Longwood, Winter Springs Dump Incumbents Smerilson, Lormann, Myers Out Jacobs Stays, Torcaso Out

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

Longwood voters swept all three incumbents from office Tuesday leaving the three political newcomers almost as stunned at the extent of their win as the losers. Voters also turned down three of the four proposed charter amendments.

There was a turnout of 37.6 percent in spite of the rainy weather, even more than the 35 percent predicted by City Clerk Don Terry had predicted. A total of 1,573 ballots were cast in the city election. There are 4,184 registered voters in the city of 13,298 persons.

In District 1, Richard Bullington, 31, received 84.9 percent of the votes cast, soundly defeating two-term commissioner Harvey Smerilson, 45, by 973 to 527.

Another big surprise was in District 2 where Henry Hardy III, 31, received 83.2 percent of the votes breaking previously undefeated June Lormann's string of wins. Hardy received 968 votes to Lormann's 563.

Leanne Grove, the first woman to run for mayor of Winter Springs, defeated 3-term mayor John Torcaso in Tuesday's election getting 56 percent of the vote with the final tally 1,305 votes for Grove and 1,026 votes for Torcaso.

In the race for the District 4 seat, incumbent William Jacobs defeated challengers David Hopkins and Larry Cerra by capturing 57.7 percent of the vote. Art Hoffman was unopposed for re-election to his District 2 seat.

Grove said she was "very pleased" about the election results, and when asked if she had immediate plans for her office, said that she had no ideas for her office at this time.

"I'm very satisfied with the results of the elections," said Jacobs of his victory in District 4. "I hoped that I'll be effective in the coming term as councilman."

The other items on the Winter Springs ballot were proposed city ordinances 390 and 392.

Youth Gangs On Rise

Youth gangs are growing more sophisticated and surfacing in urban areas from Miami to Tallahassee, peddling drugs, violence and spreading racism, a House report showed Monday.

Although there are two small "gangs," one a group of "white supremacy skinheads" at Lake Brantley High School, and the other a racially mixed group that calls itself the "L.A. Crew," at Lyman High School, Seminole County sheriff's Capt. Roy Hughey, said that these gangs, so far, have not had any significant impact in Seminole County.

The gangs draw upon the youth of the urban poor, giving them a sense of belonging and power, the report says. The report also notes the growth the more affluent neo-Nazi youth gangs called "skinheads" who promote white supremacy by harassing blacks, Jews and homosexuals.

In Miami, the report showed four youth gangs with 32 members in 1980. By this year, the number of gangs had increased to 60, with membership estimated at 1,500 members.

Hughey said the two gang he is aware of have about one dozen members each. The skinheads identify themselves by shaving away at least a portion of their hair, they also wear chains on their ankles.

There have been rumors of threats between these two Seminole County gangs, Hughey said, but so far no trouble. "You never know the potential, but, now, to me it's not serious," Hughey said.

The skinheads, Hughey said, publish a white supremacy newsletter, featuring racial jokes and even a group song. "They're the kids that are the losers. They're not the jocks and aren't in the Key Club," he said.

The L.A. Crew, Hughey said, has black and Hispanic members.

Tax Axed Penny Sales Tax Rejected

By Brad Church
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County sent the proposed one-cent local sales tax down to overwhelming defeat Tuesday as 26 percent of the county's registered voters braved wind and rain to cast their ballots 2 to 1 against it.

The tax, which was proposed for county road improvements, including funding for the Seminole County Expressway, only garnered 6,809 favorable votes or 29.4 percent of those who voted. "No" votes totaled 15,900, or 70.6 percent of those who voted.

Orange County voters also defeated that county's proposed one-cent sales tax in a very tight turnout. "No" votes totaled 15,550, or 69 percent of those voting, and yes votes totaled 6,951, or 31 percent of those voting.

Lake County voters approved a one-cent sales tax by about the same margin as Seminole County voters defeated theirs. In a 41 percent turnout of voters, 14,517, or 69 percent, approved the tax, and 7,785 voted against it. Lake County's revenue from the sales tax is not to be used for roads, but for a new county jail and improvements to the park system.

Fred Streetman, chairman of the Seminole County Board of Commissioners, and the Expressway Authority, said he is disappointed the measure failed. "I think this was a very special opportunity for us to take control of our own destiny and let the tourists pay for a large part of our traffic problems," he said.

Streetman said he thinks a lot of external factors affected voters' attitudes, including the confusion about taxes in the special legislative sessions this fall, the announcement Monday by Gov. Martinez and Transportation Secretary Kay Henderson of an extensive state transportation plan, and the uncertain state of the New York Stock Exchange.

"The confusion in the legislature certainly affected peoples' thoughts about additional taxes by adding uncertainty about what their state taxes are going to be," Streetman said.

"Although the transportation secretary said in the Monday announcement about state transportation plans that the administration doesn't know where the funding for the projects is going to come from, I think a lot of people didn't hear that part, and only heard about all the plans."

See related stories 6A

Streetman said the recent plunge in stock prices and the uncertainty of future stock market movement has made people more concerned about their personal finances and less inclined to vote for a new tax.

"This will have a definite affect on the county's road improvement program," Streetman said of the defeat. "Many of the county road projects to be funded with revenue from the sales tax have no other source of funds and I suspect that many of the projects cities planned to use their share of the money for also have no other source of funds."

Streetman spoke from a gathering of members of the Alliance For A Better Central Florida, supporters of the sales tax referendums in Orange and Seminole counties. The gathering was planned as a celebration, but Streetman said the mood was somber. "There are no champagne corks popping here tonight," he said.

Dems Win In Mississippi, Kentucky

By United Press International
Democratic newcomer Wallace Wilkinson walked away in a record landslide with Kentucky's governorship, but Democratic incumbent Wilson Goode had to duel a predecessor through sea-sawing ballot counts before gaining a second term as Philadelphia's mayor.

In Mississippi's gubernatorial race, meanwhile, a heavily favored Democratic State

Auditor Ray Mabus just barely defeated Republican businessman Jack Reed.

Election 1987 saw a range of such disparate outcomes, as the off-year voting picked mayors in scores of cities and decided referendum questions of gambling in Texas and Virginia and baseball in New Jersey and California.

Results in the City of Brotherly Love showed the lead change hands throughout Tuesday night, but with more than 99 percent of 850,000 votes counted, Goode emerged with about a 14,000-vote margin, or 51.1 percent to the 48.9 percent claimed by a mayoral predecessor, Democrat-turned-Republican Frank Rizzo.

Despite Rizzo's refusal to concede, Goode appeared shortly before midnight and asked See DEMS, page 12A

Robber Closets Couple

By Susan Loden

A rural Winter Springs couple was forced into a closet by robber who awakened them at about 10 p.m. Tuesday.

James G. Taylor, 55, and Doris M. Taylor, 52, of 1109 Tuskawilla Road, told Seminole County sheriff's deputies that they didn't see a weapon, but believe the robber was armed. The robber threatened several times to kill them if they did not comply with his demands.

Mrs. Taylor said she was awakened about 9:10 p.m. by the door bell, but when she looked out she saw no one at the door. She did see a car

IN BRIEF

Longwood Man Fires Handgun To Scare Alleged Knife-Wielder

Thomas Jackson, of rural Longwood, told Seminole County sheriff's deputies he fired a shot from a handgun to scare an accused knife-brandishing man into the street during a disturbance at Jackson's home.

Jackson told deputies that Bernard Thomas Greek, 31, of Orlando, came at him and tried to attack him with a knife. Jackson fired a shot into the air and Greek ran into the street.

The incident occurred at about 9:45 p.m. Sunday at Jackson's home at 2401 Island Drive, after the alleged knife-wielder had been asked to leave.

Greek, who had reportedly been drinking alcohol, allegedly became disruptive and was asked by Jackson to leave his home. The visitor allegedly drew a knife against Jackson, and Jackson armed himself with a handgun to protect his son, Mark Jackson, who was then outside the home with Greek, a sheriff's report said.

Sheriff's deputies arrived and took Greek into custody. Greek had cut himself with his own knife and before being booked into the Seminole County jail on a charge of aggravated assault. He was treated at Florida Hospital-Altamonte Springs and released. While being booked, Greek allegedly spat in a sheriff's deputy's face and threatened to kill him. A charge of battery on a policeman was added. Greek is being held in lieu of $1,000 bond.

Police Nab Suspect Under Bed

Seminole County sheriff's deputies who responded to a burglary in progress call at 4760 Chestnut St., Lake Monroe, at about 11:45 a.m. Monday, reported finding a 16-year-old boy hiding under a bed.

The intruder was arrested as a juvenile and charged with burglary. He reportedly named an accomplice in the case and at about 1 p.m. Sheriff's deputies reported arresting that man, George Arthur Graves, 19, of Dunbar Avenue, Lake Monroe. Graves was arrested on Dunbar Avenue at Richard Allen Street in Lake Monroe. Sheriff's deputies reported that Graves had $60 in his possession, which is believed to have been stolen in the burglary. He is being held without bond.

Man Arrested For Alleged Abuse

A Sanford woman's complaint to Seminole County sheriff's deputies that her husband had twisted her arm, and then armed himself with a rifle and pushed her around their home, brought the arrest of the husband.

John Waymond Baker, 50, of 236 Maureen Drive, Sanford, was arrested at 10:43 p.m. Monday on a charge of battery-spouse abuse. He was nabbed by sheriff's deputies who reported finding him hiding in bushes behind his home. Baker was being held in lieu of $500 bond.

Sandwich Shop Robbed Monday

A robbery that occurred Monday at Subway Sandwich Shop, 710 S. SR 436 is still under investigation by the Altamonte Springs police department.

Police said the clerk told them a man, about 20 years old, walked into the shop at about 8:55 p.m. and ordered a sandwich at the counter. When the clerk rang up the sale, the suspect pulled out a handgun and asked for the money. He fled through the rear of the complex.

Police did not disclose the amount of money taken, and would release no other details. The incident is still under investigation.

Police Make Drug Arrest

A man who allegedly threw away a packet of crack cocaine when confronted by Sanford police outside the West Side Steakhouse, 13th Street, Sanford, at about 2:30 a.m. Saturday, was arrested.

Police reported recovering the 13 pieces of cocaine and charging Johnnie Lee Perkins, 31, of 1204 Oleander Ave., Sanford, with possession of cocaine. He has been released on $1,000 bond to appear in court Nov. 16.

Erratic Driving Leads To Arrest

A Seminole County sheriff's deputy who stopped a car traveling erratically on Jackson Street, rural Altamonte Springs, at about 9:45 p.m. Saturday reported arresting a passenger in that car.

The passenger allegedly dropped a container of crack cocaine from the car when he was ordered out of the vehicle. The deputy recovered the cocaine and charged Duane Calvin Lomax, 21, Eatonville, with possession of cocaine. He was also arrested on a warrant for failure to pay a fine. He was being held in lieu of $1,100 bond.

Izusu Truck Reported Stolen

A 1986 Izusu pickup truck was reported stolen from the Lotus Landings apartment complex by the owner, Debbie Woods, Woods, 23, 824 #106 Amber Way, Altamonte Springs, told police the vehicle is valued at approximately $3,800.

The theft occurred between 5:30 p.m. Sunday and 10:30 a.m. Monday.

Alleged Semi-Nude Driver Makes No Contest Plea To DUI Charge

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

A Longwood woman who police said was semi-nude while driving under the influence has pleaded no contest to DUI causing damage and battery.

Kelly Ann Fenton, 23, of 123 Tindale Circle, entered the plea before Circuit Judge O.H. Eaton Jr. who set Dec. 11 for sentencing.

The charges stem from an accident on August 20. On that date, an Altamonte Springs police officer reported he was at the intersection of State Road 436 and SR 434 when he heard a collision. He said he saw a Chevy Blazer with one person in it leaving the scene and a Lincoln following in pursuit. The officer stopped the cars at SR 434 and Orange Ave. The incident occurred around midnight.

When the officer approached the Blazer he noted that the female driver was nude from the waist up. He went to the passenger side of the vehicle and asked her for identification. Through slurred speech, she profanely asked him what he wanted, he reported.

The officer returned to the driver's door, and told her again that he wanted to see some identification. She profanely told him what he could do. The officer reported the driver fumbled through her purse and, when he gestured towards the glove box as a place to search, the woman "smacked" his hand away.

The officer reported that he opened the driver's door and told her to get out of the vehicle. He said she started swearing and hit him with her flats, forcing him to use an armlock to get her into the patrol car. He said she struggled and he had to drag her to the vehicle. After she was put inside the patrol car, he said she kicked about and hit her head on the inside of the vehicle.

The officer reported that he could not locate a shirt for her in her vehicle nor would she say where one might be.

Prior to being jailed, the woman also reportedly fought with police, attempting to kick one officer.

Damage to the door of the Lincoln was set at $500.

Diamond Rings Stolen From Three Residences

In three separate incidents, diamond rings were reported stolen from several area residences for a total value of more than $3,800.

Julie Ann Mason, 44, of 203 Ringwood Drive, Winter Springs, reported to sheriff's deputies that four rings adorned with diamonds, rubies and emeralds, were stolen from her home between Oct. 14 and 31. She reported the loss of the rings Monday and said they have a combined value of about $1,440.

Joyce McGee, 35, of 300 Monk's Court, Lake Mary, reported to sheriff's deputies that about $225, a $300 diamond ring, plus and beer and wine with a total value of about $15 have disappeared from her home since Oct. 1. McGee said there has been no sign of forced entry to the home.

In a third incident, sheriff deputies reported that a $1,200 diamond ring, a $500 video recorder and a $350 revolver were among items stolen Monday from the home of Lawrence Joseph Tocco, 39, of 9517 Bear Lake Road, Apopka.

Other theft and burglaries reported include:

Photo gear and a wetsuit with a combined value of about $1,500 was stolen from the vehicle of Gary Zuyus, 21, of 304 Dublin Drive, Lake Mary, on Friday or Saturday. The loss was reported to sheriff's deputies Monday.

Thieves Take Goods From Four Vehicles

Altamonte Springs police are investigating two unrelated larcenies from motor vehicles. They have a partial description of only one suspect.

Jorge Arias, 34, 615 Spring Oaks Blvd., Altamonte Springs, told police that more than $5,705 in spray paint equipment was stolen out of his van. Police said an unidentified person had entered the van through the driver's side window. The incident happened between 11 p.m. Sunday and 7 a.m. Monday.

In another case, $4,310 in goods was stolen out of company vehicles at Orlando Fire

Equipment, 953 W. Sunshine Lane, Altamonte Springs. Police said suspects entered the back of the fenced-in compound by cutting a hole in the chain link fence. Suspects entered three vehicles and took an assortment of hand and power tools. The vehicles did not show any signs of forced entry, but police did find tire marks at the rear of the compound.

The incident occurred between 12:30 p.m. and 11 p.m. Sunday. One suspect is said to be a 20-year-old male.

Check The Menus Warm Continues

Staff And Wire Reports

A "practically dissipated" tropical depression sloshed up the Gulf of Mexico today and forecasters said it apparently will die "nameless (and) unremembered."

Unremembered nothing. Think of all those defeated candidates, plus supporters of the penny sales tax in Seminole County who are blaming the election results on the rain. It just makes a good culprit. Those folks will remember.

Also among the rememberers will be those who learned weather forecasting in the section yesterday and predicted the continued showers felt by all. Those folks now have bragging rights.

The wet, humid, warm weather will continue a couple of more days. Less chance of rain - certainly nothing like Tuesday's deluge, but nevertheless, showers occasionally. It will also not be as warm as yesterday at Presidio, Texas, 90 degrees, or drop to 15 degrees as it did at Gunnison, Colorado. Gert will never be the nomenclature of the "unremembered" depression, but we'd better keep up with its demise.

Peak winds of the 14th tropical depression of the 1987 hurricane season had fallen to 25 mph from 35 mph, 4 mph short of becoming tropical storm Gert.

At 5 a.m. EST, the poorly defined center of the depression was about 100 miles west southwest of Fort Myers, Fla., and drifting slowly toward the north northwest.

"The depression is expected to dissipate today," said forecaster Miles Lawrence of the National Hurricane Center in Miami.

An Air Force reconnaissance plane failed to find an organized center to the depression Tuesday evening.

"That means there almost isn't a depression," said Lawrence. "There aren't any clouds near the center. The system has practically dissipated. That's not unusual. It will be one of the many nameless depressions that go unremembered."

Forecaster Gil Clark said the depression apparently was beginning to merge with a "cutoff upper level" low pressure system that has been over the Gulf the past few days.

"The broad circulation that is developing will become extratropical on Wednesday with the depression no longer identifiable," he said.

At 11 p.m. EST Tuesday, the center of the depression was about 150 miles southwest of Tampa, Fla., and was moving north northwest at 10 to 50 mph.

Forecasters discontinued tropical storm watches from Fort Myers Beach to Cedar Key but advised small craft in that area to stay in port.

The depression, which formed during the weekend south of Jamaica, killed at least four people on the island from flooding, and earlier Tuesday lashed the Florida Keys with wind gusts of more than 70 mph that inflicted only minor damage.

The Atlantic hurricane season lasts from June 1 until Nov. 30.

A small earthquake caused some violent shaking, but did little more than knock the snow off the roofs near the sparsely populated epicenter.

The Alaska Tsunami Warning Center in Palmer said the quake hit at 3:33 p.m. Tuesday and measured 4.4 on the Richter scale. It was centered 15 miles southwest of Palmer, about 25 miles northeast of Anchorage, said George Carte.

Local Report

The high temperature Thursday in Sanford was 76 degrees and the overnight low was 68 degrees as reported by the University of Florida Agricultural Research and Education Center, Celery Avenue. Recorded rainfall was 3.64. Mostly cloudy today with expected high near 76 and good rain.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

State Has Recouped Half of 'Black Monday' Fiscal Loss

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The state has recouped about half of the $1.3 billion it lost in the "Black Monday" stock market crash.

Fred Loopman, acting director of the state Board of Administration, reported the recovery to Gov. Bob Martinez and the Cabinet Tuesday and attributed it to a bond market rally and some improvement on the New York Stock Exchange.

Loopman noted that even though stock values have risen since the Oct. 19 stock market plummet, the state is continuing to watch the stock market closely.

State pension fund investments in stocks have been reduced slightly in recent days, with the money shifted over to bonds. Substantial investments also continue to be made in real estate.

AIDS Victim May Have Set Fire

MIAMI (UPI) — Police were investigating whether a fire at Jackson Memorial Hospital that claimed the life of a 37-year-old AIDS patient was set by the man to end his own life.

Lorenzo Vidal of Miami, described as a long-time AIDS victim by police, died during the fire, which began at 7:30 a.m. Tuesday and forced the evacuation of about two dozen other patients at Dade County's busiest hospital. No one else was injured, officials said.

