Governor's Yankee Lake Probe Begins

By Deane Jordan Herald Staff Writer

A probe of Seminole County's purchase of Yankee Lake property for a wastewater treatment facility began Monday with an assistant state attorney meeting with at least two principal critics of the purchase.

Ed Austin, State Atorney for Jacksonville, said his assistant, Steve Kunz, was in Sanford to start collecting information about the purchase and to set up an office as an operating base for the Critics have accused the county of acting illegally in the purchase of the 2,876 acres west of Sanford. They also have alleged there was a conspiracy involved to benefit elected officials and private concerns.

"There will be no one who wants to say anything (about Yankee Lake) who we will not talk to." Austin said Monday.

Austin said everything should be in place by the end of the week to start the probe in earnest

"I think the man is going to do an outstanding job," said Yankee Lake critic Grant McEwan, a Casselberry businessman who met with Kunz

"I don't think he's coming here to cover anything up." McEwan said of Kunz. "He was very professional. I think that will make it easy for him to get information in Seminole County." McEwan also had good marks for Austin and his reputation.

"I think if Governor Martinez intended to cover this thing up he picked the wrong man," McEwan

McEwan met with Kunz and an investigator for the Florida Department of Law Enforcement for about two and a half hours in Casselberry.

McEwan said he gave Kunz copies of his files, records, and other information regarding the Yankee Lake purchase. That information in-

Public To Get Crack At Growth Plan

It's taken a half year and 50 meetings involving more than 100 volunteeer citizens to prepare a blueprint for managing Seminole County's growth the next several years. Next comes the public's reaction to the 10-year update of the county's Comprehensive Land-Use Plan, a product of five area study committees and a planning steering committee. Both the county's planning and zoning board and board of commissioners will hold public hearings this month on the plan which represents an update of the county's original 1977 master land-use

The plan is also to serve as the basis for updating the plan again in 1990 to bring it in line with the state's growth management law.

The planning and zoning board hearing is set for Wednesday at 7 p.m. at the County Services Building, room W120. County commissioners have scheduled the first of their two hearings for 6 p.m. Aug. 18, in the commission chambers at the County Services Build-final commission hearing will be held in December, when the governing body is slated to consider comments on the updated plan from the state Department of Community Affairs and any new or additional public comment.

Despite the many hours the panels put into the proposed master land-use plan update, those involved strived to make the document less burdensome to follow than the 1977 plan, said Tony Van Derworp, county planning director.

Instead of "superfluous policies," he said, the committee members focused on keeping the plan "at a manageable level." This approach, he said, has helped give the county a clear direction on what it needs to do.

A major aspect of the updated plan is its capital improvements element, which sets a level of service standards and identifies the cost of achieving the standards. "We've put up front what the public improvements are, where they are going to be built and when." Van Derworp sald.

He said the capital improvements element has helped create a more 'performance-based" plan by making the county accountable for accomplishing the long-range capital

Lake Mary Site For Regional Postal Facility

By Ted Carter Herald Staff Writer

The U.S. Postal Service today announced it is planning a $27 million regional mail distribution center on a 50-acre tract just east of Interstate 4 and south of County Road 46A.

The center, expected to employ about 800 postal workers, and the facility at Orlando International Airport, will be the two general mail facilities serving central Florida, said Bryan Pease, of the Postal Service's real estate division in Memphis, Tenn.

Pease said the Seminole County center will process millions of letters and packages daily and will be known as the Mid-Florida General Mail Facili-

Planning for the center began in anticipation of rapid growth in Seminole County and the rest of central Florida, according to Pease.

The Postal Service's board of governors is scheduled to formally approve the project this week. Pease said the board authorized the June purchase of the property as a precaution against the tract near the interstate being removed from the market. The Postal Service paid about $3.5 million for the land, he

Construction could begin in about one year and would take two years to complete, he added. An architectural firm has been hired to design the facility.

A site review committee looked at 16 other sites in north Seminole County before selecting the property located about 1,200 feet south of CR 46A, west of Rinehart Road. Location, assessibility and adaptability led to the site's selection, said Pease, who noted the county's plan for an expressway was a major factor in the site panel's decision.

"The expressway will get us directly to Orlando International without going to I-4," he said.

Longwood To Ask For State Probe

By Jane Casselberry Herald Staff Writer

Months of wrangling in Longwood and efforts by two first-term city commissioners to get rid of Police Chief Greg Manning came to a head Monday night when the new commissioners became the target of charges. The commission voted unanimously to ask the governor's office to investigate those charges.

Allegations of malfeasance and misfeasance in office were made against Commissioners Dave Gunter and Lynette Dennis by city resident Carolyn Emling. Backed by a vocal group of Manning supporters, who packed city hall for the city commission meeting, she demanded commissioners take a vote to see if the charter has been violated and said, if so, Gunter and Dennis should step down.

Gunter and Dennis joined Mayor Ed Myers, Deputy Mayor June Lormann and Commissioner Harvey Smerilson in voting to have the charges investigated by an impartial body - the governor's office. Gunter and Dennis asked to see a copy of all the allegations so that they could know what they are being charged with.

Emling's accusations against Gunter included misuse of power, violation of the Sunshine Law, interfering with city procedures, failure to accept the report of the Florida Department of Law Enforcement in the investigation of Manning that they requested, harassing city employees at home, and supplying material to the media and only one other commissioner before a requested vote.

Emling accused Dennis of demanding and accepting unauthorized payment to attend a conference.

Emling said, "Mrs. Dennis you admitted guilt by repaying the money. but you didn't step down as the charter requires.

Shortly after Dennis took office in January she was advised by City Clerk Don Terry of a University of Central Florida seminar for goverment officals being held in Altamonte Springs that he said would be helpful for her to attend. Terry also said there was money in the budget for commissioners to attend such seminars. The fee was $38, but later, when it came before the commission to be approved with other city bills, Smerilson, Lormann, and Myers refused to allow it as they had not given her official approval to attend. Dennis said she would reim-

The president will be watched for a response to what was summed up by Sen. Daniel Inouye, D-Hawaii, as a grim tale of secret policies run by White House aides behind the back of the public, the Congress, and the commander in chief.

SIB Offers To Help Pay For Gardening Helpers

Some of the Scenic Improvement Board's remaining funds for this fiscal year may be used to hire more temporary help to maintain present flower beds instead of for new beautification projects.

SIB President Martha Yancey told the Sanford City Commission at a joint meeting of the two boards Monday that the SIB has more than $76,000 left in its budget. The SIB funds are provided by the city. It's fiscal year ends Oct. 1.

Information on the remaining SIB money came after a discussion in which City Manager Frank Faison said there are more completed SIB projects than city personnel can properly maintain.

The commission agreed to put the matter on next Monday's meeting -Brad Church

City Wants Revised Goldsboro Plan

By Brad Church Herald Staff Writer

Sanford's WINS steering committee, after seeing a consulting group's presentation of a Goldsboro redevelopment proposal, has asked the consultants to come back with a

The consultants presented its two alternative plans, Plans A calling for an estimated $12.9 million in public and private expenditures, and Plan B calling for $23.7 million in joint public-private money.

