Torn Piece Of Nylon Leads To Murder Suspect

NEW YORK, Sept. 18—(AP)—Alfred J. Peters, 49, of Bushnell, Fla., was booked on a homicide charge last night because a torn piece of a woman's nylon stocking linked him with the beating death of an unidentified woman, police reported...

According to Detective Captain Frederick Jansen, Peters, who lived at 110 West 54th Street while employed as a cook here, was brought to the city yesterday after waiving extradition in Bushnell...

Peters admitted beating an unidentified woman about 60 years old in his fourth floor apartment here on Sept. 8 after the couple had been drinking, according to Mr. Jansen, district attorney Carl Grebow...

The woman's body was found on a third floor landing. An autopsy revealed she died after a beating. Detective James Markley learned that Peters had left his apartment the morning the woman was found...

With pictures from Florida, Markley began a search for a "Mr. Cowan" who had lived in the suspect's apartment. The detective said he learned from tenants in the apartment house who were shown pictures that Peters was "Mr. Cowan."

Meanwhile, Peters had moved to an apartment at 410 West 23rd Street, where his wife in Florida notified him that the local police had inquired about him, Markley said. Believing he was sought on a local matter, Peters went to his home in Bushnell where he was arrested as a fugitive last Saturday...

Markley went to Florida and returned here yesterday by plane with Peters.

School Board Helps On Recreation Deal

Thomas Stringer, city director of recreation, said today he has received fine cooperation from the Seminole County School Board in carrying out the recreation program this summer...

The School Board furnished us with four full time workers for one month during the summer," he declared.

Mrs. F. C. Winn, physical education teacher, ran the playground at Seminole High School for one month, he said.

The School Board also furnished us with two colored playground directors and one supervisor. These workers were voluntarily furnished by the Board to cooperate in the city recreation program," said Mr. Stringer.

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, Sept. 18—(AP)—Hollywood was blinking this week at the news that Bette Davis was playing a six-part in a picture. But don't jump to conclusions. Her career is in a good shape as it ever has been in the two decades she has been in Hollywood. She has taken a short but important part in "Phone Call for a Stranger" as a matter of principle.

I found her sharing a dressing room with the star of the picture, man named Gary Merrill. They explained that the picture is an episodic one in which Merrill looks up four companions in a plane crash. Miss Davis (or Mrs. Merrill, if you prefer) is one of them.

"Everyone was hesitant about offering me the role," she explained. "Actually I loved the part when I read Gary's script. When they finally suggested that I do it, I grabbed at the chance.

"I think it would be a good thing if stars did that now and then.

Ever since I started free-lancing, I realized how few good starring roles there are. I'm idle for one entire year between 'All About Eve' and the picture I just made in England. I don't mind getting a six-month vacation, but I like to work. A year off is too much.

"It would be a good thing if we got rid of the 'star system' of Hollywood which requires that an actor's role must be big and fat. No wonder the English pictures are so much better acted than ours! It's because the finest performers there are not afraid to take smaller roles as long as they are good ones. You see such good actors as Robert Morley playing a leading role in one picture and then doing a character part in another."

Contrary to some movie queens, Bette said she has never been concerned about the size of her roles. "I did the part of the woman in 'Watch on the Rhine' (which won Paul Lucas an Oscar)." She cited. "The role was nothing, and people said I was crazy to do it. But I wanted to because I thought the story was important.

"And I played the secretary in 'The Man Who Came to Dinner,' a relatively minor role. I felt it would be good for me to be in a comedy."

The Merrills are at their Malibu home to stay for awhile, they hope. After their trip to England and shuttling back and forth between the East and here, they claim they "can't bear the sight of an open suitcase."

Former RFC Man Testifies Against Boyle

Willet Swears Democratic Chairman Saw Him 3 Times About RFC Loans

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Former RFC Director William E. Willet swore today that William M. Boyle, Jr., contacted him three times about loan matters after becoming Democratic National Chairman.

Willet, who left the RFC (Reconstruction Finance Corporation) last May in a reorganization, testified before senators investigating charges that Boyle had political influence in loan operations of the government loan agency.

Boyle has denied using any such influence.

Willet told a Senate investigation subcommittee he received telephone calls from Boyle at irregular intervals for various reasons.

One of these, he said, was on May 29, 1950, to arrange a meeting between Willet and two engineers for Thompson and Starnes, Inc., which sought an assignment to survey properties of the Linton Corp., of Columbus, Ohio, a big RFC borrower.

He said the firm did not get the job.

He described another call, Nov. 29, 1949, arranging an interview for an official of the W. M. Jones Contracting Co., and a third, on Sept. 11, 1950, for Sam Marking Co. Wren and the mining company already had received their franchise on waste oil.

Piggly Wiggly Has 1 Million Dollar Business A Year

Accurately reflecting the growth of Sanford and immediately after the war, that for the second fiscal year ending in June one of the local grocery stores, the Piggly Wiggly, has done well over a million dollars worth of business. Mr. Casabue, manager, announced this morning.

Mr. Casabue and W. C. Bule, manager of the meat department of the store, will attend a dinner at 5:00 o'clock this afternoon at the Roosevelt Hotel in Jacksonville, given for managers of Winn-Lovett controlled groceries, which during the past year had sales of a million dollars or more. This year's store is in Jacksonville, Georgia and Florida.

During the past week Mr. Bule has been attending a school for meat market managers conducted by the Winn-Lovett Co. in Jacksonville. Mr. Casabue will join him there for the dinner.

Due to the constant growth of the business it is planned to make an addition to the Piggly Wiggly store as soon as restrictions on building material will permit, said Mr. Casabue this morning.

The store was opened at its new location at Third Street and Palmto Avenue only two and a half years ago, and since that time the number of employees have been increased from 27 to 52. A recent improvement was the installation of air conditioning.

District Lions Meet In Sanford

More than 60 Lions, members of District 26-D, attended the zone meeting last night at the Yacht Club as guests of the Sanford Lions Club. The Sanford and DeLand Clubs also held a joint meeting.

Zone Chairman Henry Witte presided at the meeting. Deputy District Governor J. W. Garretson advised the presidents and other officers of the clubs present of their duties and outlined Lion programs planned within the zone of which there are five in Florida.

It was announced that the South Naitz Club at Fort Orange, which was well represented at the meeting, had offered an invitation to be host at the next zone meeting on Nov. 26. The offer was accepted by the zone delegates.

Other club representatives present were from the Daytona Beach, New Smyrna, Ponce de Leon, Dunell and Titusville Lions Clubs. Cecil Carlton presided at the meeting of the Sanford and DeLand clubs. Dr. G. Boyce, a guest of the local club, was a guest of a transfer of membership here from the Fremont, Ohio, Lions Club. The Lions enjoyed a supper served by Mrs. M. D. Gatch.

Where Stunt Plane Crash Brought Death To 19

AFTER TURNING A GAY HARVEST FESTIVAL at Flagler, Colo., into a scene of death and terror, the skeleton of a crashed stunt plane lies in a ring of cars while the body of pilot Lt. Norman L. Jones is stretched out in right foreground. Nineteen persons were killed and 30 injured when the little plane doing a slow roll during an air show, suddenly cartwheeled into the horrified crowd of 1,500 persons. Lt. Jones was just coming in for a landing from Lowry Air Force Base when he attempted the fatal stunt. (International)

Jack Hall Named As President Of County C. Of C.