"At this time we do not know if the fire was set deliberately by Mr. Vidal or if it was an accident," said Rey Valdes, a Metro-Dade County police spokesman. "We are investigating all possibilities, including if it was an act of suicide."

The ceremonies are open to the public. State Rep. Art Grindle (R-Altamonte Springs) will be the speaker. The Seminole High School Band will play.

Indian Mound System May Be Sold

Utility Firm Sought By Sanford

By Maryann Cross
Herald Staff Writer

Sanford will continue negotiations aimed at purchasing the Indian Mound Water System, city commissioners decided Monday night.

The commissioners authorized Bill Simmons, Sanford's director of engineering and planning, to continue his investigation of the system and to suggest a date for a public hearing on the matter. The hearing is mandated by Florida law as one step in the process of acquiring the private utility system.

The Indian Mound Water System would add 53 new utility customers to the city. According to Simmons, the city would acquire the system as it currently exists. The only cash involved in the purchase would be about $1,000 to buy spare utility materials and the waiver of the usual water system deposits, a total of about $2,700. However, the city would also assume a loan balance of about

Simmons recommended buying the system because it would expand the city's utility capacity toward the east at virtually no cash cost. With this purchase, Simmons said, the city would be able to loop the south end of the Indian Mound system with the new line to be installed along the southside of State Route 46.

If the city buys the Indian Mound system, future water services to that area will be provided by the city on the same basis that the city services other out-of-town customers. Annexation to the city will not be needed to keep water services now or in the future, Simmons said.

Other items discussed by the commission in the workshop session include:

• Next Monday at the regular meeting the city commission will consider a request to use a detached unit at 1019 Magnolia Avenue as rental property. According to Cameron, she bought the property in 1985 on the understanding that the detached unit could be rented out. But City Attorney Bill Colbert said he has looked into the matter and can find no indication that the unit was ever rented out, based on information from neighbors in the area. Because the detached unit has never been rented out, the commission is under no legal restraints to grant the request, Colbert said.

Deputy Disciplined For Misuse Of Car

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

A Seminole County sheriff's deputy who drove his unmarked department vehicle to Eatonville while off duty on June 26 has been disciplined by Sheriff John Polk, following an internal investigation concluded Oct. 27.

John Butler hasn't yet chosen his own punishment. He can choose to either be suspended for 43 hours or to give up that many hours of vacation time.

Internal Affairs Investigator Lt. Randy Pittman said Butler, while in Eatonville, met a woman he had befriended. Butler had paid $1,600 for the 22-year-old woman to be treated at a drug rehabilitation center. Butler found the woman's car in the parking lot of an Eatonville bar and she declined his offer to drive her home on the night of June 26, Pittman said.

The woman left, with another woman driving her car. Butler followed in his sheriff's department car, and flashed the headlights of that vehicle, but did not speed or use a siren as he followed his friend, Pittman said.

The driver of the car containing Butler's friend stopped and Butler approached and pulled his friend from the car, Pittman said.

The driver of that car later reported to Eatonville police that Butler had hit the 22-year-old woman. Eatonville police and Pittman could not confirm that claim in their investigations, Pittman said.

Pittman said that Butler's discipline is in no way linked to the apparently false claim that he battered his friend. Butler was investigated and disciplined, Pittman said, for unauthorized use of a sheriff's department car.

Don't Kill The Goose

October—a time for harvests. Heat waves and baseball championships—will be remembered this year for being the 59th consecutive month of U.S. economic growth.

That is a record for the longest peace-time expansion in the nation's history.

Since the last recession bottomed out in November 1982, the stock market has soared to previously unimagined highs, the nation's gross national product has grown at a healthy 4.2 percent average rate, more than 13.5 million jobs have been created, and the unemployment rate has dropped below 6 percent for the first time in eight years.

Inflation, a major economic concern of Americans in 1980, has been reduced by nearly two-thirds during this decade, from 13.5 percent to 5.4 percent.

Family income, meanwhile, has risen for the fourth consecutive year; the Congressional Budget office estimates that the net worth of American households has increased 39 percent during the expansion.

This record growth heartens Republicans as a national election nears and confounds President Reagan's critics, who have been forced repeatedly to revise their gloom-and-doom predictions.

Because the results are undeniable, there is more argument nowadays over the cause of the economic growth than the date of the next recession.

Supply-siders credit the president's slashing of marginal tax rates during the last five years along with deregulation programs for fueling expansion by encouraging investment and job creation.

Detractors argue the administration has primed the economy with such old-fashioned Keynesian and Democratic-style economic policies as heavy defense spending.

Other factors, to be sure, have contributed to the expansion, including robust consumer spending, an economy stabilized by a world oil surplus, and a huge infusion of foreign investment enabling American businessmen to expand production.

But there also is a dark side to the expansion:

Weak industrial productivity; uneven economic growth, geographically; little progress in reducing a trade deficit; and a debt load that has turned the United States into the world's largest debtor nation.

Unfortunately, such problems only fuel congressional proposals that could ultimately end the economic expansion altogether.

Democrats in Congress never have shed their tax-increase mindset; sentiment to raise taxes grows even though the deficit shrank by 30 percent during the last year.

Support also is high for protectionist trade legislation, despite the risks it brings to global prosperity and the sad history of a parallel measure in 1930.

Congress seems to have forgotten that the Smoot-Harley Tariff Act is credited with exacerbating the Great Depression.

It may be harvest time.

But it's not time for Congress to kill an economic goose that has been laying golden eggs much longer than expected.

Yes, But What If The Lady Has Flat Knees?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — I am able to identify with a newspaper reader who lamented he had never had "any personal experience" that the Earth is spherical.

"Common sense tells us the world is flat," he wrote. "For all I know from personal experience, the world might be shaped like a Frisbee."

Yet, he said, "I have utter and absolute trust that the Earth is a sphere."

I also can empathize with the reply. "Assuming you are not about to join the Flat Earth Society," he was told. "Most of what we know about anything depends on taking someone else's word for it."

That is not an assumption I am prepared to make.

As an editor in charge of screwy letters answered, "I've never personally experienced Disney World, either."

Neither, I might add, have I Disneyland, st. Disney World, no.

But I was struck by the wisdom inherent in the reply, particularly the part about being dependent on the word of others for most of what we know.

I personally know nothing about the stock market, for example.

Although my broker tells me I experienced certain losses, just about everything I have learned about the recent crash depended on my taking somebody else's word for it.

I did not know, for instance, whether to buy or sell during the recent panic.

I'm afraid I panicked with the best of them. Or with the worst of them, as might be the case.

If potential investors are confused by the up-and-down nature of stock prices, pity the poor fashion designers.

Legend has it that styles follow the market in the matter of hemlines, going up when the market does and down when stock prices drop. Yet, most designers work under a longer lead time than most investors have.

The latest word from Paris has skirt hems staying high. But I saw a female tourist the other day whose skirt length reflected the full extent of the plunge. Her hemline was down around her ankles.

Your view of knees may hinge on how you feel about the feminist movement. For one, Gloria Steinem says, "Women should be allowed to show their legs and not be considered tramps." But Betty Friedan, a miniskirt opponent, says that "after 20 years of liberation, women are independent of this kind of manipulation."

One magazine has an article confiding how to have "Knock Out Knees & Great Legs In 30 Days." It recommends "blushing, scented, powdered and glittering" kneecaps.

Great knees or not, it must be a puzzlement as to what length skirt to wear and I'm just as glad I don't have to go through it. Trouser leg lengths are fairly constant.

It's tough enough trying to figure out what the stock market is going to do next.

Launch Pad Escape Improved

By William Harwood
UPI Science Writer

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — NASA engineers are putting the finishing touches on an elaborate new launch pad escape system that could save shuttle astronauts from a pre-launch catastrophe.

The work is part of a wide-ranging program to beef up safety at the Kennedy Space Center before Discovery's launch on the first post-Challenger shuttle mission next June.

In addition to the launch pad escape program, engineers are working to determine whether lightning could set off a shuttle booster during the 3 1/2-mile trip from the rocket assembly building to the pad, and if so, what weather guidelines should be followed before allowing the shuttle to move.

It takes about six hours for the shuttle to reach the pad atop a ponderous crawler-transporter. Before Challenger exploded last year, the move was allowed only if no lightning was expected in a circle roughly 12 miles across.

"You can predict up to six hours, which gives you time, but what happens if the crawler breaks down?" asked Ogie Thomas, director of safety, reliability and quality assurance at the spaceport. "That's happened to us before and it takes a few hours to fix it. A storm could come in on you."

He said engineers at the Marshall Space Flight Center in Huntsville, Ala., are conducting studies to determine whether a lightning strike during "rollout" could trigger ignition of a shuttle booster's propellant.

On Jan. 11, 1985, three soldiers were killed and 16 injured in West Germany when a static electricity charge ignited the solid propellant of a Pershing-2 missile.

"The crawler crews said, hey, when we're driving to the pad we don't have a ground that's apparent, we know this thing is heavy and it's touching the ground but what would happen if lightning struck the top of the (shuttle's external fuel) tank?" Thomas said. "It's an obvious question. Those are the kinds of things we're talking about."

Astronauts board the shuttle at the 195-foot level of the launch pad gantry. On the side of the gantry away from the shuttle, large wire-frame baskets hang under cables that stretch 1,200 feet to the ground and a bunker west of the pad.

In the event of an emergency that required a quick escape, the astronauts would exit the shuttle, run across the gantry, jump in the baskets and make a dizzying descent to the underground bunker.

Inouye, Byrd Made Senate Post Deal

By Jack Anderson
And
Dale Van Atta

WASHINGTON — An old-fashioned political deal struck between two powerful Democratic senators about a year ago could have far-reaching consequences for whoever is elected president next year.

If the Democrats retain control of the Senate, the behind-the-scenes deal would mean that Sen. Daniel Inouye, D-Hawaii, will probably be the next Senate majority leader. The position is vital to any administration's hopes for success, particularly if the president and majority leaders are in opposite parties. The majority leader effectively rules the Senate, dispensing prerogatives, making committee appointments, scheduling floor debates and either expediting or bottling up legislation.

The incumbent, Sen. Robert Byrd, D-W.Va., first won the post in 1977,

Economic Tightrope

WASHINGTON (NEA) — In the wake of the stock market's collapse, new Federal Reserve Chairman Alan Greenspan is faced with a difficult balancing act. At stake is nothing less than the financial health of the United States for the next decade.

The greatest danger facing the U.S. economy is that the market's sharp decline will lead to a major recession. Experts believe that recession can be triggered in two ways: either by a sharp decline in consumer spending, or by foreign investors withdrawing their money from dollar assets or refusing to invest in them.

The Federal Reserve is in the position of preventing, or slowing, either type of recession.

Greenspan's balancing act? In trying to prevent one type of recession, he could actually trigger the other.

The growth in the U.S. economy over the last five years has been a consumer-led growth. Current projections are that the economy will continue to grow at the rate of about 3.5 percent a year for the foreseeable future. While many say this growth rate is too slow, it would be sufficient to keep the economy expanding.

Now the worry is that recent events on Wall Street will trigger a decline in consumer confidence, which, in turn, will lead to a retrenchment in consumer spending and an economic slowdown.

A secondary effect is that the administration may finally become serious about meaningful budget reduction. Most believe the only way to accomplish this is through a combination of deep spending cuts and a tax increase. Both actions will also have the side effect of slowing down the economy.

The question: how to keep a moderate economic slowdown from quickly escalating into a full-blown recession.

Normally, the Fed's response to such an eventuality has been to print sufficient new money to guarantee cheap credit. This should fuel continued expansion of the consumer sector and prevent stagnation.

But establishing a policy of easy credit would put tremendous inflationary pressure on the economy. Increased inflation would cause interest rates to fall. This in turn brings us to the other part of Greenspan's balancing act.

Much of our economy is today supported by foreign borrowing. If interest rates decline, foreign investors may stop investing here, or worse, move already existing investments out of dollar-dominated assets. This would lead to a free fall of the dollar that would result in a long, painful recession.

Thus Greenspan and the Federal Reserve are faced with a damned-if-they-do, damned-if-they-don't situation. In the coming months they will have to walk a difficult economic tightrope. The real question is whether Greenspan is up to the task.

Greenspan, former chairman of the Council of Economic Advisors under Gerald Ford, is a highly respected economist and forecaster. When he was appointed to head the Federal Reserve last summer, the financial community responded favorably.

But already one criticism of Greenspan's short tenure at the helm of the Fed is that he may not have the right temperament to be a central banker. These criticisms may arise from comparing Greenspan with his revered predecessor, Paul Volker.

ROBERT WALTERS

NRC Vs. Whistle Blowers

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Despite a sharp rebuff from a federal court, the Nuclear Regulatory Commission remains intent upon undermining the work of a public interest group that has exposed safety hazards at nuclear power plants.

For the past eight years, the Government Accountability Project has been doing what the NRC should have been doing — encouraging and investigating complaints about safety lapses from conscientious employees at nuclear generating stations.

Hundreds of whistle blowers at more than 30 facilities throughout the country have brought their concerns to GAP, whose independent investigations have been instrumental in exposing faulty construction at nuclear power plants.

In the case of two proposed power plants — Zimmer in Ohio and Midland in Michigan — dangers exposed by the Washington-based GAP were so serious that the facilities' owners had to abandon the nuclear option.

Although GAP turns all the complaints it receives over to the NRC, the relationship between the two organizations exposes the lack of trust and confidence many people have in a government agency increasingly beholden to the industry it is supposed to regulate. Indeed, most whistle blowers come to GAP after being ignored by the NRC or power plant operators.

GAP has become particularly suspicious of the NRC regional office in Texas, which has oversight responsibility for all nuclear power plants in the Southwest and Midwest. In the past, this office has promised confidentiality to whistle blowers but then has revealed their identities, exposing them to reprisals from their employers.

Thus, GAP insisted upon special precautions before disclosing to the NRC the names and complaints of the 56 whistle blowers who had information about serious deficiencies at the South Texas Nuclear Project in Bay City, about 60 miles southwest of Houston.

STNP originally was supposed to cost less than $1 billion but will carry a price tag of $5.5 billion when it begins operating early next year. In addition, 56 whistle blowers have told GAP about engineering defects in safety components, faulty welds that threaten the plant's integrity and other serious problems.

The NRC refused to comply with GAP's conditions and last spring issued a subpoena for the names of the whistle blowers.

After GAP resisted that demand, the NRC filed a civil suit in U.S. District Court here in late October, insisting that GAP turn over "all allegations you have received concerning the safety" of STNP.

leader this time, the West Virginian would step aside in 1989, leaving the post open for Inouye. As an immediate sweetener, Byrd offered to let Inouye pick the new Senate sergeant-at-arms. Inouye accepted Byrd's offer.

Byrd is a country boy who relishes his high position, often painstakingly signing autographs "Robert C. Byrd, Majority Leader, U.S. Senate." He would not lightly relinquish power — and he didn't intend to abdicate all authority this time, either.

Byrd was gambling that Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., the octogenarian chairman of the Appropriations Committee, would decide not to run for re-election in 1988 — as indeed he has recently announced. As next in seniority on the committee, Byrd will step up as chairman, a post almost as powerful as the majority leadership he would have to give up.

The long-range part of the Byrd-

Inouye deal has been kept very quiet. Most Senate observers thought the payoff for Inouye's support early this year was simply Byrd's appointment of Henry K. Gungl as sergeant-at-arms. Gungl was Inouye's administrative assistant, and had been with the senator even before he first came to the Senate in 1963.

The sergeant-at-arms has considerable power in his own right, overseeing more than 1,000 staff appointments, among other things. A loyal aide as sergeant-at-arms enhances Inouye's Senate influence.

There was another immediate payoff for Inouye's support: Byrd named the Hawaiian to the prestigious, high-profile chairmanship of the Senate Iran/Contra committee. It gave Inouye national prominence and the opportunity to demonstrate fairness and bipartisanship that would help him in his quest for the majority leader's job.

SCHOOLS

IN BRIEF

Local Students Will Perform With Youth Orchestra Sunday

The Florida Symphony Youth Orchestra will perform in concert with the Florida Symphony on Sunday, Nov. 8, at 7 p.m. The performance will be held at the Bob Carr Performing Arts Centre, in Orlando.

Seven band students from Lake Mary High School are members of the youth orchestra and will participate in Sunday's concert. The students include Warren Fernandez, Doug Freeman, Scott Medlin, Lisa Melnecke, Julie Orzech, William Pond and Diane Suris.

The Major/Minor Concert will include student soloists performing with the Florida Symphony plus a combined performance of both symphonies.

Medlin, a bassoon player from LMHS, will be one of the four youth soloists to perform with the Florida Symphony at this concert.

Students Sponsor Food Drive

The Tuskawilla Middle School Student Council has decided to sponsor a canned foods drive this year from Nov. 4-18. A school representative said similar drives held in the past by the council have been very successful and beneficial to local service agencies.

This year there will be a competition of academic teams to see which team can collect the greatest number of cans. A trophy will go to the team which demonstrates the most concern for the needy.

Contributions may include clothing items in good condition, non-perishable foodstuffs and cash donations. The school is located at 1801 Tuskawilla Road, in Oviedo.

For more information on the drive, call the school at 678-2552.

'Monster Bash' Held At School

The student council at Greenwood Lakes Middle School, 601 Lake Park Drive, Lake Mary, held a "Monster Bash" Halloween dance to benefit the Chuck Suggs Foundation after classes were through on Oct. 20.

The event raised $450 for the Lake Mary teenager, who is in England waiting for a heart/lung transplant. Chuck would ordinarily be attending the Lake Mary school.

As Thanksgiving approaches, the council will be conducting a food drive to help needy families. The drive will be held in conjunction with the school's library, which will accept cans of food instead of library fines.

Association Honors Students

The Seminole Vocational Association is proud to announce the names of the first students selected for recognition in its Student of the Month Program. These outstanding individuals were honored at the October meeting of the association for their achievements in vocational/technical education.

Included in the names of those honored are Elaine Iannelli and Taka Kamiya, of Seminole Community College; Tammy Spence, Lake Brantley High School; Althea Lawton, Lake Howell High School; William J. Kroll, Lake Mary High School; Carlos Hernandez, Lyman High School; Bruce Hess and Penny Smith, Seminole High School and Phillip Nanus, Milwee Middle School.

Seminole County vocational/technical educators Jack McCurdy, Bettie Hogle, Nancy Colcer, Dennis Davis, Pat Sprague, Robert Tango, Eddie Tossie and Carolyn Wolfe were also cited for their numerous accomplishments during the association meeting.

