Frank Huffaker's reminiscences of twenty years in Tampa were good; but Frank remembers a lot that he doesn't tell, which is very fortunate for a number of prominent citizens.

SUGAR.

At the present time it is sugar which is worrying the housewives of the country. With a prospective price of 12 cents a pound for canning, the affluent housewife is annoyed, the middle class one finds that she has to cut down her summer wardrobe or postpone needed house repairs.

There may be some esoteric reason why the price of sugar should rise so much at this time, but there certainly is no reason which the ordinary citizen can understand.

There is plenty of intelligence in the country. Granted that most of us are economic illiterates, there is a saving remnant of business men who are economic superiors of the rest of us.

WHAT THE GOLF COURSE MEANS.

Few people seem to realize what a good golf course means to Sanford or to any other city in Florida—the winter and summer playground of the nation.

Orlando wants the "zoning system" and we are glad to note this action on their part for Sanford was the first city in the state to get such a bill before the legislature.

FLORIDA MUST PROTECT HER GAME AND FISH.

There are several resources of Florida that formerly were bountiful, but which have been depleted to such an extent that it is very important that serious thought be directed to conservation measures.

For some time the Florida Game and Fish Protective Association, of which former County Solicitor R. E. L. Chancey of Tampa is president, has been active in the endeavor to present the importance of game and fish conservation and protection.

JUST KIDS—'Magination' By Ad Crr

115 INTERNATIONAL CARTOON CO.

In a circular just issued from the office of President Chancey of the State Association some of the reasons why a Department of Game and Fish should be created are outlined as follows:

- 1. Florida, under existing laws, is fast becoming gameless. 2. Game is one of the great natural assets of the state. 3. If for no other reason, it should be conserved as an article of food. 4. It furnishes wholesome outdoor recreation to the citizen and visitor. 5. It is a drawing card to thousands of visitors. 6. Posterity is entitled to its just inheritance. 7. With its vast territory and natural covers, Florida could be made the greatest State in the Union. 8. Game conserved is a revenue producer. 9. The sportsman pays for its conservation—he pays less as it disappears and more as it multiplies. 10. Pennsylvania, in the last season, derived a net revenue of more than $100,000 from its game. 11. Florida last season derived net less than $55,000 from its game. 12. Florida hunting license is higher than any other state in the Union—game and law enforcement produce revenue—high license does not. 13. In at least one county—under existing laws—not a single resident license was issued for 1922-1923 season. 14. As game gets scarcer, the sportsman goes from the gameless county to the county where game is found and soon it, too, is gameless. 15. When Florida was admitted as a State, title to its game was vested in the State to be held in trust for the people; it is an important trust and should not be delegated to the several counties. 16. The Florida Game and Fish Protective Association urges you to view the game situation in a broad, statesmanlike manner. Deliver us from the narrow, provincial views which leave the situation in its present chaotic condition.

THE NEWSPAPERS AGAIN.

The Reporter-Star is in receipt of a letter from North Dakota with reference to the Tabert case, commendatory of the position of the Florida press.

Those Dakota officials have access to clipping bureaus. They know exactly what the Florida newspapers are saying on the subject. They know too that the newspapers reflect the sentiment of the state.

The Dr. McConnell revival services came to an end last night. This city has enjoyed a month of religious meetings which will leave their good effect upon this community for some time.

swerable to the criminal statutes of Florida. It is time that men of the type of Senator Knab and Sheriff Jones of Leon county not only be exposed, but punished.

Fortunately the newspapers of Florida can be depended upon to keep in the lead in the matter of public sentiment, and at the same time in back of the slippery politicians and craven interests that would keep this blot on the good name of Florida.

PRINTER AND PRESIDENT.

Newspaper men have known that Mr. Harding was an editor and a highly successful one, but it remained for his visit to the new Tribune plant to reveal him as an expert printer.

FROM OTHER SANCTUMS

OPENING THE DOOR TO THE EAST COAST COUNTRY.

The building of the Connors highway, connecting Okeechobee City with West Palm Beach, promises to be one of the most important developments of the year.

Some interesting details of the Connors project are obtained from the Palm Beach Post which says that, now the legislature has given approval, work will be carried on immediately.

As a matter of fact, if any other business involves as varied a training as that of getting out a small town newspaper we don't know what it is.

UNCOMMERCIALIZED RELIGION.

The Dr. McConnell revival services came to an end last night. This city has enjoyed a month of religious meetings which will leave their good effect upon this community for some time.

joy up there over one sinner doing penance, compared to the ninety-nine, who heed it not. What great rejoicing there must have been within the pearly realm!

The part of this revival which appeals to us most—that which separates it from the too often commercialized effort to "Christianize souls" is the manner in which Dr. McConnell came to Orlando in the interest of his calling, never, asking for a penny's guarantee that he might be rewarded materially for the spiritual benefit which would result from his wonderful sermons.

