

FOG RETARDS LINDBERGH ON ATLANTIC HOP

Lone Eagle and Wife Are On Their Way To Greenland, Iceland On Business Mission

HALIFAX, N. S., July 10.—(A.P.)—Fog enveloping the Atlantic coast has interrupted Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh's flying expedition to Greenland and Iceland.

It is assumed here that the Lindberghs made their red position equipped ship fast in some cove near Rockland, Maine three and a quarter hours later a wireless announced.

Only a few mechanics were at the aircraft plant at College Point, Queens, to see the Lindbergh place baggage and equipment in the low winged plane which two years ago carried them on a prolonged journey to the Orient.

Not at North Beach Airport, to which the craft was taken, a crowd estimated at 5,000 had gathered to cheer the Colonel and his wife, the former Anne Morrow, who will be the radio operator, photographer, and relief pilot.

Mrs. Lindbergh wore khaki riding breeches, a khaki shirt up to the throat, and a leather belt, while her bareheaded husband was attired in a gray suit.

As he entered the plane he removed his coat, pausing only long enough to tell newspaper men he did not plan to extend the flight to Denmark.

In 10 seconds after the propeller whirred, the craft was in the air. It climbed the field once and then headed northeast along the Long Island Coast.

Three hundred pounds of emergency provisions and 325 gallons of gas formed a heavy load, but the new 150-horsepower motor lifted the plane easily from the water.

The Lindberghs hope to complete their first 500-mile lap in Halifax in rapid order, for the plane has a top speed of 160 miles an hour. The weather bureau reported head winds and a low ceiling along New England and, Nova Scotia, and Lindbergh told friends before the take-off he would put down at North Haven, Me., in case of emergency.

Colonel Lindbergh announced no definite itinerary for the journey, preferring to fit his schedule to any circumstances that might arise after reaching the North. The Danish steamer Jelling, which left Philadelphia June 28, will be the liner of the Pan-American Airways expedition, for which Lindbergh is technical adviser.

He expects to get into contact with the steamer somewhere between St. Johns, Newfoundland, and Gortarrick, Labrador, it was learned. While Curtiss is on the route of the Italian military plane en route to the United States, Lindbergh made no definite plans for meeting them there.

$70,000 Allotted For Work On St. Johns

The War Department yesterday allotted, as part of an $11,000,000 appropriation for maintenance work on various rivers and harbors throughout the nation, the sum of $70,000 for the improvement of a waterway between Beaufort, S. C., and the St. Johns River in Florida.

TEXTILE GROUPS WELL PLEASED WITH NEW CODE

Many Plants Intend To Place It In Operation Right Away

WASHINGTON, July 10.—(A.P.)—High S. Johnson, recovery administrator, said today he was informed that the textile industry is so well pleased with the code newly promulgated by President Roosevelt that many plants intend to put it into operation right away.

A meeting of labor, consumer, and industrial advisory committee today sought to map out the future policy of the recovery program and considered setting times for hearings on a number of minor codes now on file with the administration.

No final decision was reached, but announcement of one is to be expected shortly.

Johnson has received several codes submitted by the steel industry, but said he had rejected each one for changes to bring the industry into line with the recovery act's purpose.

Likewise he said he had returned proposals of the oil industry for additional data on employment.

President Roosevelt last night signed the cotton textile code, the first under the National Recovery Act, fixing a $12 and $13 minimum wage in the South and North, respectively, and a 40 hour work week for all mill employees.

The code, marking the first attempt of the federal government to regulate hours and wages in industry in an effort to stabilize production and purchasing power, will become effective July 17.

The President affixed his signature in the executive mansion last night only a few hours after he had returned from an overnight cruise down the Potomac River with Attorney General Cummings. His swift signature, affixed almost immediately after the code was placed before him by Hugh S. Johnson, the industrial administrator, avoided further delay which would have prevented the unprecedented agreement from becoming effective until July 24.

Although the code presented by 77 percent of the cotton textile industry was designed to affect all plants using cotton in manufacturing, the tire and medical industries were granted a temporary exemption on their contention that the maximum hour and minimum wage provision would work a hardship.

