County OKs Three-Fifths Vote For Land-Use Changes

A property owner wishing to have Seminole County's comprehensive land-use plan changed for his or her tract now needs to persuade only three of the five county commissioners to vote in favor of the proposal.

Prior to Tuesday night's County Commission meeting, a "specific amendment" to the county's land-use plan required four commissioners to vote yes. The proposal to change that rule required only a three-fifths approval, but the motion passed 4-1.

Commissioners Robert Sturm, Barbara Christensen, Robert G. "Bud" Feather and Sandra Glenn voted yes. Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff was the lone opponent.

The four county policymakers favoring the three-fifths proposal said a four-fifths requirement constitutes "minority rule." If only two of the five commissioners voted to deny a land-use-change proposal, the request would be killed, they noted.

Kirchhoff favored the four-fifths requirement as a "safety measure" for property owners. He said the issue was not one of minority rule but to make it easier for developers to gain an amendment to the land-use plan.

A specific amendment to the comprehensive land-use plan involves a piece of property less than one-fifth the entire land mass of the county.

A piece of property which is one-fifth the total land mass is approximately 8,400 acres, or nearly 16 square miles, in size, said Loulae Elliott, who spoke against the three-fifths proposal on behalf of the Palm Springs Homeowners Association.

"Altamonte Mall is only 85 acres," Elliott said, "and you can see the problems it has caused."

Richard D. Allison, executive director of the Home Builders Association of Mid-Florida, spoke in favor of the three-fifths proposal. With the exception of emergency items coming before the board, which require four-fifths approval, all other items receive a three-fifths vote, he said.

"Our whole system of government is based on the democratic theory of majority rule," Allison said.

Prior to Allison's comments, Sturm read a telegram from the county Board of Realtors saying it had voted unanimously in favor of the three-fifths proposal.

Margaret Cammack, a Geneva resident, also advocated the three-fifths proposal. "I am not concerned with the selfish and narrow idea of protecting your home value or my home value," she said. "I am talking about a principle that not a person in this room would condone (minority rule)."

Faust Capobianco, an Oviedo resident, said most of the people speaking in favor of the three-fifths proposal were either real-estate brokers or representatives of the building industry.

"That's kind of like the fox telling me how many locks to put on the henhouse," he said. "Three-fifths is a majority, but four-fifths is a clear-cut majority."

A crowd of over 130 people jammed the commission chambers, filling every seat and lining the walls on three sides. When Sturm asked the people to raise their hands if they favored the three-fifths proposal, many did. Noticeably more hands were raised, however, when those opposing the change were called.

Only one county in Florida now requires a four-fifths vote to amend its comprehensive land use plan. Hillsborough County, which includes Tampa, is the last part of Florida which needs more than three votes to change a land-use designation.

Before a vote was taken on the issue, each commissioner made a contribution to the discussion after Feather's motion to approve the three-fifths proposal.

"Since I have been on the board, there has never been a case where a specific amendment has failed by 3-2 vote," Mrs. Christensen said.

"The four-fifths vote was enacted by a democracy," Kirchhoff said. "The reason it was adopted involved an increase in (growth) impact in the different areas of the county."

Kirchhoff's motion to continue the four-fifths vote requirement for another year, with a review at that time, died for lack of a second. — LEE DANCY

For Sewer Permits

County Halts Hookup Fees

By LEE DANCY
Herald Staff Writer

A complete lack of readily available sewer hookups and the prospect of a building construction halt in Seminole County is currently looming over the County Commission.

In view of these bleak prospects, the commission unanimously decided Tuesday evening to impose a moratorium on the payment of sewage hookup fees for 45 days. The requirement for an "up front" payment of $525 for each sewer permit granted was adopted by the commission during its Oct. 6 meeting. The deadline for payment was today.

During their workshop meeting Tuesday afternoon, commissioners listened to appeals from members of the Seminole County Home Builders Association. The builders wanted an extension of the original deadline set by the board for those holding sewer permits to either pay the new fee or forfeit the permits.

A proposal for requesting the state Department of Environmental Regulation (DER) to give advance permits for the new Iron Bridge Regional Sewage Treatment Plant to be issued was made by Howard Lefkowitz of Florida Residential Communities. The plant is scheduled for completion in 1982.

"If we can get the DER to permit into the Iron Bridge capacity (allocated to Seminole County) we can allow developers to come in and get new permits," Lefkowitz said.

Seminole County's Consumers' Utilities sewage treatment plant, off Red Bug Lake Road, has only enough capacity left for 834 more hookups. Those permits already have been granted to builders, with approximately 100 paid for, said Environmental Services Manager Ken Hooper.

After construction using those 834 permits is complete, no other building can occur in Seminole County until the Iron Bridge Plant opens in approximately 18 months. The only exception to this would be for allowance of septic tanks to be used in place of on-line sewage treatment, Lefkowitz said.

He said his colleague "would have very difficult problems saying we are going to give back our present (sewer) allocations."

Commissioner Barbara Christensen said the whole purpose of the payment deadline was to free up the remaining capacity available at the plant.

"The developers are not going to inevitably return that capacity," Lefkowitz said.

Even if the DER does grant advance permitting based on the Iron Bridge plant's capacity when it is completed, no builder will be granted more than 52 permits, according to the commission's new prepayment policy.

Hooper said the process for the commission to retrieve already allocated sewer permits is an involved one, if the board chooses to do it.

The commission must write to the DER and say it has withdrawn a builder's sewer permits. The builder then is allowed an appeal, and then the state agency will make its ruling on whether the permit can actually be withdrawn or not, Hooper said.

Blackout Puts Altamonte Mall In The Dark

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

Where were you when the lights went out?

If you were in the Altamonte Mall, on State Road 436, Altamonte Springs, the answer would be—in the dark.

The 11:30 a.m. power outage Tuesday left 32 stores in the shopping complex, more than 1,000 homes in the immediate mall area and traffic lights along SR 436 near the mall as far as Westmonte Avenue without power for about an hour.

According to Tracy Smith, Florida Power Corp. spokesman, the blackout was caused when an insulator in a pole carrying a main power feed line broke and caused a short circuit when it touched another power line.

Power was restored to homes and traffic lights by 12:28 p.m., Smith said. However, he added, one section of the mall was still dark until about 1:15, because of another circuit breakdown.

"When we switched on the power, it all came on except in one area, and we just went down and manually switched the breaker on," Smith said. "In the simplest of terms, that one section just didn't come on when we switched it on, and we had to do it as you would switch on a circuit breaker in your home."

Smith said occasional power shortages can be expected because of "accidents, squirrels running into transformers, tree limbs falling on lines and what not, but 99.9 percent of the time power is there and on."

Pertz said the main aisles in the mall, one of the largest malls in Florida, were still lit, but some of the individual stores did not have light.

"Our emergency backup lights are battery-operated and were working," he said. "Some of the individual stores may have been experiencing problems with their emergency backup lighting systems, but it is their responsibility to have light."

The power outage began in Burdines department store and spread to Robinson's, encompassing all stores in between.

Southeast's First Heart Transplant

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — A 12-year-old boy was listed in satisfactory condition today after undergoing the first heart transplant operation ever performed in the Southeast.

Surgeons at the University of Alabama Medical Center performed the 3½ hour operation on the boy Tuesday evening.

Hospital officials refused to identify the patient, honoring a wish for privacy. But independent sources identified him as Eric Boyd, 12, of Birmingham.

Hospital spokesman John Wright said the patient was in satisfactory condition following a successful 3½ hour operation. He also refused to identify the donor or the surgeons who performed the operation.

Legislative Package Plan Going To Seminole's Delegation Today

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

A six-point legislative package to benefit the city of Sanford and its residents in particular, and all Florida municipalities in general, will be presented to the Seminole legislative delegation at its 3 p.m. public hearing today by Sanford City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles.

The hearing will be held at the City Commission chambers at City Hall on Park Avenue.

The six points include: the need for additional revenues, aside from property taxes for cities; single-member legislative districts to better represent the public; giving cities the option of withdrawing from the Florida State Retirement System; a "fair annexation" policy; solutions to enforcement of the hazardous-waste law; and relief from state-mandated programs unless funding is also provided.

"We ask the Legislature not to increase the costs of local government, but, instead, to seek ways to maintain revenue levels for local government services," Knowles said today.

"Legislators must confront the need for local revenue to provide local services," he said, adding that a 1-cent statewide sales tax with the revenue returned to city and county governments... is the fair and equitable means to maintain local government levels of service. This can and will provide relief of property taxes," he said.

But, Knowles said, redistricting will be the all-consuming problem of the coming session of the Legislature. "It is sincerely hoped that our local delegation will support single districts for both House and Senate seats," he said.

He will urge the local delegation to "support and fight for Seminole County single districts for both House and Senate seats." While Seminole is represented in the Florida House by two resident legislators, elected in separate geographic areas of the county, it is also represented in the Florida Senate by John Vogt, D-Cocoa Beach, and Clark Maxwell, R-Melbourne, both from Brevard County.

Speaking of the Florida State Retirement System (FRS), Knowles said the legislators could relieve Florida taxpayers of some cost by supporting legislation giving municipalities the option of getting out of the system. He said, "The FRS is too expensive for municipal taxpayers to support."

"Since 1972 the local costs have grown from 4 percent of salary to 10.93 percent. But when it is known the state keeps all the premiums paid when all employees leave city service without vesting, the local governments then are paying for four premiums with only one receiving the benefits. This 4-to-1 ratio means a cost of 43.72 percent of salary for the one employee to receive retirement benefits. This is an expensive retirement system."

"A better, and less costly, system can be obtained for the municipal employees outside the FRS," he said.

