

Computer System Ordered For Home Office Of IDS

MINNEAPOLIS—Investors Divi- sional Services Inc., largest in- vestment corporation of its kind in the nation, and represented by banker Harry C. Schellberg, has ordered the latest large- scale electronic computer system for its home office, Joseph M. Fitzsimmons, IDS president, an- nounced today.

IDS will be one of the first cor- porations in the United States to acquire the new system and will have the first model to be install- ed in Minneapolis. The Company's rapidly expanding business and its prospects for future growth re- quire powerful electronic data processing machines to provide bet- ter service for its more than 800, 000 customer accounts and to make available to management each day valuable statistical information which previously has been too costly to obtain, Fitzsimmons said.

One of the outstanding features of the new system is a complete- ly transistorized magnetic tape unit with an input-output rate fast enough to read and write the equivalent of a full length book every fifteen seconds. This through- speed tape unit can read and write business information at the rate of 60,000 characters per second, or an entire reel of 16 million characters in less than 24 minutes, automatically double checking itself and correct- ing its own errors. The central electronic processing unit will handle customer record keeping at electronic speeds of nearly three quarters of a million steps per minute.

This newest so-called giant brain, the IBM 705 Model III, pub- licly announced by its manufac- turer, International Business Ma- chines Corporation, in September, will be installed in the IDS home office in the Investors Build- ing. IDS has had complete auto- mation for its customer accounts services since 1964, and has re- mained in the vanguard for im- proved mechanical and electro- nic equipment to keep pace with the steadily growing needs. For several years the company has been using two IBM 650 com- puters.

The Company is making exten- sive preparations for the installa- tion of the 705-III, including recon- struction of the area where the new computer system will be housed and provision of special air conditioning. Some employees already have been trained to set up programs for the various units in the system.

"Harnessing the electron to handle masses of paper work has permitted many of our employees to exchange laborious, time-con- suming jobs for more interesting and creative work within the company," Fitzsimmons said.

"The remarkable performance of the IBM 705-III system will enable us to service our customers with greater efficiency and at significantly lower cost. It will also enable us to handle a greater vol- ume of business, which is increas- ing rapidly as Investors Divar- sified Services and the Investors Group of companies under its management continue to grow."

Road Dept. Spends $800,000 In 1957 For Grass Cutting

If you think it costs a lot to keep your lawn trimmed regularly, just think what it costs the State Road Department to keep the grass along our highways mowed.

Last year it cost almost $800,000 to keep the rights of way along more than 14,000 miles of primary and secondary highways neatly mowed, according to records of the Road Department's maintenance division, directed by Assistant Highway Engineer R. C. Bannerman, Jr.

This tremendous job of grass cutting took 194 mowing units a distance equivalent to about 26 times around the earth.

Maintenance engineers estimat- ed that 150,000 square acres of grass adjacent to state highways was mowed an average of three times—or the equivalent of 6 ft. wide strips of grass 650,000 miles long.

THE PARIS SUBWAY, called the "Metro," doesn't carry as many passengers each day as its counterpart in New York, but has several features worthy of comment. It has "hot" and "cold" class compartments, first costing a penny or two more and being equipped with cush- ioned seats. There also are special seats on every train for invalids and ladies ac- companying bundles from heav- en—two features that men- tioners of American urban rail systems will might borrow.