Although the law provides that the code once approved by the Chief Executive shall be mandatory upon the entire industry, the agreement allows the remaining 23 percent of the industry a period for further hearings before the code becomes binding upon them. The extent of this time was left to Johnson for decision.

The signing of the cotton code signalized a push by the Chief Executive to speed his domestic recovery program into operation.

He has been accused by an apparent attempt by some industry (Continued On Page Four)

LEGION TO MEET

There will be an important meeting of Campbell-Leslie Foot of the American Legion at the Legion Hut tomorrow night at 8:00 o'clock, according to W. H. Rappaport, past commander, who stated that the attendance of every Legionnaire interested in the success of the Post is necessary.

G. O. P. GETTING PREPARED FOR '34 ELECTIONS

Major Offense Of Republicans Will Seek To Re-Gain Some Of Vanished Authority

WASHINGTON, July 10.—(A.P.)—Chieftains of the Republican party are preparing quietly for a major drive aimed at regaining in 1934 some of the lost G. O. P. power in Congress, and leaders in the "midwestern" states yesterday turned toward Chicago for another of a series of conferences over the approaching congressional campaign.

This gathering, to be held in Chicago Tuesday under the leadership of Everett Sanders, chairman of the Republican national committee, will find party spokesmen from Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky, Michigan, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Iowa reporting on the political situation in their states and the prospects for success a year hence.

Regional meetings have been held previously in Washington, New York and Boston, marking the only outward show of Republican activity in the "political" day-dray. Behind the scenes, however, there have been many other discussions of party plans.

Issues for the 1934 congressional campaign and the 1936 presidential election now are being drawn, based in large part upon the Roosevelt emergency legislation. Predictions have come from some of the leaders that the Republicans will make sizable gains in seats in the House of Representatives.

At present the Republican national committee is maintaining only a skeleton force. Nevertheless, Chairman Sanders is spending most of his time in his office and is keeping in close contact with state leaders.

A few blocks away from the national committee headquarters are located the offices of the Republican federal associates, of which Ogden L. Mills, secretary of the Treasury under President Hoover (Continued On Page Three)

Mrs. Harold Ickes To Support G. O. P. Despite Husband

CHICAGO, July 10.—(A.P.)—Mrs. Harold I. Ickes, progressive Republican wife of a Democratic cabinet member, yesterday asserted she was going to continue her own political career.

Mrs. Ickes is a state representative from a suburban district and during the recent session of the Legislature has consistently voted as a Republican in all purely political squabbles.

At her beautiful home in Winnetka she was asked if rumors circulating at the capital in Springfield to the effect that she would retire from her political activities to devote all her time to the side of her husband in Washington were true. In addition to his duties as secretary of the Interior, Ickes Saturday was named by President Roosevelt as emergency administrator of the federal public works program.

"Of course they aren't true," she replied with emphasis. "I have every intention of being a candidate for re-election next year. My heart and soul are in the work at Springfield. I enjoy every moment of it. I don't want to give it up."

Secretary Ickes returned last week to Washington after a short visit at home with his wife. "But we didn't talk politics," she hastened to add.

PROCESSING TAX OF 30 CENTS IS PUT UPON WHEAT

Farm Act Administrators Expect Early Test Of Legality

WASHINGTON, July 10.—(A.P.)—A processing tax of 30 cents a bushel, voted since Saturday night, squarely upon all wheat going to the making of food for American consumers, and administrators of the farm act yesterday were expectant of an early legal test of this first application of one of their principal powers.

They were uncertain from what quarter the test would come, but both Sec. Wallace and George N. Peek, chief administrator, said frankly they looked for a prompt challenge in the courts of their authority to levy the processing tax on wheat.

While this tax went into effect yesterday on grain poured into the hoppers of flour mills and other primary wheat processing plants, and also upon the four stocks of millers, wholesale dealers and bakers, retail dealers will have 30 days during which foods made chiefly of wheat are not taxable.

The expected legal challenge yesterday failed to dampen the enthusiasm of Wallace, Peek and other aides for their general farm program. Both expressed pleasure over the response of cotton farmers to their acreage reduction plan.

They reported Saturday that up to about Friday noon farmers had offered to plow up more than 50,000,000 acres of their growing crop in return for government benefits. This meant that the campaign for reduction had passed the halfway mark.

