CARAWAY DIES GIVING G.O.P. SENATE SWAY

FIREY ARKANSAN
SCUMBLES TO OPERATION FROM WHICH HE WAS THOUGHT RECOVERING

(A.P.)—The fate which for months has disturbed the alignment in Congress seems to have settled at last upon Republican control of the Senate and Democratic organization of the House. The death last night of Thaddeus H. Caraway, fiery Arkansan, returned the Republican plurality of one which was lost by the re-election of Dwight Morrow.

With a Republican likely to be appointed in New Jersey to fill the vacancy before Congress convenes a month from today and with a special election necessary after the first of the year in Arkansas, Republians will hold a two-year session since a special election is necessary in Arkansas to fill the vacancy in the Senate.

The Senate is 47 Republicans, 46 Democrats, one former Independent who remains, Republicans have 211 seats in the House against 212 for the Democrats.

Speaker Caraway, suffering from a kidney ailment, underwent an operation Oct. 24. He was assisted by his physicians to have practically recovered last night because of pain to Mrs. Caraway. A few minutes later Mrs. Caraway stepped from her room. On her return she found him dead.

"Everything comes to him who waits and fights," was the philosophy of Thaddeus R. Caraway from his deathbed.

The burning spirit born in him was manifested in his efforts from time to time to United States seats over Arkansas. In the years since Caraway was a railway system worker, a book and patent enforcement alumnus, country school

LARGE DELEGATION
EXPECTED TO COME TO RELIGIOUS MEET

Between 200 and 300 delegates from more than a dozen states are expected to attend the convention of the Evangelical Free Church. An exhibition, to be held here for 10 days beginning Nov. 10. The session will be held at the City Hall.

Delegates are already registered from Georgia, Kentucky, Illinois, California, Tennessee, Virginia, North Carolina, as well as from Florida. Among the Florida conventions who will send delegations are Tampa, Fort Myers, Miami, West Palm Beach, Sarasota, Bradenton, Palatka, Tallahassee, Gainesville, Orlando, and other cities.

Special invited features at the meeting will include visits to various from colleges located at Nashville, Tenn., Wilson, Ky., Cincinnati, Ohio, and Chicago.

E. C. Wells, Orlando, is secretary-treasurer of the association and is in charge of all arrangements. The city of Sanford and the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce are actively co-operating in the local arrangements.

DOWNSIDE TO HOLD
DISTRICT MEET HERE

Notices were sent out yesterday afternoon to all active members of the Seminole Chapter Order of Downdays, urging them to attend a meeting Monday night at the Masonic Temple when plans for a district meeting to be held here on the following Monday Nov. 10, will be made.

State Deputy "Dad" Albert Wiles, of Tampa, will be here on that day to pay his official visit to the local chapter. Downdays pointed out. At present Ober Conductor, music director, is making plans to invite other Central Florida chapters to take part in the district work.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—(A.P.)—A new kite telephone has been installed today at the State Department which will place it in high officials' hands.

Coal Field Controversy Investigator Transformed Into Witness By News Men

TALE OF CRUELTY IS TOLD BY YOUTH IN POLICE COURT

Brother Says Sister Was Locked In Closet For Four Years

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—(A.P.)—A 15-year-old boy, to whom police officers had brought his 13-year-old sister, suffered in hunger, beatings, and solitary confinement. The Great Liberian Union and members of his family, who sought to learn what he had done, practiced what he advised.

The newspaperman — Herman Senn, publisher of the Pineville Sun, learned from the author of "An American Pageant," that his adopted mother now was approximately $30,000 and that he gave away his charity, but supported financially. The Great Liberian Union and members of his family, who sought to learn what he had done, practiced what he advised.

He was asked if he had removed her from a closet in the house of his father and stepmother, testifying he had seen the child beaten about 25 times, heard his stepmother say she was hungry and that he had seen her only about five or 10 times during the winter.

He said: "They kept her in a room on the top floor. Other times they brought her down stairs to a room about six feet square where she was found in filth by the policeman. She was fed the bread and only when there was enough left."

