Break-Ins Leave Sharing Center With Little To Share

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

The Sanford Christian Sharing Center, which helped 210 migrants last year, had a porch full of people and an empty cupboard Thursday due to increased needs and four break-ins in seven days.

A desparate Jean Hoelch, center director, said that thanks to Publix they had their "daily bread," but nothing else to give out.

"We need food of any kind, blankets for the migrants, children's clothing (new or used in good condition) for children who don't have socks or underwear to wear to school," she said. "We must have clothing for the children to keep them in school and money for fuel oil, now that cooler weather is here."

She said the center, which is sponsored by several Sanford churches, is also out of funds and can't buy prescriptions and it will be February before they can get another operating grant. "I'm caught in a mess. I have called the churches, but most say they do not have the funds available right now."

"They even took the rice packaged in brown paper bags we had stored in the refrigerator. I think these are frustrated people. We have had to board up our windows to try and keep out the thieves," Mrs. Hoelch said.

"Last year we had this problem of break-ins so we offered a reward and the young mother of a handicapped child, who turned in those who did it, was severely beaten and had to leave town. We don't want to have to go through that again," she added.

Mrs. Hoelch said the government has issued a lot of new rules on who can get foodstamps and there is a backlog because of trouble with the computers before families can get them, so HRS is sending more people to the sharing center for help while they are waiting to be approved.

Those wishing to bring donations of food or clothing should bring them when the center is open and not just leave them on the porch, she said. The center is open Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to noon and is located on Magnolia Avenue at Fourth Street in Sanford. It is operated by volunteers from local churches.

P&Z Board Says OK To Flea World

By Paul C. Schaefer
Herald Staff Writer

The two-year bid to expand the Flea World flea market near the intersection of U.S. 17-92 and Old Home Road has one final hurdle to clear.

The effort to expand the market, which Flea World President Syd Levy says has cost him about $150,000 to plan and engineer, will go to the county commission Dec. 16, with a recommendation for approval from the county Planning and Zoning Commission.

The P&Z panel gave a unanimous recommendation for approval during their Tuesday night meeting, which will be passed onto the county commission for official action.

The once heavily protested proposed project was not opposed by neighboring property owners or county planning staff members.

"The process to win approval has involved 'give and take, with most of the giving on our part,'" Levy said after the P&Z decision.

If the commission approves, Levy will add 1,000 new unpaved parking spaces, a 90,000 square foot exhibition hall for events such as car and boat shows, a 30,000 square foot warehouse, and increase the available commercial acreage by from 28.4 to up to 50.2 acres.

In earlier meetings, residents near the 103 acre site complained that the expansion would impact traffic flow as well as the water supply and a hardwood swamp.

But Levy has made a series of concessions, which apparently have paved the way for ultimate project approval.

Fifty-eight acres of the site will be used as open space, water retention and natural area. Of those acres will be dedicated for county use as a Drainage Water Conservation Easement. That designation gives the county complete control of the land, assuring it will not be developed.

Levy also designated the right-of-way and all access rights onto County Road 427 to the county, meaning his once requested entrance on 427 has been dropped.

In addition, he has agreed to redesign the entrance into the property on U.S. 17-92, which involves closing one median cut and constructing another, which will allow only right turn in and right turn out traffic flow.

He will also pay to install, maintain and pay the electric bill for a traffic signal at the U.S. 17-92 entrance if a signal is needed, construct turn lanes on U.S. 17-92, and construct a five-foot wide sidewalk on the portion of the property fronting on U.S. 17-92.

Levy has also agreed that septic tank usage at the site will

Palm Purchase Prods Penance

Commissioners Regret $3,250 Tree Buy

By Karen Talley
Herald Staff Writer

A $3,250 palm tree grows in Sanford at taxpayers' expense, and to at least four city commissioners' regret.

Mayor Bettye Smith and commissioners Bob Thomas, Dave Farr and Milton Smith all say they didn't realize they'd approved purchase of one tree, for $3,038, until the selected palm's recent installation and wouldn't have gone along with it if they had known beforehand.

And, the monies they and City Commissioner John Mercer authorized for the purchase were subsequently increased by $212 without at least the four commissioners' knowledge. The funds were added to by City Manager Frank Faison to buy a different tree when it was determined the $3,038 palm did not meet the city's selection standards.

Commissioner Mercer could not be reached for comment on the commission purchase authorization.

The funds commissioners approved for the tree were contained in a bid package they received for the Scenic Improvement Board's $22,000 lakefront landscaping project.

They approved the package in its entirety Oct. 13, and now say they were remiss in not scrutinizing each line item more closely. Apparently the $22,000 package was broken down in the report issued to commissioners, but commissioners didn't look over each item and its cost. Instead, they heard an explanation and recommendation of approval of the entire package given by Faison who didn't mention the single item purchase.

The four commissioners say they found out about the tree, which is more than 30 feet tall, late last month. That's when it went in at the Lake Monroe marina entrance, at the northeast corner of Seminole Boulevard and Palmetto Avenue, and a city commission candidate placed a newspaper ad showing the validated purchase voucher.

The scenic board project bids were developed by city staff for a variety of plantings, the tree being by far the most expensive single item. The plantings were requested in a plan worked up by SIB members last summer, with input from city garden club members, representatives from the Sanford Woman's Club and a representative from Seminole County. The $3,000+ Phoenix Canariensis is "cold hardy" and guaranteed for a year. It was meant to act as an "axis," or focal point for not only the marina entrance but nearby Sanford City Hall and the Seminole County Courthouse, according to SIB landscape architect Ray Priest.

SIB Chairman Sara Jacobson acknowledges the expenditure is large, but says it's worth it. "I think $3,000 is a lot of money no matter what you're spending it on," she said. "I sympathize, I gulp when I see it. But years later when the cost is forgotten, and people rant and rave about it, it's going to be worth a million bucks."

Mayor Smith, Farr, Thomas, and Commissioner Smith view it another way. All four commissioners say they were remiss in not scrutinizing the scenic project bid package more closely when it was included as part of their Oct. 13 agenda. They also say staff should have pointed out that more than $3,000 would be spent for one tree.

Faison discussed the bid package with commissioners on Oct. 13, but said although he

Sanford P&Z: No Change In Elderly Care Zoning

Elder care facilities will still be prohibited in single family residential zones, according to a recommendation by Sanford's Planning and Zoning Board Thursday night.

The P&Z's recommendation asks only that city council firm up guidelines for elder care operations, or adult congregate living facilities.

The request was approved on a 5-3 vote and will be forwarded to city commissioners for review in regular session Monday. The P&Z review of housing for the elderly was requested by commissioners in October, after four senior care facilities were cited by city staff for illegally operating in single family zones.

According to the motion offered by Jay Malone, the P&Z feels current zoning provides sufficient land area for the elder care operations, when compared to the number of elderly in Sanford.

Malone's motion also recommends that commissioners request city council to firm up Sanford's zoning code definition of "adult congregate living facility." By doing so, staff "will have a more pertinent interpretation" to define licensing and enforcement practices, as well as services offered by the property owners, according to Malone.

Those siding with Malone were Brent Carl, Sheila Roberts, Lon Howell and Gary Davidson. In opposition were chairman John Morris, John LeRoy and Eddie Keith.

If commissioners accept the P&Z's position, a $250-a-day fine could resume against the operator of one of these facilities. Also, at least two of the other cited property owners could enter the code enforcement process. At commissioners request, all code board actions against the frozen owners had been frozen until the zoning issue was deided. One of the four cited homes reportedly closed down before commissioners made the request.

The P&Z's recommendation passed by the two vote margin in regular session after a lengthy debate in a work shop held before the meeting.

Opponents said the city should not prohibit the elderly from living in any areas they choose.

During the work session, Keith said "Until hell freezes over," he'll feel the city "has no right to tell the elderly where they can and cannot live."

Morris also said he felt the prohibition of elder care operations from single family zones was unjustified. "I don't think any governmental authority should restrain anyone from living where they want to," he said.

The majority, however, sided with statistics, which show that 35 percent of Sanford is zoned to

Drainage Weir Stolen At Lake Mary

By Kathy Tyrity
Herald Staff Writer

Three developments in Lake Mary got action from the Lake Mary City Commission Thursday night, and the commission learned someone had swiped a $6,000 drainage weir from out of the ground at Cardinal Oaks phase II.

Commissioners also expressed favor for a drug-testing program for employees, but a workshop will be scheduled on that matter. And the commission expressed some favor for building its own sewage treatment plant rather than going with the city of Sanford, but a workshop has been set on that for Dec. 11.

The three developments and their actions were:

- North Point business and commercial development planned for off Lake Emma Road got approval for road and drainage plans. That development is planned for 10 buildings with 10 million square feet of space plus a 300-room hotel.

- Lake Mary Square shopping center, which has been on hold several months due to drainage problems, received a six-month extension for site plans.

- Margaret Cammack's proposed development of 120 villas on Lake Emma was reviewed. The city attorney was instructed to write a resolution drafting her vested rights but with density for net acreage instead of gross acreage. Net acreage would be without flood-prone sections or paving or parking sections. It would amount to 6.5 acres instead of 9.8 acres, and the whole matter may end up in court.

In the acting city manager's report, the commission learned that a wood and concrete weir designed to take care of drainage runoff at Cardinal Oaks subdivision had been taken out of the ground. It

IN BRIEF

Principal Disarms 4th Grader At Midway Elementary School

An assistant principal of Midway Elementary School in Sanford reported to Seminole County sheriff's deputies that at about 9:30 a.m. Wednesday she took a kitchen knife from a 9-year-old girl at the school.

The knife has a 5-inch blade and under school board rules the incident was reported to the sheriff's department, although the child will be punished by school officials, a sheriff's report said.

Something Up His Sleeve

A Seminole County sheriff's deputy who confronted a man in a group of three behind the McAllister Motel, Southwest Road, Sanford, charged him with carrying a concealed weapon after the blade of a steak knife was reportedly found in his clenched right fist.

The handle of the knife, which had a 7-inch blade, was reportedly up the sleeve of the man's shirt.

Arrested at 1:05 a.m. Thursday was Sammy Lee Turner, 28, of 2208 Southwest Road, Sanford. He was being held in lieu of $500 bond.

Officer And Dog Find Cocaine

Sanford police vice agents who walked through the Town Lounge on Seventh Street, along with an officer with a K-9 dog partner, turned up a man who allegedly tried to throw away a matchbox containing four slabs of crack cocaine.

The box was recovered by the officer with the dog, Samuel Fuller, 31, of 44 William Clark Court, Sanford, was charged with possession of cocaine and resisting arrest without violence at 10:59 p.m. Wednesday. He allegedly tried to pull away from police. He has been released on $2,000 bond to appear in court Dec. 22.

Arrested Getting Driver License

A 22-year-old Winter Park man who allegedly told driver's license officials he had never been convicted of driving under the influence and had only been licensed before in Colorado, was arrested at 4:50 p.m. Wednesday after a computer check showed his Texas license had been suspended following a DUI conviction.

Neil Howard Landantini, of 2500 N. Howell Branch Road #284, was arrested after applying for a Florida driver's license at the Interstate Mall Driver's License Bureau by Altamonte Springs police. Has been charged with obtaining a driver's license by fraud and was being held in lieu of $1,000 bond.

Driving Under The Influence

The following persons have been arrested in Seminole County on a charge of driving under the influence:

- Carl Wachtler, 54, of Titusville, was jailed at 5 a.m. Tuesday after he reportedly drove erratically behind a Florida Highway Patrol car on U.S. Highway 17-92.
- Lynne Alan Pray, 45, of 1519 Francis Drive, Altamonte Springs, at 2:10 a.m. Thursday after he drove behind a Florida Highway Patrol car on U.S. Highway 17-92 and allegedly failed to dim the bright lights of his car.

Two Muggings Reported

Donna Dorothy Wildman, 45, of Newington, Conn., told Seminole County sheriff's deputies her purse and its contents with a total value of $82, was pulled from her by a man outside the Lake Monroe Inn, U.S. Highway 17-92, east of Sanford, at about midnight Wednesday.

Ms. Wildman said she was standing beside a car when the suspect drove up and asked for directions to DeBary. As she pointed he grabbed her purse and dragged her to the ground as he fled. She was bruised and the thief got away.

Inside the Inn sheriff's deputies were given a business card believed to have been left by the suspect.

In the other case, at about 7 p.m. Wednesday Elshah D. Huggins, 22, of 308 Hearwood Lane, Altamonte Springs, was pushed to the floor and had her purse stolen by a man she was confronting about a previous incident at Club 436, State Road 436, Altamonte Springs.

Deputies have the name of a suspect, who allegedly ran from the club with the purse, which along with its contents, including $220, is valued at $310.

Burglaries And Thefts Reported

Frances Fittler, 48, of 603 Spring Valley Drive, Altamonte Springs, reported to sheriff's deputies that potted plants with a combined value of about $200 were stolen from her porch Tuesday.

The 1982 Suzuki motorcycle of Edward Huffstatler, 31, of 157 Burns Ave., Longwood, was stolen Wednesday. A sheriff's report said the cycle is valued at $1,500.

Three saws with a combined value of about $800 were stolen from a maintenance shed at Lake Howell Condos, 700 Georgetown Drive, Casselberry, Tuesday or Wednesday, a sheriff's report said.

B stereo gear valued at $1,000 was stolen from the car of Ledlie Barbara Berry, 34, of 2644 Lake Howell Lane, Winter Park, Tuesday or Wednesday, a sheriff's report said.

