Russian Women Of Today Occupy Identical Status Of Husband In Marriage

MOSCOW, Nov. 15.—(A.P.)—The woman of present-day Russia occupies precisely the same status of man in marriage. And a wedding is one of the few occasions for which an interruption of individual working hours is permitted in the Soviet Union. The law of matrimony, as in every other phase of life here, makes no distinction between the sexes, but the government's encouragement of the married state is seen in its instructions to officials not to hinder employees who may wish to postpone the marriage business during working hours. Likewise, child bearing commands premiums from the government in the form of monetary awards and extra privileges. At the recent registration of 100,000 marriages, divorces, births and deaths are recorded a couple pays two roubles (about $1), answers a few questions and becomes formally united in wedlock. One is compelled to support the other if he or she is out of work or ill, and their combined property automatically becomes jointly owned. Homesteads are considered wasteful extravagance. Notwithstanding the ease with which the marriage is accomplished, officials contend the number of marriages is normal. Some have seen a possible explanation of this in the housing shortage in large centers. Each party has a right to retain his own name, or both may adopt entirely new ones. Change of residence by either party does not oblige the other to do like wise. Couples living together without...

ATHENS GEORGIA HOLDS SPOTLIGHT OF GRID INTEREST

Green-Wave And Bulldogs Will Grapple For U. S. Supremacy

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 14.—(A.P.)—Following the swift-moving drama of one of football's most spectacular seasons, the spotlight of national attention today shines from the big towns to the tiny hills, where the powerful, undefeated teams of Georgia and Tennessee stake their Southern and national championship aspirations in Dixie's big game of the year.

OH YEAH?

Coach Herald Bierman of that colorful Tulane football machine is going to be the subject of a sport for par-ographs a space in this column today. His football philosophy struck Old York as being one of the most interesting and complete ever written on the subject, and it is being passed on to the 43 readers of this column in the hope that they will find it as many reasons for calling football "Oh Yea!" as the author does.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY
ALL IS WELL—Let not your heart be troubled; ye believe in God, believe also in me. In my Father's house are many mansions; if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you.—John 14:1, 2

PRAYER—Father, we trust
 Thee. Thou buildest both the world and the families with which we enjoy it.

HOLD THE FORT
 Those who run away from care find new troubles they must bear.
 Those who seek a year to dodge soon with better life must face the consequences of the cowardly flight. Stand fast.

Those who fear the foe, they see unto greater dangers flee.
 Foolish men who think they escape the foe's contact are merely changing the ill they know for a heavier weight of woe.

There is a safe and sheltered place into which mankind can flee leaving behind the fear behind, the who seeks for peace of mind will find it anywhere trying to evade a care.

Peace, security and pride
 Only with the brave abide.
 Those who run from trouble's blow into failure's camp must go.
 And must suffer to the end
 the pain that time can never mend.

And will there be a community
 Christmas tree in Sanford, this year?

This is the month of Thank-giving, with much in Sanford to be thankful for.

One Thousand Farmers
 The Orange County Chamber of Commerce has inaugurated a plan by which it hopes to obtain for that section "1000 Farmers in Five Years". It seems to believe that one of the best methods of building up that community is by bringing in more farmers from out-of-state farm communities. In this connection, however, it admits that "there are certain fundamental facts and information that should be presented because they are basically sound and success in any branch of farming will be easier to attain if they are given consideration."

So the Orange County Chamber of Commerce has prepared no less than twelve bits of advice which form a part of its campaign to bring in 1000 farmers in five years, as follows:

1. "There is more in the man than there is in the land."
2. Investigate before you invest.
3. Adaptability is the farmer's greatest idea. Be sure the place you buy and its location is adapted to the kind of farming you plan to do.
4. Find out if you probably have enough capital to carry through your plan before spending any of it.
5. Florida's climate and soils necessitate somewhat different methods and crops from those "back home", but the basic principals are the same.
6. You can soon adapt yourself as others have done to these differences. Consult your County Agricultural Agent, or ONLY successful farmers in the same line in your community.
7. Produce all the food you can for home consumption. Have a vegetable garden, a cow, at least 25 hens; then your money crops.
8. Use the best bred seed, the best bred animals you can find.
9. Successful growers find it essential to use commercial fertilizers for profitable production.
10. Your brain work in farming here will be worth more dollars and cents than your brawn work.
11. Co-operate with your neighbors in production and in marketing, and identify yourself with community activities.
12. "Don't get behind with your fishing". In other words, engage in some recreational activity.