The WINS committee, appointed by the city commission to evaluate the proposals. asked the consultants to come back with a revised Plan B.

The steering committee liked the increased street improvements and street lighting in Plan B. but they did not like the higher housing density.

Both plans call for extensive rehabilitation of existing homes in the area bounded by French Avenue, West 13th Street, Olive Avenue and W. Seventh Street, Also included would be demolition of homes not worth rehabilitating, and construction of new housing units.

Plan B proposes many four-plexes and higher density housing units, while Plan A calls for construction of no new housing units larger than duplexes.

The WINS committee asked the consulting team to come back with a revised plan including the public improvements to Coastline Park and streets and lighting in the area, but with fewer multiple housing

The committee also expressed concern about the large amount of public money proposed for the project and where it was going to come from.

Plan A calls for about $3.7 million in public money and $9.2 million in private investment. Plan B calls for $5.9 million in public expenditures and $17.8 in private investment.

The WINS steering committee is expected to recommend one of the consultants' proposals be approved by the city commission.

The steering committee also discussed conducting an information program in the Goldsboro community to inform residents of the proposal, and to solicit opinions on it, before making a recommendation to the city commission on whether to adopt it.

Cool Canadian air drove farther into the Midwest today. breaking the back of a heat wave in the Plains and Great Lakes but stopping short of the sweltering Atlantic Coast. At least 72 deaths have been blamed on the heat since July 18.

"It will be another day in the pressure cooker," said Frank Rosenstein of the National Weather Service in Washington, D.C., where the temperature soared to 98 degrees Monday and was expected to flirt with the century mark today.

Hot weather also scorched the Pacific Northwest Monday, pushing temperatures to a record 106 degrees in Medford. Ore. It was a record 111 in Redding, Calif., and 124 degrees in Death Valley, Calif.

The cold front in the Midwest caused severe storms Monday as it clashed with warmer air - producing a tornado in Illinois and flooding in Indiana - but also brought an end to almost 2 1/2 weeks of relentless sweltering heat.

In Kansas City, Mo., for example, the arrival of the cold front caused the temperature to plummet from 103 degrees to 81 degrees in just 30 minutes. By late today, the front was expected to stretch from Lake Erie, across Indiana and Missouri and into Oklahoma, said weather service forecaster Harry Gordon. By Wednesday, It was expected to reach Pennsylvania. Gordon said a second cold front would arrive in the Midwest Wednesday, promising more cool weather, but "it will probably be the end of the week before there's any relief" in the central and southern Atlantic Coast.

On Monday, records were reached with readings of 93 degrees in Asheville, N.C., 95 in Bristol, Tenn., 96 in Richmond, Va. Since July 18, heat has claimed 72 lives in Missouri. Nebraska, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Illinois, South Carolina, Georgia. Wyoming, Iowa and South Dakota. Philadelphia alone has reported 50 deaths attributed to warm weather.

States that got a break from the heat Monday included Missouri, Kansas, Wisconsin. Minnesota, lowa and Indiana. But searing temperatures prevailed again in Michigan, where the high in Alpena was a record 94. In Chicago, the high of 95 marked the 30th time the mercury topped 90 degrees in the Windy City this summer. Commonwealth Edison, which supplies electric service to the city, set a new peak output record of 15.685 million kilowatts. As the cool front surged across the Midwest, it triggered severe storms in northern Illinois and flooding in southern Indiana and Kentucky. A tornado touched down east of Springfield, Ill., late reports of injuries or major damage, the weather service said. In the West, a thunderstorm late Monday dropped golf ball-size hall that dented thousands of cars and broke windows in Cheyenne, Wyo., and produced a funnel cloud

Monday, but there were no

as it moved past the city. "The hail dented numerous vehicles and broke or cracked numerous vehicle windows as well as base facility windows," said Master Sgt. Clem Mewmaw, spokesman at F.E. Warren Air Force Base on Cheyenne's west side.

Business Productivity Up, But Workers Still Losing

WASHINGTON (UPI) - American workers more than doubled their speedup in productivity between April and June over the first quarter, but ended up with less real pay and benefits than when they began, the Labor Department said Monday.

An upturn in inflation meant that real hourly compensation for business workers declined at a 1.7 percent annual rate in the quarter, the government said. The rate shows how much the change would be if every quarter in 1987 were like the April-June period and seasonal factors were ignored. The AFL-CIO said the report shows businesses are not willing to share the benefits of that increased productivity. Business spokesmen said better times lie ahead, but workers must keep in mind that simply Working harder does not necessarily convert to higher pay in a world where people elsewhere will man was arrested Monday after firing a handgun at a motorcyclist and two other outbursts of gunfire were reported as the series of trafficrelated shootings continued to grip Southern California.

Three people have died and seven have been wounded in the rash of violence, which has included at least 25 shootings on roadways in the greater Los Angeles area since June 18.

Most of the incidents have been unprovoked or prompted by an argument between drivers.

Congress Boosts Contra Cause

The most dramatic outcome of the Iran-Contra hearings may be increased public and, therefore, congressional — support for aid to Nicaragua's anti-communist freedom fighters.

To put it mildly, the hearings have not turned out the way their Democratic choreographers had hoped. Not only did the televised proceedings fail to find a "smoking gun" with which to shoot down a Republican president and cut off aid to the Contras, but they made a folk hero out of the Marine Corps lieutenant colonel who worked behind the scenes to keep funds flowing to the Nicaraguan resistance.

On his way to becoming a folk hero, Lt. Col. Oliver L. North managed to make the American public understand the Marxist threat to Central America more clearly than it ever has before.

It seems puzzling that the public paid more attention to North when he outlined the Soviet bloc threat to the Americas than it had to President Reagan. The president, after all, has eloquently and concisely explained the situation in Central America on innumerable occasions.

North, however, had something going for him that the "Great Communicator" in the White House could not duplicate. Thanks to television and to the unconcealed hostility of the Democratic inquisitors toward the witnesses, the hearings took on the format of a soap opera. And when Ollie North took the stand, it was a casting director's dream. Here was a clean-cut, boyish-looking military officer explaining why he was willing to bend the rules to save lives and democracy. Opposing him was a glowering panel of would-be executioners whose primary motivation was clearly to smear dirt on whomever necessary so they could get at the attention of the public.

If North had been guilty of balancing lies against lives, some Democratic members of Congress had ignored the truth about Central America and their responsibility in not forthrightly dealing with the situation. Their goal was not to save lives or nations, but to protect themselves politically and push their party into the White House.

Thanks to the hearings and to Col. North. liberals in Congress may finally be forced to give the Contras the level of financial aid they need to force Nicaragua's Marxist Sandinista regime off their totalitarian path.

Taking advantage of the public's increased awareness of events in Nicaragua, President Reagan a few days ago called upon the House and Senate to approve more money for the Contras.

"The more people know about the Sandinista communists, the more they support the freedom fighters." Reagan said during his weekly radio address to the nation.