Spencer Elected As Vice President; Manager Deferred

Jack Hall, manager of the Yowell Company, was unanimously elected president of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce at a meeting of the new board of directors held last night in the City Hall. G. W. Spencer, prominent Sanford attorney, was elected vice president.

H. H. Coleman was appointed temporary chairman of the meeting by President H. James Gut.

The nominating committee consisted of Andrew Carraway, chairman, and H. B. Pope, Henry Simpson, W. A. Leffer, Ben Jones, and Homer Gleason.

Other officers unannounced and unanimously elected were James L. Ingley, treasurer, and Roy Britt, member of the executive and finance committee.

President Gut explained that a number of applications have been received for the position of manager, but that no action has yet been taken on them, pending the election of the new officers.

Wedemeyer Claims State Department Aided Communists

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Lt. General Albert C. Wedemeyer, wartime commander of American forces in China, testified today that reports submitted to him by his State Department political advisers were contrary to U. S. policy as he understood it.

The tall, silver-haired general, now retired, said the advisers "idea was to give more support to the Communist forces in lieu of the Nationalist forces" of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek.

He told the Senate's Internal Security Subcommittee that American policy, "as I interpreted it, was to keep China in the war and to support the Nationalist government."

The subcommittee is searching for any traces of subversive influences on U. S. policies in Far East, with the probe focused particularly on the Institute of Pacific Relations (IPR), a private research organization.

Wedemeyer succeeded General Joseph W. Stilwell as commander of American forces in China in September, 1944. He served there for two years, acting also as chief of staff to Chiang Kai-Shek.

Association Passes 2 Million Mark In Savings Accounts

Howard Paville, President of First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Seminole County, announced today that George Touhy will become executive vice president of the Association as Executive Vice President, effective Oct. 1, 1951.

Mr. Paville's statement is as follows: "As President of First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Seminole County, I take pleasure in announcing that George Touhy of Sanford will assume the office of Executive Vice President of our Association, effective Oct. 1, 1951."

Mr. Touhy, a substantial growth of the Association was shown in its semi-annual report on July 1, 1951, when, for the first time in the Association's history, we passed the mark of two million dollars in savings accounts. In line with the Association's policy to keep pace with our steady growth and to continue rendering the fullest possible service to the community, we have long recognized that (Continued On Page Six)

Gross Refuses To Testify In Graft Trial

Gambler Has Defiant Row With Judge Liebowitz Over Rights As U. S. Citizen

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Brooklyn's mass police hitlers who collapsed today, after witness testimony, Harry Gross, 47, refused to testify.

For all intents and purposes, the case is over. Assistant District Attorney Julius Helfand told the court this morning that Gross, 47, had declined to testify and had declared the prosecution of the principal evidence. However, he asked that Kings county Judge Samuel S. Liebowitz continue his questioning of Gross, in order to hold up a series of contempt citations and penalties against him.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Brooklyn hitler, angry and defiant, declared in court today he will not testify in the graft trial because he didn't want to endanger his family.

"I'm thinking of my wife and children," he insisted.

But Judge Liebowitz, who had Samuel S. Liebowitz to read him in jail "for a thousand years" failed to change his attitude.

The gambler's refusal to talk could break up the sensational trial in which mobsters are accused of having been paid off at the rate of $100,000 a year to protect Gross' huge bookmaking syndicate.

"We have no intention in our hands to compel him to testify," said Liebowitz. "I don't know if I can salvage anything from this case for very little hope."

McDonald scoffed at Gross' words about his family, and said "We have evidence that a substantial sum of money has been paid" to the gambler to seal his lips.

The payoff, McDonald said, would be $100,000 a year. Gross' alleged big police contacts and drop-out of $100,000 a year for the past week. He was found at a New Jersey race track.

Earlier Harry Gross, defiantly stomped down from the witness chair at Brooklyn's mass police graft trial today, but returned to the judge's bench to "talk" to the state.

"You come back here and talk that kind of talk," Kings county Judge Samuel S. Liebowitz bellowed. "If you don't, I'll come in and take you back to the state prison."

Afterward, when the one-time multi-million-dollar bookmaker couldn't talk up to the stand and sat down.

His defiant posture came after he had refused for the second day in a row to continue his testimony about his purported million-dollar a year bribery payoffs to police.

Earlier, Gross' lawyer, Edward J. Conroy, said he would appeal the judge's ruling. "I stand on my rights," Gross said stubbornly.

"You have no rights," the judge retorted. "You walked them away" (Continued On Page Six)

Attlee Announces British To Hold General Election

Labor Majority Will Be Risked On Oct. 25th, He Declares

LONDON, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Prime Minister Clement Attlee today announced that the British Labor government will risk a general election on Oct. 25.

Attlee will be making his Labor gamble at the polls at a time when Winston Churchill's Conservative government is in a minority.

Many political observers have been predicting Churchill's party would return to power.

Attlee made the announcement in a radio broadcast to the House of Commons.

The Labor Party came to power in 1945 after the dissolution of the wartime Labor-Conservative coalition. The Conservatives won the 1951 election.

However, when the next regular election came, Britain had a number of elections every five years. The Labor Party has since then, and has been in power since then.

Attlee said he would risk the election on Oct. 25, and the election would follow Oct. 25.

Wildlife Federation To Meet In Miami

The members of the Florida Wildlife Federation will meet in Miami at the Robert Clay Hotel, Saturday and Sunday. The first session is scheduled to start at 2:00 P.M. on Saturday and the second session beginning at 9:00 A.M. on Sunday.

President Porter Lansing announced that this will be one of the most important meetings of the year, because the major project on the agenda will be organizing a Salt Water Fish and Resources Department within the Federation. Also at this meeting the members of the Federation plan to organize a Junior Division of the Federation.

Among the important people who will attend the meetings will be Mayor Wolforth, Miami; Claude D. Kelly, President of the National Wildlife Federation; Ben L. McLaughlin, Director of the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission; George Vathis, Chief, Conservation Board; Dr. F. G. Walton Smith, Director Marine Lab. Univ. of Miami; U.S. Congressman "Bill" Lantaff; and Honorable B. G. Patton, Representative of the State of Florida.

Those attending the meetings from Sanford will be President Lansing and Mrs. Lansing; Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Keen; and Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Johnson.

DANIEL ASSIGNED
FORT MEADE, Md., Sept. 19.—(Special)—Capt. Gaine B. Daniel, 30, of Sanford, has completed processing at the 20th Reception Center here and is assigned to the 8th Infantry Division, Indianapolis Army Military Reservation.

Cpl. Daniel will receive basic refresher training with the 8th Division.

He previously served 2 1/2 years in the Army as the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry L. Daniel, also of Sanford.

Seminole County Farm Bureau Annual Election

The Seminole County Farm Bureau at a meeting last night at the high school farm building elected a new board of directors from 21 nominees. John Pleron presided.

The following directors were elected: Leo Binger, Homer L. Carter, R. F. Cooper, Victor M. Greene, R. D. Hunter, W. W. Lins, Thomas McClain, Henry Schumacher and A. B. Teiford.

John Pleron, president, will serve as an officer in the office of the board of directors. New officers will be elected by the board of directors at their next meeting on Oct. 3.

George S. Swartz, past president, gave a report on the recent meeting of Florida Farm Bureau Convention at Camp O'Leary, and told of the State Farm Bureau Convention which will be held in Orlando, Nov. 15 and 16.