These rules if properly carried out by the prospective farmers would undoubtedly be a big help to the situation which is bound to present itself, but so far we have seen no suggestions from the Orlando trade body as to just what these incoming farmers are to be expected to farm. They can, of course, raise almost anything in Florida's fertile soil, but disposing of it afterward for a fair return upon the investment is quite another matter.

It seems to us that the thing for Florida trade bodies to concentrate upon, for the present, at least, is the promotion of Florida grown products, bigger and better markets, increased consumption, not additional farmers.

Traffic Fatalities
 Despite the vast improvements which have been made in motor vehicles during the past few years, and the intensive campaigns which have been waged to increase caution in driving, there has been very little progress made in the reduction of traffic fatalities. The department of commerce has recently prepared some figures indicating slight improvement in some of our larger cities, which the Tampa Times presents as follows:

"The department of commerce announces that during the four weeks ending October 31, 1931, 82 large cities in the United States reported 71 deaths from automobile accidents. This number (71) compares with 76 deaths during the four weeks ending November 1, 1930. Most of these deaths were the result of accidents which occurred within the corporate limits of the city, although some accidents occurred outside of the city limits.

"For comparison, the number of deaths due to automobile accidents within city limits is desirable. Such figures are available for the four-week period ending October 31, 1931, and for the corresponding four-week period of 1930 for all of the 82 cities, the four-week period in 1931 being 557 as contrasted with 591 for the corresponding four weeks in 1930.

"Considering by four-week periods since January, 1929, total deaths from automobile accidents for 82 cities, regardless of place of accident, the lowest total (472) appears for the four-week period ending February 23, 1929, and the highest (850) for the four-week period ending November 2, 1929.

"For the 52 week periods ending October 31, 1931, and November 1, 1930, the totals for the 82 cities were, respectively, 9,031 and 8,726, which indicates a recent rate of 25.4 per 100,000 population as against an earlier rate of 24.9 or an increase of two per cent in the rate during the year.

FREEDOM OF THE PRESS
 COL. ROBERT B. MCCORMICK

The occasion of our meeting here today is the great decision of the United States Supreme Court in the case of Near v. the State of Minnesota handed down by Chief Justice Hughes on June 15, 1931.

This decision gives even greater force to the first amendment to the constitution and places those principles of free speech and free printing of which Thomas Jefferson will always be known as one of the leading exponents.

That the highest court in the land should take such a categorical stand for freedom of the press is especially significant in view of the fact that the majority of the judiciary does not find it frequently standing on the side of the individual oppressed by government.

In England the courts representing the king in his judicial capacity have not been prone to oppose the monarch in his functions as legislator or executive. They have always considered themselves as the rulers and the defendants before them the ruled. They have resisted and still resist each effort to free the individual. The Englishman is still a subject, not a citizen, and his rights are limited to the rules of law unrelated to any principles of freedom or equality.

Over there the cause of freedom has been fought by individuals, by parties in parliament, by juries refusing to obey the judges, and by insurrection. But never has it been supported by the judiciary, as has frequently been the case in this country.

In the Colonies as in England, the courts represented the government from above and opposed the people. Advances in liberty were attained in spite of them. The outstanding case of Peter Zenger, a New York publisher, who was acquitted by a jury in spite of the machinations of corrupt and overbearing judges is a landmark in the history of our independence.

