MARCHING TO AN INEVITABLE CONFLICT

Here are typical implements of warfare, including rifles and machine guns (below). The Italian men were photographed as they marched about transports at Naples, part of an outfit of 2,000 that sailed together. The Ethiopians are part of forces raised by General Mikael as they marched into Addis Ababa to offer their aid to Emperor Haile Selassie. (Associated Press Photo)

On March To Ethiopian Battle Lines

With the Ethiopian town of Adawa fallen and a major battle expected momentarily at Makale, 20 miles to the south, these Italian soldiers are shown as they marched in review just before launching their invasion of Emperor Haile Selassie's kingdom. The main Italian army of 75,000 men seized Adawa with little difficulty and prepared to push further southward. (Associated Press Photo)

ITALY UNLOADS WAR SUPPLIES IN ERITREA

Supplies, including provisions, guns, hardware and equipment are shown being unloaded by Italians at Massowah, Eritrea. Supplies have been arriving in a steady stream at that fortified port which is important to Italy. (Associated Press Photo)

ITALIAN TROOPS OFF FOR AFRICA

This large detachment of Italian soldiers sailed on the Colonie from Genoa for the African empire which Haile Selassie has said he will defend with life, his warriors, his lions, and his civet cat. (Associated Press Photo)

It was the mounted advance guard of the Italian army taking the way during the campaign along the Adawa front in northern Ethiopia. Previous to his retreat through country, the invaders seized vast territory, including the holy city of Axum. This photo was telephoned from Rome to London and then radioed to New York. (Associated Press Photo)

BOMB ATTACK STARTS IL BUCES CONQUEST

At the first Ethiopian troops armed to the teeth are shown pushing up to the front. The map below shows the front of Adawa where the Italian bombs were said to have killed women and children. Most designated is the Mount Mekele territory, where Ethiopian and Italian troops were concentrating. In the opinion of some observers, the line of arrows indicates the route the Italians will take in launching an attack from the southeast at the same time as their army invades from the north. Hundreds were reported killed in the battles in villages. (Associated Press Photos)

RADIO PICTURE OF BATTLEFRONT NEAR ADUWA

WAR RAGING ON THREE FRONTS

This map shows the location of the principal fighting on three fronts in the Italian conquest of Ethiopia. In the extreme north, the invaders seized Adawa and made ready to advance on Makale, 20 miles to the south, where a major battle was expected. Meanwhile, another Italian army was assembled at Mussa Ali, apparently bent on seizing the one railroad leading to Addis Ababa, the capital. Far to the south, the army from the Italian Somaliland marched northward, bombing towns near the Dolo frontier. (Associated Press Map)

Supreme Court Will Rule On AAA And TVA

Constitutionality Of Vital "New Deal" Measures Will Be Decided By Bench

Will Not Review The Mooney Case

Celebrated Prisoner Must First Exhaust California Rights

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—(AP)—The U. S. Supreme Court agreed today to pass on the constitutionality of two vital New Deal measures—the AAA and TVA acts. Proclaimed by New Dealers as the most important phase of the recovery program, the AAA, or Agricultural Adjustment Administration, seeks to restrict agricultural production and collect from processors and other middle men processing taxes which are turned over to the farmers as special farm benefits. The TVA, or Tennessee Valley Authority has been characterized by the Administration as a present yardstick for the measuring of electric rates throughout the South. It has brought to its present high state of development the Muscle Shoals project and the electrification of the Tennessee Valley, but is seen by public utility executives as the first step in the complete socialization of their industry.

It refused, however, to review the conviction of Thomas J. Mooney, serving a life sentence in San Quentin Penitentiary for complicity in the 1916 Preparedness Day parade bombing. The controversy is now pending before the California Supreme Court on his application for a writ of habeas corpus. The high court here said at its last term it could not pass on the case until Mooney has exhausted his rights in state tribunals.

