Three Mile Island

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Citing the "political and regulatory uncertainties" of nuclear power plant construction stemming from the Three Mile Island accident, a group of five Ohio and Pennsylvania utilities have scrapped plans to build four nuclear reactors costing $7.3 billion.

In addition, the utilities announced Tuesday night they will delay the completion dates of three other reactors already under construction by at least one year each. "The political and regulatory uncertainties affecting the future construction of nuclear plants has intensified following the accident at Three Mile Island," the Central Area Power Coordinating Group said in a prepared statement. "Nuclear construction scheduled further in the future carries greater uncertainty of eventual cost."

The members of the power group, known as CAPCO, are the Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co., Toledo Edison Co., Ohio Edison Co., Duquesne Light Co. of Pittsburgh, and Pennsylvania Power Co. "This uncertainty (surrounding nuclear reactor operations) has compelled the CAPCO companies to terminate those nuclear customers and shareowners," CAPCO added.

HCA, County Near Deal; Hospital Bonuses In Limbo

Herald Staff Writer

The possibility of bonuses being granted Seminole Memorial Hospital employees, as proposed by hospital trustee Arthur Harris, seemed less likely today as Hospital Corporation of America (HCA) Director Doug Lewis said a contract between HCA and Seminole County could be signed as early

The county commission agreed Jan. 15 that HCA, a Nashville based corporation, had the best proposal for the hospital and would enter into negotiations for its sale. Harris, a new trustee, proposed the bonuses at his first board meeting Tuesday. He said the bonuses would be to reward the employees for their loyalty during the almost year-long uncertainty about the hospital's future. Present, Former Officials Offer Contrasting Press Views Nixon To Appeal Tape Release

WASHINGTON (UPI) - A lawyer for former President Richard Nixon says he will appeal a court order releasing transcripts of more than 100 tape recordings of conversations between Nixon and former Attorney General John Mitchell. The tapes contain conversations between Nixon and Mitchell on 1971 anti-war demonstrations. The contents of those tapes likely will affect the outcome of more than 100 private suits pending against Nixon and Mitchell by anti-war protesters arrested during demonstrations in 1971. U.S. District Judge William Bryant ruled Tuesday lawyers for 1,200 protesters arrested during a May Day rally at the Capitol in 1971 are entitled to the tapes in pressing a major damage suit against Mitchell. Charges that Mitchell acted illegally are among the last contained in a broad suit in which a jury in 1975 awarded the demonstrators some $12 million in damages, finding police violated their civil rights. A federal appeals court later reduced the damages by more than two-thirds.

We Won The War, Lost The Battle

"He has erected a multitude of new offices, and sent hither swarms of officers to harass our people, and eat out their substance." Any schoolchild knows where that quotation comes from, or ought to. It is one of the charges brought against King George II by signers of the Declaration of Independence.

A child growing up in America today might wonder if the colonists won their battle but lost the war. The multitude of offices is still there, only larger, sending out swarms of officers in numbers undreamed of in 1776. These are not agents of the king but of our own elected representatives who created the regulatory agencies, "a multitude of new offices and ... swarms of officers." Regulatory acts are supposed to protect us from ourselves. But do we need the protection of 180 federal agencies publishing 70,000 pages of regulations to referee our daily business?

President Carter has indicated that he will renew his push for de-regulation of business and industry in 1980. He should. Rising prices have made an embarrassment of his anti-inflation program. He cannot plead that OPEC and other forces beyond control are entirely to blame. Overregulation in the marketplace is estimated to add $100 billion a year to the cost of goods and ser-

More than 100 bills for regulatory reform have been introduced in the 96th Congress — a reaction to the pyramiding of regulations and paperwork piled on the public by well-intentioned laws creating ambitious bureaucracies. Mr. Carter reported proudly late last year that his administration's anti-paperwork campaign had succeeded in reducing the amount of time Americans spend filling out federal forms by 15 percent. Two cheers for that. Federal forms are only a symptom. The real problem is that federal agencies have been receiving blank checks for the power to issue and enforce regulations. Relief will come only when Congress decides to stop payment on the checks.

The court refused to review an appeals court ruling that Chicago public school officials had the authority to dismiss a teacher who refused to teach her kindergarten class the pledge of allegiance to the flag and patriotic songs.

The teacher, Joethelia Palmer, said the requirement conflicted with her religious convictions.

The concurrence of the Supreme Court justices not only was a defense of patriotism but a subtle reinforcement of the theory that school policy and curriculum must be established by the administration, not in the classroom.

Sampson Shines As Virginia Stops Duke

David challenged Goliath. What happens when Goliath meets Goliath? "I never saw many people have a shooting night like this before," Duke center Mike Gminski said Wednesday night after freshn.an Ralph Sampson burned him for 23 points to help Virginia score a 90-84 victory over the third-ranked Blue Devils in an ACC game. Jeff Lamp scored 27 points to help Virginia raise its record to 15-3 overall and 4-2 in the conference, but it was the confrontation between the two big men - Sampson and Gminski — that produced the excitement. Sampson, a 7-foot-4 freshman, outplayed Gminski, continually shooting over him, and the All America was the first to admit it.

"I was doing the most I could against him," Gminski said. "I knew he was a good shooter, but I never saw him have a shooting night like The defeat dropped the Blue Devils to 15-3 overall and 4-3 in the ACC and hurt even more

President Carter is anticipating reviving registration which may lead to reinstituting the draft. He also is thinking about requiring women to register. Evening Herald photographer-writer Tom Netsel asked readers if women should be required to register and be drafted, and if so, should they be drafted into non-combat positions only. Here's what readers told him:

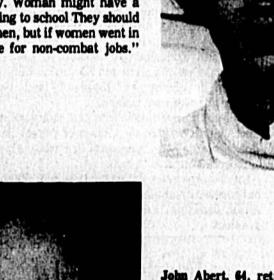

"No, I don't. Women have their own problems. If they have children they should be with them. It might be alright if they were single or didn't have any kids. "If they are going to be drafted they should go through the whole thing (and be included in combat