Our struggle for liberty was fostered by a press freed from control by our revolutionary army. The great principles of human relationship to governments, frequently stated by revolutionary leaders, were immortalized by Thomas Jefferson in the Declaration of Independence and were further guaranteed to the citizens of the republic by the first amendment to the Constitution, the acceptance of which was made a condition precedent to the acceptance of the Constitution itself.

That when the Federalist Party, degenerated from its days of greatness, passed the Sedition Act to protect its corrupt members from well earned criticism, the courts should have declared the act unconstitutional is now well understood. This the Federalist judiciary refused to do, and, marking back beyond the Declaration of Independence, assumed that royalist attitude appearing from time to time in all branches of the Washington government and one conspicuously prominent in the dissenting opinion of Near v. the State of Minnesota.

The great fight that Thomas Jefferson led against the abuse of the Sedition Act, against the corruption of the Federalist Party and the tyranny of the Federalist judiciary, ranks as high in the array of his noble achievements as the Declaration of Independence and the abolition of primogeniture. It re-established by political action that freedom which a few years before had been won by arms. It brought about the repeal of the Sedition Act and the new President pardoned its victims on the ground of the unconstitutionality of the law. By virtue of his work the rights of man were established in this republic for a hundred years. But these rights had not been established by a decision of the Supreme Court.

When, therefore, governments and politics entered upon the serious decline which has been witnessed in recent years, reckless and dangerous men sought means to cripple the press—the only check upon their misdeeds which they feared.

In Illinois, in the case of the City of Chicago v. The Tribune Company, the Supreme Court of that state is an opinion written by Chief Justice Floyd E. Thompson himself a descendant of a Revolutionary Virginia family, unanimously decided the case for freedom in the following language:

SANFORD, TWENTY YEARS AGO
 Woodrow Wilson is beginning to become a formidable rival of W. J. Bryan in the number of Democratic interment, in which he is the principal figure.

The state department has practically decided to send a regiment of troops from Manila to China, to a seaport in China, about 250 miles from Peking on the gulf of Pechili. The purpose is to perform an international duty under the Boxer treaty in keeping open the line of communication between Peking and the sea.

The New York Giants are expected in Miami at an early date for a game of baseball. Three hundred dollars has been guaranteed the team if it comes.

The way the nineties are bringing in the game these days is enough to make an overworked editor quit the sanctum and take to the woods. Messrs. Hixon, Evans, Will Hand, Tom Williams and Paul Bickel, returned from their three days' hunt and brought back three fish clear and plenty of smaller fish. Messrs. A. T. Roosevelt, Will Hand, Harold H. Brisson, and Brunley returned yesterday from a two days' hunt and brought in one of the best birds of the season. They reported seeing the Eastern Jay, composed of Mr.

Mrs. D. L. Thrasher, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hand, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Newman and Dr. and Mrs. Samuel Puleston and they had two fine deer and expected to get several more before their return.

The Star Theatre is cleaning house and preparing for the good things which the manager is promising in the near future. Beginning next Monday they will put on a service of the newest films that have ever been run in Sanford. They are endeavoring in every way to improve their present equipment for the comfort and pleasure of its patrons.

Dr. C. G. Buti, the well known dentist, has just installed a new electric outfit in his dental parlor. He now has a well equipped office and is better prepared to take care of his large practice.

City Clerk C. W. Brown, acting late listing on things for the new 250,000 water storage tank. Under the contract with the builder the city is to put down the foundations for the four large legs of the tower, and Mr. Brown is supervising this preliminary city work.

Cecilian Music Club Has Meet Saturday

At the first meeting this season of the Cecilian Music Club held on Saturday afternoon at 3:15 o'clock at the studio of Mrs. Fannie S. Munson on Myrtle Avenue, Mrs. John Abrahams opened the meeting with a talk on "The Fashion of Flute Playing in the Time of Napoleon Bonaparte." Mrs. Abrahams told of Joseph Bonaparte, brother of Napoleon, who was an outstanding flute player, and who lived a number of years in the United States at Bordentown, N. J. She stated that his flute was made of glass with pearl and silver keys, and is now in the possession of H. M. Morris, of Cincinnati, Ohio, to whose grandfather Joseph Bonaparte gave the flute.