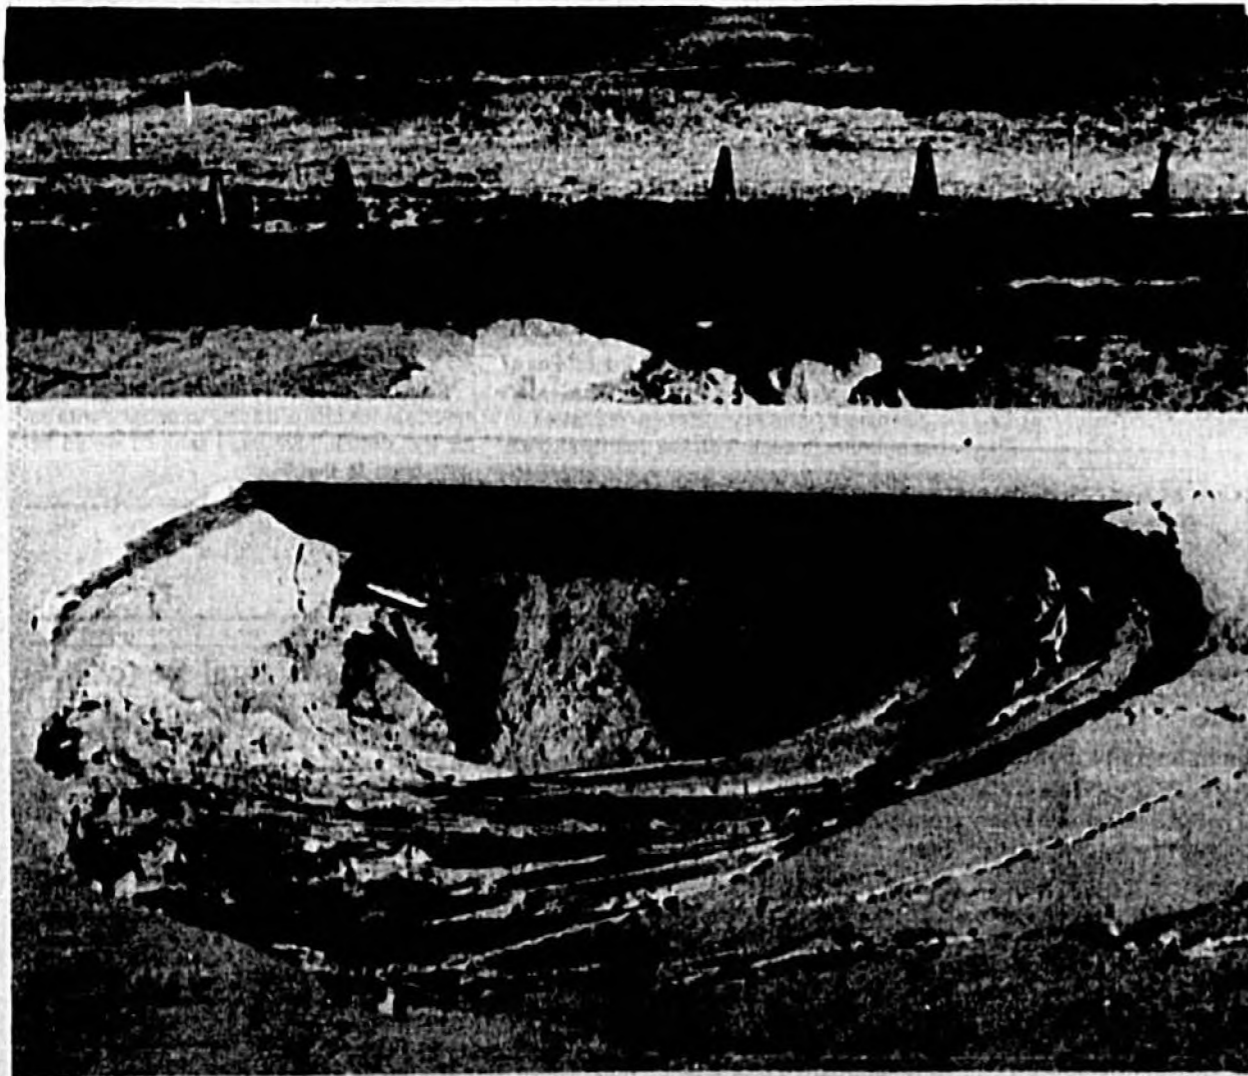

Knowles said annexation to municipalities in Florida has long been a source of discussion and a political tug-of-war. He added, however, that with the new homestead exemptions it is not financially feasible to annex a home unless it is valued at $48,000 so income from the property will pay costs of services. "But who would service the less fortunate and those who need? Another solution would be to annex or allow development of only apartments, commercial or industrial property, since these do not enjoy the homestead exemption," he said.

"This would result in a density of population, congestion, traffic generation etc. that would not provide a balanced growth, nor a desirable growth to many," Knowles said.

"The Legislature has avoided a fair annexation policy in the past," he added.

On hazardous-waste-disposal problems, Knowles said the state is not prepared now to cope with this problem and local governments are not truly aware of the magnitude of the hazards posed by chemical wastes.

He said the state Department of Environmental Regulation (DER) has a hazardous-waste law, but "does not have the fortitude to utilize it."

CAVE-IN ON CAMPUS

Seminole Community College officials are keeping a wary eye on this sinkhole that developed on campus Sunday night, caving in a portion of the new parking lot next to the tennis courts. The hole is 15 feet across and five feet deep, and will be filled in when it is certain it has stabilized, a college spokesman said.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Rose Kennedy OK After Suffering Chest Pains

WEST PALM BEACH (UPI) — Rose Kennedy, the 91-year-old matriarch of the Kennedy clan, was in stable condition in a coronary care unit today, recovering from chest pains and feeling "full of spirit and life."

Mrs. Kennedy was admitted to St. Mary's Hospital Tuesday afternoon after a night of chest pains. A devout Roman Catholic, she had attended morning mass even before going to her private physician.

Milder Cuts in Education

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Newly revised figures indicate that education in Florida will have to absorb only $13 million of a $66 million state revenue cutback instead of the $22 million originally announced.

The new figures, announced Tuesday, are subject to approval by both Gov. Bob Graham, who does not return from Japan until Thursday night, and the Cabinet, which does not act until Dec. 8.

'Sting' Operation Nets 14

OCALA (UPI) — An undercover storefront "sting" operation in which law-enforcement officers secretly recorded business transactions has resulted in the arrest of 14 people, police said Tuesday.

Ocala police are looking for seven others, for whom warrants have also been issued. The 14 have been charged with dealing in stolen property.

Welfare Cuts Put On Hold

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — A Leon County circuit judge plans to issue a temporary injunction preventing the state from cutting off public assistance to 1,000 families until Florida's method of implementing President Reagan's welfare reforms is shown to be legal.

Judge J. Lewis Hall Jr. said he expected to sign the injunction this week, possibly today. His action is in response to a class-action suit filed by Jacksonville Legal Aid lawyers on behalf of families declared no longer eligible for Aid to Families with Dependent Children and Medicaid effective this month.

Is Miami For You?

MIAMI (UPI) — In an unabashed takeoff of the "I Love New York" public-relations campaign, beleaguered Miami officials have launched a similar effort to combat the city's negative image and convince residents and tourists that "Miami is for Me."

The goal, civic and business leaders say, is to lift the spirits of south Floridians and offset a seemingly endless barrage of unwanted national publicity that has depicted the city as America's homicide and drug capital.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: Winter storms dumped a foot of snow in the northern Rockies and slapped the East Coast with ice and snow as far south as the Carolinas. The bad weather was responsible for at least six deaths, including two people killed in a helicopter crash on a snowy West Virginia mountain. The snow was expected to spread today and linger through Thanksgiving Day in the Dakotas, Iowa, Wisconsin, Nebraska and Minnesota, which is recovering from a paralyzing storm earlier this week. An early season storm that left 10 inches of snow in some parts of Virginia forced some schools to close and caused dozens of minor traffic accidents. Earlier Tuesday, up to 7 inches of snow fell on the North Carolina mountains and a 3-inch covering of ice on western Maryland roads led to at least 70 accidents. Heavy thunderstorms that rumbled across South Carolina Monday night were blamed for several fires and power outages and at least one traffic death. Two people — including a 16-year-old girl who perished of exposure after running away from home — died in Wisconsin.

New Trial Bid For Edwards Denied

Columbus "Sonny Boy" Edwards, the 33-year-old Altamonte Springs man convicted three months ago of murder in the Feb. 7 shooting death of a convenience store clerk, has been denied a new trial.

Circuit Court Judge S. Joseph Davis Jr. denied the defense motion Monday, but said he would consider releasing Edwards from jail on bond so he could spend Thanksgiving with his family.

Edwards, of 868 Darwin Court, is to be sentenced Dec. 3 for the murder of 24-year-old James C. Bullock at the Oak Ridge Motel, U.S. Highway 17-92 in Fern Park. He could receive life imprisonment.

In arguing his case before Davis, defense attorney Irving Gusow said the verdict of premeditated first-degree murder was not supported by the evidence presented in the case. Gusow claimed there was no evidence that the killing was planned in advance. He also noted that Edwards and two accomplices — Homer Lee Poole, 17, and his brother Jackie, 18 — testified that they had been smoking marijuana and drinking on the night of the murder.

The Pooles pleaded guilty July 13 to second-degree murder charges in connection with the slaying and were each given 30-year prison sentences.

Davis rejected Gusow's claims, noting that testimony showed that Edwards and the Pooles had beaten Bullock repeatedly on the night in question. He also said that "an intent to kill need not be conceived at any particular time" prior to the homicide.

PREACHER SENTENCED

A 61-year-old evangelist has been sentenced to 90 days in jail and placed on five years probation for lying around nude in the back yard of his Altamonte Springs home.

The Rev. Lester Rawlins of 807 Preble Ave. was also ordered to pay $10 a month to defray the cost of his probation supervision, and to continue undergoing psychiatric counseling.

Rawlins, who is on the staff of the Ambassadors For Christ church in Orlando, was arrested June 25 after several neighborhood children saw him sitting nude in a lawn chair in his back yard and committing a lewd act.

He was convicted on Oct. 6 of committing a lewd and lascivious act in the presence of minors. Rawlins remains free on $5,000 bond pending an appeal.

In other court action, six persons were sentenced for crimes to which they earlier had pleaded guilty or been convicted. They are:

— Paul F. Huson, 22, of Apopka, possession of marijuana, one year probation, $250 for the services of his public defender and $150 in court costs. Huson was arrested after a Seminole County sheriff's deputy observed him in his car rolling a marijuana cigarette.

— Daniel A. Marion, 30, of Chuluota, grand theft, three years probation and $350 for his public defender. Marion was ac-

— Richard M. Minor, 21, Lakeland, possession of marijuana, three years probation and $500 in court costs. Minor was seen by police rolling a marijuana cigarette in the parking lot of an Altamonte Springs bar.

— Bruce S. Barber, 26, Winter Park, loitering or prowling, 90 days or $500. Barber was suspected of attempting to burglarize a home on Potociana Road in Winter Park.

— Evans Pringle Jr., 26, Seminole Gardens, Sanford, burglary, five years probation and $300 for his public defender. Pringle was accused of breaking into Kokomo Tools, 918 W. First Street, Sanford, on June 22.

Daniel E. Boyer, 19, of Winter Park, pleaded guilty to auto theft. Sentencing was deferred pending completion of an investigation into Boyer's background. He is accused of stealing a car from the parking lot of the Tenneco station on State Road 438 in Casselberry on March 8.

FLIM-FLAM ARTIST STRIKES

A retired Sanford man lost his wallet and $40 to a flim-flam artist Saturday, police report.

