The Toe) Groza doesn't feel that way at all.

That's why he signed his 19th Cleveland Browns contract Thursday in preparation for the 1965 National Football League season. Groza, 41, is the oldest active NFL player.

The Toe is the only member of the original 1946 Browns team still playing.

London Bridge(s) Commonplace In Scene

LONDON (UPI)—"London Bridge is falling down, falling down, falling down. . . ."

Well, it hasn't, at least not in the last 950 years. But it certainly has changed, as has so much of London in the past centuries.

London Bridge in the old days used to display the heads of executed criminals on poles above the span over the River Thames. Houses, shops and even a chapel were built on the bridge—all supported on narrow arches that severely limited the size of river traffic that passed underneath.

Today it is all much changed. London Bridge, once the only overhead crossing of the Thames as it wound through London, was pulled down in 1832 after having served for 600 years, and was rebuilt much the same as it is now.

Nor is London Bridge any longer alone as a Thames crossing. Today London has 17 road and eight rail bridges across the Thames. They are a commonplace part of the city scene. Few natives bother much about them any more—but the wise tourist and the historian take a closer look.

The first bridge across the river probably was built by the Roman invaders around the first century, but the first mention of one in writing is not until 984 a.d. In that year it was recorded that a woman found sticking pins into the image of a man was taken to London's bridge and drowned for witchcraft.

The old rhyme, "London Bridge is Falling Down," originates from a battle in 1014 when the Danes, holding London, were under attack from the Saxons under King Ethelred the Unready and the Vikings under King Olaf.

An account of the battle says:

"Between the Castle and Suthwyrk, (Southwark, on the Thames' south bank) there was a bridge, so broad that two waggons could pass each other upon it . . . now when the attack was made the (Danish) troops stood on the bridge everywhere and defended themselves . . . King Olaf and the Noramen's (Viking's) fleet with him, rowed quite under the bridge, laid their cables around the piles which supported it, and then rowed off with all the ships as hard as they could down the Stream."

So that first London Bridge fell down, or was pulled down, and the Danes lost.

Rebuilt

The bridge was rebuilt in wood and then in stone. The stone one, started in 1176 and completed in 1209, was the famous London Bridge with the chapel dedicated to Thomas Becket, the martyred Archbishop of Canterbury, who was murdered in 1170. A priest, Peter of St. Mary Cole Church, built the bridge at the order of King Henry II.

The houses on the bridge were constantly rebuilt but eventually knocked down when more passage space was needed. Finally the 18th century traffic jams became so bad that work started in 1730 on the city's second bridge, Westminster, a graceful stone structure which was replaced in 1863 by the present iron one in front of the Houses of Parliament.

In 1824 work started on the present, five-arch London Bridge. Nearly half the 1.5 million pound ($4.2 million) cost went for buying the land for it.

Tower Bridge, completed in 1894 for 830,000 pounds ($2.32 million), is now the most distinctive of London's bridges and the only movable one. The hydraulically-operated drawbridge between its massive Gothic towers is raised a dozen or more times a day to let ships through. It acts as the river's gateway to London.

Waterloo Bridge, functional-looking in concrete and steel, is the newest of the city's bridges. It was opened in 1942. The 19th century Waterloo Bridge, considered one of the finest stone bridges in the world, was pulled down, despite strong opposition, because of subsidence under some of the arches.

The capital's other road bridges are Southwark, Blackfriars, Lambeth, Vauxhall, Chelsea, Albert, Battersea, Wandsworth, Putney, Hammersmith, Chiswick, Kew and Twickenham.

A development company has put forward a futuristic project for another bridge at Vauxhall in concrete and glass, with a hotel, shops, a skating rink and an open air theater as part of the structure.

This may turn out to be London's next bridge—but no one is thinking of building it before the 21st century.

Osteen Civic Group To Seek Loan Co-Signers

By Mrs. Clarence Snyder

Osteen Civic Association members voted at their last meeting to secure co-signers for a loan necessary to begin construction on the Osteen Civic Building. Pledges also are being sought for the project.

Responsible persons will be contacted during the next few weeks by association members and asked to serve as co-signers. These citizens will be requested to be present at the June 28 meeting at which time it is hoped go ahead for construction will be given.

Plans are now underway to sponsor a dance as another means of raising funds. There will be both modern and square dancing with music provided by The Starlighters. Time and place will be announced and posters will be located throughout the community.

sports siftings by Barry Lawes

You might call it the end of an era... certainly it is the finish of one of the most illustrious careers ever enjoyed by a prep athlete. Long will the talk linger in these parts about the young star, Jimmy Courier, who made such a tremendous record for himself at Oviedo High School during the past three years.

Courier's career is far from over, for now he moves on to the University of Florida. Following the all-sports banquet at Oviedo last week, at which he received many honors, Courier signed a baseball scholarship to U of F.

He has been one of the most highly-publicized and prolific athletes in Oviedo's prep history. He has been the Lions' big star in three sports, football, basketball and baseball, since he was a sophomore. In baseball alone, as a pitcher, he posted a 23-11 record in three years, including four no-hitters. He struck out 415 in a little over half that many innings and had a high school batting average of .375.

In basketball, he became the second all-time scorer in the history of the school, winding up with 1,198 points. As a football quarterback, his pinpoint passing led the Lions to a 9-1 record last fall. In three years he threw 84 touchdown passes and completed 219 passes out of 448 attempts.

Last Friday night, Oviedo honored this outstanding youth by naming him the Most Valuable Player for 1968 in all three sports. This modest youngster, who reportedly once went to the coaches and asked that he not be named captain of the team because other boys hadn't gotten as much limelight as he, seemed genuinely embarrassed as he received his trophies.

Athletes like Jimmy Courier very seldom come along in prep sports, let alone anywhere else. But when they do people remember.

Jimmy Courier will be remembered for a long time to come. And he deserves all he has earned.

Congratulations go out to Bernie Barbour and Ronnie Hinson, members of the 1965 Fighting Seminoles baseball squad.

Barbour was named to the Metro Conference's 1965 all-star team and Hinson received an honorable mention selection. Barbour, who played third base for the Seminoles, batted a .330.

The all-star team was selected by the players on the basis of all opponent teams.

Oviedo football coach Arthur Scott really went out on the limb at the OHS sports banquet the other night. Scott said the team was going to win 'em all next season. The Lions missed going undefeated by one game last year.

We can all breathe easier now. The Fighting Seminoles have a coach. He is "Buck" Metta, former Seminole High School star who played for Florida State University before joining the coaching game.

And judging from what we saw last Friday night, Metta will have a good bunch of boys from which to build a team this year. If the intersquad game was any indication, the Fighting Seminoles will be a crackerjack team if they progress as much as they should between now and the start of the season.

In their spring practice tilt, the boys put on a good, scrappy contest that seemed to forecast another winning year. There were also indications that some of the boys were going to turn in some mighty fine performances on the gridiron.

Rick Walstrom and Terry Echols were really hustling in defensive action. These are a couple of boys to keep an eye on.

Another who showed a great deal of promise was Greg Ganax, a lanky end with a lot of speed and hustle.

Bernie Barbour and Kelly Ouden also bear watching. These, of course, are just a few of the boys. They all looked exceptionally good in play.

Buck Metta should be well pleased with his squad.

Casselberry American Legion Nine Topples To Orlando, 7-2

By Jim Baerhus
Herald Sports Writer

Gale Coleman rapped a double and single and hurled three shutout relief innings, and his brother, Gary, belted a run scoring single to lead Orlando American Legion Post No. 242 to a 7-2 victory over Casselberry Post No. 234 yesterday at Cooper Field in Casselberry.

Gale Coleman and Orlando starter Pete Frazier held Casselberry to seven base hits and two runs. Casselberry scored in the first inning on singles by Larry Baker, Mike Sterling and Steve Simpkins. They added their second and final run in the second frame on singles by Baker and Sterling.

Throughout the rest of the ball game, however, they managed only two base hits, singles by Larry Miller in the third inning, and Larry Lott in the fifth.

Orlando took a 3-2 lead in the fourth inning on singles by Gary Coleman and Tom Bell.

Steve Simpkins replaced starter Charlie Newell on the mound for Casselberry and shut out Orlando in the fifth. Post No. 242 scored a run in the sixth and added three more in the seventh to make the final score 7-2.

In a South Seminole Little League game earlier in the evening Mike Davis of the North Orlando Cardinals hurled a two-hit shutout at the Seaside Yankees to give his team a 3-0 victory.

Davis registered six strikeouts while allowing only two base hits, a single by George Tiffany in the first frame and a single by Steve Lemmons in the second. The Cardinals managed only four hits in the contest. John Schwartzbach, David Donat, Bobby Spencer and Davis all rapped singles for North Orlando.

John Toomey Rolls Triplicate

The spotlight was on John Toomey all the way last week in the After Burners League at Jet Lanes as he shot three identical 190 games to win a coveted triplicate patch from ABC while he was showing the way for the Webs in a four game romp over the Knights. Lee Ellifson backed him up with a 183/481 series. For the Knights, it was Everett Rogers tallying a 178/497 for honors on his team.

The Buk's took three points from the Unknowns as Harold Unger hit a 198 game and J. W. Bagley rolled a 178/503 series. Bob Steele kept the Unknowns close with a fine 178/508 effort.