She added during the meeting that a successful flute player must have lips that are neither too thin nor too thick; must have regular teeth, and a lower jaw not protruding and not concave. She announced that among famous men who played the flute were: George Washington; James Madison; Frederick the Great, of Prussia, greatest musician of his time; Sidney Lanier, the South's greatest poet; Goldsmith, English writer; Michael Angelo, painter; Hector Berlioz, famous modern orchestra leader; and General Charles Dawes.

In conclusion Mrs. Abrahams said that the oldest instrument relic is a primitive flute, made of reindeer horn, which was found in a cave in Belgium, and is said to be over 250,000 years old.

At the close of the piano numbers H. J. Clause, accompanied by Mrs. Clause, gave a group of tenor solos. The entire recital included the following:

Canning Factory Is Shaping Plans To Start Operations

ment to practically every person who has so far applied. He said that approximately 200 persons will be employed at one time in the process of disposing of a capacity of 2400 field boxes of fruit daily. Final plans have not as yet been completed. Mr. Eckerson declared that much depends upon the quality and fitness of the applicants.

Mr. Eckerson, who with his father, T. H. Eckerson, decided that Sanford is the logical point for the new canning plant because it is in the center of the orange belt, dispelled all rumors that casual labor will be employed when he said that "as far as possible we will employ all local people in our plant." Since Sept. 17, there have been more than 10 persons, on an average, all Sanford persons, aiding in the construction and installation of the plant and its equipment, he added.

Asked where the fruit used will be secured, Mr. Eckerson said that all fruit will be taken from Groves within a 60 mile radius of Sanford. He corroborated statements made by Harry M. Pappworth, president of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, some time ago, that the plant will buy fruit from any producer, large or small, paying each producer, the prevailing market price. Mr. Eckerson takes considerable pride in the equipment which has been installed. It represents the last word in grapefruit and orange canning machinery, embodying all the features now in use throughout the state, and several new ideas which Mr. Eckerson and his group have worked out. The syringing equipment, the sterilizer, the refrigerating plant, the laborer, all are the newest, most scientific fruit canning achievements now in existence.

In this, the only new plant to be constructed in Florida this season, nothing but white help will be employed. Each woman employee will be costumed in an attractive green and white dress, while each man will wear clean white coveralls at all times. Certain days will be set aside for the plant's inspection by visitors, and during the approximately four months time in which the plant will be operated on a 24-hour day schedule, thousands of dollars will be brought into Sanford, much of which will be distributed among employees and orange growers. Mr. Eckerson is president of the new plant, with W. H. Tannicelli, prominent Florida liquidator, as secretary. T. H. Eckerson is treasurer. The plant, privately owned and financed, is the only one now operated by the Eckerson interests, who have had 38 years' experience in the canning of food products.

Mr. Eckerson, attending a meeting of the Florida Grapefruit Canners Association in Tampa Friday afternoon, delivered an address on the faults and failings of the canning industry of the state, and was elected a member of the board of directors.

Russian Women Of Today Have Same Status As Husband

The formality of registration definitely are recognized as married and enjoy the same property rights. They also have the privilege of formally recording their marriage from any prior date desired.

Childbirth automatically converts an illicit relationship into a legal marriage, thus compelling the father to bear his share of expenses involved in the birth and support of the child. Such children have the same rights as others and bear the father's name.

The first of the benefits accruing to parents is a present of 90 roubles (about $15) in cash from the state to an infant as soon as he is registered. Twenty meters of cloth and a set of bed clothing also are forthcoming. Of even more value is the additional ration card which enables the family to buy extra bread, eggs, butter, sugar and other privileged foods.

Parents also enjoy lower rent and less house tax.

