POSSE GATHERS TO HUNT FOR KIDNAPED BOY IN FLORIDA—Here is a general view of farmers, villagers and World War veterans gathered in the school yard at Princeton, Fla., preparatory to beginning a far-flung search for five-year-old James Bailey Cash, Jr., who was kidnaped from his home in that hamlet. The boy's father paid $10,000 ransom in vain.

HOOVER TAKES OVER IN CASH CASE—Arriving at Miami, Fla., from Washington, J. Edgar Hoover (seated), chief of the federal bureau of investigation, assumed personal charge of the feverish search for James Bailey Cash, Jr., 5, who was kidnaped from his home at Princeton, Fla., and the kidnaper. Here the boss G-man confers with E. J. Connelly, inspector from Washington who was in charge prior to Hoover's arrival.

DIVERS SEEK BODY OF 'SKEEGIE' CASH—While hundreds of volunteers, many of them armed, beat the South Florida countryside in the vicinity of Princeton for a trace of kidnaped James Bailey (Skeegie) Cash, Jr., 5, divers sought his body in Biscayne Bay. Although payment of the $10,000 ransom demanded was made promptly, the child was not returned. Here a diver prepares to descend into the bay from a cockpit.

KIDNAP CHARGE MADE IN HOBBS CASE—Police charge Mrs. Anna Legare (right), former tea room operator of North Tonawanda, N. Y., with kidnaping as they announced that golden-haired Betty Hobbs, 4, who disappeared mysteriously from North Tonawanda, was believed to be alive in Coolville, Ohio. A child identified as Betty is shown with 8-year-old Margaret Gillian at Coolville in the picture at the left. Police said Mrs. Legare claimed she had Betty's mother's permission to take the child "for a visit." This was denied by Mrs. Ellsworth Hobbs, mother of the little girl.

CASE JUIN SEARCH FOR KIDNAPED SON—In this first picture made of James Bailey Cash, Sr., since his 5-year-old son "Sheegie" was kidnaped, he is shown (indicated by arrow) with searchers at the brink of a rockpit near his Princeton, Fla., home. He was summoned to investigate what at first was thought might be the burlap-wrapped body of the missing child. The bundle turned out to be the carcass of a dog.

CLUE IN CASH KIDNAP CASE—Speculation as to the identity of the kidnaper of 5-year-old James Bailey (Skeegie) Cash, Jr., of Princeton, Fla., increased when a posse discovered a discarded convict suit in the area near the boy's home. Here George Cooper (wearing Legion cap), who headed a posse of American Legion men from Fort Lauderdale, shows Sheriff D. C. Coleman the striped uniform.

WOMAN ARRAIGNED ON KIDNAPING CHARGE—Busted Mrs. Anna Legare, 41, is shown at her arraignment in North Tonawanda, N. Y., where she pleaded not guilty to charges that she kidnapped four-year-old Betty Jane Hobbs. The little girl was found at Coolville, Ohio, after a week of searching.

IN SEIZE CARPENTER IN FLORIDA KIDNAPING—While he stood amidst a crowd being held into a posse to search for little James Bailey Cash, Jr., who was kidnaped from his home at Princeton, Fla., M. F. Braxton, a carpenter, was seized suddenly by G-men and hustled away to be held for questioning. He is shown being placed in the officers' automobile at Princeton, a few moments after he was seized. The man with full view of his back to the camera is an FBI agent.

More Air Attacks Add To Tension In European Picture

Italian-Made Airplane Again Bombs Port Of Gandia, Owned By British Interests

Czech Election Also Hot Point

Opinion Is Expressed England Will Not Take Drastic Step

Repeated aerial attacks on British shipping and British property along the eastern coast of Spain dovetailed into European discord today which promised another nerve fraying week-end.

An Italian-made insurgent seaplane again bombed Alicante, Denia and the British-owned port Gandia, dropping out of a night sky to take up "unfinished business."

The British freighter Thorpe Hall, bombed three days ago at Alicante, was struck again and sank. Gandia, recovering from an attack two days ago, was bombed once more with the destruction of a large warehouse and a small coastal schooner.

Returning to the French freighter Brisbane at Denia, still smoldering from the day old bombardment in which seven persons were killed, the "phantom raider" dropped two more bombs. The Brisbane sank in shallow water.

Czechoslovakia today prepared for the third and last of a series of communal elections Sunday, elections which already have demonstrated the solidarity of the autonomy demanding Nazis among the Sudeten German minority.