Students Of Month To Be Named

The Vocational/Technical Students of the Month for November will be announced on Thursday, Nov. 5, at 4:15 p.m. during the association meeting at Quincy's Restaurant in Casselberry. Guests are invited to attend and observe America's future leaders in business and industry.

Students Elect Council Members

Longwood Elementary School has announced its 1987-88 student council. School-wide election were held on Sept. 16.

Jessica Pearl was voted president of the council for this year. Angie Koop was elected vice president, Jolynn Arnold secretary, and Krisay Revels sergeant at arms.

Representing the school's third grade class on the council are Beverly McQuay, David Ebaugh, Misty Gibbs and Krisay Revels.

Fourth graders voted to the council are Harry Perry, Jessica Pearl, Kevin Chauk and Shawn Savage.

Fifth graders on the newly elected council are Joseph Beaulieu, Jolynn Arnold, Scott Blevins, Angela Koop, Tonya Burge and Wilfredo Ortiz.

...Tax

the alliance, representing Home Builders of Central Florida, said the group's attitude is "The traffic problems are there and the voters did not see fit to address them. It's unfortunate that when they had a chance, they turned down the opportunity."

She said the Home Builders and the Alliance would lobby the state legislature's next session for funds for local governments in order to meet local road needs.

It was estimated that the Seminole County tax would bring in $19 million the first year, and it would have been in effect for 15 years if approved. Seminole County projected using $60 million of the revenue to pay the major part of the cost of the expressway between State Road 426 and Airport Boulevard.

A consultant told the authority last month that if the sales tax was not approved, one alternative to that funding would be to use all the county's constitutional sales tax revenue for the expressway. That money is now used for county road maintenance and construction.

Gerald Brinton, expressway authority executive director, said the scope of the project can also be cut in order to reduce costs. For instance, he said the expressway could be constructed only as far north as extended Lake Mary Boulevard, and interchanges at Red Bug Lake Road and SR 434 could be replaced with grade crossings. Those changes might cut as much as $20 million from the total cost of the project, he estimated.

However, he said, planning for paying for the expressway is now back at square one.

Casselberry Mayor Wins

Mayor Owen Sheppard of Casselberry retained his seat for another two years, but veteran councilman Tom Embree lost his to political newcomer Mary Lou Miller in Tuesday's election, which brought out 31.3 percent of the city's voters.

Embree, who has served on the council for 10 years, received 743 votes, or 40.7 percent, to Miller's 1,061, or 59.3 percent. Miller is a legal secretary for Tom Freeman, a former Casselberry municipal judge. She has never before served in an elected or appointed position.

She charged during her campaign that Embree had lost contact with his constituents, a charge Embree denied, saying Miller had not attended enough council meetings to understand what it is doing.

Sheppard was challenged by Charles Glascock, the man Sheppard defeated for the mayor's seat in 1985. Sheppard received 1,220 votes to Glascock's 593.

Councilman Al Harmon was re-elected without opposition.

Incumbents Unopposed

About 20 percent of Allamonte Springs voters went to the polls Tuesday, more than had been predicted, to elect Dudley Bates mayor and Patricia Fernandez commissioner, both without opposition.

U.S. Naval Warship Fired At Private Fishing Vessel

MANAMA, Bahrain (UPI) — An Indian mechanic working aboard a private fishing vessel in the Persian Gulf was killed when a U.S. warship fired on the craft, apparently believing it was attacking an Iranian patrol boat, diplomatic sources said today.

The dead seaman was identified by Indian officials in the United Arab Emirates as Jagdish Pawa, 22, a mechanic aboard the private fishing boat.

The Indian was killed by "bullets fired by the U.S. Navy," a diplomat in the United Arab Emirates said on the condition he not be identified.

The man's body was in the morgue of Qassimi Hospital in the emirate of Sharjah early today, but doctors have not yet officially determined the cause of his death, hospital administrators said.

Grand Jury Indicts Four

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI) — Four men were indicted by a federal grand jury on charges they conspired to sell stolen information on a supercomputer that could help the Soviet Union neutralize U.S. missiles in the event of war.

The eight-count indictment was returned Tuesday against Charles McVey, Kevin Anderson and Stevan and Ivan Batinic, all of whom were already in custody or out on bail. It accused them of conspiracy and violations of U.S. technology control laws.

Unemployed Veteran Accused Of Threatening George Shultz

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An unemployed Vietnam veteran accused of threatening to kill Secretary of State George Shultz says he is just a tourist on vacation who planned to do some hunting with the cache of weapons in his car.

Edward L. Gallo, 41, was being held today in the District of Columbia jail for psychological testing and was ordered to appear Friday for a preliminary hearing in U.S. District Court, a U.S. attorney's office spokesman said.

A police spokesman said Gallo was charged with illegally transporting firearms across state lines and faces charges of threatening to kill a public official.

District police had been alerted Monday night that the unemployed chemist from Worcester, Mass., had come heavily armed to Washington allegedly to kill Shultz, authorities said.

Ortega: CIA Seduced Aide

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) — A senior Sandinista military aide who defected with classified information was "seduced" by the CIA during a visit to the United States, Defense Minister Humberto Ortega said.

Ortega said Maj. Roger Miranda Bengochea, one of the ministry's top aides until he defected Oct. 25, was approached by the CIA last September when Miranda asked for permission to travel to the United States to visit his daughter on her 15th birthday.

Miranda "went to visit his daughter and was in the United States for a week without our control," Ortega said. "That was where they contacted him and seduced him into prostitution against his country."

...Gangs

The report says the gangs are spreading to Tampa, Jacksonville and Orlando, which currently have the level of gang activity Miami reported in 1981.

"Virtually every major community in this state from Miami to Tallahassee is experiencing a gang problem to some degree," said Rep. Alzo Reddick, D-Orlando, chairman of the House Committee on Youth.

"We found that youth gangs operating in this state have not yet reached the level of sophistication or organization that exists in Los Angeles, Chicago and other areas that have a long history of gang activity," Reddick said. "If we act fast, we will be able to address this problem before it becomes a tragic part of our urban landscape."

Reddick's committee meets Tuesday morning to discuss the report and other issues relating to juvenile justice.

The report says there are four types of youth gangs in Florida: all black gangs, all-Hispanic gangs and mixed black and Hispanic gangs that deal in drug selling and distribution. The Miami Boys, a prominent gang in Dade County, has been linked with crack cocaine sales as far north as Tallahassee.

The "skinheads" — a name borrowed from similar groups that have operated in Great Britain for several years — started in Jacksonville and are now found in Tampa, Miami, Fort Myers, St. Petersburg, Clearwater and Sarasota, the report says. "Surf-punks" are a spinoff phenomenon, according to the report. —Susan Loden

Claims Religious Discrimination

Rabbi Says He'll Sue School Board

By Deane Jordan
And
Richard Whittaker

An Altamonte Springs rabbi says he intends to sue the Seminole County School District for more than $1 million in U.S. District Court next week in Orlando, claiming "religious discrimination."

Rabbi Maurice S. Kaprow declined today to give specific details about his complaint but said it involves his son, who is a student at Lake Mary High School, and that he will disclose the details at a Thursday morning press conference.

While Kaprow declined to give details, Lake Mary High School Principal Don Reynolds said today Kaprow has complained to him about the testing of students on Jewish holidays and subsequent make-up work by students who missed the tests, and when they have to take the test.

Reynolds said Kaprow has complained that teachers at the school have scheduled tests on Jewish holidays, such as Rosh Hashana in September. Also in contention is that the students who miss the test have to make it up taking a different test and have to do so after school and not during school.

Reynolds said absences on religious holidays are treated as excused absences, such as when a student misses a test for a football game. He said the school cannot cancel a test for 140 students because a few cannot be there at the time of the test.

Reynolds said Kaprow has also complained about the type of make-up tests, and that they are given after school.

Reynolds said the make-up test has to be different than the initial test to prevent cheating and is a subjective test rather than objective, that is, a written test rather than a fill-in-the-blanks test.

Kaprow has also reportedly complained that the students have to make up the test after school and that Kaprow believes the make-up test should be taken during regular school hours.

Dr. Hortense Evans, assistant to the school superintendent, said Kaprow was upset that his son had to take an essay make-up test after regular school hours though the test given to students attending class on the day the test was given had to take a multiple-choice test.

The Salvation Army Commodity Distribution

The Salvation Army will be distributing commodities at the following locations and times:

Today until 1 p.m. at The Salvation Army, 700 West 24th St., Sanford; and Thursday, Nov. 5, from 9:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Altamonte Chapel, State Road 436, Altamonte Springs.

Those needing to be re-certified can do so at the point of distribution, provided that they have received commodities at least once since December, 1986.

There will be no new certifications during the week of distribution, according to a Salvation Army spokesman.

Those who need to be certified for the first time, and/or those who have not received commodities since December, 1986, must come to The Salvation Army after Monday, November 9 in order to be eligible for pick-up in December. Hours for commodity certifications are Monday through Thursday from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m.

The commodities for distribution in November are Cheese, Butter, Milk and Rice.

Seminole Ousted — Lady Lions Survive

By Chris Pister
Herald Sports Writer

ORLANDO — Yuck.

That was about the only printable way to describe the performance of the two Seminole County entries in the 3A-6 District Tournament Tuesday night at Jones High School.

Seminole High practically made a season's worth of unforced errors in one match as they dropped a 15-10, 15-6 decision to Kissimmee Gateway's Lady Panthers.

"The girls took turns making mistakes all night," Seminole coach Beth Corso said. "We made seven unforced errors the first game and six the second game and that is way too many for a district tournament match."

Oviedo's Lady Lions did not have one of their better performances either Tuesday night, but the defending champions played well enough in spurts to escape with a 16-14, 15-11 victory over Orlando Bishop Moore.

"We didn't do very much of anything that well," Oviedo coach Anita Carlson said. "It may have been overconfidence. We will have it together tomorrow night."

7:30 p.m. Kissimmee Gateway vs. Kissimmee Osceola

Tuesday's results

Oviedo d. Bishop Moore 16-14, 15-11

St. Cloud d. Edgewater 15-8, 7-15, 15-10

Gateway d. Seminole 15-10, 15-6

Osceola d. Leesburg 15-12, 6-15, 15-3

Monday's result

Leesburg d. Jones 9-15, 15-12, 15-12

Oviedo, which improved to 19-2 for the season, goes up against St. Cloud tonight at 8 in the first semifinal match. In the second semifinal, Gateway battles Kissimmee Osceola. In other action Tuesday, St. Cloud edged Orlando Edgewater, 15-8, 7-15, 15-11, and Osceola downed Leesburg, 15-12, 6-15, 15-3.

Seminole, which ended the season at 7-14, fell behind early and could never quite work its way back into the match. Gateway, which ran its record to 15-5, scored the first four points and went on to take a 9-2 lead.

Liz Long then served Seminole within 9-5 and, after almost a full rotation, the Lady 'Noles pulled within 9-8 on Bobbie Osborne's serve. Gateway came back with two points for an 11-8 lead but Cludy Bengé's ace serve made it 11-9. Long's ace serve trimmed the lead to 11-10.

Just when it seemed Seminole had the momentum, the Lady 'Noles made three consecutive unforced errors as Gateway closed out the game.

"I thought we were getting it together there late in the first game," Corso said. "But, all of a sudden, we just lost it again and we never found it in the second game."

After stumbling in the latter part of game one, the Lady 'Noles tripped and fell in the early going of game two. Gateway built an 8-0 lead and never looked back. The closest Seminole came was 12-6 as Long served three points, one an ace, but Gateway regained the serve and closed out the match on three more errors by Seminole.

"We just made too many errors to be effective," Corso said. "Our hitters were only at 50 percent or less in their hitting percentages and you could tell it was the first district tournament for our setters."

Oviedo came out at a snail's pace in Tuesday's opening game of the tournament and Bishop Moore raced to an early 8-2 lead. The Lady Hornets had a 9-5 lead when Oviedo came to life behind the hitting of junior Suzanne Hughes.

With Anna Hollis serving, Oviedo reeled off five points, including two kills by Hughes off nice sets by Jill Knutson and one ace by Hollis for a 10-9 lead. Bishop Moore hung within 11-10 when Anne Wolary came on to serve two big points, the second an ace, for a 13-10 Oviedo lead.

Bishop Moore fought back to tie it at 13-13 and the Lady Hornets then took a 14-13 and were serving for the game. Oviedo got a side out, though, and then took a 15-14 lead on Bobbie Kelley's serve. Hughes had a block for the 15th point.

Bishop Moore had the serve one more time but couldn't score and Hollis then served out the game for Oviedo.

Auxiliary To Honor Veterans

The United States Coast Guard Auxiliary will honor our veterans during the week of November 7th to the 15th. On the 7th of November, Auxiliary vessels will be on display at the Sanford Town Square, also known as the Winn Dixie Plaza, formerly the Old Flea Market, located on Hwy. 17-92 in Sanford.

On the 14th and 15th, the U.S.C.G. Auxiliary flotillas of Orange, Seminole, Lake and Volusia counties will host the United States Coast Guard Cutter HAMMER at Memorial Park, at the waterfront, on the 13th, 14th and 15th and have arranged for tours of the vessel from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on the 14th and 15th. The Cutter is 65 feet long and pushes a 70 foot work barge.

In conjunction with the HAMMER, a semi-rigid 6 meter (19-3/4 ft.) diesel rescue boat will also be on display. This vessel is capable of being self-righting if it should be overturned. Other vessels of the local Coast Guard Auxiliary units will also be on display.

The Coast Guard Group Mayport under the direction of Lt. Commander Charles Williams has assigned one section to be responsible for the erection and maintenance of the navigational aids such as the daymarkers, lights and buoys on the St. John's River up to Lake George; (the St. John's River flows north).

Another section assigned to Sr. Chief Wendell Bush at The Coast Guard Station, Ponce De Leon Inlet at New Smyrna Beach, has the responsibility for Lake Monroe and the St. John's River down to Lake George.

The Coast Guard Cutter HAMMER is the "heavy duty" member of the navigational aids team and is used whenever pilings or "dolphins" are to be erected or repaired on any portion of the St. John's River.

For those boaters who would like their boats examined for a Courtesy Marine Decal, there will be Coast Guard Auxiliary examiners at the Sanford Town Square on the 7th and at the ramps at Lake Monroe Marina, the ramps at the Hwy. 17-92 park and launch located at the 17-92 bridge across the St. John's river and at Monroe Park, located across the river from the 17-92 park on the 14th and 15th.

Display materials and boating information will also be available and the Auxiliary members will answer boating questions at the various booths.

BOATERS TIP: Have your boat examined by an Auxiliary member and if your boat has all the safety equipment required by "The Federal Requirements for Recreational Boats," Florida Statutes and those of the Coast Guard Auxiliary, you will receive a 1988 decal indicating that your boat has met all these requirements.

Have a Safe Boating Day.

Court In Session

Crabtree. The Homecoming Queen will be announced at halftime of Friday night's Seminole Athletic Conference game between Lyman and Seminole at Seminole High.

Homecoming: Tribe Hosts Lyman

Although there are three weeks left in the regular season, Seminole High has already clinched a spot in the 4A State Playoffs by winning the District 4A-7 championship.

Coach Roger Beathard hopes the Tribe won't have its mind only on the playoffs and overlook its last three opponents, though. The 'Noles have three Seminole Athletic Conference games remaining and a chance to finish the season with a 7-3 overall record.

"Our remaining three games are three rivals in the conference so it should not be hard for us to get up," Beathard said. "We won't overlook the teams and look just to the playoffs. The results will have a say so in the conference standings, especially Lake Howell and DeLand.

McGuire Unanimous AL Rookie Of Year

Baseball

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mark McGuire, the Oakland Athletics first baseman who broke the rookie home-run record with a league-leading 49, Tuesday was unanimously named the Jackie Robinson American League Rookie of the Year by the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

"A lot of people kept drilling into my head that I had the award locked up," McGuire said. "It was hard to push that aside. I was at a golf tournament this fall, and someone introduced me as the sure bet for rookie of the year. I didn't like that. It's hard to put it out of your mind when someone tells you you're going to be it."

McGuire eclipsed the rookie homer mark Aug. 14 and finished the year with 11 more than any first-year player in major-league history. He became only the second AL player to unanimously win rookie honors. The other was Carlton Fisk of Boston in 1972.

In a voting by two writers from each AL city, McGuire received all 28 first-place votes for 140 points. Points were awarded on a 5-3-1 basis for votes from first through third.

"I'm very honored," he said. "When (BBWA Secretary Jack Lang) called today and told me what got me was it was unanimous. He said it was only the second time. I thought that was very nice, that got to me a bit."

The 24-year-old from Claremont, Calif., hit .289 and knocked in 118 runs in becoming the second straight Oakland player to win the AL rookie honor. Jose Canseco won in 1986.

Third baseman Kevin Seitzer of Kansas City was second in the balloting with 64 points and catcher Matt Nokes of Detroit was third with 32. Seitzer had 207 hits to finish sixth in the league in batting with a .323 average. Nokes, helping the Tigers compensate for the loss of Lance Parrish to Philadelphia, batted .289 with 32 homers and 87 RBI.

Others receiving votes were outfielder Mike Greenwell of Boston (9), outfielder Devon White of California (5), pitcher Mike Henneman of Detroit (1) and second baseman Nelson Liriano of Toronto (1).

McGuire, a 6-foot-5, 225-pound right-handed hitter, did not become a regular until two weeks into the season.

He pursued Roger Maris' record of 61 homers for much of the first half of the year. He hit 33 homers before the All-Star break but slowed in the second half. He had a chance to become the 12th player to hit 50 homers in a season but sat out the final game to be with his pregnant wife.

"When I hit 49, I really started thinking about (No. 50)," he said. "I thought it would be really neat to hit 50. Ever since (his son) Matthew was born, I've been telling people that was my 50th home run of the season."

McGuire tied Andre Dawson of the Chicago Cubs for the home-run lead in the majors. He shattered the previous rookie record of 38 homers shared by Wally Berger and Frank Robinson and hit more homers than any AL player since Harmon Killebrew had 49 in 1969.

DeBerg's Start Keeps Testaverde On Bench

TAMPA (UPI) — This story was supposed to center on Vinny Testaverde.

Most of the way through the 1987 season, any profile of Tampa Bay's starting quarterback figured to highlight Testaverde's rookie year. When a Heisman Trophy winner joins a 2-14 club as the first pick in the NFL draft, the paying customers assume they will get a long look at the new kid in town.

Sorry, kid. Testaverde has thrown just four passes all year and the immediate prognosis calls for more bench time. The old kid in town, 11-year veteran Steve DeBerg, has overcome a shaky knee and a shaky past to author one of the league's most intriguing story lines.