For the mother, if she is a worker, four months' leave with full pay is allowed, two months before and two months after birth. If she is an "employee" or white collar worker, she gets three months and full pay. Nine roubles about $4.50 monthly is paid the mother for the first nine months while weaning the child.

Hospitalization is provided free and there is scientific research institute for both mother and child if the family is extremely poor.

If the mother is employed outside the home, as hundreds of thousands of them are, there is a nursery and kindergarten. School attendance at the age of seven is compulsory.

Care is taken that the new generation receives no religious training. From his earliest years every effort is directed toward making the child a potential "good communist."

Mr. Eckerson, attending a meeting of the Florida Grapefruit Canners Association in Tampa Friday afternoon, delivered an address on the faults and failings of the canning industry of the state, and was elected a member of the board of directors.

SANFORD—

BUSINESS MEN AND MERCHANTS—it is to you that this advertisement is directed.

We take it for granted that you are not in business to solicit from people living in England, France or China. But on the other hand, as a business man, you surely want the patronage of the residents of your city, and the surrounding community.

To be included among the most successful merchants you must not only know how to select the best goods or how to trade, but you must know how to induce people to come to your store—and buy.

The first thing to do is to choose a medium that will reach the people. And one that will be READ by them.

POOR ADVERTISING IS A WASTE OF MONEY

Yes, any advertising expert will tell you that there are good and bad ways to spend your money on advertising.

You should take into consideration the number of prospective buyers your advertisement will reach.

You should consider whether or not the people will read your advertisement. Circulation is one thing and Reader Interest is another. An advertisement may be delivered to 10,000 homes but if it is not read then it is lost.

READER INTEREST is perhaps the biggest and most enticing ad reading stimulant. Take yourself for instance. You buy a newspaper to read the news and if it has the latest and best news then you will want it continually. Every one is that way. Think this over before you let some "high-powered," "smooth" salesman talk you into something that will do you no good.

THE HERALD covers Sanford and Seminole County thoroughly—but more than that, IT IS READ.

By PETER SCHAALE
Coach Leonard McLucas' Seminole High eleven won the game 13 to 7, beating one of the scrappiest, toughest, and spirited Gainesville teams you've ever seen. Even if they have not won a game this year, Sanford won by a hair in a game which saw them outplayed in every department, and winning only one real flash of the hand of ball they are all-pleasant.

Without doubt, it was the game of the year which each team built up out of its system, one of those when will-thu-nightmare games. Just what the trouble was may never be known, for there were several contributing factors. Sanford entered the game in good physical shape even though since Saturday week they had met and outplayed the strong Orlando Rats, and whipped their ancient enemy, Orlando. They must have been mentally ill, stale from the high pressure playing needed to handle Rollins and Orlando. On top of that, Gainesville came here with a record of having lost six games, most of them by top-heavy scores.

Hester and Lyles, who played a fine game on both offense and defense, and Dub Entzminger, who played a terrific defensive game, had to stand by and watch two Gainesville backs, Rowe and Hartmann, steal all the glory on the field from an offensive point, and much of the glory on defense. Lyles was Sanford's best ground gainer, and gave a good exhibition of defensive football. He blocked and tackled; though he had been doing it regularly all his life, and he came out of the whole affair a more improved player.

Electing to start his second team, Coach McLucas saw a couple of great backs, Rowe and Hartmann, go through it like a whirlwind, aided by some sterling offensive play by "Red" Adkins, and a scrappy Gainesville line. He sent in his first string team only to have Rowe and Hartmann continue their brilliant play, with Fullback Parish joining in by throwing long and short passes most of which fell good. But, scores were denied for at crucial moments, offense or defense penalties wiped out all gain, and the half ended nothing to nothing.

Gainesville completed six out of 10 passes in that half for a net gain of 71 yards, and gained 70 yards from scrimmage, while Sanford gained 10 yards from scrimmage, none on one pass, and failed to make a first down. It was all Rowe and Hartmann.

