

Sanford Theater News for the Coming Week

ONE OF the most coveted roles in Hollywood history, Vivien Leigh as Scarlett O'Hara, appears here as the spirited heroine of "Gone with the Wind," which plays a three day engagement at the Ritz Theater starting next Tuesday. The picture will be shown in its full-length version—nothing cut but the price. Four-hundred candidates were interviewed and ninety girls tested for the part before the choice fell upon dark-haired, green-eyed Miss Leigh.

CLARK GABLE who plays the role of "Rhett Butler" in Margaret Mitchell's "Gone With The Wind," to be shown at the Ritz Theater next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, three performances daily, at 12:30, 4:30 and 8:30, has been starred in many films but insists that his part opposite Vivien Leigh was undoubtedly the most enjoyable in which he ever was cast.

PROGRAM FOR WEEK OF JULY 6th

Sunday, Monday—"THE GREAT AMERICAN BROADCAST" with Alice Faye, Jack Oakie, The Four Ink Spots, The Nicholas Brothers and a big cast. Also—Official picture of the recent Conn-Louis fight.

LEAD AS "A Cyclone of Action."—"In Old Cheyenne" starring Roy Rogers with J. Farrell MacDonald, George "Gabby" Hayes, Joan Woodbury and Sally Payne, will be part of the exciting program arranged for next Friday and Saturday at the Ritz.

"HORROR ISLAND," said to be something different along "thrill picture" lines, will be the feature attraction of the special midnight show tonight at 11:30 o'clock at the Ritz. A fine program of short subjects has also been arranged for those who will be in town over the holiday weekend.

DONNA REED and Robert Sterling are the answer to the cry for "new screen faces" in "The Get-Away," M. G. M.'s dramatic new picture coming to the Ritz next Friday and Saturday. Charles Winninger and Henry O'Neill are also in the cast.

Gone With The Wind Opens 3-Day Engagement At Ritz

Full-Length Version Of Outstanding Film Will Be Shown Here In Technicolor On Tuesday, Wednesday And Thursday

The complete, full-length version of David O. Selznick's production of "Gone with the Wind" opens at the Ritz Theater Tuesday for a three-day engagement. The picture begins at 12:30, 4:30 and 8:30 P. M. It is probably the most discussed picture since the inception of talking pictures, the facts relating to the filming of Margaret Mitchell's world-famous story are a fascinating story in themselves. Selznick bought the picture rights of "Gone with the Wind" on July 20, 1936, for $50,000, the highest price ever paid for a first motion picture. The title is a quotation from Ernest Dowson's poem "Dunbar." The book, which consists of 1,021 pages, had sold fifty thousand copies on the first day of sale, shattering search for a girl to play the part. Their records show that 1400 candidates were interviewed; 90 screen-tested; 149,000 feet of black and white film and 13,000 feet of Technicolor shot in these tests. The cost of the studio has been computed by studio accountants at $22,000, of which about two-thirds represent cost of the screen tests. Magnitude of this figure is apparent by comparison with the cost of casting the other 50 principal characters, which totaled "only" $10,000. The burning of the military supplies of Atlanta, one of the major spectacular scenes in the picture, was filmed on the night of December 15, 1939, at which time David O. Selznick met Vivien Leigh, a spectator who had accompanied her brother, Byron, the well-known talent representative to the studio. Struck by her physical resemblance to the Scarlett described by Miss Mitchell, in that she has the green eyes, narrow waist and pert features, he suggested a test. It was made and on January 10, 1939, he signed her for the role. To insure her mastery of the Southern accent Selznick engaged Will A. Price of McDonough, Mississippi, an expert in Southern dialects, and Susan Myrick of Macon, Georgia, known as the "Emily Post of the South," to assist her in her cultivation of it. Miss Myrick was also entrusted with the job of technical adviser in the matter of Southern customs and manners. To authenticate all details of the production historically, William G. Kerst of Atlanta, distinguished historian and critic of the South was added to the staff. Other noted individuals to whom credit must go for exacting phases in the production are William Cameron Menzies, who was given the general Allied assignment of supervising the picture, and the head of the National International art department, which placed one of the nation's top tests, though rarely in the history of pictures has an actor been such a unanimous choice of public and press as Gable was for the role of "Rhett Butler." While no exact percentage has been measured, the dialogue in the picture is predominantly from the book. William Cameron Menzies, Lyle Wheeler, and the art department prepared more than 3000 sketches, visualizing in full color all the principal scenes in the picture. More than 8500 separate items of wardrobe were required to be designed by Waller Pinkett, for which he had to draw more than 400 sketches. His task was complicated by the historic fact that during the eleven years covered by the events described in the novel, men's and women's fashions underwent three complete changes. He thus had to reconstruct not only the fashions of the hopakrit era before the war, but the makeshift models of the poverty-stricken war years and the rustic robes of the "reconstruction" period. Production of the long-awaited film was officially begun on January 26, 1939. Victor Fleming, the director, made the final shot on November 11, 1939, the anniversary of Armistice Day. It is fair to say that this has been the most important directorial assignment of all these Fleming's outstanding skill in piloting large casts through fast-moving plots has been gained during the motion picture career that began in 1910. While his directorial talent was well recognized in such productions as "The Wizard of Oz," "Tom Mix," "Captain Cassin," "Frontier Island" and many others, nevertheless he will be remembered for "Gone With The Wind" as the man who brought to the screen the most magnificent picture of the year.