The president's Central American policy has been remarkably successful despite congressional opposition. No one should forget that against all odds, El Salvador has fought off heavily armed Marxist guerrillas while at the same time moving rapidly toward democracy.

If the Sandinistas are permitted to consolidate their revolution in Nicaragua, however, they will be free to pour insurgents and arms into El Salvador and the neighboring states at a rate that will overwhelm the isthmus and directly threaten Mexico.

At that point, the United States will have no option but to send U.S. troops south of the border. That is what the Reagan administration has been trying desperately to avoid, and we hope that the American people at long last fully realize that fact.

Beware Reactionaries Praising Moderates

Poor Jesse Jackson.

The country preacher's candidacy hasn't even taxled to the presidential runway, much less gotten off the campaign ground.

His fund-raising is moribund. A "he can't win" syndrome hangs over his leonine black locks with Damoclean tenacity. And he's stagnant in the polls.

Yet his enemies are already marching in a political lynching party.

On June 12, Sen. Joseph Biden became the first Democratic candidate to rule out only one of the other candidates as a running mate:

By dumping on the hapless Jackson, Biden hopes to head off prospective candidate Sen. Sam Nunn of Georgia and become the party's great Southern hope."

Then, a few days ago, President Reagan's ideological confrere, columnist George Will, proposed a ticket made up of Nunn and Rep. William Gray of Pennsylvania as a "stop Jackson" movement.

Faithful are the wounds of a friend, but the kisses of an enemy are deceitful.

You have to think twice when an unreconstructed Reagan loyalist like Will wraps his arms around any Democrat. Beware of Greeks bearing gifts and reactionaries praising moderates.

Will wrings his hands at the "absurdity" that 'Jesse Jackson, who is in no sense a man of government, is the preeminent black politician."

That 75 percent of the black electorate currently disagrees about that "absurdity" and 19 of the 23 black members of Congress are supporting Jackson's campaign is irrelevant when logic is blinded by plantation arrogance.

Ah, but Will can trot out three black filibuster to help kill fair housing legislation. Georgians who are "eager for an excuse not to support Jackson."

The devil can cite scripture for his purpose. The Nunn-Gray ticket is not a new idea.

Former Gov. Charles Robb of Virginia, leader of the conservative Democratic wing, conceived it as an unapologetic attempt to vitiate

Naturally, Gray (a.k.a. the "sophisticated dancer" among his colleagues) is busting his oleaginous hump to boost Nunn's candidacy. ANTHONY HARRIGAN Anti-Bork Antics A Disservice

WASHINGTON — The best-qualified jurists don't always make It to the U.S. Supreme Court. It's useful to bear in that in mind in connection with the nomination of Circuit Court Judge Robert H. Bork to the U.S. Supreme Court. Even Judge Bork's siercest critics admit that he is a brilliant jurist.

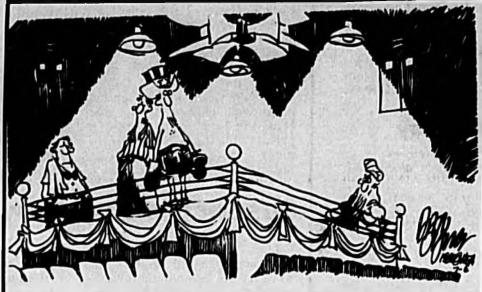

The case of Learned Hand comes to mind. Judge Hand, who served on the Circuit Court of Appeals from 1924 to 1951, was admired for his brainpower, his understanding of the Constitution, and his stylistic excellence in writing opinions. He was so highly regarded that he was often referred to as the "tenth justice of the Supreme Court."

For whatever reason or reasons, Judge Hand was ruled out when Supreme Court nominations were made. The high court and the nation were denied the benefits of his brilliant mind. In Judge Hand's time and later, men with vastly inferior abilities were nominated to and confirmed for judgeships on the Supreme Court. One immediately thinks of William Douglas, who had been prominent as a proponent of the New Deal: Chief Justice Earl Warren, a Republican governor of California; and Thurgood Marshall, who had been head of the legal staff of the NAACP. Incidentally, all three were — and Justice Marshall still is - highly idelogical on the bench in that their decisions were predict-

Much is being made of Judge Bork's alleged ideological approach to the law, and ideology is a subject of legitimate concern on the part of the Senate, which must vote to confirm or reject. No thoughtful citizen wants an ideological judge a judge, that is, who is so rigid in his views that he makes up his mind before he hears the evidence or, in the case of the higher courts, before he studies the record of lower court

Ideological judges are characteristic of totalitarian countries where ideological doctrine takes precedence over the facts or legal principles. There's nothing in Judge Bork's record to indicate that he is an ideologue. Otherwise, he surely would not have been confirmed for the Circuit Court of Appeals in 1982, when many of his liberal critics found him acceptable.

There's a profound difference between being ideological and having a philosophy of the law. It's impossible for a scholar of the law, which Judge Bork is, not to develop a philosophy of the law in the course of study, legal practice, and service on the bench. A legal philosophy is a matter of seeing the law whole.

"Now make it a good clean fight — even though Killer Khomeini's goons are probably taking your family hostage at this very minute."

WILLIAM RUSHER

Who's Leaking Now?

For several months now we have been treated to operatic declarations of the Democrats' devotion to the rule of law, and their distaste for deceit and deception. Now, at last. an opportunity has arisen to find out just how serious they are about condemning wrongdoing, whoever the miscreant may be.

Will they join me in calling on the U.S. Senate to officially censure Sen. Patrick Leahy (D-Vt.) for leaking confidential information to the media? Or is condemnation for lying and deceit, in the Democrats' opinion, only for the likes of Ollie North?

The congressional Democrats and their cronles in the media don't enjoy discussing leaks, for the good reason that this vicious and frequently illegal practice is at the very heart of their alliance. (It was also the reason for President Reagan's decision that his delicate Iran initiative had to be carried forward without informing Congress: If he had informed it, our worst enemies in Iran would have read all about it the next morning in the New York Times or the Washington Post.)

So whenever the subject is raised, they take the position that well, ha. ha, everybody does it. That is untrue, but in any case so what? Are these supersensitive moralists, who have been posturing on television for the past couple of months as the very embodiment of public virtue, arguing that misconduct ought to go unpunished merely because lots of people have engaged

Besides, Sen. Leahy isn't just your garden-variety sinner - he's something special. He was, in the first place, the ranking Democrat on the Senate Select Committee on Intelligence during the last Congress, and in that capacity was one of a mere handful of members whom the president was required by law to keep informed on various extremely delicate matters. In addition, as leakers go, Sen. Leahy has been a veritable fountain — the journalists' equivalent of the Girl Who Can't Say No.

Leahy has already publicly confessed (after learning that the truth had been discovered and was about to come out anyway) that he was the leaker who slipped a copy of the Senate Intelligence Committee's confidential preliminary report on the Iran/contra tangle to John Dancy of NBC News last December. The committee had just voted narrowly to keep the report secret. and the irony is that this sanctimonious old hypocrite actually voted with the majority.