The second half saw a different story, however, for Sanford, led by Coleman, Ware and Blanton, the right side of the line, opened big holes as Lyles, Hester, and McClelland plunged down the field after the kick off for four first downs and a touchdown by Hester, which, with a pass, Hester to Lyles, made the score Sanford 7, Gainesville 0. From then on, it was the toughest, roughest, and hardest fought game ever seen here, with Gainesville continuing to outplay Sanford, although the big first team flashed with difficulty at times.

Most of the play was Sanford's in the third quarter, with Lyles standing out on offense and defense in the middle of the fourth quarter, a bad pass in the backfield named Sanford to punt from back of its goal, the ball landing in mid-field and being returned to Sanford's 43 yard line. Parish opened an aerial attack which was sensational, after Hartmann had sloughed through the line for 21 yards, Sanford got the ball near and passed for a 15 yard penalty, getting the ball on the 5 yard line where Rowe blocked it over. Parish's pass to Hartmann falling good and the game was tied 7-0.

JACK MORRISON, JOEL FIELD WIN GUESSING GAME

Only Ones To Pick 10 Out Of 13 Winners; All Leaders Slump

Jack Morrison and Joel S. Field, the only two entrants in the Herald's Pick-The-Winner who were able to select 10 out of 13 winners of games played Saturday afternoon, are the winners of the tri-annual, at Woodruff and Watson's, and Churchwells. They led a field of 89 contestants, most of whom had their worst week as far as selecting winners is concerned, for most of them had but seven correct out of 13.

Upsets all over the country, as far as the Pick-The-Winner list is concerned, sent all the leaders in the football ticket dropping down the list, with only two more weeks of selecting to be done.

Of the 89 contestants entered, two picked 10 winners; 14 picked nine; 25 picked eight; 83 picked seven; 11 picked six, and four picked five. One person picked the V. P. L.-Virginia game to end in a tie, and was successful, while none picked Florida-South Carolina to tie.

Here's how the newcomers to the contest selected them: Thomas George, F. Bennett, Chloe Routh, Leo Leslie, picked nine; C. E. Nolan, D. W. Hutchison, Otto Hutchison, J. E. Preston, Elmer Bandy selected eight; Mrs. D. W. Hutchison, Barto, Hutchison, Buck Holt, F. D. Breeden, Buck Bandy, Patsy Bandy, picked seven; Bob Yancey, Mrs. H. W. Little, D. L. Cameron, Billy Zachry, E. G. Bandy, picked six; Junior Warren, picked five.

Here's how the games ended: Purdue 22, Iowa 0; Tulane 20; Georgia 7; S. M. U. 6; Baylor 0; V. P. L. 0, Virginia 0; Rutgers 20; Lehigh 12; Colgate 21, Syracuse 7; Pittsburgh 24, Army 0; N. C. State 14, Duke 0; Cornell 0, Dartmouth 14; S. Carolina 6, Florida 0; Ohio State 6, Wisconsin 0; Harvard 7, Holy Cross 0; Tennessee 21, Vanderbilt 7; Lafayette 33, Penn State 0; Nebraska 6, Kansas Aggies 3.

Gainesville passes which clicked, again filled the air, but one was intercepted in mid-field by Courier and the game ended shortly after.

Gainesville made 15 first downs against five for Sanford; scored 119 net yards from scrimmage as against 56 net for Sanford; completed 12 of 19 passes for 121 yards net as against one completed out of three for Sanford for 14 yards net. Parish's passes were remarkably accurate, and his performance all day was brilliant.

Rowe, Quarterback Hartmann, and Red Adkins, were the outstanding stars of the day, while Lyles, Hester, Entzminger and Kanner, with Coleman and Ware were Sanford's best.

FEW TEAMS ARE STILL IN RUNNING FOR GRID HONORS

Notre Dame Still Has Difficult Barriers Before Season Ends

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—(A.P.)—The football march that leads to national recognition gets more difficult as the season goes on, but Notre Dame and Northwestern, Tulane and Tennessee, Harvard and Southern Methodist, so far have taken all hurdles without a slip.