Oscar Coleman, 78, of 1513 Sheppard Ave., told police he was approached at about 2 p.m. by a man asking for help in the Winn-Dixie parking lot, 419 E. 1st St. Coleman said the man spoke broken English but had a piece of paper with an address on it. The man said he was carrying $600 from an insurance claim, Coleman said, and needed someone to hold it for him for safekeeping so he could go to a party on the west side of town without fear of being robbed.

The man said he would give Coleman the money if Coleman would give his wallet for security. When he came back he said he would give Coleman $40 for keeping the money safe. Coleman agreed and the exchange was made — the wallet for what was ostensibly $600 tied up in a red scarf. A time and place to meet was set.

Coleman showed up at the appointed time and place. And waited. And waited.

Police said Coleman finally checked to see if the $600 was really in the scarf. It wasn't.

At 7 p.m. he called police. Coleman described the flim-flam artist as a man about 4-feet tall, 180 pounds, wearing a blue jacket, and light blue pants.

Heart Attack FDA Approves New Life-Saving Drug Timolol

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government today announced approval of the first drug specifically aimed at preventing deaths or second heart attacks among people who have survived initial heart attacks. It may save thousands of lives a year.

Dr. Arthur Hayes Jr., head of the Food and Drug Administration, said the drug timolol and others like it open a "new era in the treatment of heart disease, the nation's No. 1 killer."

Timolol, taken in tablet form twice a day, is one of a relatively new class of drugs known as "beta blockers" which calm the central nervous system and thus decrease the heart rate and the vigor of heart contractions. Hayes said they apparently ease the work load of damaged heart muscles.

People who have survived one heart attack are at high risk of sudden death or having another attack in the first weeks and months after the initial attack. Hayes said a major Norwegian study showed that timolol reduced the risk of death by about one-third. About 350,000 Americans survive heart attacks annually, but studies show about 50,000 of them will die within two years.

"So if we can cut the death rate by about one-third, that will mean about 17,000 of those people will live longer. Even if we do half as well in practice as was done in the controlled Norwegian study, we may have saved 7,000 to 10,000 Americans a year."

Beta blockers have been used for years to treat high blood pressure, chest pain caused by artery narrowing and heart beat irregularities, but timolol is the first labeled for use specifically to prevent further heart attacks.

"While these drugs have had wide use in the past decade and a half, their new use holds out great hope for people with heart disease," Hayes said in a statement announcing timolol's clearance for general use.

Timolol, used as an eye drop since 1978 to treat glaucoma, is produced for heart disease by Merck & Co. under the trade name of Blacodren.

Timolol's approval follows by less than a month a decision by the National Heart, Lung and Blood Institute to cut short a three-year study of another beta blocker, propranolol, after it was obvious the drug was preventing second heart attacks.

Dr. William Friedewald, associate director of the institute's heart and vascular diseases division, said propranolol and timolol are "extremely important" in heart disease treatment because doctors previously had no effective way of treating people who survived a heart attack.

A recent Swedish study found similar effects for still another beta blocker, metoprolol.

Still unanswered, however, is whether timolol and similar drugs would prevent initial heart attacks among people with serious heart disease, Friedewald said.

Hayes said the drugs cannot be used by everyone, including people with bronchial asthma. The FDA said timolol appears to have few side effects for most people but can slow

JAILED OVER THE WEEKEND

Douglas D. Schroeder, 31, of 91 North Lake Triplet Drive, Casselberry, was being held at the Seminole County Jail this morning in lieu of $600 bond charged with driving while intoxicated, unlawful blood alcohol level and careless driving. Schroeder was involved in an accident Saturday morning two miles west of Lake Mary Blvd. on Interstate-4, the Florida Highway Patrol reports.

Larry D. Brookshire, 22, of Snowhill Road, Chuluota, was released on $500 bond after being charged with grand theft and night prowling.

Witnesses called police Saturday after they allegedly observed Brookshire take a marine battery from a pickup truck and a tackle box, and rod and reels from another at the Hitching Post Bar on Highway 419 in Chuluota.

James J. Covington, 28, of Midway near Sanford, was arrested at 9 p.m. Friday because he turned himself in.

Covington had been wanted in Bartow on charges of petty theft and criminal mischief. He is being held in lieu of $1,000 bond.

Bruce Davis, no age or address, was being held in lieu of $5,000 bond after his arrest Friday morning at Country Club Drive and Hays in Sanford. Davis is accused of stealing a red 18-speed bicycle valued at $130 from the porch of 117 Country Club Circle, police report. He fled into the wooded area by Goldboro Elementary School but was quickly apprehended.

Theodis Williams, 41, of 2230 Church St., Sanford, was being held in lieu of $5,000 bond for aggravated assault. He was arrested at 8 p.m. Saturday at his home after witnesses testified he threatened a woman with a knife, police report.

Alphonso L. Fields, 22, of 157 Bethune Circle, Sanford, was arrested at 3 p.m. Sunday on an outstanding warrant for armed robbery. No bond was immediately set.

Fields is accused of robbing a Seminole County woman on Oct. 30.

GULF STATION HIT

The Gulf gas station at Interstate 4 and State Road 46 was burglarized sometime between 8 p.m. Sunday and 8:15 a.m. Monday.

Station owner Lay Beron of Deltona said the thieves turned off the station light from the outside, pried open the front door and removed cash from a desk drawer. They also took keys to the snack, cigarette and coke machines, using them to remove the change they contained. A map machine also was broken into.

According to police reports, a total of $650 was taken.

Thanksgiving Motorists Beware

There may be 40 fewer people who will return home alive after the 162-hour Thanksgiving holiday period which starts November 25, according to the Florida Highway Patrol. Last year there were 39 fatalities.

"The countdown begins at 6:00 p.m. Wednesday and ends at midnight Sunday.

The Thanksgiving holiday period produces some of the heaviest traffic of the year, especially during the first and last day of the four-day period, FHP director Col. Edrige Beach said.

"Some proven ways to reduce the chance of becoming a statistic are: obey the 55-mile-per-hour speed limit, don't drink, follow at a safe distance, and use your safety belt," Beach said.

Casselberry Wants Station, County Not Ready To Let Go

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

In an effort to gain "some type of control" over the county's disposition of Casselberry's vacated motor vehicle inspection station, Casselberry Mayor Owen Sheppard stated his case to the County Commission during a work session Tuesday.

The station is located on Lake Triplet Drive, adjacent to Casselberry's City Hall.

"I made my proposals to them and asked that they answer me in writing," Sheppard said. "I offered to discuss leasing or buying the structure outright."

The County Commission is expected to respond to Sheppard's proposals by Tuesday, Dec. 8, Commission Chairman Robert Sturm said.

Sheppard's primary concern expressed to commissioners dealt with the county's option to lease the structure to a commercial enterprise.

Sheppard said not only would the aesthetic appeal of Casselberry's new $1 million municipal complex, which is being built in the area, be spoiled but "there is a safety hazard to consider with our fire department located there." He said fire truck trucks have a minimal turning radius and could be hampered by traffic generated by any business located in the former inspection station building.

Sturm said the Commission has several options. He said they could tell Casselberry to "stick it in their ear, consider a lease or offer it for sale." He added that a trade-off could also be considered.

"Sturm said the commission would possibly entertain the idea of trading something with us for the station," Sheppard said. "I would be very open to that."

PEOPLE

IN BRIEF

Will Success Spoil Rising Starlet Manoff?

Dinah Manoff, who at 22 parlayed a cameo role in the film "Ordinary People" into a starring part in "I Ought To Be In Pictures," thinks too much success can spoil an actor's career.

As she puts it, "I'm very happy right now and I bank on having a very long career but I don't want to have a problem like John Travolta has. He's a friend of mine and I like him very much but his problem is that he's not allowed to slip, because he's so big, or people will kill him. It's not fair. Who needs to be that popular where you're always on thin ice and where everyone is watching and waiting for you to fall?"

Polite Musical Thief

Composer-conductor Leonard Bernstein said adieu to Paris Monday and took off for New York with two loaves of French bread tucked under his arm — and a music score that had been stolen by an admiring fan. Bernstein's annotated score of a symphony by Belgian composer Cesar Franck disappeared immediately after he took his final curtain call Sunday with the National French Orchestra.

After Bernstein said he desperately needed the music to conduct in the United States on Friday, radio and television broadcasts urged the thief to return the score.

The admirer, who said he never intended to hurt his idol, contacted Radio France and agreed to hand over the music before Bernstein's plane departed from Charles de Gaulle airport.

The Brooke And Teri Show

The relationship between Brooke Shields and her mother, Teri, is close to the point of obsession, Mrs. Shields admits.

"It's abnormal," Mrs. Shields agrees in the current issue of Life magazine. It also may not last. As of now, Mrs. Shields runs her daughter's life and career, from imposing a 10 p.m. curfew to picking her movie roles and commercial endorsements.

Once when Brooke "abused" her telephone privileges, the magazine relates, "Teri ripped her phone off the wall and stuffed it down the apartment incinerator." But Brooke is growing up — she hopes to attend Princeton University — and Teri has confided to friends that Brooke is becoming "difficult," which may be another way of saying independent.

Stars On Macy's Parade

From the innocence of "Annie" to the dazzle of Ann Miller, there will be a gaggle of stars taking part in Macy's televised Thanksgiving Day parade in New York.

Both Andrea McArdle, the original Broadway "Annie," and Aileen Quinn, who plays the role in the movie version, will be on hand. So will Nell Carter, who won a Tony for "Ain't Misbehavin'" and appears in the television sitcom, "Gimme a Break."

There'll be Dan Dailey, 1981 All-Around Rodeo Champion and Saddle Bronc Riding champ; Mercer Ellington; Erik Estrada; choreographer, dancer and director Geoffrey Holder; Michael Warren and Charles Haid of "Hill Street Blues"; Jim Nabors; the Rockettes; Donny Osmond; Phyllis Diller; Ann Miller, and New York Yankee Dave Winfield.

SHA Job Draws 20 Applicants

The list of applicants for the position of executive director of the Sanford Housing Authority (SHA) has been narrowed to 20, said Joseph Caldwell, SHA chairman, today.

The commission selected 20 applicants from more than 130 applications submitted. Five of the 20 have received a nod of approval from more than one commissioner, Caldwell said.

The five top candidates include: Thomas Wilson III, eight-year veteran executive director before he was fired a year ago by a former housing authority; Linda Williams, currently serving as interim director; Charles L. Francoeur of Pensacola; James T. Hurd of Orlando; and Edward J. Sullivan of Sanford.

Other applicants on the pared-down list are: Joseph Barnes, Orlando; Willie King Sr., James State, Hortense Evans, Samuel Wright Jr. and M.L. Raborn, all of Sanford; Paul Bennett, Tampa; John V. Broadous, Eustis; Rita J. Huff, Maitland; Maryanne H. Humm, Harrisburg, Pa.; Kathleen Matle, Lansing, Mich.; John Tytia, Stoneham, Mass.; Floyd B. Simmons, Cleveland; and Marvin Jones, Winter Springs.