County Defense Councils Organize To Collect Aluminum For Defense

TALLAHASSEE, July 5.—(Special)—Have you a hoard of aluminum pots in your home? Uncle Sam wants it. County defense councils are organizing all over Florida to collect aluminum scrap to help fill the national shortage now bottlenecking the defense effort. But note that word scrap; it means that only broken parts, old stoves, discarded articles made of aluminum are wanted. It would save rather than help the defense effort to discard good, usable aluminum since this could eventually require men and machines to replace them. If your aluminum is good and in service, keep it. One patriotic housewife asked, "Would it be all right for me to keep my aluminum pots and make a money contribution of their value, instead?" It is all right to keep them and if anyone has a few extra dimes or dollars, the thing to do is buy defense savings stamps and bonds. Uncle Sam hasn't the hand out for donations of money, either. All of us will help pay for defense through taxation. No one should make unnecessary sacrifices at this time. Beginning July 21, all scrap aluminum will be accepted at special points in all cities and towns. Let it be sorted and stored. It will not go into aluminum because aluminum is too with a variation but it may go into other products. These materials will be available through the county defense councils. Don't throw away aluminum. A new aluminum can was used on July 21, 1941, and it is the first time in the history of the world that a new aluminum can was used on the day it was made.

Half Asleep

Recalling that the ancient Greeks used to execute any messenger bringing them bad news, Walter Lippmann in one of his recent articles, points out that the American people have perfected almost as effective a method of escaping from unpleasant realities. When a new war breaks out somewhere in the world, we simply say to ourselves, "This is no war. It is a phony war," and let it go at that.

"Let us recall some of the self-deceptions which we have embraced," he writes. "Less than two months before the war began the most eminent member of the Senate opposition stated that he knew there would be no war. On the basis of that agreeable misinformation, the Senate refused to consider any measure to avert war. This was dream No. 1: 'There will be no war.' Dream No. 2 followed quickly: 'This is a phony war.'

"Dream No. 3: 'It does not matter who wins and anyway the Allies cannot lose. Hitler has no rubber, no oil, no non-commissioned officers, his tanks are made of wood, and he will soon be overthrown by the army.' Following the fall of France we had dream No. 4: 'The war is over.' Dream No. 5: 'No one can touch us; in 1946 we shall have a two-ocean navy.' Dream No. 6: 'The British cannot be beaten, and so they do not need help.' Dream No. 7 (after Benghazi): 'The British are winning the war.' Dream No. 8 (after Crete): 'The British have lost the war.' Dream No. 9 (the attack on Russia): 'Hitler will fall like Napoleon; the two dictators will destroy each other.' Dream No. 10, which will appear if and when Russia is conquered: 'Hitler is now satisfied; he will not try to conquer Europe.'

Of course this is exactly what Hitler wants us to think. He is doing everything that he can and his propaganda agents are busy night and day, trying to keep us sufficiently drugged so that the noise of cannon fire will not reach our ears until too late, just as he did the people of Holland and Belgium, Yugoslavia and Greece, Russia and perhaps a dozen other countries.

"Thus," concludes Mr. Lippmann, "we face the most formidable enemy we have ever faced in the most critical period of modern history with our eyes half closed and with much less than half our energy enlisted for the ordeal."

