A COMPLETE BUT UNOFFICIAL RETURNS SHOW REPUBLICANS WILL HAVE A MAJORITY

IN BOTH HOUSES BUT MAJORITY HAS BEEN CUT SINCE TUESDAY STATES IN DOUBT

North Dakota Might Change the Figure in the Senate But the General Result in Same

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—On the face of practically complete, but unofficial returns from Tuesday's election the exact lineup by parties in the Sixty-eighth congress will be: House, Republicans, 225; Democrats, 207; Socialists 1; Independent, 1; Fifth Labor, 1. Senate Republicans, 53; Democrats, 42; Farmer Labor, 1. Should O'Connor, Democratic senatorial candidate in North Dakota be elected the Republicans would have 52 and the Democrats 43 in the senate. Republican majority in the present senate of 24. Republican majority in the present house of 165.

FARGO, Nov. 10. Former Governor Frazier assumed his long deferred lead in the race for the senate with the report today of 1,717 precincts. Frazier getting a lead of three votes out of a total of 172,937. Vote of the 201 precincts yet to be completed. O'Connor, Democrat, had 86,167 and Frazier, 86,470.

DES MOINES, Ia., Nov. 10. Eighty thousand voters who cast ballots either for N. E. Kendall or J. R. Files for governor Tuesday did not vote for either of the two candidates for United States senator, it was learned yesterday. Returns from all but the top of the 2,238 precincts show almost exactly 80,000 shortage in the vote on the senatorial fight.

The returns show that Smith W. Brookhart's majority over Clyde L. Herring will be approximately 160,000 and that the total vote cast in the senatorial race will be about 600,000 against 685,800 votes cast for the two candidates for governor.

Senator elect Brookhart carries 17 counties.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Nov. 10. W. B. Ross, Democrat, was elected governor of Wyoming Tuesday, it was shown by returns compiled here up to 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 10. The election of W. H. Sproul, Republican as congressman from the third Kansas district appeared assured yesterday. Complete corrected returns from 301 out of 302 precincts in the district gave Sproul, 37,600; Charles Stephens, Democrat, 37,046.

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 10.—Washington voters in Tuesday's general election chose a Democrat, C. C. Dill, to fill the seat of Miles Poindexter, Republican, in the United States senate, returned the five Republican incumbent representatives of congress, repealed by an overwhelming majority a poll tax measure and voted down by large majorities five other initiative and referendum measures.

In the senatorial contest, Dill had a lead of more than 4,000 votes over Senator Poindexter and it was practically conceded by the Republicans that the results of rechecking sought in a number of districts would not seriously cut down that lead.

TOPEKA, Kans., Nov. 12.—"Discontent looking for a sacrifice," was the concise motto in which Gov. H. J. Allan yesterday analyzed the results of Tuesday's election in which Jonathan W. Davis, Democrat, was elected as governor. The governor returned yesterday to his official duties following his week itinerary of campaign speeches and a few days in Wichita where he voted Tuesday. "Some express the opinion that my attack on the Ku Klux Klan was instrumental in the Democratic victory for governor but I do not agree with that theory because many normally Republican counties in which there are no Klan organizations were carried by Davis."

TURKEY TROT IS CONTINUED IN THE EAST

LONDON WITHOUT NEWS AND CABLES WERE CUT YESTERDAY

(By The Associated Press) CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 10.—The Allied high commissioner today handed a note to the Angora government representative here demanding repeal of all measures relating to customs, public debt and sanitary and other services which conflict with conditions and stipulations of Mudros armistice agreement of 1918.

LONDON, Nov. 10. In any messages on the Turkish situation have been received from Constantinople up to noon today in official quarters in British official is willing to admit that the situation was ominous and that with the aid of the Allies the British war ship.

LONDON, Nov. 10. The British war ship might be seen in the Turkish waters, but the British navy has been ordered to keep the Turkish coast and not to be captured by the British war ship.

The government also approved to have had very little with communication with Constantinople and Premier Bonar Law last night was unable to throw further light on the situation. The government knows nothing concerning the whereabouts of the Sultan, except that he has taken refuge in the British war ship.

(By The Associated Press) ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 10.—K. K. K. members collected the inheritance of Bob Jones, famous Southern evangelist, here tonight and marching down the aisle, handed him a letter containing $50 and commending his efforts in the revival meeting which he is conducting. MAY RECOVER FOR DAMAGE RESULTING FROM BUM LIQUORS

(By The Associated Press) MADISON, Wis., Nov. 10. Damages resulting from the consumption of intoxicating liquors may be collected by the injured person from the dispenser of the illicit liquor, the Wisconsin supreme court decided today in affirming a lower court award of $3,500 to Mrs. Helen Smithers of Fond Du Lac county for injury to her husband.