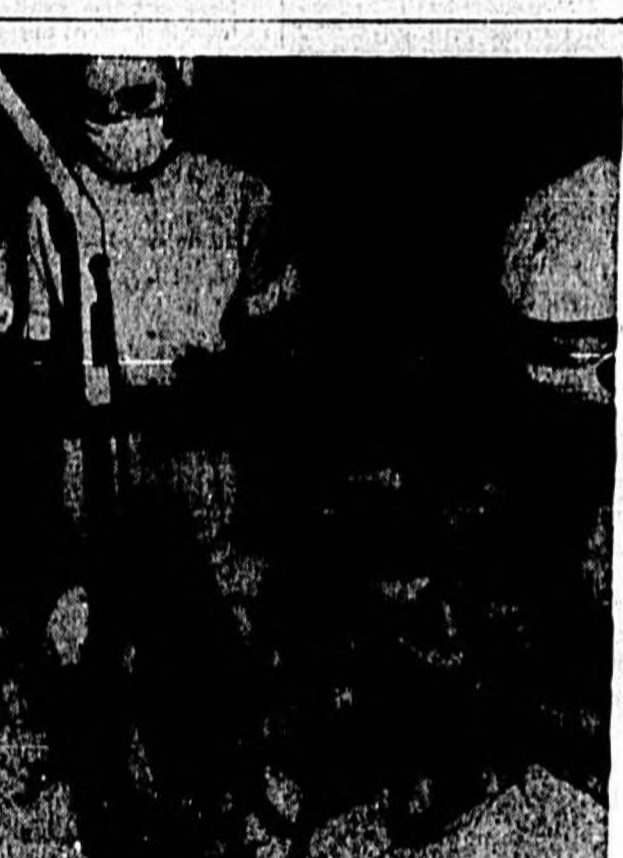

Another excellent feature of the Paris "Metro" pre- vents passengers from hold- ing up a train by trying to pry open half-closed doors. As it enters the station, gates auto- matically shut at all entrances to the platform, so that only passengers already on the platform can climb aboard. As the train pulls out, the entrance gates open again on now-empty platforms. Clever, these Parisians, n'est-ce pas?

BLOOD TRANSFUSIONS FOR INFANT—The newly-born son of Mrs. Barbara Guidici, 36, of Quincy, Mass., is given blood transfusions to replace RH negative blood. Mrs. Guidici, mother of two, gave birth after she fainted and became trapped in her bathroom. Her husband, police and excited neighbors shouted instructions and encouragement through a partly- jammed door. The mother and the child are in good condition.

SEMINOLE SMOKE SIGNALS

Band Proud Of New Uniforms

The Seminole High School Band's greatest thrill since marching down Canal Street at the Mardi Gras Parade was receiving the shipment of 70 colorful and smart looking uniforms after months of hard work to raise money to pay for them upon arrival. Beginning last Spring the Seminole Band Association sponsored a chicken barbecue to launch the campaign of raising funds for the specific purpose of purchasing new uniforms. With proceeds from this fund a savings account, which has since grown steadily, was opened at the Florida State Bank at the beginning of this school year several uniform companies were notified and as a result their representatives met with a uniform committee to discuss the style and cost of a new uniform. The committee consisted of the officers of the Seminole Band Association: President Carl Brumback, Gladys Studebaker, Dot Williams, Mrs. J. P. Wilson, and Mr. A. J. Bracken, principal of the commissioned band officers: Captain Wally Pope, 1st Lt. Irma Corley, Dickie Rountree and Jerry St. John, 2nd Lt. Pauline Rans, June Jennings, and Amoret Spier; Mrs. Marvin Millam and Mrs. Emory Spier; Mr. George Dabbs, Alumnus Mrs. Joe Doullitt and Bandmaster Ernest Cowley. The West Point styled uniform was selected with a white frontpiece orange jacket and black trousers. The Craddock Uniform Company was chosen when bids were opened and at a later date a sample uniform was sent to the committee. This uniform was presented to the public in the Band's Christmas Parade, however it was realized by the uniform committee that the public wanted more of a change from the present uniform so a decision was made to use grey trousers with the stripe being school colors of orange and black.

We're sure that everyone by now knows that handsome Frank Averett has been dating that darling freshman Cindy May quite often. Don't they look cute together?

Deos Cenamque Cano

After appropriate welcome and invocation (which nobody understood because it was all in Latin) by Kay Ivey and Skip Palmer, began the annual festive occasion, which is traditionally called the Latin Banquet, during which the Latin classes act as host to the teachers and principal of Seminole High School (and other guests) with a delicious supper and a minstrel revival of the Roman era. (Whew! End of the first sentence!)