For some of these the path still to be traversed is full of pitfalls. Notre Dame must yet battle Southern California and Army, Northwestern still has to disperse of Iowa and Purdue. The game with the latter was added yesterday as the banner attraction of the "Big Ten's" charity schedule for Nov. 28.

Tulane has Sewanee, Louisiana State and Washington State, Southern Methodist must play Navy, Texas Christian and St. Mary's of Oakland, California. Harvard has only one more game—with Yale—but that should give the Crimson a busy afternoon next Saturday. Tennessee, with Kentucky for a final opponent, apparently is certain of finishing the season without defeat or tie.

All six of these leaders checked in with victories Saturday. Tulane, with its Southern conference as well as national hopes in the balance, soundly whipped Georgia, previously unbeaten, 20-7. Tennessee turned back the powerful Vanderbilt Commodores by approximately the same margin, 21-2.

Notre Dame took things easily in a 20-0 defeat of the Navy but Northwestern, inexplicably sluggish, just managed to nose out Indiana, 7-6. Harvard defeated Holy Cross 7-0. Southern Methodist was hard pressed to turn back Baylor, 6-0.

The Eastern program was marked by a series of upsets in which three previously unbeaten eleven, Cornell, Temple and Syracuse, were defeated. Cornell gained ground in huge chunks around mid-field against Dartmouth but could not pierce the Indian defense near the goal line, nor stop the sensational passing combination of Bill Morton and Bill McCall, and a 14-0 Dartmouth victory was the result. Syracuse never had a chance against the heavy pounding of Colgate's backs and went down to a 21-7 walloping. Temple rallied for two touchdowns in the last period but came up empty to overcome Carnegie Tech's lead and the Pittsburghers won, 19-13.

Perhaps a bigger surprise than any of these was the decisiveness of Pittsburgh's defeat of the Army, 26-0, the worst trouncing an Army team has suffered since 1912. A crowd of 80,000 saw Fordham and New York University play to a scoreless tie. Princeton took its sixth straight beating, this time by Washington and Lee, 6-0. Penn went out Georgia Tech, 12-12. Villanova and Detroit played a 0-0 tie in the Midwest.

Aside from Northwestern's close win over Indiana, Ohio State's triumph at the expense of Wisconsin, 6-0, was the highlight of the "Big Ten" program. Chicago, however, surprised with a 13-0 victory over Illinois, and Purdue walloped Iowa, 23-0. Michigan and Michigan State drew a 0-0 for the second straight year in a row.

Nebraska eliminated Kansas State from the "Big Six" race and will battle Iowa State for the title next Saturday. Iowa State lost by a single point, 7-6, to Drake in a non-conference game Saturday. Missouri stopped Oklahoma, 7-0, in the other "Big Six" tangle.

Herbert Hoover, Jr., right above, is shown on the White House lawn as he conversed with H. R. Sasser, member of the Argentine Davis Cup team.

Pick The Winner

Once each year we deviate from the path of easy pickings and give you contestants something hard to work on; just to see if you've really been following the football season as you should have. So, in the list below, you'll find games slated between teams you've never heard of maybe. In most cases the games are those annual classics, like games between Sanford and Orlando if you can understand that. Jump right in now, and let's have these lists in early.

HOLLYWOOD HAS LIVED MARRIAGE DIVORCE SEASON

Weddings, Separations Move More Rapidly Than Ever Before

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 14.—(A.P.)—The exciting marriage and divorce dance of Los Angeles and Hollywood notables has proceeded this year at a faster tempo than ever before.

The film colony, which includes as members a wide assortment of charming, brilliant, dashing and highly temperamental celebrities from fields other than the theatrical, has never on a single day lacked adequate material for the pastime it deems love-gossip.