A special meeting of the Housing Authority is to be called next week to narrow the list further, Caldwell said.

A Disarming Arms Proposal

President Reagan, responding as a statesman to the rising cry for a nuclear free Europe, has made an historic offer to the Soviet Union for mutual reductions of nuclear arms.

The unprecedented proposal to halt all deployment of Pershing and cruise missiles in NATO if the Soviets dismantle their atomic warheads aimed at Western Europe, can be compared to Anwar Sadat's offer to fly to Jerusalem to seek peace with Israel. Reagan's address was broadcast worldwide on the eve of Soviet leader Brezhnev's visit to West Germany. The Soviets are attempting to woo Western Europe away from NATO by offering to not attack with nuclear weapons any nation that forbids atomic weapons deployment on its soil.

Reagan's challenge for complete nuclear disarmament of Europe, and for significant strategic arms limitations of the superpowers, goes far beyond any Soviet proposal. It puts the responsibility squarely on the Soviets to back up their verbal support for disarmament with real reductions in nuclear arsenals of both world powers.

Some cynics view the Reagan gesture as so sweeping that it is not serious. We believe that only comprehensive, mutual reductions of all types of nuclear weapons can truly keep the peace and reduce the threat of holocaust. Reagan's proposal is so serious that no world leader can afford to let this historic initiative pass. Such global opportunities for peace may come only once in a generation.

European allies who have been disturbed by some of the president's offhand remarks about limited nuclear war in Europe, should take heart from the president's thoughtful statement of policy. Reagan has dramatically shown his sensitivity to Europeans' fear of nuclear vulnerability. The president has seen beyond partisan and national interest to a policy that would benefit the whole world.

If the Kremlin takes the president up on his offer, Congress must join in a bipartisan movement to ratify arms limitations that the president wins at the negotiating table. America cannot afford to repeat the mistakes following World War I, when President Wilson negotiated the creation of the League of Nations, and the U.S. Congress refused to allow America to join.

The president has stated repeatedly that the purpose of America's arms buildup is to pressure the Soviets to the negotiating table to accept mutual arms reductions. Reagan has always believed in negotiating from a position of strength, and his strong military policy has given him the domestic strength to make a historic gesture for peace—a gesture greater than any recent predecessor dared make.

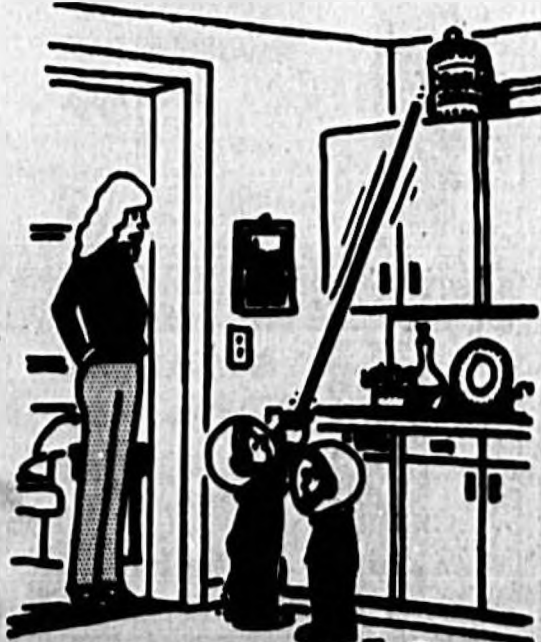

The world is at a crossroads. While many underdeveloped nations are struggling to prove their muscle by joining the nuclear club, the developed nations of Europe and Japan are seeking to become a nuclear-free zone. The leaders of both superpowers, deadlocked in competition over economic systems and social values, know that no one can win a nuclear war.

The struggle is for peace. And in this, President Reagan has made America, once again, a leader. People of peace the world around join in prayer that Soviet leader Brezhnev says yes to Reagan's call for bilateral nuclear arms reductions.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Ah -- we're just testing the new arm on our space shuttle."

By TONI YARBOROUGH

While riding by a church the other day, I noticed a sign on the church lawn which borrows the words of an old choir hymn, "Count your blessings, name them one by one."

So, I did.

I am thankful for my family, friends, country, job, church, trusty car, faithful cat, health, sanity, education, the Georgia Bulldogs, experiences, and, in general, my world about me.

But, while I was counting my blessings, I wondered what it would have been like to have sat in on that first Thanksgiving at Plymouth Rock where humble, grateful pilgrims and Indians sat, gave thanks, ate and communed with one another. What was it like?

Here was a group of people sitting together, for the first time perhaps in their lives, that were "free"—free to worship, speak and live as they chose—not as the Royal Crown chose. These were people who traveled many miles by boat, across the tempestuous sea—many dying along the way—to find America, the land of opportunity and freedom. But, also the land of death for still many others who made the journey but could not survive the hardships of an untamed land.

Yet, I would suppose, as they sat down at the table with their new-found friends, the American Indian, they weren't dwelling on the hard times, the skin color of the person next to them or who was running for political office that day.

I doubt, seriously, that they were thinking about appointments for the coming week or what dress they would wear to the next big gathering of the townspeople.

No, it is my belief, that these people turned their thoughts to the "here and now," the present—a culmination of the past which allowed them to be where they were at that precise date and time.

For some reason, I feel these people, our forefathers, were thinking only of, "How blessed am I to have been allowed to see freedom. How blessed am I that there is food on the table and a fire in the fireplace. How blessed am I to just be alive and given the opportunity to make a difference in the world where I live."

When the space shuttle Columbia touched down recently on that rough, dry western desert surface, I breathed a sigh of relief and gratitude that they were home safe and sound. I also felt a swell of pride in being a part of a country that can do such great things.

When the news came that President Reagan had been shot, but the days that followed proved he would be okay, I said a short prayer.

Also, when it was announced recently that Jim Brady, former presidential and White House press secretary, was "home for the holidays," three days before his goal of Thanksgiving—after it was thought he would not survive the night after a bullet wound to his head during the assassination attempt on Reagan—I thanked God for a miracle, for that's what the doctor's called it.

But, come Thanksgiving Day, I like others in Sanford, Altamonte Springs, Casselberry and Orlando have said to me this week, I will sit at my table, with family and friends, and remember the past as far back as the Pilgrim and Indian "first dinner," but I will also look forward to what lies ahead.

We have a proud heritage and I'm thankful we can still exercise more freedom than any other society on earth. And, I'm thankful that there are still those committed to continuing what our forefathers began—"counting our blessings."

Less Than Perfect Vision

As Secretary of State Alexander Haig sees it, the situation has reached a stalemate that may eventually mean defeat unless the United States acts decisively and soon.

As President Ronald Reagan sees it, there is no immediate cause for alarm or for contemplating American military intervention.

As Lt. Gen. Wallace H. Nutting sees it, there is plenty of cause. The United States must move forcefully "to bring these bandits under control," even if in the end that should require military force.

All three views are of the same situation—El Salvador. They were expressed within recent days and would appear to raise some difference of opinion among those in charge as to American policy.

Taking them from the bottom, Nutting, Panama-based commander of U.S. troops in Central and South America, was suggesting that military intervention should be considered "only in extreme crisis." But it is to be considered. For now, he would "rethink" regulations barring U.S. military advisers now in El Salvador from field operations with Salvadoran forces.

The president, speaking on the same day at a press conference, would appear to have coincidentally but effectively blunted the general's bellicosity. The guerrillas fighting the American-backed government had failed "miserably" to win over the Salvadoran population, he asserted. And because they had been unable to win a military victory, they had been forced into hit-and-run attacks damaging to the country's economy.

Haig, as fuller explanation from informed Washington sources later clarified it, was not thinking primarily of a bold stroke in El Salvador itself but of something farther afield. Such as naval blockades of Cuba and/or Nicaragua to interdict the flow of outside arms that he all along has regarded as essential to dealing with the war.

As critics of American policy on El Salvador see it, the alarming thing is not differences among the policy makers but something they share: an inability, or unwillingness, to see the realities of the Salvadoran crisis.

Nutting's "bandits" are in fact guerrilla forces supported by a broad coalition of Salvadorans ranging from diehard Christian Democrats to extreme Marxists, united by opposition to the repressive military regime that runs the country behind a thin civilian facade. The more forcefully the United States intervenes in behalf of that regime, the more polarized Salvadoran politics become and the more dominant leftist extremists in the resistance movement.

The guerrillas may not yet have won over the bulk of the Salvadoran population, but the government through the murderous behavior of its forces is rapidly losing it. Civilian deaths number in the tens of thousands after two years of civil war. No one but the Salvadoran and American governments pretends that the blame lies anywhere but primarily with the Salvadoran armed forces.

The policy makers here in common more than an unrealistic view of the nature of the Salvadoran crisis. They also share fear of a Communist takeover in the country and the unpleasant consequences of that setback for American interests elsewhere in Central America.

Soldier Illiteracy Cure: Wasted Cash

WASHINGTON — Americans depend for the common defense on troops who are often undereducated, unmotivated and incompetent. The Pentagon has tried to cram a little learning into the slow learners in the ranks but has discovered that you can lead a don to the classroom, but you can't make him a cum laude.

In desperation, the brass have revised their training manuals down to junior high-school levels and have even used comic books to simplify instructions. Millions have been spent on elaborate educational programs to raise the literacy levels of our all-volunteer recruits.

The unhappy result has been less to improve the soldier than to waste the taxpayers' money, thus producing two scandals where there had been only one. A Pentagon audit, intended for official eyes only but seen

ROBERT WALTERS

Law Offers No Protection

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Federal inaction, state incompetence and industry intransigence have combined to virtually destroy the effectiveness of the law that supposedly protects rural workers and residents against pesticide poisoning.

After a brief period of modestly aggressive enforcement of the statute, the federal government has delegated over-sight responsibility to state agencies that are almost universally unqualified to perform the task.

At the same time, the companies whose domestic sales of potentially lethal pesticides were valued at approximately $4 billion last year are waging a determined campaign to weaken further the already ineffectual enforcement program.

The Federal Insecticide, Fungicide and Rodenticide Act requires manufacturers to reveal data on any adverse medical or environmental impact of the almost 1.2 billion pounds of chemicals used annually as pesticides.

That information has been withheld from the public, however, under a judicial order sought by the industry during a lengthy court battle in which the producers argued unsuccessfully that disclosure would compromise trade secrets.

Having lost its legal case, the industry is seeking statutory protection from Congress on the grounds that disclosure would place an "unreasonable burden" on the producers.