The court held that both exemplary and compensatory damages could be assessed against the saloon keeper who sold intoxicating liquor in violation of the law. Justice Owen declared that disregard of the law by the dispenser of intoxicants justified severe treatment for him. He held that the $3,500 award to Mrs. Smithers was not excessive.

Mr. Davis stopped work in the corn field long enough yesterday to answer a long distance telephone call and said: "The man who works—the man with grease on his face and trousers and not the sleek starched collar politician, he put me over. "I don't know anything about the industrial court in its present form knew they couldn't get relief from the Republicans, so they worked for me."

COMPLEXION CONGRESS SETTLED, WET AND DRY TO START THE NEXT BIG CAMPAIGN

Will Be Straight Out Fight for Light Wines and Beers

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—The political complexion of the next congress having been definitely established, interest turned today on the probable lineup on the question of the modification of the prohibition enforcement laws. Both the "drys" and "wets" were claiming a victory as a result of Tuesday's elections.

For the Anti-Saloon League, Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel, said the "wets" would not have as many votes by three at least, in the senate as heretofore, and that their strength in the house would not exceed 140, or 78 less than a majority.

On the other hand, the association and the prohibition amendment through G. O. Hinckley, its general secretary, claimed a gain of 80 "liberal" votes in the house, which, if accepted, would give actual control of the body to the prohibitionists.

The pronounced increase in the wet membership, said Mr. Hinckley, would probably produce the passage of liberal legislation in the next session of congress, "that will strike the heart of the prohibitionists."

(By The Associated Press) CHICAGO, Nov. 10. Her engagement to Naps, who is a newspaper cartoonist, was announced last night.

(By The Associated Press) TAMPA, Nov. 10. Captain William Maynard, Carlstrom Field, was exonerated today of charges of misappropriation of government funds at a preliminary hearing before United States Commissioner Cone. The district attorney moved the case be dismissed, since the government had miserably failed to prove the charges.

CONGRESS CALLED, MEET IN SPECIAL SESSION OF HOUSE COMMITTEE TODAY

STORES CLOSED ALL TOMORROW OPEN TONIGHT

SANFORD MERCHANTS BELIEVE IN ASSISTING THE AMERICAN LEGION ON THAT DAY

Sanford merchants are nothing if not patriotic. They proved this during the dark days of the war when they bent all their energies toward giving the boys what they needed and they were never called upon and found wanting. This year Armistice Day falls upon Saturday and Saturday is the best trading day in the week in Sanford and yet when the merchants were asked if they would close on Saturday the Legion boys met with a ready response and the business men were willing to forego the profits of the biggest day in the week to help the boys observe the great day in regular style.

So tomorrow (Saturday) all the stores in Sanford will close and they will be closed all day and in order that the patrons can rest what they want during the stores will remain open all night.

In today's issue is a page devoted to the American Legion by the business men of Sanford whose names are on the page. They are taking this space to show their appreciation of the American Legion and you should read this page and remember that the business men of Sanford are among the most patriotic and liberal minded men in the world and they believe in advertising and going after business but they also believe in helping by the boys on Armistice Day.

WITH AIM OF HAVING SEVERAL APPROPRIATION BILLS READY

FOR REG. SESSION

Which Will Convene on December Fourth Immediately After Special

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—With congress called to meet in special session November 20th members of the house appropriations committee are scheduled to meet today with the aim of having several appropriation bills ready for the house by the beginning of the regular session following immediately on December 4th.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Congress was called by President Harding last night to meet in extra session, November 20, exactly two weeks in advance of the regular session.

The call, set forth as is usual in the form of a proclamation, declared the extra session was made necessary in public interests. The call of the special session two weeks in advance of the regular meeting has been approved generally by the public. Leaders in congress who have felt that by getting an earlier start on legislation than would be afforded by the regular session practically all important bills, including the appropriation measure, could be disposed of by next March 4, when the sixty-sixth congress must adjourn sine die. Leaders have asserted that unless the special session were called, it would be necessary to have an extra session after March 4, and work into the summer months.

Although the nature of the president's recommendations to be presented to the extra session when it convenes November 20 has not been definitely outlined, the opinion of Republican leaders has been that the house will proceed directly to consideration of the merchant marine bill. The president agreed to postponement of the action on this measure at the request of the party leaders at the time of his assumption of party leadership that it would be taken up without delay when congress reconvened.

While the House itself is working on this bill, its appropriation committee divided into sub-committees, will work on the supply measures which really provide the most important task facing congress at the regular session.

The senate has several important measures left over from the last session, including the Dier anti-lynching bill, which has been passed by the house, and it is probable that President Harding will make some definite recommendation at the outset of the session as to changes in the transportation act. The senate will also receive a number of nominations, soon after it convenes, including the name of the successor to Associate Justice Day of the supreme court of the United States, appointments to the more than a score of federal judgeships created by congress at the last session, and many others.