This year's theme was "Prophesy" and supposedly we were feasting in Sibyl's (Kay's) cave. (Sibyl, you know, was the legendary Roman prophetess.) The dry leaves and twigs on the floor of the cave delighted the slaves, most of whom were barefoot. (What funny guy brought the barefoot?) A sumptuous amount of credit goes to Janet Glenn and Judy Heron for the planning of the scenery and practically everything that Mrs. Coleman hadn't attended to already.

Janet (alias Proserpina) apparently had more fun than anybody else. After having sent Coach Lyster a banana peel (which directly caused her immediate failure in biology), she and I had a fine old time piling fruits at each other. Considering that we were seated on opposite tables and that a la Romanesque we were eating (with our fingers, I might add) while reclining on pillows placed on the floor of the basketball court you can deduce the idiosyncrasy of the sport.

I failed to find the Fates anywhere; they were supposed to preside over the feast, prophetic. I guess they were hanged or crucified before their act was over.

A serpet dance was also scheduled, but somebody lost the serpet.

Then came all the little, togadancers with their dances of the seven veils. (Don't fret mothers; the girls were wearing ten veils. I'm told they were rather clumsy, but anything was better than Marty Stempser's flub-up of last year's banquet.)

The gladiatrices, Geraldine Luke and Marilee Calhoun, decided against having a contest and went back to their original hair-pulling routine.

A very up-to-date performance of the story of Aeneas and Dido was given, but it wasn't very convincing, although it was humorous - I'm told.

Billy Johnson was the student soloist. He really did some commendable singing, and I certainly hope Miss Whittle has him in Glee Club.

Mr. Alken's Diane's father also lent his beautiful voice to the program. And, how could he have known that "Autumn Leaves" is my favorite song?

After Mr. Alken's second number (a very delightful "operetta" which proved to be amusing besides. Aren't they always?) compliment my slave immensely; she actually does have a good voice.

While on the subject of my slave, I might add that Mr. Bracken accepted her proposal (with Mrs. Bracken's consent, of course), and the nuptials will be held after graduation in June. Rejoice, O teachers, when June shall come, and this young man's fancy shall turn from thoughts of school.

Everyone kept (pardon my insistence, Mr. Kay) asking why I wasn't in costume or how I crashed the gate. This may sound stale, but hasn't anyone ever heard of the FREEdom of the press? (John Miller, please don't fall in hysterics; I may have to censor your column altogether.)

And John reminds me of another John who reminds me that we had perused asstare (that's the best translation that could be dug up for spare ribs). Thank you for the tasty food, you whoever slaved over the hot pork. We also had fruits and nuts, and that'll mean we'll be having fruits and nuts for lunch tomorrow.

The entire banquet was just as good as ever, except that the lack of our overseer, Mrs. Coleman, gave it an empty appearance. We missed seeing our perennial Latin sponsor, and we certainly hope that she won't raise her voice to next year's Latin crop so much that she gets laryngitis and misses another of her wonderful banquets.

Glee Club Contest

By Pam M. John

On Friday, March 7, while the rest of you were here at home studying like mad (I) ninety-nine members of our G. M. Glee Club were in Daytona Beach participating in the Annual District Glee Club Contest.

When we finally arrived on that happy Friday morning, we all reported to a room which had been set aside in Peabody Auditorium for all the glee clubs to use as a night-reading room.

Here we tried to prove to the judges we knew just as much about music reading as we did about book reading. After that we assembled on the stage in Peabody and sang our concert songs for the judges.

The general opinion of the judges had given a nice general effect, but the pitch wasn't true, and the mixed chorus was very good, but the pitch wasn't true in their songs either. The night-reading results were: Girls' superior, mixed chorus, excellent; boys', good.

Saturday was the day for solos and ensembles. S. F. S. sent the Madrigal group, an ensemble, a boys' quartet, and a solo by Teddy Walker.

The Madrigal group was the only group that got a superior and will be entitled to go to State Contest in Tampa. The lucky people will be going as: soprano, Ellen Vihlen, Charlene Miller, Marcia Loecheit, Marcia Bumgarner, and Mary Jane Flynn. The tenors are Wally Phillips, Richard Phagan, and Billy Tyre. And the basses: Pat Donahoe, David Stanley, and Gerald Jones. They'll be going April 18-19.