Although 60 British ships have been attacked and 88 seamen killed since the Spanish war started July 18, 1936, and despite the French willingness to co-operate in "extreme measures," there were hints that Britain would take no drastic course. Premier Musolini of Italy, and of Spanish insurgents, he offended.

In the Chinese war Canton, most bombed city in the world, had a respite after 18 successive days of Japanese aerial attacks.

Sanford Man Ordained Minister In Ceremony At Lakeland

Melvin Ware, son of County Judge R. W. Ware, was ordained minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, yesterday by the Florida Methodist conference at its annual session being held in Lakeland. Judge Ware said today Mr. Ware has been studying for the ministry at Emory University in Atlanta for the past two years and prior to matriculating at Emory had been graduated from the University of Florida, and Seminole High School.

Judge and Mrs. Ware accompanied their son to Lakeland. Also attending the session were W. P. Chapman and C. F. Branson.

Bishop Paul B. Kern told young ministers present they must study constantly if they expect laymen to look to them as leaders.

"If you don't keep your minds young, you will be dull and uninteresting preachers 10 years from now," Bishop Kern said. "The world is moving rapidly and you must keep pace with it. Make your sermons luminous, logical, and convincing.

"Become subservient to no man. Preach the Gospel as you before God see it. Vote your own convictions and don't be lazy."

"If you are a glib speaker, you face a perilous situation. If you have a ready tongue and simply stand up and open your mouth to let the Lord fill it, he will frequently fill it with nothing but air. You must study much and read widely to have something to say. Let your sermons be ham-

They're daring death from the skies, these Cantonese shown seeking the city's war dead in the debris of South China's major port, Canton, the gateway through which much of China's war supplies must pass, has been the target for relentless bombing. Canton, the increasing number of dead and wounded shown in this picture, one of the first to reach the United States, was methodically but with ears strained to catch the warning drone of the deadly air raiders of Nippon. Note the debris so much of it that the task of cleaning up staggers the imagination.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

To I am with you always, even until the end of the world.—Matt.
28:20.

THE OLD MAN'S MOTTO

"Give me a motto," said a youth
To one whom years had rendered wise;

"None pleasant thought, or
a weighty truth,
That briefest syllables comprise;

Some word of warning or of shear;

To give upon my signet here.

"And, reverend father," said the boy,

"Since life, they say, is ever made

A mingled web of grief and joy;
One care may come and pleasures fade—

Pray, let the motto have a range
Of meaning matching every change."

"Truth!" said the sire, "methinks you ask

labor something over nice,

It well a finer brain might task.

"I think you, lad, of this device

(Other than I, though I am gray),

Too simple.—This will pass away."

When wafted on by fortune's breeze,

In endless peace thou seem'st
to glide,

But ears betimes for rougher seas,
And check the boat of foolish pride;

Though smiling joy is thine to day,

Remember, 'This will pass away.'

When all the sky is draped in black,

And bidden by tempestuous
gales,

The shuddering ship seems all a-wreck, when trim again thy tattered sails;

Then grim despair be not a prey;

Thine, O son, be not o'er-grief,

Or yet cast down; Judge thou right;

As skies are clear, expect the cloud;

As darkness wait the coming light;

However by thy fate today,

Remember, 'This will pass
away.'

A Guilty Conscience

G-Men and their relatives deserve all the praise they are giving for their superb action in the Cash kidnaping case. And Franklin Pierce McCall, whether he alone was involved or there were others, deserves the full and immediate penalties of the law. It is important not alone that McCall be punished for his crime, though this alone is important enough, but it is essential that punishment be of such a nature and of such promptness as to be a clear warning to other brutal and weak-minded individuals.

It comes as something of a shock to learn that his kidnaper was no master criminal, no Public Enemy No. 1, no tool of some big organized ring of international criminals, but a native Floridian, a minister's son, who had lived in the Cash apartment, played with the Cash boy, a man apparently in his right mind, never before involved with the law, who conceived and contrived this crime, as far as is known, alone and unaided.

"The man who pulled this job was a pretty smart fellow," McCall said, as he led one of the posse in search of the child. A pretty smart fellow, indeed! Realizing the child knew him, and if released could identify him, he had promptly done away with him, carefully hidden the body. Then obtaining the ransom money, he had carefully hidden it, expecting no doubt to return for it, perhaps years later when the crime and the serial numbers had long since been forgotten.