SUCKERS TAKEN FOR $110,000,000 IN MAILS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Approximately five hundred cases involving fraudulent use of the mails are in the hands of United States attorneys for investigation to determine whether criminal proceedings should be instituted, it was announced today at the department of justice. Officials estimated today that the cases already under consideration presented a loss to the American public through postal swindles of more than $140,000,000.

CHARGE VISITORS SMALL FEE

Admission to State Museums and Palaces of France Now Matter of Stated Price.

Visitors to the state museums and palaces in Paris are now required, reports the Daily Telegraph correspondent, to pay an entrance fee. The fees vary from 1 franc at the Louvre to 50c at the Petit Trianon, and the first day's experience yielded very encouraging results. Although the Louvre was open only in the afternoon, the receipts for the day were 3,000 francs. Three hundred francs were taken at the Luxembourg, and the Cluny museum and the Arc de Triomphe each took 250.

The director of the National museum estimates that during the 200 days a year on which an admission fee is charged—that is, allowing two free days per week—the receipts at the Louvre will average 2,000 francs a day. Few people he said, object to paying the small fee, but it will relieve the taxpayer of a great part of his burden for the benefit of state museums. A proposal is being considered to charge for a luncheon to the gardens of Versailles on the days when the fountains are playing, as the spectacle always a great attraction to visitors. Costs of luncheon to 25,000 francs a day at the present price of food.

MANY USERS OF TELESCOPE

Dealers Report Practically a Sixfold Demand for Glasses in All Months of the Year.

"We sell telescopes all the year round, but the demand for them is greater in summer than in other seasons," said the salesman in a New York optician's shop. "Perhaps that is because it is easier to remain outdoors and study the stars on a summer night than it is when the weather is colder. "Also, in summer people buy telescopes for other purposes than to study the stars. Folks on the sea shore get them to look at passing vessels, at the clouds, and other things. We sell some also to those who live in the mountains and use the telescope for lookout purposes. But of course, the greater number of telescopes, especially the high-power glasses, are bought for the study of the heavens. "Annually we sell an average of 200 telescopes for amateur use. They range in size from the hand glass with 1 inch lens, to the glass that is supported on a tripod and has a lens 1 to 24 inches in diameter. Larger sizes than the 12 inches are seldom bought by amateurs. They are for professional use."

"Jones" Were Numerous

A number of seafaring passengers aboard the Adriatic, which caught fire from an explosion on Thursday night, said yesterday that there was a number of sears among the sailing of the ship which were construed as "Jones" by the sailors. Among these were:

The ship lost an anchor in the Mersey. Nearly hit the Holyhead Dublin ferry. The birds refused to fly aboard the ship. And the explosion occurred very close to the spot where the Titanic went down in 1912.

The story is being told of the elderly man who was nearly panic stricken when asked jocularly what he was afraid to die for, said in a shaky voice, "I've been trimming people all my life!"—New York Sun.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—Counsel for one of the American steamship companies which recently opposed in the United States district court at New York, the ruling of Attorney General Daugherty concerning the transportation of liquors, gave notice yesterday of the intention of his company to ask the supreme court when it reconvenes next Monday to advance the hearing of the appeal which they intend to take from the decision of Judge Hand. While it is not known whether all the American steamship companies will join in asking that the court hear them when the foreign steamship companies argue their cases, this notice indicates that at least one of them will do so. Notice has already been given by the foreign steamship companies of the intention to ask the court next Monday to advance their cases for argument on November 20.

Suicide, due to mental derangements, is the opinion of county officers who investigated the case. Noble had lived in the shack for several months, though little is known of the man.

President's Red Cross Proclamation

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Nov. 10. President Harding, in a proclamation issued today calling attention to the annual membership roll call of the American Red Cross, which begins tomorrow, declared "there are peculiarly urgent reasons to appeal this year in behalf of an even greater generosity than has been necessary in some other times."

Notable among those reasons the President mentions the situation in the Near East, where, he asserts, millions of people must look to more favored national communities, such as the United States, for the means of life. He bespeaks the aid of the American people for the Red Cross as one of the chief relief agencies and the co-operation of Americans in the support of all the organizations at work in that portion of the world.

The proclamation follows: "To the American People: "The assurance, based on many years' experience, that there will be prompt and generous response, makes it always a satisfaction to direct public attention to the annual membership roll call of the American Red Cross. This year it will open on Armistice Day, November 11, and close on Thanksgiving Day, November 30. As president of the United States and also president of the American Red Cross, I hereby proclaim November 12 as Red Cross Sunday, and invite all the people to unite with their spiritual leaders in such observance of it as may promote a renewed consecration to the gospel of service based upon divine injunction and sanctioned by all good conscience.