In the final match of the evening a whitewash was recorded by the Drifters over the Splits despite some good rolling by Dick Cooley with a 178 game, Charles Gasman with 177/478 and Jerry Taylor with 177/484. The heavy hitters for the Drifters were Al DeRozia with a 177/511 and Ralph Kelly with 207/522.

Tom Rolfe Favored In Belmont

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Belmont Stakes is the severest test of a jockey on the Triple Crown circuit and Ron Turcotte knows it. "Winning the Belmont will be an important step in my career," said the 23-year-old jockey Wednesday. Turcotte will ride favored Tom Rolfe Saturday in the $125,000-added classic at Aqueduct. "It will enhance my reputation and I will get more stakes mounts."

Frank Whiteley, trainer of Tom Rolfe, emphasized the role of the jockey in the mile and one half Belmont, the longest test in the Triple Crown.

"The jockey probably plays a more important role in the Belmont than in any other race," Whiteley said. "A good sense of pace is essential."

Turcotte is confident Tom Rolfe will repeat his Preakness triumph Saturday, even though many observers feel strong-finishing Dapper Dan, who was runner-up in both the Preakness and the Kentucky Derby, may be best at the distance. "I think Tom Rolfe has the ability to go a mile and a half no matter what they say about Dapper Dan," Turcotte said. "Barring any bad racing luck we should make it."

A poll taken by officials at Aqueduct race track showed Tom Rolfe as a probable 6-5 choice with Dapper Dan rated 7-5. Hall To All, another three-year-old with a strong stretch kick, probably will start at 8-1.

A trio of outsiders, Selari, La Cima and First Family, whose status is not yet certain, are all evenly rated at 20-1.

Maples Hurls 35th Scoreless Inning, Blanks Kiwanis 10-0

Gary Maples and company (Elks) shutout Kiwanis 10-0 yesterday with Maples pitching two-hit ball over the six inning route. The shutout victory extended Maples' personal scoreless inning string to 35. During that span, he has given up only four hits—all to Kiwanis. Handy Nobles snapped Maples' hitless string of 23 by leading off the game with a double. Maples' nine strikeouts and no walks extended his total strikeouts to 68 against only four walks over 35 innings. The victory yesterday was his sixth. He has yet to lose.

Eddie Hitchcock with three hits and Lloyd Wall and Tommy Gracey with two each, set the pace for Elks. Manager

Fred Miller cited David "Eagle Eye" Soper for his ability at the plate. He has not struck out this season in any of the 13 games he has played. It is believed he is the only boy in the league working on this accomplishment.

CPO trounced Shrine 11-1, with Bobby Lundquist paving the way on the mound. He allowed only one hit, a single by Brad Hollingsworth in the first inning. Lundquist struck out 10 and walked five in receiving credit for the pitching decision.

CPO amassed only five hits but were issued 12 walks and had two hit batsmen. Navy moved into a tie for first place in the Little American League by sinking Sanford Atlantic 13-9. Navy broke up a tie game by scoring four runs in the fifth and went on for the victory. Billy Gray took credit for the win on the mound. He received relief help from David Bach, who was very effective in stifling the big Bankers' bats.

Scott Harris blasted four hits, as did Robert Ashby for Navy. Mike Parrish chipped in three safeties and Andy Nichols had two hits to lead the way for the Acey Deucys. Enloe topped the Sanford Atlantic batters with two hits.

Hunt Lincoln-Mercury, held hitless by Randy Ivey, still managed a 6-3 win over Quality Mobile Homes. Dennis Egbers won his second game of the week. Ivey had the only home run of the game. A homer by Mike Laubert was nullified because a preceding runner missed third base and was out on an appeal to retire the side.

In softball play, LeRoy Robb took an easy 23-5 game from USO. Every Robb player had at least two hits. John Clark, Jim Warren and Dewitt Mathews each contributed four hits to the 28-hit attack of Robbs. Don Hunter was the winning pitcher. Jess Denney was the leading hitter for USO, hitting safely twice.

Even the legendary base-stealing records of Sliding Billy Hamilton and Harry (Smookey) Stovey may fall before the onslaught of Maury Wills this season.

Stovey, at the age of 31, swiped 156 bases in 130 games for Philadelphia back in 1888 and Hamilton stole 115 in 133 games for the Phillies in 1891. That's a bundle, but don't count Wills out of the race. Apparently, all he needs is to reach first base as often as Hamilton and Stovey, but better than .320 hitters in their record-setting seasons.

Wills, a .271 hitter, reached first base twice Wednesday night and twice stole second for the Los Angeles Dodgers as they downed the St. Louis Cardinals 4-1. He has a total of 32 thefts, putting him 12 games ahead of his 1962 pace when he set the modern record of 104.

Cincinnati stopped Houston 5-2 in a game halted after six innings because of rain and the other three National League games were rained out. Rain forced postponement of Detroit at New York and Chicago at Cleveland in the American League. Minnesota whipped Boston 6-3, Baltimore topped Kansas City 6-4 and Washington swept a doubleheader from Los Angeles 13-0 and 7-1.

Wills was called once Wednesday night, trying to lead third in the eighth, but the Dodgers already had a commanding lead, thanks to a home run by John Roseboro and run-scoring singles by Wally Moon and Lou Johnson. Moon also hit his first home run in the ninth.

Jack Frost Paces Singles Classic League

After the third week of the summer league, Jack Frost took a four point lead in the Petersen Point Singles Classic League. This past Monday found Jack continuing his fine rolling as he shot a 777 series to Dale Nybeck's 613 that swung four points in his favor.

Harry Pentecost is winging along in the number two spot with a 198 average after taking three games from Doug Owens. Pentecost shot a 778 set to Doug's 691. Pete Petersen grabbed third place with a two and one-half game edge over George Swann while tallying a 754 to George's 705. Bob Borndorf rolled a 703 to split two and two with W. A. Ward, who showed a 664 effort.

Jack Kanner was top man this past week with a 765 that helped him to a three game nod over Levy Cabrera who rolled a 717 series. John Bridges won three points from Al Phillips with a 688 to 614 series edge in another match. Dick Schmitter hit for a 718 series that won three points from Buel Carmen with a 684 set. Rich Murphy and Phil Roche split in their match as Murphy showed a 713 to Roche's 733.

There were seven games rolled over the 200 mark. Perhaps the proudest of all came to Al Phillips with a first time 203 game. Jack Kanner shot a 231, Jack Frost a 224, Buel Carman a 221, Doug Owens a 217, Roche a 216, George Swann a 218, Petersen a 210, Pentecost a 209 and 208, and Levy Cabrera a 204 rounding out the sharp-shooting.

Next Coach?

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—Former Chicago Black Hawks scoring star Doug Bentley is expected to be named shortly as the next coach of the Knoxville Knights.

Bentley is currently a farmer and also coaching a team in Saskatchewan, Canada.

Nicklaus, Palmer Top Favorites

Buick Open Tees Off Today

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (UPI) — Jack Nicklaus, one of golf's biggest hitters, insisted today he shouldn't really be the favorite in the $100,000 Buick Open over the longest course on the pro tour.

"It's built for a long hitter," Nicklaus agreed, "but it's not my kind of course. I don't know why. Maybe the course is okay for me, when my game is right, but it isn't now."

Nicklaus, leading money winner on the pro tour this year with two tournament victories, proved the accuracy of this judgment with an 82, 10 over par, in Wednesday's pro-amateur round. It was one of the poorest scores hung up by a pro among the 52 who tested the 7,280-yard Warwick Hills layout.

"I just can't guess what kind of score will win," Nicklaus said. "A lot depends on the weather. It's been wet and the wind makes a difference too."

His opinion reflected those of the other pros. Most believed the winning score, which will earn $20,000, at the end of 72 holes on Sunday will range downward from "four or five strokes under par."

Arnold Palmer, who fired a 71 in the pro-am, was the most optimistic, predicting that 275, 13 under par, might be necessary to win if the weather breaks to dry out the links and the wind dies down.

Palmer, who has won only one tourney this year and ranks 19th in earnings, although he is the modern era money winning leader, was disgusted with his game despite his sub-par round. He went to the pro shop immediately after the round and changed the lie on four of his irons, tapping them with a rubber mallet into more satisfactory shape.

Nicklaus and Palmer, despite their problems, were mentioned along with Bruce Crampton, the only player on the tour to win three events this year, Bobby Nichols, Billy Casper and Bob Charles as logical choices.

City Playground Program Opens Monday, June 7

The Sanford Recreation Department will open the Summer Playground Program Monday, June 7, at 8:30 a.m. The playground program will be for children six-12 years of age and will be open Mondays through Fridays from 8:30-12 noon.

The Recreation Program will offer games, athletics, music, baton, arts and crafts, free swimming and other activities.

The morning activities will be planned for elementary school age and the afternoon programs for teen age groups. The recreation department will operate two playground locations. In the Goldsboro area the playground will operate out of Castle Brewer Center and the other center will be operated at the Sanford Recreation Center on Seminole Boulevard.

The playground center on Seminole Boulevard will be directed by Mrs. Sue Torres, a five-year playground supervisor for Sanford Recreation Program. The Castle Brewer Center will be directed by Willie Graham, a three-year supervisor with the Sanford Recreation Department.

Each playground will be staffed with competent personnel and leaders. The program is offered at no cost to the participants who reside inside the City of Sanford. Non-residents are permitted to attend by purchasing Recreation Cards.

Huge Renovation Program Underway At Greyhound Track

More than $50,000 worth of improvements already have been made at the Sanford-Oriando Kennel Club in a renovation program that will be completed well in advance of next season's 90-day greyhound racing season.