The little girl weighing only as much as a five or six-year-old child was carried into court only to give her name. She was found at her brother's old schoolmate of her four year imprisonment. A grand jury will get the case Monday. The parents' bond was raised to $2,500.

"May I ask you some questions?" Evans asked and when Dreser replied "vertently" he asked:

"What is your annual income?" "Approximately $4,000," said he.

"Did you give any of it to charity?"

"That's all," said the newspaperman.

Dreser asked him not to stop but took me some more questions. Evans then asked: "Do you give to any organizations?"

To which Dreser replied he contributed to the Civil Liberties Union and "other similar organizations."

Dreser recounted some personal miseries and said there were 14 members of his family, "but we were not very 'shrewd' and couldn't take care of themselves."

"I am trying to take care of my family," he said, and estimated he spent between $3,000 and $600. (Continued on Page Five)

Plans Being Made For Poultry Show On January 7, 8, 9

Seminole County's annual poultry show will next year be known as Seminole County Better Farmers and will be held on Jan. 7, 8 and 9.

It was decided at a meeting of members of the Agricultural Department of Seminole High School students.

The show will be emarged as that of last year, with every farm and dairy interest in the county as well as an intention of bringing together to make it a complete success. It will be based on the county's agricultural program with various practices discussed at Seminole Agricultural Club meetings during the year, to be effected by the incorporation of this plan in county fairs.

The committee in charge of the show includes Karl Johnson, J. A. Bistline, Heyward Walker, C. R. Dawson, R. R. Pippin and Alex R. Johnson.

Whitner Ships Bulbs To Bahama Islands

A large consignment of Seminole County gladiolus bulbs were shipped this week to the Nassau Tropical Gardens, Bahamas Islands, by B. F. Whitner, Jr., Sanford, as the result of a small advertisement in a trade paper.

Seminole County ships millions of bulbs each year. Perhaps two-thirds of these bulbs are shipped within the south-eastern states, one-third going to the North, according to the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce.

THREE TAKE ARMY TESTS

ST. AUGUSTINE, Nov. 7.—(A.P.)—Only three candidates for entrance at the United States military academy from the Florida national guard reported for final examinations here yesterday. They were John Gregg Penney, Miami; Charles Stanley Park, Gainesville; and Joseph Harper Hedges, Apopka.

Rising Economic Barometer Observed As Greater Activity Occurs In All Lines

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 7.—(A.P.)—Business Detroit, who came to Rockford's mills to investigate the country coal field controversy of the Harlan district, was transformed from a prosecutor to a defendant yesterday by a newspaperman who sought to learn what the famous doctor practiced when he advised.

The newspaperman — Herman Senn, publisher of the Pineville Sun, learned from the author of "An American Pageant," that his adopted mother now was approximately $30,000 and that he gave away his charity, but supported financially. The Great Liberian Union and members of his family, who sought to learn what he had done, practiced what he advised.

Dreser, editor of the Kentucky edition about his religion, family and other personal matters asked Evans if he thought it best to earn between $300 and $500 a week while miners of the district worked for $30 and $10 a month. He had expressed the opinion in editor's sympathies were with mine operators.

"May I ask you some questions?" Evans asked and when Dreser replied "vertently" he asked:

"What is your annual income?" "Approximately $4,000," said he.

CARLTON RECITES GAS TAX BENEFIT TO THIS COUNTY

Advantages Of New Act Told In Report
Of Chief Executive

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 7.—(A.P.)—Carlton Carlton, chairman of the Seminole County gas tax committee, will speak Saturday at the 10th anniversary of the Chinese occupation of Manchuria.

The gasoline tax law recently passed by the House of Representatives will give Seminole County $2,100,000 the year the act takes effect.

The automobile license tax law will give the county $1,000,000 the year it takes effect.

The two tax measures, together, will give the county $3,100,000 this year to help children in the county a minimum of eight months free education.