Yes, he was a smart fellow, but he forgot that a guilty conscience is often written all over a man's face. G-Men working in the crowds and among the posse noted his peculiar behavior, his nervousness, his inclination to place the blame on someone else, his repeated references to the man who did this job. McCall could hide the body, money, other incriminating evidence, but he could not hide his own guilty conscience. He gave himself away. Like so many other wrong-doers, the lie, the cheat, the murderer shines in their eyes.

Smart fellow, was he? That's what they all think. Every man who commits a crime thinks he is smart enough to get away with it, thinks all the others who have been caught were dumb guys. Well, they were, and so was McCall. And so are all the others who think crime will solve their problems. They may cover up their tracks but their own conscience will tell the world.

The Communist Convention

At the tenth annual convention of the Communist party of the United States, held recently in New York City, more than 22,000 avowed Communists paid from 40 cents to $1.10 a seat (the economic royalists of the Communists paying the fancier prices, we suppose) to pack Madison Square Garden to overflowing. It was at this convention that a new party constitution was adopted affirming devotion to democracy and American principles of freedom.

"This is in line with the slogan that 'Communism is 20th century Americanism' and the frequent invoking of the names of Jefferson, Paine, Jackson and Lincoln," comments the New York Times. "Apparently the Communists are proceeding on the theory that the public will not stop to inquire how support of American principles of government and society are to be reconciled with devotion to the principles of Lenin and Stalin and the party's continued affiliation with the Communist International, likewise embodied in the new constitution.

Capping the performance were the messages of loyalty addressed by the convention to Stalin and Dimitrov, the latter secretary of the Communist International. Here the Russian Communist party was hailed as a "brother party" and Stalin as the great leader pointing the way to a "Soviet America." The message to Dimitrov assured him that it was at the seventh congress of the Communist International (August, 1935), that the American Communists learned how victory was to be achieved.

"What, precisely, did the American Communists learn from that congress? That was the congress at which the Communists initiated their romance with democracy. The exigencies of the moment, marked by the growth of fascism and its threat to the Communist dictatorship in Russia, required the temporary co-operation of what was called 'the remnants of bourgeois democracy' in the Western countries. It was at that congress that Dimitrov spoke of the Trojan horse which Communists must bring into the democratic camp in order to destroy it.

"These are the new tactics, prescribed for Communist action in the democracies. But except in France, the Communist attempt to enter into 'united fronts' with labor and Socialists and liberals has failed; and even in France the game is apparently drawing to a close. Dimitrov's Trojan horse has made little progress."

SANFORD TWENTY YEARS AGO

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Ballard of Norfolk, Va., are spending a few days in this city this week combining business and pleasure.

Mrs. S. O. Shinnholser has returned from Milledgeville, Ga., where she has been the guest of friends and relatives for several weeks.

H. S. Lingle left yesterday for his home in New York after spending a pleasant winter in Sanford and other points in Florida.

L. A. Romaine arrived yesterday from Atlanta and will remain several days in this section before visiting other points in Florida.

Mrs. A. B. Coleman is expected this week from Florence, S. C., and will spend several weeks in Sanford, the home of relatives and friends.

J. D. Woodruff returned home Friday from Clinton, S. C., where he has been a student at Furman University for the past year.

McCall had prepared in advance the note demanding the $10,000 ransom. Despite the discovery of the boy's death he went ahead and placed the first one within a few minutes. Then he deposited the second at the home of R. A. Cash, the victim's uncle, and returned to his own place. He calmly read a magazine until cries of alarm told him the Cash boy had been missed, Hoover said McCall gave his reason for perpetrating the crime the explanation that he wanted "some of the better things of life for himself and his wife."

State Attorney George A. Worley said he would present evidence to a special grand jury Monday on which it might indict the 21-year-old tomato truck driver for both offenses. Both carry the death penalty in Florida.

McCall probably would be tried only on one charge, Worley said and the trial would be held as speedily as possible, probably within three or four weeks.

McCall has denied responsibility for the kidnapping and the killing but J. Edgar Hoover, Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, said McCall confessed collecting the $10,000 ransom and was awaiting trial.

McCall's father-in-law, Joseph Hilliard, said Mrs. McCall was prostrated after McCall acknowledged to her his part in the case when she visited him yesterday.

Hague Charged With Causing Thomas Riot

NEWARK, N. J., June 10—(AP)—CIO council charged at the city's trial in federal court yesterday the authorities of Jersey City, where Frank Hague had been mayor a quarter century, directed last Saturday night's rout of Socialist Leader Norman Thomas who was howled down in a barrage of rotten eggs and bricks.