Work began immediately at SOKC after the conclusion April 19 of the most successful season in track history. Already completed are two new black top parking lots— one on each end of the old hardtop parking areas.

Other work includes a complete renovation of the old grandstand which will have all new box seats, a new roof, new benches and a new painting job throughout.

Also under construction is a new front for the lower section of the old grandstand which will replace much of the old front with modern sliding glass doors.

The announcer's booth has been removed from the rear of the grandstand area and replaced with a new booth high atop the roof of the grandstand.

The spectator area around Club Swiftie has also been black-topped in the most extensive rebuilding program ever undertaken at SOKC.

A new, modern grandstand addition is on the drawing board for the area between the end of the present grandstand and the paddock area.

Ground will be broken in the near future for the building. The additional grandstand and renovation of facilities were announced early last season by track Chairman of the Board Jerry Collins and track Gen. Mgr. Jack Ledoux.

The track experienced its largest crowds in history and mutual handle also hit an all-time high of more than $10.5 million.

Navy Wives League To Meet

The Friday morning Hollar Motors-Navy Wives Bowling League will hold its organizational meeting this Friday at 9:30 a.m. at Jet Lanes.

All former members of this league, as well as newcomers to the Sanford area are invited to join, as a complete three-man team or as individual applicants.

Membership into this league is limited to an active Navy wife, Navy widow or a civilian representative's wife attached to the base.

Those selected to office last week include Jo Kirkham, president; Pat Cantrell, vice president; Connie Davidson, secretary-treasurer; and Gene Williams, sergeant-at-arms.

Lyman Coaches, Wives Feted By Boosters Club

By Jane Casselberry
Lyman High School coaches and their wives were feted at a beach party and barbecue Saturday by members of the Athletic Boosters Club at the home of Boosters President and Mrs. Joseph Pavelchak on Prairie Lake.

Coaches and their wives attending were Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Cockrell, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Copeland, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dzurus Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Richard Silvers, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Farley, and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Paine.

Guests enjoyed an afternoon of swimming, water skiing, horseshoes and badminton. The sumptuous feast was hastily moved indoors when an unexpected rain and hailstorm blew in. On the menu were corn-on-the-cob, barbecued ribs, baked beans, salad, and cake.

Also attending were Mr. and Mrs. Vance Ambrose, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bendell, Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Gopen, Mr. and Mrs. James Birkenmeyer, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Asher, Mr. and Mrs. Walt Bonder, Mr. and Mrs. Duane Fellows, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lunn, Mr. and Mrs. John Wagner, Mrs. Mary Mobley, Eugene Bothell, Principal and Mrs. Carlton Henley, County School Superintendent R. T. Milwee, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Campbell.

'River Of Grass' A Graveyard

MIAMI (UPI) — Florida's vast Everglades withered today while the weathermen watched for hurricanes. The National Hurricane Warning Service posted its sentinels for the annual June through November vigil but they could not find one drop of rain for the Indian's 'River of Grass' which is turning into a parched graveyard for thousands of wild creatures.

The drought has not yet affected the more than two million human residents of South Florida who are able to tap deep well springs of water. But only rainfall of hurricane proportions can quickly restore nature's delicate balance in the Everglades.

The Sanford Herald SINCE 1908

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Forgive me for taking exception to your viewpoint of "invasion of privacy" regarding the lady who read her parents' love letters after their death.

Have you ever read the classic, "The Letters of Elizabeth Barrett and Robert Browning"? And if Margaret Mitchell had not read her grandmother's diary, who would have written "Gone With the Wind"? If my great-grandmother had not examined the contents of her mother's trunk, a letter written by George Washington would have been destroyed.

I have saved my husband's love letters and valentines. Although my children may not be interested

In reading them now, maybe after I die they will enjoy some of the sweet sentiments that are in my treasure chest.

"SENTIMENTAL"

DEAR ABBY: A letter in your column dealt with the same situation with which I was recently faced, and I would like to tell you how I handled it. My mother had made her home with me and my husband during her last years. I knew where she had kept her "love letters" from my father, who had preceded her in death by many, many years.

When Mother passed away, I did not read them. I felt as you, that they were private. Yet I could not bring myself to destroy those letters as I knew they must have been very precious to my mother or she would not have kept them for nearly 65 years.

Before her funeral, I tied her "love letters" with a white ribbon and asked the undertaker if I might slip them into the casket to be buried with Mother. He said he thought it was a splendid idea, so I lifted the coverlet and placed them deep beside her body. I have always felt that I did what would have pleased my mother the most.

Yours very truly,

of privacy" to read old love letters left behind by those who have died unless the writers have indicated during their lifetime that they wished them to be read?

If my parents had left me a legacy of love letters, I would have had them published. All I got was a box containing their letters, which were filled with threats, bitter accusations, and ugly recriminations. With those letters were a divorce document, my mother's death certificate (marked "suicide") and my father's cancelled insurance policy. Sign me . . .

NO LOVE LETTERS

DEAR ABBY: The letter about "old love letters" and who has a right to read them reminded me of an experience I had back in World War II. My buddy had a hobby of writing to girls and collecting their pictures. He had a boxful. He happened to be married, but he really wasn't a bad guy, Abby. He loved his wife, but when he wasn't with the one he loved, he loved the one he was with, if you get what I mean.

Well, his number came up in North Africa and I lost the best buddy I ever had. When they put all his stuff together to send home to his wife, I made sure she wouldn't get anything that would scar her memory of him.

NO REGRETS

DEAR ABBY: Letters are personal property and belong to heirs — whether specifically willed or not — just like money, clothing or real estate. It could even be argued that heirs have a public and social obligation to examine all effects of the deceased including correspondence, because it might have a significant bearing on the welfare of those still alive. Who can say a "love letter" is only a love letter until he has examined it? Those who wish their correspondence to remain private should destroy it, or specify that it should be kept sealed for any period of time they choose. Yours, rationally,
G. H.

Impressive Ceremony Unites Couple

Miss Lou Ann Culberhouse became the bride of John Bernard McDonald 3rd, April 24 Church in Fort Lauderdale at the Westgate Baptist with the Rev. Slaughtaugh officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dalton Culberhouse, 3300 N. W. Ninth Avenue, Fort Lauderdale, and formerly of Sanford. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John B. McDonald, also of Fort Lauderdale.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a gown of Chantilly lace featuring a sweetheart neckline and wrist length sleeves. Her shoulder length veil fell from a crown of pearls.

Mrs. Doris Whitworth was matron of honor and the groom chose as his best man his brother, Frank.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of Mrs. Carol Culberhouse, an aunt of the bride.

The couple will reside in Fort Lauderdale where the groom is employed by the Gray Bar Electric Company.

1965 Vanderbilt Cup Winners Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

In all situations when your partner has not limited his hand, the jump to game cannot be a stop bid. At the same time, it cannot be a very strong slam invitation.

South has only 11 high card points but his suit is such that he can play it even though his partner is void.

Once South jumps to four hearts, North has no problem about getting to six. He checks for aces because it is possible that South holds something like seven hearts to the king-queen-jack-ten and the king-queen-jack of diamonds.

Why doesn't North try for seven after South shows two aces? Because North knows that South would have made a stronger rebid than four three hearts and then gone past game irrespective of what North did. Or with those solid hearts and a side ace South might have taken immediate control and gone into a Blackwood routine over the two-spade response.

Expert play at six hearts would undoubtedly be different from ordinary play but every declarer would wind up making the slam.

The expert declarer would cash the ace of hearts at trick two and then take his diamond discard on one of dummy's top spades. He would be guarding as best he could against the possibility of the second spade being ruffed.

The ordinary declarer would take his diamond discard right away and then try the heart finesse.

We The Women:

By Mrs. Muriel Lawrence Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: I was raised in a good Christian home. Maybe this is why my 17-year-old boy's beer drinking is hitting me so hard. It breaks my heart as his school marks are lower and I've spent the last six years saving money for his college education. I recently went to one of these taverns which sells him beer to tell them what I thought of them but my husband said I had no right to stick my nose in.

ANSWER: If you were raised in a good Christian home, then you must be acquainted with the story of the prodigal son.

He started out having a high time, remember? Then after a while he began to realize that his choices were proving unsatisfying. In Jesus' words he found himself in "want." And squatting among the pigs to whose company he'd been reduced, he began to contrast what had happened to him as a result of his self-punishing choices with what had happened to him before he made them. One day he cried, "I've had enough of this crazy life! I want my sane one again."

Do you think his father didn't worry about him? Of course, he did. Just like you, he worried terribly. But he didn't try to force the boy to see what he wasn't ready to see. Instead, he trusted the good things he had given the boy to make the bad things he was doing become shabby and undesirable. And as Jesus advised, "patience possessed his own soul." As a consequence, his child was made able to discover his. Now I want to say this. It sometimes happens that the "good Christian homes" which raised us are monopolized goodness that there was nothing left for us but a sense of badness. These homes demanded such appreciation of their goodness that there wasn't any appreciation left for our goodness.

When we become parents ourselves, we can't trust the goodness we have expressed to a child. The goodness of the loving thief which has saved money for his college tuition doesn't really exist for us. So when he starts hanging around taverns every night, we can't say to ourselves, "Child, live it up. But you're going to get sick of this wastefulness. Soon now it is going to be made to look pretty shabby compared to my loving and thrifty concern for you."