Wallace postponed the final date for receiving contracts from Saturday to next Wednesday and expected the campaign to hit its fastest pace during the next three days. But if farmers in a substantial number have not had an opportunity to sign contracts by that time, he will provide a further extension.

If Wallace succeed in obtaining agreements for removing from 10,000,000 to 11,000,000 acres from production, he is confident that this year's potential crop can be reduced at least 10,000,000 bales, which would bring the prospective crop to around 10,000,000 bales, a substantial decrease from the high rate of production of the last decade.

Co-Operation Is Pledged To Help Speed New Jobs

WASHINGTON, July 10.—(A.P.)—Labor and relief officials of 26 states, gathered here at federal headquarters yesterday pledged the co-operation of their agencies with the new United States employment service toward spreading new jobs at top speed.

The meeting was arranged by W. Frank Persons, director of the United States employment service, and Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator.

Plans for formation of a state employment council in each state, with county committees, also were disclosed. Each county committee will be composed of a representative of labor, a member of the local relief committee and three or four citizens. These county organizations will be under the state re-employment director.

Persons told the meeting that the interests of organized labor would be recognized in working out plans, and that the preferences guaranteed by law would be safeguarded. Plans for promotion of re-employment also are to be worked up with representatives of the public works administration.

RESIDENTS PAY NO TAXES

WILLIAMS, Ariz., July 10.—Residents of this small community in northern Arizona have no taxes to pay to maintain the local government because a municipality last night and water works earn enough money to defray each cent of disbursement.

ROOSEVELT IS PLANNING TO FORCE ACTION

Confers With Attorney General Upon Means To Make Industry Get In Line

WASHINGTON, July 10.—(A.P.)—President Roosevelt, in long hours of discussion yesterday with Attorney General Cummings, was reported to have canvassed thoroughly the possibilities of legal action toward the equalization of prices and wages as a prelude to pushing his industrial recovery machine ahead this week on a better working basis.

As the President returned yesterday from a Potomac River cruise with the head of the government's legal staff, it was stated reliably that he intends to give the work up to fill in completely the directing agencies in the industrial and public works setups. Mr. Roosevelt expects the week to see, also, the break-up of the jam in acting wage-raising codes for business.

The Chief Executive, it was indicated, is determined to halt increases in production at the expense of longer working hours rather than new help and higher wages, and informed quarters of this as the subject of his talk with Attorney General Cummings.

He has been informed that over-production is being practiced by some manufacturers in advance of the establishment of the industrial codes for limiting hours of work, production and fixing minimum wages.

The Sabbath lay-off notwithstanding, there were developments on many fronts in the industrial-public works campaign.

Hugh S. Johnson, industrial control administrator, yesterday continued his intensive work to place the first business code—the cotton textile industry—upon the President's desk for approval today or Tuesday.

U. S. Plans Action Seeking To Curb Bread Profiteers

WASHINGTON, July 10.—(A.P.)—The department of justice today was formulating a plan for dealing with "unreasonable" increases in bread prices coming in the wake of the 30 cent a bushel processing tax on wheat which went into effect over the week-end.

Complaints of increases which Secretary Wallace considers "too high" are being turned over to Attorney General Cummings for investigation and possible prosecution under anti-trust laws, where increases are being put in effect by groups of bakers and millers.

Wallace said he has obtained reports of increases up to 60 percent. He takes the position the tax if reflected in full to the consumer, should not increase the price of a pound loaf more than one-half a cent.

Wallace can require all bakers and dealers to obtain licenses to operate and abide by specific regulations governing prices under the farm act but use of the drastic power is not contemplated if industry "acts with reason," the farm administrator said.

Board of Governors Of C. Of C. To Meet

Reminder to all members of the Board of Governors of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce that the July meeting of the Board will be held at the City Hall tomorrow night, July 11, from the trade body offices in the City Hall. The meeting is scheduled to start at 7:30 o'clock and matters relating to this county's participation in a special week of publicity at the World's Fair in Chicago will be the featured subject of discussion.