"Things seem to be going my way this year," says the NFL's No. 3 passer. "My confidence is flowing right now and that's a reflection of the way I've trained in the offseason. I feel so good about the way I prepared for this season and right now, I can't wait to get to the stadium every Sunday. Heck, I can't even wait to get to practice."

At the age of 33, DeBerg has already carved out an impressive legacy as quarterback tutor. One year after setting NFL records for pass attempts and completions with San Francisco, DeBerg was replaced by Joe Montana and dealt in 1981 to Denver, where John Elway arrived a year later. Then DeBerg led the Buccaneer offense to 17 club records in 1984 before another high-salaried phenom, Steve Young, arrived on the scene.

Football

"Heading into this season, we still had Steve Young, myself and Vinny," DeBerg says. "I felt the Bucs would have to make a move between Young and myself and I felt it would be Young that left because of my experience."

Young was dispatched to the 49ers and DeBerg began a rigorous training regimen, lifting weights under the stern guidance of new coach Ray Perkins. He outplayed Testaverde in the exhibition season and was named to start the opener against Atlanta. A 48-10 rout of the Falcons confirmed to Perkins he had made the right choice.

"I'm proud for Steve DeBerg," says Perkins, who has the Buccaneers in contention for a wild card playoff berth with a 4-3 mark. "In our mini-camps, I wasn't really impressed with either quarterback and I wasn't that impressed with DeBerg in the first two weeks of training camp. But I kept asking him to do certain things and he's done it. He has a great understanding of the pro passing game and he's like a coach on the field."

DeBerg has indicated interest in a coaching career, but right now, he's too busy bewildering defenses. He completed 59 percent of his pass attempts for 974 yards and eight touchdowns in just four games. DeBerg lost three weeks to the players' strike, but he used that time to

Senators To Urge Expansion

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A group of 15 U.S. senators, many representing states seeking big league baseball franchises, will unveil a task force urging expansion of the 26-team major leagues, officials said Tuesday.

Jim Spellman, an aide to Sen. Tim Wirth, D-Colo., said the Senate Task Force on Expansion of Major League Baseball will announce its expansion plan Wednesday. Members have also asked to meet with baseball Commissioner Peter Ueberroth and the presidents of both the National and American leagues.

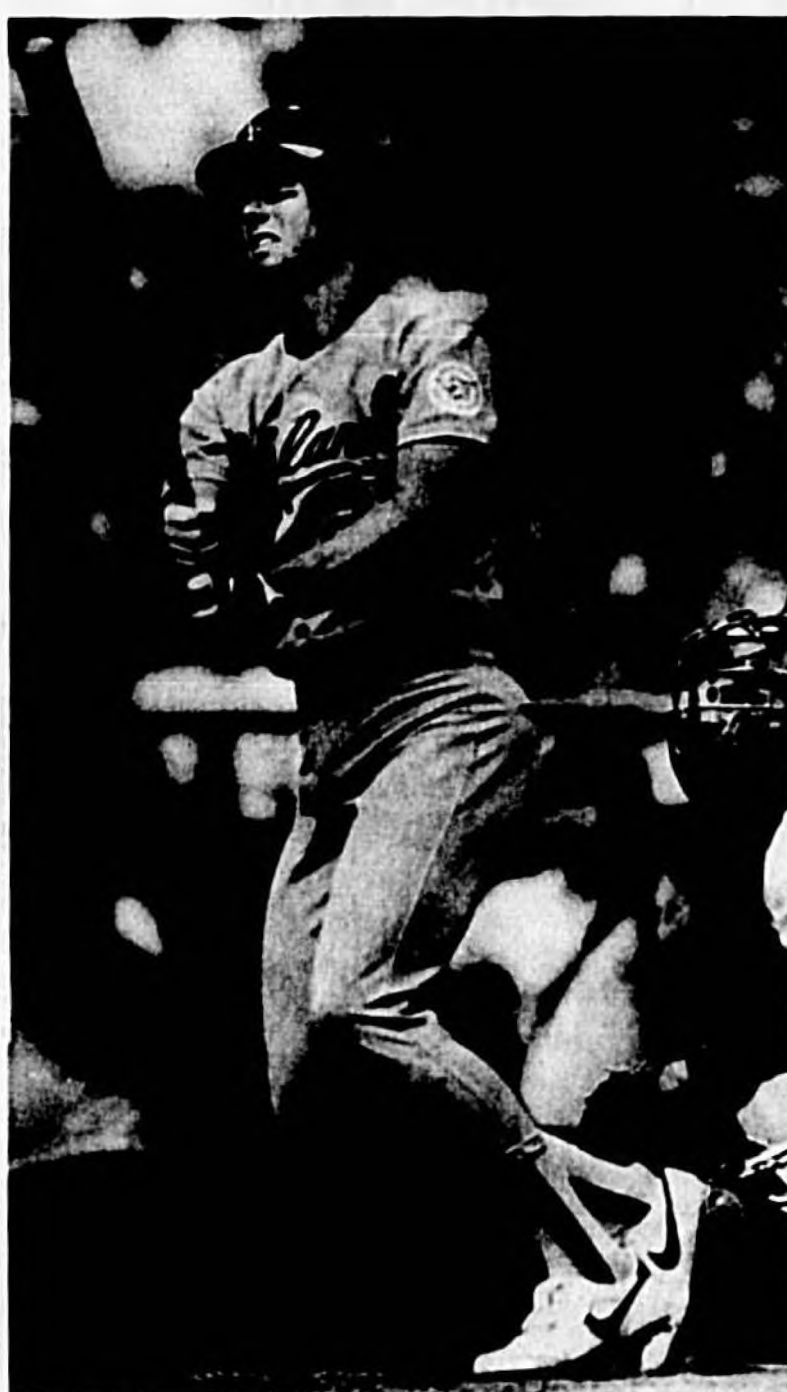

"We're trying to draw the commissioner's attention to the broad-based support in the Senate for expansion of major league baseball," Spellman said. "The task force is asking the major leagues to expand."

A letter from the task force to baseball Commissioner Peter Ueberroth and the presidents of the American and National leagues identified as "enthusiastic and committed communities" the cities of Denver, Colo.; Phoenix, Ariz.; Miami; Tampa, Fla.; St. Petersburg, Fla.; Indianapolis; Washington, D.C.; New Orleans; Columbus, Ohio; Nashville, Tenn.; and the Northern New Jersey area.

Baseball franchises historically have funneled millions of dollars into local communities through new jobs, taxes and concessions, as well as conferring "big league" status on cities.

The task force letter, dated Oct. 28, to Ueberroth, American League President Bobby Brown and National League President

NBA Rookies Include 5-3 Boggles

David Robinson takes a big cut at a golf ball in a charity tournament. While Robinson hits golf balls every once in a while, the No. 1 draft pick of the San Antonio Spurs will not be playing basketball this season in the NBA.

United Press International
With No. 1 pick David Robinson unsigned and unavailable, the NBA's crop of rookies this season may come up short. Pun intended.

The spotlight among the rookies falls squarely on the shortest, 5-foot-3 Tyrone Boggles, already a legend in the sport though he hasn't played his first official game with the Washington Bullets.

Can he play? The question has followed Boggles from high school to Wake Forest University and now into the NBA as the 13th pick of the first round. Boggles has given resounding positive answers at each stop. But a new crowd of doubters awaits him both on and off the courts of pro basketball.

While Boggles is sure to be the league's most publicized and scrutinized rookie, he is not among those likely to be in the running for rookie of the year.

Six rookies were virtually handed starting positions in training camp. It is no coincidence that five of them are with teams that failed to make the playoffs last season.

The sixth, Scottie Pippen of the Chicago Bulls, ranks right behind Boggles in curiosity. Pippen was a little known star at Central Arkansas whose stock rose rapidly in the weeks between the end of the college season and the draft.

Now Pippen is in position to play a supporting role to the NBA's brightest star, Michael Jordan. Pippen is a 6-8 forward with skills that may eventually get him moved into the backcourt with Jordan.

Pippen is joined as an early leader in the rookie of the year race with two similarly talented players — Reggie Williams of the Los Angeles Clippers and Dennis Hopson of the New Jersey Nets.

Williams and Hopson are joining teams in dire need of scoring punch and outside shooting. Expect them to have the higher scoring averages of all rookies.

Basketball

Armon Gilliam, the No. 2 pick behind Robinson, moves into a starting role with the Phoenix Suns. The 6-9 Gilliam should give the Suns their best low-post offense since Leonard "Truck" Robinson lived up to his nickname.

The other rookie starters come in at difficult positions in which to succeed as first-year players. Point guards Kenny Smith at Sacramento and Kevin Johnson at Cleveland are expected to be leaders of young and building teams. They were taken as the 6th and 7th picks respectively.

Elsewhere, few rookies figure to make an impact, particularly on the stronger teams.

An exception is in Seattle, where the SuperSonics advanced to the NBA's Final Four in the playoffs after a so-so regular season. The Sonics had a super draft, picking up 6-11 Olden Polynice, the best center prospect other than Robinson, and 6-9 Derrick McKey, an undergraduate with potential second only to Robinson.

"They are good," Seattle veteran Tom Chambers said of the new Sonics. "They're a lot better than I thought they were. Polynice is willing to sacrifice his body at any time, and McKey has great skills. I think they're going to help us right away."

Seattle bolstered an already formidable frontcourt and established itself as top contender to the Los Angeles Lakers in the Pacific Division.

Chicago also had an excellent draft, pitting Pippen with 6-10 Horace Grant, whose only drawback is that he plays the same position as Charles Oakley, the Bulls' incumbent power forward.

The Clippers needed help the most and had three first-round picks, Williams and forwards Joe Wolf and Ken Norman. Each was a judicious choice for a franchise notorious for poor personnel decisions. Other rookies who bear watching are Reggie Miller of Indiana, Mark Jackson of the New York Knicks, Reggie Lewis of Boston, and Steve Alford of Dallas.

Alford, who led Indiana University to last season's college title, was a second-round pick, whom the Mavericks took after choosing Jim Farmer, another guard, in the first round.

Alford, like Boggles, was a college legend who comes into the NBA with critics and doubters lined up to pass judgment. He summarizes the NBA's rookie class, one on which to wait and see.

REID ON INJURED LIST

HOUSTON (UPI) — The Houston Rockets Tuesday placed veteran forward Robert Reid on the injured list and cut free-agent forward Michael Kennedy, reducing the team's active roster to 13.

Reid, a nine-year veteran who ranks sixth on the Rockets' career scoring list with 8,430 points, underwent major surgery in mid-July on his knee.

The roster does not include unsigned veteran free agents Rodney McCray and Dirk Minniefield. It also does not include forward Jim Petersen, who is on the injured list for at least four to six weeks.

NBA teams must reduce their rosters to 12 by Thursday.

CLIPPERS WAIVE TWO

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Los Angeles Clippers Tuesday waived rookies Tim McCallister and Chad Kessler to reduce their roster to 14 players.

McCallister, a 6-foot-3 guard from Oklahoma, averaged 4.6 points in eight exhibition games. He was drafted in the third round. Kessler, a 6-8 forward from Georgia, averaged 6.9 points in the pre-season. He was a fifth-round selection.

Heat 2,500 Short Of Ticket Demand

MIAMI (UPI) — The Miami Heat expansion franchise is 2,500 short of an NBA demand that it sell 10,000 season tickets before Dec. 1, and a league official said failure to reach the goal could cost the city the team.

The Heat is confident it can get 2,500 people to make good on their initial deposits for season tickets, but getting it done in less than a month, which includes a long holiday weekend for Thanksgiving, could be difficult. However, statistics obtained by the Miami Herald showed that only the Boston Celtics, Los Angeles

Basketball

Lakers, Dallas Mavericks and Portland Trail Blazers sold more than 10,000 season tickets last year.

The average for the league was 6,938 season tickets sold. The 10,000 figure was established to form a base of support for the expansion teams.

"The Dec. 1 requirement is extremely serious," said Russell Granik, the NBA's executive vice president. "If they have sold 9,000 by then, I don't know what the answer is. But if they are substantially short, there probably wouldn't be a franchise. To me, 8,000 tickets is substantially short of 10,000. I'm not even sure if one ticket short would be enough."

The Heat said 11,000 fans deposited $95 each on season tickets before the franchise was awarded. The deadline has passed for fans to mail their half-payments on the tickets, which have a seasonal cost of $1,050, $714, $504, and $252.

"The NBA didn't set its rules and regulations to be taken lightly," said Heat General Manager Lewis Schaffel. "The league is a very soundly run business, and they are going to make a business decision. What would they do if we don't make it next month? It isn't something I want to find out about."

Alan Cohen, owner of the Celtics and chairman of the NBA Board of Governors and the expansion committee, said most people do not pay for season tickets until the last minute.

"If they (the Heat) don't make it, we would probably want some of our marketing people to go down there and study what they have been doing," Cohen said.

European Basketball Lures U.S. Players

AVIGNON, France (UPI) — The ancient walled city that once provided refuge for popes exiled from Rome is now a modern-day sanctuary of sorts for a couple of American basketball players who, along with dozens of compatriots, are sparking vast changes in the European game.

Vince Taylor, an NBA castoff who is scoring 28 points a game for Avignon, and Mike Giomi, who chose French hoops instead of a job with IBM after graduating from North Carolina State, are among the Americans playing basketball in France, Spain, Italy, Israel, Holland, West Germany and Belgium.

Some are over-the-hill NBA stars, including Bob McAdoo of the defending European champions from Milan, Italy. Others, such as Rory White of the Banco Bilbao squad in Madrid, Spain, spent short stints with NBA teams before giving up a benchwarmer's spot for stardom overseas.

But no matter what path they took to Europe, the result is the same: the Americans are superstars. After eight games in the French first division this fall, each of the league's top 10 scorers and rebounders was an American.

"There's a lot of pressure on Americans here. They're expected to dominate," said

Basketball

Brooke Steppe, a 6-foot-6 Georgia Tech product who spent four undistinguished years in the NBA and now is averaging more than 30 points a game for Paris-based Racing Club of France. "It's kind of like a reverse discrimination."

"They really expect that if you don't score 25 to 30 points a game something must be wrong, even if they have two or three guys on you who are pounding you," said Taylor. "If you lose, they look at the Americans first."

Each team is allowed two Americans and Taylor said they are expected to play the full 40 minutes of the game — which is very tough at the beginning.

"The offensive man is allowed to do anything in Europe. You just can't play a hard man-to-man defense here," he said. "All Americans get into foul trouble at first."

The Americans share other adjustments: being unable to speak to most teammates and neighbors; playing before crowds of a few hundred in small gyms, being surrounded by coaches and referees who know considerably less than they do about the game.

"The players and fans just don't have the basketball mentality that we do in the States," said Steppe, who grew up in the basketball enclave of Chapel Hill, N.C. "I just think basically it's not at the level of importance that it is in the States."

Taylor, who grew up in Chicago and Lexington, Ky., before starring at Duke, and Giomi, who went from Newark, Ohio, to three years at Indiana University and a final year at N.C. State, must adjust to life in a town where Roman ruins and a fallen bridge receive more publicity than their team and the center of attention is a palace that housed 14th century popes.

"Obviously the language is everybody's barrier," said Giomi. "Television is maybe the worst. I read more books now than I ever have. I think I've gone through four novels in six weeks."

The adjustment for the Europeans is equally difficult. Coaches must be bilingual in practices and adapt to the Americans' intensity.

"They are excellent, they are artists, they play basketball easily but also lose their heads easily," said Coach Djordje Andrijaevic of the team in Caen, France.

...DeBerg

recuperate from a knee injury suffered against Chicago Sept. 20.

"The last two years here, we've just been too basic on offense," says DeBerg, who was yanked as a starter by Leeman Bennett after two games last year. "At this level, we got so predictable that it became easy to defend us. Right now, defenses are having a hard time against the Buccaneers. We're using varying formations and motions and when I've been involved with that type of offense, that's when I've had my success."

In last week's 23-17 triumph against Green Bay, the Buccaneers were struggling through a typical fourth-quarter letdown when DeBerg took charge in the final minutes. DeBerg's favorite target, tight end Calvin Magee, caught a pair of third-down passes as Tampa Bay ran out the clock and matched its combined victory total for the past two seasons.

"I haven't been associated with great teams and that's been frustrating," says DeBerg, looking back on a pro career that ended almost as soon as it began. "I've been happy with my career, though. Remember, I wasn't even supposed to play in this league."

DeBerg was selected by Dallas in the 10th round of the 1977 draft out of San Jose State and was cut in training camp before landing in San Francisco. He has built a reputation as a pocket passer with a deft touch who has been prone to the critical mistake.

Right now, the only embarrassing mistake involving DeBerg is the one made by his detractors. Each Sunday, Testaverde can be seen standing on the Buccaneer sidelines, charting DeBerg's progress.

"I realize I might spend the rest of my career backing up Testaverde," DeBerg says. "This might be my last year as a starter ... I'm gonna make the most of it."

BUCS WAIVE SWOOP

TAMPA (UPI) — Craig Swoope, a fourth-round draft pick who started 11 games at strong safety during his 1986 rookie season, was one of five players waived Tuesday by the Tampa Bay Buccaneers.

In reaching the NFL's 50-man limit, the Buccaneers waived Swoope and wide receiver Bobby Bankston of the injured reserve list and released three other players while adding two to injured reserve.

Vinny Testaverde takes a practice snap in Tampa Bay's training camp. Last year's Heisman Trophy candidate and first-round draft choice by the Bucs has had more bench time than expected this season as Steve DeBerg has gotten off to a good start.

Jones Can Make It Happen

By Scott Sander
Herald Sports Writer

Seminole County has a hoard of talented running backs in it this season. The entire year has seemed to be the year of the running back as team's are gaining chunks of real estate seemingly at will.

Players like John Curry (Lake Mary), Victor Farrer (Lyman), and Marquette Smith (Lake Howell) have richened the county's already impressive crop of running backs.

One name that has not come up very often when the top backs are mentioned is Jerod Jones. For the most part, the 5-foot-7, 185-pound Seminole High junior has not even been mentioned in the same sentence with the likes of Curry, Farrer, and even Smith.

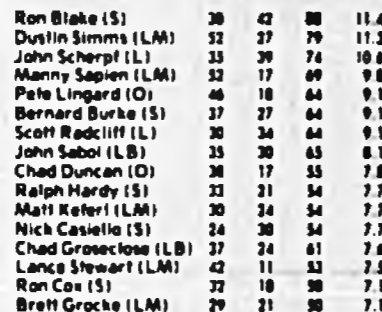

"I kind of feel that I have been overlooked," Jones, who is fifth in the SAC rushing chase with 525 yards, said. "There are a lot of good backs around, but I feel that a lot of people haven't given me all that much credit."