ONG OF THE JESTER DWARF

Then I was pale and pinched and poor.
I had her name nor fame, sir, everybody turned me from the door.
And the animals did the same;
sigh.
The hog, the dog and the little

I am swoln in purse and pelf Oh, what a change begins sir, everybody loves me for myself And hurries to ask me in, sir—
The hog, the dog and the little hen, too!

very next morning the grand jury years or more for alleged discrepancy in their accounts. Evidently they just didn't take that harmony talk very seriously.

Or maybe they thought the best way to promote harmony is to keep quiet.

Observe The Game Laws

Last summer President Hoover urged that the hunting season for ducks be reduced throughout the United States on account of the high mortality rate among this class of game during the past few years and the danger that it might become extinct altogether. Splendid co-operation has been given and in most states the hunting seasons have been reduced or eliminated temporarily.

It now remains only for law enforcement officers and hunters themselves to see to it that the laws of the state are properly observed. The laws of Florida are not too severe in this respect and allow every nimrod adequate opportunity to enjoy the thrills of hunting. Only those who are innately selfish and wholly inconsiderate of the rights of other hunters and future generations would be tempted to take advantage of the prevailing insufficiency of game wardens and the opportunity which this situation affords for safe violation of game laws.

To secure assistance for game wardens, Governor Carlton has recently addressed letters to the sheriffs of the various counties in the state calling upon them to be unusually vigilant and co-operative in helping the wardens enforce the game laws. "Since the number of game wardens is limited", he writes, "I will generally appreciate your co-operation to the end that the game law may be better enforced and the spirit of sportsmanship held up among the hunters of the state". The Governor expresses his belief that our wild life is one of the greatest assets we have in this state, and insists that we can always have it in great abundance by careful observance of hunting laws.

State Game Commissioner C. C. Woodward has also issued the following appeal to the citizens: "The Governor has requested the law enforcement officers of the state to be especially active in enforcing the game laws. In appealing to the citizens of the state to abide by the law and to report to the sheriffs of the various counties and to the game wardens, or to the office at Tallahassee, any violations that come to their knowledge. It's less than three weeks until the season opens. In spirit of fairness, refrain from taking advantage of your neighbor by shooting before the season opens. While the forty wardens allowed the Department by law are busy night and day, it is a physical impossibility for them to properly patrol the sixty-seven counties. Lend your assistance by observing the law yourself and urge your neighbor to do likewise. Report any infraction of the law."

With the hunting season almost upon us, it is well for our citizens to be giving some thought to the appeals being made by our public leaders. Don't hunt before the season begins. And don't shoot more than your share. That is the only fair and sportsmanlike attitude for the hunter to assume.

The Herald Cooking School

The Sanford Herald takes pleasure in calling particular attention to its announcement the other night that arrangements have been completed for its third annual cooking school, the most complete and comprehensive cooking school which has yet been held in this country. This year the school will be held in two sessions, the first on November 12 and 13, under Miss Viola Decker, who will demonstrate with electrical equipment, the second on November 24 and 25, under Mrs. Dorothy Harris, who will explain gas ranges and other equipment. Both sessions will be held in the morning at the Milane Theater.

These two capable dieticians and culinary experts will not only bring with them many pleasing and appetizing recipes which they will show their spectators how to use, but, what is, perhaps, more important in these days of economic stringency, they will teach them how to get the most out of their stoves, for the least amount of money. There is quite an art in cooking economically, not only in the selection of the ingredients for the foods to be prepared, but also in the operation of the stove on which they are to be cooked. Any cook can light a burner but not every one knows exactly how to make the fire in order to obtain the best results. This and many other things of a similar nature may be learned at The Herald Cooking School.

We wish to explicitly emphasize that all Seminole County residents are invited to attend. The young girl who with modern inclinations, is probably thinking a great deal more of parties and dances than home economics, is invited, and will learn much to benefit herself if she attends.
Despite the trend of the jazz age, the way to a man's heart is still through his stomach. Her mother, too, who has doubtless been cooking with more or less regularity for some thirty years, is also invited and we hope that she too may pick up a few pointers which will make her work a little easier, a little more interesting, and, if possible, a little more commendable.