In quick succession have come the Dempsey-Taylor case, the Swanson-De Falaise-Farmer-Bennett item, the Mackall-McCormick-Moore-Gattila affair, Lady June Inverlyde's efforts for freedom from an English lord, the Lowell Sherman-Helen Costello embroglio. Others of a rapid fire of plain and fancy separations and alliances of graduated importance include the sudden blooming of the romance of Roddy Valeo and Fay Webb, days in the single little divorce obtained by Mrs. Montana from the well-known "Boo!"

The separation of Jack Dempsey and Estelle Taylor of the films and stage was one of the earliest of the more celebrated cases. One of the latest was the marriage yesterday at London of H. W. (Panny) Austin, English tennis star, and Phyllis Konstam, film actress.

Numerous engagements originating this year have defied the efforts of publicists, attorneys and the weary courts to unsnarl them. In that class is the Dempsey-Taylor problem. The former champion obtained a Reno divorce Sept. 22, but Miss Taylor, seeking a better property settlement, has refused to recognize it.

The secret marriage in New York in August of Gloria Swanson and Michael Farmer, Irish sportsman, was a recent revelation. The ceremony was repeated at Yuma immediately after Miss Swanson's interlocutory decree of divorce from Marquis Henri de Falaise became final a week ago. Within a day or so the Marquis and Constance Bennett applied for a license to wed, and the marriage is impending.

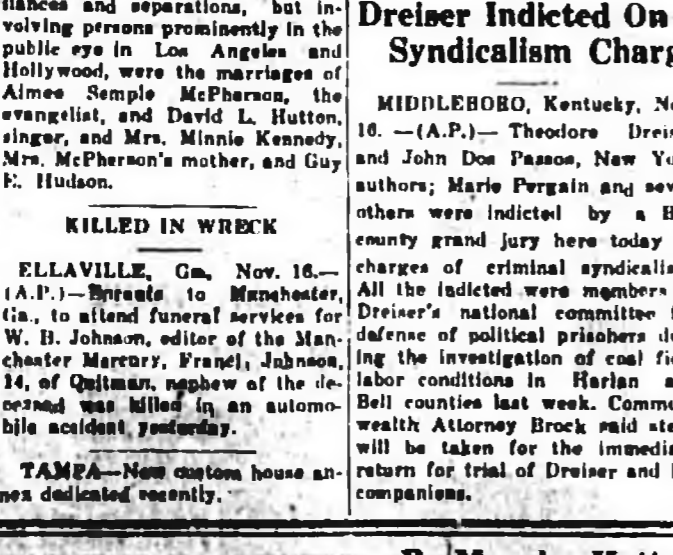

Dorothy MacKall of the films and Neil Albert Miller of Hawaii were married at Yuma, Hollywood's Gretna Green, after a condensed series of events extending through the summer. Miss MacKall and John McCormick, motion picture executive, were reported on the verge of marriage, but in May, McCormick married Mrs. Janet Gattila, formerly of Washington, D. C.

Soon after, she sued for divorce at Reno, claiming McCormick professed himself still in love with Colleen Moore, from whom he was divorced May 14, 1930.

Lady Inverlyde, former English actress, obtained a Reno divorce last August from John Alan Byrne, Lord Inverlyde, and is now hoping that he will get an English divorce so that, although danger from the strict English bigamy law, she may wed Eddie Mandes, picture director.

Father Kills Son Whom He Mistook For Cow In Garden

PUNTA GORDA, Nov. 14.—(A.P.)—William Duffie, 33, returning home from a party early yesterday, was shot and killed by his father, Andrew Duffie, who mistook him for a stray cow, which he thought was trying to get into his garden. The father was escorted by a coroner's jury yesterday but was prostrated at his home.

The elder Duffie's garden had been invaded by stray cattle and he had taken so many precautions to prevent repetition of the raid. He placed tin cans on strings about the garden so that if the fence were disturbed or anything got into his vegetable patch he would be awakened.

About 1 o'clock yesterday morning he heard the cans rattle. He took his pistol stepped to the door and seeing a vague form in the darkness, fired once. Then he went back to bed.

Later he heard groans and summing a neighbor went into the garden to investigate. They found the son dead.