Mr. Pleron reported fine cooperation by organizations and individuals throughout the county who received invitations to participate in Seminole County Good Neighbor Day, Oct. 16. Trees, flowers, shrubs and other gifts will be presented on that date to the new home of the Florida State Farm Bureau in Winter Park.

Mrs. Henry Thurston, chairman of the ladies activities, stated that the ladies plan to present an electric coffee urn to the home.

Leo Butler, chairman of the Seminole County Farm Bureau's Redistricting Committee, told members last night that the County Commission plans to meet tomorrow to consider the issue of redistricting the county and predicted favorable action on the matter.

State Representative M. B. Smith also predicted that the Commission will take action on redistricting the five commission districts making them equal on the basis of population.

Air Station Holds Saving Bond Contest

A contest has been inaugurated aboard the Naval Air Station on a new bond drive. The contest will be judged on the greatest percentage of increase in number of automobiles each department shows at the end of a two weeks period. The contest is now being planned to conclude the contest and at that time rewards will be distributed to the winning departments.

The station theater will open tonight with the first show at 7:30 P.M. Lt. Robert Ramey, welfare and recreation officer, said that five different shows are scheduled for each week and that appropriate short subjects will be included as added attractions.

One of the newest additions to the station is a new building.

Navy Use Of Tourist Center Is Extended

Navy personnel will be allowed the use of the Tourist Center for recreational purposes until Dec. 1. City Manager Clifford McKibbin announced this morning.

This permission to extend the opening of the tourist center, from Nov. to Dec. 1, was granted last night by the Board of Directors of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. McKibbin pointed out to the directors that the C. of C. Naval Affairs Committee of which Karlisle Housholder is chairman, had been working hard on the problem of accommodating both the Navy and the winter visitors, but that they arrived at a workable solution.

Stacy White, 46, Of Orlando Succumbs

ORLANDO, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Stacy Ziegler White, 46, south of Orlando, died yesterday at a local hospital.

He was born in Sylvania, Ga. July 21, 1905, and lived in Sanford before moving here where he made his residence the last 20 years. He was formerly sales manager for American Fruit Growers Association.

Besides his widow, he is survived by a son, Robert Stacy White, Orlando; two brothers, Hershel B. White of Sylvania and Harold White of Savannah; and a sister, Mrs. Mike Lanier, Savannah. Funeral services and interment will be in Sylvania at a date still to be announced.

Liquor License

John L. Galloway, tax collector for Seminole County, today announced that dealers in liquor, beer and wine must renew their licenses by Oct. 1, or their 1950-51 licenses will automatically expire on that date.

Renewals are now being issued at the tax office at the Court House.

SEX BOOKS

VATICAN CITY, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Pope Pius XII called today upon Catholics to fight against publications which, he said, purporting to be books of sex instruction, "deliberately attempt to corrupt or to lead astray the young and the ignorant." He said the lowest instincts of debauched nature.

TODAY'S BIBLE VERSE

The inheritance of God's children covers the earth. Evil men hold away only for a short time. We have seen world figures of evil fall in ten years. Wait and see. Lift up now thine eyes, and look from the place where thou now art northward, and southward, and eastward, and westward.—Gen. 12:14.

Governor Warren admits that his popularity has slipped since his election in 1948. "Slipped" is a masterpiece of understatement. It has gone down like the Titanic.

Down in Tampa Nick Scaglione one of that city's top bolita operators, was sentenced the other day to two years in the State penitentiary at Raiford for his connections with the lottery racket. A wonderful invention these two year prison sentences. There should be more of them.

Florida alligators do not ordinarily attack human beings but don't kid yourself that they never will. On the edge of a Coral Gables rockpit the other day one, six feet long, grabbed a little girl by the arm, broke two bones and nearly dragged her into the water. A big her "gator" wouldn't have given her a chance.

We don't see where some people get the idea that a preacher should keep his mouth shut on public matters. The Constitution doesn't guarantee freedom of speech to everyone except preachers; it guarantees it for everyone period. "But it is the preacher's business to preach about religion," some one is always saying. "He should keep out of politics." As such might be said for the doctor who has his business it is to practice medicine or the carpenter who is supposed to build houses, or the railroad man who runs a locomotive. If the preachers can't talk about the evils in our community, who in heaven's name can?

Complaining about the rapid turnover of employees in his store a Sanford business man told us the other day he guessed it was just one of the inevitable concomitants of the times in which we live. "There is a restlessness in the air," he said, "which makes everyone dissatisfied with the job he's got and anxious to get on to something else. A man no sooner learns where our stock is located and what the price is than he gets another job somewhere else." How well do you know! The turnover in our own place of business has been so fast we scarcely have time to shake hands with them as they pass through. Worth remembering, however, in this nervous period is "A rolling stone gathers no moss." That was said long before the Korean war.

How the Democratic Party has used the great federal lending agency, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, to make friends and influence people is beautifully illustrated in the investigation now being conducted by the Senate into the operations of William M. Boyer Jr., the Democratic National Chairman. Mr. Boyer was a former attorney and a former member of the Senate. He had been a member of the Senate for many years and had been a member of the Senate for many years. He had been a member of the Senate for many years and had been a member of the Senate for many years.

The Guided Missile

Guided missiles are now a practical reality and the government has announced that a combat unit trained to use these new weapons will soon be formed. Pictures of some of the missiles in flight show them to be similar in size and design to some of the smaller fighter planes. They are presumed to be limited in range, and at least the present ones may be used primarily to support ground troops at the front.

A guided missile is equipped with radar and radio controls with which it can be directed to a target where it can be exploded either on contact or later by remote control or time devices. At present the missile travels at a speed slow enough to make it vulnerable to interceptor planes, but greater speed and range may be later developments.

It is hinted that this "flying bomb" is so built that an atomic charge could be carried by it and exploded over any target within range. The idea of a pilotless plane flying to a city with a cargo of atomic death is especially frightening.

The world is divided into two camps, each racing desperately for the weapons of destruction which would bring superiority. We are fortunate that our technical knowledge and resources are such that we can continue to lead the Communists. A few years ago the idea of the guided missile seemed fantastic; now it may become a valuable addition to the arsenal of weapons on the strength of which we hope to preserve the democratic way of life.

Return From Sheba

American explorers have returned from what they believe to be the ancient land of Sheba with exciting stories of what they found there. Their trip into southern Arabia rivaled any fiction story for adventure. The party was greeted and held prisoner overnight by a fierce tribe of warriors whose faces were covered with a primitive blue paint. A day later the travelers were released to pursue their exploration.

Imam Ahmed, who now wields authority over the lands which might once have been the domain of the famous queen, is something of an enlightened monarch. He still rules the kingdom of Yemen with absolute power of life or death, but he is described by the American explorers as quick-witted and intelligent, and his kingdom is represented in the United Nations.

Evidence of ancient dams used for irrigation purposes and of alabaster columns of temples and places have been discovered by the expedition, which will return to the site of the ruins next year for extensive excavation. The archaeological data hope to piece together more details about the queen who figured so prominently in the life of King Solomon. Many centuries after her death her kingdom went to ruin and its glory never returned. Perhaps it remains for the party of Americans to unearth vestiges of the life that made Sheba famous in Biblical times.

Marshall And "Ike"

The World War II careers of Gen. George C. Marshall and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower might have been transposed. Marshall was the first choice of President Roosevelt and Winston Churchill to head the Allied forces in Europe. Less spectacular, but possibly even more important, was the post of chief of staff in Washington, directing all war activities, not only in Europe but all over the world. Marshall was thought to have a grip over this vast field which even Eisenhower could not match. President Roosevelt is quoted as saying, "I couldn't sleep nights with George out of the country." So Marshall got the Washington job, and Eisenhower the European one. Considering the results, no one can call this decision wrong.