"Burning Grain" Charge Answered By AAA Official

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—(AP)—Saying charges that AAA officials have been responsible for the burning of grain, both wheat and oats, Charles C. Davis, Agricultural Adjustment administrator, in a letter to "The Northwestern Miller and American Baker" said that grain burning began long before AAA was established. Asserting there were only two specific instances, one in Missouri and one in Kansas in which farmers, urged to cut their grain as a result of excess allotments, had let it ripen and then burned it, Administrator Davis recalled the years of 1930-31-32 when farmers burned corn as fuel because of the low price. The practice, he said, was "as far back as 1920." "Isolated and staged instances of destruction will not fool the farmer," he said. "The farmer now has more money to spend for city goods. The farmer has ended the grain-burning era."

Celery Fields Patrols Clash On The Border Of Manchukuo

Precipitation More Than Four Inches According To The Official Records

Four and one-third inches of rain fell in Sanford Sunday afternoon, according to the official government figures recorded by G. P. Paxton in City Hall, but despite the torrential downpour no damage to the celery fields was reported to C. R. Dawson, county farm agent. Mr. Paxton said that the precipitation yesterday was twice as much as in any day this season, and with one exception is the heaviest in recent years. The greatest precipitation recorded since he has compiled the reports was on June 15, 1911, when the gage showed a precipitation of 5.95 inches, and the most greatest was on Sept. 5, 1931, when 4.16 inches of rain fell, followed by 4.00 inches the following day.

Reports received by Mr. Paxton from the Titusville section are that precipitation there was .92. Mr. Dawson also received similar reports indicating the possibility of serious impairment to the bean crop of the East coast here.

Mr. Dawson was in the third section during Sunday's rain and said that the canals there were full of water. E. L. Ayan, technical agent in charge of the sewerage and sanitation work, located in Sanford drive from Mount Pleasant to Sanford yesterday and came to the opinion that the sewerage around Mount Pleasant about 2 miles west of Titusville was not greater than in the Sanford area. City Engineer Fred J. Williams received no reports of storm damage in Sanford, but said that Lake Front Boulevard was flooded west of the Chamber of Commerce building because the outlet to a storm sewer had been blocked by WPA workers engaged in construction work on the lake front.

Prayers for peace were offered in the churches of Sanford Sunday in accordance with a request from the Secretary of State, Cordell Hull. The Rev. E. G. Rowland, D. ## Man Arrested For Killing Three In Salt Lake City

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 14.—(AP)—Police Chief W. L. Payne said today ballistics tests showed a pistol found in the possession of George L. Rutledge, 71, fired the bullet that killed three persons and wounded two others near the city center Sunday night. Chief Payne announced in a formal statement that the car used by Rutledge yesterday contained bloodstains. Rutledge was arrested shortly after a gunman charged the hotel body of Mrs. Blanche Johnson from the car, fired six bullets into it and then shot Mr. and Mrs. John L. East, farmers who apparently had witnessed the shooting. "There is no question but this is our man," said Chief Payne. The killer dragged Mrs. Nelson from his car near the East hotel. Bible Verse For Today

A GREAT SCHOOL MASTER: O God, thou hast taught me from my youth; and hitherto have I declared thy wondrous works.—Psalm 71: 17.

England, it seems, is ready to fight another war to end wars.

Ex-Sheriff Spencer of Hillsborough went out of office under a McLeod.

Next year someone will run for office on a platform to do something for the schools.

Ethiopian Army Said To Have Retaken Aduwa — headline. But they didn't take Aduwa. They just deserted to that side.

Greece has a new king... after eleven years of the republic. Evidently our form of government is not appreciated over there.

Newspaper correspondents report Addis Ababa fears Italian bombs at any moment. No need to fear them. If you get hit by a bomb, you'll never know it.

Now that Greece is a monarchy we intend to fry our potatoes in something else if we have to get permission from Secretary Wallace.

The savage Ethiopians cut up their enemies and eat them when they are captured, it is said. Fortunately, for Italy, not many of her young soldiers have been captured.

City politics flared into the open last week with the announcement of several candidacies for the City Commission. Strange, this should have happened during Fire Prevention Week.

Since all the bankers in the world cut Mussolini off from their loans and discounts, he is beginning to get a pretty good idea of the fix some of the rest of us are in.