Also to the negro cooks of this community we extend an invitation. We suggest to housekeepers that they make special arrangements for their cooks to attend these sessions in order that their service to their families may be improved. To negro cooks, unemployed we recommend that they take advantage of this opportunity to increase their knowledge in their chosen line of work, and we promise them that if they reach the point of perfection in the art of cooking which years of experience should give them, they will have little difficulty in obtaining a job.

SANFORD, TWENTY YEARS AGO

The Land A Hand Society will meet in a few days in the Welakwa Club rooms at 8 o'clock. A full attendance of the members is desired and every young lady in the city is most urgently requested to be present. A very interesting program has been arranged for the afternoon. Miss Linda Leffler will give a Biographical sketch of Edward Everett Hale from whom the Land A Hand Society was modeled. Miss Georgia Stull will give a sketch of "The Man Without a Country". Others to take part on the program are Miss Charlotte Keeler, Miss Florence Frank and Miss Mabel Swilley.

WHAT A GIRL
PENSACOLA NEWS

Announcement has just been made of awarding of the Langley Bell Medal to Dora Lee Bryant of Muscogee. This medal is awarded each year to that member of the girls' 4-H clubs who has made the best all round record for the year.

The awarding of a medal to a young girl may seem of little moment but this represents something of vast importance in the growth of this county and the development of its womanhood.

The report of her work made by Miss Bryant is nothing short of amazing. It is not only a story of work but of accomplishment. More than that it is a story revealing possibilities almost unlimited.

Here is a girl living, as she says, all her life on a farm. But on that farm she is living her life in such a way that many a town girl might envy her opportunities.

She can sew beautifully. She makes her own clothes and those of her family. She has a garden and raises vegetables for her family.
She and her mother put up from 250 to 300 jars of farm produce each fall, so that they may have variety during the winter.

She is a dietician, having made a special study of nutrition, so that she knows what to eat and keep herself a model of health by growing and eating healthful foods.

She is studying home improvement, and has just made over her bed-room, painting her furniture and making her hangings.

She has had trips to Tallahassee, Jacksonville, to Chicago. She was sent by the state and the country because of her health rating for scholarship which enabled them to spend two weeks at the Florida State College for Women, under instruction of the college home economic teachers.

Occasionally a girl wins such high honors that the state gives her a trip to Washington or Chicago.

These things are fine. They show that the six years spent by her club work have been well applied.
But how much more than that is needed between the lines of her essay.

She is a healthy, happy, beautiful girl. Beautiful in the sense that she is healthy body, a fine posture, well preserved teeth mean. Then did not come to her easily. She won the scholarship.

She studied the laws of health

THE HOME TOWN NEWSPAPER

THE MELBOURNE TIMES

Being fortunate enough to live and work in the Melbourne community, The Melbourne Times does not find itself in the class of so-called amateur and uneducated mediation, but this paper would like to add a few words to the things that Roger Babson has to say about the home-town newspaper.

Mr. Babson, whose opinions rate at top-notch, pleads for greater support of the country's newspapers.
His paragraph, widely quoted, handles his subject in this vivid way:

"We are all inclined to lake our newspapers for granted—to pay our two or three cents, get a dollar's worth of news and information and forget needed in a glorious friendliness.

Short-sighted, or timid, or ignorant people lose opportunities to make money because they have not learned the rules of advertising.

Some of them, plodding enough, endeavor to advertise through mediums that bring them nothing in return. But for the most part—speaking again from the vantage of a community like Melbourne's business concerns that are assets to a town go after their patronage in an intelligent, aggressive way.

The Times likes to think that a newspaper going into the homes of the people is a messenger pointing the way to greater benefits—one that may be welcomed as a friend, aid guide.

The Times also likes to take an opportunity, like a theme of this sort offers, to say that it always finds cooperation in its territory, and a preponderance of appreciation that expresses itself in a practical way.

Babson urges everyone to "get behind his own town paper and boost it." In so doing everyone boasts his own and his town's growth.