"By the terms of the Congressional Charter which called it into being, the American Red Cross is charged with certain clearly defined duties and obligations. These it has continued, during the past year, to discharge faithfully and efficiently. There are peculiarly urgent reasons to appeal, this year, in behalf of an even greater generosity than has been necessary in some other times, because of the extraordinary demands upon such services of mercy and humanity. One of the most fearful disasters of all history has befallen the ill-fated Near Eastern area, where the lives of millions of unfortunate people even now depend, and must continue for a long time to depend, on the untiring liberality of more favored communities. A very great sum is required to be raised if the emergency shall be met, and while the task is one to which all well-disposed peoples must contribute, our own country is vitally alike of its inspirations of humanity and its fortunate endowment in material possessions, must be conspicuous for both the great share it shall give, and the high spirit animating the gift. It is therefore asked that cooperation be established between the Red Cross, the Near East Relief, and all other agencies which are concerned to assist in dealing with this crisis.

"In the domestic field, demands continue to press heavily upon the Red Cross. The Government is earnestly seeking to insure to every disabled or disabled ex-service man the full measure of care and help which national gratitude and simple justice dictate. The aim must be to restore every service man to the best possible health and the largest opportunity for a normal and self-supporting life. In this effort the government, the army and navy, have gladly availed themselves of the assistance of the Red Cross which, due to its national wide volunteer organization, has been a constant and valued aid.

"In the broad field concerned with the physical welfare of the people, the Red Cross, in sympathetic contact with other organizations, and the Federal and State Bureaus, has been particularly active in the establishment and support of public health activities for the prevention of disease and the encouragement of sound sanitation. In its peculiar and historic field of disaster relief, the Red Cross has met the emergencies brought about by the large number of floods and other calamities during the past year, and is still called upon to aid the suffering in foreign lands due to war and pestilence. For these reasons, regardless of the multitude of local problems in every community, the American Red Cross deserves well at the hands of the American people.

"In the interests of our common humanity and of the service which we owe to our fellow men, I invite my fellow citizens to renew their allegiance to the American Red Cross during the period of the membership roll call.

"(Signed) Warren G. Harding."

And tomorrow is a big day.

And everything will be closed except the Daily Herald office.

Which means that people can get along without everything except the daily paper on Armistice Day.

Illinois has a new wrinkle to work on the people. They will pass the bonus bill with the proviso that the money comes from a tax on light wines and beers. No chance—not even in Illinois.

Retail food costs show an increase. We can always look for increases in food along about Thanksgiving time. High prices are what make Thanksgiving so appropriate—we are thankful for what we receive—even for that little bit.

The Republican stronghold in Michigan was certainly invaded by the Democrats this time, and they carried off everything that was not nailed down. Michigan seems to have had enough of the plutocratic reign and Newberryism.

The Turks have cut the cables to the Near East. Now if the United States could cut all communication to the Near East and keep them cut for several years, we would be that much to the good. Either wipe out the Turks or quit sending them money—for they get all the money that is sent to the Christians.

RED CROSS AGAIN IN WAR WORK

All preparations had been made for the Annual Roll Call of the American Red Cross, which must necessarily be completed long in advance of the opening of the campaign, because the Chapter meets yearly around the world. The slogan, "Every American Everywhere," is a motto of the Red Cross, and the work of Roll Call organization begun with the purpose of gaining a membership of 5,000,000 for 1923.

Their assistance as it was unexpected, came the call from Smyrna for help. A million innocent sufferers driven to the water's edge by the victorious Turks. These were the American Red Cross engagements in peace, and with an insistence upon relief that could not be denied.

The call found the Red Cross prepared for service, and while the Chapter at Constantinople plunged wholeheartedly into the breach, National Headquarters at Washington took immediate steps to meet the terrifying situation growing out of the crisis. Within a short time American Red Cross relief workers were sent to Athens; its nurses in Europe were working in the refugee camps; ship loads of food, clothing and medical supplies were started for Greek ports, and over three-quarters of a million dollars in Red Cross funds had been committed for this great relief work.

The response of the American Red Cross in this war-time disaster recalls the happy phrase uttered by Cardinal Mercier of Belgium when World War relief was at its height in his own country and in France. That brave figure in the great conflict had said of the American Red Cross: "Such a national inspiration should be captured and held for the benefit of all mankind."

The events of the last few weeks happily prove that the inspiration has been captured. And the work for mankind in far off Greece serves to emphasize why the American Red Cross must be prepared to cope with any disaster, no matter how great in extent or how sudden, and must ever be ready to do the service quickly and effectually.

The situation which finds the equipment and resources of the American Red Cross again engaged in relieving the sufferings attendant upon war with the efficiency and generosity that in the World War was a marvel to all the nations, lays a greater obligation also upon Americans everywhere during the Roll Call to endorse services to all mankind with their signatures and their membership fees. The Roll Call is a call to "Say it with names and with dollars," and to say it, as in the World War times, with patriotic fervor for your Red Cross.

For as "Peace hath its victories no less renowned than war," so must the American Red Cross have its resources from the strength of its membership to go onward in the work committed to the organization by the American people.