A lot of credit goes to Miss Whittle who worked very hard with us. Even the judges complimented her in bringing three glee clubs, instead of the usual one or two other glee clubs brought. I'm sure the glee club appreciated her hard work, and maybe next year we'll give you all superior!

As most of you probably already know, last week's paper didn't come out on Thursday as usual. It came out the following Monday, in the "Mail-Away" edition of The Sanford Herald. I suppose this was done to present to the many different readers the special addition our own version of a school newspaper. Anyway, the deed was done, for better or worse. If I had known that our page was going to be in the Mail-Away, I would have worked a little harder on last week's column.

As it happened, I dashed it off between supper and "Cliffhanger," not knowing that every word I wrote would be printed under the eyes of the wide, wide world.

It seems like the last few weeks have been nothing but contests (and this includes the old one that teachers run that's called, "Who gets the A?"). First the basketball tournament, then the glee club contest in Daytona, where I'm sorry to report that we did not win the chance to go to state. Jan Luxen told me the name of the singing group from our school that DID win a chance to go on, a group by the name of the Madrigal. I don't know anything about this organization, except that it includes some of the members of the D. O. and the Triple Trio. They must be pretty good, though. If they win, at least SHE will have SOME representation at state.

Sandra Kader and Ethel Lee Riser were supposed to have written a (what they call) paragraph, although I have a sneaky suspicion that Sandra's went on for about a page, for this week's paper, but I never got it. It might be just as well, though, because Mr. Kay, Angelo, or I might have had to censor it. Maybe next week my dears.

My mother is signaling me to go to bed, and I guess I really should, if I'm going to be on the ball tomorrow in Algebra. Good night, Sandra and Ethel Lee. Don't work too hard on your little paper!

P. S. - We want to congratulate Chester Fawley for his breakage of the school record for the mile the other day at Track Meet. Unfortunately, he didn't win, but breaking the school record is nothing to brush off. I believe the old figure was 8:28.0 (approximately) while Chester's record was 8:22. Good going!

"Attention! There is going to be an enemy attack! What would you do if these words interrupted your daily routine? Do you actually know?"

We laugh it off and say, "Aw, that couldn't happen to us." Why couldn't it happen to us? This is no laughing matter; an enemy attack could occur any minute, and, if we don't know what to do, we're as good as gone.

Other states and towns are practicing such things; why can't we? I do hope that you people in Sanford will consider this matter, because I do believe it's an urgent matter, and I'm sure we students would realize what serious business this is and would cooperate thoroughly. Thank you for your attention.

Bring All Members, Players and Giants' Farm System Teams

It is the great aim of the San Francisco Giants to bring all members, players and farm system teams to the ballpark in the near future. The team is now in excellent condition—a new dormitory building—all wrapped up in green grass and parking fields waiting for the long, hot days of the season.

There are pitchers and catchers, infielders and outfielders, first basemen, second basemen and third basemen—all of them yearning to get out on the field. The team is now in excellent condition—a new dormitory building—all wrapped up in green grass and parking fields waiting for the long, hot days of the season.

The team is now in excellent condition—a new dormitory building—all wrapped up in green grass and parking fields waiting for the long, hot days of the season.

System is Carl Hubbell. Dally, the famous left player, has been named among the scores of would-be players or the players on the way up as he goes about the business of putting together the number of strong, enthusiastic and energetic teams necessary to play ball when the first day of the season comes in each team's locality.

All of Sanford is happy to see the San Francisco Giants here. Hardly a car passes the Sanford Memorial Baseball stadium and the Giant's territory that doesn't contain one or more baseball fans who long for the same crack of the bat and smack of the mitt heard there daily.

Baseball is a game that will never lose its popularity as the grand old national pastime. There's a spot in everyone's heart for baseball—the kind of game in which clean, healthy young men participate.

We'd like to say "welcome" to the Giants and all of the staff; all of the young men, and everyone necessary to make such a wonderful organization "click."

It would be great to see such a wonderful group of people in Sanford the year 'round. Though we know they cannot be with us more than a few short weeks, we hope that each one will make himself at home—and a part of Sanford.