Had the two posts been exchanged, it is conceivable that there might have been the clamor for Marshall for president that has arisen in the case of Eisenhower. There would have been obstacles in General Marshall's age and reluctance. When he announced early, "I could not be drafted for any purely political post," his words carried conviction, even to the most persistent backer of presidential possibilities. Marshall has since been able to do his work without personal political postering, a distinct advantage in the two cabinet posts he has held.

After Eight Years Boyle Finds Need Of Two Pants Suit

By HAL BOYLE
 NEW YORK—(AP)—Confessions of a columnist:
 They say a man ought to rear back every few years and take a look at his life—just to see if he's learned anything or is headed anywhere.
 It is my turn to do that today. I have just finished eight years in the same old chair—writing a daily newspaper column.

That is the longest I have spent at one task since a successful eight-year hitch I served in grammar school, some time ago.

The thing I have found a man needs most to be a columnist is a two-pants suit. I don't know of any industry that, over a period of years, requires so much conscientious sitting-down. Most of your mental traveling is done in a chair.

A second essential a wise columnist acquires as soon as possible is a thoughtful expression—a good, very, look of wisdom. After eight years of steady effort I still can't report complete success in this direction. Copy boys, passing my desk, nudge each other and ask: "Is he thinking or sleeping?"

The third thing a columnist needs to try for is an open mind. The ability always to see fresh words and patterns new in the business world. This is the only real secret in columnism.

The secrets of the job have been completely unlearned. I had the idea eight years ago that a columnist spent his mornings giving out advice to the public. I had the idea eight years ago that a columnist spent his mornings giving out advice to the public. I had the idea eight years ago that a columnist spent his mornings giving out advice to the public.

"DIAMONDS ON THE DOORSTEP"

Marine Recruiter Is At Post Office

Staff Sgt. John Gale, local Marine recruiter, will be at the Post Office from 10 A.M. to 6:00 P.M. during the remaining Monday of this month.

The Marine Corp's recruiting quota for September in Florida is now unlimited. The previous quota for this month had been set at 43, but under a recent directive Florida Marine recruiters were given permission to exceed their monthly quota.

He has given me a deep faith in the worth of people generally. It has wiped cynicism from my being and made me an humble optimist. The letters I get from readers would do that even if I never got to meet the people themselves. They have taught me there is more hope for mankind than there is for rocks and stones, and pollywogs and flowers.

The biggest danger a columnist faces, I think, is the danger of feeling he has an audience, large or small. But anytime he feels that way, if he just goes and looks at himself in the mirror, the feeling ought to pass away and be replaced by a belly laugh.

The prayer of most columnists is to make their deadline every day. But I think another good silent prayer might go something like this:

"Dear Lord, please don't let me get pontifical. Keep me from taking the easy way out and writing to please people's prejudices. Let me gain again the wisdom of a child, and keep what mind I have open and free." Well, now let's see what the next eight years will bring.

The United States uses about two-thirds of the world's production of oysters.

Former Sanford Man, In Dallas News Story, Remembers Old Days

One of Sanford's former citizens, George S. Peabody, 63, a member of the legal firm of Mattay, Hill and Peabody, Dallas, Texas, was the subject of a full column feature story, "Methodist Rosary Goes Back Home" in a recent issue of the Dallas News.

Written by Kenneth Foree, the story tells of a rosary presented 55 years ago in Sanford to the Peabody family, Methodists, by a Spanish appearing woman whom Mr. Peabody, then a boy, and his mother had befriended during her illness. The family treasured it for many years, and the mother willed it to Mr. Peabody.

He was later united with a long lost son after 32 years. The son, Edward Smith Peabody of New Orleans, had a wife of French descent, and two children. The latter had followed his wife into the Catholic Church.

"And so the rosary," wrote Mr. Foree, "carved possibly centuries ago by some Basque shepherd with time on his hands and pity in his heart and given by a poor but noble foreign woman to a Methodist Dorcas who went about doing good, then coming in law down to a Mason—went back to where its maker intended."

At the time that George Peabody befriended the Spanish woman in Sanford he was eight years old. Daily he and his mother took brood to the laborer's house near the railroad shops where the laborer's wife's mother lay sick. The elderly woman recovered. "She could buy nothing. So she wanted to give what she held dearest, her finest possession, her rosary."

Mr. Peabody was one of a family with 11 children and "his tall bearded father, Maj. E. W. Peabody, was a traveling correspondent of the Jacksonville Times Union."

In a recent letter to The Herald Mr. Peabody stated: "My father and mother are both buried in Sanford. I have not been back since 1909, but W. A. (Bill) Lefler and Dean Turner, and the Higgins family that live in my old homeplace at the corner of Oak Avenue at Tenth Street will remember me as well as others of the old group who have yielded to the 'furriners' who have come in since that time."

"My memory goes back to 'The Gate City Chronicle,' edited by T. J. Appoyard, and to the stalwarts of the days of the Spanish American War and the turn of the century," he wrote.

Too Late To Classify
 By RUSSELL KAY

Something is happening to Florida. It is developing a streamlined summer figure it never had before. The old so-called "summer slump" seems to be a thing of the past.

Now that the summer of 1951 is about over we can take stock, count out change, so to speak, and see where we stand. Thanks to the effective prosecution of railroads, hotels, the State Chamber of Commerce, State Advertising Commission, travel agencies and bus and air lines, we have just concluded the most successful summer from a tourist standpoint in the state's history.

While it may not have brought prosperity and increased business in all areas, in those favorably situated to attract tourist trade it has been amazingly successful.

Miami used to lie down and play dead during the summer months. I can recall when just about all establishments on the beach and a large percentage in the city proper would fold up all summer.

Enterprise, advertising and effort have changed the picture. Now it is difficult to tell the difference between summer and winter in some resorts.

Packaged vacations have brought thousands to Florida from all sections of the country. Clerks, stenographers, mechanics and others who up to a few years ago considered Florida as only a dream to a large percentage in the city proper would fold up all summer.

One might expect a race track to enjoy patronage during the racing season, but Hialeah can draw crowds whether the horses are running or not and a recent report from Everett Clay, public relations director, shows that 40 percent more visitors inspected the track this year during the months of June, July and August than did a year ago. The average for the three month period was over 3,000 daily. They mailed over a half million post cards to friends and relatives throughout the nation.

More folks took advantage of the National Automobile "Biggy Bank" vacations this summer than ever before. Packaged vacations for the airlines this summer were up to 26 percent over last year.

Hotel operators report summer business up anywhere from 5 to 25 percent over last year, in some cases being only a little below their normal winter business.

Another factor that has helped the Miami situation has been the "Miami Invasion" by the number of summer visitors from Cuba and South America. So many Latins have invaded Miami and Miami Beach that most hotels now require that their clerks and staffs speak Spanish as well as English.

But this improved summer situation does not apply to the Miami area alone—it is reflected in many other sections. Attractions such as Silver Springs, Marineland, Cypress Gardens and other all report a record-amazing summer patronage this year.

The old belief that because Florida is located further South than any other state it must necessarily be much hotter in summer is being dispelled, and reports of those who have visited this state in the summer are resulting in more and more folks coming to find out for themselves.