Ministers To Address Morals

Seminole County Ministerial Alliance will address a list of concerns about deteriorating spiritual and moral values when it holds its monthly breakfast meeting Saturday. They range from drug and alcohol abuse and premarital sex to poor study habits and high school dropouts. The Rev. Amos C. Jones, secretary of the group, said all ministers are welcome to attend the meeting which starts at 9 a.m. at the Cavalier Motor Inn private dining room on U.S. Highway 17-92, Sanford.

At a previous brainstorming session, the ministers made a list of concerns to the church and community that also included sexual promiscuity, the high divorce rate, the high crime rate, "shacking up" and illegitimate births. The pastors are also concerned about poor church participation in programs in the Alliance programs.

At this month's meeting after an overall discussion they will select two of the problem to discuss in depth what they and their churches can do to deal with them.

The ministers hope to find ways to coordinate their efforts with other groups dealing with one or more of these concerns.

Cocaine Suspect Ruled Incompetent

An Altamonte Springs man facing federal cocaine and money-laundering charges is incompetent to be tried, a federal judge has ruled.

Luis Frank Maldonado, 24, is to be evaluated by a psychiatrist and brought back to court in four months, ruled U.S. District Judge G. Kendal Sharp.

While in court Wednesday, Maldonado stared at the floor and hugged himself, according to reports. His lawyer, Barry La Boda, said his client has stopped speaking English and communicates only in Spanish. He also believes his grandmother, of Colombia, is traveling to the Seminole County jail where he's been held to get him.

Maldonado was arrested Oct. 9 along with seven other defendants by Internal Revenue Service agents and Drug Enforcement Agency agents.

Maldonado and the others were accused of buying cashier checks for amounts under $10,000 and mailing them to banks in Panama, where bank accounts are held in strict secrecy, records show.

Such transactions amounting to more than $10,000 have to be reported to revenue officials, according to law.

When Maldonado was arrested, 1 1/2 pounds of cocaine were found in his home and car, officials said.

Another defendant arrested at the same time, Maria Patricia Ruiz, 26, of Casselberry, pleaded guilty to conspiracy to commit tax fraud in connection with a scheme to hide $350,000 worth of income from the IRS. She and six other defendants, who have pleaded guilty, are set to be sentenced Jan. 20.

Dozens Of Local Delegates Attend PTA Meet

A group of 32 delegates from Central Florida including 19 from Seminole County recently traveled by chartered bus from Casselberry to Pensacola for the state PTA convention.

General sessions were held, which were used mainly to set legislative priority items for the year, said local PTA President Diane Thornton.

"We dealt with such items as corporal punishment, state lottery funds, teachers teaching out of field, and graduation credit requirements," she said. There were 23 priority items established which PTA lobbyists will work throughout the legislative session to secure as laws.

Work sessions also dealt with such subjects as teenage suicide, stress management, and how to work more effectively with different aspects of the education system — principals, superintendents, and school board members.

PTA representatives from Seminole County are "definite leaders" in the state, Mrs. Thornton said, "as parental involvement makes its way to the top of the list of important factors in successful educational systems."

"Not only do we deal with state and national issues such as legislation, we also get involved in local issues such as rezoning and comprehensive construction plans," she added.

She said the Florida PTA recognizes the knowledge and dedication of such people from the local area, and they displayed this when electing Jeanne Morris as second vice-president, Diane Thornton as membership chairman, and Jo Fields as spiritual and family life chairman.

"These people have all had leading roles in the leadership of Seminole County Council of PTAs," Mrs. Thornton asserted. "It is quite an accomplishment and honor to have this many representatives on the state board of managers and for the Florida PTA from an area of our size."

Man Gets 12 Years In Murder Of Girlfriend

An Altamonte Springs man was sentenced to 12 years in prison Thursday for the March 21 killing of his girlfriend.

Robert Henry Woodbury, 31, of 671 Caliente Way, was sentenced by Circuit Judge Kenneth M. Leffler. Woodbury was charged with second degree murder in the shooting death of Ronda Bemis, 31, of the same address.

According to witnesses, Ms. Bemis and her son Kevin had moved into the home two days before the shooting. The couple had been arguing throughout the night.

According to court records, the argument was probably related to the couple's alleged cocaine use. Witnesses reported hearing one pistol shot around 6:30 a.m. Woodbury then left the home on foot.

Ms. Bemis, shot in the head, was pronounced dead at 9:05 a.m. at Florida Hospital — Altamonte Springs. The woman's son was taken by a witness to his grandmother's home.

Woodbury was arrested March 24 in Orange County after deputies were tipped off as to where Woodbury might be by a Seminole County sheriff's investigator. He offered no resistance when arrested.

The couple had planned to marry on Valentine's Day.

IN BRIEF

Graham: Facts, Not 6,000 Letters Will Determine Clemency Plea

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Gov. Bob Graham says he will decide the clemency request of convicted killer Valentin Hernandez on the facts of the case alone, and will not be swayed by thousands of letters written in Hernandez' behalf.

Hernandez, a member of a Dade County anti-Castro organization who helped assassinate a former member of Castro's military, asked the Board of Clemency Thursday to commute his 25-year minimum sentence. The board, made up of the governor and the Cabinet, has received more than 6,000 letters asking them to grant Hernandez' request.

"Any time the public expresses a concern, whether it is one citizen or a number of citizens, that is something a democratic body ought to take into consideration," Graham said. "But I'm going to make my decision based on whether I believe there is a case that meets the standards we have adopted in the past for the commutation of a sentence."

FORT LAUDERDALE (UPI) — Authorities report a 13-year-old drug dealer will be tried as an adult on a charge of second-degree murder for shooting a man who was attempting to buy crack cocaine.

Selwyn Cornell Smith, who has confessed to the shooting, faces life in prison if convicted. No trial date has been set.

The seventh-grade student at McNicol Middle School in Hallandale, Fla., was being held without bail.

NATO Endorses U.S. Proposal To Soviet Union On Missile Cuts

BRUSSELS, Belgium (UPI) — NATO for the first time today endorsed a U.S. proposal to the Soviet Union to cut the number of strategic ballistic missiles by 50 percent.

But a final communique ending two days of meetings by defense ministers of the NATO alliance mentioned nothing about President Reagan's policy of seeking to eliminate all of those weapons.

NATO's military leadership expressed resistance Thursday to Reagan's bid at the Reykjavik, Iceland, summit in October to reduce all continent-spanning missiles to zero.

But NATO's endorsement of the 50-percent proposal appeared to be a victory for Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger and the U.S. delegation.

Fighting Continues Despite Truce

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Fighting between Shiite Amal militiamen and Palestinian guerrillas escalated today despite a second cease-fire in eight days to end 8-week-old warfare that killed 300 people and wounded 1,000, police sources said.

Amal militia leader Nabih Berri, speaking to reporters in the Syrian capital of Damascus, said the cease-fire was set to go into effect at 8 a.m. but failed because of Palestinian intransigence.

A Palestinian spokesman dismissed the charges, said his men were not officially notified of the new accord and blamed the Amal for the continued fighting.

Police sources said heavy fighting continued around two beleaguered Palestinian refugee camps in Beirut — Burj Al Barajneh and Shatila — hours past the 8 a.m. deadline set for the Iranian-mediated cease-fire.

P&Z Board Denies Rezoning Request

By Paul C. Schaefer
Herald Staff Writer

A developer's request to rezone 20 acres of land near Lake Pearl into a 64 home subdivision was recommended for denial by the Seminole County Planning and Zoning Board Wednesday night, bowing to the arguments of neighboring residents who said the proposed homes would be smaller than other homes already existing in the area.

Engineering and Planning consultant Hugh Harling made the request for the change in zoning on behalf of property owner Charles Bradshaw, Jr.

The property is zoned R-1A and R-1AA, which designates larger home and lot size. Harling requested an R-1 designation, which would permit 700 square foot homes on 8,400 square foot lots. R-1A requires a minimum 9,000 square foot lots and 1,100 square foot homes, and R-1AA requires 11,700 square foot lots and 1,300 square foot homes. Properties surrounding the 20 acre parcel are zoned R-1A and R-1AA.

Residents living nearby the proposed site complained about the proposed homes sizes.

"Smaller homes will devalue our homes," Jim Zych said.

John Carroway said nearby lakes have already been polluted by runoff from growth projects, and said he was opposed to any zoning less than R-1AA.

Another nearby homeowner, Arthur Manning, said homeowners in the area have asked that something be done about lake pollution in the Fern Park area.

"They did something about it. They put up a sign saying the lake is polluted," Manning said.

Harling said the development would use central water and sewer service, instead of septic tanks and wells, to avoid impacting the area water table.

The P&Z board, however, unanimously sided with the area homeowners, agreeing that the proposed change of zoning would not be compatible with surrounding neighborhoods.

Their recommendation will be considered when the county commission takes official action Jan. 13.

In other P&Z actions, the following zone change requests were recommended for approval:

— A request from Florence Dees to rezone one and a half lots on Laura Street in Seminole Heights from residential professional to restricted neighborhood commercial.

— A request from Bayer Cadillac, Inc. to rezone less than one acre at the intersection of Howell Branch Road and Lake Howell Road from C-1 retail commercial to C-2 retail commercial for a retail automobile sales facility.

— A request from Robert T. Peitzel to rezone five acres on Lake Drive east of Spicewood from agriculture to single family dwelling district use.

— A request from Harling, Locklin, and Associates to amend the final master plan of the Fernbrook Trails planned unit development at Howell Branch Road and Floyd Road. The amendment will redesignate 150 proposed duplex units to 62 duplexes, 56 single family homes, and 32 quadruplexes, and allow a northern access road to Howell Branch Road.

A request by Wekiva Park Trust to rezone 14.6 acres near the intersection of Wekiva Springs Road and East Lake Brantley Road from office district to restricted neighborhood commercial was withdrawn.

Panel Considers New Impact Fee Categories

A dozen additional land use categories may be included among uses already being considered for assessment with county impact fees for road improvements to be considered by the county's impact fee review committee when they meet next Wednesday.

The committee reviewed the 12 newly proposed categories in a Tuesday afternoon meeting, but hesitated to officially adding them to 21 previously discussed types of land uses to be sure the additions are properly defined.

Already being considered for categories are single family homes, multi-family homes, hotels and motels, various sizes of office and retail complexes, hospitals, industrial, manufacturing, warehouses, restaurants and banks.

The committee will consider next week categories including mobile homes, medical offices, government offices, post offices, state motor vehicle centers, specialty retail shops, service stations, 24-hour convenience stores, medical clinics, mini-warehouses, racquet and health clubs, and libraries.

Seminole County commissioners hope early next year to adopt a transportation impact fee ordinance, which will raise millions of dollars for county road improvements by assessing the fees on new growth. The money will go to improve road conditions, mostly by road widening, in growth areas. Impact fees must be spent in the areas where they are collected, and cannot be used to correct existing or old problems.

The commission appointed the advisory committee to carefully review the fee ordinance they had hoped to adopt this month. Two weeks ago the committee agreed they would not meet this month's deadline, and have now targeted a deadline as late as Feb. 25, according to group chairman Roger Neiswender.

The fees will be assessed on the number of "trips per day" or traffic they will generate.

In addition to reviewing the proposed land use designations, county engineer Jerry McCollum told the committee a portion of Howell Branch Road and Red Bug Lake Road may be reclassified from being "collector roads," which have moderate traffic volume, to "arterial roads," which have high volumes.

McCollum said arterial roads must be at least 3.5 miles in length, and average 14,000 cars per day, according to state standards. He said Howell Branch is averaging 18,000 to 19,000 cars per day, while Red Bug Lake Road is averaging slightly less than 10,000 cars per day. He said he was not sure if Red Bug Lake Road could qualify as an arterial road.

Arterial roads will get county wide impact fee funding, while collector roads will get fee funding from the specific section of the county where the road lies.

Committee member Mike Hattaway said before the committee acts on the new land use categories and arterial and collector roads, the county staff should present clear definitions of the uses. — Paul C. Schaefer

The great tax headache.

First Union's great IRA cure.

The new proposed 1987 tax laws might be a headache for some, but you can still get immediate relief with a First Union IRA. Through April 15, you can claim a full $2,000 IRA deduction from your 1986 gross income. (Up to $4,000 for a married couple.) First Union IRA CDs can be opened with as little as $100 and are insured up to $100,000 by the FDIC, so your savings are protected. But if you're a self-directed investor, you may want to use your IRA to purchase stocks, bonds, or other investments. And you pay no taxes on the interest your IRA earns until the money is withdrawn. Which means an IRA is still very valuable to you. And that should give you great relief.

For tax relief, talk to a First Union IRA expert. Or call our IRA Hotline at 1-800-551-BANK. Nobody knows the IRA better.

FDA Drags Feet On Vital Drug

Should persons suffering from a debilitating, terminal disease have access to an experimental drug that could relieve their torment? Clearly, common sense and compassion suggest they should. But many bureaucrats at the U.S. Food and Drug Administration are apparently unmoved by such considerations as they cling to their rigid rules and regulations.

Consequently, a drug that could be the first effective treatment for Alzheimer's disease will not be immediately available to almost 3 million Americans who are afflicted by this neuropsychiatric disorder that causes senility and then death in six to 12 years.

The drug, known as tetrahydroaminoacrine, or THA, was first synthesized 77 years ago, but it was not approved for clinical use in Alzheimer's until the late 1970s. During the last two years, a team of researchers led by Dr. William Summers, discovered the medication's potential value. Administered to a group of 17 patients with Alzheimer's disease, THA produced significant improvement in 16 of them.

Several patients with the most advanced Alzheimer's can now feed themselves, go to the rest room on their own and communicate with their families. A less-severely affected man returned to work part time. Another patient resumed driving, cooking and cleaning her house.