The federal treasury's cash balance on Oct. 8 was $1,734,318,084.16. Now if every one of those dollars were laid out to end... but what's the use? It'll be harder than that to end.

The height of irony, or something or other, was the release of scores of doves of peace in the public square at Rome as Premier Mussolini exhorted his departing soldiers to "temper your souls like steel."

As we remarked the other day, the burdens of the local government are constantly being increased while their tax sources are constantly being destroyed or trifled upon. Now the Supreme Court declares plain black that the opening of the schools is not primarily an obligation of the state government, but is the duty of the various counties and districts. If the people want schools they will have to pay for them through direct taxation. And direct taxation hurts, because you know when you are paying.

According to an opinion recently handed down by Attorney General Landis, city governments have no right to deny a permit or license to any liquor store which has succeeded in obtaining a state license. However, cities can define the areas in which such liquor stores may operate. And if a city wanted to, it could define these limits in such a way that no liquor store would want to operate there. In other words the city could provide that no liquor store might be operated in the business district or in the colored section, or in the residential district. In any other part of the city liquor stores could be operated at will and license could be issued promiscuously.

A Fine Type Of Public Official

It is with sincere regret that The Herald learns of H. J. Lehman's determination to withdraw definitely from the local political arena after six years of unselfish service to his community during a period when only the most clear-headed thinking and the utmost willingness to co-operate could have saved Sanford from serious consequences.

In reaching his decision we hope Mr. Lehman does not intend to abandon politics altogether and that future years may find him in some public office of the county or the state where he is eminently fitted to carry on the work of good government which he has already started. Mr. Lehman is the type of honest, Christian, straight-thinking citizen which the people need in charge of their government affairs.

It is easy for civic leaders to point with pride to innumerable achievements when money is plentiful, prices are rising, business is booming and everything is going well. But by far the greater portion of Mr. Lehman's term of office on the City Commission has been coincident with the greatest depression in the history of this country, a depression which adversely affected not only Sanford, but also the entire world.

And yet in spite of this unfortunate situation Sanford has made remarkable progress during the past five or six years. That this progress was not due entirely to Mr. Lehman's connection with the City Commission goes without saying. That it was not due entirely to the City Commission as a whole is probably no less true. The City Commission, the County Commission, the Chamber of Commerce, the Woman's Club, and the various other civic organizations here have all played their full part.

But Mr. Lehman is typical of the kind of civic leaders who have sacrificed their personal affairs to participate in the conduct of the public's business during the past six years. The individual members of these various bodies, whether political or commercial, have been men who have achieved a fair degree of success in the management of their personal affairs, men of principles, integrity, and square-dealing.

It was no mere accident that Sanford has managed to make progress while other cities and counties have slid backward. It is not idle chance that Sanford has the best working agreement with the bondholders of any other bankrupt city in Florida. While other cities have paid out huge sums of money to get their bonds refunded—only to find out later that the new "arrangement" only increased taxes which the people could not afford to pay—Sanford has been working under a temporary agreement which cost us nothing to put through, and which necessitates the payment of less than one percent interest annually.

And so, for more than six years, while the actual millage for debt service has remained at 15, the assessed valuations have been reduced several million dollars, resulting in a saving to taxpayers, on the average, of 25 percent. There are some no doubt who contend that they could have done better, and that a permanent refunding operation might have been put through which would have greatly reduced the principal of the debt.

To the fair-minded citizen, however, such arguments have no appeal. It takes two to make a deal, and a compromise, to be effected, must be acceptable to both sides. It stands to reason that the bondholders will not agree to a permanent proposition which pays them less money than a temporary agreement. It stands to reason that a permanent settlement which would produce the same increase in taxation here which has resulted elsewhere, will be of no benefit to the city.

The Herald congratulates Mr. Lehman on the part which he has played in the City's affairs since he was first elected to the Commission in 1929 and hopes for him many more years of usefulness in whatever field he may choose to enter.

A New Book

Sanford book lovers will remember a book called "Jonah's Gourd Vine" by Zora Hurston which was published a few years ago. They will also be interested to know that this young colored authoress, who is a native of the section, has just produced another book, now off the press, known as "Mules and Men."

