Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: The other night some friends of ours and my husband were at a party. Everyone had a few drinks, and I had enough to make me waxy so I went into the bathroom and stretched out on the bed. I was lying there with a cold wash rag over my face and my eyes closed when someone came into the bedroom and kissed me. I was afraid to open my eyes to see who it was, but I am sure it wasn't my husband.

I am afraid to ask any of the men who were at the party for fear of asking the wrong man. What must I do?

SURPRISED

DEAR ABBY: I have just discovered a very important fact I hope you will print to save many people from unhappiness.

Marriage is not for everyone. I think this is mainly true of men, but it applies to some women, too. I was married for several years to one of the prettiest and nicest women on earth, but this didn't keep me from being attracted to other women. We are now divorced for that reason and now I realize I never should have been married in the first place. Some people are simply incapable of being faithful.

No conceit intended, but I am a very desirable man, and it is impossible for me to be around an attractive woman without flirting with her. Now that I am a bachelor I can do as I please without worrying about hurting anyone as I will limit my attentions to unmarried women.

BORN SWINGER

DEAR SWINGER: Boys flirt. Men prefer a deeper, more mature relationship. No one is incapable of being faithful. But many are unwilling.

DEAR ABBY: My fiance and I have been engaged for years (he was in Viet Nam) and we are getting married in November. The problem is my mother died five months ago and my father says he will give me away, but he doesn't want us to have anything except a ceremony in the Methodist church because he just couldn't face people without men. My aunt who has been like a mother to me says I should have a reception afterward regardless of what dad says, and I really would like to, but I hate to go against dad's wishes. I've got to consider my fiance's family, too.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069.

Jacoby On Bridge

Here is a beautiful dilemma play taken from Jeremy Flint's "Tiger Bridge." Since he doesn't tell us who the tiger was, we will assume that Jeremy himself was the hero.

East held the first trick with his king of clubs and looked over dummy. It was apparent that West held the jack and nine, a club return would take care of South's chances immediately. East also saw that clubs would keep, since East's queen of diamonds was a sure entry.

Suppose West held the ace of spades and ace-nine-eight of clubs. Then a club return should be made immediately.

East decided this was unlikely. He knew that South was almost sure to hold the spade ace.

Worry Clinic

By Dr. Crane

Ph. D. M. D. CASE R-338: Esther V., aged 37, works at the souvenir counter in a Washington hotel.

Mrs. Crane and I were invited there when we were billed to the President's Prayer Breakfast last February.

Since I always like to read newspapers, Mrs. Crane thoughtfully stopped to bring a paper up to our room.

"Oh, I feel terrible today," Esther began.

"And I hate this job, but the other girl was off duty so I had to come to work today on constant compulsion."

"But I detest it! So I wish they'd fire me!"

Mrs. Crane summarized the answer but decided to put Esther on the spot, so Mrs. Crane asked:

"If you dislike your job so much, why don't you quit?"

Esther shook her head.

"Not on your life! I like the money. If I quit, I wouldn't get unemployment insurance."

"But if I could get them to fire me, then I could loaf at home and draw my pay for months!"

This example is an evidence of the "dry rot" or internal decay that is threatening our formerly virile republic.

The great Roman republic likewise crumbled for the very same reason!

It is psychologically unwise for "senior" guaranteed employment and other stultifying rules to emasculate the spirit of a nation!

Our "free enterprise" system is based on constant competition. Workers are supposed to keep on their toes to gain a livelihood.

That has brought this young Republic to the forefront of all world powers!

But now far too many employees want the boss (who is glorified Mamma and Papa) to take all the risks!

Nowadays, many workers demand unemployment insurance jobs, but so they can loaf at home on unemployment compensation.

This negative attitude was really started in the 1930s by the WPA, which urged workers to stall around and string out one day's work till it took a week.

The former "positive" pride in speedy, efficient accomplishment has been replaced by a "don't care" attitude.

Workers often act like children in their naive demand for guaranteed annual incomes, regardless of the basic "supply and demand" forces that are inherent in a successful economic system.

Stockholders deserve dividends every time employees get their pay checks!

But workers often act as if an employer can mint new money every week to fill their pay envelopes, even if they don't produce enough finished products that are sufficiently saleable to keep the firm solvent.

Alas, an employer has no guaranteed annual profits! And Congress never passes a "minimum dividends" rate to match minimum wage scales!

And if exorbitant wage demands drive the corporation bankrupt, it is never guaranteed any "unemployment dividends" for the next 6 months or a year!

Employers thus serve as substitute Mamma and Papa to their employees. But the latter's greater voting strength makes the NLR Board favor them almost constantly!

It's high time monopolistic labor unions also realized they can kill the goose that lays the golden eggs. They can soon produce a socialistic take-over, as in Germany under Hitler.

We need far more religious usage of workers in the "Golden Rule," plus elementary elementary business economics!