Saving Gasoline

Although Florida is not, and is not likely to be, within the particular area most seriously affected by the fuel shortage, still for the sake of our family budgets, if not for reasons of national defense, most of us would be interested in learning how we can save on our gas bill. William F. Lowe, secretary of the Natural Gasoline Association, offers these suggestions.

- 1) Have the motor "tuned" often, at least every 5,000 miles. An improved gasoline mixture alone can cause a 10 percent waste. Set that spark two degrees below the motor's faint knocking point. There is an extremely slight power loss, but a gallon of gasoline stretches a mile farther.
- 2) Clean and adjust spark plugs frequently. One fleet owner found that cleaning and adjusting them every thousand miles cut his fuel bill 10 percent.
- 3) Avoid "jackrabbit" starts and "racing pickups" in second gear. The engine can't burn all the gasoline it's getting. Conversely, rushing madly up to stop line and then slamming on the brakes also wastes gasoline.
- 4) Watch tire pressures. A low tire offers more resistance to pulling. Properly inflated tires also wear longer.
- 5) Park in the shade. Gasoline vaporizes easily, and a surprising amount of gasoline will evaporate through the tiny air hole of the "gas" tank cap during hot weather.
- 6) Keep the battery well charged for quick starts. The fuel pump is pumping gasoline away during those slow, grinding starts before the engine fires. Avoid unnecessary choking.
- 7) Clean the air filter often. When it's dirty and clogged, the carburetor may not get enough air, the gasoline mixture gets too rich and mileage falls.
- 8) Finally, drive at moderate speeds. It takes a third more gasoline to go a mile at sixty miles an hour than at forty.

"I know a man who purposely will not own a stick of furniture or anything else that isn't on wheels or that won't go into a trunk," relates Fred C. Kelly in Your Life Magazine. "He occupies a furnished flat and keeps an automobile. This isn't because he expects to flee from police or others, but because it gives him a delightful sense of freedom. His scheme is additionally simplified by being a bachelor. He can pack up and start for anywhere on a few moments' notice. Last Christmas a friend was going to give him a wonderful armchair. But he heard about it and got the friend to drop the idea. 'I'd get attached to it,' he said, 'and always be wondering what to do with it if I should give up my flat and go on a trip.'"

DELAND — DUNNELLON — KISSIMEE — LESHURD — ST. AUGUSTINE — SANFORD—The cities above mentioned have been included in a release by the Civil Aeronautics Authority to be surveyed in a group of 191 sites for possible airport construction or improvement work under the $24,000,000 appropriation to the Civil Aeronautics Authority. This $24,000,000 will fall into two categories—a total of $22,000,000 to be supplemented by $2,000,000 WPA appropriation for the construction of 100 airport projects already begun—the remaining $22,000,000 is to be used for improvement work on 191 additional airports which will be selected after the survey of the 191 potential sites by the Civil Aeronautics Authority. Of course, there are other airports in the District that I feel should be included and I have written the Civil Aeronautics Authority regarding this matter. I am sure that the WPA appropriation for the construction of 100 airports is a very important project and that the WPA appropriation for the construction of 100 airports is a very important project and that the WPA appropriation for the construction of 100 airports is a very important project.

New Japanese Threat In Far East Hinted

SHANGHAI, July 7 (AP)—The likelihood of new conflicts, possibly Japanese moves to the south or against the embattled Soviets, threatened the Far East today as the Japanese war in China entered its fifth year.

It was agreed among informed sources that Japan's failure to achieve desired results in China might soon force her into new military ventures, with a southward sweep appearing most likely.

There were unconfirmed reports in Shanghai that the Japanese army and navy are preparing to strike against southern French Indo-China within a fortnight and occupy Saigon, its chief port and metropolis.

Whatever is in prospect for the next few days, the Chinese are concentrating along the northern Indo-China border, reports from Hanoi, capital of French Indo-China, said.

Australians Take African Village

JERUSALEM, Palestine, July 7 (AP)—Australian infantrymen who crossed the Demour river 12 miles south of Bebut have captured the strategic river of El Ezzar in their drive against the Lebanese capital. It was reported Sunday night.

The Allied armored columns which captured Palmyra were said to have reached a point 25 miles east of Hama, a junction of railway lines linking Aleppo, in the north, with Tripoli and Beirut.