Leahy's defenders have attempted to mitigate his offense by arguing that there was no classified information in the report - a contention that suavely glides past the point that the report itself was highly confidential.

Normally a case of misconduct by a U.S. senator is investigated and punished, at least in the first instance, by the Senate Itself. But high-ranking members of that body have known about Leahy's leak to Dancy since January, when Leahy confessed it privately to Sen. David Boren, the incoming chairman of the Intelligence Committee. Instead of calling for a thorough inquiry, Boren allowed Leahy to resign quietly from the committee on the pretext that he was too busy with other things to serve out the remainder of his term as a member.

So perhaps the whole mess ought to be referred to the Justice Department, which has the backstop obligation to make sure that the laws of this country are enforced. Let the Department launch a comprehensive investigation of Leahy's career as a leaker, and let the trail lead where it will. And if it reveals that a crime or crimes have been committed, let's prosecute the gentleman from Vermont and give Öllie North some high-class company on that rock pile at Leavenworth.

Little Hope For

Dolphins

By Michele DiGirolamo

UPI Science Writer BRIGANTINE, N.J. (UPI) - Little or nothing can be done to protect the scores of bottlenose dolphins that are dying along the mid-Atlantic coast and the Chesapeake Bay, state officials say.

Tests on the carcasses of some of the nearly 100 dolphins that have washed ashore in the region since early July indicate that a bacterium similar to one that causes "catscratch fever" in humans is the probable cause of their deaths.

The bacterium apparently is transmitted when dolphins inhale the mist exhaled by other dolphins through their blowholes as the packs in which they travel surface for air, a New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection spokesman said.

"There's nothing (that can be done), assuming this is the true problem at the bottom of it," spokesman James Staples said Monday. "What are you going to do? You can't chase them around and inoculate them, and there's no inoculant anyway."

Dr. Douglas Roscoe, an animal pathologist at the state Division of Fish, Game and Wildlife laboratory in Clinton, determined that a dolphin recovered last week died from pneumonia brought on by the bacterium, Staples said.

Roscoe was able to isolate and then identify the bacterium as 'pasteurella multocida," a strain similiar to a bacteria that causes "cat-scratch fever," a mild type of influenza that affects humans, Staples said.

Humans would not be affected by the particular strain of the disease that has been found in the dolphins. Staples said.

The dolphin death toil in New Jersey alone since early July is up to an unprecedented 42 and is increasing daily, said Robert Schoelkopf, director of the Marine Mammal Stranding Center in Brig-

Deaths in the other center of dolphin mortality in the lower Chesapeake Bay and along the coasts of Virginia. Maryland and Delaware have risen to 53, said James Mead, curator of marine mammals at the Smithsonian Institution in Washington.

The marine wildlife experts agreed the problem was probably much larger than indicated by the number of beached dolphins. Only a small percentage of the actual number of dead sea creatures wash up on shore, experts said.

A Fight Over Official Monopolies Brews

By Jack Anderson And Joseph Spear

WASHINGTON - The "beer bill" keeps rolling, just like the Andrews Sisters' famous barrel, but some past supporters have decided not to

Beer wholesalers have been trying for six years to get congressional permission to assign distribution monopolies in geographical areas. Consumer groups claim the monopolies would cause the retail price of beer to skyrocket, and they have enlisted opposition to the beer bill from the Justice Department, the Federal Trade Commission and the American Bar Association, among others.

One of the sturdlest roadblocks to the beer lobby's bill was a study last year by the Consumer Federation of America, which concluded that prices would rise if the bill passed. So the beer barons have studies of their own to present at today's hearing on the bill before Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohlo, chairman of the Judiciary antitrust subcommittee and a flerce opponent of the bill.

Not surprisingly, the studies gathered by the National Beer Wholesalers Association conclude that distribution monopolies do not increase the price of beer. An association spokesman said that competition among the different brands keeps six-pack prices down.

One study the beer wholesalers have in hand is described in the association's "Washington Update" newsletter and by an industry spokesman as the "Auburn University Study." It focuses on Alabama's 1984 version of the proposed nationwide beer law - and concludes that beer prices didn't go up under the law, but actually dropped in some cases.

Our associate Stewart Harris obtained a copy of the study. Although the three authors taught at Auburn University at Montgomery, Ala., a disclaimer on the inside states clearly: "This study constitutes the research efforts and judgment solely of the authors and should not be taken to represent the views of Auburn University at Montgomery. Above the disclaimer is the address of the Alabama Wholesale Beer and Wine Association. In fact, the association paid for this study. according to Dr. A. Wayne Lacy, one of the researchers. But Lacy insisted that the research was conducted independently, according to academic standards.

Meanwhile, support for the national beer bill appears to be eroding among past adherents to the cause.

Sources tell us that a squabble erupted earlier this year when brewers represented by the Beer Institute warned the wholesalers that their campaign for the distribution-monoply bill could be counterproductive to the industry as a whole.

In a statement given to Modern Brewery Age, a trade publication, the institute pointed out that the beer industry faces some serious threats - including suggested health warning labels on containers. a possible hike in the federal excise tax, and a proposed ban on radio and television advertising. Beer Institute strategists are afraid that lobbying for the beer bill might alienate members of Congress whose help is needed on the other lasues - and could drive a deeper wedge between wholesalers and the retailers, who oppose the beer bill.

Two Democratic presidential hopefuls who have supported the beer bill in the past proved strangely shy when we asked about their current position on the legisla-

Admiral Says Mission Successful, Escort Ships Leave Gas Prince

DUBAI. United Arab Emirates (UPI) - Shadowed by an Iranian frigate, the U.S.-escorted Gas Prince glided past Iran's Silkworm missile sites in the Strait of Hormuz to become the first re-flagged Kuwaiti tanker to safely complete a Persian Gulf round trip under Navy protection.

The operation, dubbed "Earnest Will," ended at 5 a.m. today (10 p.m. EDT Monday) when the two U.S. Navy escort ships veered away from the tanker in the Gulf of Oman after the 2 1/2-day voyage of about 600 miles from Kuwait's oil loading terminal.

Greenspan OK'd As Fed Head; Nomination Leaves Questions

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The choice of Alan Greenspan as the next chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, is a generally popular one, but some critics question whether he can buck the president of the United States if he must.

The Senate approved Greenspan's nomination Monday by a 91-2 vote to be the next Fed chalrman, succeeding the popular Paul Voicker at the helm of the nation's central bank.

While applauding Greenspan's record, some congressional critics questioned his willingness to resist political pressure from the Reagan administration in charting the nation's monetary policy.

"There is a big question as to whether the Federal Reserve Board can kiss its prized independence goodbye." said Senate Banking Committee Chairman William Proxmire, D-Wis., during floor debate. Proxmire, who nevertheless voted for Greenspan, later said he was the best candidate the Reagan administration could have been expected to nominate.