One would hope these exciting results might prompt the FDA to make an exception and allow doctors to prescribe this drug on a case-by-case basis. Not so. THA will not be available to Alzheimer's victims, except for experimentation, until the federal government deems it to be safe and effective. Meanwhile, an estimated 500,000 patients will succumb to the disease during the five years or so when the FDA is expected to make up its mind.

This is not to minimize the federal government's responsibility for protecting consumers against drugs that could produce dangerous, perhaps lethal, side effects. Nor do we suggest that THA is a wonder cure for Alzheimer's disease. To the contrary, the researchers caution that the drug can only provide short-term relief to Alzheimer's victims. But how in the name of sweet reason can the FDA deny such relief to millions of persons who have nothing to ease their suffering?

There comes a time when compassion must take precedence over procedure. This is such a time. We urge the FDA to make the experimental drug THA available to all Alzheimer's victims.

Historic Savings

We've heard of all kinds of schemes for reducing the defense budget, but this week's suggestion award goes to David Grant of Johns Hopkins University.

Air Force officials telephone Grant, who had worked on satellites years earlier, and asked if he had seen any of those old models around. Grant directed them to a display in the Smithsonian Institute's Air and Space Museum. The Air Force requisitioned the satellite, refurbished it and sent it back into space. By using the museum piece instead of a new satellite, the Air Force saved $2 million and six months' time.

We hope this doesn't set a precedent, though. The museum will be a sorry place for visitors if they try to recycle everything from Apollo spacecraft to Orville and Wilbur's flying contraption.

Hints For The Kid Who Has Everything

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Now that Thanksgiving is out of the way, perhaps we can get down to some serious Christmas shopping.

Baffled over what to buy for the proverbial man who has everything? Well, permit me to pass along a few suggestions from Michael Korda, editor at the publishing house Simon & Schuster.

Among other things, he lists a 34-hour day, a "platinum" credit card, a "personalized parking place" a "perfect" secretary and a "permanent" brass nameplate.

Korda, as you can see, goes in big for "p's." I can see where a 34-hour day might come in handy in the book business although opinions may vary as to what constitutes a perfect secretary.

Anyway, a platinum credit card should take care of the man who has everything. But what about the kid who has everything?

Probably you are shopping for some children who already have been given portable tape players, television sets and computers. Have you considered they might like to find a gift-wrapped rechargeable battery under the Christmas tree?

I can tell you from bitter experience there is no greater disappointment than getting the battery-powered device you asked for, only to discover that ol' Santa has forgotten the batteries.

The Phillips Home Products company of Akron, Ohio, a do-it-yourself manufacturer, estimates that Americans spend about $2 billion a year on batteries.

Except on Christmas morning when all the neighborhood places that might sell batteries are closed.

By giving the kid a rechargeable battery, you could become a bigger Christmas morn hero or heroine than if you shelled out for one of the billion-odd battery-powered products now on the market.

And the children on your list don't have to worry about it running down. All they need do is plug it into a wall socket and — presto! — the appliance is as good as new.

At least the power source is. I'm not responsible for what youngsters can do to a computerized toy or game.

But maybe the kid who has everything already has a battery recharger. Kids nowadays weren't hiding behind the door or out somewhere buying batteries when the brains were passed out. It doesn't take them long to figure out their stupid parents likely will forget one essential ingredient.

In that case, maybe you would like to gift-wrap a robot.

According to a magazine article I saw earlier this year, the robot industry "is in a depressed state," mainly because many potential customers now realize that factory automation isn't the answer to all their problems.

So you should be able to pick up a robot fairly cheap. Particularly a used robot.

If children on your list became the first kids on the block to own a used robot, or an automated factory, it could help prepare them for later life.

I mean, if they got fined $100 million or so for stock market "insider" trading, they could instruct the perfect secretary to take it out of petty cash.

Taxes Trojan Horse

WASHINGTON — As soon as the 100th Congress arrives here next January, it will take up a "technical corrections" bill to deal with typographical and substantive errors in the 1986 tax law. This "corrections" bill is likely to be the Trojan horse employed by the liberals in the new Congress to impose new taxes on business and to eliminate a number of the remaining tax deductions.

As the public learns more about the new tax law, it will discover that the law slows modernization of business and industry, and will depress the economy. The vital construction and real estate industries, which provide so much employment and spark community development, will be hit hard.

Plenty of lobbying pressure was applied for this "reform" by a curious combination of liberals and conservatives. While conservatives failed to examine the full consequences of the legislation, liberals rightly saw the legislation as tax redistribution, not the tax reform that many conservatives foolishly imagined it to be.

In late October, a liberal organization called Citizens for Tax Justice concluded that the tax bill was the best thing since the invention of ice cream. It noted with pleasure that "the $120 billion shift in taxes over five years from individuals to corporations will restore the corporate share of the income tax burden almost back to where it was in the 1970s." Citizens for Tax Justice failed to note, however, that this was when the American economy began to decline. With more money going to taxes — government, that is — companies have less to invest in job creation. CTJ shows no understanding that companies create jobs and prosperity for the American people.

The group's board is almost entirely labor union officials and Naderite-type activists.

This is evidence of the pressure applied for "tax reform," and the pressure to be applied for a "technical corrections" bill. Someone needs to speak up for authentic reform, for revision of the 1986 tax law, so as to restore incentives for investment in plants and equipment and building projects across the country.

The tax "reform" enacted is punitive. It inhibits investment in America. As I have written here, it is a disinvest in America tax law. The American economy can't afford that kind of counterproductivity.

Flying Drones Spy On Nicaragua

By Jack Anderson and Dale Van Atta

WASHINGTON — In a series of secret programs, the Pentagon and the CIA are developing and deploying nearly $3 billion worth of sophisticated flying drones (known formally as Remotely Piloted Vehicles or RPVs).

This flying transmitter may become the workhorse of the intelligence business. Already, some are operating as spy planes over El Salvador and Nicaragua.

The Israelis demonstrated the usefulness of RPVs in Lebanon where they provided "live" television coverage of Syrian and other forces, tricked anti-aircraft missile batteries into turning on their radars (thus giving away their locations) and served other battlefield purposes.

Oddly enough, it was the Americans' use of drones in Vietnam that led to Israel's interest. Jet-powered target drones launched from transport planes flew more than 3,000 reconnaissance missions in

ROBERT WALTERS

Council Too Military

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Obscured by the daily disclosures in the arms to Iran scandal is one of its root causes — President Reagan's militarization of the National Security Council.

Established by the National Security Act of 1947, the NSC is supposed to provide "advice and counsel" to the president on national security and foreign policy matters. The director of its small staff traditionally has been a civilian while the second-ranking official has been a military officer.

Reagan adhered to that tradition in the initial years of his first term. In the autumn of 1983, however, Reagan appointed former Marine Corps Lt. Col. Robert C. McFarlane to direct the group. Although McFarlane was a civilian at the time, he had spent virtually all of his adult life — from 1955 to 1979 — in the Marine Corps.

When McFarlane resigned late last year, Reagan named as his successor Navy Vice Adm. John M. Poindexter — a career military officer who remained on active duty throughout his year-long tenure as head of the NSC staff.

The ascendancy of Marine Corps Lt. Col. Oliver L. North within the NSC staff occurred under the leadership of McFarlane and Poindexter. North, also a career military officer who remained on active duty throughout his White House service, held the NSC title of deputy director for political-military affairs.

He emerged as an important figure in the Reagan administration in late 1983, when he convinced the president and others at the White House that the most effective means of diverting public attention from the terrorist bombing of a military barracks in Beirut that killed 241

Marines was to mount an immediate military invasion of the island of Grenada.

The character of the NSC has changed markedly under military leadership in recent years. No longer exclusively a consultative agency, it has become an operational organization that runs paramilitary ventures from the White House.

Those operations include coordinating "private" aid to the contras in Nicaragua during the years when public funding was prohibited by Congress, and providing military assistance to the mujahedeen fighting to deny the Soviet Union total control of Afghanistan.

In addition, the NSC staff orchestrated the covert arms shipments to Iran and devised the now-discredited plan to destabilize the Libyan government through the use of disinformation fed to news organizations in this country.

Thus, Reagan has established a military force that operates with impunity at the highest levels of government and is accountable (depending upon who is to be believed) either to nobody or only to the president.

The only officials to whom the NSC staff would have reported are Reagan and his chief of staff, Donald T. Regan. Both, however, deny any knowledge of the NSC's specific activities — even though its operations clearly were designed to implement the president's publicly stated policies.

If Reagan is to be believed, he has permitted a quasi-military unit to operate inside the White House without restraint or accountability. That is truly terrifying.

WILLIAM RUSHER

Reagan Has Case To Make

The Iran-and-Contras controversy is now a certified Class I crisis, and the president's success in overcoming it is clearly going to depend on how swiftly, decisively and openly he acts to deal with it.

Watergate revealed in the Nixon administration a sort of cynical, power-hungry arrogance that is strikingly different from the kind of high-minded passion for conservative principles and goals that animates the Reagan White House. So far as yet appears, this whole enterprise had only three objectives: making overtures to potential friends in Iran; bringing pressure on terrorists in Lebanon to free American hostages (three of whom were actually freed); and financing military aid to the Nicaraguan contras through foreign sources at a time when Congress was still barring the use of American funds for that purpose.

One may question the wisdom of the methods used in achieving these goals, but it would take a pretty hard-hearted congressman to deny that at least the first two of them were, and still are, intrinsically desirable.

As for the third: Encouraging Israel and/or Saudi Arabia to give military aid to the contras — if that is what Col. Oliver North did — was certainly not illegal. On the contrary, many law-abiding Americans would regard it as downright praiseworthy. After all, Congress itself later changed its mind on the subject of such aid and authorized a hundred million dollars' worth. The fact that the non-American aid was contributed out of a profit Israel made on arms it bought from the United States and resold to Iran is irrelevant.

But the administration's critics can be expected to contend that Israel was merely the United States' agent in the sale of arms to Iran, rather than a purchaser who later resold. If so, it can be argued that Israel owed the United States the entire amount it received from Iran.

It can thus be seen that a lot is going to turn on legal questions of title, agency and similar technicalities — problems that will keep clouds of lawyers happy for months to come, and which are probably murky enough to spare Ollie North and others from having to spend any time in jail.

Meanwhile, however, it is up to President Reagan to act, and in so doing put his case before the country.

Vietnam, and it was an American engineer, Alvin Ellis, who sold the Israeli military on RPVs in the early 1970s. His concept was in effect an oversize remote-control model airplane equipped with a small TV camera.

The advantages of RPVs over manned aircraft are many and obvious: They cost a relative pittance compared to the price of fighters and reconnaissance planes. Needing none of the equipment that keeps pilots alive, drones burn a fraction of the fuel used by manned planes and can also be maneuvered at speeds that no pilot could withstand. Their ground controllers are far cheaper to train than pilots — and of course when a drone is shot down, no one is killed or captured.

The RPV is extremely hard to knock down because of its tiny radar "signature" — derived from its size of no more than about 14 feet — and from its minimal heat output, which thwarts infrared trackers and heat-seeking missiles.

Its single, muffled low-horsepower engine makes little noise, and at high altitudes the drone is practically invisible.

The Air Force plans to buy about 250 mid-range RPVs for a supplementary reconnaissance role, but is generally not enthusiastic about the little planes. The General Accounting Office, which favors wide use of the low-cost drones, attributes the Air Force's lack of interest to a longstanding "pro-pilot bias" and a "perception of RPVs as too drab and unexciting to generate much enthusiasm." A GAO report adds:

"Therefore, while RPVs are accepted during wartime for very high risk missions of mundane jobs such as chaff dispensing and leaflet dropping, during peacetime they are not regarded with as much favor as the high-technology manned aircraft."

The Army, Navy and CIA are more enthusiastic about the RPV, and the Marines are experimenting with a remote-control helicopter

The Soviets, alerted to the RPV's usefulness in Lebanon, have deployed dozens already with Syrian troops. A secret CIA report predicts that the Soviets will eventually produce hundreds, possibly thousands, for mass deployment in Eastern Europe.

Meanwhile the Israeli RPV producer, Maziat, is promoting the little planes' civilian potential. Among the missions that could be cheaply and effectively handled by an RPV are police observation of smuggling or other criminal activity; pipeline patrols checking for sabotage or natural threats; river patrols; disaster rescue coordination; patrols of offshore oil rigs and livestock surveys over vast areas of open range.

One of the more interesting — and potentially lucrative — uses for RPVs would be as TV platforms for sporting events. The king-size model airplanes could provide more flexibility than the blimps now in use. We may someday see tricky-angle shots of the Super Bowl taken from the Goodyear Drone.

NATION IN BRIEF

Congress Plans Two Panels In Iran-Contra Probe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House and Senate leaders say they will form two new panels to investigate the Iran arms scandal, and the Senate expanded a closed-door probe in congressional action expected to focus on many — if not all — the president's men.

Senate Republican leader Robert Dole of Kansas pressed hard for his idea of a special session of Congress so any special committees could get to work right away but Democratic leader Robert Byrd of West Virginia maintained that was a "dead issue."

White House spokesman Larry Speakes said President Reagan would wait for a recommendation from both Republicans and Democrats before deciding whether to call Congress back.

Reagan scheduled a meeting with Republican leaders today and White House spokesman Dan Howard said, "We're still discussing the idea" of a special session.

In other developments Thursday: —Speakes, who announced he is leaving his job Feb. 1 to work with the Wall Street firm of Merrill Lynch & Co., said Reagan agreed with Bush's assessment that "some mistakes were made" in the Iran-Contra affair.

—FBI Director William Webster decided to postpone his retirement. The agency is deeply involved in the Iran-Contra probe and Webster, who had planned to leave soon for personal reasons, said he believes the leadership should not be changed during the ongoing criminal investigation.