The Florida State Chamber of Commerce puts the approximate number of Florida summer visitors at 1,175,000 and some travel agencies and observers at tourist attractions and resorts put this as a low figure.

Nassau, Havana and even Puerto Rico are benefiting by this steadily increasing Florida tourist travel, for many who visit Florida and learn of the low rates for short trips to offshore areas, take advantage of it and visit them as well.

Following up its survey of winter travel, the University of Miami has conducted a survey of summer tourists, to find out where they came from, why they came and what their reactions are. Results of this survey will be available soon and should prove of genuine interest.

Because of differences in elevation, New Mexico has climates comparable to the lower Hudson Bay Area and to that of New Orleans.

Friends of Mrs. Vivian Speer and Miss Mildred Bridges will regret to learn that they continue to be confined to the Speer home at 518 Park Avenue as the result of an automobile accident which occurred several weeks ago.

"I've done shower and swimming scenes, but never a bath."

"Then this is history," I suggested.

"Apparently," she yawned.

More aware of the significance of the event was the director, Frank Tashlin. He intimated the scene will go down in film annals along with such noted baths as Jean Harlow's in a barrel in "Red Dust" and Claudette Colbert's splash in the milk for "Sign of the Cross."

"It's not so much the bath that creates attention. It's what's in the tub," Tashlin remarked in the understatement of the week. "We shot a test of Jane for the picture and the results were sensational. When we ran the rushes, the projection room was packed."

With an eye to the scientific aspects of the scene, I conferred with special effects man Leo Vasque.

"We're using the standard tub," he announced proudly, referring to the wooden vat which Paul's used in "Unconquered." "It's on loan-out from Cecil B. DeMille."

Vasque explained that a special heater had been set up on the stage to provide the proper temperature for Miss Russell's ablutions (high-toned synonym for bath). Hot and cold tubes fed into the tub, as well as an air hose to create a suds. Two whole loaves of soap flakes were used. The tub had been filled all day to warm up the stubborn wood.

Enough of science? I asked Vasque if he had done other bath scenes. "No," he replied, "I usually work in explosives." (There must be a joke here, but I don't have time to explore it.)

The great moment was arriving. Miss Russell's stand-in, who had been sitting in the tub with a bored expression and a bathing suit, finished her chore of having the lights focused on her.

Miss Russell arrived on the set, wearing a red robe and blue ribbons in her hair. She inquired about the temperature of the water. "I want it hotly, hotly, hotly lukewarm," she instructed. "Last time, it was so hot I almost passed out."

The details finished, she disrobed and exhibited a flesh-colored, strapless bathing suit. As she stepped into the suds, Bob

Georgia Meets George Washington Squad In Puzzle Solver Saturday

ATHENS, Ga., Sept. 19—(AP)—In the darkness of Athens Saturday night, a little light will be thrown on the Georgia football team—darkhorse of the Southeast.

Georgia meets George Washington in a game which will give Southeastern Conference fans answers to a few of the puzzles they've asked since Georgia garbled its 1950 football season with six victories, two defeats and three ties, each of which was supposed to have been a Georgia victory.

If Georgia fails to win in the manner anticipated—by from three to four touchdowns—coaches will say they were right last year in picking Georgia as just another ball team and not a particularly good one at that.

If Georgia wins by three, coaches will be proved right in their summer estimate which boosted Georgia into the darkhorse department. If Georgia makes it a big runaway, Dixie fans will know that Georgia belongs in the high class company of Tennessee, Alabama and Kentucky.

In three weeks of full practice Georgia has looked good at times and poor at others, and has often been unlucky. Injuries will keep four important cogs from grinding for Georgia. Tackle Dick Steele is out for several weeks, guard Hocco Principe is out indefinitely, back Claude Hines has a broken hand, and guard Jeff Burgen's bruised knee will keep him out of Saturday's game.

Tackle Marion Campbell, practically an All-Southerner for the season, will play part time while he recovers from a knee operation.

Most minor breaks and abrasions are being treated snugly enough or are cured entirely. With three days to go before kickoff, Georgia's fast team look good at all backfield positions, including linebackers. The Bulldogs are thin in reserves but strong in first string strength at end and guard, but are not too strong at center.

Zeke Bratkowski will open at quarterback with Coach Hinkle's first string quarterback playing mostly at left half. Billy Grant will be first substitute at play calling.

Last year Georgia Washington won five and lost four, a better record against good opposition than the Colonials were supposed to show. The schedule this season does not include a collection of poor colleges.

Tom Hall with George Washington is Andy Davis a triple threat of the old school who fits neatly into coach Ho Rowland's single wing attack. That single wing varies only when Rowland has specialized personnel to bring out a few spread or "T" plays.

Georgia Washington's team is veteran on defense, but fairly green on running and passing plays. It is precisely the kind to show up Georgia weaknesses.

The following week Georgia goes to Chapel Hill to meet North Carolina, one of the top single wingers. What weaknesses Georgia finds and corrects against Georgia Washington will be just that much ground gained early in a rough tough schedule.

Offensive Battle Seen At Mustang Ga. Tech Meeting

ATLANTA, Sept. 19—(Special)—An all-out offensive battle is expected Saturday at Grant Field when Southern Methodist University invades Atlanta to meet Georgia Tech in the season opener for both teams.

The Mustangs, famous for their wide open style of football, will have in the van Fred Benner, one of the Nation's outstanding passers, Benner, who gained over 1,000 yards throwing last season despite the fact that he played only 106 minutes, losses from 50 to 40 aerials per game.

Meanwhile, Bobby Dodd's Yellow Jackets look to a host of running backs and the improved play of quarterback Darrell Crawford for their punch. Leon Hardeman, Johnny Hicks, George Malloff, Art Ross and Dick Gandy are all capable runners as are Glenn Turner and Chappell Rhno, due to miss the opener because of injuries.

Crawford, senior from Kingsport, Tenn., has been the most impressive Jacket in early Fall practice. He has been Tech's regular quarterback since directing a 30-13 victory over Tennessee in 1949.

Playing in the backfield for Tech will be quarterback Crawford, Hardeman at left half, Hicks at right half and Maloff at full. Up front, Ray Beck and Herman Campbell man the nose. Hal Miller and Lum Sawyer, the tackle, Dick Maybin and Pete Ferris fill the ends and other George Morris or Pete Brown the offensive center spot. On the defense, Benner, Joe N. Russell, Jr., Henry Burden, Frank and Bill Furrows along with Benner for heavy offensive backfield duty, Dick Hightower, Al-Amarina, Cassidy, anchors the Mustang line at center.

The Jackets will be leading to

Olympics Head Asks Football Abuses Reform

Decline Of Amateurism Blamed On Top College Leadership

CHICAGO, Sept. 19—(AP)—Avery Brundage, uncompromising spokesman for amateurism in athletics, called today on American colleges to reform their football program in order to save the sport.

"Responsibility for the evils of football can be laid squarely on the doorsteps of the top level college administrative authorities, and not on the athletic departments," said Brundage. "It is their responsibility to correct the situation and prevent it from becoming a national scandal."

The reform Brundage proposes is simple: "College athletic departments should be put on a par with the academic departments," he said. "We got into our present difficulty because our colleges followed the medieval notion that only the mind counts. They scorned the body. They also scorned the athletic departments."

"So college presidents and faculties paid no heed to the mad merry-go-round that football created—rich inducements to players, heavier demands on coaches, bigger and more expensive public departments, bigger and better stadiums. The colleges did pay heed, however, to the money that football produced."