In short, those self-righteous Christian homes of ours have left us with so little self-trust that we can't possess our souls in the self-appreciating patience of the father in Jesus' parable of the prodigal son. Read it again. He's the person to go to for Christianity.

Highlights

TV Time Previews

10-11 P.M. CBS. The Defenders. "Go-Between" (re-run) This is such an exciting, meaningful melodrama. It's almost a pity that it's based on a premise of somewhat synthetic pertinence. The son of an aspirant to his party's presidential candidacy is kidnapped during the convention. Kidnaping with no fringe complications is always a dramatically harrowing situation and this drama (by Larry Cohen) goes farther and examines the sometimes ghouliah attitudes of cranks, well-wishers, the press, vested interest, etc. during this period of anguish for the family. The study of how some people react to others' adversities is chillingly honest. Arthur Hill and Phyllis Thaxter are well cast as the parents, John Randolph is the FBI man trying to help, Sally Grace is infuriatingly good as an inconsiderate reporter and the balance of the company is equally meritorious. And of course E. G. Marshall and Robert Reed carry off their regular roles as usual, with Marshall serving as the go-between instead of as a defense attorney here.

7:30-8:30 P.M. NBC. Daniel Boone. "Takawitah McLeod." (Re-run) The kids, once again, should get a kick out of this slyly frontier story, and, provided you caution them not to termined to do Darrin in. Why he thinks Sam's marriage to Darrin is an affront to the family is never explained, but it's the excuse for a lot of funny slapstick which continues even after Edgar, who doesn't talk, changes his opinion.

10-11 P.M. NBC. Suspense Theatre. "Twist Cap and Lip." (color) If you missed "Topkapl," you might try this one. It has many of the ingredients which went into that funny suspense movie. This is a story of an imperfect crime, planned and executed by a cast of alobs, with the object of their planning a $2,000,000 jeweled scepter. The acting is entrusted to a company of players headed by Ethel Merman, Larry Blyden, Charles McGraw, Joan Blackman, Jean Hale and John Hoyt. However, for those who saw the movie, this is strictly "Bottomkapl."

10-11 P.M. ABC. Jimmy Dean Show. (Re-run) Guest star Vikki Carr sings "People," "You Made Me Love You" and "Can't Help Lovin' That Man of Mine." Fast-talking Henny Youngman shows he can still make people laugh with the world's most venerable jokes. Top spot on the hour is given over to a fast-moving, melodic musical show in which everyone looks good.

Beauty after Forty

EDYTH THORNTON McLEOD

First, let me rectify a mistake in names. Recently I told you here in my notebook about the stunning knitwear creations shown by Arthur Kohler. The name of the dresses is "Grace Taylor" and you can find beautiful styles suitable for you. If you cannot find them, write and I will see that you learn where they are to be found in your town. I am sorry about the wrong name.

I urge you to see the truly great picture, "Ship of Fools," based on the novel by Katharine Anne Porter. The acting is perfect, the roles are perfectly cast and when real actors come to the screen, I rejoice. The picture gives you much to think about, and even the dog is remarkable (I have HIS picture on my celebrity screen). But do see the Stanley Kramer production of "Ship of Fools."

New and real news are the elegant sensational space-age fashions by Formitt Rogers.

Hobo Coffee Bids Farewell To Casselberry Duo

By Jane Casselberry

Mrs. Foy Lee Entaminger and Mrs. Betty Williams were co-hostesses at the former's home Friday at the Seminole Trailer Park, Fern Park, with an unusual coffee given in honor of two of their neighbors, who leave this week for the north.

Mrs. Mabel Reynolds leaves June 3 for Prospect, Mass., and Mrs. Katherine Parsons, June 4, for Canton, Ohio.

A "Hobo" theme was carried out for the affair with guests being greeted at the gate with the traditional hobo sign, the red flag, and a sign reading "Detour for coffee break."

A red carpet was rolled out in their honor and maps were posted marking the routes for their trips.

Each guest of honor was given a red checked dish towel tied to a stick and filled with fun gifts each accompanied by appropriate verse.

A red and white checked cloth covered the table and delicious homemade doughnuts and cinnamon rolls were served with coffee.

Other guests included Mrs. Eddie Scullin, Mrs. Dorothy Quinn, Mrs. Mercedes Sammeck and Mrs. Olga Niland.

Games were played and prizes won by Mrs. Carol Ann Carroll and the honor guest. Refreshments of cookies, potato chips, dips, nuts, mints and lime sherbet punch were served to those present.

Others invited were Mrs. Ralph E. Stumpf, mother of the bride-elect; Mrs. John St. Clair White III, mother of the groom, Mrs. Judy Webb and Mrs. Ted Williams.

Also the Misses Drenda Rane, Babs Odham, Linda Hittell, Patty Glenn Johnson, Diane Stumpf and Marianne Humphrey.

Graduation Party Fetes Miss Smith And Guests

Miss Arlene Smith was honored at a recent graduation party given by Mrs. E. L. Drebert and daughter, Barbara, at their home on Reservoir Lake.

Pizza, cold drinks and assorted relishes were served from a table decorated with graduation motifs in the blue and white color scheme.

Miss Smith was presented with an attractive travel-alarm clock in a pale blue leather case by the hostesses.

Those invited were Muriel Hearn, Miriam Hearn, Elaine Headrick, Cheryl McQuatters, Lynne Howell, Sandy Bibebe, Carol Repp, Gail Sierputowski, Glenda Goemmel, Sheryl Williamson, Sharon Baggerly, Maureen Moughton, Judy Sergeant and Mary Jean Turner.

The honoree and guests spent a delightful evening swimming, dancing and dining.

Mrs. Slicer presented the honor guest with a gift memento of her favorite cologne.

Others attending were Barbara Cox, Mary Jean Turner, Melanie Williams, Kristie Schilke, Helen Mann, Sherry Marazita, Linda Stapler, Lloyd Freeman, David Gaines, Ernie Johnson, David Howe and Ross Wontenay.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Orseno, parents of the honoree, also enjoyed the festive evening.

Patio And Pool Party Honors Suzanne Orseno

Miss Suzanne Orseno, a member of the 1965 graduating class of Seminole High School, was honored recently with a patio pool party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Slicer Jr.

The honoree and guests spent a delightful evening swimming, dancing and dining.

Mrs. Slicer presented the honor guest with a gift memento of her favorite cologne.

Others attending were Barbara Cox, Mary Jean Turner, Melanie Williams, Kristie Schilke, Helen Mann, Sherry Marazita, Linda Stapler, Lloyd Freeman, David Gaines, Ernie Johnson, David Howe and Ross Wontenay.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Orseno, parents of the honoree, also enjoyed the festive evening.

Miss Stumpf Bridal Shower Honoree

Mrs. Bill Newby and Miss Linda Williams were co-hostesses for a recent bridal shower honoring Miss Shirley Stumpf at the Williams home, 400 Plumosa Drive.

Shower Surprises New Bride

By Margaret Cosby

Mrs. Walter Blanton recently was showered by her mother, Mrs. Dave Wallace, and her sisters, Mrs. Edgar Wallace and Mrs. Jesse Wallace at the home of the latter on South Edgemoon Avenue in North Orlando.

The young bride was completely surprised to learn the gathering was not a plastic party but a miscellaneous household shower for her.

Games to improve one's household skills were enjoyed by everyone such as games of chance, which every homemaker displays in the kitchen; carrying raw pinto beans on a knife and the art of scooping balls of cotton into a bowl while blindfolded.

Helen Green and Marge McPherson won the games of chance and received a set of tidbit bowls and woodcarved salad foodservers, respectively. Edna Stewart had the steadiest hand and won both other games to receive a beanpot bank and a clever wooden cigar box.

The mountain of gifts then were delivered to the honoree and everyone enjoyed viewing the attractive and useful household items, everything from cut glass and carving sets to linens and sauce pans.

Punch, coffee, suited creams and assorted cookies were served.

Enjoying the celebration were Vera Anderson, Helen Beam, Ruth Berkey, Marie Bryant, Margaret Cosby, May Duquette, Ellen and Gay Baker, Helen Green, Mary Guthrie, Mary Hyatt, Gertrude Miller, Anita Mayer, Marge McPherson, Barbara Peters, Maureen Ridley, Edna Stewart, Ethel Spurlock, Orene Ware, Jane West and Eileen Wyman.

Sending gifts were Gladys Piloni, Helen Berric, Barbara Landress, Mrs. Albert Higginbotham, Jane and Bobby Higginbotham, The Ima Voska, Phyllis Flusher, Dolly Studstill and Jean Slaughter.

The guest of honor was disappointed only because her husband who is on duty with the U. S. Army in Panama Canal Zone wasn't on hand to enjoy the excitement of the party.

Fun And Festivity Reign At Birthday Celebrations

DONNA CARRIGAN

STEVE HUNTER KERR, son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Kerr of Bear Lake observed his fourth birthday May 15 with a festive party. Special guests were his grandmother, Mrs. Maude Kerr, West Union, S. C. and his godparents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Jacobs. Among the guests from the left were Ronnie Joe Cossin, Monica Popham, Holly Reeves, Steve Hunter Kerr, honoree, Sheree Popham and Douglas Kerr, Jr.

DOROTHY AND DENNIS WESTCOTT, children of Mr. and Mrs. David Westcott of Longwood, recently celebrated their sixth and fifth birthdays with a joint party.

JIMMY WOODWARD, center, son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Woodard of Suburban Estates, is pictured among the 16 guests who helped him celebrate his seventh birthday May 15 with a gigantic party.