So send for your "Tests for Employers and Employees," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25¢.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25¢ to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Polly's Pointers

By Polly Cramer

DEAR POLLY—When hemming a skirt or dress by hand, place a cushion on your lap and have finer work that is easier to do.

When doing embroidery work, try using a corduroy cushion, preferably one with a large button in the center. This button holds the thimble and small scissors. The different colors of floss needed are placed at one corner, a skein of floss divided for work on another corner and there is space left for the unusable short ends. The floss sticks to the corduroy and is kept orderly. When work is stopped for the time being the material being worked on stays on top. — M. B. L.

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—I was recently given a certain leather Bible cover but it has an overwhelming musty odor. Is there anything that will eliminate this? — EVELYN

DEAR POLLY—My Pet Peeve is the neglect of the small woman in the 20-to-30 age group who has a good figure, looks younger than her age, wants to dress stylishly without having to wear the very young and juvenile or hippie fashions she finds in size 8. I find so many of the clothes in small sizes are faddish and not suited to us larger ones. I wish we could see more publications frequently featuring the "typical" woman and show that they, too, can look stylish and lovely and be suitably dressed—not too young-looking and not too matronly. — SARA

DEAR POLLY—All Mrs. S. A. C. has to do to solve her problem with the metal bath-room stool is to remove all the paint and then sand with fine sandpaper. At an auto supply store, buy a small can of body primer and spray this on the stool. It dries very fast, then she can apply the paint of her choice. This works well for me. — EDWARD

DEAR POLLY—To make an extra dirty clothes "hamper," use a pillowcase held to two coat hangers by six clothespins, three on each hanger. The pins stay in place better if you first crochet around the hangers. — MRS. R. E. P.

DEAR GIRLS—When a house plant needs support to hold it up, a wire coat hanger works well. Hold the plant as straight as possible with two wires close together, then bend the hook so it is at right angle. Stick end in dirt and catch hook around the stalk that needs support. — POLLY

Disaster Operation Practice

This week has been designated officially "Seminoke County Civil Defense Week" by the board of county commissioners.

During this week a simulated natural disaster will be developed culminating in an exercise titled "Emergency Operations Simulation (EOS)" on Friday from 9 a.m. to noon.

The commissioners' department heads and other county employees will be involved in the simulated disaster. In addition will be coordinator personnel from state welfare, Red Cross, hospital and municipalities within the county.

The emergency operations center (EOC) will be at the Civic Center in Sanford in order that the normal work day at the Courthouse will not be disrupted.

Also observing their wedding anniversary were son, Micky, and Rosemary Rotundo who joined mom and dad on the boat trip. Mr. and Mrs. Michael Porter also came along for the delightful outing.

By LIZ MATHIEUX

I called Martha Rotundo the other day and she told me that she and Mike observed their 25th wedding anniversary by taking a boat trip up Lemon Bluff, through to Lake Harney, up to Blue Springs and just wherever they wanted to go.

While away they visited Disneyworld, San Diego, Glacier Park, Grand Canyon, Mt. Rushmore and Yellowstone Park.

They eventually roomed up into Canada and are now home at Rest Haven-on-Lake Harney where lovely Shirley says that they are busy engaged pulling weeds trying to see outside.

Bill is the local Scout Master of Troop 509 so I know that they were in good hands and saw all that should have been seen!

Della Kryder Is A Woman Of Many Talents Hobbies And Crafts Earn Awards

By MARILYN GORDON

Interested in unusual hobbies? Mrs. Harold (Della) Kryder of Lake Drive, Casselberry, has been along with a super abundance of talent.

Back in the days when contesting involved more skill, Della won many prizes. She even took courses offered on contest winning and joined contest clubs where members with the common interest shared their knowledge. She was either very lucky or very talented winning all sorts of prizes from a can opener and a dog up to a refrigerator.

When, however, contests became drawings and sweepstakes instead of skill testing, she lost interest and turned to other hobbies.

Her lovely home bears the touch of her individuality. A favorite past time is the making of robes, hats and fancy coats of arms. Shops in the area show samples of these and take orders in making engravings and custom designs for all occasions. She has won awards in county and state fairs. Name R. and Della has made it.

Della has been active in the American Legion Auxiliary and belongs to Unit 236 of Casselberry of which she was charter president. She has held many local, district, and state offices both here and in Indiana where she and her husband lived before retiring in Casselberry. Della also taught school for many years.

She has served in several offices in the Women's Society of Christian Service at Community United Methodist Church.

Judge States: 'I'll Take Full Rap' Juvenile Court Operations Outlined

By KATHY NIBLACK
ALTA MONTE SPRINGS — "I will take the full rap for what goes on in the Orange County Juvenile Court," said Judge J. Chester Kerr as he spoke before the monthly meeting of the Maitland-South Seminole Chamber of Commerce at Valley Forge Country Club. "I will favor probation rather than state school. I will turn over juveniles as opposed to packing them in like animals. I will not hang a child the first time he comes into juvenile court."