"What we have now is the natural result of putting the emphasis on dollars and publicity. In fact, the athletic departments have done a highly successful job of getting both."

"Abuses overlooked or tolerated in football are spreading to other clean and healthy sports and games and poisoning our entire amateur program."

"The way to stop this is to go back to the ancient Greek ideal which puts equal emphasis on developing the body along with the mind—which makes sport fun instead of a commercial end in itself."

Brundage has been president of the U. S. Olympic Association since 1928 and is International Olympic Committee Vice-President as well. He is so concerned to set the record straight on amateurism that he has started to write a book about it in an interview.

"The universities have no reason for being in the entertainment business but if they decide that they should be, then they should openly pay their players and not swindle their students by taking advantage of their college loyalty."

If they use students for profits and publicity they should pay them.

In other words, take the pressure off the coaches, let the boys play football for fun, and let the whole college sports program become a part of developing well-rounded individuals and the present high pressure situation can be cured.

GRAZIANO BOXES JANIRO
DETROIT, Sept. 19—(AP)—Rocky Graziano's superior punching power makes him an 8-to-5 favorite in his scheduled 10-round middleweight bout tonight with Tony Janiro of Youngstown, O.

Both fighters will be bidding for one of boxing's best "money shots"—a crack at Sugar Ray Robinson's 160-pound crown. The winner stands a good chance of gaining an engagement in February with Sugar Ray, the ring's hottest box office attraction.

About 50 hours of hand labor are now required to produce an acre of peanuts.

UNCLE SAM'S NEMESIS - By Alan Mavor

Some members of the Hunt Mercury champion city softball team gather in front of McClung's for a preview of the trophy they will hold as a permanent honor. McClung provided the trophy. Tommy Stringer, city recreation director, presented the trophy in a formal ceremony at the dinner held for team members at the Twilight Grill last night. Also present were Willie Hunt and Hunt Mercury Service Manager Dave Miller. Pictured above from left to right are: Stringer; team members Chuck Flanders, Fred Arson, Hubert Bagwell, and Henry Fredericks; Joe McClung holds the trophy. Other team members are Earl Evans, Carl Von Herbulis and George Swann.

College Bound Rookies Ends In Major Leagues

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 19—(AP)—Dick Smith, 21-year-old Pittsburgh Pirate rookie third baseman, had packed his duds for college but instead wound up in a major league uniform.

Smith, a wiry 160-pounder, wrote General Manager Branch Riskey he wanted to finish his college course. He asked for permission to skip the Pirates' training session for rookies at Deland, Fla., next month.

Riskey replied: "Permission granted but stop over at Forbes Field on your way home for a few days."

That was less than a week ago.

Two Years to Build An Atomic Submarine West Germany Trading 12 Division for Sovereignty

WASHINGTON—The nation's military and political leaders are convinced that Russia will not start World War III in order to stop the treatment of Western Germany. Because of this belief they are speeding up the timetable for placing German infantry and armored divisions into the anti-Communist European defense setup. The new timetable is scheduled to go into effect as soon as the Japanese peace treaty conference in San Francisco is out of the way. The aim is to have the Bonn government admitted to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization before the 1962 presidential election, a prospect that appeals strongly to the White House.

The first step will be to grant Western Germany a large measure of sovereignty on a "contractual" basis, so rearmament need not wait for a peace treaty to be signed. The Bonn government has demanded a certain amount of sovereignty with which to strengthen its position in post-war Germany in return for 12 divisions for General Eisenhower's army.

All this recalls what Eisenhower remarked when the North Atlantic pact first came into being. He said, referring to the German attitude at that time, that he did not want any "unwilling soldiers" and the Germans are no longer "unwilling," and the Western powers are not unwilling to accept them as allies in the fight against Communism.

ATOMIC SUB Despite the Navy's recent announcement that it has placed an order for an atomic submarine, atomic transportation for civilians is still around many a corner. The most optimistic experts believe it will be 20 or 30 years before nuclear fission replaces gasoline in your car.

A long period of unthreatened world peace would speed up this schedule.

At any rate, the fact that the submarine order has been placed indicates top officials are convinced atomic transportation is feasible. Other types of atomic vessels or vehicles are sure to be produced eventually, with atomic-propelled warships and aircraft first on the agenda.

However, it will take at least two years to build the sub and five to 10 years more to develop any other kind of nuclear-powered transportation.

MORE SNAKEBITE One of the most important by-products of the current defense effort as far as Washington government girls are concerned is the increased supply of second lieutenants and ensigns. Despite their comparatively low service pay, these officers have much to commend them—youth and marital eligibility.

The advantages are coming thick and fast out of Army and Marine officer candidate schools. The ensigns are being commissioned in greater numbers than among the Navy's reserves in colleges.

To the government girls who outnumber eligible males in Washington, this means more dates and, to repeat, higher morale.

THE REVENUE Officials of the Bureau of Internal Revenue are highly indignant over published reports that more illegal liquor is being sold today than during prohibition and that there is more bootlegging activity than ever. The reports are "fantastic," they say. To prove their point, they produce a column of figures showing that bootleg activity is actually only a trickle of what it was in the days of the Volstead Act.

They say that virtually all the illegal traffic is confined to the 11 southeastern states, large portions of which are legally "dry." They admit, though, that there is a minor problem on the eastern seaboard due to the operations of one sort of gang.

But the Internal Revenue men insist that the high national income tax, unemployment and the large volume of low-priced but legal whiskey make large scale bootlegging unprofitable.

Greece, Turkey Are Expected In Alliance

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
OTTAWA, Sept. 19—(AP)—The last obstacle to an Atlantic Council recommendation that Greece and Turkey be brought into the North Atlantic Treaty apparently was swept today by a Danish government decision to vote for such action.

Military leaders of the Atlantic Alliance were reported already at work on plans to set up a new NATO Middle East Command centered on Turkey but designed to create a common strategy for Communist forces throughout that area of the world.

These plans, it was learned, were tentatively shaped up by the top-level standing group of the NATO military committee. The central idea of a Middle East Command, separate from General Dwight D. Eisenhower's Western European defense structure, is understood to have gotten the backing of the United States joint chiefs of staff.

Of the 12 nations in the Atlantic Alliance, 10 had declared Monday and Tuesday their support for an American proposal to extend the alliance into the Middle East, although there were various criticisms of the project. An 11th country, Norway, is expected but not clear that it alone would not stand in the way of the required unanimous vote.

That left Foreign Minister Ole Bjorn Kraff of Denmark in the position of blocking final action, since his government was opposed to the proposition. In the light of the overwhelming majority lineup, he asked new instructions.

Press dispatches from Copenhagen said today the Danish government has decided to accept Greek-Turkish membership. Up to noon Kraff had not received his formal cabinet instructions but expected he probably would get them in time for action of the membership question at this afternoon's council session.

 expansion of both the facilities and personnel would be required. The expansion of the former was completed early this year when the building was occupied and the present spacious and beautiful quarters at 119 West First Street in Sanford. We are now matching this expansion of facilities by expansion of personnel at the top level.

"We feel that we are extremely fortunate to obtain the services of Mr. Touhy for this position. He has been a resident of Sanford for the past seven years and during the last four years of that time has served as a director of the Association. He therefore brings to his new position an experience of both the community and the Association. He has been active in civic affairs, having served as Director of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, Director and President of the Local Tuberculosis Association, Finance Chairman for Boy Scouts, Mr. Touhy was President of the Sanford Rotary Club during the year 1949-50. He is a member and Deacon of the First Presbyterian Church.