A ROAD TO BE AVOIDED

The editor of the Orlando Sentinel, who is one of the few fortunate Florida newspaper men able to take a vacation occasionally, recently returned from a trip to the north, traveling in his car, and he devotes a wide-measure column to denunciation of the condition of the principal route into the state from the northeast. He declares "It is a disgrace to the name of the state for which a million people are working with all the energy of mind, body and money. If the state road department cannot function, if Nassau county is so poor it cannot work the road, if Jacksonville is so destitute of boosters that it cannot assist in clearing the road and putting it into shape then all this talk of building a greater Florida is all poppycock."

Now that is a serious indictment, and indicates that our brother must have had some very trying experiences. Indeed he declares that "At last, after agony and wailing, after gnashing of springs, after cussing and moaning, after bruised hands and stiff legs he gets a good road and breezes into Jacksonville, the largest city in Florida, a physical and mental wreck, and a fit subject for an undertaker."

Something should be done about it. If the story of the experiences of the editor of the Sentinel is widely read it's safe to assume that very few drivers will attempt to travel that road.

Noting the promise of the chairman of the state road department that he is arranging to put 70 convicts at work on the road in the near future, the Sentinel man declares that 7,000 men are needed to put it in good condition. Tampa Times.

Let him stay at home, where there are good roads all the time.

INSIDE WATERWAYS

The Atlantic seaboard is indented with various sounds and bays, which only require artificial channels connecting them to make a continuous inside and protected waterway from Maine to Southern Florida. Into these various bays and sounds empty a large number of rivers, many of them susceptible to navigation for long distances into the interior. The lagoons along the entire east coast of Florida, with a little improvement, can be made into an ideal channel of transportation and the St. Johns river affords a continuous waterway into the central part of the state.

The Atlantic Deepwaterways Association, organized in 1907, has shown some remarkable results in its effort to further this inside waterway down the Atlantic coast. The route from Norfolk, Va., to Beaufort, N. C., was adopted by congress in 1912, and is under construction, while the section connecting Chesapeake Bay with the Delaware River has been authorized and the existing Chesapeake and Delaware Canal purchased. The work of enlargement of the canal to the standard depth of twelve feet is now in progress. Also it is expected that congress will authorize the purchase of the Cape Cod Canal. It is likewise hoped that congress will authorize the purchase of the Dismal Swamp Canal in Virginia and North Carolina. With the acquisition and completion of these waterways there will be established a continuous inside passage from Beaufort Inlet to Boston.

With such a protected water route from the larger eastern cities to the cities of Florida, the popularity and prosperity of the land of sunshine and flowers is certain to grow. When the roads are bad and railroad travel is both expensive and unpleasant, the winter tourist will tour to Florida in his motorboat, having a clean, delightful and restful trip. Upon reaching Florida, he will find his motorboat as useful as an automobile, for the many lagoons, rivers and thousands of lakes furnish water routes to all parts of the state. The St. Johns river, which flows from the central part of the state, north to Jacksonville, winding its way through the beautiful semi-tropical vegetation, is one of the most picturesque water routes in this country. It is one of the two large rivers of North America which flows

THE SPIRIT OF ARMISTICE DAY

(Contributed)

November 11th is knocking at our doors. And what a flood of memories is rushing upon us. Whistles are blowing; distant bells are ringing; neighbors are rushing up and down the streets crying to each other; many mothers and wives have gone alone to weep for joy. The news has come that the enemy is defeated and peace is in sight. The boys who have not fallen will soon come back.

And that day we celebrate tomorrow. Will the celebration be shallow and superficial, or will it reflect the spirit of the men of this county and city whose bodies sleep on the battle fields of Europe? Were we mistaken? Was there really after all no cause for war? If so, these men died in vain. Not so, however. The civilization of the world was being assaulted. Men and women were no longer safe. Not one plan for progress could be projected with promise. Virtue was being outraged, and darkness was settling down upon us. It was then that the heart of America responded and our women, and our men answered humanity's call. And some of these men did not come back. They did well their part in making Armistice Day possible.

Will the celebration of tomorrow reflect the spirit of these men? Will the celebration foster the cause for which they gave their lives? If our plans are made for our own revelry, we only mock the spirit of Campbell and Loring. If the citizens of Seminole county, and the citizens of Sanford do not celebrate tomorrow in the spirit of the men who left home and gave their lives to save civilization and preserve virtue, the hanging of flags over our doors, and the placing of aw reath at the foot of the monument erected in the memory of our men will be but a sham.

Let the spirit of the men who enlisted, and the spirit of the men who did well their part in making the privileges of this day possible be fostered in the celebration of tomorrow.

Thousands of launches and motorboats of all kinds and sizes now ply the waters of the Florida east coast from Miami north to Palm Beach, Daytona Beach, Avon-by-the-Sea and St. Augustine. On the south, there is Florida Bay, the Florida Keys and the Bahama Islands, just a short distance off the coast.