Kerr, judge for the juvenile court, cited a recent incorrect news article which blasted the court for releasing four juveniles after 48 hours. These juveniles then went back and stole the guns they had been trying to steal when arrested in the first place. The news article also accused the juvenile court of being inefficient in other ways. "Our whole United States Justice System is built on releasing juveniles from jail until they are proven guilty," said Kerr. He then went on to describe various facets of the juvenile court, including his staff and their salary and the detention facilities of the court.

The Orange County Juvenile Court has 15 full-time counselors, and three who are part-time. In addition, the court has requested nine additional counselors for next year—two of these have been approved. Two of the counselors are aged 63, one is aged 65, and the average age is 55.8 years. All the counselors hold degrees in either Sociology or Criminal Justice in Correction, with the exception of one who holds a Theology degree. Three of the counselors are black.

The work load for counselors is very heavy—approximately 50 probationary young people per counselor. This adds up to a load of almost 800 cases per counselor per year. Juvenile court workers are very nearly the lowest paid among comparable counties. Judge Kerr is adamant about the importance of each member of his staff. "The juvenile court is only as good as you have people to man it," he said.

"We have a miserable detention system," continued Kerr, and he went on to describe detention rooms measuring six feet by nine feet, in which it is necessary to house four juveniles at one time. "If you want to know why I'm turning kids loose, I think you have your answer," he said.

Kerr expressed deep concern with the mounting runaway problem in Orange County, and the fact that Walt Disney World and other attractions act as magnets to dissatisfied young people. "The runaway problem is going to grow up," he said. "We need expanded detention facilities (other than county detention facilities) that are in the planning stages now. These include the use of private homes to house young people, and the possible use of the Sanford Naval Air Base for the same purpose.

Kerr also spoke of the drug problem in Orange and surrounding counties. "As we stand here, we don't have a drug treatment center," he said, and expressed the serious need for such a center. "Everybody in the business knows we're going to be drowning in juvenile problems," he said. He went on to state that in six years, delinquency has grown 50 per cent with a population increase of only 25 per cent. "We are skyrocketing," he said.

Judge Kerr went on to cite the problems which cause delinquency. Among these he listed drugs, parents, mass media, the Supreme Court, merchants and advertising, alcohol, and changing attitudes. He described some alternate plans (other than county detention facilities) that are in the planning stages now. These include the use of private homes to house young people, and the possible use of the Sanford Naval Air Base for the same purpose.

Educated Electors, Lawmakers Needed

By KATHY NIBLACK
What will it cost to strengthen our state legislature? According to William James, legislative liaison to the Republican state executive committee, all that is needed is "fully informed electors." He is "fully informed legislators and fully informed electors."

This revelation came during his talk at the monthly meeting of the Seminole County Young Republicans Club. "The people in this state are totally ignorant of the state government," James said, and he pointed out particular lack of understanding in regards to the State Cabinet system, the powers of the three branches of government, and voter power. "The people don't understand the power they have," he said.

James blamed an "antiquated, outdated cabinet system," untransformed legislators and the federal government for a present weakness in the state government. "The federal government has usurped the responsibilities of the states," he said, "to fill a vacuum caused by the states' failure to take on these responsibilities themselves." "The state government is the creator of all government," he continued, "and we need to bring the government back to the people."

He went on to say that money is not going to solve the problems of the state of Florida and speculated that a solution will come only through fully informed legislators and electors.

James admonished the Young Republicans to become interested in and to study state government. "The people who represent you are a reflection of yourselves," he warned. "Get rid of legislators who don't work."

P. Owens Trial Is Continued

Trial of Peter D. Owens, charged with second degree murder, has been continued for a second time until October. Owens was docketed for trial on June 21, which was continued until the trial docket for this week.

Owens is charged in the death of his wife, Winifred Thayer Owens, 32, who was allegedly murdered at their home on Mellonville Avenue. Police were called to the home by a man reporting a shooting at the residence. Officers found Mrs. Owens, a licensed practical nurse at Seminole Memorial Hospital, sitting at a dining room table dressed in a nightgown. She had been shot in the chin by a .22 caliber pistol. A post mortem disclosed that the bullet had entered from the back of her neck. She was pronounced dead on arrival at the local hospital on April 21.

Owens, 37-year-old retired Sanford resident, was arraigned on May 15. He was bound over to Circuit Court in April following a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace Robert Carroll and was released on $5,000 bond.

Illegal Dredging, Filling On St. Johns Charged

JACKSONVILLE — (SPL) — A Seminole County land developer has been charged with illegal dredging and filling of two natural sloughs on the St. Johns River some 10 miles southeast of Sanford. It was disclosed today by the U.S. Department of Justice and the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

Louis B. Hills, of Otsego, president of Kumpkop, Inc., of Lake Park, was named in a Justice Department complaint issued late last week. The complaint was based on an investigation conducted by the Army Corps of Engineers. Engineers said the illegal dredging occurred on a point just north of the abandoned Ocoosa airfield which serves as the area sanitary landfill.