—North, fingered by the administration as the mastermind of the arms deal, said he wants to "tell all the facts."

'Crazy' Teen Kills 1, Wounds 3

LEWISTOWN, Mont. (UPI) — A 14-year-old student described by a friend as "crazy" shot and killed a substitute teacher as a high school French class looked on, then wounded a vice principal and two other students, police said.

After the shootings Thursday afternoon the boy ran a mile to his home, where he surrendered to a police tactical team about an hour later.

Authorities declined to speculate on a motive for the attack at Fergus County High School in central Montana, where a girls' state basketball tournament was under way in a crowded gymnasium not far from the scene of the shootings.

The youth, Kristofer Hans, was charged with deliberate homicide and attempted deliberate homicide and taken to a juvenile detention facility in Billings, 130 miles away, said County Attorney Craig Buchler.

Co-Pilot: 'We're Dead'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sensing impending doom, the co-pilot said, "We're dead." Seconds later he and his fellow crew members plunged to their deaths when their cargo plane slammed into the ground and exploded in a fiery crash.

Documents released Thursday by the National Transportation Safety Board showed the flight crew of the cargo plane encountered trouble with the plane's control system shortly after takeoff from Kelly Air Force Base at San Antonio.

The safety board is investigating the Oct. 4 crash of the Lockheed L-382G, a four-engine chartered military plane operated by Southern Air Transport that was carrying explosives.

Voyager Set For Historic Flight

MOJAVE, Calif. (UPI) — The pilots and engineers for the experimental airplane Voyager say everything is set for takeoff on a planned flight around the world without stopping or refueling — if the weatherman cooperates.

The Voyager soared for more than four hours on its 65th and final test flight Thursday from Edwards Air Force base and landed at Mojave Airport, where the aircraft will be hangared until its unprecedented voyage around the globe.

"We're ready for world flight," spokesman Peter Riva said following the test flight by pilots Dick Rutan and Jeana Yeager.

Atlas Launch Boosts NASA's Morale

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — NASA's year of disaster ended in triumph with the spectacular night launch of an Atlas-Centaur rocket and a costly military satellite, giving the agency an early Christmas present and its fourth success in a row.

"This is a big boost for NASA, the military and America," said Lt. Col. John Booth of the Air Force Space Division after watching the pyrotechnic blastoff Thursday night. "It proves we're getting our space program back on track."

Following eight delays over more than six months, the 134-foot rocket took off with a roar at 9:30 p.m. EST, 26 minutes late because of an apparent problem with the satellite, splashing the cloudy night sky with a streak of brilliant orange flame as it climbed toward space.

After a flawless 28-minute flight, the workhorse rocket successfully placed the $125 million Navy-Air Force communications satellite into the proper preliminary orbit. The Department of Defense paid NASA $80 million for the rocket and launch services.

"It's going to be a merry Christmas," said John Gibb, Atlas-Centaur project manager. "It's a terrific way to end the year," said NASA spokesman James Ball.

An on-board solid-fuel rocket is scheduled to fire Saturday to place the satellite in its final orbit where it will serve as a spare for four others already operating in space to provide secure communications between the president and field officers, ships at sea and planes in flight.

It was NASA's last major launch of 1986 and left the beleaguered space agency's record for the year at five major successes and two stunning failures — the Jan. 28 Challenger disaster and the May 3 destruction of a NASA Delta rocket carrying a weather satellite.

But more important, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration now has two major rocket systems back on flight status for the first time since the Delta mishap. Shuttles will not resume flying until at least February 1988.

"Everybody was passing out the cigars, everybody was smiling and grinning and everything else," said NASA spokesman George Diller from the mission control center after the Atlas-Centaur completed its flight.

NASA's last two liquid-fuel Atlas-Centaurs are scheduled for launch in 1987 along with the final three Deltas in the agency's current inventory.

The launching Thursday was visible across central Florida, although cloud cover blocked the view to the south for some observers.

"It was bright orange, rising from the horizon through the trees," said Debra Wood, who watched the launch from Orlando, about 50 miles away. "It didn't look as bright or as fast as when I saw the shuttle go off at night. It just went straight up."

NASA started 1986 on a note of success with the Jan. 12 launch of the shuttle Columbia.

But Challenger's destruction two weeks later, the April 18 explosion of an Air Force Titan 34-D rocket at Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., and the Delta failure in May stunned the nation's space program and crippled America's ability to launch crucial satellites.

The Delta failure was blamed on an engine short circuit, which grounded the Atlas-Centaur program as well because of similarities between both rockets' liquid-fueled powerplants.

But after extensive analysis and modification, NASA successfully launched another Delta Sept. 5 carrying a "Star Wars" payload and followed that flight with a successful Atlas launch from Vandenberg to deliver a weather satellite into orbit.

A small NASA Scout rocket was launched from Vandenberg last month for the agency's third success in a row.

'Noles Rip Edgewater

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

WINTER PARK — There isn't much difference between the prep basketball teams from DeLand and Orlando Edgewater.

But there was a world of difference in Sanford's Fighting Seminoles between Tuesday and Thursday nights.

The Seminoles, who struggled to subdue DeLand, 54-47, Tuesday night in their season opener, mugged defending champion Edgewater, 77-49, in the first round of the 11th Annual Rotary Tip-Off Classic before 401 fans at Winter Park High School.

In tonight's other semifinal pairing, Orlando Jones takes on Daytona Beach Seabreeze at 7:15. Tonight's survivors battle Saturday at 9 p.m. for the championship.

"We came into this game with a totally different attitude from Tuesday night," senior forward Steve Hathaway said. "We went into DeLand jiving around. We came in here to win."

Seminole, 2-0, takes on a familiar foe tonight at 9 in Daytona Beach Mainland. Coach Dick Toth's seventh-ranked Bucas similarly annihilated Winter Garden West Orange, 66-40, Thursday night. Mainland and the Tribe are considered the co-favorites in District 4A-9.

"We're looking forward to playing Sanford," Toth said.

"And we're looking forward to playing Mainland," agreed Seminole coach Bill Klein. "It's old hat playing them. They will be trying their tricks on us and we'll be trying ours on them."

There were no tricks in Seminole's blowout victory Thursday. Klein sent wave after wave from his bench at the Pioneers after 6-foot-8 Craig Walker and 6-2 Reggie "Spook" Bellamy encountered early foul trouble.

Basketball

Walker took an early seat after picking up his third foul with 5:04 left in the first quarter. There were 19 whistles in the first period alone as the officials tried to control the aggressive board play. Edgewater's 6-6 Eric Drakes also went to the pine with foul problems, hampering the Eagles' inside attack.

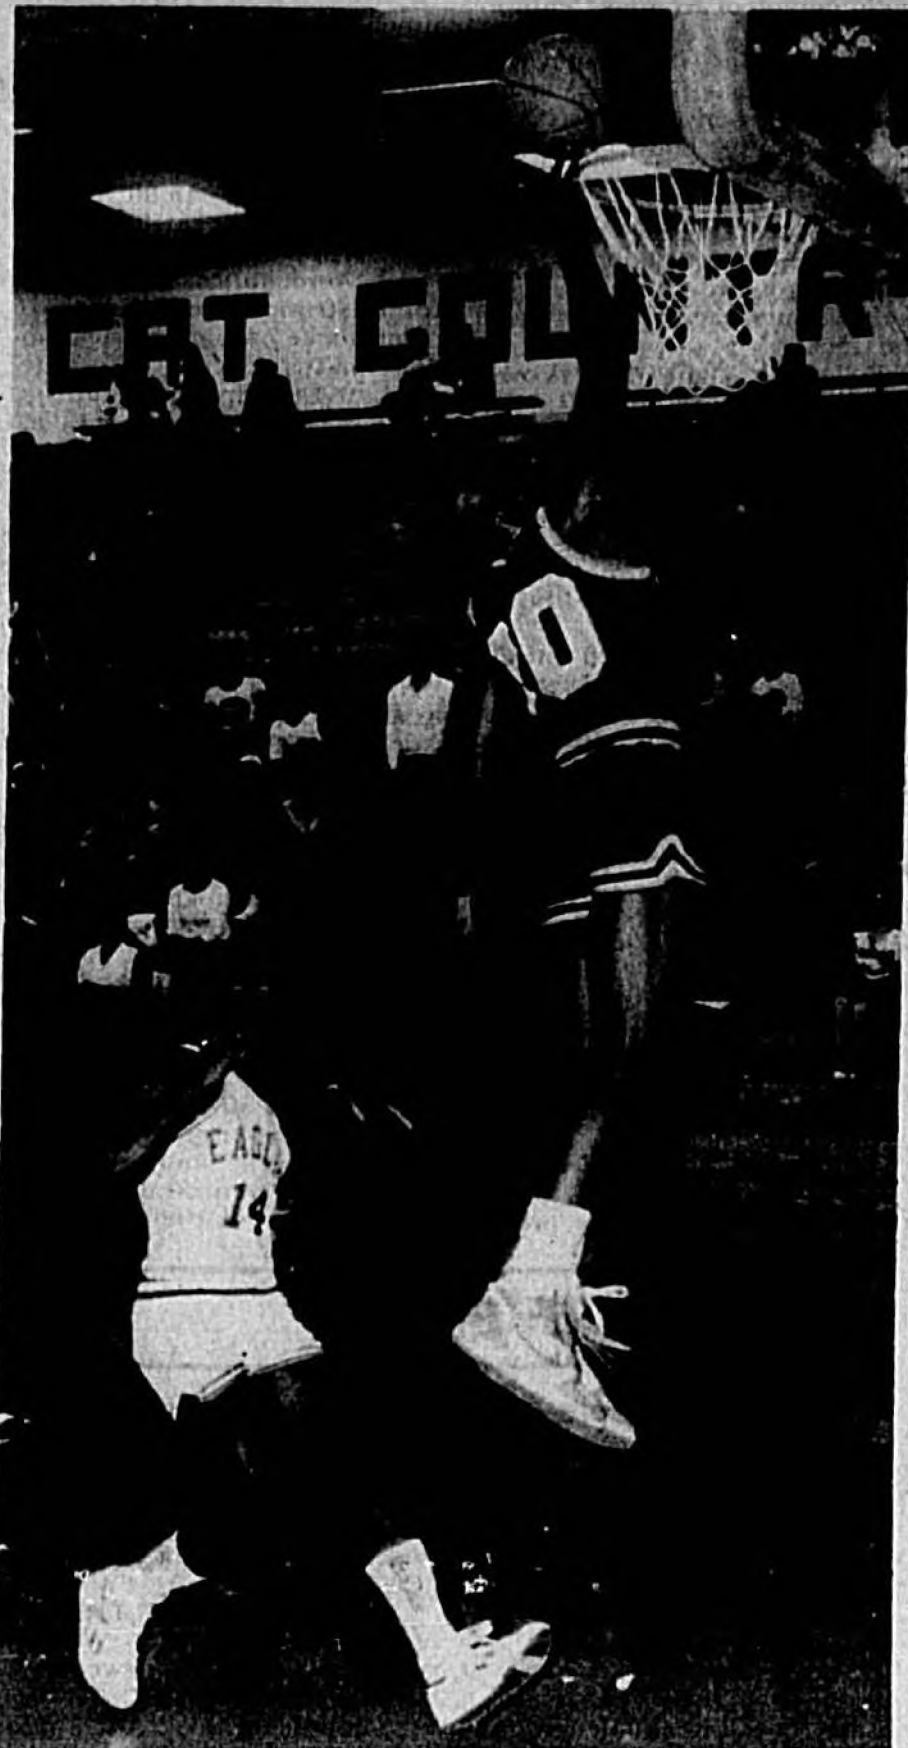

"After we looked at the DeLand film; we saw that we hadn't been boxing out," Hathaway, who scored nine points and pulled down five rebounds, said. "Everybody boxed out and rebounded tonight."

Jerry "Stick" Parker committed himself also — to excellence. After losing his starter job with a lackluster showing against DeLand, Parker, a 6-0 senior guard, came back firing Thursday. He popped in 16 of his game-high 18 points in the first half as Seminole eased ahead, 21-17, after one quarter and then stormed to a 43-26 halftime advantage.

Klein said Parker, who lit up the Rotary last year despite the Tribe losing two games, was his old self. "He belongs in high-class gyms," Klein said. "Parker was made to play in this gym."

While Parker fired from everywhere, guards Michael Edwards and Andre Whitney along with swingman Roderick Henderson continued to work effectively on the break. The

Walker, Baird Need All 13-6 To Contain Mainland's Polite

WINTER PARK — Seminole's Craig Walker and Brad Baird measured a combined 13 feet and six inches Thursday night. And zero points. Plagued by foul trouble, neither the 6-foot-8 Walker nor the 6-10 Baird could get untracked in Sanford's 77-49 victory over Orlando Edgewater Thursday night in the 11th annual Rotary Tip-Off basketball tournament at Winter Park High School.

Tonight at 9 o'clock, though, they will need all of that height and more to battle Daytona Beach Mainland's Mike Polite.

Polite, a 6-7 senior center, is the best player in the tournament.

He alone is worth the price of admission. If Walker and Baird yearn to be complete basketball players they can get a good lesson tonight by watching Mainland's No. 45. Polite plays center but moves the fluidity of a forward which he will play next year for Florida State University.

The 195-pound senior sees the whole floor and plays with great anticipation. He is as good a player without the ball as with it. Polite chooses his moments and defenders must always be on guard for a lob pass which more often than not he slams through the cylinder. His only shortcoming Thursday was a tendency to reach over the top for rebounds, which cost him a couple cheap fouls.