The new book is already receiving almost as favorable mention as the earlier work and bids fair to make a prominent place among books of all time dealing with negro folklore. Though some of the stories come from New Orleans and other sections of the South, most of it has to do with the negroes of Eatonville and other points of Central Florida familiar to Zora Hurston's girlhood.

Just "lies"—"them big old lies we tell when we're just sittin' around here on the porch doin' nothin'"—provide the principal theme of the story. One of them tells about a big "East Coast wind" that blowed a crooked road straight and blowed a well out of the ground, and blowed and blowed until it scattered the days of the week so bad that Sunday didn't come back again until late Tuesday evening.

Some tall stories center around terrific Indian River mosquitoes that scrowed on their extra-long sized bills and bored through three layers of blankets at night. Some of the boys remembered when the mosquitoes were so big they ground up their bones and used 'em for fertilizer. And the fertilizer was so rich that when the bumpkins were ready to pick they had to build a scaffold inside out of 'em in order to get all the meat out. When one of the boys accidentally dropped his hammer inside the bumpkin he climbed down to look for it and met up with another bumpkin-cutter who was looking for his lost mule team and wagon.

The story of how God made butterflies is told as follows:

"He made butterflies after de world wuz all finished and thru. You know de Lawd seen so much bare ground till He got sick and tired lookin' at it. So God tole 'em to fetch 'im in his prunin' shears and trimmed up de trees and made grass and flowers and throwed 'em all over de clearin' and dey growed dere from memorial days.

"Way after, while de flowers said, 'we'se put heah to keep de world company, but we'se lonesome ourselves.' So God said, 'A world is somethin' ain't never finished. Soon's you make one thing you got to make somethin' else to go wid it. Gimme dem l'il tee-ninchy shears.'

"So He went 'round clippin' l'il pieces offa everything—de sky, de trees, de flowers, de earth, de varmints and every one of dem l'il clippin's flew off. When folks seen all them l'il scraps fallin' from God's scissors and flutterin' they called 'em flutter-bys. But you how it is wid de brother in black. He got a big-mouf and a stamblin' tongue. So he got it all mixed up and said 'butterfly' and folks been callin' 'em dat ever since. Dat's how come we got butterflies of every color and kind, and dat's why dey hangs 'round de flowers. Dey wuz made to keep de flowers company."

THE COMPASS

EAST OF SUZ

By Arthur Dune

COLUMBUS, Ga., Oct. 14.—Kipling, perhaps more than anyone else, may our world conscious of humanity "east of Suze." About a billion people live out there including 10 million Ethiopians. The action of Hungary and Austria lining up with Italy indicates that a little strip of water extending 104 1/2 miles through the isthmus connecting Asia and Africa may soon become the most significant spot on the globe.

For if the drama unfolding in Geneva is anything more than a dangerous comedy, the League members will shortly punish Italy by discontinuing economic intercourse; they will forcibly prevent her from stealing Ethiopia. Unless they do, the League can have little value for the smaller nations.

There is a quick and sure way of saving the Lion of Judah and his people—denying Mussolini the use of the Suez Canal. Its importance to him is shown in the 10 million dollars of tolls paid by the Italian government for the passage of its ships during the past few months. Italian troops in Ethiopia are now 2500 miles from their supplies. With the canal closed the distance would become 14,000 miles.

To blockade the canal means war between Italy, Austria, Hungary (perhaps Germany and Japan eventually) on one side, and the rest of the League members (and perhaps the United States eventually) on the other.

Will the continued use of the canal be permitted to Italy? The directors of the operating company say yes. But—

To pass judgment on the controversy which is sure to arise about the Suez, we must take into account all the factors relative to it—its history, ownership, operation, use, defense and legal status. Its owner is Egypt. Opposing in the International Law says: "The present status of Egypt is anomalous and defies classification."

In 1866 the concession to dig the canal and operate it for 99 years was given to Ferdinand de Lesseps by Egypt. For these purposes he formed an Egyptian corporation financed principally by private French investors, who continue with ownership of about 50 percent of the stock. (The French government owns no shares).