London Conference Closing Is Set For End Of This Month

Date Is Tentatively Named For Ending Present Phase Of Economic Conclave

LONDON, July 10.—(A.P.)—Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, launching a debate on the economic conference in the House of Commons today, declared Great Britain's basic policy is the raising of wholesale commodity prices.

He declared this was not possible by monetary action alone, although certain monetary factors must be present as a necessary preliminary to raising the price level. Maintaining Great Britain's middle of the road policy between gold and non-gold countries, Chamberlain concluded by advising "to keep our heads."

LONDON, July 10.—(A.P.)—Winding up the present phase of the economic conference on July 26 was tentatively decided on today by the parity steering committee, it is understood in a usually well-informed source.

The conference has been in a deadlock for more than a week over the question of monetary stabilization and many leading delegates have frankly asserted its continuance under present circumstances would be useless.

The American delegation, however, has been fighting strenuously to keep the conclave at work.

Meeting today to decide what subjects should be included in the revised agenda for the Congress, the steering committee decided to eliminate the discussion of subsidies and commercial policies including tariffs and quotas.

The committee was unable, however, to decide whether monetary questions which the European gold countries say cannot be dealt with until stabilization is realized, should be treated and asked the drafting committee to consider this controversial matter and report to the steering group tomorrow.

After the meeting today it stated the conference would be adjourned July 26 for an indefinite period, perhaps two months.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—President Roosevelt was made last night by Louis M. Howe, secretary to President Roosevelt in an authorized interview that the London economic conference would adjourn shortly to permit study of the many problems involved by special committees.

The declaration of Mr. Howe, in printed form, was taken to represent the attitude of Mr. Roosevelt.

"Of course," he said, "what will actually be done within the next few weeks at the conference cannot be forecast, but I think you will find in a general way that the sub-committees will be appointed to consider the topics already agreed upon, and that after a short time the meetings of the full commission will be adjourned for some weeks until these committees are ready to make preliminary reports."

This was taken in some quarters here last night as meaning that President Roosevelt is willing to have postponed for a time the effort for fulfillment of the broad program for world economic recovery.

Chance Is Seen Of Keeping Football For High School

Because the terms of the new education bill are not explained fully to his satisfaction, Superintendent of Schools T. W. Lawton this morning declared that he is not prepared to say whether or not Seminole High School will be able to offer its pupils football, basketball or physical education during the coming term.

Press reports from Tallahassee yesterday were to the effect that "Florida public schools may continue to have their football and other sports but the counties themselves must pay the coach's salaries and other expenses. The state board of education stipulated the physical health course from the list of approved subjects for which the state will pay teachers."

Mr. Lawton intimated that "Since the matter is entirely in the hands of the school board in the various districts, according to the press report, it is possible that we can make some arrangement which will enable us to continue with our physical education program, including football."

The school board will meet on Thursday, July 26 to consider the new budget and discuss matters relating to the school term and when it shall open.

FLORIDA RANKS HIGH IN AVIATION SURVEY SHOWS

TAMPA, July 10.—Florida, with 185 airplanes and 413 pilots, ranks high among the states of the nation in aviation progress, according to a survey announced yesterday by the aeronautics branch of the department of commerce.

In the United States there are 17,958 pilots and 6874 airplanes with active department of commerce licenses. The total number of airplanes licensed and uncanceled was 9055.

Among the 17,958 persons with pilots' licenses July 1 there were 7040 of the transport grade, 1187 limited commercial, 22 industrial, 9381 private and 348 solo pilots. The licensed pilots included 673 women divided as follows: transport, 69; limited commercial, 76; industrial, one; private, 456, and autogiro, one.

The leading state in number of aircraft, licensed and unlicensed, was California with 972. New York was second with 926 and Pennsylvania third with 542. In the number of licensed pilots California led with 3540, New York was second with 1716 and Ohio third with 1088.

The study included gliders and glider pilots. It was found that there are 55 licensed gliders and 784 unlicensed, making a total of 839. There were 193 licensed glider pilots.

Florida's record was particularly good when population is considered. The state has 116 licensed airplanes and 40 unlicensed, making a total of 155.

The state has three gliders. The number of transport pilots is 160, limited commercial 26, private licenses 292, and solo pilots 16, making a total of 413.