"Mr. Touhy comes to us from Florida Fashions, Inc., where he has held the position of Personnel and Public Relations Director. The recognition of this new milestone in the growth of the Association would not be complete without acknowledgment of the outstanding services rendered by our Secretary, Rosemond Chapman, who has served in that capacity for the past six years. During those years the Association underwent enormous growth, and it is a credit to Mrs. Chapman's ability and industry that she has conducted the management of the office in addition to her duties as Secretary during this period.

 as political advisers, as they had been to Stilwell. He said they served under him for "only a few months."

"If I had followed some of the advice in their reports, I would not have been carrying on my objective or policy of government," he said.

Wedemeyer testified that Gen. Douglas MacArthur (D-Miss.) had said the policies advocated by political advisers were not sound.

Wedemeyer replied, "He said there was much to be criticized."

 manager of the Yowell Company. He was born in Valdosta, Ga., and came here with his family in 1929, attended local schools and graduated from Seminole High School in 1928, following which he was employed at Yowell's.

For the past five years he has been active in the Chamber of Commerce and has served on a number of committees. He is a member of the First Baptist Church, The Hall family live at 819 East Twentieth Street and include two boys, one four, the other four months old. In the way of hobbies, Mr. Hall professes fishing and hunting.

He announced this morning that a number of committees will be appointed during the next day or two to work in securing applications for the position of manager, a vacancy created by the recent resignation of Ed Whitney. These recommendations will then be brought before the directors.

Among those present at the meeting were Charles E. Bishop, Frank Evans, G. W. Spencer, Homer Gleason, Earl Higgins, William J. Douglas, Strout, James I. Taylor, Andrew Caraway, Senator Lloyd F. Boyd, John Lee, Al Lee, Clifford McKelvey, Roy Britt, W. V. Billie, Roland Dean, Henry Simpson, Randall Jones, B. F. Wheeler, Dr. J. W. Evans, H. A. Wilcott, Earl Vaughan, G. W. Tim Crawford was elected president of the Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce at a special meeting of the board of directors last night at the Tourist Information Booth. He succeeds John Kuder who resigned last week to run for city commissioner.

Boyle Inquiry

 inquiry, Willett said. He was not asked immediately for further details, but Senator Nixon (R-Calif.), a subcommittee member, demanded a check on whether either Boyle or Max Skid, Boyle's former law partner, represent any of these firms now.

The Senate investigation already has churned up a grade-A political fire. Republican members of a subcommittee conducting the inquiry protested that Senator McFarland, Democratic floor leader, was trying to "hamstring" their work.

Next in the witness line is Merl Young, one-time White House frequenter, whom a Senate Banking Committee named last spring as a key figure in "a web of influence" extending from the White House to the RFC. Young may not get to the stand today.

An $8,450 pastel milk coat worn by Mrs. Young, until recently a White House stenographer, became an issue in the prior inquiry. Testimony was that a Washington lawyer for RFC borrowers had loaned Young the money to purchase the coat.

Eastland asked if that were not true also of the Communist regime then operating in North China. Wedemeyer replied, "It was not so to the same extent, adding the Communist government was on a smaller scale and there was less opportunity for 'queens' or graft."

"But these advisers wanted to favor the Communists over the Nationalists?" Eastland perked. Wedemeyer replied that was "implicit" in their reports. He said he did not recall receiving any written report from Emerson but that he received both written and oral reports from his other three State Department advisers.

Gov. Warren

 line traced by the master plan. To Pearce it was a new experience.

But for Governor Warren and Keyes the old story. Last year they had signed some 28,000 bonds in similar fashion in connection with some other bridge bond issues. At that time, however, they could sign only 12 bonds at one time. Now it was 18.

"Wouldn't it be wonderful if someone would invent a similar gadget whereby one person could shake 18 bonds with 18 persons simultaneously?" the Governor said. "It would make campaigning easy."

At first the state officials found the "writing without writing" a bit unusual but soon they swung into the feel of things and proceeded at a merry pace. As soon as one batch left the Governor's table it went to Keyes and then to Pearce. At the end of a half hour they had signed about 5,000 bonds.

They did not plan to complete the task today. They have until Friday when the formal delivery and payment of money actually will take place.

The Governor said he hoped to attend a session of the American Bar Association meeting here and talk with interested people about promotion of Florida tourist trade.

After completing the bond transfer ceremonies on Friday, the Florida group plans to go to Pennsylvania to talk about turnpikes with the Turpike Commission of that state.

The Governor said Florida is contemplating construction of a turnpike to run from Jacksonville to Miami and wanted to get as much information as he could from people who had the benefit of actual experience of such work.

buy it. Senator Nixon (R-Calif.), a subcommittee member, told a reporter he wanted to explore the story of a 1948 campaign tour Young had said he made in the interests of President Truman.

Young told a Senate Banking Subcommittee last spring the Lusitron Corp. defunct fabricated housing firm which defrauded on $84,000,000 of RFC loans, paid for the trip.

British Election

 margin now is six votes in the 625-member House of Commons. It was a tough job to turn back the concerted attack of 77-year-old Churchill.

Attlee, now 68, decided it would be better to risk an election now than later, with the prospects that conditions in Britain might get worse instead of better. Moreover, he has a split in his Labor party led by left-winger Aneurin Bevan, who has resigned as Labor Minister, charging that the Socialist program of which he was one of the chief architects was being wrecked by Attlee's rearmament policies.

In his address, Attlee told the nation tonight: "For 18 months the government has carried on the affairs of the country with a very small majority in the House of Commons. I consider that the time has now come to ask the electors for a renewal of confidence in the government and to give it adequate parliamentary support in order to deal with the important issues with which the country is faced at home and abroad."

Immediately on hearing the news, Churchill prepared to call his "shadow cabinet" into session to chart his campaign. There are the men who would be his cabinet in the event of a Conservative victory at the polls.

Leaders of the Liberal Party also prepared for meetings. With the worst winter since 1917 in prospect for Britain, the Attlee decision appeared to be a difficult one, particularly in view of recent public opinion polls showing the Conservatives gaining in popularity. But some Labor party leaders believe living costs and conditions generally will be eased this fall than next spring.

 today. If you don't answer those questions, I warn you I will sentence you to the limit of the law. If you do it you have to put in jail. Alternately shouting and out-berating, Gross accused the judge of having kept him in "solitary confinement as a material witness."

"You're sure a very honorable man," Gross sneered at the judge. "Trash—trash," Lellowitz shouted back. "This man is spilling nothing but trash. If he hadn't been pampered so much, this wouldn't have happened." The judge added that he had nothing to do with police guards that have kept Gross in protective custody.

"It took 20 months to build this case," the judge said, "and I'm not going to see it go to in smoke now." "It's taken 20 years off my life," Gross snarled. "I'm not going to see it go to in smoke now."

The judge, perfunctory-looking, claimed he had been kept by police in rooms with lights on 23 out of 24 hours a day, that he prostrate, money had lost its value and the public had lost confidence in the government. There were many disputes between the states, he declared.

The convention met at Independence Hall, Philadelphia, May 25, 1787. Among those present was Benjamin Franklin, 81, James Madison, 35 and Alexander-Hamilton, 30.

Some delegates were indifferent, some enthusiastic, said Mr. Miller. Out of 72 delegates invited to attend only 39 were present when the document was finished. Rhode Island did not send a delegate and any family as soon as the President George Washington, sick and broke, hesitated about attending the convention and when he did it took him four days to go from Mt. Vernon to Philadelphia. He was elected the presiding officer, and at the opening of the convention only nine states were represented.