"Procedures mustnot impose an unreasonable burden on our industry," Dr. Jack D. Early, president of the National Agricultural Chemicals Association, recently told a congressional subcommittee considering revisions of the law.

Enforcement of the law ranges from little to none, according to the findings of more than a dozen investigations conducted by the General Accounting Office during the past eight years.

Prior to 1970, the Agriculture Department was charged with implementing the law, but Congress that year shifted the responsibility to the Environmental Protection Agency because of concern that the need for tough enforcement conflicted with the department's primary mission of promoting agriculture.

In the mid-1970s, however, EPA began delegating that responsibility to the states, and today all of the states except three (Nebraska, Colorado and Wyoming) are principally responsible for implementing the law.

In 41 of those 47 states, enforcement power now is back where it started—with departments of agriculture. Only in Connecticut, Indiana, New Jersey, New York, Kentucky and Rhode Island are environmental protection agencies in charge of compliance.

Some examples of how the current system operates:

In Georgia, inspectors found improper pesticide loading and storage procedures that allowed chemicals to seep into a drainage ditch adjacent to a school and a playground. Their enforcement action consisted of issuance of a warning letter.

Six months later, a follow-up investigation disclosed that the same serious problems still existed. The additional penalty: another warning letter.

After four farm workers were hospitalized because of pesticide misuse on a Texas farm, state officials investigated and confirmed that the workers became ill because they were allowed to enter a field too soon after the chemicals had been applied. The farm operator was required only to pay a $50 penalty and $3.50 in court costs.

California is the only state that requires reporting of pesticide injuries. In one major case involving 118 people who became ill, however, only six cases were reported because no physicians filed reports on the remaining 112.

In Georgia, there was no monitoring of permits issued last year for use of experimental pesticides because state officials did not even know how many requests for special chemical registrations they had approved.

JEFFREY HART

Celts And Saxons

Two historians at the University of Alabama, Forrest McDonald and Grady McWhiney, believe that they have discovered a new key to the American Civil War.

Their theory has been making the rounds of the scholarly conferences for several years, with much discussion pro and con, and it has now gone public by way of a featured article in Newsweek. I find it interesting and highly plausible.

I first heard of it two years ago at a conference in New Orleans at which Forrest McDonald delivered one of the major papers.

He began by reading brief descriptions of two farms in the early 19th century. The houses were both run down and lacked windows. The doors were open and livestock wandered in and out, as did poultry. The soil was rich and vegetables grew in abundance, but there were no fences.

Asking his audience of scholars where they thought these farms were, McDonald answered his own question. The first one was in Ireland. The second one was in the American South.

Culturally speaking, the two circumstances seemed identical.

As everyone knows, the British Isles have been a scene of conflict between Celts and Anglo-Saxons for centuries, with the Celts of Ireland, Scotland, and Wales resisting domination by the Anglo-Saxons of the center. In Shakespeare's Henry IV, the Celts of Wales have to be subdued, since, under Owen Glendower, they have resisted Henry's deposed predecessor Richard II. Elizabeth and Cromwell fought tough campaigns in Ireland and Scotland, and the Highlanders were not finally subdued until the battle of Culloden in 1746.

McDonald argued that this ancient struggle had simply been exported to the United States. He can show that immigration in the 18th and 19th centuries from the British Isles was not homogeneous.

Anglo-Saxons typically landed in Massachusetts Bay and spread out to colonize the Northeast. Irish, Welsh and Scottish settlers tended to arrive in Philadelphia, and then move south and west through the valleys and over into the Carolina Piedmont.

The cultures they brought with them remained distinctive.

The Anglo-Saxons continued to be hard-working, thrifty, eager to get ahead.

The Celts, in contrast, says McDonald, "thought people were crazy to work if they didn't have to." They tended to live off their livestock, which flourished on the rich grazing the lush soil of the South afforded, and such was the fertility of the soil that raising an adequate supply of vegetables took very little labor.

McDonald stresses the importance of livestock and the small farm in the Southern economy. It was more valuable than the cotton crop, and the small farm was much more important in the economy than the big plantation which is so prominent in the accepted image of the South.

The Celts in the American South tended to be lazier than the Northern Anglo-Saxons, and, like their ancestors in Great Britain, they put local interests ahead of national ones. They liked their easy way of life, and had no desire to become achievers and expansionists like their Northern counterparts.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Brezhnev Seeks Reductions In European Nuclear Arms

BONN, West Germany (UPI) — Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev convinced West Germany before his return to Moscow today that he seeks "substantial reductions" in nuclear missiles in Europe at next week's Geneva talks with the United States.

"We never wanted to be stronger than anyone else and we do not have that aim now," Soviet government spokesman Leonid Zamyatin quoted Brezhnev as telling West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt during talks Tuesday.

Showdown Over Peace Plan

FEZ, Morocco (UPI) — The leaders of the Arab world assembled for a showdown today on a Saudi Arabian peace plan that implies recognition of Israel, with Libya leading opposition to the proposal it labeled as "group treason."

Serious splits appeared even before the beginning of the 12th Arab League summit today, dividing foreign ministers who met for three days this week to draw up the agenda.

NATION IN BRIEF

GOP Leaders Working To Avoid Another Shutdown

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congressional Republican leaders, trying to avoid a repeat of this week's budget battle that partially shut down the government, are working with the White House on a new spending bill.

"We need to get a package that will be acceptable to the administration and can get passed through Congress," Senate GOP leader Howard Baker was quoted by an aide as saying Tuesday at a Capitol Hill strategy meeting.

Ma Bell's Hefty Rate Hike Won't Hurt Users Badly

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Southern Bell Telephone Co.'s $140 million rate increase won't be noticed much by the company's average customer.

Families with a single telephone will see a $1.50 increase beginning Dec. 1, under a plan which the Public Service Commission is ready to adopt. Families with two telephones will pay about $3 more.

The situation is different for families owning their own telephones. A family with a single telephone which it owns will pay about an extra 60 cents a month. A family owning two telephones would save 30 cents over the current rate.

The PSC approved a $140 million rate increase for Southern Bell's Florida operations Tuesday, with chairman Joe Cresce saying the agency was forced to act by inflation.

Southern Bell had requested $328 million a year in additional revenues. It could challenge the commission in the Florida Supreme Court, seeking the full amount of its rate hike request or ask the PSC for new hearings on the rate hike request.

Those options also are available to Public Counsel Jack Shreve, who has argued Southern Bell's rates should be cut $45 million, not increased.

While the rate hike is far below the level requested by Southern Bell, "it still hurts," Cresce said.

Holiday Rates

Thanksgiving is one of five selected holidays when special discount rates apply, according to Southern Bell Manager Larry Strickler.

Calls dialed direct without operator assistance between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. are billed at the low evening rate, Strickler said. For instance, on a 15-minute call from Sanford to Miami, customers can save $2.26 with the 35 percent discount.

Sanford To Get $107,000 From Former Landfill Sale

The city of Sanford will receive a check for $107,000 Monday to close out the purchase by Altamonte Springs entrepreneur Tom Rucker of 7.8 acres of city property north of the Evening Herald building, off U.S. Highway 17-92.

The closing will take place in City Attorney Bill Colbert's office in the Flagship Bank Building downtown, City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles reported to the Sanford City Commission Monday night.

Rucker previously paid the city $13,000 for an option on the property and $10,000 to extend the option. The total sale price of the land was $130,000.

The property some years ago was used as a sanitary landfill.

Rucker has said he will build an apartment complex at the site.

Knowles also told the commission the Orlando Yacht Club is sponsoring a "Tangerine Bowl Sailing Regatta" at the Sanford lakefront Dec. 12 and 13. Some 150 boats are to participate in the event.

In other business, the commission, on

Knowles' and City Engineer Mack LaZenby's advice, denied a request from Robert J. Cartwright II, owner of property at 510 S. Park Ave., to vacate a portion of the north-south alley between Fifth and Sixth streets and between Park and Oak avenues.

Cartwright asked that a portion of the alleyway be abandoned by the city because 1.44 feet of the garage built nearly 50 years ago at his home is encroaching in the alley right-of-way.

Knowles and LaZenby said the alley contains an old concrete 18-inch sewer main flowing north, a six-inch cast-iron water main and both electric and telephone lines overhead. Knowles said the city needs the alleyway to repair utility lines if repairs are needed.

Knowles said Cartwright, rather than moving his building back onto his property, could replace the old concrete sewer with cast-iron pipe up to 10 feet beyond each side of the building and encase the water main in concrete.

Holiday Food Prices Down From Last Year

By United Press International

As the result of a plentiful holiday supply of gobblers, Americans are paying up to 20 cents less this year for their Thanksgiving Day turkeys.

Prices vary nationwide and bargains are better in some cities than others, but a spot check found no one selling turkeys for higher prices than last year.

There are reports that turkey buying is down a bit because of the poor economy. But some consumers apparently recognize a bargain when they see it, clutching cheap turkeys.

"What some people are doing is buying two turkeys and then sticking one in the freezer for another occasion," said Rex Brough, meat department manager at O'Malley's Food Market in Indianapolis.

Mike Hedges, manager of a Kroger store in Indianapolis, said per-pound prices of large frozen turkeys may fall to the 40-cent range this year.

In Chicago, Jewel Food Stores spokesman Bill Newby said prices were down 20 cents a pound from last year to 50 cents for hens and 49 cents on a special of one Tom turkey per customer.

Ann Rushing, marketing specialist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service, said weekly price surveys indicated frozen turkey prices in the state were averaging 69 cents to $1.19 per pound, a dime per pound cheaper than last year.

She said cranberries, in plentiful supply, were selling for 89 cents for a 12-ounce bag. Sweet potatoes were 45 to 49 cents a pound, up from last year's price of 34 to 49 cents a pound.

Settling A Debt McCray, Jackson, Raiders Rough Up Falcons, 92-71

By JOE DeSANTIS
Herald Sports Writer

The way Joe Sterling's Seminole Community College Raiders figured it, they owed Florida College a little debt. A week ago the FC Falcons manhandled the Raiders, 88-70, in the Falcon gym. Tuesday night the Raiders paid back the debt with a little interest, walloping the visiting Falcons 92-71 behind a staunch defensive effort and a fired up offense.

"They were coming in here and telling us, 'We're 4-0, man,'" said swingman Arthur "A. J." Jackson. "We didn't need to hear that. We were fired up all week about this one."

The win pushed the Raiders to 5-1 on the year while Florida College suffered its first loss of the year, slipping to 4-1 on the young junior college season.

All-state sophomore Bruce McCray and Jackson geared the Raider offense in the first half, slowly pushing SCC to a 44-30 intermission lead.

McCray and Jackson continued the surge along with Travis Filer and freshman center Mike Smith to lead by as many as 24 before Sterling emptied his bench in the final two minutes.