Florida's 185 airplanes compares with 85 for Alabama, 53 for Arizona, 62 for Arkansas, 125 for Georgia, 106 for Maryland, 56 for Kentucky, 81 for Colorado, 40 for Mississippi and 111 for Louisiana.

Florida's 169 transport pilots compares with 55 for Alabama, 27 for Arizona, 53 for Arkansas, 73 for Connecticut, 75 for Georgia and 114 for Kansas.

Another aviation advantage for Florida is the fast increasing number of airports being constructed by the state road department under the direction of Maj. A. B. McMullen. Soon the state will have a network of airports planned to make air travel much safer.

Taxpayers Set Forth Complaints At Meet

Several taxpayers called the Court House this morning where the County Commissioners were sitting as a tax equalizing board, listening to complaints and taking matters under advisement.

Highlight of the morning session came when C. Bell, Colony Avenue grocer, protested to the Commission that he "was being discriminated against" because his tax had been given a reduction of at least $100 a year in the last year. The complaint was taken under advisement.

MINOR TO PITCH AGAINST INDIANS IN TILT SUNDAY

Faces League-Leader in East Coast City; Holds Loop Records

Five Minor and his record-breaking pitching performance of the season will get an acid test at Cocon tomorrow afternoon when the Coleridge, who were upset in their tracks at Leesburg Thursday, must turn in a real performance if they expect to conquer the high-flying, league-leading Cocon Indians.

Minor, with eight victories and three defeats to his credit this year, is considered one of the outstanding right-handers in the league. Official pitching records released here today give him an earned run average of 1.47 runs per game, an excellent figure.

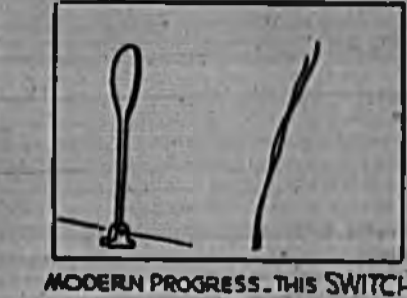

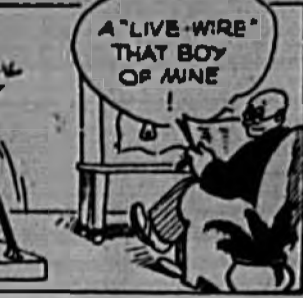

In handling the Indians 2 to 0 shut-out last Sunday, he not only completed a task he had never done before—beat Daytona on its own field—but he established a new league record for shut-out victories won. It was his seventh shut-out of the season, and he bids fair to establish a new all-time record before the season is over.

Tomorrow he will be thrown against an outfit that is out to win the second half. A reorganization at Cocon has brought new money into the picture, and it is expected that several new players will be imported at once, principally pitchers. The Indians are knocking along at a rapid clip, and they have several potent hitters, including Wall, Hopkins, Edge, McCally, and Howard.

Indian hurling duties will fall on old Aas Wall tomorrow unless the Indian management, not wanting to take any chances, sends Jake Baker to the hill. Wall has done nobly, in relief roles this year, and has started and finished two games, the 12 to 1 victory at Leesburg on Sunday being one of them. Baker has appeared in 17 games of the 24 played by his club. His record today stands at 11 wins and six losses.

Leesburg and Orlando are concerned, and the Indians out in front, prospects of a tie for first place are in view if the Feds beat the Indians. Otherwise, the Indians will be out front by a single game margin.

The Daytona-Beech-Isabelers who were cast adrift by club backers last week and are now on their own, will go to Orlando to battle with the Tigers. Daytona released Bud Haas this week, and took on Johnnie Culbreth, Joe Check from New Smyrna, and Cracker Graham, who was re-signed. Check will pitch for Daytona tomorrow. The Tigers have made several changes also, having taken on Tete Newcomb from Sanford, Lefty McMullen, of Clearwater, Jack Baker and Charlie Sands from Cedar Hill. The Tigers had a six-game winning streak snapped in Orlando Thursday, so they will be ever anxious to start another streak. Carleton or Baker will hurl.