REDONDO BEACH, Calif. (UPI) - An ABC television movie about the life of Donna Rice will reveal the extent of her relationship with former Sen. Gary Hart, who withdrew from the presidential race after his tryst with the actress came to light, the network said.

Although Rice refused to tell ABC's Barbara Walters in a televised interview if she had slept with the candidate, "... she will reveal in the movie what she did with Gary Hart," said Ted Harbert, vice president of motion pictures for the Harbert announced at a news conference Monday during ABC's portion of the annual summer gathering of TV reporters and critics that the movie, which has no air date and is in the development stage, would deal with Rice's trip with Hart aboard the yacht "Monkey Business," as well as her relationship with the former Colorado senator and presidential contender.

Child Testifies In McMartin Trial

LOS ANGELES (UPI) - Nearly four years after authorities charged teachers at the McMartin Pre-School with molesting students, a jury heard the first child witness testify she was fondled and made to pose nude in a game the teachers called "naked movie star."

The girl, now 12, told jurors Monday that Ray Buckey, 29, and his mother, Peggy McMartin Buckey, 60, molested her seven years ago after having her and other students

The trial began July 13 for the Buckeys, who are charged with a combined one count of conspiracy and 99 of molestation for the alleged sexual abuse of the girl and 13 other pupils at the now-closed Virginia McMartin Pre-School in Manhattan Beach.

An 'Encroachment By Men Of Zea

By Clay F. Richards
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congressional investigators who went searching for presidential wrongdoing in the Iran-Contra scandal instead found a band of zealots running foreign policy behind the back of their commander in chief.

The public hearings that opened May 5 and closed Monday brought forth little new evidence about the role of President Reagan, but they told much about the maneuverings of his National Security Council staff and top advisers who tried to operate outside the limitations of the Constitution.

For the second time in two decades, a Republican administration elected by historic landslides was plunged into a constitutional crisis that threatened the nation's democratic foundation. In Watergate, what the president knew and when he knew it drove Richard Nixon from office. In the Iran-Contra scandal, what Ronald Reagan was not told and when he was not told it preserved his presidency - though in a state so battered it likely will not overcome its lame-duck Impotency.

unequivocally that he did not have to appropriate money. sales to Iran.

There are two men who could have testified conclusively to that point.

ClA Director William Casey, one of Reagan's closest friends in government who was identified by Lt. Col. Oliver North as the mastermind behind the plot, is dead. Rear Adm. John Poindexter, the president's national security adviser last year, said he alone approved the diversion of their liberty by evil-minded and withheld it from Reagan, but no less a figure than Sen. George Mitchell, D-Maine, a respected former federal judge. named Poindexter as the witness mostly likely to have lied.

Even more chilling, though, is the fact that Reagan may have known nothing - as aides deliberately withheld information from him and his Cabinet of-

, North, Poindexter and perhaps Casey cooked up the "neat idea" to divert the profits as a part of an "off-the-shelf" operation in which foreign policy could be carried out totally without government sanction or involveless voted for - did the job instead. Their rationale: They could advance democracy and defeat communism better than elected leaders because they were unaccountable. To point out the danger of such a stark vision. Sen. Paul Sarbanes, D-Md., quoted Justice Louis Brandels at least three times during the hearings:

"Men born of freedom are naturally alert to repel invasion rulers. The greatest dangers to liberty lurk in insidious encroachment by men of zeal, well-meaning but without un-derstanding." he said.

Sen. Warren Rudman, R-N.H., cited the "abuse of power by a small group of individuals" and declared, "There is no room for such behavior in this country."

Yet even at the public conclusion Monday, members of Congress were not sure they had discovered how something such as the Iran-Contra scandal could happen - just as 14 summers before, senators could not figure out how the Nixon White House could have steered the ship of state so far off course.

A clue lies in a question asked many times during the hearings: How could a lieutenant colonel call generals and admirals in the Pentagon, ambassadors around electorate hardly knew, much the world, foreign heads of state and hundreds of others with higher rank and have them carry out his orders? Each time, the answer came: Oliver North was not a "mere lieutenant colonel," as so often described, but an agent working in the name of the most powerful man in the free world, the president of the United States.

Ultimately, as with Watergate. the responsibility for abuse of presidential power rests in the Oval Office. The president. If only by inaction, creates the atmosphere that allows abuse.

Former Lake Mary City Commissioner Harry Terry said he is "recovering nicely" from an accident in June when he was hit by a dump truck while crossing a city street.

Terry, one of Lake Mary's first commissioners and namesake of the city's municipal water plant, said he is getting along pretty well now. "I went to the hospital recently for a mild stroke, but that had nothing to do with the accident," he said.

Terry, 79, was struck down by the truck as he was crossing Lake Mary Boulevard near the Lake Mary veterinary clinic at about 8:13 a.m. on June 8. The driver of the truck, Michael Terrill of Longwood, was not charged in the incident.

As a result of the accident. Terry reportedly sustained cuts on his head and severe damage to his mouth. Terry said although he was feeling pretty good he still had some repair work to be done on his mouth.

Concerns Strengthen Dollar; Gold, Silver Open Higher

By United Press International

The dollar strengthened against key foreign currencies Tuesday amid continuing concern in the world's financial markets that the conflict in the Persian Gulf could widen. The price of gold rose.

In Tokyo, the dollar rallied against the Japanese yen, climbing past the 151-yen level after a lapse of seven sessions. The Bank of Japan said the Sanford, and the Sanford City Commission, asked for the investigation.

Austin, Kunz, an investigator from their office

The city of Sanford at one time sued the county over the purchase but saw its suit tossed out of court on a technicality. The city commission then decided not to refile the suit.

The city and the county wanted the land for the same purpose. Sanford is under a state order to stop dumping treated wastewater into Lake Monroe and the loss of the property has forced it to seek other solutions.

Critics of the county's 1985 Yankee Lake purchase say state law was violated when the county bought the acreage because it did not follow established procedure, purchased the land without proper public notice and without required appraisals. The purchase also came at the end of a long meeting at 2 a.m. when reportedly just one person, other than the county commissioners and county employees, was present.

burse the city rather than hassle about it. Emling also accused Dennis of "being rude to the citizens (at the last meeting) by refusing to clarify remarks made when you were well aware it was upsetting." This was in reference to the point when Emling objected to the commission approving Dennis' routine appointment to the Land Planning Agency of Rick Bullington of Highland Hills. Emling wanted to delay the appointment until her group could recommend someone. She complained about appointing another resident of the Highland Hills subdivision when there were already two persons from that area on the LPA board. Dennis replied that maybe that was because the residents of Highland Hills were civic minded and Emling demanded Dennis apologize pubicly to the people of Skylark, who were just as civic-minded. Dennis said she had nothing more to say.

Dennis was also accused by Emling of not following the charter in an attempt to remove the City Administrator Ron Waller and at "almost midnight during the budget work session asking the city clerk to turn off the tape while she gave her evaluation of Waller's performance.