Seminole offensive coordinator Emery Speed said that he tries to get the ball in the hands of Jones as often as possible. "Jerod is dangerous open-field runner," Blake explained. "He has been getting 10-15 carries a game, and we try to get the ball to him on the outside."

"He can cut on a dime," Blake continued. "And we like to give him the ball on sweeps and other plays designed to go outside."

In addition to starting at one of the running back positions, Jones returns punts and kickoffs. Earlier in the season against Orlando Edgewater, Jones had over 100 yards in returns alone. "We have found that most of the people are kicking the ball away from him," Blake said. "Once he gets in the open, he can make things happen."

In last week's 16-3 win over Oviedo, Jones showed his versatility as he ran for 71 yards on nine carries. He also threw a 17-yard touchdown pass to quarterback Jeff Blake on a halfback option pass. "I was

Often Asked Tennis Question And Their Answers

Here are some often asked tennis questions and their answers.

Q: What is the protocol for missing a lesson or clinic? Some people say that it is not necessary to call the pro to let him know that you are not coming. Should you call or not? Also, should the pro charge for no-shows?

A: I do not know of any pros who do not charge for no-shows. If they don't they must be independently wealthy. Even if he lets you get away with such behavior without penalty, it's the height of rudeness to break an appointment without prior notice. Most pros will charge the full amount for lessons that aren't cancelled within a given time frame.

Q: I have been working with the same pro for several years. I enjoy the lessons and have improved a lot with this pro. Recently, my regular pro had to go out of town, so I took a free lesson from another professional. Since my old pro has returned, I find that I would like to take lessons from both of them. Is this a good idea?

Larry Castle
HERALD TENNIS WRITER

A: I do not think it is a good idea at all to take lessons at the same time from two different teaching pros. In fact, it would confuse you and set your game back. The only time it would be possible to benefit from this situation would be if both pros worked together and taught the same exact method. This could happen at a club where several pros teach and use the same method. A husband-wife team is another possibility; otherwise, I think I would pick a good pro and stay with only one.

Q: Why is the tennis net six inches lower in the center than at the net posts? Why isn't it the same height all the way across like a volleyball or badminton net?

A: The tennis net is quite a bit longer than a volleyball or badminton net. To keep it relatively straight it will always sag a little near the center no matter how tightly it is pulled; it has to be stretched tautly from post to post. It makes for much more accuracy to tie it down in the center; then the two halves are relatively straight to their respective posts.

Q: In a recent 32-draw singles tournament there was not one seed. Shouldn't there have been some seeds?

A: A tournament committee can award one seed for every four entrants. In a draw of 32 players it could have as many as eight seeds. It does not have to seed anyone though, if it does not consider anyone outstanding.

Q: In chasing a drop shot, my momentum was such that I elected to jump over the net rather than run into it. Do I lose the point because I touched my opponent's court?

A: You lose the point unless the ball went out of play before you touched the court. About the only way this could happen would be for your return to first touch your opponent.

Paris: Cash Upends Annacone

PARIS (UPI) — Pat Cash lost his last three service games but broke Paul Annacone four times in the second set Tuesday for a 6-4, 6-4 victory in the $915,000 Paris Open.

In other first-round matches, No. 7 seed Brad Gilbert breezed to a 6-0, 6-3 win over Claudio Mezzad

Stocks Open Lower

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices opened lower Wednesday in active trading of New York Stock Exchange issues, following sharp early losses in London and lower closings in Tokyo, Hong Kong and Singapore.

The Dow Jones Industrial average, which fell 50.56 Tuesday, was down 23.21 to 1940.32 shortly after the market opened.

Declines outnumbered advances 1,047-217 among the 1,594 issues crossing the New York Stock Exchange tape.

Early turnover amounted to about 33.2 million shares.

Stock prices skidded Tuesday, ending a week-long advance as Wall Street became alarmed at slow progress on budget-cutting talks in Washington and worried about the weak dollar.

Traders said the dollar's lower value and the apparent lack of movement in talks between the Reagan administration and Congress on reducing the budget and trade deficits took a toll on stock prices.

Alan Ackerman, Gruntal & Co. senior vice president, said the financial community fears that the controversy over Reagan's Supreme Court nomination will distract the White House's attention from budget concerns.

"What is not evident is movement on the budget issue and that's got people very anxious," Ackerman said.

Dollar Falls, Rises On World Markets

The dollar opened mostly higher on major European foreign currency markets Wednesday, despite falling to a record low in earlier trading in Tokyo. Gold was mostly higher.

In the Far East, the Tokyo Foreign Exchange resumed trading after a day off for Culture Day, a national holiday, with currency traders driving the dollar to a record low against the Japanese yen, falling 0.33 yen to close at 137.25 yen.

The all-time low close came despite continuing intervention in the currency market by the Bank of Japan, which purchased some $600 million to prop up the dollar.

Japan's Finance Minister Kiichi Miyazawa called on the United States to quickly move to cut its budget deficit to restore stability to foreign exchange rates.

After hitting the day's low of 136.80 yen — a record momentary low — in early trading, the dollar rebounded on short-covering by Japanese and foreign banks and central bank purchases.

A source at the central bank refused to comment on the intervention, but said the downward slide of the dollar is believed due to "groundless reports" the Louvre accord to stabilize exchange rates is ineffective.

He said the central bank believes the February agreement among industrialized nations to maintain the stability of exchange rates of major currencies is still in effect.

hundreds of wildly cheering supporters to bow their heads in prayer for "this very special moment in history."

Rizzo, the flamboyant ex-police chief who gained national attention in two stormy terms from 1972 to 1980, said he suspected foul play and vowed, "We're not done yet. Let me tell you something, I will never concede to him, OK?"

Goode, 49, Philadelphia's first black mayor, immediately vowed to unify a city polarized by bitter and divisive campaigning. Rizzo, 67, dubbed him

"The Mad Bomber" for his 1985 attempt to evict members of the radical group MOVE, which triggered a fire that killed 11 people and left 250 homeless.

Both candidates had vowed the election would be their last, win or lose.

In Kentucky, meanwhile, the very first campaign turned golden for Wilkinson, 45, a self-made millionaire who promised that as governor he would work for a lottery to give the state a needed financial boost.

"The people of Kentucky have spoken loudly and spoken clearly that they want change," the Democratic newcomer told cheering supporters after rolling up the biggest landslide in state history.

the commission and had also served as an elected mayor, as was her son and late husband. This was only the second time she had opposition, and one of those campaigns the challenger withdrew before the election.

In District 4, Mayor Ed Myers, 69, went down to defeat at the hands of Ted Poelking, 70, who received 950 votes or 63.1 percent to Myers' 556.

Smerlison, who lives at 315 Heather Ave., is rarely at a loss for words, but after the election results were known, he had only a "no comment."

Bullington said, "I want to thank all the voters and the confidence they placed in me and all the others that took an active role in my campaign. It was a team effort. We needed to return respect to the city government. The people of Longwood were ready for a change, it was obvious."

He said he will be doing everything he can to prepare himself for assuming office in January. Bullington, who lives at 340 Tartan St., moved to Longwood four years ago. He served on the charter advisory committee and resigned from the Land Planning Agency to run for the commission. He works in the construction business.

Lormann, who lives at 402 Wildmere Ave., moved to Longwood in 1957. She is retired from banking and semi-retired from real estate.

Hardy said Tuesday night said he was in shock when he learned he had garnered 63.2 percent of the vote in his race. "I think it was because of the straight forward and honest way we ran the campaign. I'm honored to have been chosen by the people of Longwood to represent them as a city commissioner and I will serve the city with pride. At this time I think it would be appropriate to thank Mrs. Lormann for her many years service to the city. I'll do my best and will work hard."

Hardy said that the dirty tactics of his opponents who spread misinformation about him may have backfired for the incumbents. However, he did not think Lormann was involved. "I don't think she was part and parcel in this. I have more respect for her than this and don't think she would have anything to do with it."

Hardy said a man came to his door passing out the literature against him. Among other things, it stated that he was not a high school graduate. Hardy chased him down to show him his high school diploma. "I asked him what he was going to do and he replied he was going to go home."

"I'm looking forward to working for the people of Longwood," said Hardy, who lives at 278 Reider Ave. He has been a city resident for 21 years and is self-employed in the family business.

Poelking said, "I feel relieved. I've been sweating it out. Now I've got to put on my 'dancin' shoes and get things going. I was hoping I would win, but you never know. People tell you one thing and then vote the other. You can't control that."

Myers said, "I worked hard and my people worked hard. I have no excuse. The people have spoken and I hope they know what they're doing. Evidently they worked a lot harder than we did. All I can do is wish them good luck."

Myers does not think the fact he was out of state during part of the campaign had anything to do with his loss. "I think they had a voting block. I can't understand the people of Longwood, I thought we were doing a very good job."

Poelking said his win was "better than expected" and he is "happy to see the way it came out". He said one reason for the incumbent's defeat may have been lack of control by the mayor at city meetings. "Sometimes he let the people get the upper hand and when that happens people lose respect."

Poelking lives at 801 Pheasant Ave., and moved to the city nine years ago. He is retired from the U.S. Navy and the U.S. Postal Service.

Myers, of 1323 Hunt Road, is a 27-year resident of the city. He is a retired tool and die maker. He has served two terms on the commission and the last year as mayor.

City commissioners serve two-year terms and receive $4,200 annual salaries. Candidates must live in the district for which they are running, but are elected by the city at-large. There is no longer any run-off provision in the charter unless there is a tie. The candidate receiving the most votes in each race is declared the winner.

Results of the referendum on the proposed charter amendments:

- Amendment 1 that called for changing term of city commissioners from two years to four beginning in the 1990 election was voted down 977 to 486
- Amendment 2 called for election of the mayor by the voters for a four-year term beginning in 1990 (the mayor is now elected by the commissioners from among their number) and was defeated 756 to 664.
- Amendment 3 calling for selection of the deputy mayor by random drawing of the city commission elected in 1990 and rated in ascending numerical order after that for one-year terms (the deputy mayor is currently elected by the commission from among themselves) was passed 745 to 649.
- Amendment 4 calling for a provision for recall of city commissioners in accordance with state law was approved by 75.4 percent of the voters in a 1,032 to 336 vote.

Myers said he was sorry the recall provision was voted in. "Some people may be recalled before that learn their job. You don't learn everything overnight," he said.

This is the first year the city election has been held in November, previously it was held the first Tuesday after the first Monday in December. However, in accordance with the charter change voted in last year the newly elected commissioners will still be sworn in the first working day in January until after the 1989 election. At that time they will take the oath of office 15 days following the November election.

Because of the county's referendum on the one-cent local option tax, Longwood voters cast their ballots in seven precinct places instead of just at city hall.

the city charter to allow the hiring of an accountant for the city within six months of the beginning of the fiscal year as opposed to the existing practice of having an accountant hired 30 days after the beginning of the fiscal year. The ordinance was passed with an overwhelming 83.4 percent of the vote, 1882 to 375.

Proposed city ordinance 392 dealt with decreasing the amount of city commissioners' votes needed to fire the city manager from four to three. The proposal was defeated by 59.2 percent, 926 for to 1344 against.

He then returned to the closet and told the Taylors to stay in the closet for 10 minutes, or else he would come back "to get them," a sheriff's report said.

When the Taylors heard their front door slam and a vehicle drive away they came out of the closet. They told sheriff's deputies that the robber had taken a $290 video recorder, a $530 stereo, and a $250 locket along with the purse, wallet and cash. Credit cards were also stolen.

The Taylors could not describe the suspect, because their home was in darkness during the robbery, except for a short time when the closet light was on. During that time the robber covered his face with his shirt, deputies reported. The Taylors were not harmed.

They said the suspect appeared to be frightened and breathed heavily. They said he told them several times that he is not a drug addict.

Deputies said windows at the Taylor home showed signs of having been tampered with.

parked across the street, but thought little of it. She went to bed where her husband was sleeping.

At about 10 p.m. Mrs. Taylor said she heard her husband's eyeglasses fall from a nightstand beside their bed. She awakened him and as Taylor was reaching for his glasses he touched the burglar's leg.

The burglar began shouting demands and ordered the Taylors to lie face down with their heads at the foot of their bed.

He demanded cash and took Taylor's wallet and money clip. He went to a closet for Mrs. Taylor's purse and then ordered the Taylors into the closet. The robber closed the closet door and put a nightstand against the door. The robbers stayed in the bedroom for several minutes.

Cook Of The Week

Family Tradition Of Fine Cooking Is What She Serves Up Best (Besides A Good Canasta Hand)

By Dorothy Greene
Herald Correspondent

Just mention "Canasta" and our Cook of the Week, Elva Sawyer of Sanford, might head for the nearest card table. Of course, that's when she's not cooking up some of her tempting family favorites.

Born and raised in the suburbs of Washington, D.C., Mrs. Sawyer has seen her share of knee-deep snow and now enjoys the sun and warmth of our Central Florida climate. "I can remember the snow was so deep," she says, "and we lived about a block and a half from the school and my father would dig a path all the way to school so my sister and I could get to school. That's how deep the snow was!"

Since 1973, the Sawyers have made Sanford their home, leaving the snow behind. "And all the ice, too," she says.

She classifies her mother as a "fantastic" cook whose home-spun methods were a pleasant experience. "She made all the bread, the cakes, the mayonnaise they used — she wouldn't dream of going to the store and buying anything like that. My father always had a garden, and she canned all those things. We had fruit trees and she made her own jelly and jam. That many years ago, women stayed home and that's what they did. Cooked and cleaned all day!"

When an automobile accident caused her mother to be bedridden for almost a year, our cook got an early start in the kitchen, at the age of five, preparing fried eggs and out-meal. "My father taught me how to fry an egg and to cook oatmeal," she says. "and I'd stand on a chair in the kitchen and do that. I'd get dressed and I'd get my sister dressed, then we'd go to the bed and my mother would comb out our hair. So I guess that was the beginning. Once she was able to get around, I didn't do anything like that anymore until I was about 10 or 11."

In those days, our cook says, there was always a lot of company at her parent's home. "It was always at our house," she says. "because we were the ones that had the garden and Daddy had chickens. Especially in the summertime, because there was a place to play horseshoes during the day. Then at night they'd play cards. So there was always a big dinner to be cooked, early, and then, in the evening, there were sandwiches and that kind of thing. And, of course, we always had to help in the kitchen."

Mrs. Sawyer provided some keen competition for the legendary "Rosie the Riveter" during the war years when she worked in a defense plant making weather instruments for airplanes. After that, she spent another eight years on the job at the Department of Agriculture, before going to work at the National Institute of Health in the Medical Arts department.

"That was really interesting," she says. "I really liked that. We made charts and graphs for the doctors. They'd bring in their experiments and information they got from different tests and such, and we'd have to make the charts."

"I remember one time when Khrushchev was coming to the United States, and he was going to make an appearance out there. So we had to make all these charts in English, and then do every one of them in Russian. We worked like crazy, day and night, to finish it up — then he didn't show up!"

Mrs. Sawyer married her husband, Art, after a two-year courtship while both worked at the Department of Agriculture. A son, Robert, lives in Virginia and has two sons of his own. Their daughter, Sue, lives in Georgia and has a boy and a girl. Mrs. Sawyer proudly announces that she has a great-grandson by way of one of her grandsons and another pre-determined great-grandson is on the way through Robert's son. "They already found out that it's going to be a boy," she says. Mrs. Sawyer enjoys traveling several times a year to visit both families, who also make frequent trips to Florida for family reunions.

Occasionally, our cook enjoys having guests for dinner, or several couples for an evening of card playing, but, without a doubt, Mondays are reserved for Canasta. "I won't even make a doctor's appointment on Mondays," she laughs. She is a member of First Baptist Church of Sanford and loves to join the women's group in their crafts projects.

She is an expert at the counted cross stitch method of needlework and is working on some beautiful Christmas gifts for the youngsters in the family. She also has tried her hand at ceramics, turning into a variety of lovely pieces to add to the warm decor of her home. A handsome wall cabinet contains a fair number of thimbles which Mrs. Sawyer has collected from all over the U.S. and Europe, made of pewter, glass, wood and other materials. "I have friend who is in Germany now, and is going to Austria," says Mrs. Sawyer, "and I'm sure she's going to bring me back a thimble!"

Our cook of the week is a friendly woman with a quick smile for everyone. To help keep her petite frame in good shape and ward off some arthritis pain, she has recently joined an exercise club. "I set my own time," she says. "It's one of those new ones where you just lay on the table and the table does all the work!" With a laugh, she adds that she has allotted herself 10 sessions to "firm up."

Microwave Magic

Squash Can Be Posh For Holiday Meals

The harvest of the hard, or winter type, squash is apparent as you view the produce centers or roadside stands. The acorn, turks head, spaghetti, butternut, Hubbard, banana and buttercup are varieties of "winter" squash. They are picked when mature and have hard rinds. The seeds are tough, and the fibrous center are inedible. The squash, which is heavy for its size, will have a thick layer or wall of edible flesh. Squash is an excellent source of vitamin A.

To microwave a whole squash, pierce with a fork, place on a paper plate, allow 6-8 minutes per pound of microwave time on 100% power. Turn the squash over after half the micro-cooking time on 100% power. Turn the squash over after half the micro-cooking time for even doneness. Allow to stand 5 minutes to complete the cooking. Cut in half and remove the seeds and fiber.

This is a great combination of two fall favorites.

APPLE-STUFFED ACORN SQUASH

2 medium acorn squash, halved

Filling:
2 medium apples, peeled, cored and chopped
2 tablespoons water

Toppling:
3 tablespoons brown sugar
3 tablespoons chopped pecans
1 tablespoon butter
1 teaspoon all-purpose flour
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon

Scoop out seeds from squash halves. Place cut-side down in a shallow baking dish. Cover with plastic wrap. M/W on 100% power 8-12 minutes or until tender. Let stand while preparing filling. In a 1 quart casserole dish, combine apples with water. Cover. M/W on 100% power 4-6 minutes, or until tender. Set aside. Combine topping ingredients in small bowl until crumbly.

Turn squash cut-side up. Place 1/4 of apples in each half. Sprinkle 1/4 of topping on each. Cover with wax paper. M/W on 100% power 2 1/2-3 minutes, or until topping melts.

Serves 4.

This easy but unusual combination of flavors is a wonderful accompaniment to roast pork.

ACORN SQUASH WITH CHUTNEY

2 acorn squash
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup chutney
1/2 cup grated coconut

Cut squash in half and scoop out seeds and fibers. Place halves in an 8-inch square baking dish. Place 1 tablespoon butter in the center of each squash half and divide chutney and coconut between halves. Cover and vent with plastic wrap. M/W on 100% power 8-10 minutes or until squash is fork tender. Allow to stand for 3 minutes before serving.

Garnish your holiday turkey platter with this attractive squash.