This is the second charge lodged by Army Engineers and the Justice Department in recent weeks in a crackdown on illegal dredging. Earlier Joseph G. Moretti Jr. was arrested where Hills is accused of excavating three canals and filling in three marginal land areas, as well as constructing a dam without the benefit of a Department of the Army permit or certification from the Florida Air and Water Pollution Control Department.

Army engineers have had the case under active investigation for several months.

The Justice Department complaint alleges that the developer violated the federal statutes by damming off the slough in a navigable waterway — a part of the St. Johns River — pumping it out and then excavating canals and landfill in the affected slough.

Longwood Aide Hits Developers

By DONNA ESTES
LONGWOOD — City Supervisor Robert Fisher criticized developers who are building subdivisions to increase capacity will be necessary without the help of the city on these costs.

A vote was taken by the council on "deviating from the city's policy of stabilizing streets in order for builders to pass FHA inspection." "The city should not assume the developers' responsibility," Mrs. Fisher said.

Council Chairman E. E. Williamson agreed with her but Councilman James and Agnes Webster cast negative votes. With Councilman E. L. Helms absent there was no majority on the issue and motion died.

severe trouble if it continues without help from the builders on these costs.

Councilman Eugene James insisted these builders should not be assessed the cost of either the water lines or street improvements. Councilman Sanders Thompson disagreed with James' position. She said all builders should pay cost of water lines and street improvements and should plan for these costs when building their homes.

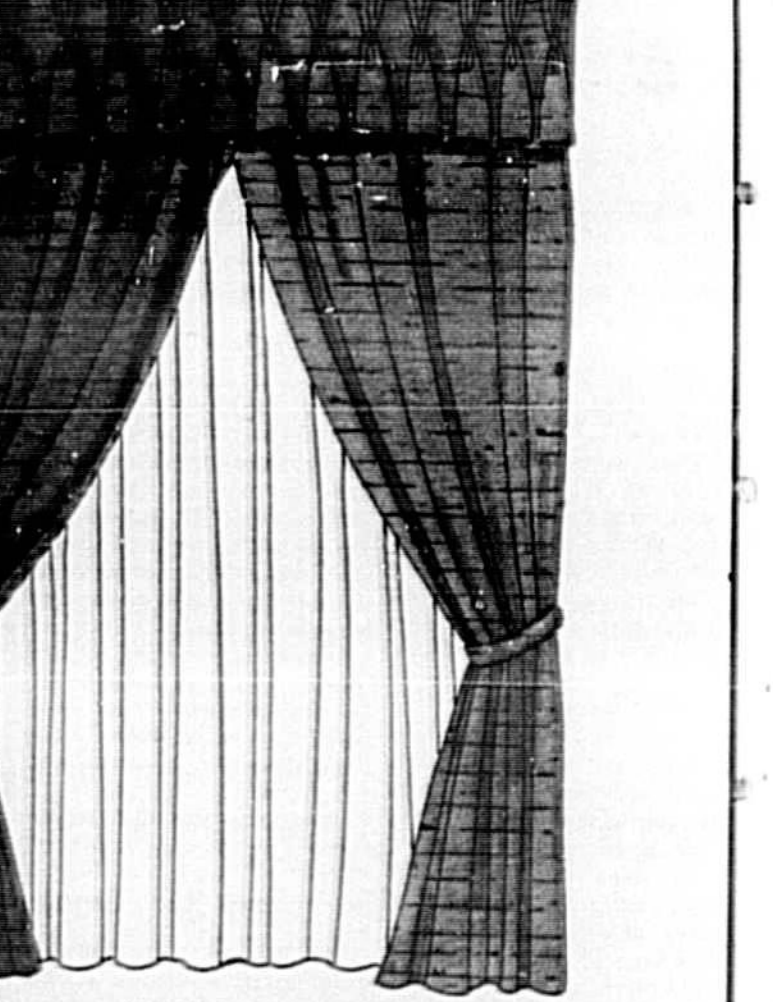

Fisher also pointed out while there is sufficient water in the city wells, expensive improvements to water pumps to increase capacity will be necessary without the help of the city on these costs.

The superintendent said cost for extending and purchasing water lines are going to increase sharply as more and more developing continues. He pointed out while the subdivision ordinance requires a developer of a new subdivision to pay all costs of water line and street improvements to serve his homes, other builders using already platted lands do not pay these costs. Fisher warned, the city will be in

'Crash' Hearings Scheduled Sept. 8 Nixon 'Selling' Solons On Economics

By BROOKS JACKSON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon today summoned key congressional figures to sell them on the tax-cut portion of his new economic policy—a policy that already has disgruntled the use of private homes to house young people, and the possible use of the Sanford Naval Air Base for the same purpose.

Kerr also spoke of the drug problem in Orange and surrounding counties. "As we stand here, we don't have a drug treatment center," he said, and expressed the serious need for such a center. Port Skips Action On Moving Office

* Continued From Page 1
According to informants, SCOPA is required to keep its offices in line with an agreement from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), in the downtown area and, therefore, is not in a position to move the office to the federal agency that lent the money to construct the port.