When an evangelist says, "I will come to your town for so many thousand dollars," it looks to us as if it is bought religion—as if he measures his work to God by the long green which is handed out to him.

But not so with Lincoln McConnell, he came to Orlando for the good he could do, and not for the money he thought he would make. In other words he is working for God and not for money.

It might be pleasing to those who were not at last night's services to learn that the collections and funds subscribed up to Saturday night covered the expenses of the revival.

Good luck to Dr. McConnell and may he return to Orlando ere another winter has come and gone.—Reporter-Star.

Cornwall Puts $20,000 in Golf

J. P. H. Cornwall of Daytona and Portsmouth, N. H., has purchased $20,000 worth of the bonds of the Daytona Golf and Country club, and this large investment in the club's securities means that the money is now available to put the course into the best possible shape.

Mr. Cornwall is an enthusiastic golfer and a shrewd business man and his investment was made only after due consideration of the assets of the course and the constantly increasing value of the real estate. He figured that the bonds were about as safe as an investment as could be made. He was recently elected a director of the club and his large investment puts the club in a position where it will no longer have to go out and urge people to make a good investment. Only a few thousand dollars worth of the bonds remain on the market.—Daytona Journal.

LOST COUPLE NEAR DEATH

Man and Wife Found in the Mountains in British Columbia Almost Starved.

Prince Rupert, B. C.—Lost in the mountains, Peter Stafford and his wife were found recently in the last stage of starvation by two constables on the Kayer river, 32 miles from Skeena Mill. The couple had not eaten real food for 20 days, the only thing that kept them alive being soup made by boiling strips of old beaver skin. Stafford's condition was pitiful, as he had been suffering from tuberculosis for some months. How he was able to survive the terrific experience is a mystery to physicians.

Stafford and his wife were discovered in a small tent pitched under a big tree. The man, too weak to move, was placed in a canoe and the woman was assisted along the shore until a point 22 miles from the railway was reached. Here they were left with friends with enough food to last six weeks and a store of medicine was sent in.

SHORTHAND WILL IS VALID

Unusual Method of Devising Large Estate Is Approved by English Court. London.—A will written in shorthand on a telegraph blank has been admitted to probate in solemn form, its validity upheld by the Probate court of England. It was written by Charles S. Orrin, a commercial traveler, who adopted phonetic writing as the quickest means of expressing his wishes regarding the disposition of his large estate when informed by the doctors that he had only a few hours to live.

The stenographic characters were so perfectly executed that they were readily translated by the official shorthand reporter of the court in which the will was offered for probate.

Ate Needle at Breakfast. Sterling, Ill.—Rudolph Jacobs, a farmer living near here, felt a sharp pain in his throat while eating breakfast. He went to a physician, who removed a large needle from his throat. How the needle got in his food is a mystery.

Around New York rent increases come with such regularity it keeps people moving to live within their means. One suburban resident recently stated he had moved so often in the past year, that every time his chickens saw a moving van, they lie on their backs and held up their feet to be tied.

$100,000 OFFERED FOR PINELLI

CINCINNATI, May 2.—The Cincinnati Times-Star says that the tip was out, and was backed by the word from Brooklyn, that Charles Ebbetts, president of the Brooklyn Nationals, had made a straight offer yesterday afternoon of $100,000 for Ralph "Babe" Pinelli, third baseman of the Cincinnati Reds. According to the story published by the Times-Star, the offer was made after the Cincinnati Club had refused an offer of Leon Cadore, pitcher, for Walter Kimmick, infielder.

August Hermann, president of the Cincinnati club, said to the Associated Press that he had not received such a proposition for Pinelli.

LESS BLINDNESS IN COUNTRY

Figures Reveal a Gratifying Decrease of Terrible Affliction Throughout the United States.

Imagine, if you can, a city of 120,000 inhabitants, where every single soul is totally blind. Here doctor, lawyer, merchant, policeman, with the rich man, poor man, bootlegger and thief, are all in the same boat—sightless.

America has the makings of just such a city. There are more than 130,000 totally blind people in the United States, and many times that number partly blind. The terrible part of it is that more than 57 per cent of blindness is classed as preventable, a large portion being the result of eyestrain.

It is encouraging to note, however, that blindness in America has decreased more than 20 per cent since glasses have become more common. Every other country has a far greater percentage of blindness, and they show a yearly increase. Three of every ten Americans wear glasses. Statistics prove that seven of each ten have enough eyestrain to warrant the wearing of correcting lenses.

When we realize the relation of good vision to health and happiness, it is hard to understand why so many people neglect their eyes until they are permanently injured. In the first draft of American soldiers in 1917, but slight caused nearly three times as many rejections as any other physical defect. At the time of the draft 2,510,703 men were examined and 21.68 per cent were rejected because of grossly defective vision.—Illustrated World.

When a firm of real estate operators recently requested a neighboring community to forward a photo of the most attractive place therein for publication they received a picture of the local cemetery by return mail.