Dad Mad At College For Not Playing Chaperone

DEAR ABBY: As the father of a daughter returning to college, I am upset and angry. I get angry when I think of how hard my wife and I have to work to earn the $16,000-plus that it costs for tuition. But the cost doesn't anger me as much as the lack of moral supervision these "adults" get at college. When I visited our daughter's campus last fall, I was shocked to discover that the dorms and students' townhouses reminded me of the brothels I have read about.

I don't care how many talks parents have with their children, it's not fair to subject them to this kind of temptation. I wonder how many parents feel as uneasy as I do. Or have our moral standards sunk so low that parents are no longer concerned with the morals of their children? This may be an interesting poll for you to take. Maybe the results would bring about a change on our campuses. Then, instead of passing out condoms, the schools should stop the cohabitation going on at our supposedly respectable campuses!

UPSET PARENT

DEAR UPSET: Most parents are very much concerned about the morals of their children, but when a grown child goes off to college, parents cannot expect the college authorities to assume guardianship of their children's sexual behavior. I think college students bring their moral values to college — they don't find them there.

Breast Check

WHAT IS SCREENING MAMMOGRAPHY?

Mammography is a simple X-ray examination of the breast to detect breast cancer before it can be detected by your own examination or your doctor's examination. With breast self examination it affords you the best chance to detect breast cancer early, while it's still curable.

The Breast/Check network understands the needs of ladies to have a place to feel secure and private while having a mammogram. You'll find that our facilities meet these needs, if not surpassing. For a Breast/Check, you don't need a physician's order. But remember, the Breast/Check isn't for everyone, only those ladies who need a baseline or routine examination. If you have a new lump or other problem, check with your doctor or ask for a diagnostic examination, also available from the Breast/Check network.

...Squash

2 tablespoons dark brown sugar
 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
 2 tablespoons butter
 2 medium apples, peeled and chopped
 1/2 cup whole cranberry sauce
 Cut squash in half. Remove seeds and pulp. Combine sugar, cinnamon and apple, and cranberry sauce. Fill the center of each squash half with 1/4 of the sugar mixture. Place 1 1/2 teaspoon butter on top. Place squash in a shallow baking dish and cover or vent with plastic wrap. Bake on 100% power 10-12 minutes or until squash is tender. Allow to stand 5 minutes before serving.

A simple glaze for any winter squash enhances the sweet flavor of the squash. This recipe works well with butternut and Hubbard as well as acorn squash.

GLAZED WINTER SQUASH
 2 whole squash
 1 tablespoon lemon juice
 1/4 teaspoon grated lemon peel
 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
 1/2 cup honey

Place whole squash on paper plate or paper towels, pierce, M/W on 100% power 8-10 minutes or until soft to the touch. Let stand 5 minutes. Cut crosswise and remove seeds and fibers. Combine remaining ingredients. Slice squash in 1-inch thick pieces and place in a shallow baking dish. Spoon sauce over slices. Cover and M/W on 100% power 2-4 minutes. Spoon heated sauce over squash to be sure the glaze covers the squash. Serves 4.

Try serving this squash with an Italian meatloaf, a tossed green salad and crusty rolls.

ACORN SQUASH WITH PARMESAN
 2 acorn squash
 2 tablespoons butter
 4 tablespoons Parmesan cheese

Salt to taste, and freshly ground pepper

Cut squash in half lengthwise and remove seeds and pulp. Place squash open-side up in a baking dish. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Add butter and cheese. Cover, vented, with plastic wrap. M/W on 100% power 9-10 minutes or until squash is fork-tender. Allow to stand 5 minutes before serving.

joy eating out quite often, cooking for two can still cause a dilemma. "It's terrible," she says. "No matter what I do I always have leftovers. But I like to try new recipes." She enjoys attending the covered-dish functions at church and usually bakes a prized devil's food cake for the occasion. "I'll tell you," she exclaims, "those men just gobble it down! And when I make it for my son, he just keeps on until he eats the whole darned thing. It's just scrumptious, but I've never given out the recipe."

Some of Mrs. Sawyer's recipes are so simple to make, she says. "A lot of things I make, like spaghetti sauce, chili, vegetable soup, and bean soup — I make a lot of it and put it in the freezer," she adds. "I look for something that's quick and economical. We really like seafood, like shrimp, crab and lobster. So, if I really want good crab cakes, I buy the crabmeat and make them myself, or if I want good spiced shrimp, I buy the shrimp and cook it myself."

Mrs. Sawyer also admits to having a sweet tooth and enjoys baking, using some time-honored recipes from her mother. Her fruitcake has become a traditional holiday treat and is counted among the treasured recipes which came from her mother, along with a delicious mayonnaise cake.

Listed below are Mrs. Sawyer's favorites, just in time for cool weather cooking.

FRUIT CAKE

1 pound figs, chopped
 1 pound raisins
 1/2 pound dates, chopped
 3 pounds mixed candied fruit
 1 pound nuts
 5 cups flour
 2 teaspoons baking powder
 2 teaspoons salt
 2 teaspoons cinnamon
 1 teaspoon each, allspice, cloves, nutmeg
 1 pound margarine, softened
 1 cup brown sugar
 1 cup Karo syrup

1 cup molasses
8 eggs
 1 cup brandy, OR red wine, OR orange juice
 Blend all ingredients thoroughly. Pour batter into prepared pans. Bake at 275°. Baking time will vary according to type of pan used. If using tube pan, approximately 2-2 1/2 hours. Shorten baking time if using loaf pan. Test with toothpick for doneness.

BATTER BREAD

Beat 1 egg; beat in 3/4 cup corn meal. Add 1/2 teaspoon baking soda, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 1/2 cups buttermilk, and 1 teaspoon sugar. Mix well. Pour into hot 1 quart casserole with 1 tablespoon melted butter. Bake at 375° for 20-25 minutes.

CRAB IMPERIAL

1 pound crab meat
 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 1 tablespoon capers
 1/2 cup bread crumbs
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/2 cup mayonnaise
 Paprika
 Combine crab meat, seasonings, mayonnaise and capers. Heap into greased crab shells. Sprinkle with bread crumbs and paprika. Bake at 350° for 25 minutes. Serves 6.

Short cut:
 1 pound crab meat
 1 1/2 tablespoons mayonnaise
 2 tablespoons Durkee's dressing
 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce

Tabasco to taste
 Salt to taste
 Toss together crabmeat, Durkee's, Worcestershire sauce, tabasco and salt. Put into 6 crab shells and top with bread crumbs and butter. Bake at 375° for 15 minutes.

BRUNSWICK STEW

1 stewing chicken, 3 to 4 pounds, cut up
 1 teaspoon salt
 1/2 cup chopped onion
 1 can tomatoes
 2 packages frozen lima beans
 1 can corn
 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Simmer chicken in boiling water for 1 hour. Add salt, onion and tomatoes. Simmer 1/2 hour. Lift out chicken, let cool, then remove meat from bones. Return meat to kettle and add lima, corn, Worcestershire sauce and cook 1/2 hour longer. May be thickened with 1/4 cup flour and 1/2 cup water mixture. Serves 4 to 5.

CORN PUDDING

1 can corn, drained
 2 eggs
 1/2 cup sugar
 1/4 cup milk
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 1/4 teaspoon vanilla
 2 tablespoons melted butter
 Blend all ingredients and pour into 8x8 inch baking dish sprayed with Pam or lightly greased with mayonnaise. Bake at 350° for 35 minutes. Serves 4.

CRUNCHY SPINACH SALAD

1/2 pound raw spinach, torn
 2 tablespoons slivered almonds
 1/4 cup shredded red cabbage
 1/4 cup raisins
Dressing:
 1/4 cup sugar
 1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/4 teaspoon celery seed
 1 1/2 tablespoons minced onion
 1/4 cup vinegar
 1/2 cup oil

Prepare salad ingredients in large bowl. Combine dressing ingredients in medium size jar. Chill separately for 1/2 hour. Just before serving, shake dressing well and pour over salad. Toss lightly. Serves 6 to 8.

PINE DEVIL DIP

1 can (1 1/2 ounces) deviled ham
 1 package cream cheese (8 ounces)
 1/2 cup catsup
 1 teaspoon grated onion
 Blend all ingredients well. Chill. Serve at party time with your favorite chips or crackers.

MOTHER'S MAYONNAISE CAKE

2 cups flour
 1 teaspoon baking soda
 1 teaspoon salt
 1 1/2 teaspoons cinnamon
 1 1/2 teaspoons nutmeg
 1/4 teaspoon ground cloves
 1 cup sugar
 1 teaspoon baking powder
Add:
 1 teaspoon vanilla
 1/2 cup mayonnaise
 1 cup cold water

Blend until smooth. Pour into greased and floured pan. Combine 1/2 cup brown sugar with 1 tablespoon butter. Sprinkle on top. Bake at 350° for 45-60 minutes. Topping bakes down into cake.

OLD FASHIONED TOMATO PRESERVES

8 medium-size, firm ripe tomatoes, peeled
 1 package, about 2 ounces, powdered fruit pectin
 4 1/2 cups sugar
 1 lemon, quartered and sliced thin

Place tomatoes in a large saucpan. Do not add water or cover pan. Heat to boiling; simmer 10 minutes. Measure tomatoes, then return 3 cups to pan; stir in pectin. Heat quickly, stirring several times, to boiling. Stir in sugar and lemon; heat again, stirring constantly, to boiling. Cook 1 minute. Ladle into hot, sterilized jars. Seal, following manufacturer's directions. Cool, then label and date jars. Store in a cool, dry place. If using fancy containers, sterilize them first, then fill with preserves and top with a thin layer of melted paraffin. Cool completely and cap. If making preserves to give away within two weeks, simply store, covered, in the refrigerator, then ladle into containers of your choice. Makes five 8-ounce jars.

HOLIDAY JELL-O SALAD

Prepare 1 package raspberry Jell-O. 1 package frozen raspberries and 1 1/2 cups boiling water. Pour into mold and chill until set.

Combine 1 package lemon Jell-O, 1 1/2 cups hot water, 1/4 cup milk, one 8 ounce package cream cheese, and 2 to 3 tablespoons powdered sugar. Pour mixture over chilled raspberry layer. Return to refrigerator until set. Unmold just before serving. A delicious substitute for cranberries at the holiday table.

Seminole Homecoming Parade Begins Thursday Afternoon

The Seminole High School Homecoming Parade will march down First Street Thursday at 5 p.m.

The Youth Advisory Committee discussed the parade Tuesday, nominated one new member, and elected two officers at its monthly committee meeting.

SCHAFER was re-appointed as chairperson and Nancy Terwilliger was appointed vice-chairperson by a unanimous vote of the committee. Police Chief Steve Harriett, also a member of the committee, said he felt strongly about the youth being the leaders of the committee.

"We're here in an advisory capacity," Harriett said.

Jim Jernigan, Sanford's recreation and parks director and a member of the committee, said after the homecoming activities the committee should turn its attention towards an update report on future plans, goals and activities. The committee is required to periodically submit a report to the city commission.

SHS Assistant Principal Bobby Lundquist said the theme of the parade this year is "Seminole on the Warpath." There are 26 units in the line-up, including city and school officials, civic groups, schools, clubs, floats, bands, and color guards. The parade will start at the New Tribes Mission and continue east on First Street to Laurel Avenue.

Lundquist said the Homecoming dance will be held at the Sanford Civic Center Friday from 10 p.m. to 2 a.m. There will be no registration to the dance once a student leaves, he said. Also, the Homecoming game between SHS and Lyman High School will be held Friday night at 8 p.m.

YAC Chairperson Heather Schaffer nominated SHS freshman Ricki Eckstein to the committee. Schaffer said she thought a freshman should be asked to serve on the committee since the sophomore, junior, and senior classes were already represented. The nominee must be approved by the city commission before joining the committee.

Schaffer also introduced new members Andre Johnson, a SHS senior, and Valencia Wells, a SHS sophomore. Johnson and Wells were nominated to the committee at the Oct. 6 meeting.

It's a bit late for Halloween but, who knows, these clothes might be the latest fashions this year. Modeling them are the "California Raisins", better known as, left to right, Michele Jones, Susan Rogers and Linda Kuhn. They all work in the state attorney's office.

Suarez, Ferre Will Face Runoff Election In Miami

MIAMI (UPI) — First-term Mayor Xavier Suarez and the man he unseated in 1985, Maurice Ferre, face a runoff election Nov. 10, and both say they will win the support garnered by a black lawyer who finished third in the primary.

Unofficial vote totals Tuesday showed Suarez won 19,330 votes, or 43 percent, and Ferre received 14,692, or 32 percent. Arthur E. Teele Jr., a former Reagan administration official, got 10,415 votes.

The 1987 race was far less acrimonious than in 1985, when Suarez became the city's first Cuban-born mayor. But initial reactions after the voting indicated the runoff may be more heated.

"I'm certainly going to take the gloves off and talk to the issues," said Ferre, who served as the city's mayor for 12 years. "And I'm going to hit hard."

Suarez and Ferre both spent about $200,000 for a largely ceremonial job that pays $5,000 a year, compared to a total of $1.9 million spent in 1985 by all of the candidates.

Elections officials had projected that about half the registered voters would turn out for municipal primary elections, but only about 25 percent of 99,948 registered voters cast ballots, compared with about 51 percent in 1985.

Scattered showers fell during the day and many political experts had predicted the low-key election would attract fewer voters.

"I'm surprised in view of what we had in the last couple of days when everything seemed to be moving at a breakneck speed in our direction," said Suarez, 38, a Harvard-educated lawyer. "We're ready for the runoff."

"I will be looking to get the support of the majority, if not almost the unanimity of the black leaders in the community who know they don't want Maurice Ferre and who know I've done a good job," Suarez said.

"It's going to be a very interesting one-week campaign," said Ferre, 52, a businessman. "I'm good in second go-arounds. It's going to be one hell of a campaign."

Teele, 41, a former administrator of the Urban Mass Transportation Administration, refused to endorse a candidate immediately. He said his own candidacy was only mildly successful.

"It was a success from some perspectives but the only real success is in winning," he said.

Ferre, born in Puerto Rico, said he would have supported Teele in a runoff, and said he is looking for Teele's endorsement.

Most of the campaigning was along sharply divided ethnic lines, with candidates making different pitches to the city's three dominant ethnic groups: blacks, U.S.-born whites and Hispanics.

Teele stressed his Vietnam combat record and his Republican Party affiliation in speeches and advertisements aimed at conservative Cuban-Americans. In appealing to blacks, Teele has accused Suarez of ignoring inner-city neighborhoods.

Most of the candidates' efforts have focused on Hispanics, who make up 45 percent of the city's electorate and traditionally have a high turnout rate.

Also running for mayor were Ernest Mailhot, 39, an airlines baggage handler and candidate of the Socialist Workers Party.

"I'm surprised in view of what we had in the last couple of days when everything seemed to be moving at a breakneck speed in our direction," said Suarez, 38, a Harvard-educated lawyer. "We're ready for the runoff."

"I will be looking to get the support of the majority, if not almost the unanimity of the black leaders in the community who know they don't want Maurice Ferre and who know I've done a good job," Suarez said.

"It's going to be a very interesting one-week campaign," said Ferre, 52, a businessman. "I'm good in second go-arounds. It's going to be one hell of a campaign."

Teele, 41, a former administrator of the Urban Mass Transportation Administration, refused to endorse a candidate immediately. He said his own candidacy was only mildly successful.

"It was a success from some perspectives but the only real success is in winning," he said.

Ferre, born in Puerto Rico, said he would have supported Teele in a runoff, and said he is looking for Teele's endorsement.

Most of the campaigning was along sharply divided ethnic lines, with candidates making different pitches to the city's three dominant ethnic groups: blacks, U.S.-born whites and Hispanics.

Harvest apples hit the spot under a flakey crust.

Cool A Homemade Apple Pie On Your Windowsill

By Aileen Claire
NEA Food Editor

This is a perfect time to take advantage of fall's apple crop. Apple tarts and a simple sesame-apple treat set the taste buds tingling. The tart, seasoned with cinnamon, orange, brown sugar and nutmeg, is as easy to make as it is to eat. And what could be simpler than warm apples spooned over sauteed bread slices?

OPEN CINNAMON-APPLE TART

1 1/3 cups all-purpose flour (unsifted)
1 tablespoon sugar
3/4 cup butter
5 tablespoons cold water (approximately)
3/4 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
1 tablespoon orange peel
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon ground nutmeg
2 teaspoons lemon juice
4 tart apples, cored, peeled and thinly sliced
2 tablespoons butter, melted
In a medium bowl, combine flour and sugar. With a pastry blender or two knives used scissor-fashion, cut in butter until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Stir in water using a fork until mixture forms a ball. Wrap in wax paper; chill until dough is easy to handle, about 1 hour.

Meanwhile, combine brown sugar, orange peel, cinnamon and nutmeg. Stir in lemon juice; set aside. Roll out pastry 1 inch wider all around than a 10-inch tart pan with a removable bottom or a 9-inch pie pan. Gently ease pastry into pan, pressing onto sides. Run a rolling pin over the top of tart pan to trim the pastry flush with the top edge (if using pie pan, flute pastry to form a decorative edge). Prick bottom and sides of pastry with fork. Chill in refrigerator for 15 minutes.

Preheat oven to 425 degrees. Bake for 10 minutes. Remove pastry from oven. Reduce oven temperature to 350 degrees. Arrange a layer of apple slices on the bottom of the pastry-lined pan. Sprinkle with half the brown-sugar mixture. Arrange remaining apple slices in overlapping concentric circles. Sprinkle with remaining brown-sugar mixture. Pour melted butter over all. Bake for 1 hour. Cool to room temperature.

If desired, glaze with 1/2 cup apricot jam heated with 1 tablespoon water in small pan until melted; spoon over apples. Slice and serve with whipped cream, if desired. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 8 servings.

SESAME-APPLE DESSERT

2 pounds (about 4) tart apples
4 teaspoons lemon juice, divided
1/4 cup honey
2 teaspoons grated lemon peel
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
4 tablespoons sesame seeds, divided
6 tablespoons melted butter, divided
3 slices firm-textured white bread, halved
Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Peel, core and thinly slice apples; sprinkle with 2 teaspoons of lemon juice to avoid browning. In a separate small bowl, combine honey, lemon peel, remaining lemon juice and cinnamon.

In a 10-by-6-by-2-inch buttered casserole dish, arrange half the apples; drizzle with half the honey mixture; sprinkle with 2 tablespoons of the sesame seeds. Repeat layering once more, ending with sesame seeds. Drizzle 2 tablespoons of the melted butter over all. Bake, uncovered, for 30 minutes.