If the County Commission fails to approve funds to allow SCOPA to remain in its present offices, it is expected the port officials will find rental from SCOPA estimate accounts.

If the County Commission elects to prevent this, it is the outcome, according to persons close to the situation.

At last night's session, SCOPA directed James Ryan, port administrator, to pursue proposals to locate a Pompano Beach steel fabricator at the port.

Atlantic Belter Inc. wants a one-acre site in which to locate a prefabricated building to work from 20 to 25 people in fabricating steel products.

The raw steel would be sent by barge from a Georgetown (S.C.) plant, Ryan said. He added this could mean a substantial annual payroll.

Ryan also disclosed that Parma, Inc., an equipment holding and investment company engaged in painting steel bridges and setting steel pipe for piling, is wanting to establish a mobile office on SCOPA property and would employ a number of local persons as yard foreman and laborers.

Ryan said the firm desires about five acres of port land. The authority directed the administrator to investigate further the Parma proposal.

New officers were elected at last night's session. Harold H. Knutson was again chosen chairman. James C. Wagner, newly reappointed member, was listed as vice chairman.

Trials Slated Oct. 4 For Drug Defendants

By MARION BETHA
At arraignments held this morning before Circuit Judge Dominick Salfi, trial was set for Oct. 4 in the cases of several defendants who were arrested on Aug. 5-9 in a crackdown on illegal drug activities in the area.

Set for trial on the above date Jerry Scott, charged with possession or control of a central nervous stimulant; Lonnie Allen, charged with sale and possession of a hallucinogenic drug; Christopher Robinson, charged with sale and possession of a hallucinogenic drug; Scott Siewert, charged with sale and possession of cannabis; Jerry Chomoly, charged in two counts with sale and possession of a narcotic drug; John Malone, charged with sale and possession of a narcotic drug; Keith Putt, charged with sale of a narcotic drug; Patricia Wilford, charged with sale of a narcotic drug; and Mike Whelan, charged with sale and possession of a narcotic drug. Also Raymond Bookout, charged in three cases with carrying a concealed firearm, buying or aiding in the concealment of stolen property and dealing in the credit cards of another. The state nolle prossed three cases this morning relative to the above defendants. Charges were dropped in one of the three cases of Jerry Chomoly in which he was charged with sale and possession of cannabis (marijuana).

Also dropped were charges of sale and possession of cannabis against Rick Blundell and charges of sale and possession of cannabis against Mike Whelan.

Arraignments were continued until next week in the cases of Tom Driscoll, charged with sale and possession of cannabis; James Pulgiam Jr. charged with unlawful burning of lands, and Blake Hamm, charged with sale and possession of a hallucinogenic drug. All were continued due to the fact the defendants appeared without counsel and the court inquired regarding an insolvency status.

Assistant Public Defender Gerald Rutberg was appointed to defend Pulgiam.

Zane Clark, charged in a myriad of cases, had his arraignment continued until next week since he advised the court that his attorney is involved elsewhere in a murder trial.

Clark is charged in three cases with sale of a narcotic drug, sale and possession of a central nervous stimulant, assault with intent to commit a felony and sale and possession of a narcotic drug.

This morning Clark requested that the court consider reduction of his $50,000 bond, asking that the court set a "reasonable bond." Since he was present without attorney the court made no decision. The usually deeper pocket who has had skirmishes with the law stemming from last September, appeared today unshaven and untidy.

Hill was booked on three charges, breaking and entering with intent to commit a felony, which has a $2,500 bond; assault with intent to commit a felony, a $5,000 bond, and attempting to elude a police officer, a $500 bond.

Development Plan OK'd By North Orlando

By MARION BETHA
NORTH ORLANDO — Village Council last night unanimously approved a request by Florida Land Company for modification of the planned unit development for the northwest section of the area. The area encompasses 553 acres and the revisions affect arterial streets as well as the design of a proposed golf course.

A public hearing on the matter was held prior to the Council's decision and no objections were cited.

Also approved was a change of zoning request by former Mayor Clifford Jordan from R-1A to R-1 west of the Meadowlark subdivision.

Village Attorney Thomas A. Freeman queried the request by Councilman Charles Kelley, who was absent, regarding zoning to requiring more footage. However, a representative stated that homes are planned for 1,500 square feet, consequently this would not bother the developer if the R-1 requirements are changed since they are concerned only with the lot size.

A public hearing also was held on this request and Mrs. Warda Sasser questioned the size of the lots, etc. Mayor Geraldine Brown said that the living area is 900 square feet with 70x110 size lots.

Mrs. Victoria Baker asked if these are to be cheaper houses with the smaller lots, which she answered was that the small lot size home will be 1,500 square feet and will cost $17,100 in the present Meadowlark subdivision. Homes in the new

Kniffin Charges Reduced

Trial of William Kniffin, charged with first degree murder in the death of his one-year-old stepdaughter, Minnie Lee Bell, last February, was being delayed until Wednesday.