The times likes that paragraph, of course. Every newspaper likes to have a man like Roger Babson express appreciation for the big work that a newspaper does, but there is another side to the argument.

Postmaster W. H. Turner has announced that he was recently informed that the large postoffice is one of the six in the state chosen for new fixtures and equipment.

The front portion of the postofice which the boxes are set in, is to be removed and an all steel section is to be installed into which the boxes will be fitted. The section will have a polished oak frame to brighten it up. The entire interior is to be replaced, all desks, tables, safe, etc., are to be replaced with new and modern equipment.

It is only the newspaper advertising these days that GETS the business.

The same business men need not trouble his head about giving advertising to a newspaper. He need only think in a cold-blooded way of his own prosperity. He knows that to get business he must give after it.

He knows that the surest way to call back prospective customers is through the medium of a newspaper that goes into their community. He must choose a newspaper that is a NEWS-paper —a publication that is subscribed for because it stands for progress, industry, good will.

The successful merchant does not depend upon his personal abilities to bring him trade; he depends upon advertising to do that for him.

He depends upon the readers of his home-town newspaper.

The Times heartily agrees with Mr. Babson that "we can't afford to let our newspaper go to waste." It is the duty of every newspaper to do its best to help its community.

The Melbourne Times is doing its best to help its community.

The Melbourne Times is doing its
best to help its community.

The Melbourne Times is doing its
best to help its community.

The Melbourne Times is doing its

LATE WORLD NEWS PICTURES

BUSINESS SEEN AS LOOKING UP OVER FLORIDA

Businesses in the Everglades have been hit with the hindrance of high water which has marked so many seasons. He terms the outfit "the best in history." The road, though, for the first time, has been cleared by the state and Everglades farmers are assured of a free road to market at least until the season ends.

The $9,000,000 state-controlled waterway project in Lake Okeechobee is in the initial stages of development. Engineers are working on experiments to determine what to do with the areas from there. Many men will be employed when the real work gets under way.

Construction of a quarter mile long bridge is slated at West Palm Beach where racing is expected to begin in January.

The government has estimated

Florida's citrus crop at 28,500,000 bushels, up 10 percent.

It is too high by the Florida Citrus Exchange and others, but the government has estimated its extension is $3,000,000 lower than last year.

Sales representatives of the Exchange gathering in Florida from Eastern and Northern states report business is brighter.

They said prospects appeared to indicate a fairly prosperous season for the industry.

Fort Lauderdale is installing new citrus packing house and other sections are either shipping citrus or making readies to do so. Officials have explained that the citrus crop is inferior to去年's fruit, but they reported the work effectively much fruit going abroad to an increasing market.

Franklin County has joined Dade, Flagler and Clay Counties in legislating racing as an attraction for tourists. St. Petersburg is building a $30,000 municipal bridge and the city of Lakeland is cleaning up the streets for the season's guests.

Shaded was the first carload of vegan bodies given all-water to New England by the C. & N. R. Co., shipped down the St. Johns, was transferred to ocean steamer at Jacksonville.

Improving business conditions at home were seen in the increase of city tax collections. Collecting for October was $71,870, an increase of $1,000 over the total amount on the books for the year. It was the largest first month's collection in history.

Building permits for the first ten months of the year at Gainesville had exceeded the total for the year 1930 by $40,000. The amount did not include $100,000 spent in the construction of Fort Monroe, a $100,000 State and Federal road cut-off within the city limits; a $40,000 city sewerage district and $100,000 in street improvements to suburban property.

Farmers in the Gainesville territory produced a record crop of citrus fruit, at prices higher than a year ago.

Merchants reported business was 10 to 15 per cent better at this time last year.

Building permits at Winter

Gardens reached $500,000 in October, the highest in several months.

Businessmen saw an indication of upward trend in winter sales.

Businessmen, all witness opening of fall sales next week. A forerunner of the season came this week when $2,000 in spargos were shipped to New York.

Florida leaders emphasized that business improvement activity would be utilized in caring for local employment problems and that help from other states should stay away.