The exact length of the earth's year is 365.242 days.

Liquor Industry Faces Bottleneck

WASHINGTON, July 7 (AP)—The commerce department called attention Sunday to a real bottleneck of potential concern to millions of parched patriots.

The dry department's department said in a report on the alcoholic beverages situation that rationing of limited supplies of cork has introduced a new factor in beverage distribution, particularly since "no suitable substitute for cork for bottle caps and stoppers is at present in production."

Moscow Sets German Losses At 1,000,000

munique to tell of the fighting through which an armored spearhead is reported to have stabbed 300 miles west of Moscow.

"In the east, operations against the so-called Stalin line are proceeding according to plan."

The Red army command told of a series of Soviet attacks and counterattacks against the invaders which piled up masses of bloody bodies and blasted Nazi machines out of action in engagements scattered from the Drina River to Bevarabia.

This Russian seizure of the initiative was said to have cost the Germans 300 tanks, 12 long-range guns and 500 prisoners in one recent engagement alone, the location of which was identified only as the "R" district.

The accounts received in Vichy said the Germans had not succeeded in crossing the Demour, which flows north from Vichy to the Gulf of Riga.

No action was reported east of Minsk, the White Russian capital, although there was said to be heavy fighting in the west. Russian troops were reported to have seized offensive and heavy fighting from the Baltic to the Black Sea today, smashing German armor along the Dnieper River and pushing back the Nazi drive aimed at the north flank of the Stalin Line.

Coincidentally, one official German news agency asserted Nazi troops had "broken" the line. No details were given.

Equally vague, the Berlin radio said German columns "had pierced" the line at several points.

The German High Command announced the capture of Orenburg, capital of Sovietized Ukraine, in a drive toward the Ukraine.

Moscow, proclaiming success everywhere for the Red armies, declared heavy losses had blunted the German drive to the east and that Nazi attempts to cross the Dnieper River near Bohrain on the central front had been repelled violently.

A great "savage" ranging in depth from 500 to about 8,000 feet, has been accurately charted on the floor of the Atlantic by the U.S. Navy's hydrographic survey ship, the USS Albatross, which is now on its way to the Gulf of Riga.

Low Batting Average But Large RBI Average Sometimes Better

NEW YORK, July 7.—(AP)—There's a saying that figures don't lie. But sometimes they can be deceiving. For instance, you probably wouldn't think that a ball player with a batting average in the .200's was any great shakes as a hitter.

But there's where you can be wrong. Bill Nicholson of the Chicago Cubs, sporting an insignificant .207, leads the National loop in runs batted in—and RBI is the payoff symbol on a hitter's value. It shows the ability to bang one when it counts.

The same situation exists in the American League. Charlie Keller of the Yankees, with an apparently puny average in the .200's, is pacing the circuit in RBI. Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox is setting a furious batting pace, with an average .330 that has driven it as many runs as Keller.

A number of players who habitually author seasons' batting averages under .300 are actually of more offensive value to their teams than the lads with impressive .330 marks.

Take the cases of Cecil Travis of the Senators and Dolph Camilli of the Dodgers. Both have been in the majors eight years. Travis has a lifetime batting average of .322 while Camilli's is only .285. Yet Dolph has knocked in 660 runs to Travis' 480. He has hit 171 home runs to Cecil's 18 and 65 triples to the Washington infielder's 51. He won't get as many hits as Travis but he hits a longer ball and connects more often when there are ducks on the pond.

Here are some other hitters with light averages and heavy RBI totals: Joe Gordon of the Yankees, Hal Trosky of the Indians, Joe Kuel of the White Sox, Bobby Doerz of the Red Sox, Bob Johnson of the A's and Dominic Dellesandro of the Cubs.

Dizzy Dean To Try His Hand At Radio

PITTSBURGH, July 7.—(AP)—Dizzy Dean of the Chicago Cubs turned his back on baseball Sunday but not without a prayer in his heart that he might return.

At the conclusion of a doubleheader here between the Cubs and the Pittsburgh Pirates, Dean who entered the major leagues with the St. Louis Cardinals in 1930 set out for St. Louis where he will take a job with a broadcasting company as a radio broadcaster.