The next few years will, without doubt, witness a rapid improvement and increased use of our inside waterways as the demand for a cheaper, cleaner and pleasanter means of travel increases.—Reporter-Star.

UPSALLA AND GRAPEVILLE

Mrs. Ericson and Mrs. August Swanson were callers Saturday to see Mrs. E. W. Lundquist, who has returned home from the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Heacock, of Orlando, and their young folks, motored over on Sunday the 5th surprising their old friends, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Hirschi.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Lundquist and children with J. E. Lundquist and August Swanson took a long auto trip Sunday to see Hilmer Lundquist and wife, passing through Tiger Bay, Fort Meade and Wauchulla, returning home the same day.

Mrs. Alfred Ericson and baby were calling in Grapeville Tuesday at the homes of Mrs. West Mrs. Swanson and Mrs. Ballinger.

Mr. and Mrs. Gladders and two children of Melbourne, were overnight guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. West, going on to Orlando Friday.

Rev. C. F. Wahlberg will be here for preaching Sunday at 10:30 in Swedish and at 7:30 in English at the Lutheran church.

Rev. Eckard and wife were guests, as usual with Mr. and Mrs. Carl Carlson.

It seems like a bad week for the babies as nearly all here were sick with fever and teething troubles, first the little Henderson child for which Dr. Tolar was called out, then the Ericson and West and now little Chas. Williams.

Mary Frances, the little grand child of Mrs. Bridgeman, who with Sadie was present with us Sunday at service is having to take treatment of Dr. Robson for blood poisoning.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cramer and children and Forest West went down the latter part of the week remaining over two days at Orlando to attend the conference and are expecting to go again this week.

We hear G. H. Hirschi got a bad blow on his eye, being accidentally hit with a hammer.

Friends of Mrs. Coller are sorry to hear of the serious condition of her son, Charles Rogers at Canton, N. Y., who was nearly killed by falling on a saw at his home, Friday. He, with his family, spent a winter here a few years ago.

Rev. J. S. Clark hopes to attend the Synod at St. Augustine this week and we all hope he may. Those ministers who serve the little rural churches often scattered miles apart with their small congregations have a hard row to hoe and need all the uplift they can get. They minister to many otherwise without spiritual food.

Mr. and Mrs. Volie Williams are having their house remodeled, their uncle, A. W. Williams having charge. They have turned the kitchen around, bringing it closer to the dining room and had a grand opening Wednesday night. She announced the place would be run as a first class amusement resort and no drinking or liquor would be tolerated on the grounds.

RETURNS SHOW AN INCREASE OF IMPORT TAXES

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—A federal revenue of approximately $445,000,000 this fiscal year from import taxes, or about $100,000,000 more than ever before in the nation's history, was forecast today by customs officials. This is on the basis of returns under the new tariff act for a month and a half of its operation and the almost unprecedented income which immediately preceded enactment of the Fordney-McCumber statute, when there were heavy withdrawals from bonded warehouses and a rush of imports so as to avoid the higher duties carried in the new law.

The actual revenue for the first month of the operation for the protective measure was $40,868,266, or at the rate of nearly $500,000,000 a year. Officials said this was the first time that customs receipts had reached $40,000,000 in the month after enactment of a new tariff. They expected some recession from this monthly total, but said there was little or no indication of the slump in imports which usually has occurred during the first six months or year after imposition of protective rates.

Two explanations are offered. One is the abnormal foreign exchange and world economic condition, and the other the recovery of the county before passage of the Fordney-McCumber act from the after-the-war industrial depression and attendant buyers' strike.

Were there to be any great depression in import trade it would be manifesting itself by this time, according to these officials. Instead of any such manifestation, they declared that foreign goods are reaching the country in increasing quantities, as evidenced by the congestion in the appraisers' stores at the port of New York.

REPORT ON LENAPE ANNOUPLY AWAITED

Shipping officials are anxiously awaiting information regarding the fate of the Lenape, the vessel owned by Clyde Imboden, which was wrecked on the ground off Nassau in the eighth teen days. A statement regarding the vessel was received by the Jacksonville Journal from Samuel Taylor, who was on board there today. It was stated that immediate action will be taken by the U. S. steamship service to have the vessel towed to Jacksonville for the purpose of the suspension of its operation. Jacksonville Journal.

MARY SMITH LOCKWOOD, FOUNDER-OF DAUGHTERS OF AMERICAN REVOLUTION DEAD

Was Noted Club Woman and Last Survivor of the Original Founders of the D. A. R.

(By The Associated Press)

PLYMOUTH, Mass., Nov. 10.—A Revolutionary soldier, her grandfather lost his life in the battle of Black Rock, in which her father also fought, and her husband, Henry Lockwood, was a soldier in the Civil War. It was to accompany him on part of his way to the front that she went to Washington, where she lived for the remainder of her life.