W. E. YARBOROUGH, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Yarborough of Geneva, recently celebrated his fourth birthday.

RICKY HALE, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hale of Bear Lake celebrated his fifth birthday May 15 with a western birthday party featuring games, prizes, favors and a birthday cake decorated with cowboys for a real western treat.

By Margaret Cosby

Little Miss North Orlando, Donna Carrigan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Carrigan, of South Cortez Avenue, North Orlando, recently celebrated her seventh birthday with a party at her home with some 30 youngsters and adults in attendance.

Donna's mother, through necessity, had to reveal plans for the celebration but she saved a surprise for the party-horae. Mrs. Carrigan had arranged to have several horses on hand and the youngsters all had a wonderful time riding the full size animals in the field behind her home.

Next was the game of pin the tail on the donkey. Tiny Deanna Carlyle was the winner, making her the champion of South Cortez Avenue.

Then the children had a giggle, bouncy, tumble time of it with a sack race and everyone won a lollipop.

The decorations of crepe paper and balloons on the outside patio were in orange and yellow with an orange striped tablecloth and an amber and orange colored box filled with gifts.

Everyone wore "tin man" shaped hats with identifying deputy badges on each.

Donna meticulously unwrapped her mountain of beautifully ribboned packages and her daddy, who couldn't be on hand for the party, left for her a china figurine with a Cinderella wrist watch.

The gallons of fruit punch came none too soon for the thirty revellers and the pretty coral frosted birthday cake, with its yellow candles, was in keeping with the entire color scheme. Even the ice cream matched the decorations with orange ice and vanilla cream. There was a big cowboy cookie for everyone with plastic cowboy and Indian dolls on each plate.

The horses, Soda Boy and Whisk-ee, were served handfuls of grass by the youngsters for their treat.

Celebrating with Donna was her brother, David, Donald and Alan Carlyle and Mrs. Steve Carlyle, Sonya and Bob Stralton and Mrs. Bill Stralton, Bruce Rhodes, Judy and Roxanne Longcore, Jimmy, Jerry and Danny Swede, Debra and Eddie Swede, Elaine Landross, Teresa Greene, Stephen Harter, Richard Hughes, Jeff, Keith and Mike Sorrells, Mary Wallace, Denise, Diane and Raymond Duquette, Everett Kibbler, Priscilla Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Cosby and Michael.

W. E. Yarborough, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Yarborough, of Geneva, recently celebrated his fourth birthday with a party in his honor. Eleven youngsters gathered at the Yarborough home and were escorted by Mrs. Yarborough into Sanford where they spent an hour at the Sanford zoo.

After all animals in the zoo had been looked over several times, it was off to the Eika playground for more fun. At the playground Mrs. Yarborough, assisted by Mrs. Lois Morgan and Mrs. Charles Hays, proceeded to roast wieners to go with the chips, beans, pickles, carrots and celery.

After W. E. had waded through a mountain of gifts, the wieners were ready and the 12 little ones set to the task of eating. The birthday cake was the last thing to arrive on the scene and was decorated with W. E.'s favorite animals, which, of course, were horses.

Children helping W. E. to celebrate were Andy Morgan, Leonard Hendry, Joy Hays, Kim Hughey, Chuck Hays, Cindy Morgan, Steve Oldham, Patty Evans, Billy Schulsenmeyer, Lancey Hilliard and Timmy Kinnaird.

After all animals in the zoo had been looked over several times, it was off to the Eika playground for more fun. At the playground Mrs. Yarborough, assisted by Mrs. Lois Morgan and Mrs. Charles Hays, proceeded to roast wieners to go with the chips, beans, pickles, carrots and celery.

After W. E. had waded through a mountain of gifts, the wieners were ready and the 12 little ones set to the task of eating. The birthday cake was the last thing to arrive on the scene and was decorated with W. E.'s favorite animals, which, of course, were horses.

Children helping W. E. to celebrate were Andy Morgan, Leonard Hendry, Joy Hays, Kim Hughey, Chuck Hays, Cindy Morgan, Steve Oldham, Patty Evans, Billy Schulsenmeyer, Lancey Hilliard and Timmy Kinnaird.

Garden Circles

HEMEROCALLIS CIRCLE
The Hemerocallis Circle of the Sanford Garden Club met at the Orchid House in Orange City for the final session of the club year.

Following a delicious dinner, E. J. Kraft, owner, gave a lecture on orchids. He explained that they are propagated in three ways: by dividing, seedling and a new process discovered recently in France which is much faster.

Members also toured the Orchid House while Mr. Kraft explained the culture and origin of the plants, many of which came from India.

During the business session new officers were elected for the coming year. Mrs. Carl Moss was chosen as president and Mrs. Bea Newcome, vice president. Mrs. Watson Reel will continue as secretary and Mrs. J. C. Sikes as treasurer.

Programs were planned for next year. Ten members enjoyed the delightful evening.

LEARN BY HEARING WASHINGTON (UPI)
Young children learn more through their ears than they do through their eyes, the National Education Association reports.

It says that a study of 56 second grade children showed they were more easily able to learn word lists when they heard them presented by a tape recorder.

Busy Weekend For McDivitts And Whites

SEABROOK, Tex. (UPI)—It looks like a busy weekend for the Whites and McDivitts.

Eddie White, 11, is getting ready for tonight's Little League game. His eight-year-old buddy, Mike McDivitt, was looking forward to playing baseball, too.

Their fathers, Maj. James McDivitt and Maj. Edward White, also had a big weekend planned: 97 hours in space.

In their homes here, the astronaut's wives, both named Pat, tried to keep things as close to normal as possible.

But even the youngest of the Whites and McDivitt children knew something special was happening this weekend.

It took just a short trip by the three McDivitt children — out to their front lawn where a young businessman had set up a refreshment stand — to tell that they themselves were celebrities.

By the time Mike, Ann Lynn, six, and Patrick McDivitt, four, reached the stand, set up by their little neighborhood chum, Bruce Harris, newsmen and photographers were around them, taking their picture and talking to them.

From inside, the children could see television crews, law enforcement officers, and newsmen wandering about. Bruce and his three business partners for the day sold many cold drinks.

At the White home Wednesday, neighbors pitched in to keep things going smoothly.

Walter Jaderlund, from the house across the street, came over to replace an air conditioner filter for Mrs. White.

Mrs. C. F. Malone and her daughter, Molly, nine, brought some sweets wrapped in aluminum foil.

Eddie and Bonnie Lynn White, nine, stayed close to home at the rambling beige brick home.

Visitors will be frequent — notably wives of the other astronauts. Mrs. White and Mrs. McDivitt planned to take shopping trips as needed.

Their most important trip will be a short one over to the spacecraft center nearby, where they plan to see part of the mission control procedure and perhaps communicate with their husbands.

Sunday, both families will go to church.

UNLOADING a sweet corn at The Sanford Herald are (left to right) Alex Thompson, Clifford Guth and Herbert McGuire. The corn, from the Zellwood area, was the gift of Harold H. Kastner. Shriner W. A. Patrick bites into an ear at the Shrine Club's annual shrimp-sweet corn supper.

Sweet Corn Harvest 'Finest In History'

The sweet corn harvesting is at its peak in the Zellwood area with several Seminole County firms the leading shippers.

The Zellwood corn crop this year has been called the "finest in history."

Shippers include Chase and Company, Harold H. Kastner Company and A. Duda and Sons.

Approximately 80,000 crates of corn are being shipped daily from the area and the demand is said to be "excellent."

Florida corn is being featured in the big chain markets in Canada and in the Eastern United States.

Much of the domestic labor being used in the Zellwood harvesting commutes daily from the Sanford area. Harvesting is expected to continue until the first of July.

Acres are slightly increased this year over last. As soon as the corn is harvested, it is rushed from the field to the pre-coolers, then packed and loaded into refrigerator trucks, rail cars and "piggy backs" and shipped to the various receiving points throughout the country.

L. H. WEBB, executive vice president of the Citizens Bank of Oviedo, is representing the Central Florida Chapter, American Institute of Banking (AIB), in representing 24 area member banks at the 63rd annual AIB convention at New Orleans.

Unit 53 Meet

The Auxiliary Unit of Campbell-Losing American Legion Post 53 will meet in regular session at 7:30 p. m. Friday at the Legion Home. Reports will be given by those who attended the recent convention in Tampa and all members are urged to attend.

Picket Puzzled By Court Order

COLUMBUS, Ga. (UPI)—Superior Court Judge John H. Land told J. Hunt Hood that the signs he posted needling public officials and baseball players were a "nuisance" and ordered him to quit.

Land said Hood could resume his crusade when he had "any factual information you can prove to be true. In that case, the signs "cannot contain obscene or vulgar language."

Hood, a 75-year-old sign painter, was brought into court by a group of businessmen who complained that his signs were "corrupting the morals" of Muscogee County.

They contended that during the past 12 months Hood has implied that the mayor of Columbus and law enforcement officers support prostitution, that the commanding officer of nearby Ft. Benning is a traitor, and that members of the local professional baseball team are guilty of adultery.

The businessmen signed a petition asking the judge to issue a restraining order. Land granted the request after a two-hour hearing.

Hood, representing himself in court, said he could not understand why anyone was after him, as long as people picket the White House and get away with it.

Senate Approves $5.2 Billions For Space Tests

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate approved a $5.2 billion space authorization which included annual installments on the two-man Gemini orbital flights and the Apollo man-on-the-moon program.