About 41 percent of its stock was given to the Khedive, whose title was acquired by the British government through the purchase of Disraeli. The purchase was almost 20 million dollars. Ten times that sum has since been returned to the British treasury in dividends and interest. The French Directors, being in the majority, dominate the administration and policy.

The status of canals connecting oceans and seas is determined, in International Law, not by law but by agreements. In 1888, by the Convention of Constantinople, Turkey, still the suzerain of Egypt, became party to an agreement between Great Britain, Austria, Hungary, France, Germany, Holland, Italy, Spain and Russia which contained this stipulation: "The canal is open in time of peace as well as of war to merchantmen and men-of-war of all nations. No attempt to restrict the free use of the canal is allowed in time either of peace or of war. The canal can never be blockaded."

The canal was operated subject to the Convention of 1888 until its status was again changed in 1914 by act of war and by England's assuming the protectorate over Egypt. England, thereupon, became the successor of Turkey as suzerain of Egypt.

and, with Egypt, possessed of the all duty to defend the canal—all of which was ratified after the war by nations which included the parties to the Convention of Constantinople.

When Great Britain granted independence to Egypt in 1922, she reserved for future negotiations with that country the manner of the defense of the canal.

Today we find the ownership still in Egypt; the operation in the hands of French and British through their stock holdings in the Egyptian company. The use of the canal is by ships of all nations, but 60 to 75 percent have flown the British flag. Its defense, actually and legally, is in the hands of the British.

Under Article XVI of the Convention Italy, in waging war on one member of the League, is ipso facto waging war against all other members. Turkey, under the Convention of 1888, could establish (if beyond 3 miles off shore) a blockade against her enemy. Great Britain, as her successor in defending the canal, could lawfully do the same. Furthermore, Italy, violator of treaties, is in no position to invoke treaties.

Ex-Mayor Needs Job If He Gets Pension

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Friends of James J. Walker, it is reliably reported, are casting about for a city job which the former Mayor might take temporarily on his return from England and thus qualify for a pension estimated at between $15,000 and $16,000 a year, which would be one of the largest annuities ever charged to the New York City Employees' Retirement Fund.

The former mayor, who had the required twenty years of public service behind him when he resigned on Sept. 1, 1932, nevertheless, at that time, had not attained the qualifying age of fifty-five years which would have permitted him to apply for retirement on a pension.

The former mayor will be fifty-five years old June 19, 1936.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—The Department of Parks announces it is negotiating a six months' lease for a furniture factory, which will manufacture brightly painted toys, cupboards, tables and chairs for the 165 children's recreation buildings which will be completed by the Works Progress Administration next year.

Among the articles for small children which will be manufactured are brightly colored hobby-horses, made to represent bears, donkeys, and other animals; small tables, chairs and cupboards; "unbreakable" doll houses, some of which will be large enough to permit the children to go inside; sturdy cut-out animals, which will be used to provide zoological instruction for the children; and educational clock faces, to teach them how to tell the time.

Christ Emblems On Kremlin Are Doomed

MOSCOW, Oct. 14.—The golden double eagles of the Romanoff regime which for 300 years perched on the lofty towers of the Kremlin, symbolizing the might of Imperial Russia, soon will be replaced by the hammer and sickle of the Soviet Union.
First of the golden birds was erected by Michael Romanoff, founder of the line of Czars who ruled Russia until the revolution of 1917. Calling it Moscow, the bravest and most agile serfs he could find he challenged them to hoist the symbol of his house a great eagle fashioned of wood and covered with gilded pattern sheets, to the top of the main spire of the Kremlin wall, facing the Red Square. Their muscles and agility proved equal to the task.
Later five other like symbols were raised three more over the larger towers of Kremlin wall and two over the Historical Museum.
Now, by order of the government and Communist party, these emblems of Romanoff rule will be pulled down from their lofty spires, perhaps to rest in some museum.
In their places will be raised six five-pointed stars, each twelve feet in diameter. Embossed upon them in semi precious stones will be the hammer and sickle, symbol of the regime which overthrew the Romanoffs.
The closing social event will be the children of the Confederacy luncheon at the Palmetto Club. Mrs. Marie Birsch of West Palm Beach will preside. A report will be made by Mrs. Gus Carpenter of Sanford, state director of the Children of the Confederacy, and by chapter directors.
Forecast of a large attendance at the convention were made by Mrs. Robert E. Oliver, division resident; Mrs. George W. Laverett, Daytona Beach chapter president; Mrs. Wells; and others.