Her father was a leader in the Whig party, but later became a Republican, and the daughter, who did not grow up an ardent advocate of that party. When, in 1880, the first Republican Women's Club was founded, she became a charter member.

Eight years later she was deep in the task of promoting and managing the first International Council of Women and in this work she met for the first time such prominent women as Susan B. Anthony, Mrs. May Wright Sewell and Miss Rachel Foster.

While the life of Mrs. Lockwood has been replete with many interesting accomplishments, the outstanding work of her career was the founding of the D. A. R.

The organization is frequently referred to as "something Hannah Arnett started," for the reason that sentiment looking toward the creation of a patriotic body to commemorate the part played by women in the Revolutionary War was crystallized by the publication of Mrs. Lockwood's story of "Hannah Arnett."

This heroine, according to the story, broke in upon a meeting of American leaders who were considering terms of surrender in 1776, when the British had settled before Eliza's settlement and defeat faced the colonists. The indignant, scornful woman, in an eloquent appeal, shamed the discouraged men into action and convinced them the Americans could win out in the end if they were loyal and patient.

At the time her story was published, Mrs. Lockwood was the proprietor of a boarding house in Washington. It was a popular gathering place for the leading celebrities of the national capital, among whom were General and Mrs. John A. Logan, and it was at this house in 1899 that the group of eighteen women met and founded the nation wide order that now numbers more than 172,000 women among its members.

The society was made national in scope instead of being organized by states, and its success was instantaneous. Mrs. Benjamin Harrison, mistress of the White House at the time, was elected first president general. The first conference of representatives was called by Mrs. Harrison in 1890, and the first congress of the organization was held in Washington in 1892.

In addition to her work with the D. A. R., Mrs. Lockwood took a prominent part in the fight for equal suffrage, but when the federal constitution was amended to permit women throughout the land to vote, she never enjoyed the privilege for she had been a resident of Washington so long she had forfeited the right of franchise. The memoirs of Mrs. Lockwood, dating from the time she accompanied her husband to the capital during the Civil War, are remarkable for their interest and brilliant wit. Even until her last days she easily remembered and vividly pictured tales of battles fought near the city, and of the panic following the Confederate threats against Washington and Baltimore.

Aside from her memoirs and political writings, she has produced several volumes which give a clear and exact history of Washington and of the many notables who have lived and worked there. Her book on the historic names of the city is regarded as an authority.

Mrs. Lockwood is survived by no close relatives. Her daughter, Miss Lillian M. Lockwood, formerly business manager of the D. A. R. magazine, died several years ago, and her husband has been dead almost half a century.

Arrangements for a prize flower garden contest and distribution of $500 for the most beautiful flowers at Miami Beach are planned by the Chamber of Commerce of Miami, according to the Metropolis. It seems that the people of Miami Beach are determined to make the place most attractive, and have secured the interest of a great many people by starting a competition that must be of general benefit.

Fort Lauderdale has a steam laundry, and is well pleased over the fact. The Herald a few days ago told of the opening of the laundry and says that it is equipped with modern machinery and will be an addition to the business of the city. The enterprise shows that Fort Lauderdale is growing rapidly and has come to demand all the up-to-date conveniences of a big city.

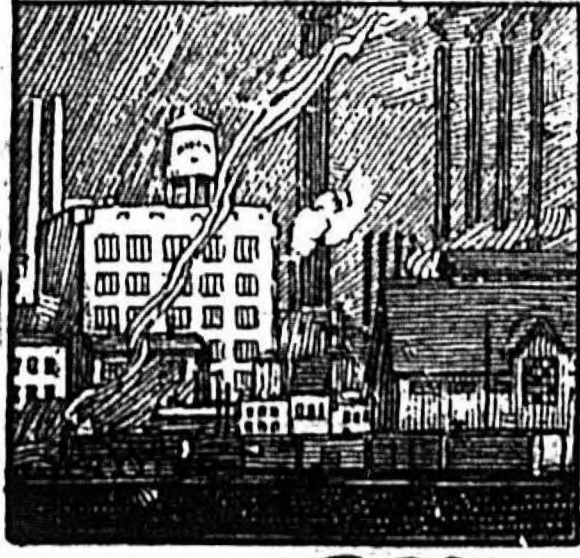

With a period of favorable weather in prospect now, the work of picking St. Lucie county's citrus fruit crop has already started and within another week several of the large packing houses of the county will be in full operation.

The construction work of the Okeechobee-Miami extension of the Florida East Coast Railway will begin on or about January 1st, contingent upon authority of the United States government, which authority is expected daily.

PEACE AND GOOD WILL TO ALL MANKIND

FROM every heart that hoped and bled ---from every man and woman who fought the good fight---from every home and fireside, there echoes PEACE and glad rejoicing on this, the 4th anniversary of the Armistice.