The big authorization bill, for activities of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), was approved after a four-hour argument on the space agency's patent policies.

The vote was 79-to-4. Only Sens. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.), J. W. Fulbright (D-Ark.), Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) and A. Willis Robertson (D-Va.) voted "no."

Both Douglas and Fulbright have publicly questioned the wisdom of multi-billion dollar space spending—especially in the light of other national needs.

Included in the bill was a $242 million authorization to carry forward the Gemini program which will be spotlighted by today's history-making flight.

Also included was a $297 million authorization for the Apollo program in the year beginning July 1.

Education Pays

In the spring of 1965 a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of money.

This no longer necessarily means that he's a baseball bonus baby. He can now be a college senior with nothing more to offer than mere academic excellence, above-average intelligence and the good judgment to have chosen a field of endeavor that is valuable to business and industry.

If he has these simple requirements, he can be sure that industry is knocking at the campus gates to sign him up.

To make the transaction attractive to the grade A college grad, industry is using practical bait—money. And more of it than ever before.

While the financial inducements offered the standout business prospect are not in the same league with the fantastic contracts shoved at budding baseball stars, they are enough to cause the young man's dad to consider hanging himself for having been born as soon as he was.

A graduate in science or engineering, for example, can get a starting salary of $630 a month and red carpet treatment to boot. Grads in other professions are doing all right, too.

Only one small cloud dims the sunshine of this happy economic climate. Personnel people report that now and then a young genius lets the brisk competition for his services go to his head as well as his pocketbook.

Don't do it, son. You'll be surprised how merely mortal you become if you don't deliver. And a big head is no big help on the way to a big job.

Just be glad for the chance and do your best to prove the company was as smart as you are.

Just One Kind - Please!

These are tough times for the customer.

Want to buy a toothbrush? Simple? Hah!

What KIND of toothbrush?

Hard, medium, soft, super-soft or extra hard?

Straight, angle or curved?

Large, medium, small, adult, junior or child?

Single purpose, for teeth only, or dual purpose for teeth AND gums?

Trifluff, multituff, blue tufts around white tufts, white tufts around blue tufts, or mixed?

Electric or manual?

Or, let's say you need an automobile tire.

Nylon, rayon or polyester?

Two-ply, four-ply or radial-ply?

Regular tread, rain tread or snow tread? Or spiked?

Whitewall, blackwall, goldwall, or wall-to-wall?

A pair of socks?

Nylon, rayon, wool, cotton, nylon-wool, nylon-polyester-wool, nylon-cotton, or nylon-cotton-wool?

Stretch or regular? Short or calf-length?

And so it goes—cars, shirts, floor wax, soap, detergents or bread. You name it, they complicate it.

Like the guy said as he sorted big and little potatoes—it ain't the work, it's the decisions.

Thought For Today

The Lighter Side

WASHINGTON (UPI) —

As the author of an uncompleted book titled "How To Succeed at Bridge Without Really Cheating," I feel a little guilty about the deplorable turn of events at the recent World Team Tournament in Buenos Aires.

Had I been able to finish the book before those matches were held, it might have prevented the shocking situation which arose when two British players were accused of improperly exchanging information.

The British partners, Terence Reese and Boris Schapiro, were alleged to have used hand signals to let each other know what cards they were holding.

It so happens that this was one of the main points I had intended to discuss in my book.

At present, bridge players may legally convey information to each other by means of bidding "conventions" such as Blackwood, the one-club opener, the unusual no-trump and the negative double.

Before a match begins, each partnership makes known to its opponents what conventions it intends to employ.

This system is all right as far as it goes, but it fails to take into account the fact that human beings can make some 700,000 different and meaningful gestures through body movements and facial expressions.

The range is so great that it is virtually impossible to keep players from deliberately passing information by gesticulation if they are so inclined. They may even do it subconsciously.

My wife, for example, employs what is known as the "unusual eyebrow" convention. Anytime her left eyebrow is tilted out of its normal position, I know that I have bid the wrong suit.

I myself have rather immobile eyebrows, but I do have very expressive shoulders. Therefore, I prefer the "negative shrug" convention.

Since cheating along this line is so easy to get away with, I was planning to propose in my book that the World Bridge Federation amend the rules to authorize pantomimic conventions.

Before each tournament began, all the players would have to stipulate what gestures and expressions they intended to employ.

Should a player committed to the wrinkled nose convention be detected curling his lip, the other team could call the judges and severe penalties would be imposed.

This plan would go a long way toward eliminating secret codes of the type attributed to Reese and Schapiro. Too bad I didn't get it published in time.

The picture the critics gave of themselves as they spoke and responded to the debate was of individuals uniquely sensitive to the needs of the Vietnamese and other suffering peoples, better informed than the administration as to the facts of the conflict, confident we have no business in Southeast Asia, qualified to state categorically that a U. S. withdrawal from South

Viet Nam would cost us little or nothing in a Cold War struggle they sharply deplore.

They accept the Viet Cong guerrillas as the spearhead of a great popular uprising in the south, judge our bombing of the north as inhumane and useless, say at one time that Vietnamese Communists can hold to a Titoist independence of Peking and at another that Chinese Red domination of the region is inevitable and we must accept it.

This self-portrait of the assaulting academic forces was much the most interesting phenomenon of the national teach-in.

As with so much of their prior criticisms, this modest minority of the academic community here showed itself to be largely unconcerned either with hard evidence on Viet Nam or the harsher realities of America's world position.

Convinced of the government's folly, they gave their own arguments the ring of final truth, though some of these same men would have let Greece and Turkey go Communist in 1947 (they opposed the Truman doctrine of aid), and their older counterparts dared to contend on the eve of World War II that Hitler's "villainy" was in part an invention of British propaganda.

When they broke up a half hour past midnight, there had been no vocal sign that any critic, whether professor or student, had changed his mind.

In the whole 15½ hours, I did not hear from the lips of any critic a single approving word about U. S. policy in Viet Nam or anywhere else.

The government was portrayed as stupid, ignorant, arrogant, secretive and persistently wrong-headed.

Convinced of the government's folly, they gave their own arguments the ring of final truth, though some of these same men would have let Greece and Turkey go Communist in 1947 (they opposed the Truman doctrine of aid), and their older counterparts dared to contend on the eve of World War II that Hitler's "villainy" was in part an invention of British propaganda.

When they broke up a half hour past midnight, there had been no vocal sign that any critic, whether professor or student, had changed his mind.

In the whole 15½ hours, I did not hear from the lips of any critic a single approving word about U. S. policy in Viet Nam or anywhere else.

The government was portrayed as stupid, ignorant, arrogant, secretive and persistently wrong-headed.

The picture the critics gave of themselves as they spoke and responded to the debate was of individuals uniquely sensitive to the needs of the Vietnamese and other suffering peoples, better informed than the administration as to the facts of the conflict, confident we have no business in Southeast Asia, qualified to state categorically that a U. S. withdrawal from South

Viet Nam would cost us little or nothing in a Cold War struggle they sharply deplore.

They accept the Viet Cong guerrillas as the spearhead of a great popular uprising in the south, judge our bombing of the north as inhumane and useless, say at one time that Vietnamese Communists can hold to a Titoist independence of Peking and at another that Chinese Red domination of the region is inevitable and we must accept it.

This self-portrait of the assaulting academic forces was much the most interesting phenomenon of the national teach-in.

Idiot's Delight

Political Notebook

WASHINGTON (NEA) —

On the surface, the historic, 15½-hour "national teach-in" on Viet Nam was a thing of rationality and balance. Both sides were heard in a "debate" on U. S. policy. Yet the appearance was illusory.

No one truly concerned with the vitality of American democracy would belittle an enterprise which drew 3,000 college professors and students to Washington on a warm spring Saturday. The announced purpose was commendable, and the display of energy and spirit admirable.

The results are another matter.

This reporter watched the proceedings first-hand from beginning to end, most often as one of the "teach-in" audience. By their questions, their comment in the audience, their visible mood and their physical responses, the participants in overwhelming majority made plain they came seeking confirmation of their pre-Washington judgments that administration policy in Viet Nam is almost wholly wrong.

Contrary arguments, no matter how seemingly well-buttressed with fact, were generally greeted with skepticism, scorn and derision. Utterances which supported the views they brought with them were endured with smiles and warm applause.

When they broke up a half hour past midnight, there had been no vocal sign that any critic, whether professor or student, had changed his mind.

In the whole 15½ hours, I did not hear from the lips of any critic a single approving word about U. S. policy in Viet Nam or anywhere else.

This self-portrait of the assaulting academic forces was much the most interesting phenomenon of the national teach-in.

As with so much of their prior criticisms, this modest minority of the academic community here showed itself to be largely unconcerned either with hard evidence on Viet Nam or the harsher realities of America's world position.