Spaulding Frazer, dean of Newark law school and counsel for the CIO and co-plaintiffs in a suit for an injunction restraining Hague and fellow officials from interfering with the plaintiff's activities, said the attack was "part of a conspiracy to prevent free speech at the direction of Jersey City authorities."

"What, precisely, did the American Communists learn from that congress? That was the congress at which the Communists initiated their romance with democracy. The exigencies of the moment, marked by the growth of fascism and its threat to the Communist dictatorship in Russia, required the temporary co-operation of what was called 'the remnants of bourgeois democracy' in the Western countries. WHERE SKEEGIE'S BODY WAS FOUND—A newspaper reporter (above) indicates the spot where the body of James Bailey (Skeegie) Cash, Jr., 8, of Princeton, Fla., was found by G-men led personally by FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover. Below is a map of the area about the kidnapped child's home, the shaded part being the approximate area searched for more than a week. G-men announced detention at Miami of Franklin Pierce McCall, a truck driver. Hoover said McCall confessed collecting the ransom, all of which has been recovered.

HELD IN CASH KIDNAPING CASE—Here are two fresh studies of Franklin Pierce McCall, 21-year-old truck driver, who is held at Miami as a suspect in the kidnapping of 8-year-old James Bailey (Skeegie) Cash, Jr. Detention of McCall was announced by J. Edgar Hoover, head of the federal bureau of investigation, following discovery of the child's body near Princeton, Fla. Hoover said McCall confessed to writing ransom demands and collecting $10,000 paid by the child's father. The entire ransom has been recovered, Hoover said.

 A stern demand by the State Department that Japan stop attacks on non-military objectives was handed to Japanese officials at Tokyo yesterday by Joseph Grew, United States ambassador. The State Department had instructed him to call the Japanese government's attention to a recent attack on the campus of the American endowed University of Lingnan. Bombs fell on the university's athletic field. Although no one was injured in the attack, recent air raids elsewhere have caused thousands of casualties among Chinese.

YOUTH HELD AS KIDNAP SUSPECT!—Following the discovery of the body of James Bailey (Skeegie) Cash, Jr., 5, within a few miles of his home at Princeton, Fla., FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover announced at Miami the detention of Franklin Pierce McCall (left) as an alleged participant in the kidnapping. Hoover further said McCall had admitted writing the three ransom demands and collecting $10,000 paid by Cash, Sr., all of which G-men recovered, but made no admission as to further participation in the crime. This picture, which shows McCall in the custody of Sheriff D. C. Coleman, was made at the time of the arrest but the prisoner remained unidentified until federal agents "broke" the case. THE TOY WIFE

BY FRITZ GELBIN

RESUME
Gilberts and Louise Brigard, who have grown up at school in Seminole, come home to live at their father's plantation which they call "The War Louisiana." Gilbert, called Froufrou by the family, is a delightfully naive, wanting and a handsome husband who loves his wife but not her parents. Andre Vallaire, young man-about-town and New Orleans dandy, settles down at his father's plantation which looks like a picture postcard. He can see more of Froufrou. Georges Bartoris, young lawyer friend of the girls' father is staying with the family while recuperating from a kidney ailment inflicted by a criminal he prosecuted. Louise and Suzanne, her nurse George back to work, have a good time during their childhood; but George becomes fascinated by Froufrou.

Chapter FourGAME OF HEARTS

Andre Vallaire whistled gaily as he rode through the Brigard plantation where he had been staying the afternoon, riding with Froufrou. He bounded down the path, reached the great white house in which he had been born, entered it. He entered his mother's study to find her bending over accounts at her desk.

"Oh, mammy," he called.

"I'm always busy," she answered seriously.

"But you waste moments,

waste money."

He kissed the top of her head and put his cheek to hers. Somehow in his manner made her give him her full attention.

"Louise," he announced solemnly.

"I understand that," she answered.

"I understand that," he said seriously.

"I understand that," she said seriously.

U. S. Makers Of Bombing Planes Scored By Hull

Secretary Predicts State Department Will Discourage Sale Of Bombers

Nazi Press Again Hits At Czechs

Europe On Edge With Czech Elections Set For Tomorrow

WASHINGTON, June 11.—(AP)—Secretary of State Hull said today this government's condemnation of the bombing of civilians was directed at American manufacturers of bombing planes as well as foreign powers.

The Secretary predicted that State Department pressure would discourage sales of such planes for use against defenseless civilians.

The State Department recently condemned bombings in China and Spain.

Europe was headed into another set of week-end jitters by the renewed attacks on Czechoslovakia in the controlled German press and new blasting in Czechoslovakia on the eve of a series of communal elections.