Meanwhile, in a small skillet, heat remaining 4 tablespoons butter; add bread and fry until golden, about 1 minute on each side. Spoon warm apples over bread. Serve topped with vanilla yogurt or ice cream, if desired. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 8 servings.

Take A Dip

Dunk Your Veggies, Skim Your Chips Into These Wholesome, Party Dips

Throughout the four seasons, supermarkets overflow with ever-more marvelous selections of fresh fruits and vegetables. The grand part of summer's bounty is the way you can bring it all together — almost ad lib — in a crisp and scrumptious salad, a very quick stir-fry, an artful, à la denté vegetarian platter, or that favorite of favorites, crudites accompanied by a mouth-watering, gutsy dipping sauce. (And if one dip's good, two or three are even better.)

It looks good. It tastes good. And it's so good for you. Ask the experts. The United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association confirms fresh produce is where it's at nutritionally — rich in vitamins (A, C, B6, in particular), it also provides potassium, phosphorus, niacin, thiamin, iron and trace elements, yet, happily, low in calories, fat and sodium. (And let us not forget the all-important fiber and water content of produce.)

As for the dips themselves — a one-two-three blending job — the first taste will reveal why fresh herbs are so much in demand. And lemon juice, too.

In the Red Pepper Dip, chives are a happy complement to a garlic-accented red pepper and cottage cheese puree. Chives, mild-mannered member of the herb family, add whispers of oniony flavor with no aftertaste.

Chives, again, make a flavor point in Creamy Chive Dip, the "cream" an amalgam of mayonnaise and yogurt, incorporating lemon juice and Worcestershire sauce, as well. (For an even lower-calorie dip, use diet mayo and lowfat yogurt.)

Completing the trio, Fresh Italian Herb Dip impacts on the taste buds the moment you read the ingredients, let alone taste them blended together: flat leaf parsley, basil leaves, olive oil, anchovy fillets, lemon juice, capers and garlic. Try this sauce, too, on baked potatoes, on pasta, broiled fish and seafood or thick tomato slices. Mamma mia. Buonissimo! The greatest!

RED PEPPER DIP

1 large red bell pepper
1/2 cup low-fat cottage cheese
1 tablespoon freshly squeezed lemon juice
1 small clove garlic
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
Place pepper on long handled fork; hold over stove top burner turning until skin is charred.

Vegetarian munchies come alive with these easy-to-fix, herb-spiced dips.

Place pepper in paper bag and let stand 10 minutes; peel and remove seeds. In blender container combine red pepper, cottage cheese, lemon juice, garlic, salt and pepper; process until smooth.
Makes: About 1 cup.

CREAMY CHIVE DIP

1/2 cup mayonnaise
1/2 cup plain yogurt
3 tablespoons finely chopped

fresh chives
1 1/2 teaspoons freshly squeezed lemon juice
3/4 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
In small bowl combine all ingredients; mix well. Cover. Chill.
Makes: About 1 cup.

FRESH ITALIAN HERB DIP

4 cups fresh parsley
1/2 cup fresh basil leaves

1/2 cup olive oil
6 flat anchovy fillets
4 tablespoons freshly squeezed lemon juice
1 1/2 tablespoons capers, drained
1 medium clove garlic
In container of food processor or blender combine all ingredients; cover process until finely chopped.
Makes: About 1 cup.

Author Gives Blacks Overdue Credit For Scrumptious Legacy Of Southern Cooking

By Jim Lewis
UPI Feature Writer

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Author John Egerton is one of those loyalists who believes that if country ham takes a few years off his life, it will certainly be worth it.

He's also very serious about another aspect of Southern food — blacks had a whole lot to do with the development of its richness and goodness.

Both these points are made in Egerton's "Southern Food" (Alfred A. Knopf, 408 pp., $22.95).

Egerton, a Nashville resident and author of six other books, successfully attempts to put the development of Southern food in its historical and social perspective, including the role blacks played.

Historically the serving of food, he contends, was the focal point of most family gatherings and even funerals took on the aura of a feast.

Egerton says that blacks have not been given the credit they deserve in the development of what most people call Southern cooking.

"When I started researching this book, I found a pattern that's just as clear as it can be. If you want to use it as a litmus test to the degree racism was in society, it's not an absolute answer but it's a neat little test."

"You go back to the earliest cookbooks, say around 1800 or thereabouts. You never see blacks mentioned in any capacity whatsoever. They just simply are invisible. During the Civil War everybody was otherwise engaged. When cookbooks began reappearing after the war, the first thing you saw was books written by whites for whites.

"They would say that because of recent social changes in society, women, meaning white women, found themselves in the kitchen with responsibilities but no prior experience," Egerton said.

The author said about the turn of the century, blacks started showing up in cookbooks for the first time.

"The way they were presented were as Aunt Jemimas or as mummies, as strange voodoo magic folks who were primitive, who couldn't speak well and didn't have much sense but somehow by accident or luck or some mystical way were able to do nice food. They began to get backhanded compliments for that," he said.

The first cookbooks written by blacks appeared in 1912, Egerton said. One was written in Kentucky and the other Virginia.

"But for many years after that there were very few cookbooks written by blacks, but the appearance of blacks in cookbooks remained in that sort of good faithful black mummy often in dialect up to the '50s," Egerton said.

Since the 1950s, he added, there have been some fine cookbooks by and about blacks.

"And that has been pretty much the way things have been in our society, really our history. I felt that if I was going to be true to the history of this region, I had to give them credit, not as much as they deserved but as much as I could give and tell the entire story.

"Some people talk about how great the food was until slavery ended. That sounds like an endorsement of slavery. But it's not that at all. What I am saying is that a society that gave black people so little latitude to be creative, this narrow little window of opportunity in the kitchen was one of the few places in our society where blacks had an opportunity to really be themselves and be creative and they created something truly remarkable."

Egerton's book also describes visits to restaurants where authentic Southern food ca hundreds of recipes.

But Southern food is often seen these days as the antithesis of health food and Egerton snorts at that.

"We get on fads and kicks and we go all or nothing, whether its jogging or natural foods. Saying not to eat salt, eggs, cream, butter or pig fat is like throwing out the baby with the bath water."

Perhaps no single kind of food typifies Southern food more than country ham, which is dry cured with salt.

"I've never heard of anybody dying from an overdose of country ham," said Egerton.

"If you could convince me that it takes some years off my life and the alternative would be to eat potatoes out of boxes, bean sprouts, yogurt and tofu, I would rather live a little shorter life."

Here is Egerton's recipe for Pine Bark Stew.

PINE BARK STEW

6 strips bacon
2 cups diced potatoes
1 cup minced onions
Salt
Black pepper
Cayenne pepper
Thyme
2 pounds freshwater fish filets
Boiling water
1 1/2 cups peeled, cored, chopped tomatoes (fresh or canned)

Cut bacon into small pieces and fry crisp over low heat in a large heavy pot. Drain on paper towels and pour off all but about 3 tablespoons of the fat. Saute diced potatoes in the pot and add minced onions when the potatoes are beginning to soften. Continue cooking and stirring until the onions are soft. Season to taste with salt, black pepper, cayenne pepper and thyme. Place fish filets (baas, perch, trout, or other freshwater) on top of the onion-potato mixture and cover with 4 to 5 cups of boiling water. Simmer for 30 minutes. Then add the chopped tomatoes and continue simmering for about 10 minutes more. Stir carefully trying not to break the fish into small flakes. When the fish is tender, add the bacon bits and serve. There should be enough for 4 to 6 servings.

Say Hi To Pumpkin Season, Jack-O'-Lantern Cornbread

By Aileen Claire
NEA Food Editor

Here is a seasonal version making use of pumpkin. An added twist is the use of egg whites, skim milk and safflower oil for a lower calorie, lower cholesterol bread.

PUMPKIN CORNBREAD

1 cup all-purpose flour (unsifted)
1 cup cornmeal
1 tablespoon baking powder
3/4 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon ground ginger
1/2 teaspoon salt
3/4 cup canned solid-pack pumpkin
1/2 cup skim milk
1/4 cup safflower oil
3 tablespoons honey
2 egg whites
Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Oil an 8-inch square pan; set aside. On a sheet of wax paper combine flour, cornmeal, baking powder, cinnamon, ginger and salt. In a large bowl combine pumpkin, milk, safflower oil, honey and egg whites. Add flour mixture; stir until well blended. Pour into prepared pan. Bake until a cake tester inserted into center comes out clean, about 25 minutes. Cut into 2-inch squares. Serve hot or warm. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 16 two-inch squares; 111 calories, .15 mg cholesterol per square.

PUMPKIN STREUBEL MUFFINS

1/3 cup, plus 1 3/4 cup all-purpose flour, unsifted
1 cup, plus 2 1/2 Tbsp sugar
2 1/4 tsp ground cinnamon, divided
1/3 cup, plus 1 1/2 Tbsp safflower oil
1 Tbsp baking powder
1 tsp ground ginger
1/4 tsp ground cloves
1/4 tsp salt
1 cup canned pumpkin
1/2 cup skim milk
2 egg whites, lightly beaten
Preheat the oven to 425 degrees. Oil 12 2 1/2-inch muffin pan cups and set them aside.

To prepare muffins, combine on a sheet of wax paper 1 3/4 cups flour, 1 cup sugar, baking powder, ginger, cloves, salt and remaining cinnamon. In a medium bowl, combine the pumpkin, milk, eggs and 1/3 cup safflower oil.

Add the flour mixture and stir until just moistened. Spoon into the prepared muffin cups. Sprinkle with the reserved topping and pat it lightly into the batter.

Bake until a cake tester inserted into the center comes out clean, about 20 minutes. Remove from pan and serve warm. Yields 12 muffins.

Give Humpty Dumpty His Own Spanish Accent

One of the most celebrated foods in the world is the egg. Considered a staple in many countries, it adapts to a wide range of main dish specialties. The omelet is probably the most versatile use of the egg since ingredients from any region of the world can be included.

Two popular versions are the frittata and the tortilla but an omelet by any other name is still an omelet. Both of these are open-faced omelets. A frittata has an Italian accent and uses a variety of fillings, mainly cheese, vegetables and ham. The Spanish version, called a tortilla — not to be confused with the Mexican tortilla — calls for potatoes as the main ingredient.

Tortilla "Ole" is a robust rendition of Spain's glorious omelet. Potatoes, onion, green pepper and chorizo sausage (pepperoni may be substituted) are sauteed before adding the eggs.

Originally a dish for the workingman's lunch, the frittata has long since become a classic Italian omelet. Frittata Romano is surely fit for a King if not the Caesars of Rome.

These open-faced omelets can be eaten as a main dish for brunch or lunch. Either would make an ideal last-minute supper dish, too.

TORTILLA "OLE"

¼ pound thinly sliced chorizo sausage
3 tablespoons olive oil, divided
1 medium-size onion, sliced (¾ cup)

1 small green bell pepper, seeded and sliced (½ medium)
1 medium potato, cooked, thinly sliced
6 large eggs
¼ teaspoon red pepper sauce
¼ teaspoon salt

In an 8- or 9-inch skillet with an ovenproof handle*, lightly brown chorizo; remove and reserve. Add 1 tablespoon oil to skillet; saute onion and pepper until tender about 4 minutes; remove and reserve. Add remaining 2 tablespoons oil to skillet. Add potato slices; saute until lightly browned. In large bowl, beat eggs, pepper sauce and salt; stir in chorizo, onion and pepper; pour over potatoes in skillet. Cook over low heat. When edges begin to set draw cooked portions toward center, so uncooked portion flows to bottom; tilt pan and move cooked portions as necessary. Cook slowly until eggs are almost set; place skillet under broiler 2 or 3 minutes until eggs are set. To serve, loosen edges with spatula. Place large plate over skillet; invert tortilla out onto plate. Place serving plate on tortilla and invert again so that top is up. Yield: 4 servings.

FRIITTATA ROMANO

6 large eggs
¼ teaspoon red pepper sauce
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup, canned or frozen hearts of artichoke, drained, sliced
½ cup diced pimiento
½ cup grated Parmesan cheese
2 tablespoons olive oil
2 medium cloves garlic, minced (1 teaspoon)

In large bowl, beat eggs with pepper sauce and salt. Gently fold in artichoke slices, pimiento and cheese. In 8- or 9-inch skillet with ovenproof handle*, heat oil; saute garlic until golden. Pour in egg mixture. Cook over low heat. When edges begin to set, draw cooked portions toward center, so uncooked portions flow to bottom; tilt pan and move cooked portions as necessary. Cook slowly until eggs are almost set; place skillet under broiler 2 or 3 minutes, until eggs are set. To serve, invert frittata onto plate. Place serving plate on frittata and invert again so that top is up. Yield: 4 servings.

* If handle is not ovenproof, wrap with a double thickness of foil.

The Tortilla 'Ole' is an example of Spain's passion for omelets.

Black Pepper: Salt's Sidekick Stands Alone In Its Own Recipes

By John Dellers
UPI Food Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Few things in the kitchen are more often used or more often taken for granted than the world's most popular spice — pepper.

Pepper has a history going back to 3,000 B.C. Yet with America's slow self-weaning from the salt shaker, black pepper and its handful of variations has become all the more important.

Americans, in fact, are now using 18 million more pounds of pepper per year than they were a mere decade ago.

"You take the salt away and you change the impact food has on your palate," said Thomas Burns of the American Spice Trade Association. "People have increased their seasoning because they miss flavor."

Though pepper seems almost an afterthought in many recipes, in each of the following kitchen-tested preparations, black pepper contributes a distinctive flavor and aroma.

PEPPER PASTA A LA VODKA

12 ounces uncooked linguine
1 Tbsp olive oil
2 Tbsp butter
¼ cup minced onion
1 cup chopped tomatoes
¼ cup heavy cream
2 tsp cracked black pepper
1 tsp salt
¼ cup vodka
Grated Parmesan cheese (optional)

Cook the pasta according to package directions. Meanwhile, in a large skillet, heat oil and butter until the butter melts. Add the onion and saute until tender but not brown, about 2 minutes.

Add the tomatoes, cook and stir over medium heat until they soften, about 5 minutes. Add the cream, black pepper and salt. Cook and stir over medium heat for 1 minute, then add the vodka. Stir until vodka evaporates slightly and sauce thickens, about 2 minutes.

Drain pasta and place in a large bowl. Add sauce and toss to mix. Serve at once, sprinkled with grated Parmesan cheese, if desired. Serves 4.

FIRST ALARM BISCUITS

2 cups all-purpose flour, unsifted
4 tsp baking powder
½ tsp salt
½ cup butter
½ cup milk
½ cup diced cooked bacon (about 6 bacon strips)
2 tsp ground black pepper

Preheat oven to 425 degrees. In a medium bowl, combine the flour, baking powder and salt, mixing well. With a pastry blender or two knives used scissor fashion, cut in the butter until the mixture resembles coarse crumbs.

Stir in the milk, bacon and black pepper, blending only until the mixture is moistened. Turn dough onto a lightly floured surface. Knead about 10 times to form a soft, smooth dough.

With a lightly floured rolling pin, roll out the dough to ¾-inch thickness. With a floured 2-inch biscuit cutter, cut straight down into the dough being careful not to twist the cutter.

Reroll remaining pieces of dough and cut as above, to make about 15 biscuits in all. Place on a lightly greased baking sheet. Bake until golden, 10 to 12 minutes. Serve hot with butter.

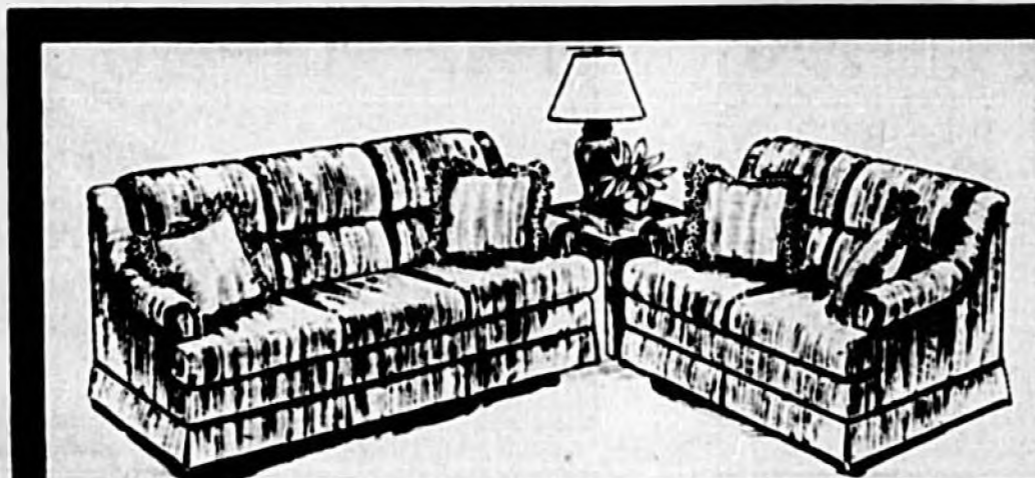

Yields 15 biscuits.

BLACK PEPPER LIME DRESSING

¼ cup dairy sour cream
¼ cup water
2 Tbsp fresh lime juice

1 tsp coarse grind black pepper

1 tsp paprika
¼ tsp powdered mustard
¼ tsp salt
¼ tsp sugar
¼ tsp grated lime peel

Golden Age Games
 The Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce and several local clubs are sponsoring the Golden Age Games, a series of events for senior citizens. The games will be held at the Sanford Civic Center on Monday and Tuesday of next week.

Kay Thomson, 64 year-old Lake Mary resident practices her running skills.

The games will include a variety of events such as tennis, golf, and swimming. The events are designed to provide a fun and active lifestyle for senior citizens. The games are open to all men and women 62 and over. A variety of events are featured designed to appeal to the interests of senior citizens as well as the occasional child. It is not necessary for individual competitors in their 60s to enter several events.

The games are being held at the Sanford Civic Center, 1000 N. Orange Ave., Sanford, Fla. 32771. For more information, contact the Chamber of Commerce at (407) 329-1234.

Chamber Executive Director David Farr, who supervised his first Golden Age Games in the past last year, said he has been looking forward to this year's Games ever since.

The Golden Age Games represent a healthy, active, and fun way of life for senior citizens. The Golden Age Games are a great way to stay active and healthy.

At 7 p.m., following the luncheon, Part I of the Sports Medicine Clinic will be held at the Civic Center under the sponsorship of Central Florida Regional Hospital. Part II will be held at 7 p.m. on Tuesday at the center.

The Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce and several local clubs are sponsoring the Golden Age Games, a series of events for senior citizens. The games will be held at the Sanford Civic Center on Monday and Tuesday of next week.

With 40 events scheduled in 16 different locations in the city and around the county, Games officials are hoping more local senior citizens will catch the spirit and enter one or more events or just come out as spectators to make the visitors feel welcome.