The trial was scheduled to begin yesterday in Circuit Court before Judge Clarence Johnson Jr. but was continued due to a ruling by the First District Court of Appeal, Tallahassee.

The ruling cites that if a grand jury indictment for a capital offense does not include lesser offenses, the defendant may demand to be tried only on the capital charge and the jury must not be instructed by the court that it may bring back a verdict on a lesser count.

Indications are that the first degree murder charge may be dropped and that Kniffin will be charged with second degree murder and manslaughter.

A problem arises in that the state does not have time under the speedy trial law, in which all those charged with a felony must be tried within 180 days arrest or within 60 days upon demand, to take the case back before a county grand jury.

Kniffin's wife, Kathryn, was also charged with first degree murder but the charges were dropped.

Qs And As To Wage - Price Freeze

WASHINGTON (AP) — Q. How will the wage-price freeze be enforced? A. It will be "monitored" by the White House, says the staff of the Office of Emergency Preparedness. This agency which would provide the skeleton for a price and ration control agency in time of war. Q. Does OEP have a staff capable of nationwide price-wage surveillance? A. Reporter Returns To The Viet War

EDITORS NOTE: A year ago, Associated Press correspondent Peter Arnett left Vietnam after eight years of covering the war, during which he won a Pulitzer Prize for his reporting. He recently returned for three weeks. Here is his appraisal of how Vietnam looks to him one year later.

By PETER ARNETT
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — American is getting out. It's militarily and, in a sense, psychologically, most Americans here feel their war is ending. That is the inescapable impression gathered in a three-week return visit by the correspondent after a one-year absence.

The sights and sounds of withdrawal are everywhere. You see it in Qui Nhon, again a fishing village and no longer the hectic, noisy supply center for the thousands of GIs who fought the bloody battles at I Chuan and Dak To. The airfield is closed. The few Americans are civilians. You see it flying over Vietnam. The broad Vietnamese highlands remain studied by the circular patterns of fire bases and encampments that were torn in war's haste from the jungles by men and ball tappers. By a close look reveals they are abandoned. You hear the sounds of withdrawal as everywhere.

sumers—to make this freeze work." Q. That means there are no enforcement teeth? A. There are a few. The White House says violations will be handled by the attorney general, and may be enforced by the courts or subject to a fine of up to $5,000. Q. Is there legal authority for such a freeze? A. Yes, under terms of the White House order. Q. Will seasonal workers, including teachers, who signed contracts last spring for pay increases effective at school opening be barred from getting them? A. The orders says they must wait.

Navy Physicians Moonlight Here

By BILL SCOTT
Seminole Memorial Hospital trustees, on a recommendation by the hospital medical staff Tuesday night, approved a plan whereby Orlando Naval Training Center doctors will staff the Sanford hospital's emergency room at night and on weekends.

Dr. Clyde Meade, of the Navy Center, explained the proposal last night to a combined meeting of trustees and medical staff members. He said 15-20 Navy physicians "moonlight" in emergency rooms at Orlando's Mercy Hospital, Titusville and Winter Park Hospitals during the weekend and at night, thereby releasing local doctors from serving in the facilities during these hours.