Central European rumblings came close to drowning out the sounds of the war in Spain and in China.

Czechoslovakia announced it was well armed to repulse any attack within the country during the elections and invited neighbors not to try to cross her borders.

In Spain the insurgent spearhead thrust through fierce government resistance to Castelion de la Plana, principal barrier to the conquest of Valencia.

On the other side of the world Japanese gunboats started down the Yangtze River in a drive on Hankow, provisional Chinese Capital, to support the infantry thrust from fortifying Chengchow, 300 miles north of Hankow.

National Guards To See Military Films

Four reels of films have been secured from the Fourth Corps Area headquarters and will be shown to the members of the three local companies of National Guards at the Armory Monday night as part of their visual training program.

Two pictures of two reels each, depicting phases of Army training and taken during actual maneuvers will be shown serenely by sound. The pictures are entitled Military Map Reader and Infantry Battalion in Attack.

This is the second such picture to be projected at the Armory and they will be shown following a short drill. The public is invited to attend.

Dawson Declares Florida Citrus Publicity Needed

'Right Kind' Of Program Advocated In Titusville Address

County Agent C. R. Dawson, addressing members of the Titusville Rotary Club yesterday told them that Florida citrus growers not only had to advertise to meet competition but they had to do the right kind of advertising.

Mr. Dawson recounted the main parts of his speech to a Herald reporter this morning.

He pointed out to the Titusville Rotarians that California employs the right kind of advertising.

That is, he explained, California sends to the market only the kind of fruit they advertise whereas in Florida grades one, two and three glut the market and people who buy oranges advertised from Florida and get grade three naturally cannot think much of the good quality of Florida oranges.

Another point, he brought out, was the fact that Florida is an oversupply of the product bringing hawks and walls of despair until the entire nation knows of the plight of Florida producers.

In California the producers take advantage of an oversupply as an advertising point.

Mr. Dawson said the Californians, when they have an oversupply, advertise that they have an abundance of the product and, therefore, are able to give the public the benefit of cheaper prices.

Florida citrus growers have a campaign planned now, Mr. Dawson declared, and have indicated that they are back at it whole heartedly. But, he added, the campaign will be a total loss if the growers advertise Florida oranges by that name. He explained that the Californians chose a catchword for their oranges years ago—Sunlight—by which all oranges from California are known. With only the best oranges reaching the market under this name, the public thinks all California oranges are superior to others for this reason.

Mr. Dawson said that Florida growers should choose a catchword for their oranges than send only the best Florida oranges to market under this name. Other grades might be sent to market but they would neither be tagged Florida oranges or by the catchword chosen.

Recession Seen As Most Severe In U. S.

WASHINGTON, June 11.—(AP)—The Federal Reserve Board said yesterday the industrial recession in the United States is the most severe in the world.

It added, however, that in other countries, the manufacture of war materials keeps many factories humming.

In its official monthly publication, the board said,

"Neither England nor any other industrial country abroad is experiencing a recession as pronounced as that which developed in the United States last autumn, although the business decline in Belgium—particularly in the iron and steel industry—has been marked and minor downturns are in evidence elsewhere."

Severe Earth Tremor Felt By Europeans

Minor Damage Done As Buildings In 4 Nations Are Swayed By Widespread Shocks

LONDON, June 11.—(AP)—Great Britain, Belgium, northern France and the Netherlands were jarred at noon today by earthquakes that swayed buildings, toppled chimneys and made millions of persons dizzy for a few seconds.

Damage apparently was minor and no serious casualties were reported.

In Belgium, where shocks were described as the severest in the nation's history, a few persons were injured when several flimsy buildings collapsed in the first tremor.

London observers said the quake's epicenter was in the North Sea.

London was awed gently.

R. W. Ware Speaks At First Baptist Brotherhood Lunch

Choosing for his subject, "How A Man Can Keep His Church," County Judge R. W. Ware addressed members of the Brotherhood of the First Baptist Church at its monthly luncheon in the Vaders Hotel at 12:15 o'clock yesterday.

In his address, Judge Ware outlined three important rules which members should observe in keeping their church. A man can keep his church, he said by regular attendance, by contributions of money, time, talent and energy, and add enthusiasm participation in all the activities of his church.