Interim City Attorney Ann Colby said there are two legal means to remove commissioners - at the ballot box or the governer can do it. She said the commission has no legal power to remove a commissioner because they are each elected by the populace. She said the commission can judge whether the charter has been violated, but they

Many of the people who voted for these two commissioners are not sitting in the audience. This is a consortium of people gotten together to push an issue."

Former Longwood Mayor Gerry Connell said things had happened in the past and if what Gunter had alleged happened in the police department it should be looked into.

"It takes guts to open it up," he said. "More guts than to sit here and make charges." Emling replied, "It has nothing to do with guts,

It went well beyond guts. It's got to stop." Bernard Linton, chairman of the Land Planning Agency said, "Making a mistake and a personal vendetta are not the same thing."

Emling told Dennis and Gunter, "There is absolutely no place in this city for your kind of politics." Jack Scott said, "We've got two unqualified people. They've violated the charter on numerous occasions." He said Dennis paid the money back, but the charter says she must step down for viollating its stipuations.

'As a taxpayer I demand this charter be upheld or thrown away," Scott said.

White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater made it clear Reagan will not hold a news conference before he leaves Aug. 13 for a three-week California vacation but will respond to the hearings in the long-awaited televised speech.

"The speech will give the president's general views on the hearings and talk about where we go from here and the agenda of the months ahead," Fitzwater said Monday. "He won't go into every detail.'

Where the committees go from here begins this week, as they try to tie up loose ends by taking private testimony from several CIA officials. Congress adjourns for its own vacation Friday, and the 26 Iran-Contra committee members expect to produce a final report with recommendations by Oct. 1.

Expos: NL East Contenders

CHICAGO - Montreal's underrated Expos were the best team in baseball in July, comoiling an 18-8 record to move from pretender to contender in he National League East Division.

After taking 2 of 3 from the Cubs at Wrigley Field last week. the Expos had pared St. Louis' once insurmountable lead to a mere four games.

"This is a good ballclub," Montreal left fielder Tim Raines maintained following the series. "A lot of people underrate us but we're going to be in this race all the way.'

After winning two consecutive from the Cubs and knocking off the Mets Friday, the Expos. however, have stumbled into August, losing twice to the Mets and another to St. Louis, 5-2 Monday night, on Jim Lindeman's home run. They now trail the Cardinals by seven mes and the Mets by one-half me.

Raines said the Expos need to remain within five games if they hope to overtake the Cards and the Mets. He also said the Phillies can not be counted out either.

"We have played very well against the Cardinals," Raines hald about Montreal's five victories in eight games prior to Monday's opener of a three-game et in Montreal.

Montreal's season has been remarkable indeed. The Expos tarted by losing their first five smes. They were burnious Raines (free agent unable to re-sign until May 1) and shortstop Hubie Brooks (injury).

"Everyone told us from December through Spring Training how bad we were," manager Buck Rogers said. "We didn't Raines was the prime reason for the resurgence in May and June, batting over .370, but he cooled off in July as his average dipped into the mid .330s. Still, the Expos, buoyed by the productive RBI bat of Tim Wallach along with strong pitching from Floyd Youmans, Bryn Smith and Dennis Martinez, made up ground on the Cardinals.

"Our starting pitching is the best in the league," Raines said about the aformentioned three who join Neal Heaton and Bob Sebra to form a formidable five. 'As long as we can continue to get five or six strong innings out of them, we'll be in contention."

Raines, the NL batting champion last year (.334), said he does not know if he can repeat.

'My role for the ballclub is different this year," Raines, who is hitting .334 and trails San Diego's Tony Gwynn by some 30 points said. "Last year, I was leading off and we were out of the race pretty early. I could concentrate on hitting."

This year. Rogers has inserted Raines in the number three spot in the order to replace free agent Andre Dawson who signed with the Cubs. Raines said the switch. "creates different situations than leadoff."

"You have to be more of a situational hitter," the 27-yearold outfielder said. "There are times when I come up where I have to go for the sacrifice fly or try to hit the long ball. That didn't happen too long when I was batting leadoff."

Even though Brooks or Wallach could probably fill the now it is up to me to perform." number three position when second-year slugger Andres Gallaraga develops into a cleanup hitter, Raines said he is happy batting third.

"I don't get to steal as much. but I don't have to take as many pltches either," Raines said. "I like it and think I can become a pretty good number three hit-

The stats back up Raines contention. Montreal has posted a 49-32 record with Raines in the lineup and batting third. The stocky 185-pounder also has 10 home runs, the earliest he has reached that power total in seven Major League seasons.

Thompson Hurls Dist. 14 Past Brevard

By Scott Sander Herald Sports Writer

DUNEDIN - Prior to the start of Monday night's opening round game in the Florida Big League State Tournament between the District 14 Nationals and Brevard North, Nationals' pitching coach Max Westgate had a feeling that William "Squeeze" Thompson was going to come through with a stellar pitching performance.

"If he pitches as well as he looks in warmups, I think they will have a lot of trouble hitting him." Westgate said. "If he's on, he'll be hard to stop."

As it turned out. Thompson did everything Westgate was hoping for and then some as he tossed a five-hitter and broke a scoreless tie in the top of the seventh inning with an RBI double. leading the Nationals to an exciting 4-1 victory before 117 fans at Englebert

The Nationals will take on Tampa, a 14.5 winner over host Dunedin, tonight at 7. After Tampa fell behind, 5-0, it scored 14 unanswered runs. Manager

Baseball

Gene Letterio said either Anthony Laszaic or Dave Westgate will pitch

"It should be a very tough game."
Letterio said. "Last week, Max
(Westgate) and Bob (Shakar) got a chance to scout them (Tampa) and they looked tough."

Thompson, a hard-throwing righthander, blended a strong fastball with an offspeed curve to keep the Brevard bats

"I really felt comfortable out there tonight," Thompson, who fanned 10 while walking two, said. "It feels good to win against a team of this caliber.

After six innings of goose-eggs, the Nationals exploded for four runs. Mark "Pork" Coffey, in a 1 for 8 slump, led off the seventh with a single to center.
"It felt great to finally break out of the slump," Coffey, who made several good plays in center said. "It was a high fastball and I hit it pretty well."

After missing a pair of bunt attempts. Thompson inguited the rally as he ripped a 2-2 curveball into the left field gap to score Coffey with the game's first

"I walked out to give William (Thompson) his jacket, and the first thing he said to me was he was sorry about missing the bunts." Letterio chuckled. "The kid breaks a scoreless game and apologizes."

Glenn Reichle capped off the scoring when he stroked an RBI single into left. scoring Eric Martinez.

Brevard got one run in the bottom of the seventh but Thompson fanned Darryl Spencer with a runner on first to end the game.

Letterio said that Thompson took center stage when he had to.

William simply stole the show tonight," Letterio said of the Eustis product. "That was probably one of the finest pitching performances I've seen in all-star competition.'

Brevard pitcher Carl Hansleman, who threw three no-hitters with Merritt Island High School last season, went six and one-third innings and took the loss. Tom Finne pitched the final two-thirds of an

"He (Hansleman) was a very good pitcher," Letterio said. "This was a real confidence builder for us. We needed to beat a good team and we did tonight."