Identical Results Not Needed

Efforts to inject government into medicine on an all-inclusive basis continue. It is argued that this is the only way that the best and most extensive medical care can be provided for all the people.

Many people sincerely believe this. But all the evidence indicates that their faith is misplaced—as Dr. Charles G. Jones, a contemporary surgeon, points out in an article appearing in the February issue of The Freeman.

Dr. Jones' compelling article has a vivid and dramatic title—"Free Medicine Can Make You Sick." He bases it on the experience in England, where "free" socialized medicine has been in effect for some years. The cost to the British taxpayer has been enormous. Still more important has been the cost in terms of the public health.

Dr. Jones says that "The deleterious effects of the system are to be noted everywhere. There are so many free dental patients that dentists no longer have time for their customary work with school children. Waiting lists for admission to hospitals become staggering. The increased volume of patients invites second-rate care for many instead of first-rate care for the truly ill. The burdensome cost of caring for those who are ill, plus those who pretend, leaves no funds for research or preventive medicine."

Compulsory government health insurance, which is and has been advocated in this country, would produce identical results. There is small doubt that it would ultimately end in socialization, or something resembling the British pattern. We'd pay an exorbitant price for it—in money, and in inferior medical service.

Virtues That Made America

The nation is observing the 100th anniversary of the birth of Theodore Roosevelt. Something he wrote has not lost significance with the passage of the years, "Americanism means the virtues of courage, honor, justice, truth, sincerity and hardihood—the virtues that made America. The things that will destroy America are prosperity at any price, peace at any price, safety first instead of duty first, the love of soft living and get-rich-quick theory of life."

Get This About A Dishpan

The following editorial is from the Cleveland, O., Plain Dealer. We thought it might be of interest to the housewife:

"Get a load of this, folks. The government has turned out a pamphlet on 'Tools for Food Preparation and Dishwashing.' And it contains some information we'll bet you never thought of such as, 'Dishpans should be large enough to hold the dishes but not too large for the sink.'

"Well, what do you know? For years we had a dishpan that wouldn't hold the dinner plates and when we got a new one it was too big to fit the sink. Now thanks to this advice from Washington, we'll go right out and buy an in-between-size dishpan and see how that works. We never would have solved the problem ourselves. And when it comes time to pay our income tax next year we'll be especially grateful to the bureaucrat who thought of this."

Income Tax Tips

The Florida Accountants Association of National Society of Public Accountants

You can deduct all the expenses your incur in the collection or in the production of taxable income, including all the expenses of determining your tax liability, and this includes all kinds of taxes.

(1) for the production or collection of income;

(2) for the management, conservation, or maintenance of property held for the production of income; or

(3) in connection with the determination, collection, or refund of any tax.

"Other deductions" is the catch-all for the many nonbusiness deductions which are too numerous for separate scheduling on Page 3 of Form 1040. Principal among these are the unreimbursed expenses of employees, (other than outside salesmen) for clerical help, stationery, business entertainment, union dues, uniforms, tools, and so on.

Some of the other expenses of employees which can be deducted only on Page 3, if unreimbursed and if deductions are itemized, include:

Vanguard Exhibit in Paris

PARIS—A replica of the U. S. Vanguard 1 earth satellite and the rocket that put it in orbit will go on display beneath the Eiffel Tower next month. The American Committee for the International Geophysical Year said the satellite and rocket were being sent as part of an exhibit.

DYNA

RICHMOND, Va.—Police officers recently what happened to 25 copies of dynamite that disappeared from a warehouse in West 1st and Jay Streets, 5 who lived near the project, but when the dynamite and without incident—pulverized it.

Subscription to professional journals etc.

Union dues, Tools and supplies, Uniforms (see below), Fees paid to an employment agency,

Other amounts which are ordinary and necessary to the performance of the duties of the employee.