Waxing serious between the two games Sunday, Dean said: "I think I am going to like radio. The experience I have had on several occasions has been enjoyable, yet I must say I am leaving baseball with deep regret. The game has been very good to me and I feel I am obligated to it."

Riggs Faces Neil In Southern Meet

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 7.—(AP)—Don McNeill, of Oklahoma City and Bobby Riggs, of Chicago, Sunday advanced to the final of the annual Southern tennis tournament.

McNeill defeated Blisly Grant of Atlanta, 6-7, 6-6, 1-6, 6-4. Riggs beat Garner Mulloy of Coral Gable, 6-4, 6-3.

Finals had been scheduled for the same day, but the tournament was delayed by rains during the past three days.

Pauline Betz and Winston Park and Doris Hart, the defending champion, of Miami, advanced to the finals in women's singles.

White Sox Pilot Suspended For Abusing Umpire

DETROIT, July 7.—(AP)—President William Harridge of the American league announced Sunday that Manager Jimmy Dykes of the Chicago White Sox had been "indefinitely suspended" for the "use of obscene and abusive language" to Umpire Steve Basil in Saturday's Chicago-Chicago game at Chicago.

Harridge who is here for the major league all-star game at Briggs Stadium Tuesday, declared Dykes will "remain under suspension until he can satisfy the American league office" that he will fall in line with the other seven managers of our league.

Text of the Harridge statement, one of the severest ever issued against a major league manager, follows:

"For his conduct and use of obscene and abusive language to Umpire Basil in the game played in Chicago on Saturday, while protesting the decision of Umpire (Harry) Geisel on the foul ball hit to rightfield in the ninth inning, Manager Dykes has been indefinitely suspended.

"He will remain under suspension until he can satisfy the American league office that in the future he will fall in line with the other seven managers of our league in conducting himself and his ball club on the field.

"His tactics in delaying our games, attempting to bulldoze and browbeat the umpires while filing protests, which have no basis in fact or justification in the rules has become very offensive, not only to the spectators in other cities throughout the circuit, but to our entire organization."

As a result of yesterday's run-in with the umpires, Dykes was banished from the game.

British Hit At France In Air Attack

Continued Bombing Aimed At Softening Opponent For Land Sortie

Nazi Convoys Hit By Planes

New Type Bomb With Remarkable Power Reported In Use

By Associated Press
Britain's ever-expanding air offensive—featuring Monday by two day-long daylight raids on northern France and smashing blows at two German convoys offshore—has tangled communications in a great swath from Kiel to Brest and has softened the Nazi defense for possible British invasion.

The continuing attacks, the observers said, not only are softening the path in case British forces but are destroying facilities Germany would require for an invasion of Britain.

The British air force, continued since June 11, now are impregnated by hundreds of planes daily and by new super-special 4,000-pound bombs of almost unbelievable destructive power.

One of these new bombs, an "incendiary" like the "starburst" that has been used, is reported to be "incendiary" in the sense that it is designed to set fire to anything it hits.

It is believed that the bombs are used to set fire to the German factories and to the German ships.

The observer said the bombing was aimed at softening the German defenses for a possible British invasion.

Report Shows Cotton Acreage Is Dropping Off

WASHINGTON, July 8.—(AP)—This year's cotton crop may be one of the smallest in 20 years, production authorities said today in commenting on Agriculture Department report that the 1941 harvested acreage might be the smallest since 1895.

Cotton in cultivation in the United States on July 1 was estimated today by the Department of Agriculture to be 23,510,000 acres—6.1 percent less than was in cultivation a year ago, 28.6 percent less than the 10-year (1930-39) average acre in cultivation July 1.

Leaders To Plan Distribution Of Farm Products

Plans for closer cooperation between Florida and other states in the distribution of farm products will be discussed by Governor Spessard L. Holland, Commissioner of Agriculture Nathan Mayo, J. H. McLaughlin, Commissioner of Agriculture of West Virginia, Harry D. Wilson, commissioner of agriculture of Maryland, Tom Linder, commissioner of agriculture of Georgia, and other agricultural leaders at Jacksonville Monday.

Should abandonment from natural causes this year equal the 10-year average abandonment which was 1.9 percent then an average of 23,102,000 would be indicated for harvest.

Average in cultivation July 1 in Florida was 64,000—about 100 percent of last year's July 1 acreage; the 10-year (1931-40) average percent of abandonment from natural causes was 3.0.