"It's what we wanted," said a happy Sterling after evening the score against the Falcons. "The kids wanted to ship them bad. The Falcons are a good, quick team and they were kind of rough on us over at their place last week. I think our guys felt they had a little something to prove."

Jackson, the Raider's tank-like sophomore, again shot out of the starting blocks, firing in eight of SCC's first 10 points. From there McCray and center Reggie Butler began controlling both the offensive and defensive boards, helping the Raiders build their 14-point halftime cushion.

Jackson finished the night with 18 points, four rebounds and four assists, three coming on dazzling behind the back passes to running mate Travis Filer.

"What can I say, Jackson played well again," smiled Sterling about the Boone High product's effort.

"We like to use A.J. as the sixth man because he's capable of playing a couple of positions, but the way he's playing he certainly deserves to start."

"I'm just trying to play the best I can," understated the chunky sophomore. "Everybody on this team knows they have a role—mine's being the sixth man."

In the 88-70 loss to the Falcons last week, Florida College beat the Raiders on the boards, but not Tuesday night thanks to the efforts of SCC's salt and pepper combination at the pivot.

Starting center Reggie Butler canned four first half points and hauled in eight rebounds before running into foul trouble early in the second stanza. Smith, a freshman out of Virginia Beach, Va., filled the void in the second half. The Green Run High product canned 16 points and climbed the boards for five rebounds.

"Reggie and I have been switching off in the middle," pointed out the slender center. "I'm ready to come in any time.

The more I play the more confidence I get."

Sterling got a typically confident performance from McCray and Filer.

"Big Bruce" led all scorers with 28 points and ripped the boards for 11 rebounds. Filer complemented the performance with 18 points and half a dozen caroms.

"They beat us every way there is to be beaten," said a disappointed Falcon coach Don Owens. "Tonight they were a better ball club. They got the ball in quicker, they hit their shots and they rebounded well."

"They were getting two and three shots every time down the court and we were getting one."

Owens felt the major difference in Tuesday night's clash and the Falcons 18 point win in the first encounter between the two squads was the play of Raider guard Eric Ervin.

"They got the ball in to him quicker and deeper. When we beat them we cut that off with our press. "We had a different set up this time," explained the Daytona Beach Seabreeze graduate.

"We set up a parallel play to get the ball in quicker and get the offense going."

The Raider offense got going well enough to total SCC's highest output in the early season. Sterling's squad goes after its sixth win of the year Wednesday, Dec. 2 when the Raiders play host to Indian River Community College. Tipoff is 7:30 p.m.

Fingers Grabs AL MVP

NEW YORK (UPI) — Rollie Fingers, the Milwaukee Brewers' relief ace who already captured the American League Cy Young Award, has been named the league's most valuable player, narrowly edging Oakland outfielder Rickey Henderson.

Fingers, 35, became the first relief pitcher in league history to win the MVP and the first since Vida Blue to capture both the MVP and Cy Young honors in a single season. Blue accomplished the feat in 1971 with the Oakland A's.

The right-hander garnered 18 first-place votes from the 26-man panel and finished with a total of 312 points. Henderson, the only player other than Fingers to be named on all ballots, captured 12 first-place votes and 308 points. A first-place vote for teammate Tony Armas probably cost Henderson the award.

The key to Fingers' value was the Brewers' belief that if they could lead a game in the seventh inning, they could call on Fingers to protect the margin.

Baltimore's Eddie Murray was third in the balloting with 144 votes, Boston's Dwight Evans had 140, Armas had 138 and Boston's Carney Lansford gathered 109.

Fingers was acquired in a major offseason deal with the St. Louis Cardinals and proceeded to add to his reputation as one of the best relievers in baseball. He entered the season as the all-time leader in saves with 244 and added 28 to lead the league. It was the third time he led his league in saves.

Fingers, who went 6-3 with a 1.04 ERA, attracted the admiration of Brewer owner Bud Selig, who called the right-hander a candidate for both the Cy Young Award and the MVP. Selig proved to be right.

Henderson, who will be 33 next month, excelled offensively and defensively in helping Oakland win the West Division.

Larry Eason 'I Begged Grandmother To Let Me Play Football'

By SAM COOK
Herald Sports Editor

In this time of the pampered and pouty athlete, it's a beautiful experience to meet a performer like Seminole High defensive end Larry Eason.

When playing football has become somewhat of a right instead of a privilege, young men like Larry Eason stand out.

Larry Eason probably shouldn't be playing football this year. He shouldn't be a part of two championships and a team heading for the Region 4A-5 Championship Friday against Vero Beach.

Larry Eason suffers from epilepsy, which is a nervous disorder characterized by recurring attacks of motor, psychic or sensory malfunction.

It is a disorder that kept him from playing a game he dearly loves for the past two years.

"All my life I'd been stopped by seizures," the mature senior disclosed before a Tribe practice one day. "I finally got to play in the ninth grade (Crooms) and had a good year."

"All of a sudden, I had another seizure. The next year, I had another one. Then, my grandmother wouldn't let me play the next two years," Eason recalls.

While his football career had been terminated, it didn't deter his excellent speed which had gotten him the nickname "Lightning."

Eason became a standout performer on coach Hank Daviero's track team where he is a member of Seminole's record-setting relay teams.

Track wasn't enough, though, Eason had to have more.

"It meant so much to me to watch them every game," continued Eason, his voice straining with emotion. "Knowing that I was capable of playing...but I couldn't because the doctors wouldn't allow it."

Finally the pain became too great. "It hurt so bad to know that you can do it (football), but there's someone out

Seminoles '81: A Look At A Champion

LARRY EASON
... 18 quarterback sacks

there doing the job instead of you," he points out. "Finally, I begged my grandmother...I pleaded with her to let me play."

She relented. And Eason now takes up a very valuable spot at the defensive end of coach Dave Masure's "Dare You To Beat Us" defense.

While Eason always felt he had the ability, he and coach Jerry Posey have both been surprised by his progress.

"I thought I'd sit on the bench most of the year," Eason candidly replies. "But I made up my mind to do my best and contribute to the team and make up for the years I had missed."

Posey feels he's more than done his part. "It's unusual to find a football player who's missed two years and then can come in and do the job Larry's done," said Posey.

"Usually they're so far behind that they don't help you until the end of the year. But Larry's come along real good. He's been a factor from the beginning."

So much of a factor, it's hard to believe the Seminole without him. The quick, 5-foot-11 170 pounder had an incredible 18 quarterback sacks in 10 games.

Eason, along with middle linebacker Antonio Davis and defensive tackle Bill Painter have been in the opposition's backfield as much as its running backs.

Eason feels the influence of defensive coordinator Dave Masure has been a big plus in his development. "When I saw him, I told him I hadn't played. He said 'It didn't make any difference, if I was good enough, I'd play.'"

Eason's been more than good enough as his 18 sacks will attest. "Super intelligent kid," raves Masure. "He's probably misunderstood by a lot of people. Some people take him the wrong way, but he is very mature.

"During the spring, he was back in the pack. By midway through the first game, however, I knew he was a player. To have that many sacks is incredible."

That's a pretty good word to describe Larry Eason all the way around.

Super Soph Walker, Cooks Chosen Cream Of SEC Crop

ATLANTA (UPI) — Georgia super soph Herschel Walker, well on his way to becoming the most prolific runner in league history, and Mississippi State linebacker Johnnie Cooks Tuesday were named this year's top performers in the Southeastern Conference.

Walker, a 222-pound tailback who should break the SEC single-season rushing record Dec. 5 when Georgia closes its regular season at Georgia Tech and the SEC career rushing record early next fall, was named by United Press International as the SEC offensive player of the year for the second straight time and Cooks, a 240-pound senior, was named the SEC defensive player of the year.

Walker was a unanimous choice and Cooks a near unanimous choice on the UPI 1981 all-Southeastern Conference football team selected by media in the seven state region and announced Monday night.

Walker has been the dominant offensive player in the SEC the past two seasons. Last year he was All-America and third in the Heisman Trophy voting (highest ever by a freshman) after breaking Tony Dorsett's NCAA freshman rushing record by gaining 1,816 yards despite missing most of two games because of a sprained ankle.

This year, with the game remaining with Georgia Tech against whom he had 206 yards and three touchdowns last season, Walker has rushed for 1,666 yards — just 20 off the SEC single-season record set by Charles Alexander of LSU in 1977 — and has scored 16 touchdowns, two shy of the SEC record.

Also, with 3,282 yards in 21 games, Walker already is fifth on the SEC career rushing list, only 753 yards behind the record Alexander set in four seasons (1975-76-77-78).

Cooks, named Southeast defensive player of the week three times this season, has been a one-man wrecking crew. Through State's first 10 games, he was credited with more than 100 tackles, including 17 behind the line, seven pass deflections, an interception and a fumble recovery.

Payne After Fifth Starter Tonight

Seminole High basketball coach Bill Payne has four starters and he plans on using tonight's Seminole County Rotary Bowl Jamboree as an opportunity for number five to emerge.

Holdover guards Richard Grey and Marvin Butler join 6-6 center Stuart Smith as the returning Seminoles. Last year's junior varsity scoring leader Calvin "Kiki" Bryant picks up the fourth spot, but number five is anybody's guess.

Sanford tips off the four-team jamboree tonight at 7:30 at Lyman High School against Greg Robinson's Lake Howell Silver Hawks. Howell comes back against Lyman in quarter two before the Tribe meets Lake Brantley in quarter three and the host Greyhounds tangle with the Patriots in quarter four.

Payne is looking for number five from the trio of Willie Mitchell, Jimmy Gilchrist and Torie Hendricks. Mitchell and Gilchrist are sophomores, but Payne is looking for them to grow up fast. Hendricks, though small, is an excellent shooter.

"Willie and Jimmy are both in the running for that fifth spot," said Payne while watching his team go through the paces Tuesday. "If they play well during the season it could really help us to get off to a decent start."

Payne feels his guard corp is the Tribe's strongest point. Grey and Butler are both 5-6, but very quick. Junior Vernon Law and senior Chris Dretreville give Seminole excellent depth.

The Fighting Seminoles will need it since Tom Lawrence's Hounds will be off-and-running again this year. Antoine "Pop" Lemon, 6-4 Eric French and 6-2 burner William Scott give the Greyhounds quite a trifecta to contend with.

While Lyman has great depth, Lake Howell suffered the most severe losses — two top-notch guards in Bruce Brightman and Tim O'Shaughnessy — who are both playing junior college basketball this year.

Returning, though, is Mark Layton, 6-6 2-swingman, who is as good as anyone in the conference. Robinson will be looking for four solid ones to go with his main horse.