Eric Martinez, the hottest hitter on the team so far, continued to lead the offensive assault as he went 3 for 4 with an RBI triple.

"I'm swinging better than I ever have," Martinez said. "Squeeze" (Thompson) kept us in the game.'

Letterio said he was happy with the way his defense performed as the Nationals played error-free ball for the second game in a row. "I think we are finally becoming a team. Our defense was shaky the first couple of games but it's coming around now.'

Ballesteros Needs Putting Confidence

PALM BEACH GARDENS (UPI) - The most forlorn scene from the 1987 major championship golf season has been that of Seve Ballesteros walking back approaching this week with a up the 10th fairway after missing a five-foot par putt on the first playoff hole at the Masters. And he isn't over it yet.

"It was a straight putt, uphill," Ballesteros said. "And I missed it. Since then I have lost my confidence a lot. I don't feel I'm a bad putter. But I'm a mediocre

He fell out of the Masters with a bogey on No. 10 and watched as Larry Mize holed a 40-yard chip shot at No. 11 to defeat Greg Norman.

To win at-the-PGA National course Ballesteros will have to overcome the heat, breezes and heavy rough which have brought plenty of grumbles from the elite 150-man field.

"It drains you," said British Open champion Nick Faldo. "The humidity is what does it. I changed my putter while I was Maybe I can work up my stamina during the practice rounds so when the tournament gets here it will be a little easier.

"And the rough is tough. You look at this (bermuda) grass on television and you wonder why the guys are having such a hard time. After all, it's only about four inches deep. But the ball sinks right down in it. You might have a hard time finding it and it's really hard to hit it out."

"There are too many good players here and in Europe, too," he said. "You have to putt well to win. Back home last week practicing. I rolled the putts pretty good on the practice green. But you never know until the tournament starts."

Ballesteros has finished second five times on the European tour this year, but he was never a factor in the British Open last

Harbaugh Signs For $1.5 Million

PLATTEVILLE, Wis. (UPI) -The signing of Jim Harbaugh brought to camp the fifth Chicago quarterback fighting for three roster openings. Harbaugh officially became a member of the Bears early Monday when he agreed to a four-year, $1.5 million contract. He practiced with the team Monday at its training camp at the University of Wisconsin-Platteville.

Harbaugh joined his agent, Leigh Steinberg, on a trip to Platteville Sunday night to work out the final details of the agreement. Harbaugh missed the first two days of camp.

"We felt there was a better chance of getting it done here. even though we did not have an agreement." Steinberg said. "Jim very much wanted to be here.'

"I think it is a fair deal and satd Harbaugh, who was the 26th player selected in the NFL's collegiate draft.

Harbaugh said his short holdout did not put him behind in the race for one of three QB spots on the roster.

"I'd like to keep improving from day to day." Tomczak said. "There is a lot of time until the first pre-season game. If I stay consistent and keep working hard, I will hopefully have the Fuller has not yet practiced because of a shoulder injury suffered in weight training just before the camp opened.

Monday afternoon the Bears completed contract negotiations with their rookies by signing fourth round draft pick Sean Smith of Grambling.

The Bears still have not signed veteran cornerback Mike Richardson, who is holding out for more money. Ted Phillips, the Bears' Director of Finance, said the two sides are still apart but that he would talk to Richardson's agent again this week.

Through three days of two-a-day workouts, the Bears have come away relatively injury free. Linebacker Ron Rivera suffered a deep thigh bruise and had to be carried off the practice field Monday afternoon.

Safety Maurice Douglass pulled a muscle in his leg and limped off the field.

SMITHFIELD, R.I. (UPI) -Bruce Armstrong, the first-round draft choice of the New England Patriots, will be sidelined seven to 10 days with a shoulder injury, team officials said.

Armstrong, an offensive lineman, injured his shoulder during rookie mini-camp last May and reinjured it Saturday during a scrimmage at New England's Bryant College training camp against the Washington Redskins' rookie squad.

In the scrimmage, Armstrong was held out of the one-on-one drills to minimize risk of injury. but the shoulder began to hurt again during a brief appearance in game-like conditions.

Pan Am Slate Revised

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) - Revised schedules for the 10th Pan American Games showed Monday a decrease in the number of basketball and volleyball games because some countries failed to send as many athletes as expected.

The cutbacks in volleyball came after men's teams from Uruguay and Venezuela were dropped and women's squads from Venezuela and Brazil were scratched from the tournament. Twenty volleyball games on the original schedule were canceled on revised pairings for the tournament, which begins next week. Some volleyball sessions were shuffled on the revised schedule and some were canceled.

Six women's basketball games, including offe involving the United States, were canceled because the Dominican Republic team was no longer included. Three 10 a.m. EST round-robin sessions were deleted and three consolation games were also climinated.

Until now, we have been dealing with projections of participants, but now we have a more firm commitment," said Jack Swarbrick, games and venues co-chairman for PAX-Indianapolis, organizer of the Games. "While there is room for minor changes, we are confident the level of competition will be unprecedented in Pan American Games history."

Cuban officials pulled their basketball team out of the men's tournament, claiming the squad would not be competitive. The U.S. Virgin Islands team was added, replacing Cuba on the schedule.

Some Latin American nations, including Panama and Costa Rica, cut proposed participation in the Games because of travel costs. PAX-Indianapolis contributed to travel costs for a small number of athletes from each nation to help ensure participation from a record number of countries.

"For some nations, it is not economically feasible to send a baseball team and a volleyball team," Swarbrick sald. "They may tell us they are sending both but, when everything is final, they may only send one or the other."

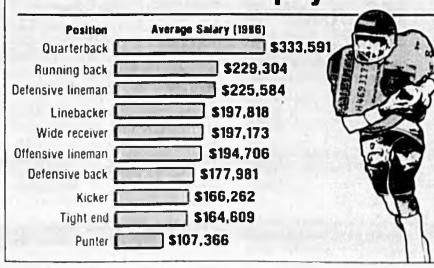

More than 4,400 athletes from 38 Western Hemisphere nations will compete in 30 sports at the Games, which begin Saturday with opening ceremonies at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway. Half the nations represented expect to have 70 athletes or fewer at the Games.

Pan Am officials said they will not have final schedules or participation figures until all athletes have moved into the competitors' village.

"Delegates are arriving all the time and, as they arrive, we're looking at what changes in the schedule would have to be made," said David Pittman, a spokesman for the organizers.

When asked for details of a possible refund policy for scheduled sessions not conducted, spokeswoman Teresa Napter announced a news conference was scheduled for Tuesday "to answer all your questions about tickets from A to Z." Napier said the most complete pre-event schedule possible will be available by Thursday.

Twins Scuff Up California

United Press International

Joe Niekro says he uses an emery board to keep his nails well-groomed. Monday night. umpire Tim Tachida banned him for using one to buff baseballs.

The Minnesota starter was ejected in the fourth inning after home plate umpire Tschida uncovered an emery board in Nickro's back pocket.