Horoscope Forecast

FRIDAY, JUNE 4, 1965
GENERAL TENDENCIES:
 Your interest in getting matters of vital importance to you arranged requires that you be less demanding and take into consideration to a greater extent the standpoints of others and just how much they will do to give you their backing and support. A word of encouragement to them releases your support.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19)
 —Get busy and make your plans for the vacation you want to take soon. Show true loyalty to loved one in p. m. Stay within your budget yet plan for the greatest amount of fun.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20)
 —Home problems and family interests require your most intelligent handling and should be given just that. Get business matters finished properly, too. Be a delight to kin in p. m.
GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)
 —Find a way to convince allies to be more co-operative during the day in regular work. Improve appearance during spare time. Take treatments you need. Be more inventive.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21)
 —Gathering the data you need will show manner in which to become more prosperous in the near future. Improve property and make it more valuable. Show that you are on the ball.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)
 —If you are more charming and courteous, you can get added support from others today. Fine opportunities can come via social circles. Get out in p. m. and make the right contacts. Put ideas to work quickly.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)
 —Those whom you like the most can be helped in a quiet and unobtrusive manner now. Make it a point to be of service to those who are worthy. Be a fine and dependable worker.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)
 —If you do not get in touch with good friends more often, you are apt to lose them. It's fine to be a good family person, but pals also have their place in your life. Be happier.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)
 —If you have some good plan that will be mutually helpful to yourself and higher-ups, be sure to contact them now. Prosperity can be increased, understanding easily reached.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)
 —You can now grow appreciably in other outlet besides the one in which you have been active for a very long time. Those at a distance can be contacted. Domestic problems also can be solved ideally.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)
 —Let higher-ups appreciate the manner in which you handle your biggest opportunities and obligations today. Be more pleasant to mate. Change your attitude for the better.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 19 to Feb. 18)
 —Allies need more help from you, but the returns will be infinitely greater, too, if you comply. The public backs you. Use such help very wisely and please all.

PISCES (Feb. 19 to Mar. 20)
 —Make your surroundings more pleasant and you help yourself as well as others who labor with you. Be more systematic. Show that you have kind regard and feelings for others.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY, he or she will be one of those very warm and human individuals who will go almost in any length to have others admire and love him or her. It is important to slant the education toward the arts where being in the public eye is an integral part of the career and fame as well as fortune is possible, plus much happiness given and taken during this interesting lifetime.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Fastest Freight Runs By Remote Control

SANTA FE, N. M. (UPI) —The fastest freight train in the world is in New Mexico, but its engineer sits in a blockhouse a quarter-mile away from the tracks.

The "train" really is the Air Force's rocket sled at the White Sands Missile Range. Its freight consists of missile guidance systems and nose cones of rockets. Its speed over the six-mile track is far beyond the sound barrier.

Used to test all types of equipment for the nation's space program, the sled is powered by three liquid-engine rockets. In power tests, the rocket has plunged end through nine-foot thick concrete objects as if they were paper bags. It can travel the six-mile track in a few seconds. In essence, it's an Atlas missile on the ground.

The only man ever to ride the sled was Col. John P. Stapp. Since 1954, when Stapp took his last sled ride, the rocket's speed and power have been too much for a man. Only instruments are seated on the lightning run today.

The so-called sled is a massive three-chambered rocket which pushes various testing equipment down a two-rail track. Beneath the track is supporting concrete. "Enough," an Air Force major said, "to build 10,000 cement outhouses."

Roaring Blast

With a roaring blast, the rocket jumps down the track on skids fixed beneath the rails as well as on top. The sled's greatest danger is that it might fly off the track.

Shortly after the initial blast—about four seconds—the sled slams through the sound barrier with a peal of thunder and roars past the controlling blockhouse. At the end of the track the sled is reined in sharply by water brakes, a system of deploying water through the sled.

In some tests, the brake might be a concrete cube or a hillside. In these cases, the intense speeds of the rockets add tons of explosive power to the units.

Recent tests included the effect of rainfall on rocket nose cones. Sprinkler systems were established along a portion of the six-mile track. The system produces everything from a downpour to a gentle mist. The object is to find a nose cone material that won't erode when rockets travel through rain at high speeds.

Other tests have been used to produce new ejection seats for jet aircraft. The most recent tests produced seats which can eject men safely from aircraft still on the ground but moving at supersonic speeds.

Former Editor Is Speaker For SSJH Classes

By Jane Cannelberry

Julian Stenstrom, former Sanford Herald editor, was guest lecturer recently at the South Seminole Junior High School where the ninth grade civics classes have just completed a unit of study on the importance and influence of newspapers.

A former member of the social studies department at South Seminole, Stenstrom spoke on the history of newspapers from Biblical times to the present day.

He pointed out that with our modern means of communication the big job of the editor is not finding news, but selecting what is most important.

Potential Painted In Glowing Colors

Potential progress and prosperity of Seminole County in the next 15 years is painted in glowing colors by the data presented in the "Key Findings" of the East Central Florida Regional Planning Council. This opinion was voiced today by George Touhy, executive vice president of First Federal Savings and Loan Association, who attended in Titusville a briefing for finance and industry leaders in WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Urban Renewal Administration announced today a $29,332 federal grant to the East Central Florida Regional Planning Council to aid the federally impacted East Central Florida area in its program of planning for growth and development. The seven-county complex that is under study and analysis by the staff of specialists in economic evaluation working under the banner of the ECFRPC. Of special local significance is the status of agri-business and water recreation in the regional picture. The data reveals that 23 per cent of all capital created in the region stems from agri-business and that it is possible to continue to average five per cent a year growth into the 1970's. By 1980 this phase of development could generate from 700 to 800 million dollars of capital, Touhy said.

Pertinent to the importance of the speedy development of Sanford's riverport facility, the finance official pointed out several excerpts from the Key Findings report. One remark is that "water is the most valuable recreation resource of the East Central Florida region, but has not been, and is not being, adequately protected." Touhy said that the review should have added "nor adequately promoted." Another excerpt says, "Commercial recreational development should be encouraged on both private and public lands to reduce the need for public funds." Employment should be doubled by 1980 in the seven counties, and by that year they should have 1.6 million people with incomes of $4.8 billion a year, the experts say.

Business leaders and public officials have been pleasantly surprised and impressed with the many opportunities that this unprecedented growth presents, Touhy said. All of them are conscious of many attendant problems that must be solved to attain the expected benefits, but very few are evidently willing to unite in working out their solutions. It is essential that the seven counties work together in the planning of agricultural, commercial, industrial and residential development, because their facilities are so closely interlocked, he added. Transportation — highway, water and air—must be developed on a Central Florida scope, the planners are convinced. It is the purpose of the Regional Planning Council to develop this co-operative effort. The presentation in Titusville, using slides, graphs, charts and maps, was made by Executive Director Robert H. Doyle and his staff of research specialists. Touhy said that plans were being made to have this group bring their findings, as they affect Seminole County, to Sanford for a meeting of business leaders and public officials. Announcement of the development of these plans will be made soon, it was added.

Sunday will be "Operation Sinkhole" fun day at Land O' Lakes Country Club in Casselberry, with all proceeds going to aid victims of the May 15 sinkhole. A handicap golf tournament will be held, with many prizes donated by area merchants. Contributions will allow the donor to participate in the tourney, swim and eat all the barbecue they want, or a lesser donation will entitle the donor to swimming and the barbecue. The barbecue gets underway at 4 p.m. The affair is being guided by Ralph B. Park, club manager, Casselberry Lions Club, VFW Post 10050, and the South Seminole Jaycees.

Some of our county commissioners say they are spending twice as much time on the job as they used to. They meet weekly now instead of twice a month but their work involves many more hours outside the courtroom.

Rain or shine County Agent Cecil Tucker can smile. If it doesn't rain, the fire ant program can continue unabated. If it does rain, it will be a blessing for citrus.

Incidentally, Tucker says if we don't get more rain within a few days we'll be back where we started from — in the critical stage for citrus.

The B-17s, dropping the mix fire ant bait, are now working west of Interstate 4. With good weather and no plane trouble they should be through in Seminole County next week.

Over in Volusia County one bear, one bobcat and several other wild animals have died violent deaths recently due to strychnine poison. Wildlife officers have found three areas in Volusia County where strychnine was applied to bait and scattered through the woods in an apparent attempt to kill bears that might destroy bee hives.

One of our most observant Clock Watchers wants to know: Why doesn't the city check the trash baskets, particularly the one in front of the bank at First & Park? It's in terrible condition.

Why don't drivers turn right after they come to a stop at a red light? It's legal in the city, providing there is no sign to the contrary. Out in the county, no dice.

Lucille Church Mero of Sanford has been asked by the American Association of Doctors' Nurses to serve on its decade of health committee. The purpose of the committee is to develop several projects which this national association and its chapters can promote to help mankind.

Deltona just grows and grows. Its population now tops 1,500 and there are more than 700 homes completed or under construction. Nearly 80 miles of hard-surfaced roads have been completed or are under construction.

We have turned down an invitation by the Marine Corps to spend a night in a foxhole in the Ocala National Forest. However, we plan to visit Hughes Island as a guest of NAB Marines and observe "Operation Alcaz."

Gemini Twins Go For Record

Complete 16 Orbits In 24 Hours

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — Gemini twins James McDivitt and Edward White, keeping a sharp eye on the gas gauge and a growing collection of trash, whizzed through their first full day in orbit and set their sights on a U.S. space endurance record.

Ground controllers at lot, McDivitt and White walking co-pilot to go they on the fuel, and cancelled a pair of orbital changes that would have drastically reduced the supply.

As Gemini-4 soared across the northwest coast of Africa and finished its first 24 hours in space at 11:16 a.m. (EDT), project chiefs assured the rookie pilots their orbit—101 to 179 miles above earth—was enough to keep them aloft a full 97 hours and 49 minutes.

A fuel supply depleted by a full six cases after another satellite, clouds of "paper and stuff" that began to fill the cabin, and continued problems with communications headed a lengthening list of minor troubles plaguing the mission one-fourth of the way to its goal.