Bob Peterson's Lake Brantley club has nine seniors among his 13 players. Tim Heath, a 6-3 forward, 6-2 Mike Gregory and footballer Fred Baber are the Patriots best. — SAM COOK

Lions Return To Playoff Wars

By JOE DeSANTIS
Herald Sports Writer

Two seasons ago, Joe Montgomery's Oviedo Lions put together a sterling 12-1 record, making it as far as the final four in 3-A state football playoff action.

Friday night at 8 the Lions return to that plateau when they travel to face Brooksville Herrando in the regional round of state play, but the names, faces and type of team are completely different this time around. Gone are superstars with names like Marvin McClellon, Troy Kesinger, Mike Scott, Troy Pagala, Ray Williams and Marty Nease.

Dotting the Oviedo lineup for Friday night's encounter with 9-1 Brooksville are names like Karl Jones, Lamar Smith, James Hamilton, Chris Boston and Todd Duncan who earned Burger King Defensive Player of the Week honors. With the exception of Hamilton, a two-time all-Orange Belt performer at split end, none could be ranked in the same class as the first group of Lion alumni. That's why Montgomery typifies this batch of Lions as completely different from the first that represented Oviedo in state playoff action.

"It's a completely different type of team," explains Monty of his 7-3 Orange Belt Conference champs. "The 12-1 team was just as happy after so many losing years at Oviedo I don't think you could compare them with this year's squad."

"We don't have any superstars, just a bunch of kids who feel it an honor to represent Oviedo and the conference in the playoffs. These guys aren't as talented on a player-by-player basis. But they'll practice and work until the sun goes down without one word of complaint."

Monty feels the Lions will definitely have their work cut out for their road game Friday night.

"It's always tough to win, even more so in a playoff game like this," says the Lion coach. "Brooksville will probably have four or five thousand people packed into their place Friday night."

When Oviedo is on offense, it will be looking at primarily a gap-eight defensive alignment from Brooksville.

"They're monstrous up front and they do a lot of stunting with the linebackers," observes Montgomery. "We don't know if we can run on them, but that's not really our strategy."

"We'll have to throw the ball and make the big play. I think the key for us is scoring three touchdowns with the pass. We think we can show them a couple of things with the passing game that they're not used to seeing."

The task of moving the ball in the air will fall in the hands of quarterback Karl Jones, who may be slowed with a bad ankle. Monty is hopeful Jones will be ready for Friday, especially since starting fullback Dean Priesting is out with a re-injured knee. If Jones needs help it will come in the form of backup signal caller Chris Kesinger, whose older brother Troy quarterbacked that 12-1 team of two years ago.

Jones has favorite receivers Hamilton, Lamar Smith and tight end Kipp Sopp earmarked as the Lions top pass catchers.

Montgomery feels getting his offensive backs into the pass routes with a pro-set offensive may loosen things up a little for Oviedo.

On defense the Lions will be looking to stop a T and winged-T set that features a couple of healthy-sized backs, including 6-2, 240-pound Jerome Brown, who also sees duty at defensive end.

"They've got good size on the offensive line and pretty good speed in the backfield too," points out Montgomery.

The Lions may have the equalizer on the specialty teams.

"Hopefully we can take advantage of our kicking game," says Monty.

The Lion's punting duties are attached to the strong leg of John Quintana with an even 40-yard average and place kicker-tight end Sopp, who can consistently put the ball into the end zone on kickoffs and has a healthy field goal range.

"It's going to take a heck of an effort to beat them Friday night," closed Montgomery.

Brooksville compiled a perfect 6-0 district record. Its lone loss in a 9-1 campaign came to arch rival Gainesville Bucholz.

Nets Snap Road Jinx, Mavs Lose 11th

By United Press International

Deep in the heart of Texas, one streak of futility ended and another continued.

The New Jersey Nets, who win on the road about as often as J.R. Ewing does a good deed, snapped an 11-game road losing streak with a 102-84 victory over the Houston Rockets.

And the Dallas Mavericks, who seldom win anywhere, lost their 11th in a row, a 125-110 decision to the Los Angeles Lakers.

"This is the first game this year that we shot well," said New Jersey coach Larry Brown. "I was pleased with our overall team play tonight because we did some things that we wanted to do."

"We dropped off Moses Malone to stay out of foul trouble and we shot well. Our players are getting stronger after early-season injuries. Ray Williams is playing much better now and Otis Birdsong had a super game."

Sherrill Reaching, Curci Seeking As College Football Bounces Around

By United Press International

To hear Coach Jackie Sherrill, you'd figure he was reaching for the top instead of just trying to stay there.

"To be honest with you, we don't have the same talent as Penn State," Sherrill said Tuesday in discussing this week's Pennsylvania showdown between his top-ranked Pitt Panthers and No. 9 Penn State.

"I voted them No. 1 during the preseason, and even this past week I voted them very high," continued Sherrill. "We have some areas on the team where our talent is as good or better as theirs, but overall we're not as good."

"This is the best football team, since I've been around, that Penn State has ever had."

The oddsmakers make Pitt a one-touchdown favorite to win the 81st meeting between the clubs. With 17 straight victories, the Sugar Bowl-bound Panthers sport the longest winning streak among the nation's major colleges. That makes them an awfully inviting target for 8-2 Penn State.

"It's easy to coach for this game," Penn State coach Joe Paterno said. "You don't have to worry about motivating kids for this game. You don't have to worry about details. You've got guys playing against buddies and that type of emotional stuff."

"I really don't need to tell you this — you've heard it before. The kids motivate themselves for this kind of game. Still, it is easy to coach — I'm not saying it's easy to win — but it is easy to coach."

Last year Pitt defeated the Nittany Lion 14-9 en route to an 11-1 season and a No. 2 national ranking, behind Georgia. Paterno believes the 1981 version may be even better.

"Pitt has a much better balanced running game than last year's; they're much harder to predict on the passing game," said Paterno. "It'll be a much more difficult job defending them than last year."

At the University of Kentucky, coach Fran Curci received his walking papers. Cliff Hagan, chairman of the ad hoc committee appointed by UK President Otis Singletary to investigate the football program, made the announcement.

"It was the unanimous recommendation of this committee that we exercise its option to terminate (Curci's) contract," said Hagan, also the UK athletic director.

Curci was not immediately available to comment on his firing.

The athletic association vote was 21-1 in favor of the ad hoc committee's recommendation, with only former Gov. A.B. "Happy" Chandler, a staunch Curci defender, voting against his ouster.

While Curci received the bad news, Bear Bryant prepared his Alabama squad to face traditional rival Auburn. With a victory, the Crimson Tide, 8-1-1, can give Bryant his 315th triumph as a college coach and top the mark of the legendary Amos Alonzo Stagg.

"I'll be glad when it is over," said Bryant. "But, I don't think our players will be worried about any record except trying to beat Auburn."

Bryant, despite his success, downplays his own role.

"I haven't won any football games," said Bryant. "My players and my assistant coaches are the ones who should get the credit. If someone is foolish enough to erect a monument to commemorate my being credited with that record, there should be enough room on it to mention all the other people who played such a large part in whatever success I've had."

No. 6 Texas, which meets Alabama in the Cotton Bowl on Jan. 1, faces Texas A&M Thursday and no doubt remembers last year's 24-14 loss to the Aggies. Texas A & M, 6-4, will face Oklahoma State in the Independence Bowl on Dec. 12.

Other games Saturday involve a number of sectional clashes, including Boston College vs. Holy Cross, Florida vs. Florida State, Tennessee vs. Vanderbilt, Virginia Tech vs. Virginia, Oklahoma vs. Oklahoma State, Houston vs. Rice, Tulane vs. Louisiana State and Arizona State vs. Arizona.

New Smyrna Speedway Hosts Cracker

By CARL VANZURA
Herald Motor Sports Writer

New Smyrna Speedway, this Saturday and Sunday will host the annual "Cracker 200" for Late Model Sportsman cars. The 200 lap race on the popular one-half mile high banked oval draws top drivers from all over the United States and Canada.

A strong favorite will have to be local driver David Rogers in his Orlando-based Camaro. Rogers has dominated late model racing at New Smyrna Speedway this year. Last Saturday night Rogers won the traditional "Turkey Trot" 86 lap race.

Another favorite will be Larry Rogers running out of Miami in a

Robert Hamke-prepared Camaro. Rogers was the winner of the 100-lap "Cracker 200 Tune Up" earlier this month.

Two-time track champion Jack Cook will be another driver to contend with as his powerful Camaro has set on the pole many times this year. Cook said that the $2,500 first place money could very easily end up in his pocket this Sunday.

Chris Dellaraco in the "Della Auction Camaro" will be on hand with his new car. The Sanford-based racer ran a very respectable fifth last week, and was quite pleased with the car's maiden voyage. A top dirt track racer, Dellaraco is adapting well to the high banked asphalt track.

Harold Johnson hopes to have his Buick Regal in the running as he is another of Sanford's late model drivers. Sanford's other late model driver, Phil Dorman will probably miss this race as he blew a motor recently and his new one will not be finished in time.

Thunder Car, Street Stock and Four-Cylinder as well as Spectator racing will be run on Saturday and Sunday. Homer Franklin is a strong Sanford runner in Street Stock and David Gibbs is a strong runner in the 4-cylinder class.

Racing this Saturday night starts at 8 p.m. and on Sunday the $20,000 Cracker 200 will start at 2 p.m.

UPSET TURKEY AND DRESSING
CLIFFHANGER OF THE WEEK
KANSAS CITY (8-4) AT DETROIT (8-4)

KANSAS CITY is flying high in a tie with DENVER in the AFC WEST, while DETROIT is one game behind MINNESOTA in the NFC CENTRAL. This game is scheduled to start at 12:30 PM on THURSDAY, so look for a lot of wives to sabotage the TV prior to noon. The CHIEFS index out 3 points better than the LIONS, but there she stops. DETROIT has a 7 point better defense, and a 8 point better offense.

The overall offenses of the two teams are equal, and the LIONS have a 7 point home field advantage. The two teams came out exactly even in contests with common enemies so far this year. Although the CHIEFS are favored because of their higher index, I look for DETROIT to win at home by 15 points.

COLD TURKEY CLIFFHANGER
CHICAGO (5-9) AT DALLAS (8-4)

The COWBOYS have come on strong as usual and are tied for the lead in the NFC EAST. This game starts at 4 PM on Thanksgiving Day, and those of us who were able to find the trouble with their TV set or stove, as the case may be, prior to that time can accept this game as a Cold Turkey Consolation.

The statistics are all ridiculously in favor of the COWBOYS, who have not lost at home in well over two years. I suggest that you wash down the Thanksgiving feast with bicarb, settle down in the best chair in the house, and watch DALLAS win by about 17 points. It may not be the best game of the week, but it is the only one this late on Thursday.