The Constitution, in spite of close votes in many states, was ratified, June 21, 1788 and the government was organized April 30, 1789. Mr. Miller stated that the U. S. Constitution is as near a perfect political document as possible and has been amended only 22 times since 1789.

He quoted the late President Coolidge as saying, "To live under a perfect political document as possible and has been amended only 22 times since 1789. It is the greatest privilege that was ever accorded any part of the human race."

K. Giff Lovell Kiwanians to attend the meeting of Boy Scout Troop No. 5 at the Presbyterian Church tomorrow night. Among the guests were Charles Stewart, Orlando, Robert Kilpatrick of the Key Club and Frank Tonder of the Sanford Naval Auxiliary Air Station.

had not been supplied with adequate toilet articles. Gross, whose abrupt halt in testimony yesterday threatened to wreck the graft trial of 18 present or former publicists, had relented after a recess, and agreed to resume his testimony today.

But when the trial resumed, he announced resolutely: "I will not answer questions, now or later." The gambler's sudden silence yesterday came after he already had told of a police-chamber agent in a bookmaking parlor that split in a $50,000,000 annual business.

 hour to get the talks underway the same day, if that is what they want.

Swift Allied jets shot down one Russian-type MIG-15 jet and damaged five in three swirling air battles over northwest Korea today.

At least 112 jets engaged in fights flashing from 30,000 feet down to tree top level. These were the first jet fights in five days. Heavy weather had curtailed jet activity.

The field commander of United Nations forces in Korea today named the silver star on AP War Correspondent John Randolph for heroic action. Randolph carried wounded to safety Apr. 23 during a wild, four-hour battle.

Gen. James A. Van Fleet bestowed the award on the 62-year-old newsmen in front of 100 correspondents. He told them: "The press is part of the United Nations army in Korea. We are honored at having you as members of this command. I know that this gallant incident was one of many in which correspondents have distinguished themselves. The list is very long."

Randolph's action, in disregard of his own safety while with a cut-off American battalion, was first brought to public attention by the battalion commander, Randolph had passed over it lightly in his dispatch.

Today he was given, along with the medal, a citation autographed by President Truman concluding: "The courageous and aggressive action taken by Mr. Randolph reflects great credit upon himself and the United States army."

"This is a very great honor," Randolph told Van Fleet. "It is altogether too much for anything I did. It was a real privilege to be with the infantry in that action—the greatest privilege in my life."

Committee Issues Tax Increase Bill

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19—(AP)—The Senate Finance Committee today reported its new tax increase bill which would yield an estimated $5,500,000,000 a year.

This estimate, prepared by the group's staff of experts, was well under the $6,000,000,000 estimate given earlier to newsmen by Chairman George D. Goetz.

The $5,500,000,000 figure was contained in the committee's formal report distributed to Senators shortly before the Senate was scheduled to begin debate on the measure. Floor consideration may start late today or tomorrow.

The report said that the 13 members of the committee believe the limit has about been reached on increases in income taxes both from individuals and corporations.

It pointed out that a 1950 revenue set hiked rates on all taxpayers by $6,100,000,000 annually after the Korean War broke out. Then an excess profits tax boost was voted late in the year. This increased revenues by $3,900,000,000 annually.

These two measures, combined with the pending bill, would mean a hike in Federal revenues of more than $15,000,000,000 in a little more than a year. "Never before has so much additional revenue been raised in so short a period of time," the report declared.

Despite this, Senator Humphrey (D-Minn.) said today he and other Senators will try to raise the proposed tax hike to at least $7,000,000,000 a year.

Air Station

 the facilities of the Station is the arrival of three crash boats. These boats, moored on Lake Monroe, will be used to pick up pilots making crash landings in the water. C. M. Whitten, a former lieutenant of the City of Sanford Fire Department, has been employed as station fire chief. It is expected that selection of other members of the Civilian Structural Fire Branch will be completed within the next two weeks. All selections are being made from registers established by the U. S. Board of Civil Service Examiners.

Chaplain Matthew John Bou-tre extended an invitation to all citizens of Sanford and vicinity to attend worship services held each Sunday morning at 10:00 o'clock in the chapel recently dedicated in the former Waves barracks. Interest in the services on the part of Navy personnel is reported to be increasing.

Tennessee Fire Cost Is Set At $600,000

HUMPHREYS, Tenn., Sept. 19—(AP)—One of the worst fires in West Tennessee's history caused an estimated damage of more than $600,000 last night.

The spectacular blaze destroyed the Gulf, Mobilis and Ohio Railroad's fruit packing shed and damaged 12 other buildings, including a two-story warehouse.

Fire Chief Ivan Grace said the flames, raged out of control for more than two hours. His volunteer fire department was assisted by firefighters from Jackson, Milan, Trenton and Bell.

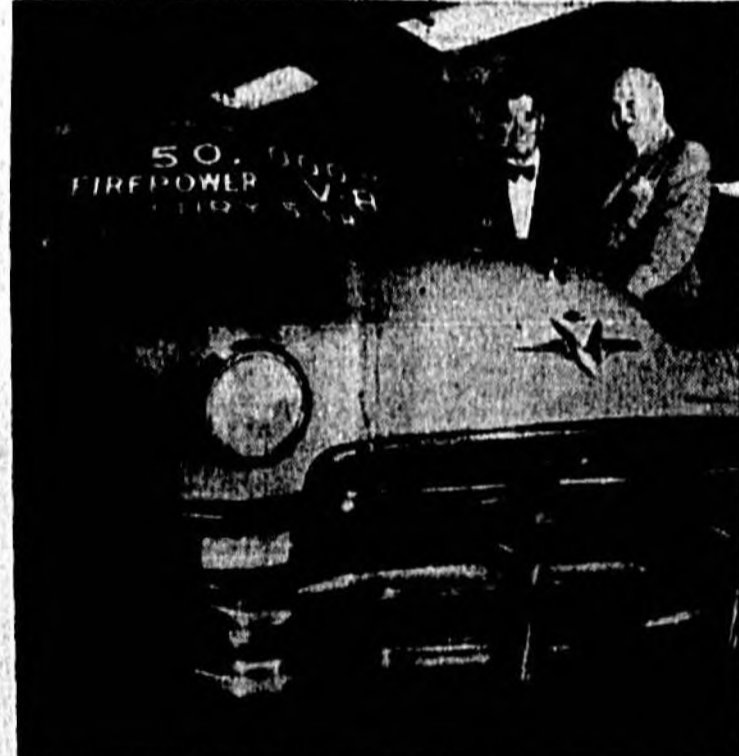

Grace said that the origin of the blaze was undetermined. But he reported that four small children had been playing under the shed shortly before the blaze was discovered.

He gets a picture of the weather by Long Distance

Tomorrow's weather is on the wire today for the forces which guard the Nation's skies and shores.

Today the latest Long Distance network of its kind brings them detailed "telex" weather charts around the clock.

These charts are sent by a system known as "telex" from the Weather Analysis Center in Washington, D. C. There, an electric eye scans the weather "telex" as it turns on a special drum. The signal waves produced go out over thousands of miles of wire to military installations throughout the country where the picture is automatically reproduced. This weather network was designed and completed in less than two years. It's another demonstration of the importance of Long Distance lines to the country of the Nation—especially right now, when there may be stormy weather ahead.