Those attending the luncheon were: the Rev. W. P. Brooks, Jr., pastor of the First Baptist Church; T. E. Thompson, J. M. Rinecipher, E. C. Harper, J. B. West, Maxwell Stewart, Grady Gallant, A. C. Request To Run For Office Is Rejected

BOSTON, June 11.—(AP)—James Roosevelt, son and secretary of the President, last night rejected a citizens' committee's request that he run for lieutenant governor of Massachusetts, declaring "I feel I have an obligation above all else to remain at my duties in Washington."

I desire, through study and experience, to develop further my knowledge of governmental affairs before considering the possibility of elective office," said Roosevelt.

Arriving by plane from Washington for the week-end, he made his statement in the form of a letter to Charles Maloof, Democratic state committeeman, who had a James Roosevelt-for-lieutenant governor movement. The letter was handed to Maloof by Roosevelt.

The President's son purred question "What about 1940?" with the declaration "in Washington, that's what we call an 'I' question."

City To Collect Delinquent Taxes

Settlement On Adjusted Basis Is Sought By Commissioners

CITY NEWS BRIEFS

With just six months remaining in which the City Commissioners are allowed to settle delinquent taxes and assessments on property in Sanford on an adjusted basis, the board is making a final effort to give as many residents as possible an opportunity to clear their property of tax liens.

Judge Frank L. Miller will hold a regular session of Municipal Court Monday afternoon at 1:00 o'clock.

Mrs. Dorothy Lamb, County school nurse, has moved from the San Luis Apartments to 606 Oak Avenue.

Volie Williams is having a new roof put on his home on Second Street following the recent fire which damaged it considerably.

The semi-monthly meeting of the City Commissioners will be held in the City Hall Monday night at 7:30 o'clock, according to City Clerk Frank S. Lamson.

This program gives the property owner a chance to redeem his property before foreclosure proceedings are started by the City, it was pointed out.

"Under the law when tax certificates become two years old they are subject to foreclosure and when any installment of a special assessment becomes delinquent, the entire assessment becomes due immediately," the City Clerk points out in a letter to the delinquents.

"It is the intention to vigorously enforce payment of these assessments. Before starting action, however, the City Commission is offering an adjustment of these liens under its authority as a Municipal Delinquent Tax Adjustment Board."

The Commission is giving property holders the full adjustment. It is allowed to give under the provisions of the Legislature's Act in which it is granted authority to adjust its delinquent claims. If not paid on the adjusted basis, it was pointed out that the liens will be placed in the hands of the City Attorney for enforcement as provided by law.

The Commission hopes to express hope that all property owners will avail themselves of the opportunity to settle their delinquent taxes and special assessments without saving the necessity of enforcement action.

Leonard L. McLucas, head coach at Seminole High School, is in charge of the program for the Rotary Club luncheon to be held in the Valdes Hotel Monday at 12:15 o'clock, according to G. E. Rollins, chairman of the program committee.

The night blooming cereus, which has annually attracted flower lovers to the garden of the J. C. Ellsworth home on Bearall Avenue, will be in bloom the first part of next week, and Mrs. Ellsworth has invited those interested to come and see it between the hours of four and six in the afternoon.

The plant was brought from Cape Sable and has over 100 long white blooms.

Southern Solons Okey Compromise

All But Minor Details Of Proposed Wage Measure Approved

WASHINGTON, June 11.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today invited Senator Gillette, Iowa Democrat, to the White House for luncheon tomorrow.

Gillette was victor last week in Iowa's Democratic senatorial primary over Rep. Otto Wermer who had endorsements from Harry L. Hopkins, Works Progress Administrator, and James Roosevelt, the President's son and secretary.

Southern members of the joint congressional committee today approved all but minor details of the compromise on the wage and hour legislation, paving the way for the committee to finish work on the bill by nightfall.

Other members of the group previously had indicated they would support the compromise which provides for flexibility in the minimum wages above 50 cents an hour.

The compromise would fix 25 cents an hour as the "bedrock" minimum wage for the first year with no exceptions. This would be a minimum by industry, advancing it to 40 cents as rapidly as possible.

The under cover struggling over the wage-hour bill became so strenuous yesterday that informed legislators expressed doubt that the labor standards bill would be enacted this year.

A Senate-House conference committee trying to reach a compromise between the two chambers dropped the controversial minimum wage question for the time being to "let the situation cool off." It decided to labor on lesser sections of the measure.

Senator Pepper of Florida, prominent among the compromise seekers, complained that "pressure groups," whom he did not identify, had been "working on" the conference committee.

Another prominent senator said he had heard that even if the committee reached a compromise there would be a filibuster against it in the Senate. It would be conducted, he said, by a group of northerners and southerners opposed to the whole theory of wage-hour legislation.