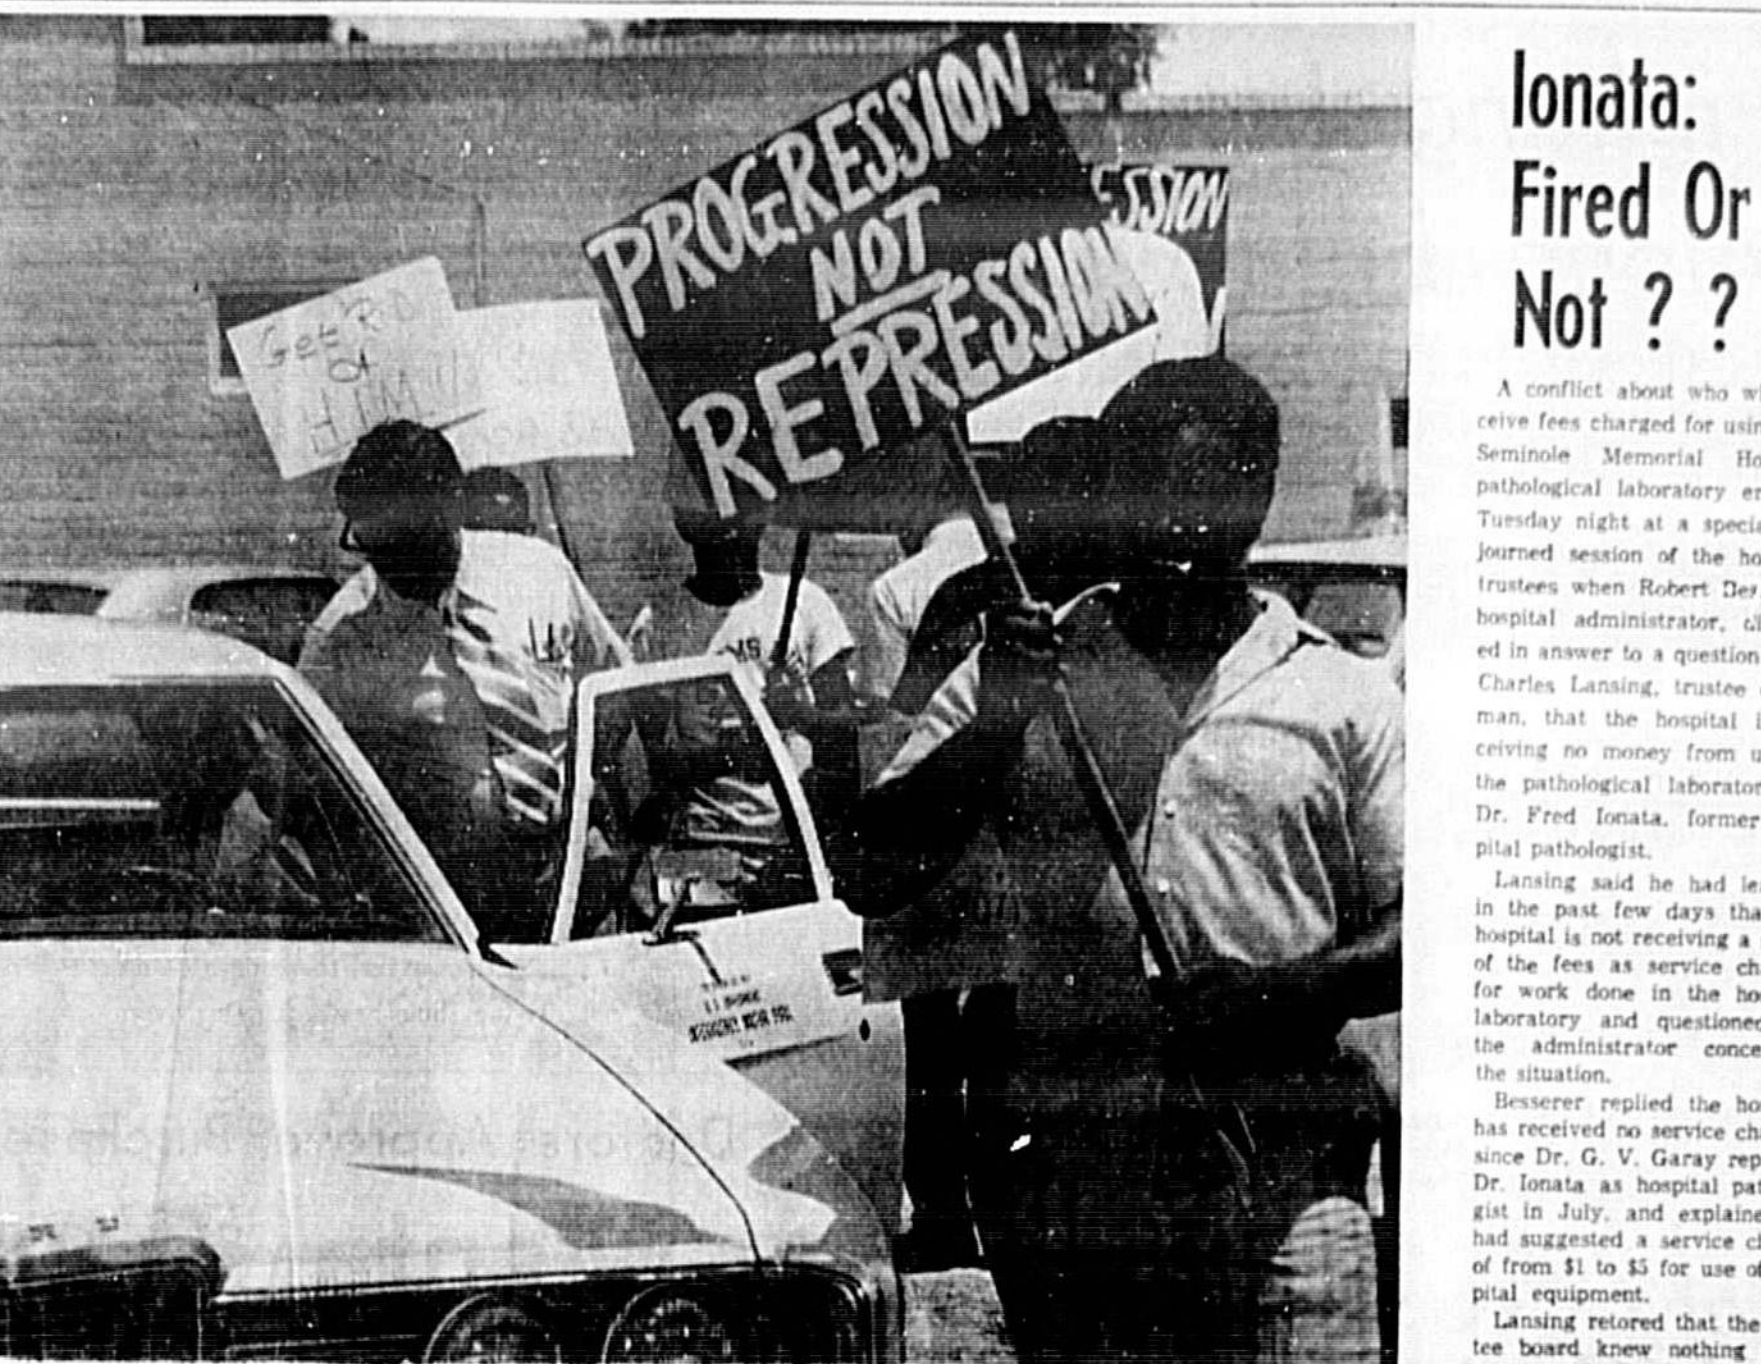

At present Seminole doctors on the hospital staff man the emergency room on a rotation basis and receive $100 a day for their services. Under Dr. Meade's proposal, the Navy doctors will staff the local hospital from 7 p.m. until 7 a.m. Monday on weekends for a 90-day trial period. The Navy doctors will receive $10 an hour for their staffing or 75 per cent of the doctor's charges, whichever is greater.

38 'Piggy-Back' Railroad Carriers Purchased To Bring Tourists Here

By FRED VAN PELT
Thirty-eight railroad cars have been purchased for the tourist auto-train "Piggy-back" operation starting in November between Sanford and Alexandria, Va., just outside Washington, D. C.
Eugene K. Garfield, president of Auto-Train Corporation, in a telephone interview from his headquarters in Washington this morning, said his firm has just completed negotiations for the purchase of 10 full-length dome passenger cars from the Santa Fe Railway. Earlier, he said, his company purchased 28 automobile-carrying, enclosed cars from the Canadian National Railway.

Kniffin Trial Reopened

By MARION BETHEA
The trial of William Kniffin, charged in the death of his one-year-old stepdaughter, Minnie Lee Bell, got underway this morning with examination of the venire.
Although the trial was delayed from Monday due to a legal technicality stemming from a District Court of Appeal ruling and indication was that the defendant would be charged with a lesser offense, Circuit Judge Clarence Johnson Jr. read the indictment to the venire this morning on first degree murder charges and the state questioned about the premise of first degree charges.

Port's Budget Bid Held By County

By HERBY CUSH
County commissioners voted Tuesday to postpone their decision at the final public hearing on the Seminole County Port Authority (SCOOPA) 1971-72 budget request until next week. The Port has requested $299,500 but the County Commission is willing to allocate only $158,000.

Octogenarian Wins 'Battle Of Trailer'

Seminole's Board of County Commissioners overruled the county's Board of Adjustment yesterday and granted a Sanford man the right to bring a trailer onto his property for one year.