Generally the cost and maintenance of ordinary work clothing is a personal expense and not deductible. However, if an employee is engaged in an occupation which requires special apparel or equipment—such as ball players, firemen, police officers, aviators, or nurses—the costs of the uniforms or special equipment are deductible if they are specifically required as a condition of employment, and are not adaptable to general or continued usage so as to take the place of ordinary clothing. Costs to Reservoirs of the Armed Forces of uniforms worn only while performing duties as Reservists are deductible—except to the extent of non-taxable allowances received therefor. But costs of uniforms of the Armed Forces personnel on full time active duty are not deductible.

Other expenses which are deductible here are employment fees, amounts paid for the preparation of an income tax return, employees' home ownership and periodic allowance payments made to a divorced or separated woman pursuant to a divorce, a decree of separate maintenance or a separation agreement.

Herlong Report

Congress is getting steamed up about the recession. New proposals are being made almost every day about how to stem it. Every body seems to be wanting to get in on the act and just about everyone has his own pet idea of what it will take in the way of Federal Government activity to stop the downward.

The Administration and some of the leaders in Congress say nothing should be done until the March figures on unemployment are in, sometime early in April. Present indications are that instead of being better the March figures will be worse.

Some of the suggestions made for curbing the recession seem to be in a period of intense definition. It was necessary then to "prime the pump," so to speak, and we needed the measure of inflation that this pump priming caused.

If we go into such an extensive program at this time, it, of course, will have the same results as it did in the early 1930's as far as inflation is concerned—and if there is one thing this country does not need at this time, it is further inflation.

No doubt there are certain selected areas of the country which have great unemployment where their economy could be helped by the government's engaging in a limited public works program. But to throw the gates open as was done before would be doing a great disservice to the nation as a whole. This is especially true as our section of Florida is concerned. We have so many retired people and people who are living on fixed incomes which would not be increased along with the rise in inflation. To these people, who are already hurting,

It could be the straw that broke the camel's back.

Our real problem is to stimulate business and create jobs without inflation. The answer is in my judgment is in government-owned but not government-run. There is no question in my mind that one of the principal reasons for this recession is that our country has high rates of taxes have done two things:

1. They have taken over the income to earn of people who have money to invest. Taxes are so high that they don't want to risk money they already have and not be able to keep any of what it makes, if in fact it makes anything. This money is therefore effectively retired from ordinary business ventures, and finds its way almost exclusively into tax exempt securities.

2. If a man has a good sized small business and would like to expand it to give more and better jobs to the working population, he finds that regardless of how successful he is, that when he finishes paying his income taxes, he does not have enough left out of his own earnings to expand his business. As a matter of fact, in many instances, he doesn't even have enough left to make payments on any loan he might want for the purpose of expanding.

In plain language, we have priced ourselves to the point of eliminating future growth.

I am encouraged that my Bill to cut taxes across the board is getting support throughout the country.

Quote of the week: The Florence, S. C., farmer who looked up from the rubble of what had been his home after it was struck by a bomb accidentally dropped by a military plane. "I don't care what they do, I still think the Supreme Court was wrong."

VAN-9 wives will have a crazy hot luncheon March 26 at the Art Club, 11:30 p. m. Reservations should be made before March 23 by calling Doreen Kildine and Sally Meloni.

A different kind of wedding has been taking place all over the United States. This one is between baseball and show business. Two gentlemen have been in Sanford the past two days making arrangements with Ray Ryan, manager of the Giant's Phoenix Club. Object of the discussion is to bring the crowds back to the stadium and out of the living room.

Joe is vice-president of General Artists Corp., and manages people like Fatti Page, Fanny Como, Pat Boone, Julius LaRosa and many others. His right hand man and partner in crime is Coy Poe, producer of the baseball division of General Artists.

Without an increase in admission price, the show men and baseball potentates plan to produce a two hour show before the old club, "play ball" begins. Fans this summer will have an opportunity to see Julius LaRosa and his T. V. All-stars, Dorothy Lamour, with strong and South Sea island revue (and I hear Dorothy is really a

Homemaker's Class Sees Films Of Trip

The Homemaker's Class of the First Baptist Church met Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Homer L. Osborne on West First St. Mrs. Joe W. Coks and Mrs. A. L. Thomas were co-hostesses.