The Leesburg Braves, highly elated over their victory over the Feds on Thursday, will open a five game home stand by taking on the New Smyrna Crackers. The Bruins have renovated their club, and the renovation was very efficient Thursday. Bruin owner Fred Herling today advised the league secretary here he had signed Emory Witt, a youngster sent to him from Americus, Ga., by "Shlessie Joe" Jackson, the old White Sox star. Either Hart or Forester is scheduled to hurl for the Bruins.

The New Smyrna Crackers underwent a thorough house-cleaning yesterday. Club owners dropped Nehleky, Tedder, Knebel, and Joe Check, and signed up Bud Haas, Woy Webb, and Red Williams, shortstop who recently played on the Cuban Brothers' team at Jacksonville. Haas is scheduled to hurl tomorrow.

In New Role

Additional interest in games around the league tomorrow will be centered at Orlando and Cocon. At Orlando, Jack Reed, who has hit safely in 12 consecutive games, will be out to make it 13 straight, while at Cocon, Paul Bonner who has now hit safely in 14 straight games, is within two games of tying the league record.

Until Thursday's game at Leesburg, Manager Joe Barnes of Sanford had hit safely in 14 straight games. Ferrazzi got his number however, and Barnes went hitless in four tries.

Jack Reed of Orlando still maintains the league lead in batting, according to official figures released today. In 21 games this year he has batted out 35 hits in 86 tries for an average of .407. This figure is 21 points better than that of Dan Capps, his teammate, who is the nearest regular hitter.

Tige Minor is the Feds' leading 300 or better batter, but he has been in only 14 games to gain an average of .350. Joe Barnes is the club's leading regular with a mark of .341.

battle in a game that should prove very interesting.

In Thursday's game the batting and pitching of Clyde Harangozo for Lake Monroe and the batting of Odham for Sanford were the features. Harangozo struck out ten men and only issued two passes. His four singles were a great help to the team. Odham's home run with Corbell on base in the third and Tilla's triple in the first half of the same inning were the long hits of the game.

Sanford Juniors Win 1st Half Of Seminole League

The Sanford Junior team, although it lost a game to the Lake Monroe team at the Ninth Street diamond Thursday, won the first half of the Seminole League. The Sanford team, managed by Sid Rive, won 12 games while losing four. The Lake Monroe team won 11 while losing five.

The second half begins Saturday with Lake Mary scheduled to play Irwin Springs. Sanford will travel to Lake Monroe to do

Slang

The use of slang by persons, who are not entirely dependent upon this method of articulation to express all their thoughts, often adds color to their language.

This propensity, especially among young people, to adopt slang as their modicum of speech, is a manifestation of mental laziness.

James Truslow Adams, the historian, commenting upon this characteristic compares the manner in which Americans and Frenchmen express themselves.

Obviously, it is contradictory for an agency of the Soviet while our government itself, in effect, declines to admit their existence.

For more than ten years private business houses in the United States, England, Germany, France, Italy and Japan have been doing business with the Soviets.

BUSINESS WITH RUSSIA

The announcement that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation would lend $4,000,000 to cotton exporters to finance the sale of United States cotton to Russia indicates not only the imminence, but dictates the necessity of recognizing the Soviet government.

This money, while loaned to America exporters, is secured by note of the Amtorg Trading Company, commercial representatives of the Soviet State, and guaranteed by the state banks of the U. S. S. R.

LIFE'S BYWAYS

ATLANTA, July 10.—(AP)—A statement by the superintendent of a public flop house that he had talked with a man suspected as the leader in the kidnaping of John K. Otley, Atlanta banker, caused police to concentrate their search in Atlanta yesterday.

H. E. McWaters, who has charge of the Wesley Memorial dormitory for the destitute, reported the man he knew as Grover Collins, came to the lodging center Friday afternoon and inquired for Pryor Bowen, the 17-year-old school boy of Lavenia, Ga., jailed as an accomplice in the abduction.

"Have you seen anything of that Bowen boy?" the superintendent quoted the man as saying.

"I recognized the man instantly, but I could not inveigle him into the dormitory," said McWaters.

"He was dressed identically as he was when he and Bowen came here Wednesday night, and was carrying the same package."

The superintendent said he called police as the man walked away, but he vanished in the street crowds before officers arrived.

Two policemen were left to watch the dormitory and others searched similar lodging houses to no avail.