But Walker and Baird won't have much time to watch Polite tonight — they have to contain him. In a possible preview of the District 4A-9 showdown, the Seminoles match up against Mainland in tonight's semifinals. The winner advances to Saturday's championship game against either 10th-ranked (3A) Orlando Jones or Daytona Beach Seabreeze who battle at 7:15 p.m.

"Polite is a super player," coach Bill Klein, whose Seminole took to Daytona Tuesday for another meeting with the Bucas, said. "They didn't use him much against West Orange (13 points in a 66-40 victory), but they will take it to him against us. He'll do what he needs to do."

Sam Cook

Coach Dick Toth's Buccaners are ranked seventh in the 4A poll. The reason is Mike Polite. But that doesn't mean he doesn't have an excellent supporting cast. Stocky guard Brian Morris, a quarterback during the fall, works the baseline like he owns it. Derrick Henry and Veryl McIntyre are excellent guards. Kenny Mackeroy, a 6-4 swingman, gets everything that Polite misses on the boards.

Mainland is ahead of Seminole at this stage. The Bucas looked so smooth Thursday night it was amazing. They seemed in midseason form. "They always look like that early," Roger Dorio, who formerly coached at Port Orange Spruce Creek, said. "Mainland is always a good team early in the season."

Steve Hathaway and Michael Edwards, two Seminoles who played key roles in Sanford's 77-49 demolition of Orlando Edgewater Thursday, said they are impressed with Mainland but not awed.

"They looked pretty good," Edwards said. "They will be a good challenge but we have more depth."

A good point, Mainland looked about six deep Thursday while the Tribe shuffled 10 players without a drop off in production. Nine of those players scored. And the Bucas don't have an all-around performer like

Break Out Gold Card, Tribe Wins Again

By Chris Pieter
Herald Sports Writer

A year ago, if Carlos Merlino wanted to give his Seminole High soccer team a gift for Christmas, he probably would have collected all his loose change and gone to 7-Eleven. The Seminoles had a 2-14 record in Merlino's first year as mentor.

This year, however, Merlino would have to break out his American Express gold card and head for Altamonte Mall.

Only two games into the season, Seminole High's boys soccer team has already equaled its win output of a year ago.

Darren Forde booted home two more goals and Chris Ray and Alex Piquer added one goal each as the Seminoles improved to 2-0 on the young season with a 4-2 victory over Apopka's Blue Darters Thursday night at Apopka.

Forde, who scored two goals in Seminole's 4-1 win over Trinity Prep on Tuesday, knocked in the first goal of the match Thursday night and it wound up giving Seminole a 1-0 halftime lead.

Apopka evened the score at 1-1 on Gary Howard's goal early in the second half, but the 'Noles then scored three unanswered goals to take control. Chris Ray's unassisted goal gave the Tribe a 2-1 lead and Alex Piquer scored on an assist from Mike Altizer to make it 3-1. Altizer came up with his second assist when he fed Forde for his second goal and a 4-1 Seminole cushion.

Soccer

Mike Tully scored Apopka's second goal but it was too little, too late.

"Mike (Altizer) created some great offensive opportunities for us," Merlino said. "And Shawn Sundvall was great in the goal when Apopka put the pressure on in the second half."

LYMAN BEATS OUT COLONIAL, 3-0

Lyman's Greyhounds pounded 30 shots at the Colonial goal Thursday and put three of them in en route to a 3-0 victory over the Grenadiers at Lyman High.

The Greyhounds, 2-0, return to action Saturday at home against Merritt Island. Junior varsity action starts at 12 noon with varsity at 2 p.m.

Lyman took a 1-0 lead 15 minutes into the match Thursday when Gerard Mitchell scored on an assist from Todd Luke. Lyman held its 1-0 lead at halftime.

Chris Walden gave the 'Hounds a 2-0 lead five minutes into the second half when he scored on an assist from Mark Dubin. Lyman added some insurance with 11 minutes remaining when Chris Graham scored on Brett Wortham's assist.

Colonial managed just seven shots on the night and Lyman goalkeeper Kelly Walden came up with three saves in recording his first shutout of the season.

"We dominated most of the game, but we still played about as poorly as we could play," Lyman coach Ray Sandridge said. "I was not very happy. We can play much better than we did tonight."

OVIDO TIES WINTER PARK, 1-1

Goalkeeper Gordon King made a save on a penalty kick to preserve a 1-1 tie for Oviedo's Lions against Winter Park's Wildcats Thursday night at Ward Park.

"He (King) made a tremendous save on the penalty kick," Oviedo coach Dave Jekanoski said. "He's definitely one of the best goalkeepers around."

Each team scored a goal in the first half as Greg Brick scored for the Lions on an assist from Mike Moody and Dave Duquid scored the equalizer for the Wildcats.

"Both teams had their chances in the second half but couldn't break the tie," Jekanoski said. "But it was nice to go to Winter Park's field and come away with a tie. It was an important step for our program. Oviedo has always been looked at as the doormat in Seminole County and now maybe that will change."

King had nine saves for the match while stopper Paul Kavima, an exchange student from Finland, led the defense. The Lions also received strong midfield play from Jim Guggenheim, Derek Bates and Moody.

Oviedo, 1-0-1, returns to action Saturday at home against Apopka.

Raiders: 11th Nationally

Seminole Community College coach Bill Payne isn't maintaining the Raiders are the No. 1 junior college basketball team in Florida. The 11-0 SCC club is ranked second behind Pensacola Community College. Payne, however, did receive some more good news from the national poll which ranked his team the 11th best club in the nation. SCC returns to action with a big Mid-Florida Conference game at home Saturday with Florida Community College of Jacksonville. There is no charge for admission. Tip-off is 7:30 p.m.

Bennett Notches Lombardi Award

HOUSTON (UPI) — For the first time, a linebacker — and an Alabama player — has won the Lombardi Award.

Cornelius Bennett became the first Alabama player ever to receive an individual postseason award Thursday when he garnered the 17th Rotary-Lombardi Award, given annually to the best lineman in college football.

"For all of the fans of University of Alabama football that have followed Alabama football for so long and never had a major award winner, and for me to be the first one, means a whole lot to me," said Bennett, who was chosen over Miami's Jerome Brown, Oklahoma's Brian Bosworth, and Ohio State's Chris Spielman.

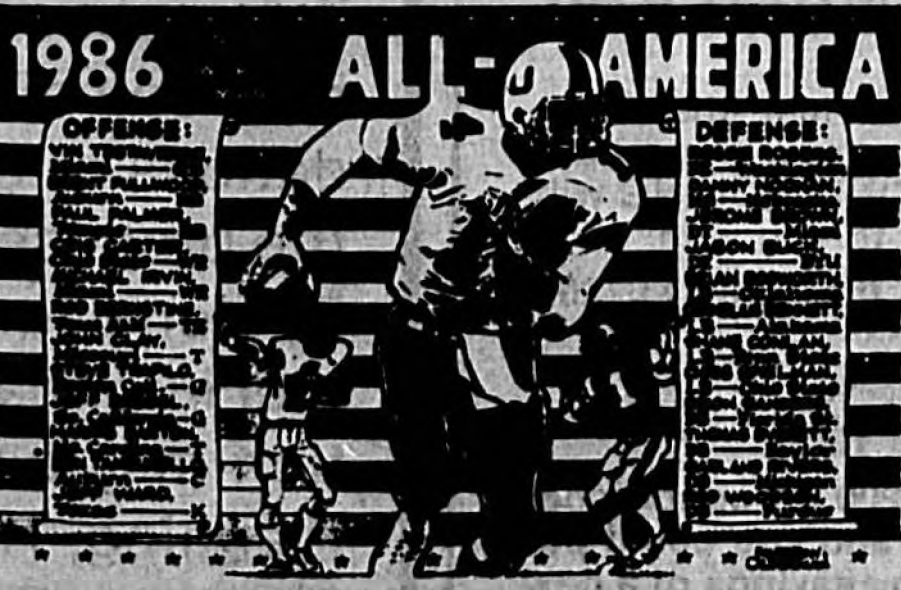

"It will (mean a lot) for the rest of my life. I'll never forget this moment. I'll remember it until the day that I die. To be known along with the other winners of the prestigious award is an honor and a privilege."

Football

Bennett, a 6-foot-4, 235-pound senior linebacker from Birmingham, Ala., led the 12th-ranked Crimson Tide in forced fumbles, quarterback sacks, and tackles for losses.

"Cornelius is a great football player," said Alabama linebacker coach Sylvester Crooms, who accompanied Bennett in head coach Ray Perkins' absence. "It's been a privilege just to work with him. He's not the kind of athlete you coach — you just observe, shake your head, and make sure he gets to the game on time."

"He's always been willing to make himself the best he can possibly be. He won't settle for anything less. I thank God for giving me the privilege of being associated with someone like him."

"He practices every day like he's trying to make the team," Perkins said. "He's the Lawrence Taylor of college football. If I had to put together a team, college or pro, Cornelius would be one of the first ones I would choose."

Bennett is the third Alabama player to be named a finalist in the Lombardi voting — and the first member of the Southeast Conference to capture the 40-pound block of granite, engraved with the word "discipline."

The Lombardi winner is selected by a committee of 208 sports writers and coaches, who each cast three ballots: one for the 13 semifinalists, one for the finalists, and the last for the winner.

A record crowd of over 1,200 people attended the $175-a-plate dinner, including past winners Jim Sullivan of Ohio State (1970), Walt Patulski of Notre Dame (1971) and Wilson Whitley of Houston (1976). Proceeds benefited cancer research.

Magubi Pares 32 Pounds, For Thomas Fight Tonight

Boxing

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Over two months and 200 sparring rounds, a 186-pound and out-of-shape John Mugabi became a svelte super-welterweight vying for the World Boxing Council title.

Mugabi — the fighter that proved Marvin Hagler mortal last March — seeks his first championship when he meets Duane Thomas tonight for the 154-pound title vacated by Thomas Hearns.

The scheduled 12-rounder is to begin at approximately 10:15 p.m. EST.

Mugabi, 26-1 with 26 knockouts, took middleweight champion Hagler 11 rock-em, sock-em rounds before being knocked out. His goal, he says, is a rematch.

"I want Hagler to really beat Sugar Ray Leonard bad (next April); that way I can fight Hagler again," said Mugabi, who supposedly ran 8-10 miles each morning to lose the excess pounds. "I won't rest until I beat him."

Mickey Duff, Mugabi's manager since 1980, said Mugabi has grown — figuratively — this year.

"John has made his reputation as a tremendous puncher but, in the Hagler bout, he established himself as an expert boxer," Duff said. "Pound for pound, I think John is the strongest fighter in the world."

"His trainers and I take very little credit for teaching him much — only the discipline and the training methods. All I know is that I've been involved with 13 world champions and John is the best fighter I've ever been involved with."

Ten of Mugabi's bouts have ended in the first round and six others in the second.

Thomas, the U.S. Boxing Association junior middleweight champion since 1983, has combined a smarting left hook and a 28-1 record to earn a chance in the big-arena spotlight.

McCorkle Turns To Betsinger For Goal Patrol

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

When the Florida Athletic Coaches Association (FACA) put out its 4A preseason state poll, Lake Mary's Rams were ranked fifth.

In making the rankings, the FACA probably considered Lake Mary's explosive and experienced offensive players, its tenacious defensive unit and that Larry McCorkle is one of Central Florida's most successful coaches ever.

What the FACA probably didn't know, is Lake Mary will be playing without an experienced goalkeeper. Steve Kilpatrick, an outstanding keeper a year ago, will miss the entire season due to knee surgery. In Kilpatrick's absence, Scott Betsinger takes over in goal.

"That could be a problem against a good team," McCorkle said. "Scott (Betsinger) works hard and does a good job, but he just isn't an experienced goalkeeper."

Lake Mary will get a good early-season indication of where it stands tonight in the Evans Tournament at Orlando Evans High. The Rams play host Evans tonight at 8 while fourth-ranked Cooper City and eighth-ranked Winter Garden West Orange square off in the opener at six.

Lake Mary goes in with a 1-0 record after a 3-0 victory over Orlando Oak Ridge on Tuesday. Leading the Lake Mary offense are brothers Rick Broenne and Ernie Broenne along with Jon Brooks, Steve Sapp, Tony Fiorentino and Lee Alexander.

Defensively, the top returnees are sweeper Scott Schmitt, Pete Kinsey, Chris Risk and Rick Morales. In his first game at keeper, Betsinger had three saves in recording his first shut-out.

Bryant, Mitchell Boot Lady Hornets; Campbell's Kick Lifts Lake Howell

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

Maye Belle Bryant and Kim Mitchell booted two goals each Thursday night as Lyman's Lady Greyhounds opened the season with a 4-2 victory over Bishop Moore's Lady Hornets at Bishop Moore High.

Lyman opens play in the Seminole Athletic Conference tonight at 6 at Oviedo.

"It was a pretty good team effort," first-year Lyman coach Laura Dryden said. "We got a good effort from our keeper (Sarah Cobb) and Kerry Musante and Tammy Fulsang on defense."

Lyman took a 2-1 halftime lead and scored two more in the second half to sew up the win. Randi Huddleston had a pair of assists for the Lady Greyhounds while Diana Boyesen had one assist.

Soccer

Cobb had eight saves at goalkeeper. Lyman had 30 shots on goal compared to 17 for Bishop Moore.

LADY HAWKS ARE 2-0

Tory Campbell scored 10 minutes into the second half to break a 1-1 tie and lead Lake Howell's Lady Silver Hawks to a

2-1 victory over Trinity Prep Thursday in girls soccer action at Trinity Prep.

Lake Howell improved to 2-0 with the win and returns to action Saturday at 10:30 a.m. at home against DeLand.