Crooms-Bronson Tilt Is Won By Sanford

Crooms Academy of Sanford defeated Bronson High of DeLand on the football field by the decisive score of 14 to 0. During the first quarter the Crooms squad received 10 points for safety, and then with their linemen as a stonewall of defense Patrick climaxed a touchdown. Rosier made a 30-yard run at the start of the second half and Earl made a 15-yard gain through center, ending the third quarter. Bronson High cheered Quarterback Peters for a 40-yard run. After losing the ball to Crooms, Rosier ran for 30 yards, and then Crooms lost to Bronson, and Peters gained 35 yards. Linemen on both teams battled from the start. Crooms intercepted a pass in the last few seconds of play, and a perfect touchdown was the outcome.

Gators Defeated By Tulane, Score 19-7

By SAM MURRAY
NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 14.—Fighting back at Florida with its own game, Tulane's Green Wave bombarded the visiting Alligators from the air Saturday to even up a first quarter touchdown deficit, and drove on to a 19 to 7 victory before a sunny day crowd of 10,000. Floyd Christian, the big Florida right end, scored the Alligators' touchdown, standing in the end zone to bring in a long pass from Captain Chase which was made from Tulane's 24 yard line. Al Hickland supplied Florida's extra point from placement and Dick Page made a perfect kick for the unit after Tulane's first touchdown.

Fast Stetson Squad Beats Oglethorpe, 7-6

ATLANTA, Oct. 14.—Stetson's eleven came from DeLand last Saturday, and defeated Oglethorpe, 7 to 6. The visitors played defensive football until the third period when they launched an offensive pegged on a combination of end sweeps to come from behind and nose out the lighter Oglethorpe team. First downs were at premium and most of the game was played out of the danger zones. Oglethorpe held the edge in first downs, five to four. In the see-saw battle, punt exchanges were frequent, with some lucky booting turned in by Lawson, Stetson quarterback and Lewis, Petral halfback. Both lines presented a solid front during most of the game. Stetson twice repelling goal line charges, and Oglethorpe repeating the performance.

Black - Draught And Good Health Year After Year

"I have never had a bad sick spell and for years I have taken Black-Draught for the best remedy of upset stomach or sluggish bowels," writes Mr. W. F. Pulliam, of Gaywood, Mo. "I am a very heavy eater and sometimes I eat too much. If I feel uncomfortable, I just take a small dose of Black-Draught and soon feel all right. I feel I owe my good health to use of this reliable vegetable medicine, Black-Draught." Where constipation is at the source of such troubles as Mr. Pulliam mentions, take a good remedy. Thousands of men and women have given Black-Draught credit for having helped them to avoid the serious developments of constipation. (Advertisement)

Myer, American, Vaughan, National, Lead Batters In Big Baseball Leagues

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Floyd Vaughan, of Pittsburgh, who led the batters most of the season, finished with a mark of .385, topping his nearest rival, Joe Medwick, of St. Louis, by 31 points for the undisputed batting championship of the National League. Vaughan made 192 hits in 499 trips to the plate and drove in an even 100 runs. Medwick made 224 hits in 633 times at bat and drove in 124 runs. Billy Herman, of the champion Chicago Cubs, made most hits, 227, while his teammate, Galan, scored most runs, 123, one more than Medwick. Herman also made most two-base hits, 57. Wallis Berger, of the lowly Boston Braves, rapped out most home runs, 34, and drove in most runs, 127, though he batted only .297. Bill Lee, of Chicago, is the leading pitcher with 29 games won and only six lost for a mark of .769. J. Dean, of St. Louis, won most games, 28, and pitched more innings than any other pitcher, 525. Dixie also was top in strikeouts with 190.