The business meeting was opened with a prayer given by the class president, Mrs. W. T. Cavanaugh. Mrs. O. L. Dinkins gave a thoughtful devotional on present day developments.

Entertainment for the evening was furnished by Mrs. J. Ray Britt, who showed pictures taken on her trip to the west. The pictures were beautiful and enjoyed by all.

Cake and coffee were served to Mrs. Christine Woodruff, Mrs. J. Ray Britt, Mrs. E. C. Nelson, Mrs. Emma Kelly, Mrs. Fred Fisher, Mrs. O. L. Dinkins, Mrs. A. L. Thomas, Mrs. A. H. Osborne, Mrs. Joe Coks, and Mrs. E. C. Cowan Jr.

Mrs. Walker Speaks To Club On County Tax Situation

Mrs. Mary Earle Walker, Seminole County Tax Assessor, was the speaker Wednesday when the Sanford Woman's Club met for a luncheon and program. Mrs. Walker stressed the importance of equal assessment in proportion to the value of property, and listed the personal property and homestead exemption points.

Mrs. Walker was introduced by Mrs. Randall Chase, sponsor. Mrs. Chase also presented the Sanford Grammar School Glee Club, led by Mrs. Richard, and accompanied by Mrs. George Touhy. The children sang "One World" and "Happy Wanderer."

The meeting was opened with the playing of two songs by the group, accompanied by the piano by Mrs. Bryson. Mrs. Richard gave the invocation. Mrs. E. J. Wix, chairman, conducted the meeting.

The husband and program were under the direction of the Civic Department. Hostesses were Mrs. J. P. Wilson, Mrs. W. C. Hunt, Mrs. B. C. Moore and Mrs. George Stine.

Receiving guests on the day were Mrs. Ralph Jarvis and Mrs. A. W. Woodall.

The clubhouse was decorated with an Easter theme. Small gifts of candy entered the tables, and a large Easter bunny greeted members in the foyer.

Speaker Discusses Folklorist

The American Home Department of the Sanford Woman's Club met at 8 p. m. Tuesday night. Mrs. Nina Dean, associate professor of English at Rollins College, presented a program on Joel Chandler Harris, folklorist. She gave several readings and illustrations of Uncle Remus stories.

Mrs. J. P. Wilson, chairman of the department, conducted a short business session, during which time reports were made by various committee chairmen. Mrs. W. C. Hires reported on the purchase of three pieces of equipment for the Youth Recreation Wing of Sanford Civic Center. Mrs. Irving Fryor reported on an article about the department's work in connection with the Recreation Wing, which had been sent to the Florida Clubwoman magazine for publication.

The club room was decorated with an Easter Egg tree on the table in the foyer, an Easter bunny on a table at the entrance, and a nest of large eggs on table by the door. Individual tables were centered with green straw nests of table beans. Refreshments were Easter egg-shaped morsels of fruit jelly decorated with whipped cream ruffles and cross, salted crackers, tea, and coffee. Hostesses for the event were Mrs. Donald Flamm, Mrs. Alfred Childs, Mrs. Earl Van Fleet, Mrs. J. D. Carlton, Mrs. John Keiser, and Mrs. Irving Fryor, chairman.

Irma Jean Corley Announced Winner Of "Good Citizenship"

"Educational and security aspects of National Defense" was the topic chosen by Mrs. Charles E. Ironides for her talk recently before the Sallie Harrison Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Mrs. Ironides is a retired teacher. She stated anecdotes occurring during her teaching career which definitely led to increasing vandalism in schools. Parents and teachers should be on the watch for seemingly innocent organizations, she claimed. Frequently the child who gives no trouble in school is involved with subversive activities. Mrs. Ironides urged a constant check on children and their activities.

First-Aid Treatments For Poisoning Cases

BY EDWARD R. COWAN, M.D. DURING the year, I have written many articles on first-aid treatment for poisoning. Just recently, I discussed what should be done in case a child swallows an overdose of aspirin. Now the American Medical Association's Committee on Toxicology has summed up various first-aid procedures and formulated an official recommendation for the general public on treatments for poisoning.