In the spirit of this fateful occasion, let us pause to offer good cheer to every sorrowing heart, every needful soul among us. With reverence and humility, let us pray the Almighty's just reward for those whose noble sacrifices kindled anew our faith in humanity and gave Peace to a warring world.

If selfishness and lust for power still divides nations, if in the old world Militarism has put on a different uniform, then all the more homage to those heroes, living and dead, who fought and suffered for America's ideals. Theirs is a deathless glory.

Their sacrifice brought mankind a step nearer to its glorious destiny. For their sake and our own, let each of us by personal influence and example, help emblazon in men's hearts, "Peace and Good Will to All Mankind!"

Woman Athletes of France Sign Pact

PARIS, Nov. 10.—Peace has been officially signed between the two warring feminine federations of athletic women of France. A temporary truce was declared last July in order to hold at Pershing Stadium the first female Olympic games on record, in which the United States team carried off second honors.

Gaston Vidal, undecid secretary of state for physical culture and sports, acted as peacemaker. Both federations elected officers to represent them in the Union of French Sporting and Athletic Federations, and henceforth they will be known as the Feminine Federation of France.

The new federation comprises 144 feminine clubs and athletic organizations throughout France with a membership of nearly fifteen thousand young women and girls.

And notice the lineup for tomorrow's game with Daytona. If Sanford can pile up the required number in the first half Coach Wilkenson will give all the subs a chance in the second half as well as switching his mgn about.

The Herald office will take your name, dollar or half dollar, and see that the boys get their watch fobs. Slip it to us.

CELERY SEED

The Merchants and Farmers both tried out new material last night.

Ludwig for the Farmers and Burdick for the Merchants.

And they both have the earmarks of good bowlers.

First two weeks' play finds Amann at the top of averages, Chapman with the best score for any one game, the Champs highest team score, and Chase & Co. with low score.

Ralph Yerby was in Sanford doing stunts at the Country Club again this week. Ralph is some golfer.

And maybe Osborne Herndon hasn't come to the front in the short time he has been playing. Makes it in less than fifty all the time as a rule.

Read the little article about the football medals and slip around to the Herald office and drop a dollar.

A little fund of fifteen or twenty dollars is all that is required to give each of the players of this year's eleven a nice little watch fob with his name and a football engraved on it. And they should be recognized for being Central Florida's champs.

Another big event on the golf links Saturday morning. Sanford vs. Orlando.

And don't forget the big football game Sanford vs. Daytona—Saturday afternoon.

FOR THE MOVIE FAN

"Slave I hate the word," cried Amenes, Pharaoh of Ancient Egypt.

The he ruled millions, not one friendly hand was extended to him.

The night fell on the Nile and romance whispered whispered
love to him—
a love unrequited
a love that redeemed
a love that destroyed selfish aspirations and blossomed forth into the exotic romance of youth you and gave to Egypt a fair new Ruler of such were
THE LOVES OF PHAROAH

A pretty face—and night had fallen on the Nile.

So romance had full sway. For a beautiful woman a nation was betrayed, a city burned and a king slain.

But the dramatic epoch of "The Loves of Pharaoh" was not in vain. Love, the greatest thing in the world reforms the government of millions and gave to Egypt a fair new Queen and her King. "And there was great joy in all Egypt."

Don't miss "The Loves of Pharaoh" a Paramount picture which will be the feature attraction at the Princess today and tomorrow and for added attractions there will be Pathe News and Pathe Review.

The weather man promises a bright and pleasant Armistice Day and the big parade should be a great success as well as the athletic contests and the boat races and all of the big events.

We close Saturday ARMISTICE DAY Will be open Friday night to take care of customers.

SIKI MAY BE DISQUALIFIED

PARIS, Nov. 10.—Battling Siki, dusky ruler of the European heavyweight, facing liquidation as a fighter for using his fist last night on Fernand Gony, the manager of Maurice Franca, French middleweight.

Herald Will Start Fund for Football Medals for Central Florida Champs

Quite a large gathering of golf enthusiasts were on hand at the Country Club yesterday to witness the match between two of Orlando's and two of Sanford's best.

Yerby and Rogers, two exceptionally good ones, were looking after Orlando's interests, and to say that they did it would be putting it mildly. But at that they had no cinch of it, as Wadsbrook and Herndon, representing the Celery City, played right up to them, and although they lost, it was by a very close score.

Both Mr. Rogers and Mr. Yerby are in love with the Sanford course, and will play in Sanford again Saturday morning, at which time an even harder battle is expected.

Mr. Yerby is one of the best golfers to play on the Sanford course, and to see such men play improves the game of the beginner. This is one of the reasons Mr. Wadsbrook has invited outsiders of class to come here, so that all the local members may get some pointers worth having.

Therefore, turn out to these events and you will not only see some real class play by real class players, but you will learn some things that will benefit your play.