Another favorite will be Larry Rogers running out of Miami in a

80 Courses Offered In Deltona

Registration for college classes to begin Jan. 7, 1982 is underway at the Deltona Center of Daytona Beach Community College, located at the corner of Providence and Normandy boulevards, in Deltona.

About 80 courses are being offered, including general education classes which meet the requirements for the A.A. degree, such as Freshman English, Math, Social Science, Biology, Psychology and so on.

Nearly 400 students of all ages are currently enrolled in the Deltona Center.

A particularly large number of business courses are available, including Typing, Shorthand, Business Math, Business English, Accounting, Small Business Management, Legal and Medical Terminology, Introduction to Business and Real Estate.

Col. Michael Barry returns with classes in International Relations and American Political and Economic Issues, and Dr. Margaret Neville will again be teaching Humanities and English. Grace Stormer returns with her popular classes of Human Nutrition and Medical Terminology. Conversational Spanish will be repeated, as well as Slimnastics.

Many psychology courses are offered, including Psychology of Personal Development, Educational Psychology, Human Growth and Development, General Psychology, and the Human Potential Seminar.

Of particular interest is the increasingly expanding art program, now boasting two prominent local artists who are instructors Pam Griesinger and William Lynne Long. A total of seven courses are available in Painting I and II, Drawing I and II, and Design.

Three new courses this semester are of interest: Personal Income Tax, Anthropology, and Introduction to Jazz Dance.

Deltona Center staff will be conducting registrations in November and December from 8 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. on Monday through Thursdays, and 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Friday. The center will be closed on Nov. 26 and 27 for Thanksgiving holidays. Call 574-5206 for additional information.

SCOUTS COURT OF AWARDS

Student And Teacher Give Love Lesson

DEAR ABBY: A 30-year-old male teacher asked you, "What makes schoolteachers get crushes on their students?" (He confessed to having a crush on a 15-year-old girl in his class.)

Your reply: "Teachers have crushes on students for the same reason students have crushes on teachers: immaturity."

Abby, I was a 15-year-old high school girl who had a crush on my 27-year-old teacher. We dated for three months with only my parents knowing. They loved him. I loved him, and I still do. We've been married 25 years and have four gorgeous kids!

Please reconsider your answer. It sounded as though you assumed that all older men who were attracted to younger girls were simply "dirty old men" trying to take advantage of naive young children.

Not so. In our case it was the real thing.

DEAR WIFE: Consider my shallow answer reconsidered. Ten weeks on the posterior with a biology book for Abby. You were only one of many who wrote to tell me I was wrong. And I was.

DEAR ABBY: My husband of many years had an affair, and his secretary (I'll call her Doris) was a party to it. She was very friendly with the "other woman" — talking to her on the phone often, giving her messages, letting her know where my husband could be reached, etc.

The affair is over now, but every time I see Doris or talk to her on the phone, I am reminded of my husband's unfaithfulness, which is very painful. I told my husband this and asked him to fire her. He refused.

Abby, don't you think my husband should fire his secretary when he knows it would make me feel so much better?

DEAR WONDERING: Although it would make you feel better, it would be unfair to the secretary who was only following her boss's orders.

DEAR ABBY: "Concerned Agent, Seattle" had some good suggestions as to the recovery of stolen goods. However, there are further measures which should be taken.

Most states have a crime prevention program. If people will call their local police, they may receive the information needed, be loaned engravers and get window and door stickers that warn a burglar the property is identified, or be referred to local groups that will provide these services.

In many areas, police are working with the Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP), whereby the senior volunteers will do the engraving, listing the items and/or serial numbers, affix the stickers, conduct a security check of the premises, help organize "Neighborhood Watch" groups and install safety devices. This service is provided in our area with no cost to the householder.

PATRICIA A. McGUIRE, LEWISTON, IDAHO

DEAR MS. McGUIRE: Terrific! Too bad every community doesn't have a RSVP program.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please settle an argument? I say that schoolteachers are considered "professionals." Am I correct? My friend says that teaching school is a "job" — not a profession. She says that people who practice law and medicine are professionals, but schoolteachers are not.

What do you say?
MILWAUKEE MISUNDERSTANDING

DEAR MILWAUKEE: A professional is anyone who receives remuneration for a job — as opposed to an amateur, who does what he does without pay.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get them off your chest. Write to Abby, 12060 Hawthorne Blvd., Suite 5000, Hawthorne, Calif. 90250. For a personal reply, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

SCC Singers To Present Concert

The Chorale and Choraliers of Seminole Community College will present a concert of sacred music on Friday, Dec. 4, at 8 p.m. in the Fine Arts Concert Hall on the college campus.

Featured will be works appropriate to the Advent and Christmas seasons. The public is cordially invited to attend. There is no admission charge.

The SCC Chorale, founded in 1967, is an all-campus organization of mixed voices under the direction of Dr. Burt H. Perinchieff. The Chorale will perform a series of carols from around the world in the spirit of the holiday season.

The Choraliers, also under the direction of Dr. Perinchieff.

Annual Pet Fair

The 16th Annual Pet Fair of the John Young Science Center will be held in Loch Haven Park, Dec. 5th from 10 a.m.-4, and Dec. 6th from 11 a.m.-5 p.m.

This event features carnival rides, food, games, pet shows and other family entertainment. There is no admission charge to the grounds, and all food, rides, and games are reasonably priced.

Perhaps the best bargain is the all-day ride tickets which allow the holder to go on any of the carnival rides all day long for a mere $3.00 ticket. (All day ride tickets must, however, be purchased prior to fair day.)

Hot dogs, clowns, cotton candy, magicians, and bake sales heighten the carnival atmosphere. For those with a competitive nature, many unique and interesting games enable

Watch Your Wallet If Miracle Claimed

DEAR DR. LAMB—I have a friend who thinks you can cure everything with vitamin E. She takes it all the time. According to her, if you take vitamin E you will never have to see a doctor. She says it will prevent heart attacks, blood clots, strokes and arthritis.

She also says it is the best agent available to prevent aging. She tells me that is why she looks younger than most women her age, but she doesn't look a day younger than I do and I'm a year older than she is. I told her that one day and she got huffy and said just wait 10 years and if I could still see I'd know the difference.

What is the truth, Dr. Lamb? Will vitamin E do all these things for you and, if so, why don't more doctors recommend it?

DEAR READER—Usually when an item is claimed to work miracles it is time to watch your wallet. Those kinds of claims are reminiscent of the old-time medicine shows that sold snake oil to the gullible.

Vitamin E does have some very useful purposes. It does help control leg cramps in some people—depending upon what causes the leg cramps. It is useless in others with cramps. It does not cure arthritis or prevent it. It does not cure or prevent heart disease. It was once believed to be helpful in preventing blood clotting but it was discovered the agent affecting blood clotting was the substance the vitamin E was packaged in as a medicine, not the vitamin E itself. There are very good medicines available to control blood clotting today and vitamin E has no place in this.

You will enjoy reading The Health Letter number 4-12, Vitamin E: Miracle or Myth, which I am sending you. Let your friend read it for a lively discussion. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1861, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. Vitamin E is an antioxidant and in laboratory studies may help prevent cellular aging. That is a long way from what it does in humans. And you should get vitamin E from a well-balanced diet. To prevent aging you will do better to follow more practical measures such as staying lean, not smoking, eating a good diet and staying active.

DEAR DR. LAMB—I am a 68-year-old man with a hoarseness that has not gone away for a month. There is no lump on my vocal cords but the doctor seems concerned. Would you explain why please? He feels a person of my age should stay in the house, rest and not talk. I am getting tired of both the hoarseness and the treatment. I gave up alcohol because that seemed to cause soreness.

DEAR READER—Anyone who has unexplained hoarseness for more than two weeks should have an examination. That includes direct examination of the larynx by looking down into the larynx with a light. Persistent hoarseness can be a sign of throat cancer. That is why your doctor is concerned.

Often throat cancer is not diagnosed in its early stages even after several examinations. For that reason if the condition is not resolved, I think it is best to see a specialist in ear, nose and throat diseases and be sure that whoever examines you looks down your throat into the larynx. Incidentally, men who drink a lot and smoke are the ones at greatest risk of throat cancer. There are a lot of other causes for hoarseness so I am not saying you have cancer, but if you should have any signs of it your doctor wants to diagnose it early.

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Thursday, November 26, 1981

YOUR BIRTHDAY

November 26, 1981
This coming year you will explore paths you've never traveled before but, more importantly, you will do so successfully. Adventure and reward are in the offing.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Obstacles which previously impeded your progress financially and careerwise are being lifted, giving you chances to score in each area. Find out more of what lies ahead for you in the year following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph, Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) An opportunity will arise today to be helpful to one of whom you are fond. Do your good deed, but keep it to yourself.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) You're entering an interesting cycle where several friends who have never been too helpful heretofore will now go out of their way to make your lot in life easier.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Conditions which caused you a degree of disharmony will do an about-face at this time. Your possibilities for major achievements in the days ahead are excellent.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) As of today you should begin to see a marked improvement in the romance department. Your collective aims will now be more in sync.

TAURUS

(April 20-May 20)
Conditions are starting to stir which should prove advantageous to you in business and investment areas. Continue to explore promising propositions.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Partnership situations entered into at this time have a better-than-average chance of success, especially if each can offer what the other lacks.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) This is a good time to embark on projects or hobbies which you truly enjoy. Something which starts out as an avocation can turn into a moneymaker.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Enterprises which require both imagination and boldness are likely to be very appealing to you now. Your possibilities for conducting them successfully look good.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Involvements where your concern is for others as well as yourself should begin to take a turn for the better at this time. Continue to be selfless.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Someone you've secretly admired from a distance may give indications today that he or she is also interested in you. Cupid is in your corner.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Pay close attention today if an enterprising, successful friend talks to you about ways to make or save you money. The tip could be profitable.

WIN AT BRIDGE

hand from "Advanced Play at Bridge."

South is in a normal four spade contract. It is unfortunate that his king-queen of clubs are facing dummy's singleton jack, but those things happen in this mundane sphere.

West leads and continues diamonds. South ruffs the second one and plays a low club. Maybe West will duck with the ace.

West does play low, but East produces the ace and leads back a heart. You play the nine and West's jack forces dummy's west.

You lead dummy's jack of spades and East plays low. If you have paid no attention to the bidding you will take the finesse. After all it will win for you say time East was dealt K-X-X or K-X in spades.

Now review the bidding. East passed to one diamond and has shown up with the ace of clubs. There is no way he is going to have a king in addition to that ace. You play your ace of spades, drop West's singleton king and have your game and rubber.

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

In the acronym ARCH the R stands for review the bidding. This will frequently give declarer a chance to locate a key card or cards — as may be seen from this
