Where The Trouble Lies

One of the reasons why The Herald is not able to give its readers better service now that the war is over is that we have been unable to buy much needed new equipment and essential replacement parts for our machinery Largest supplier of such equipment and parts is the Mergenthaler Linotype Company of Brooklyn, N.Y.

This organization is not a big business. It employs about 3,000 people and has a splendid record for management-labor relationships, but since the first of March has been closed on account of a strike among 1800 of its CIO workers. During the war it was engaged in making precision instruments for big guns and won four Army-Navy awards for production achievements.

Since 1941 it has increased the average wage rates of its employees more than the increase in the cost of living. thanks, resolutions and notices of lits employees more than the increase in the cost of the purpose of lits has offered another increase in wages retroactive for sealing fands, will be charged for 30 days prior to approval by the OPA of a price increase to cover it, and it has laid all these facts before the Union Inland Newspaper Representatives, the OPA, and the Commissioner of the representatives are maintained in the large are maintained in the large at edites in the country with principal headquarters in Chicago and New York.

Florida's livestock industry is thriving in spite of the fact that much of the feed for the state's animal and low! population must be imported.

The Situation Offers Real Opportunities

To feed Florida's livestock population, three times the present hay crop and four times the present grain crop is needed. Processed feeds from sweet potaloes, cotton products, peanut products, citrus by products, lemon grass pulp and molasses, lish meal and screp can till much of the gap. As Florida's livestock industry grows, the demand will be even greater.