Authentic Pictures Of War To Be Shown

The World War rolls across the Milan screen in a sort of superwar called "The Big Drive." The film is a chronological arrangement of pictures excavated from the military archives of the Germans, French, Austrians, British, Italians and Americans. While some of the sources from which the pictures were taken have already been exploited for the purposes of the cinema, this latest entry is a composite and a chronology that creates the excitement of history in the making. Where the film is authentic, it has the added impact of authenticity; where an actual combat scene ends abruptly, it is not difficult to picture the invisible climax in which the cameraman lost his life.

The invasion of Belgium and the bombardment of Ypres by the Germans in 1914 provide some of the most interesting sequences in "The Big Drive." For a few hundred feet, the screen shows the actual door-to-door fighting between the Belgians and the Germans. One scene that is touching and shockingly tragic shows an old lady in tears amid the ruins of her home. The visitor also finds it interesting to compare the confident invaders of July, 1914 with the quiant and desperate prisoners taken in the Argonne offensive.

The capture of Richtigofen, the German sea is shown, together with the last trip of the Lusitania and President Wilson reading the war message to Congress. The activities of the Americans in the Thierri and St. Mihiel green troops advancing west fields under American leadership, follow the hardened British veterans at the Argonne and Verdun.

The military action shot between the Americans and Germans in the Meuse River valley is the most brilliant of the silent screen. The silent screen "Drive" themselves the war.

London Conference Closing Is Set For End Of This Month

ization of currency in international exchange. Mr. Roosevelt has barred that until the true domestic purchasing power of the currencies of all nations has been determined.

Meanwhile, the United States is standing ready to consider the war debts issue from some of the debtor nations who have kept up partial payments. The first discussions start early next month.

Apparently the President wants to see what is going to be done about these payments before he goes into other commitments with the European powers.

Incidentally Mr. Howe defended stoutly the position of the President against immediate currency stabilization, pointing out that the organizing committee of the conference stated:

"Each government must, of course, remain free to decide when and under what conditions it could adopt such a (gold) standard, and we do not suggest that this can or should be done without the most careful preparation."

Meanwhile, Mr. Roosevelt has before the conference through his delegation a detailed exposition of the American viewpoint by the agenda. He is ready to proceed but it seems that he does not think the conference can get anywhere without much more study and preparation.

Newspaper Ads To Play Big Part In Business Recovery

shopping comparisons. This will naturally increase the necessity for newspaper advertising for it is, after all, the greatest of our shopping places.

"Desires have increased so much faster than buying power that a family cannot afford to buy everything it wants. The housewife controls the family budget and she often makes 'mental purchases' weeks before she can find an actual place for them in the budget. In making such decisions, she shops in the newspapers; carefully comparing possible selections through advertising."

"Newspaper advertising assures the manufacturer that he is building a preferred place in the consumer's mind during this crucial period when she is learning without going near a store to see the actual product."

"The public have focused maximum attention on prices during the past few years. It now realizes that price, wages and business recovery are interlocked. It is sympathetic to higher prices where previously the opposite was true. The consumer hereafter will consider values more than price. This will force a change in advertising treatment. Quality, style and performance will be featured more than price. Copy must be truthful and informative. It should be written as an educational guide, setting out the differences that are important to purchasing selection."

yesterday that he intended to press ahead without any curtailment of the vast campaign to put men to work on public projects.

Henry Matson Waite, former city manager of Dayton, Ohio, was reported yesterday as in line to be second in command under Ickes. Donald Sawyer, the temporary administrator, will be placed in charge of long-time planning.

A decision on the first batch of construction projects is expected to be made Tuesday when the cabinet board meets to consider a tentative list which has been prepared.

Meanwhile, the Navy Department estimated that 18,400 men would be put directly to work in shipyards, and many more indirectly in benefited industries, under an announced $238,000,000 ship program.

In a report yesterday to the public works administration which supplied the money for the $238,000,000 man-weeks of work will be created.

Considerable interest attached to the week-end conference of the President and Attorney General Cummings. There are many reports that speculative production is on without increased employment, and the outlook is frankly disturbing to the administration.

One official saw the seeds of a possible new collapse being sown by shortsighted industrial policy.