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—The American League individual batting championship goes to Charles Myer, of Washington, who during the last four games of the 1935 season lambasted 10 hits in 15 times at bat to beat out Joe Vosmik, of Cleveland, by a single point. Myer's winning margin reads .349 and was made from 215 hits in 616 times at bat. Greenberg, Detroit, drove in 170 runs for the top in this department and tied Fox, of Philadelphia, for home runs with 36. Gehrig, of New York, who in former years was always a top in one or more departments, salvaged one honor among the batters this season by scoring most runs, 125. Werber, of Boston, stole one more base than Lary, of St. Louis, 29, according to the unofficial records. Elden Auker, of Detroit, is the leading pitcher in games won and lost, with 18 wins and seven losses for a percentage of .720. Wes Ferrell, of Boston, won most games, 25, and pitched most innings, 322.

Ralph Wight Sees Banner Year For 1936 Oldsmobiles

"I've seen the 1936 Oldsmobiles. I've heard about the 1936 plans. I've been told of the great production expansion. And so I want to say that I am confident that 1936 will again see all records for production and sales of Oldsmobile broken." This was the enthusiastic statement today of Ralph Wight, Oldsmobile dealer in Seminole County, after returning here in one of the 1936 model Oldsmobiles from a dealer meeting at Jacksonville. "The country knows Oldsmobile as the car that has everything," he said, "and the new 1936 cars have everything plus. There is a definite advance in style leading in styling, keeping Oldsmobile far in front in graceful streamline design. "The 1936 cars are big, new automobiles, beautifully designed, roomy and comfortable, and possessing all those features which have made Oldsmobile famous. "When the cars were shown to the dealers of the area, and plans for the coming year were outlined, unanimous approval of both cars and program was expressed by the dealer organization. Popularity of the 1936 Oldsmobiles was so great that when the factory was closed at the end of the 1935 production season there still remained on hand a large number of unfilled retail orders. Mr. Wight pointed out. This condition is unprecedented in the industry.

No Idle Men In Taxless Colony In Massachusetts

HARVARD, Mass., Oct. 14.—Only thirty-five miles west of Boston, with its relief rolls and panhandlers, lies this quiet Massachusetts community, the site of a twenty-five-year-old taxless colony of 784 acres, where unemployment is unknown and depression is only a word. The colony is named "Tahanto," after an Indian settler of Colonial days. It was inspired by the single-tax philosophy of the late Henry George, but came into actual existence through the initiative and energy of Frank Warren, millionaire New England paper manufacturer, Harvard and Oxford graduate, and one of the nation's outstanding tennis players in the 1890's. The way Tahanto abolishes taxes, Warren said, is quite simple. Instead of John Jones paying all kinds of property and improvement taxes, he pays a stipulated rental for the land—called economic rent—regardless of whether he uses the land or not. Neighbors Smith and Brown do the same, and all taxes are paid out of the rental fund. No part of what John Jones makes for himself out of the land is taken away from him by subsequent taxation, rates, or tariffs. The result, Warren said, is that industry is freed and a man retains the full reward of his labor. On the other hand, land cannot be kept idle for the purpose of speculation, and each member has the opportunity to employ his talents in which every direction he thinks best. The rents are changed from time to time, as the site values change.

The proof of the pudding, Warren said, is that in 1934, with a population of fifty-eight persons living on 784 acres, the average rent charged a lessee was $33.94. And, he pointed out, while real estate values have been reduced drastically throughout the country since the depression, the average rent of an acre in Tahanto has advanced.

While some aspects of our system may be communal—we aim to destroy the selling value of land so we can maintain it for use and not for profit—our aim is not socialistic. Indeed, it is the very antithesis of individualism. "We have no regimentation. Each family does what it pleases with its land and disposes of its products as it wills. And there is no exploitation of labor, because the person being exploited could secure the land for his own use with very little effort."