The Lady Hawks took a 1-0 lead 15 minutes into the match when Dawn Towle scored on a direct kick from 30 yards out. Trinity came back to tie it 10 minutes later and the score stood at 1-1 at halftime.

With 10 minutes gone in the second half, Campbell took a pass from Heather Brann and put in the goal that eventually gave Lake Howell the victory.

"We had many opportunities to put them (Trinity) away but didn't do it," Lake Howell coach Art Raynor said. "We had one series where Nicole Compton hit the post with a shot, it came back out to Tory (Campbell) and her shot bounced off the keeper and went to the wing from seven yards out and she put it over the post."

Defensively, Raynor said Darcy Misiak was the leader for the Lady Hawks while goalkeeper Sherri Raynor came up with four saves.

"Trinity Prep's whole offense is built around their center forward and Darcy (Misiak) shut her down," Raynor said.

NASCAR Hires Track Veteran

NASCAR has hired Paul C. Schaefer to be the editor of its new newspaper which the racing conglomerate hopes to have in publication in January. NASCAR currently puts out a small newsletter which comes out once a month.

Thirty-year-old Schaefer, a reporter for the Sanford Herald for the last year, said welcomes the chance to cover the sport's five different divisions in an every-other-week format.

Schaefer feels he was picked for this job due to his 8-year stretch of covering Northern tracks in the late 70s and early 80s.

"I traveled over 30,000 miles a year doing motorsports features and editorials as well as announcing at a number of the Midwest tracks," Schaefer said.

He worked the wireless mike at Sandusky, Ohio and the Winchester Speedway in Indiana as well as a two-night-a-week show at the Mt. Clemens Race Track in Detroit.

"I virtually lived out of a suitcase those 8 years," he said. "But I would not have traded that time of my life for anything in the world."

Schaefer said he has several vivid memories about past auto racing ties and is anxious to return to the sports. He said working as a production staff helper for CBS during the Daytona 500 was invigorating, but the fondest moment was during the 1985 running of the CART 500 at Michigan Speedway, where he worked the wireless mike in the pits interviewing drivers in front of over 80,000 spectators.

quick-handed trio combined for 19 first-half points and played excellent defense. Whitney collected 10 points and handed out six assists to go with his five steals. Henderson finished with 11 points and six boards.

"We played together tonight instead of as individuals," Edwards, who finished with career-high totals of eight points, seven assists and three steals, said. "Everybody was committed to hitting the boards tonight."

The most committed was junior Walter "Dunkman" Hopson who collected 12 rebounds and scored 10 points in his first varsity game. Hopson, who one of the football heroes in the season-ending victory over DeLand, used his long arms to give Edgewater fits on the offensive boards.

It was back-to-back rebound buckets by Hopson and Hathaway which pushed the Seminole lead to 11 points midway through the second quarter. The Tribe went up 15 points three minutes into the third quarter before running off 10 consecutive points for a 59-34 bulge. Whitney and Hopson combined for eight of the 10.

Bellamy, a sophomore forward, hit a three-point play with 6:29 left in the game to give the 'Noles their biggest lead, 67-35, before Klein emptied the bench.

"The kids were really ready to play tonight," Klein said. "There was a different feeling in the locker room."

Which found its way to the court.

Roderick Henderson. Or a driving force like Andre Whitney. Or a streak shooter like Jerry "Stick" Parker.

But they do have Mike Polite.

"I saw a couple of Mike's dunks," Hathaway said. "But Craig (Walker) will be up for him. He'll really go to the boards."

Klein said the difference may be in depth and at the guards.

"We have to handle their pressure and they have to handle ours," the second-year coach said. "They play under control and then they push it up the floor. We have to be ready for that."

"But we just can't worry about Polite. We'll play him straight. The rest of the people will beat you. You just can't play Polite."

Or politely either.

Oviedo's 'Horseshoe' Defense Ropes Eustis

By Mark Blythe
Herald Sports Writer

Oviedo coach Dale Phillips went to his horseshoe defense and successfully roped the outside shooting of Eustis' Panthers as the Lions came away with a 54-49 victory Thursday night in prep basketball at Eustis.

It was the second straight game that Oviedo, 2-0, has used free throw shooting to pull out its victory. Oviedo will return to action tonight as it travels to Orlando Bishop Moore to take on the Hornets.

"It was real close right up to the end," Phillips said. "It was more of a one-point game, they just started fouling on purpose late."

The Lions came through on 12 of 19 from the line but were able to capitalize when they needed it. Both Robb Hughes and Brian Wilson hit three free throws in the final minute to give Oviedo the push it needed.

Garth Bolton and Chris Griffith led the for the Lions scoring 10 points apiece. Wilson added nine and Hughes chipped in eight more.

Oviedo trailed all of the first half until the final minute when the Lions ran off six consecutive points to take a 23-22 lead.

Basketball

"We had a terrible first half," Phillips said. "Our guard play was non-existent, we just received some inside baskets by Hughes."

Phillips was happier with the efforts of the Lions in the second half. "We were much more consistent in the second half," Phillips said.

The outside shooting of Ronnie Reith and Bob Lancaster forced Phillips to switch defenses late. "They weren't shooting anything inside of 25 feet," Phillips said. "They weren't missing either so I switched our defense to a 3-2 which I call the horseshoe."

The defense worked as Reith who connected for 18 points cooled off as did Bob Lancaster who tallied 14 points.

Lendl, Becker Close In On Semis

Tennis

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ivan Lendl, trying to complete a $1-million week, and Boris Becker, the man most likely to stop him, can close in on semifinal berths today in the $500,000 Nabisco Masters.

The world's top two ranked players won their opening matches and would improve to 2-0 in the round-robin competition with victories tonight.

Lendl, the defending champion, faces Stefan Edberg in the second match tonight after Becker opens the program against Henri Leconte. Yannick Noah, with an 0-1 record, faces Andres Gomez, 0-2, in the final contest.

Lendl had to overcome a 5-3 deficit in the second set Thursday night before turning back Gomez, 6-3, 7-5, while Becker had the day off. In other matches Thursday, Mats Wilander and Stefan Edberg virtually clinched spots in Sunday night's semifinals by stretching their records to 2-0.

Both had to fight back after dropping the opening set, Wilander defeating fellow Swede Joakim Nystrom, 6-7 (5-7), 6-3, 6-3, and Edberg staving off one match point before subduing Noah, 4-6, 6-3, 7-6 (7-4).

Lendl already has collected $800,000 for leading the Nabisco Grand Prix points standings.

and an undefeated champion here would earn $210,000.

More important to Lendl is the fact he is healthy and feels no pain following a year in which he frequently was aching.

"I'm pleased," Lendl said of his 13th victory in 14 career meetings against Gomez. "I wasn't hurting and I felt quick and strong. I felt good about my net game and my serve."

The world's No. 1 player said he's been frustrated during his most recent knee and hip injuries, during which time he lost the final of the Sydney Indoor to Becker.

"I tried to come back during Sydney and Seiko (in Tokyo)," he said. "At Seiko, I was hurting so bad I couldn't even practice anymore. I had to pull out again. I had pain when my knee was crossing under my hip and my leg was going sideways. If it was going up and down, I didn't have any pain."

Lendl said he's not thinking yet of possibly facing Becker in another final when he is in less than 100-percent shape.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My mouth cracks in the corners. My doctor says it's because my teeth don't fit right, but that doesn't make sense to me.

DEAR READER — When false teeth do not fit properly, they can stimulate glands in the mouth to produce excess saliva. At night, the continuous moisture can wet the corners of your mouth, causing chapping. Ask your dentist to adjust your dentures and see if this solves the problem. Also, to aid healing, you might use a lanolin-containing skin cream, applied three times a day to the corners of your mouth.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My wife died after suffering for one year from what was finally determined to be Hamman-Rich syndrome. What can you tell me about this disease? We lived and traveled in many places all over the world; could this be a factor?

DEAR READER — Hamman-Rich syndrome is interstitial pneumonia, a diffuse and chronic inflammation of the lungs. It causes progressive pulmonary impairment with fever and difficulty breathing. Death usually occurs within a year or two because of cardiac or respiratory failure.

Interstitial pneumonia is thought to be an auto-immune disease (like rheumatoid arthritis and Sjogren's syndrome) in which the patient becomes allergic to his or her own lung tissue. The condition can be seen in patients who have severe allergic reactions to drugs. As lung inflammation continues, bacterial infection sets in, causing further damage. Hamman-Rich syndrome is best treated with oxygen and cortisone. Antibiotics may be needed to combat the superimposed infection.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My sister and I have been told that our insomnia is due to lack of serotonin in the brain. What is the function of this chemical?

DEAR READER — Serotonin, a chemical occurring naturally in brain and intestinal tissue, causes constriction of blood vessels and acts as a neurotransmitter (chemical messenger).

The amino acid tryptophan is a serotonin precursor — that is, it is turned into serotonin by the body. Some insomniacs discover that they sleep better after taking tryptophan at bedtime. Perhaps this is why milk, which contains tryptophan, is useful in helping some people to fall asleep. Naturally, one could conclude that a serotonin deficiency is the cause of insomnia in such cases. However, this may not be so. A natural serotonin deficiency probably is unusual.

However, some drugs (such as the anti-Parkinson medicine L-dopa) are known to inhibit serotonin synthesis and release in the body.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
The mark of a champion is to make simple little plays that seem obvious after the fact but are not so easy to find during play. Pam Wittes, who with her husband, Jon, recently won the World Mixed Pairs Championship, had just such a play to find in today's mundane one-trump contract. What do you suppose that play was? Here's a clue: It occurred at the first trick.

The play she made was to unblock dummy's jack of hearts immediately. She felt she would need an extra sure entry to her hand, and getting rid of dummy's jack solved that problem. When hearts were continued, she won the 10. She next played a diamond to dummy's king and led back a diamond to East's 10, her queen and West's ace. West led a spade, won by East's king, and East led back another heart to Pam's ace. Pam now played a diamond to dummy's nine, led a spade back to her jack and cashed her jack of diamonds. The two black aces left in dummy were two more tricks to take, and that gave Pam plus 120, a very good result in the across-the-field scoring taking place in the World Championship.

Certainly there are scenarios that make Pam's play at the first trick unnecessary, but her careful approach is to be admired. And the outcome of this deal and approximately 100 more — winning a World Championship — was quite acceptable to Pam and Jon Wittes.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY
DECEMBER 6, 1986
In the year ahead, impromptu plans could be the ones that work out best for you. Keep your lifestyle flexible and go with the flow.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) The idea of being your own person and doing things your way is not without merit, provided it is done with regard for the feelings of others. Selfishness will breed contempt. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker set instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail #2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) It's magnanimous of you to want to be generous, but take care today that you don't extend your openhandedness to one who lacks appreciation.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Someone who knows how to manipulate you might try to pull off something shrewd again today. You'll dislike yourself for your naivete, so be alert.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You might have a hard time keeping quiet today about some juicy gossip you've heard, but if you talk, you won't like what people would then say about you, so seal your lips.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) If your day ends on a sour note, it could well be your own fault for listening to a negative pal whose thinking cap isn't on straight. Be your own person.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Normally, you have little problem getting along with most people, but today you could run into a self-seeking individual who is impossible to please.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your productivity will be reduced appreciably today if you rely on someone particular to aid you. Your chances of getting this person's help are slim.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)

Don't volunteer to plan your group's activities today, because all your efforts could be for naught should everyone later decide to do his or her own thing.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Don't let an insensitive individual goad you into discussing a family problem at a social function today. The matter will worsen should it become public.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Should you not receive the help you were counting on from your family today, limit your disappointment to a quiet grumble. Open hostility could ruin everyone's day.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Funds that you earned and were counting on so that you could go out on the town might be withheld. It would be wise to keep other options open.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Hanging around with those who can spend freely might cause you to blame your less affluent circumstances on your spouse. Why cause yourself such unhappiness?

Select Proper Tree For Radiant Beauty During Holiday Season

Some folks prefer artificial Christmas trees. These trees have gained considerable popularity in recent years, primarily because of their convenience and consistent appearance. But many of us still prefer a real tree. If you're a traditionalist and plan to purchase a natural tree, it's important that you shop early and take good care of your purchase from the moment you get it home until the holidays are over.

This season, you'll be able to find genuine Florida-grown trees, either sand pine or red cedar. And, you won't find any fresher ones. Florida's warm weather causes many Christmas trees to wilt quickly and drop their needles. How well your selection will survive depends on the type of tree and when it was cut. So, buying a fresh tree is probably the best advice I can give you.

There are a couple of reasons why a fresh tree is important. Obviously, a fresh tree will last, and they look better longer. Old, dried-out trees are unattractive. And, they're fire hazards as well. Since most of us include electric lights in our decorations, it's easy to see that a dried-out tree becomes very dangerous.

There are several ways to determine a tree's freshness. Bend the needles. If the tree is fresh, the needles will be supple and springy. If the tree is old, the needles will snap and break off. Bounce the stump on the ground to see how many needles fall. If you get a shower, put the tree back and select another. Feel the bottom of the stump. The sap of a fresh tree is sticky. On an old stump, it's hard and caked. And, a fresh tree will have a pleasant fragrance that will last throughout the Christmas season.

Maybe this is the year you should consider purchasing a Florida-grown sand pine or cedar. We are fortunate in that we have a couple of local Christmas tree growers who can supply you with the tree you want. Take the kids with you and you can cut the tree yourself, or have them cut it for you. You'll know it's the freshest tree you can possibly find.