In food lines, such as bread, where producers have announced price raises there is every prospect of stern government action using the anti-trust laws. Where the statutes do not apply, the President has power to order industries to accept codes of their own making, but the belief is general that he will be slow to take coercive steps.

Citrus Industry Of Florida Is Called Political Football

LAKELAND, July 10.—Expressing the conviction that the citrus industry of Florida has become a football of politics, directors of the Florida Grapefruit Growers Protective Association, meeting here Saturday, outlined plans to place before the people of the state the seriousness of the situation confronting his greatest industry.

I was impossible to go before the Legislature bills designed to aid the citrus business and the House never was allowed to say what it wanted to say about any measures proposed to aid the industry, directors declared.

Leaders in the exchange and clearing house, as well as other prominent independent growers, favored the proposed program, but it was swamped in committee, the directors said.

Among directors of the association attending the meeting were: A. M. Tilden, Winter Haven; A. E. Fowler, Harry Askew and A. F. Pickard, Lakeland; L. P. Kirkland, Auburndale; J. W. Keen, Frostproof; E. G. Todd, Ayon Park. The board also includes John S. Taylor, president of the Florida Citrus Exchange, John A. Snively, former president, and others prominent in the industry.

and a chief campaign speaker of 1932, is chairman.

The associates have been compiling the record of the Roosevelt Administration and shaping the issues for the coming campaigns. Twice a month the executive committee of this group, composed of Mills, Walter E. Brown, postmaster general in the last administration, Walter E. Hope, William R. Castle, Jr., and John Richardson, meet either here or in New York.

The associates say their present purpose is to keep the party alive and to present a national viewpoint for local leaders. They intend to take part in the 1934 congressional race.

Representative Snell, of New York, the minority leader of the House, already has stepped to the firing line for the Republicans. He has had an exchange with Postmaster General Farley, chairman of the Democratic national committee, as well as House and Senate Democratic leaders, and friends predicted there would be others before the summer ends.

Observers here look for considerable Republican activity to come into the open next January when Congress meets, with the party then offering more opposition to Democratic proposals.

Little is being said about the Republican candidate for president in 1936. The names of Herbert Hoover, Mills, Senator Reed, of Pennsylvania, Representative Washburn, of New York, and Snell are brought into the discussion.

Hitler Says He's Amazed At All His Efforts Have Done

DORTMUND, Germany, July 10.—(AP)—Adolf Hitler, reviewing the past five months' achievements since his elevation to the chancellorship, admitted yesterday he had not believed it possible such tremendous changes could be wrought in such a short time.

The next task, he announced in a speech in the west German city, is the training of citizens for the state. The chancellor asserted his whole endeavor would be to fight unemployment which since his advent to power, already has been reduced by two million persons.

"If we make a false step, we will start over again the next day," he said. "We will restore the people's consumption capacity, thereby imbuing them with fresh courage to face life."

Referring to the new concordat between the reich and the holy see signed Saturday in Rome, the chancellor said: "We are happy that the new concordat bars priests forever from entering politics."

In return for the pledge that the German Catholic Church would abandon political activity, the chancellor ordered release of Catholic priests and leaders under arrest for political reasons.

Hitler said the political party system in Germany never would be resurrected and that the Nazi regime would endure forever.

A quarter of a million persons heard the speech and cheered the government chief tumultuously; about 70,000 Nazi storm troops were in the audience.

But the discussions thus far have little more than touched the surface.

"I PICKED PLYMOUTH BECAUSE IT'S A Sweet-Running Car!"

A CERTIFIED INTERVIEW WITH MR. GEORGE R. STEVENS, 1006 SPRING STREET, ELGIN, ILL.

"It's a piece of real Precision Engineering" ... says this Watchmaker

PEOPLE like Mr. Stevens understand why Plymouth carries "details" so far. Four rings per piston instead of three. Four crankshaft bearings. Full pressure lubrication—not hit-or-miss splash.

These things are good engineering. Of course they're details—when you compare them in importance with Floating Power engine mountings—hydraulic brakes—safety-steeel bodies.

But details count—and we'd like you to see how much. "Look at all three"... and see for yourself why Plymouth is growing so fast.