But flight chiefs at Houston appeared unworried—and White and McDivitt, refreshed by plenty of sleep and a successful return to their original flight plan, took dead aim at the U.S. space mark of slightly more than 34 hours, set two years ago by astronaut Gordon Cooper.

They reached the 24-hour mark in the 10th orbit, entering it at 10:58 a.m. (EDT). At 24 hours past lift-off—11:16 a.m. (EDT)—the astronauts had compiled this record of space triumphs and setbacks:

Several "last minute" bills affecting Seminole County were expected to pass the Florida Legislature today before sine die adjournment.

Longwood's corporate limits and boundaries would be extended under a measure that was introduced by Rep. S. Joseph Davis Jr. and passed in the House Thursday.

The measure would give the city back two valuable tracts of land on U. S. 17-92 which it annexed two years ago but lost when an act under which they were taken into the city was declared invalid.

Another Davis bill would validate all annexations to municipalities in Seminole County regardless of the date of annexation.

Two other Davis measures affect the Town of Altamonte Springs.

One would establish a utilities commission and provide for the appointment and terms of members of the commission. The bill is subject to referendum.

The Altamonte Springs town charter was amended in another bill to provide that the mayor will no longer serve as municipal judge. The act creates a municipal court with the judge appointed by the mayor with the approval of the town council. Citizens also must vote on this act.

Licensing, bonding and examining of all building contractors in Seminole County was called for in a bill which passed the House Thursday.

The Altamonte Springs town charter was amended in another bill to provide that the mayor will no longer serve as municipal judge. The act creates a municipal court with the judge appointed by the mayor with the approval of the town council. Citizens also must vote on this act.

Licensing, bonding and examining of all building contractors in Seminole County was called for in a bill which passed the House Thursday.

In another bill passing the House, the chairman of the Seminole County Board of Commissioners will receive a boost in travel expenses to

Wometco Stocks Go On Big Board

MIAMI (UPI) — Wometco Enterprises, Inc., stock has been approved for listing on the New York Stock Exchange, the Miami based company announced.

Wometco's class A common, traded over the counter since 1959, will go up on the "Big Board" for trading on July 7. The company catering to the public's leisure time and needs has diversified operations extending throughout Florida, the Bahamas, The Panama Canal Zone and Vancouver, Canada, and including Park East and Park West Theatres at Winter Park.

Mellon Marker Still Standing After 2nd Bid

Sanford City Commissioners meeting in adjourned session Thursday plowed through a mound of accumulated business at a steady clip, under the gavel of Acting Mayor M. L. Raborn Jr.

They turned down a second request for removal of the Fort Mellon marker at the corner of Second Street and Mellonville Avenue where a Sanford teenager was injured recently in an auto accident.

Re-marking of the intersection was ordered. Commissioners and Police Chief Arnold Williams insisted that motorists coming to a full and complete stop at the intersection have clear visibility in both directions.

In other action commissioners approved annexation of the Shannon property south of Pinecrest first addition; ordered the drawing of an ordinance to set up effective changes in billing and collection of licenses and personal property taxes; heard first readings on two zoning changes; denied a request to prohibit vendors from operating around ball fields, the zoo and parks.

Approval was given for payment of $1,117 for sign rental on seven outdoor billboards advertising Sanford; a request by Martin Anderson for consideration for a CATV franchise was turned down; approved a request for beer and wine license for a bar and grill to be constructed at 20th Street and Hardy Avenue.

Commissioners turned down an offer from J. Bralley Odham to sell the Sunland water system to the city for $135,000.

Smoking Evils

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — A bill requiring public school teachers to give instruction in the evils of smoking cleared the Legislature today.

Construction Slated To Start About June 15

Construction is scheduled to begin about June 15 for a modern 28-unit apartment building on Onora Road in Sanford, about one mile east of Highway 17-92.

The new apartment complex, to be known as Commodore Apartments, will be constructed by L & D Properties, of Maitland, and will have a replacement value estimated at $200,000.

Occupancy is expected to be available by Sept. 15.

The complex will be two two-story buildings, one containing 16 units, the other having 12 units.

Completely fire proof, the buildings will be of concrete block construction, with steel beams and studs and a concrete roof. The only wood in the buildings will be the doors and cabinets.

The front of the apartments will be decorated with wrought iron grill work and decorative block stairwells.

The units will include all electric appliances including air conditioning, range, oven and refrigerator. They will have terrace floors.

There will be equipped laundry rooms available to tenants, storage rooms, and a landscaped picnic area in the rear. Paved parking will be available for 40 cars.

The 55,000-square-foot complex, at the intersection of Onora Road and Magnolia Avenue, will be adjacent to a fully equipped city park.

Architect for the project is Edward Thomas, AIA, of Orlando. Contractor is W. M. Earnest, of Maitland. Van Villanyi, of Orlando, is structural engineer.

Construction financing is being handled through the South Seminole Bank in Fern Park and permanent financing is through First Federal Savings and Loan Assn. of Orlando.

Longwood Awaiting Legislative Action

By Donna Estes

The Longwood City Council officially requested the Seminole County legislative delegation to pass a special act now in the possession of Rep. S. J. Davis Jr. extending the city limits to include the property incorporated into the city by ordinances 161, 175 and 178.

Properties included are on Highway 17-92 from Longwood Plaza south to the Wind-Dixie; west on SR 431 to the old city limits line, and on Orange Avenue and Church Street west from 17-92 to the old city limits.

Council's action took place at a special unannounced meeting held at 9 a.m. Wednesday, minutes read at Thursday night's regular meeting revealed.

The validity of annexation of the above described property has been in question since the State Supreme Court ruled in January, this year, that such annexations were illegal.

The Herald received word from Tallahassee that the House of Representatives already has passed a bill validating the annexations and it was expected to pass the Senate today.

In business of Thursday's meeting, Councilman Carl Lommerl was elected chairman of the council by what Mayor David J. Wentworth termed a "majority" vote. Other votes cast by the five-member board were one each for Councilmen Percy White, B. L. Helms and John Deaton.

Chairman Lommerl reported that the bid of Hoiler Chevrolet, Sanford, for $2,675.03, had been accepted for the new police car. Other bids submitted at previous meetings were Seminole County Motors of Sanford, $2,350, and Heintzelman Ford of Orlando, $2,825.

Pilot Killed

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — The pilot of a Sky Hawk attack plane died today when his plane crashed into swampy forest land 25 miles west of Jacksonville. A spokesman for the Cecil Field Air Base identified the pilot of the plane as Lt. J. F. Wilkinson, of Mt. Carmel, Ill.

He-e-ey, Kids! School's Out!

Seminole County turned loose 15,547 school children today for summer vacation.

Of this number, 665 will be leaving county schools for the last time. That number is in the graduating classes at the county's four high schools.

Actually, seniors won't be through the school year until Monday night when graduation exercises will be held.

Seminole High will graduate 298—largest in the county. Lyman High School will give diplomas to 224, Crooms High School to 107 and Oviedo High School will graduate 36.

The Herald is carrying its special graduation sections for all schools but Crooms in today's edition. The Crooms section will run Monday.

Old Age Pension, Care Increased

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — A bill raising the maximum old age pension to $75 a month and allowing up to $135 for nursing home care cleared the Legislature with Senate passage.

Funds to finance the increase were provided in the $1.1 billion general appropriations bill passed several weeks ago.

Spaceman 'Walks' Hawaii To Atlantic

By Robert Beckhorn

United Press International

Astronaut Edward R. White seemed almost to be in love with space.

For the moment, it was all his. Like a child, he didn't want to leave.

"Get back in," came the near stern command from his fellow astronaut James A. McDivitt.

The reply? Laughter could be heard as White dangled 108 miles in space silently coasting through the great void at 17,500 miles an hour. This was an exhilaration known only to one other man. This was excitement, and beauty. This was the reason for being an astronaut.

The schedule called for only a nine or 10 minute stay. But things like that are hard to give up. White seemed to dawdle.

McDivitt cautioned him again: "You still have three and a half more days to go, buddy."

But McDivitt was strapped in a capsule. That was one thing, but White was floating in space, tied to the capsule only by a 28-foot-long goldplated lifeline.

The planned 10-minute stay was stretching out.

White, toyed with his space gun in a Buck Rogers-like exercise.

Firing a blast of compressed oxygen, he moved himself around the space capsule. Inside, McDivitt took pictures.

At one point McDivitt had trouble keeping White in sight.

"Move closer," he urged White.

When he did, McDivitt told him, "smile."

Then the free-wheeling White apparently got too close to McDivitt's windshield with his jet-propulsion gun.

"You're smearing up my windshield, you dirty dog," quipped McDivitt.

It didn't sound dramatic. But it was. It was dangerous, too.

White and McDivitt knew it. While they joked, death in its most fantastic form was there.

A meteorite could puncture White's $26,000 space suit. Or an oxygen leak could dim his senses, leaving him confused and disoriented.

But now, White was nearing the 20-minute mark in his stroll. He still could not get over the joy of it.

"This is fun," he told McDivitt when the astronaut again urged him to re-enter the capsule.

The "fun" White described could be converted into statistics that boggle the mind of the man in the street.

White had left the capsule as it soared toward the California coast. He did not re-enter until the space ship was east of the Dominican Republic, having crossed the entire United States.

He had claimed space for his own for a total of 20 minutes — 10 more minutes than his Soviet counterpart, Lt. Col. Alexei Leonov, who turned his feat last March 18.