In Seminole County, check out the Blissen Christmas Tree Farm, 775 Pine Way, Sanford, south on Sanford Avenue, and 1/4 mile east on Pine Way. In Orange County, try the Christmas Tree Ranch, 7549 Covedale Drive, Orlando. According to the Marketing Division of the Florida Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services, several Christmas tree dealers in the area will be offering genuine Florida-grown cut trees, also.

Regardless of the type of natural Christmas tree you choose — an imported fir, pine, spruce or a native Florida sand pine or red cedar — be sure you select a fresh, well-shaped tree. Before buying, decide where you'll set it up in your home, so you'll know exactly what size to buy. If you plan to put it in a corner, you may save a few bucks by choosing one with a bad side.

If you buy your tree several days before you plan to set it up, store it outdoors — in a cool area under shade or in a carport. Cut the tree stump at a diagonal about 1 inch above the original cut and place the tree in a container of water. When you bring the tree inside, cut the stump again, this time squaring off the diagonal. This creates a fresh wound which helps the tree to take up water through the stump. Now you can place the tree in a stand that holds water.

Place your tree in the coolest part of the room. Keep it away from fireplaces, radiators, air ducts — even TV sets. The heat from these will cause the tree needles to dry out and drop off very quickly. Be sure you keep the stand filled with water at all times. It's surprising how quickly a good-sized tree can take up a quart of water. Check the water level in the stand at least once a day.

A word about safety! Never use candles or anything with an open flame on or near the tree. If you use electric lights, check them over very carefully for frayed wires or loose connections. Don't overload your electrical circuits. If you must use an extension cord, run it out of the way of foot traffic and be sure it's heavy enough to carry the load. Always turn the tree lights off when you leave home or go to bed.

Buying and caring for your Christmas tree may not be the biggest problem on your mind as the season approaches. But, if you plan to have a natural Christmas tree in your home this year, keep in mind that a fresh tree with good shape and sturdy branches usually will make the best tree. Make sure you keep the tree in the coolest possible place and that you water it every day. Do take the time to set the tree up properly and care for it regularly. You'll be rewarded for your efforts with radiant beauty throughout the holiday season.

Happy gardening!

Irate Smoker Defends Employees Relaxing In Public Rest Rooms

DEAR ABBY: Your agreeing with "Holding My Breath" was selfish and bigoted. She complained about having to use smoke-filled rest rooms in restaurants and department stores because their employees use them as a place to smoke. Then you went along with her, saying that one day you hope to see "No Smoking" signs in public rest rooms.

For your information, Abby, the rest rooms in department stores and restaurants are a necessity for employees — not a convenience for customers! Those employees do you the courtesy of allowing you to use their rest rooms — the only place they can go to get off their feet, relax and enjoy a cigarette.

Why don't you non-smokers stop throwing your weight around as if you owned the world? We smokers are a part of the population, too, and if you don't like it, then stay in your ivory tower and stagnate!

I'M SOMEBODY, TOO, MELBOURNE, FLA.

DEAR SOMEBODY: Recent studies confirm that second-hand tobacco smoke is hazardous to one's health. For your information, most restaurants and stores are required by law to provide clean and safe toilet facilities for their customers. And the department of public health is supposed to inspect those facilities regularly to ensure that they meet the requirements.

DEAR ABBY: My son is a smart fellow. He makes very good money, but spends it as fast as he gets it. He lives recklessly and isn't interested in building any kind of future because he doesn't believe he has one.

How did this happen? Well, he went to a palm reader a few years ago. She read his palm and told him he had a very short lifeline. He took this to mean that he wasn't going to live very long, so he just lives for today.

Dear Abby

I have tried to convince him that palm readers cannot see into the future and there is no way they can tell how long a person is going to live. Abby, do you think it's possible to foretell the future by looking at someone's palm?

WORRIED IN INDIANA
DEAR WORRIED: No. All one can tell by looking at someone's palm is whether it's clean or dirty. However, if your son is looking for an excuse to live recklessly with no thought to his future, one excuse is as good as the next.

DEAR ABBY: My letter was one of many you published from men who had to let their loved ones know (by code) their whereabouts during World War II.

Later you published a letter from a reader who said that Lord Halla and Tokyo Rose must have received a lot of valuable information from those sources, which probably cost us many lives. Nonsense!

First of all, I flew 35 combat missions with the 8th Air Force and I was not about to tip off the enemy. All our planes were clearly marked. Our group (the 44th Bomb Group) had distinctive markings on the tail and numbers on the fuselage identifying each squadron. The enemy was obviously well aware of where we were stationed because occasionally they would return to pay us a call. Revealing our whereabouts cost us no lives. None of the writers disclosed where they were headed — only where they had been.

EDWARD J. BARTON, CAMARILLO, CALIF.

Bible Way Faith Ministries is sponsoring a panel discussion at 7 p.m., Dec. 6 at the Oviedo

DEAR ABBY: Here's a suggestion for the woman who felt frustrated and helpless because her mother's clothing kept vanishing in the nursing home: Since your mother is either in bed or in a wheelchair and on view from one angle only, take a great big black indelible marker, and in larger letters write her name across the seat of all her clothes — expensive ones and all. I guarantee that your mother's wardrobe will remain intact.

ROBERT TAYLOR, HOUSTON

CONFIDENTIAL TO SAMMY IN KISSIMMEE, FLA.: Don't expect too much and you'll not be disappointed. As my saluted father used to say, "When a poor man rubs elbows with a rich man, all he gets is a hole in his sleeve."

CONFIDENTIAL TO JERRY IN RUTLAND, VT.: I received your 32-page letter. If you're going to cry over spilled milk, please condense it.

Mustering Art And Patience
 In Assembling An Army

Little Lead Soldiers

Photos And Story
 By Susan Loden
 Herald Staff Writer

Skip Watts doesn't just think small; he thinks teenie-weenie with the collector's metal figures he makes with metal casting.

Watts has toy soldiers that would fit, except for their height of about 1.5 inches, into the world armies of the past. The most popular are painted in the colors of the American War Between the States.

Although he also casts Santas, snowmen, unicorns, cowboys, Indians and weapons, Watts, 60, favors soldiers in this metal mix craft. He said the World War I doughboys he creates are the same as those made with moldings used when he was a boy in the 1920s.

"You used to be able to get the whole kit with the melting pot, a couple of bars of lead and the mold. And a kid would do that. But, of course, the government took it off the market because of the danger with hot lead," he said.

Today this is a craft for adults. But Watts said not too many grownups are interested in making the figures, although a lot collect them.

With his work on display in Longwood, he said he is only one of three casters he has seen in crafts shows. As for the molds, "There's only one place in the country that has quality molds. That's a mail order place in Longwood called Castings. They advertise in magazines," he said.

And one of those magazine ads caught his eye about five years ago, after his brother-in-law suggested this might be a good hobby for Watts, who until then had done some woodworking.

As a telephone company employee Watt, who is retired, said it's ironic that he began his career as a splicer's helper and worked with hot lead. He said he isn't afraid of the molten metal, which with improper exposure can poison. "I take precautions. The most dangerous part about it is the fumes, so you have to work in a well ventilated place. I don't stand around the pot smelling it."

The lead is mixed with tin and other metals to lower its melting point, so it won't melt the metal or silicone mold as the casting is poured.

Even with that precaution, Watts said, making the tiny metal castings is tricky business. "You get about one out of 10," he said. The others, in which portions are misformed, can be remelted and recast. The greatest care is taken not to melt the molds with a too hot casting mix. The molds cost start at about $11, he said, and some can be used only once.

To practice his craft takes patience, Watts said, because, with care, he can only produce one figure per day.

...Army

The metal is mixed and melted in a metal pot and the casting poured. The figure cools and hardens and then is removed from the mold.

The edges of the figures that are marked with metal overflow from the seams of the mold have to be "flashed," Watts said.

That means he takes a file, a drill or whatever tool is necessary to smooth and clean the figure into a true shape, with no excess of metal on the edges. Some casters don't bother with flashing, he said, and they end up with a less than perfect product.

But Watts is a perfectionist who, with great care and after extensive research, paints his figures to be true to the colors worn by the armies they represent.

Before the figures can be painted they have to be cleaned with vinegar, to remove grease and residue from the lead filings. Then they are rinsed and dried.

The surface is primed and then with tiny brushes Watts colors his toys.

His quest of authenticity is vigilant and he said some who see his work can't believe their eyes because, in the case of American Civil War soldiers, the colors used aren't just blue and grey, especially for the Rebels.

Some soldiers, Watts said, wore butternut brown uniforms, with the material having been dyed from a mix of nutshells and rust. Some Civil Warriors had a mix of colors in their dress wearing grey coats and brown pants, he said. Others, he said, wore all brown uniforms.

"The American Civil War was the most interesting war in the world, I guess," he said. "People seem to go for it more than anything and the uniforms, they like the uniforms."

And in his reproduction of these Yankees and Rebels, Watts tries to give people what they want as accurately as he can, using a painstaking process. For him it's a labor of love.

Big Swede's Punch Bruised A Superstar's Heart

By Vernon Scott
UPI Hollywood Reporter
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Remember the towering Russian fighter in "Rocky IV"? The guy who lost the championship and then watched Rocky wrap himself in the Stars and Stripes? He wasn't Russian at all, of course. He was and is Dolph Lundgren, a 6-foot-6, 235-pound Swede who almost maimed Sylvester Stallone with a punch that bruised the superstar's heart and closed down production.

Lundgren survived the histrionics of Rocky's ultimate victory to be cast in a glitzy new sci-fi epic, "Masters of the Universe," based on the characters of the Mattel Toy line of futuristic creatures.

"Masters of the Universe" became an animated daily syndicated TV show watched by millions of viewers in 32 countries.

In the role of He-Man, Lundgren plays a hero in his second Hollywood film, to be released next summer.

"It's great to play a good guy instead of a bad guy," Lundgren said in a voice surprisingly free of Swedish accent.

An electrical engineer who modeled in New York for a few years, Lundgren's magnificent physique and Scandinavian good looks qualify him for leading man status in Hollywood movies, a goal he accomplishes in his second film.

After completing "Rocky IV" Lundgren hit the road in this country, Europe and Asia promoting the film, an exercise beneath No. 1 box-office star Stallone.

"It was a wonderful six months to help spread my image around the world," Lundgren said. "I thought of it as ground-breaking to further my career."

Lundgren has classically chiseled features, softened somewhat by medium-length blond hair, grown out from the crewcut he wore in the role of Drago, the pride of the Soviet Union's boxing elite.

The part of He-Man requires Lundgren to be in even better shape than Drago. He has worked out for an hour every day since last May, two months before the start of production on "Masters of the Universe." Now, three months into the shoot, Lundgren continues to press on.

"This is far more difficult than Rocky, and it is running much longer," the big guy said in his dressing room at Laird Studios.

"I spent months learning sword-fighting and stunts. And we just completed three months of night shooting, which is a movie record. Working all night in cold weather in skimpy wardrobe was rough. Because I am bare-chested most of the time, I have to keep my body conditioned."

"This picture is more physical than Rocky, Conan or Rambo. He-Man is a larger-than-life character like Errol Flynn played. There is an almost Biblical stature about him."

"The film already has a pre-sold audience of kids, thanks to the Mattel association. For five years now He-Man has been bigger with kids than Superman or G.I. Joe. He's almost as popular with youngsters in Europe as he is in the United States."

"The toy company has sold something like $700 million of 'Masters of the Universe' characters. Kids feel so strongly attracted to the characters they will want their parents to see the film too.

"He-Man is involved with other Mattel characters. Frank Langella plays Skeletor, the villain. Meg Foster is Evil-Lynn, Skeletor's warrior. And Billy Barty plays Gwildor."

"When the concept of the toys and TV animated figures is translated to film, if it is well done, adults will enjoy the picture too. Flesh and blood actors bring the concept a new dimension."

"If 'Masters of the Universe' is as successful as we all hope it will be, there is a good chance there will be a sequel. And I might play He-Man if I approve the script."

But the ambitious Lundgren isn't thinking that far ahead. He has completed a health and fitness video, "Maximum Potential," scheduled for sale after the first of the year. He is also developing two screenplays.

"The first is a political thriller set in Central America and the Caribbean," he said. "I had them tailor the script to my character. I'm also working on another script with David Gamburg, a Russian director from Leningrad. It's a contemporary story set in New York."

What's Happening?

By Nancy M. Reichardt

ALL MY CHILDREN

Natalie responded to an offer of an art gallery job then found herself framed on charges that she's fencing stolen art. Adam secretly engineered Natalie's arrest. Tad enticed Hillary into bed with him, but she refused to reconcile with him. Adam advised Skye to give up her love for Tad. Stuart and Skye moved into Adam's mansion. At a remote cabin in Maine, Nina bolstered Cliff's confidence, helping him save a dying man, Caleb. Nina and Cliff admitted they're still in love. Benny nixed returning to work for Phoebe, even though he's out of a job because Tom decided not to reopen Panache. Jeremy freaked to read newspaper stories that Erica threw him over for Matt. Matt helped Erica "find" Mark's confession letter after Mark phoned to say that he split town because he had accidentally killed Earl. Erica gave Mark's letter to the cops, who think the letter was faked to free Jeremy.

ANOTHER WORLD

Victoria was nearly stabbed when Reginald's hired Vince lookalike threw a knife at Reginald. Reginald received a minor wound when he shoved Victoria out of the way of the knife. Vince realized that someone set it up to look like he tried to kill Reginald. Vince was last seen driving out of town with Cass and Kathleen. District attorney Peggy Lazarus rejected Peter's decision to drop the attempted murder charges against Brittany. Peter realized that Peter Reginald's paternity will come out in court and everyone will learn that he's not the boy's father. The police blocked Brittany's attempt to escape from the courtroom as her trial got underway. Caitlin told Brittany that he still loves her. Mac convinced Rachel not to charge Mitch with kidnapping after Matthew admitted he ran away and then was rescued by Mitch. Reginald turned Peter Reginald over to Caitlin's care. Mary nixed returning to Reginald.