Last year's Games attracted more than 2,500 persons from as far away as Canada. Entries are coming in from around the U.S. and Canada for this year's Games.

Individual events, which are sponsored by local organizations, range from the triathlon, decathlon, four-mile run, track and field, diving, swimming, shuffleboard, bowling, bike racing and race walking to art, knitting, billiards, dominoes, croquet, bridge, photography, archery and table tennis.

The Red Cross also sponsors canoeing, swimming, synchronized swimming and diving.

There has been a last minute change in the site for the swimming competition due to the closing of Parnell Pool, according to Games Chairman Jim Jernigan. Lyman High School Principal Carlton Henley, a longtime friend of the Games, has agreed to allow the swimming events to be held in the Lyman pool, where the diving and synchronized competition was already located.

Lyman is in Longwood on County Road 427 between State Road 434 and Dog Track Road.

The Hobby and

Photography show will be judged on Wednesday at city hall. It will be open to the public, Wednesday, 2-5 p.m.; Thursday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Friday, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. The Hobby Show includes arts, crafts, needlework, collections and horticulture.

The Photography contest is sponsored by The Evening Herald and the Hobby Show is put on by the Seminole County Extension Homemakers.

The Midweek Social, a dinner-dance, to be held at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday is a time for the participants to kick back, renew acquaintances and have a good time. There is a live band for dancing. Tickets are available at the chamber office.

A lively evening for spectators and performers is the Thursday night Talent Show to be held at 7 p.m. in the civic center. Winners receive the same gold, silver and bronze Olympic style medals presented in other events.

The Dance Contest takes place on Wednesday afternoon at the civic center as couples "have a ball" competing with steps ranging from jitterbug to the waltz.

With advance registration going strong, some of the more popular events such as golf, tennis and bowling are already all or partially closed out.

Shuffleboard and bridge also attract a large number of entries. Shuffleboard, which is held behind the chamber in Fort Mellon Park, has been extended to a three-day event this year.

The triathlon this year will consist of the four-mile run, one-mile canoe course, and two-mile bike race to be held consecutively beginning at 7:30 a.m. on Tuesday in the Sanford lakefront area. Deadline for qualifying is Nov. 6.

Last year's Triathlon consisted of a 4-mile mini-marathon at 7:30 a.m. on Tuesday followed by a half-mile swim at the Parnell Pool in Longwood at 10 a.m. and the 5-mile bike race held on Friday at Seminole High School. By using the new format, Games officials say the Triathlon will be a truer test of the athlete's stamina.

Winners in the popular six-mile leisure walk will receive medals and all of those completing the course will get wallet-size certificates of completion. Those caught jogging, race walking or running in the leisure walk will be automatically disqualified.

Breakfast is available without charge for Games participants courtesy of Post Cereals, Tuesday through Saturday, 7 a.m. to 9 a.m. at the civic center.

The entry fee is $1 for each event entered (except bowling which is $1 plus lane fee payable at the Bowl America lanes, golf which is $1 plus cart fee payable at the Mayfair Country Club and the tennis facility fee payable to Bayhead Racquet Club.)

Entry forms and schedules are available elsewhere in this section or at the Chamber office at 400 E. First St.

Welcome From The Chairman

A big welcome is extended to all participants and visitors to the 13th Annual Golden Age Games.

With 42 great events in which to participate, everyone should have a great year.

A special welcome back to all our out-of-state friends who come from over 35 different states to support our week of fun and fitness.

A special thanks to all the local businesses and friends who work so hard as volunteers each year.

This year our Executive Committee has worked hard to prepare for your return to the "Nile of America" on the St. John's River for a week of fun and games.

Best of luck to all participants as you "Go For the Gold."

s/James R. Jernigan, General Chairman

Richards Competes On Land and Sea

Who's afraid of the big, bad wind? Not Golden Age Games canoeist Margaret "Peg" Richards who, in her nineties, was not about to let a gusty whoooooosh blow her entry in the 1986 sprint competition.

And she hasn't stopped yet. In this year's opening ceremonies, Richards, of Enterprise, will run and bear the Games' torch, symbolic of the youthful fire in the hearts of seniors who have not yet embraced the word "old."

She perhaps deserved the Cheerful Spunk Award, if there is one, for hearing that she wasn't timed on her windy journey last year and gladly paddling the course again. That determination won her the gold medal in the canoe sprint in her age bracket, though she was the only competitor.

"I really wanted to do it again," she said after her second run. She said she paddles on Lake Monroe when its waters are mirror-smooth.

The canoe sprint, which was set up on a small lake at a Sanford apartment complex, involved canoeing some 200 feet, making a turn around a buoy and paddling back.

Richards, who had to be helped into the rocking canoe, was the first paddler out and the first to catch a strong gust.

Sitting in the back half of the oblong craft, she watched as the bow spun around. But with gold-winning resolve, she used the wind-pushed bow to catch the wind, keeping her weighted half into the wind.

Some onlookers began paddling out to "rescue" Richards from the wild air currents. But their good intentions were needless, as Richard gained control of the craft herself.

"I started canoeing when I was about 15," said Richards, a great-grandmother who came with her husband, James, to Enterprise from Chicago in 1953.

"My husband had retired and I came along for the ride," she said. "It's lovely living down here."

Richards keeps in shape by teaching canoeing to kids once in a while and maintaining her flower garden at her home on Lake Monroe. Now, what better place would a canoeing enthusiast live?

-Brian Hedberg

'Peg' Richards will be one of the torch bearers at the Golden Age Games, and will also compete in the canoeing competition. Although in her nineties, she hasn't slowed down on either land or sea. Last year, she won the gold medal in the canoe sprint in her age bracket.

THE COST OF BETTER CATARACT CARE DOESN'T HAVE TO BE OUT OF SIGHT.

In the past, cataract surgery was often put off as long as possible. Patients became "nearly blind" before cataracts were treated and sight restored.

Same Day Surgery

Today, cataract removal is comfortable, safe and convenient. In hours, you are on your way home and on your way to clearer vision.

Highest Quality Care

Board certified Ophthalmologists provide total care for your eyes. Cataract surgery is performed using the advanced medical facilities of Central Florida Regional Hospital, backed with the security of a full operating room staff.

No Cost Cataract Care

Cataract surgery will cost you absolutely nothing. Medicare and supplementary insurance is accepted as payment in full.

Open your eyes to a brighter tomorrow. Call Dr. Jon Day or Dr. Howard Sakowitz for free cataract information. 323-0023. On Lake Monroe — Sanford, Florida.

Harriet Boyd Is Skilled At Golden Age Games

A Golden Age Games veteran of national renown, who makes her home in Lake Mary, U.S.A., has been invited to be an honorary co-chairwoman of Sanford's 1987 Golden Age Games.

It was in early July of this year when Harriett Boyd, in her sixties, returned to her hometown from the U.S. Senior Olympics in St. Louis, Mo., with a pocketful of medals. She took the gold in the javelin throw, the silver in the discus toss, and the bronze in the shotput, high jump and archery.

The 13th Annual Golden Age Games, Nov. 8-13, will salute athletes who qualified in the 1986 Golden Age Games and went on to win medals in the first U.S. National Senior Olympics, held June 27 through July 2

In St. Louis, Mo.

Each will be presented with a special patch to distinguish him or her as a National Senior Olympics winner and will be recognized at the opening ceremonies at 9 a.m. Monday at the City Hall and at the midweek dinner-dance at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday at the civic center. Tickets for the dinner are available from members of the Over 50 Club or at Games headquarters at the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, 400 E. First St.

Thirty-three co-chairman invitations were sent out. Among those who confirmed that they plan to participate, besides Boyd, are: Reg Rollason, DeBary; Francis Underwood, Orlando; Norman Skjermaa, Orlando; B.W. Ross, Casselberry; Carl Lindstrand, Tavares; Mary Henri Peterson, Orange City; Ellen Julius, Wauchula; Gertrude Zint, Edgewater; Nora Young, Toronto, Canada; Armando Ricciardi, Reno, Nev.; Mary Bowermaster, Fairfield, Ohio; Alfred Kamin, Springfield, Ill.; Lt. Col. David Rowan, Drexel Hill, Pa.; Hamilton Morningstar, Flint, Mich.; and Bernie Kleinschmidt, Annandale, Va.

Games Chairman Jim Jernigan is on the board of the U.S. National Senior Olympics and participating in the planning for the event. Many of the senior games held around the country were patterned after Sanford's Golden Age Games, the first in the country. California had a

Archery will be just one of the many contests this year in the Golden Age Games. Both speed, skill and coordination will be tested in the many varieties of competition when the games begin this year.

NOT ALL CATARACT SURGERY is the SAME...

Q: What is a Cataract?

A: A cataract is a clouding of the normally clear and transparent human lens. As cataracts progress, an individual may develop hazy, distorted or blurred vision. Symptoms of possible cataract disability also include glare from oncoming headlights at night while driving an automobile or glare from bright sunshine.

Q: What is Small Incision Cataract Surgery?

A: This painless 30 minute procedure permits the new foldable elastic intraocular lens implant to pass through a bikini-like (one-eighth inch) incision after ultrasound suction removal of the cataract.

Our patients benefit in two ways: First, the surgery results in faster healing and a stronger eye; and most importantly, there is less vision distortion (astigmatism) resulting in better than they ever have in their adult lives without distance glasses.

Q: Do I have to wait until my cataract is "ripe" before I have surgery?

A: No. Cataract patients no longer need to become completely disabled before cataracts can be treated, and clear vision restored. Small incision cataract procedures permit the safe removal of the cataract at any stage of development. In short, there is no reason to delay treatment when vision loss prevents you from reading, safely driving your automobile, golfing and enjoying other outdoor activities.

Q: Is small incision Cataract Implant surgery at the Neumann Eye Institute expensive?

A: No Cataract treatment may be free from out-of-pocket cost. At the Neumann Eye Institute all cataract surgery-related fees will be paid by Medicare and supplemental insurance if you have met your Medicare deductible. Ask about our "no cost" cataract program, and courtesy transportation.

Fast Footwork Helps In Dance Competition

John Travolta, eat your heart out. Your Saturday Night Fever will be nothing compared to the Wednesday Afternoon Jitterbug.

The dance contest of the Golden Age Games again will draw to the civic center those who love to dip and spin their partners.

Last year, twinkle-toed seniors showed the stuff of real dancing in the Foxtrot, Cha Cha Cha, Jitterbug, Polka, Rumba, Tango, Waltz and Alley Cat competitions.

Judges looked at several aspects of couples' danceability, prowess and proficiency, including the dancers' cooperation, easy smiles and basic footwork.

"I think the Games are wonderful," said Elena Boess of Deltona, a silver-medal winner in the Cha Cha Cha along with her partner Bill Livingston of Deland. "It's great. We love to dance. We dance four nights a week."

Pauline Cutter, a silver medalist along with Ralph Perry of Orlando, said the dance contest encourages socializing.

"I think it's really great," Cutter said. "I think everyone comes here to enjoy it. Some people you never see again all year until next year at this time."

Her partner, Perry, nodded. "It's marvelous," he said. "Makes old people young. Old people other than me, of course."

That same youthful heart beats in Harry Swope, a Cha Cha Cha contestant from Deland.

"A lot of people think old people should be in a rocking chair and let their hair blow in the wind," Swope said. "The name of the game is to have fun."

Sponsored by the Over 50 Club, the dance drew a crowd of several hundred to the Sanford Civic Center, where couples strutted to the tunes of the Sanford Serenaders.

"Senior Olympics" prior to Sanford, but it included 15 years and up while Sanford's event is exclusively for those 55 and older.

The board projects that more than 5,000 qualified senior athletes will compete in the second U.S. National Senior Olympics scheduled for June 17-24, 1989 at Towson State University in Maryland.

Boyd, who has entered events in every Golden Age Games since 1978, regrets the fact that her legs were swollen from heat, humidity and climbing hills during the national Games. She says she could have improved on her performances, but Lake Mary couldn't be any prouder.

If couples can Cha Cha, Jitterbug or Tango like this pair, then they may have a chance to win a prize at the dance competition at the Golden Age Games. Last year, the dance contest drew a crowd of several hundred people and a similar crowd is expected this year.

Contestants Often Flip During Pancake Races

Flip-ee-de-do-da,
Flip-ee-de-day.

The pancake race, which requires runners to flip flapjacks in a pan as they run, is back by popular demand for the 1987 Golden Age Games, its third year.

The event draws past Golden Age Games champions as well as newcomers, who feel they can flip a flapjack up and out of a skillet repeatedly while their legs are pumping out a pace.

Some have mastered their flapjack-flipping styles during years of slaving over hot stoves. The sportier types enter into the heat of competition confident of their competence in forearm strength and wrist-twisting techniques.

Nearly anything goes into pancake event, as long as the doughy saucers sail through the air and get panned. Often, however, the

When the Greeks began the Olympic Games they probably never imagined the variations that modern society would attach to the various sports. Yet the Pancake Race has become a favorite event of the local Golden Age games.

flipper finds his flip foiled as the final, futile fling faults the flapjack onto the ground.

Controversy clouded last year's pancake race as runners had to use cakes from a fast-food restaurant rather than the traditional cakes of former Games official Paulee Stevens of Lake Mary. Stevens' pancake formula was famed for its secret stabilizers (including sawdust), which kept airborne cakes from being blown off course by a bit o' wind off of Lake Monroe. The fast-food flapjacks made many a flipper flounder.

"The pancakes weren't what they were, not like Paulee made," stated a pensive Minnie Kane of Sanford, who had been a one-time gold-getter. For the first time in the 12 years of the Games, her flapjack bit the dust just before she reached the finish line.

—Brian Hedberg

Last year, John Sinibaldi of St. Petersburg won the bike race in his age category but other contestants will have another chance to take home the gold this year as the bike riders will race again at this year's Golden Age Games.

Shuffleboard Players Use Skill and Strategy To Win

Forget about shuffling off to Buffalo. A few hundred seniors are planning to shuffle off to Sanford's Ft. Mellon Park for this year's Golden Age Games shuffleboard games.

Shuffleboarding may have the stigma of being a pastime for old-timers on cruise ships. But the sport takes patience and a mind ripe at strategic thinking. "Luck" alone won't cut it.

Unlike bowling or golf, shuffleboarders can undo what's been shuffled and must think of strategies to protect their own moves.

"It's my favorite of all the games because it's the most challenging," said Golden Age Tom "Hopple" Hopkins of Sanford. "It takes more strategy and finesse than any game I've ever played."

And Hopkins has played many games. In the Golden Age Games, he has won 15 gold medals over the years in 11 different events. He was the 1976 overall men's winner, winning seven golds and a bronze.

Still, shuffleboarding is Hopkins' fav. He's impressed that shuffleboard is a competitive sport between countries such as the U.S., Canada and Japan. A recent international tournament at Las Vegas paid $30,000, and some 60,000 Floridians belong to the state shuffleboard association.

Mickey Mouse sport? By no means!

"We have serious shuffleboard players in this state, and they follow the tournaments around in RVs just like they would golf," said Hopkins, who is vice president of a Sanford shuffleboard group.

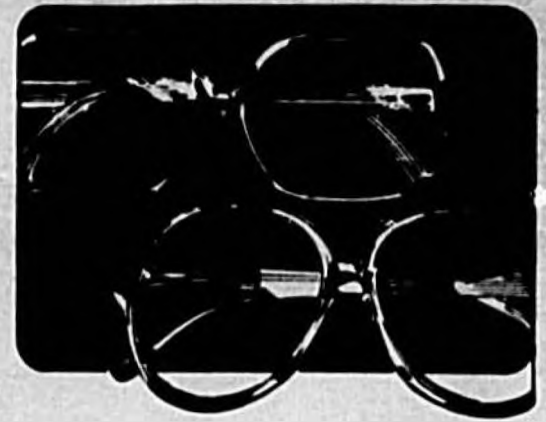

President of the local association, Frank Wilson, said the best incentives for playing shuffleboard are fresh air and exercise.

"It gets you up in the morning and out in the fresh air," Wilson said. "You can play 20 minutes or 10 hours, it doesn't matter."

Not all sports are played outdoors such as track events or tennis. Some can be played inside without a great deal of equipment and without any special rooms or arenas. John Eklund ponders his next move in a checkers match, a game which only needs the checkers and a board before participants can begin the contest.

The Golden Age Games are played on both land and sea and even one is played on bikes. True, track events such as the Marathon and sprints came first but that was before the bicycle was invented and before men and women discovered they could use them for racing. Cyclists will be gearing up for another Golden Age event this year in what is one of the more rigorous of the games. Endurance and stamina are called for in the cycling competition which, although physically demanding, never lacks for participants. Contestants come from all over the state to compete.

Sports Medicine Workshop Slated

Just in case those cricks in the neck and creaks in the joints are what they're cracked up to be, the Golden Age Games will offer its second annual Sports Medicine Workshop, this time extended to two sessions.

Open to all ages and to contestants and non-contestants alike, the free workshop promotes the idea that wellness and fitness produce better health and quality of life, not only now, but in the years to come. Central Florida Regional Hospital is sponsoring both sessions, set for 7 p.m. Monday and Tuesday at the Sanford Civic Center.

Following Monday's Golden Age Games welcoming reception will be the opening talk by Chester Miltenberger, M.D.

Miltenberger, an internist/cardiologist on the medical staff at the hospital, broke two world records in late August in the World Masters Long Course Swimming Championship.

In his talk, "Spring Into Fall," Miltenberger will stress why exercise is important, how to motivate oneself to get and stay fit, and how to grasp the fun and excitement of competition.

Next, workshop attendees will become participants in a session led by Lynn Hartnett, the hospital's exercise physiologist. Hartnett will teach how to warm up and cool down for exercise through exhilarating routines, designed to produce more oxygen to the brain and keep people mentally alert.

The "Food For Fitness" presentation by C. Bronson Lane, Ph.D., will focus on how nutrition is the basis for success in living a healthy life. Lane will give door prizes, including the books "Food Power" and "Nutrition: For Sport Success."

Lane is a long-time minister and evangelist, serving as a licensed preacher for the Christian and Missionary Alliance and as minister-at-large for the Edgewood Boys Ranch in Orlando. He is also member of the President's Council for the Seminole County Correctional Institute ministry and serves as a certified juvenile arbitrator in the country court system.

The final presentation has, at its core, planning for wellness. Donald B. Ardell, Ph.D., Director of the Wellness Center at the University of Central Florida, will talk on "Lifestyle Artistry," making his case that wellness will dramatically reduce chances of illness and help make people feel and act younger.

Ardell believes wellness increases ambitions and improves sexuality. He has authored several books, including "High Level Wellness: An Alternative to Doctors, Drugs and Disease" and "Planning For Wellness."