John Burgess, an 89-year-old resident of Sanford who wanted the trailer to house his grand son, was given permission by the board at yesterday's Commission meeting.
The Board of Adjustment ruled against Burgess since the man already has two trailers on the property. The law states only one trailer is permitted per acre and the land owned by Burgess is just two acres.

Ionata: Fired Or Not??

A conflict about who will receive fees charged for using the Seminole Memorial Hospital pathological laboratory erupted Tuesday night at a special adjourned session of the hospital trustees when Robert Deserer, hospital administrator, disclosed in answer to a question from Charles Lansing, trustee chairman, that the hospital is receiving no money from use of the pathological laboratory by Dr. Fred Ionata, former hospital pathologist.
Lansing said he had learned in the past few days that the hospital is not receiving a share of the fees as service charges since Dr. G. V. Garay replaced Dr. Ionata as hospital pathologist in July, and explained he had suggested a service charge of from $1 to $5 for use of hospital equipment.
Lansing retorted that the trustee board knew nothing about this, Andrew Carraway, trustee, advised the hospital should receive some fee for use of its facilities. Lansing replied the hospital should get full fees until the matter is resolved.
John Schirrad Jr., trustee, asked Deserer to request the administrator to bill usual charges for use of hospital facilities and the chairman told Deserer, "Consider yourself so instructed."
The possibility of double billing patients for services now looms since, if the hospital requires full payment for pathological services, and non-hospital pathologists also bill, the question could present a problem.
Dr. Ionata, although replaced by Dr. Garay as hospital pathologist, is still entitled to use of hospital facilities since he is a hospital staff member and has been receiving pathological work from staff doctors, who have declined to use Dr. Garay, although the newcomer is the hospital pathologist.
Dr. Ionata is now operating from a private office across the street from the hospital.
It was estimated in laboratory work done last week in the hospital Dr. Garay did approximately 38 tissues and Dr. Ionata some 92 tissues, using hospital facilities.

Housing Complaints Are Aired