AS THE WORLD TURNS

In England, Frannie suspects that the mysterious blind woman, Mona, isn't blind. Iva admitted to Craig that she's Lily's mother, but insisted he keep the news to himself. Socialite Corinne Lawrence and her daughter are smitten with Holden. Bob learned Rick was fired from his last hospital job. Lisa told Earl that she's going through menopause, then Earl told Lisa that he's returning to Europe. Beatrice insisted the weird noises in Duncan's castle are caused by the spirit of a woman named Rosalind. Seth went to London to visit Frannie. Meg went with Seth to escort her Uncle Henry back to Oakdale after his medical treatments. Sierra returned to Oakdale and told Craig that she's trying to patch things up with Tonto. Casey smooched with Lyla, who's uncomfortable about their age difference. Bob and Kim decided to spend the holidays in London with Frannie.

CAPITOL

Kelly told a disbelieving Sam that he's Scotty's father. Sloane and Hubert recognized Yasmien's assassin (but they don't know his name, which is Colton) when he failed an attempt to shoot Clarissa. Sloane and Hubert tailed Colton, who made contact with a mystery person. Mark told Clarissa he'll use his sources in Columbe to check on the man she knew as Baxter. Thomas returned Scotty to the rehab center to kick her drug habit. Jordy's spending a lot of time with designer Nicole Rousseau.

DAYS OF OUR LIVES

In Stockholm, Patch was contacted by an old "friend," who ordered Patch to smuggle a cache of emeralds into the United States. At the last minute, Patch left a jacket containing the emeralds behind, but Kayla took the jacket. Kayla later stashed the diamonds before she was searched by customs officials. Barbara wants to leave town before Kimberly recognizes Teddy. Remembering that drug use caused his brother's death, Glenn agreed to help Abe nab drug dealers that sell to high school kids. Savannah was taken off to jail after Abe found her in possession of the mayoral ballot boxes. Abe put a stop to Alex's mayoral inauguration ceremony. Patch was stabbed when he tried to tell his "friend" that he no longer has the emeralds. Roman hired a guard to protect Marlana from Orpheus. Putting herself in jeopardy, Gillian leaked the story of Vaughn's past deeds to the press. Robin and Mitch cut their honeymoon short.

GENERAL HOSPITAL

Anna and Robert broke the news to members of the police force that Bert was a bad cop. The men on the force helped Anna and Robert set up a sting operation that netted Bert and his organized crime buddies. After learning that everyone was onto his schemes, Bert slipped out and was sent to a sanitarium. Hobbi and Jake were upset that they had to put a hold on their surrogate mother plans because they're having financial difficulties. Now that Rick and Ginny are gone, Amy moved in with Tania and Tony. Pilgrim had Damon murdered for real after he realized that Frisco had faked Damon's earlier "murder." Duke was shot as he prevented Bert from shooting Robert. Tony operated on Duke, who's paralyzed from the waist down. Robert and his team thwarted the attempt to transfer more laundered money out of Port Charles. Frisco and Felicia rallied to help Duke.

GUIDING LIGHT

Kyle returned to Tulsa after a final goodbye to Reva. Dinah was kidnapped by Joe, who wants Henry to pay a ransom for her return. A confused Grace thinks Dinah is Vanessa. Mark is worried that he'll be caught smuggling stolen paintings into the country for India. Johnny tried, but failed, to contact Christine, a former girlfriend. After Dorie found a token from the carnival, Calla and Dorie searched the carnival grounds, but didn't find Dinah. Jean-Claude's friends discussed the fact that he was a diabetic. Roxie accepted a chance to go on an archeological dig. At an art auction, India revealed a nude portrait of Alex, who wasn't even ruffled by the disclosure of the painting. Dinah tried to get Ramona to help her escape from Joe. Reva freaked when Josh appeared in public during the art auction. Gerhardt, who's also in Springfield, kept out of Josh's sight.

LOVING

After Judd left town without Ava, she decided that she wants Curtis back. Clara took Kelly to a soup kitchen in New York, where Kelly later spotted Zach, who's looking for her. The officials at the Corinth prison nixed giving Eban any information on Lottie, even though Eban said Lottie is his common-law wife. Nick slapped Trisha, then forced her to attend a party thrown by her family. A friend warned Trisha to get out of Nick's clutches. While high on pills and booze, Trisha berated her family.

ONE LIFE TO LIVE

Dimitri got away, but Tina, Cord, Dorian, Kate, Jonathan and Agrippina were safely off of Devil's Island before bombs set by Dimitri blew the place up. Agrippina, who was working for the good guys, revealed that she had the microfilm that Jonathan was trying to get from Dimitri. Allison told Viki that she'd kidnapped Jessica because Mitch programmed her to steal the child. Jamie talked Diane into helping him escape from the cops. During his escape, Jamie shot a guard. Diane accidentally ran down Allison with Dorian's car. Jamie ordered Diane to return Dorian's car to the garage. Viki was with Allison at the time she was run down, but Viki didn't recognize the driver of the car. Jamie took Connie and Didi hostage. Viki realized that Maria framed her for Jessica's kidnapping. Thomas and Clint fought over Viki, who went into a trance-like state and then mistook Thomas for her deceased husband, Joe.

Hollywood's Holidays

By Frank Sanello

Of all the celluloid messages that Hollywood has sent to America over the years, only one never seems to go out of fashion.

It is, simply, that Christmas is a wonderful, magical time of year for children from ages 4 to 100. And every year Hollywood's idea of Christmas pops up on television in the form of holiday movie perennials.

According to a survey of national TV logs, the three Christmas films most often televised are "It's a Wonderful Life" (1946), "Miracle on 34th Street" (1947) and "White Christmas" (1954).

All three popular classics contain upbeat messages suitable for holiday consumption — along with the eggnog and punch.

As its title suggests, "It's a Wonderful Life" teaches Jimmy Stewart that things aren't as bad as they seem — that it is a wonderful life.

Stewart plays a folksy type whose business is on the verge of bankruptcy. Despondent, he tries to commit suicide at Christmastime, despite the love of his wife (Donna Reed) and children and the respect of his neighbors.

But his guardian angel appears and shows him what the world would have been like without his supposedly worthless, pointless life.

The life-affirming message of "It's a Wonderful Life" may be especially potent because psychologists say the holiday season can be the most depressing time of the year for troubled people.

The film "It's a Wonderful Life" originated as a Christmas-card greeting.

Writer Philip Van Doren had sent out cards that contained a short story called "The Greatest Gift." RKO bought the story and gave it to Frank Capra to direct. In his autobiography, Capra, who directed some of Hollywood's most beloved films, wrote that "It's a Wonderful Life" was the story he had been looking for all his life.

"Miracle on 34th Street" is a particular favorite with children because it confirms their belief in Santa Claus. Working in Macy's, Kris Kringle (Edmund Gwenn) goes on trial to prove he's really Santa.

Of all the holiday perennials, "White Christmas" comes in for the most Scrooge-like bashing by the critics. One film encyclopedia says the 1954 movie is little more than a calculated ripoff of 1942's "Holiday Inn." Both films starred Bing Crosby and featured him singing "White Christmas."

Regardless of the critics, those movies gave a jolt to the Irving Berlin song, which sold 25 million records.

While "It's a Wonderful Life," "Miracle on 34th Street" and "White Christmas" are TV's most popular Christmas films, "A Christmas Carol" has been produced more than any other holiday-themed film.

The story of how Scrooge turned into a nice guy has been made into a feature film no fewer than 12 times! The most recent was a musical "Scrooge" in 1970 that starred Albert Finney as the Victorian curmudgeon. (A 1984 TV-movie featured George C. Scott doing a grim method interpretation of the role.)

Julia that their attempt to make a baby is strictly a business deal. Jane suspects that Caroline is sneaking off to see a man.

SEARCH FOR TOMORROW

Cagney fired shots at Miss Hobbs, who died when she fell off the roof of Liberty House. Judge Henderson manipulated Miss Hobbs into confessing that she committed the payroll robbery attributed to Matt. Malcolm, who arrived in Henderson, rebuffed the skeleton Quinn found in the basement of Kate's house. Cagney regained the use of his paralyzed legs. Kate was upset to hear that Malcolm was about to marry Kat when Quinn kidnapped Kat. Kat failed to escape from Quinn. Sunny learned that her marriage to Bela was for real.

THE YOUNG AND THE RESTLESS

Paul freaked out when his mom, Mary, showed him the magazine containing his nude photo. Julia tried to talk to Ashley about her abortion, but Ashley refused to let Julia help her. Matt told Julia to keep mum that he had her come to see Ashley. Jack warned Brad not to make any mistakes at Jabot or with Traci. Jack moved back into John's mansion so he can keep an eye on Brad. Nina taunted Cricket about all the time Danny's spending with Terry. Danny got angry when Terry suggested that Cricket influence Danny's decisions about his music. Jill vowed that she'll fight Kay's efforts to adopt Philip and change his name to Chancellor. Victor vetoed Nikki's suggestion that they go on their planned trip together and leave an ailing Victoria with their houseboy, Miguel. Kay insisted to Philip that she's not using him to get revenge on Jill. Ashley nixed telling Jack why she split up with Victor.

RYAN'S HOPE
Della returned the real necklace to Maggie, who threw it in Della's face because she thought it was the fake. Lizzie remembered Harlan telling her that her ailing mother died in a car accident. Jack was troubled that Devlin rushed off when he tried to discuss Erik. Max told Erik to find out what Stobhan knows about Max's operation "overload." Johnny was denied bail. Devlin was puzzled when Erik shouted at her that Sean isn't Max's son. Ryan lured when Mark asked for an exclusive story on Johnny's arrest.

SANTA BARBARA
Caroline visited Alice's father, Gus Jackson, who's in Chino prison because he shot a cop who had molested Alice. Caroline accused Gus of taking their daughter, Alice, away from her. Gus said Alice was institutionalized after his arrest. In the line of duty, Cruz shot and wounded Danny, who was committing a robbery to get drug money. Cruz arrested drug dealer, Angel, who was selling to Danny. Julia noticed Mason's sudden interest in Tori. Mason told Tori about his love for Mary. Brian rejected Pearl, who said he wants to be friends. Alice, who said she always loved Brian, admitted she was upset that he never returned for her after he escaped from the mental hospital. Lionel knows about Caroline's visits to Chino. Cruz and Eden each reminisced about their lost love. Mason reminded

Big Bets: Were They, Or Weren't They?

Dear Dick: Big bucks are riding on this. Is Newhart's Julia Duffy the same girl who did the roller skating Red Riding Hood commercial for Dr. Pepper some time ago? — F.S., Taylor, Texas.

Dear Dick: I was watching a re-run of "Good Times" and a guest on it sounded and looked like Philip Michael Thomas of "Miami Vice." Could you tell me if my eyes and ears need to be checked, or if Thomas was that guest. — J.R., Muskegon, Mich.

Dear Readers: You both win with the sharp-eyes prize. Yes, Julia Duffy did do that commercial. And, yes, Thomas was a guest on "Good Times" on an episode called "Sex and the Evans Family." Actors will do anything when they are just starting.

Dear Dick: I recently saw James Stacy on "Cagney & Lacey." I would like to know the name of the TV western he was in a few years ago, playing a character named Johnny Madrid. Who was the actor who played his brother on that show? — K.M., Springfield, Mo.

Dear K.M.: That was the unforgettable "Lancer," which you forgot. Stacy played Johnny Madrid Lancer and Wayne Maunder was his half-brother, Scott.

Dear Dick: Somewhere between the 1974 and 1977, I saw a late movie by the name of

Ask Dick Kleiner

"Electra Glide In Blue." It starred Robert Blake. He rode a motorcycle and was killed at the end. I've never seen it advertised or shown on TV since. Do you know anything about this movie? Or am I wrong on both the title and the star? I'd like to see it again. — M.R., Hamlet, Ind.

Dear M.R.: You're right on both counts. It was a 1973 release and it has been on TV. If we're lucky, we've seen the last of it. As an indication, it hasn't even been released on cassette.

Dear Dick: Many years ago, I saw a film based on the life of Ben Hogan, the golfer. I believe it was called "Follow the Sun" and starred Glenn Ford and Anne Baxter. I'd love to purchase a cassette of the film, or tape it myself off TV. I've been looking for it, but can't seem to find it. — R.D., Bay City, Texas.

Dear R.D.: The same answer as the one above — it's not available on cassette and your chances of seeing it again are slim to slimmer.

Dear Dick: In the mid 1940s, the movie "Desert Song," with Dennis Morgan, was made. I've never seen it on TV. Will it ever be on tape? — J.B., Portage, Mich.

Dear J.B.: One more time — no VCR for this one, either. And it wasn't Dennis Morgan in that 1953 still. It was Gordon MacRae.

Dear Dick: I need to settle a bet about two series, "The Rookies" and "The Mod Squad." I say the black man in "The Mod Squad" was Clarence Williams III and in "The Rookies," the black police officer was George Stanford Brown. Also, Kate Jackson and Sam Melville starred in "The Rookies." And in "The Mod Squad," Peggy Lipton and Mike Cole starred. Am I right? — P.L., Houston, Texas.

You're right on all accounts. Georg Stanford Brown was the black man in "The Rookies," with co-stars Sam Melville and Kate Jackson as husband and wife Mike and Jill Danko. In "The Mod Squad," black actor Clarence Williams III played Line Hayes. Peggy Lipton and Michael Cole co-starred as Pete Cochran and Julie Barnes.