No Idle Men In Taxless Colony In Massachusetts

HARVARD, Mass., Oct. 14.—Only thirty-five miles west of Boston, with its relief rolls and panhandlers, lies this quiet Massachusetts community, the site of a twenty-five-year-old taxless colony of 784 acres, where unemployment is unknown and depression is only a word.

The colony is named "Tahanto," after an Indian settler of Colonial days. It was inspired by the single-tax philosophy of the late Henry George, but came into actual existence through the initiative and energy of Frank Warren, millionaire New England paper manufacturer, Harvard and Oxford graduate, and one of the nation's outstanding tennis players in the 1890's.

The result, Warren said, is that industry is freed and a man retains the full reward of his labor. On the other hand, land cannot be kept idle for the purpose of speculation, and each member has the opportunity to employ his talents in which every direction he thinks best.

Acute Scarcity Eggs, Chickens Develops Here

Buyers Scramble For

HEN STOCK SHORT

Big Opportunity For Producers Of The Heavy Breeds

By HERBERT S. MORSE

A peculiar state of affairs exists at the present time in the Florida poultry industry. Prices on eggs, meat chickens, etc. have been increasing all summer, but poultrymen do not have enough eggs or meat chickens to supply the demand. Consequently, prices on eggs and chickens continue to rise and no one can say what the situation will be this winter.

Florida eggs have become such a scarce article that truck carriers buy eggs from the very first of the season. In Miami, a trucker who has been buying eggs for several years, says he has never seen such a shortage of eggs as he is seeing now. He says that he has to buy eggs in other parts of the state and that he has to pay a premium for them.

Producers of heavy breeds of poultry are in a better position than those of light breeds. Heavy breeds are more numerous and their production is less affected by the shortage of feed. They are also more profitable because they lay larger eggs and grow faster.

Usual Acquire Same For Peppers, Eggs

New Jersey peppers and other plants are cleaning up the market. This should open the market for Florida shipments at an early date. During recent years, Florida peppers have been selling at a premium. The reason for this is that Florida peppers are of a better quality than those of other states. They are also more plentiful and therefore less expensive.

Commission

By H. H. BISHOP
The Florida Citrus Commission, which was organized in 1924, is now in the process of reorganizing. The new commission will be composed of representatives of the citrus industry and the state government. Its duties will be to regulate the citrus market and to protect the interests of the growers.

France Eyed As Possible Outlet For Tangerines

Tangerines for France? Why not, asks R. B. Woodruff, vice president of American Fruit Growers, Inc. who points out that Florida needs new tangerine markets. The French market is a promising one because of the large quantity of tangerines that are consumed there. It is also a market that is growing rapidly.

Efficiency In Co-Operative Marketing

By A. W. McElroy, Treasurer, Florida Co-operative Growers
A co-operative marketing association is a business organization controlled and operated by its members for their benefit and convenience. It is not a charity and it is not a government agency. It is a business organization that is owned and operated by the producers themselves. It is designed to increase the efficiency of the marketing process and to increase the income of the producers.

Florida Growers Perturbed About New Potato Bill

Perturbed over provisions of the Warren potato bill, in a measure which has turned the potato world upside down, growers in Florida sent a delegation to Washington to protest to Secretary Wallace that they did not want it enforced in the Florida crop. The bill is considered by the growers as a threat to their industry. They feel that it will result in a loss of income for them.

Meanwhile, citrus growers are getting the business to these destinations.

Tomato Prospect Is Normal This Season

The success or failure of the Florida fall and winter tomato deal will depend as usual upon weather conditions and the amount of crop. Given the right conditions, the crop should be normal. The price for tomatoes is expected to be about the same as last year. This is because the weather has been favorable for the crop and the demand for tomatoes is high.

The court gave Hauptmann 30 days in which to ask the Supreme Court to review allegations that Hauptmann's constitutional rights were violated in the trial. The order which would have returned the case to Supreme Court Justice Thomas W. The latter cost the new state law which specifies license fees of $15 on automatic vending machines, $5 on trade machines, $5 on skill machines and $250 on "all other machines," the quoted words being those used in the legislative enactment.