Despite Niekro's departure the Twins routed the Angels 11-3 to extend their lead in the American League West to two games over Oakland and to 2 1/2 games over the Angels.

"I file my fingernails between innings," said Niekro, who could be suspended for 10 days. "I've been keeping an emery board and piece of sandpaper in my pocket for 15 years. I guess I can't put it in my pocket anymore.

"I didn't think I was doing anything wrong, but I guess I was. Evidently, they (the umpires) thought it was something they had to do."

Gary Gaetti drove in five runs with a home run and two singles. Dan Schatzeder, 3-0, relieved Niekro and finished for the victory. Minnesota pounded starter Mike Witt, 13-7, for eight hits and seven runs in 6 2.3 innings.

With the score tied 2-2 in the fourth inning and Brian Downing at the plate, Tschida halted play, went out to Niekro and asked to examine his glove.

Manager Tom Kelly charged from the dugout as the four umpires converged on the pitcher. While Tschida was checking Niekro's glove, crew chief Dave Phillips ordered Niekro to empty his pockets. Niekro put both hands in his pockets and quickly pulled them inside out.

Yanks Close To Stadium Deal

NEW YORK (UPI) - The New York Yankees are close to a deal that would keep them in "The House That Ruth Built" well into the 21st century.

The team refused comment on the agreement, but Mayor Edward I. Koch said Monday the deal was close to being finalized.

"There are some points that yet have to be resolved," Koch said. "To say that the deal is done is not true. To say that we will ultimately have a deal, I think is true. We're working on it as hard as we know how, in good falth."

The Stadium was christened on April 18, 1923, as Ruth belted the park's first home run in a 4-1 victory over the Boston Red Sox before 74,200 fans. The current lease runs through the year 2002 and the extension would add on another 30 years.

'The state feels confident that we're heading toward an agreement by the middle of this month that will keep the Yankess in the city until the year 2032," said Harold Holzer, spokesman for the state's Urban Development Corp.

Urban Development Corp. head Vincent Tese said Aug. 15 has been set for a final agreement between the Yankees and the city.

"You can't have the Bronx without Yankee Stadium," said JAVIER GOES ON DL

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) - The Oakland Athletics placed outfielder Stan Javier on the 21-day PHILADELPHIA NEW YORK disabled list Monday and replaced him with pitcher Rick Rodriguez, the team announced.

Javier, 21, was hitting .194 in 61 games for the A's this season. He aggravated already tender muscles on the left side of his rib cage during Sunday's game between the A's and Minnesota Twins.

Rodriguez, 26, began the season on the Oakland roster. He did not record a decision in eight games, all in relief, before being optioned to Tacoma of the Pacific Coast League (AAA). In 21 games at Tacoma, Rodriguez Hayes. HR-Strawberry (24), Parrish was 6-4 with a 3.23 ERA

Kevin Bass moved the Astros within 3 1/2 games of first place Monday night by hitting two home runs in a 5-3 victory over the San Francisco Giants. Bass tled the score 3-3 with a fourth-inning homer then cracked a two-run shot in the

With the victory, Houston improved to 52-53. Through 105 games last year, the Astros were 59-46 and four games ahead of the field. No team has repeated in the NL West since the 1977-78 Dodgera.

"The other ballclubs do not consider us a threat anymore," Bass said. "We've done everything we could to win. Things just have not worked the way we felt they would. But I think the team is a little more relaxed now."

Houston Manager Hal Lanier added, "Every game we play is important. With a chance for us to gain ground on a club, we have to look at it as big, important games for both clubs."

The two-homer game was the second of Bass' five-year, major-league career.

With one out in the 13th, Alan Ashby drew a walk off Joe Price. 1.2. After Glenn Davis flied out, Bass hit an 0-1 delivery from Price over the left-field wall for his 12th home run of the year.

Juan Agosto won his first career National League decision by pitching a perfect 13th inning. Agosto has a 9-10 lifetime record in parts of six American League seasons.

"We had quite a few opportunities to win it," said Giants Manager Roger Craig. "We can't get a clutch hit when we need it to win. We've got to kick ourselves. We can't keep losing like this. We have to be more aggressive."

Astros starter Nolan Ryan gave up three runs on five hits. struck out 12 and walked one in seven innings. Ryan, who is limited to 110 pitches a game. Angeles. Hershiser, 12-9, struck threw 109. Ryan has given up three or fewer earned runs in 20 of his 22 starts this season.

The 12 strikeouts equaled his season high, which he set against the Glants June 7. In his last four starts against San Francisco, he has struck out at least 10 in each game and 42 overall. Monday's effort marked the 170th time in his career he has struck out 10 or more in a game.

Lendi Opens Voivo Play Today; Mayotte Rallies To Top Witsken

The state of the s

STRATTON, Vt. (UPI) - Ivan Lendl, coming off an easy triumph of Brad Gilbert at the D.C. National Tennis Classic, heads the field starting first-round play today at the $315,000 Volvo International Tennis Tournament.

In first-round action Monday. Tim Mayotte railled to defeat Todd Witsken of Carmel, Ind. 6-2, 3-6, 6-3. Mayotte, the fifth seed, celebrated his 27th birthday and was presented a chocolate cake at courtside after his triumph.

After breezing through the first set, Mayotte's game fell apart in the second set. Mayotte seemed on the verge of elimination early in the third set before regrouping.

He threw down his racket when he lost a point but then collected the next 15 points and won the final five games to clinch the match. Later, Mayotte said the brief outburst "helped me get motivated a little bit and get the juices flowing."

Witsken's baseline play surprised Mayotte, who said, "it's unusual for an American to play like that."

"I'm very pleased to have won this match. I was hoping to get my feet in the front door here and get a little more confidence going, and see what happens," said Mayotte.

There was one upset Monday as Robert Seguso of Sebring, Fla., the U.S. Davis Cup doubles specialist, beat No. 16 Derrick Rostagno of Los Angeles, 6-4, 6-3.

The first day of play was delayed nearly 90 minutes because of overnight and early-morning rains. The weather forecast for today called for possible showers late in the

Ali: 'I Know I'm Sick'

CHICAGO (UPI) - Former heavyweight boxing champion Muhammad Ali says he realizes he is sick and his condition is deteriorating.

"I know I'm sick and I know it's getting worse," All told the Chicago Sun-Times Monday. "I can't talk like I want to: can't talk as fast and often as I like. My mind is still sharp. I am aware of everything that goes on around me. My body lust moves slow and feels drained a lot."

All was in interviewed in Las Vegas, Nev., during the weekend while attending the Mike Tyson-Tony Tucker heavyweight title fight.

All suffers from Parkinson's syndrome, a degenerative disease of the muscles and nervous system.

"Sometimes I look down and see my hands shaking and I didn't even know they were shaking," he said. "The feeling around my mouth isn't there like it used to be. I'm not aware when there's food left on my lips."

But Ali said he is not in pain. "Basically, I feel great, except for fatigue," All said. "But no pain. I don't feel any pain.' All admitted he considered having an experimental surgical procedure in Mexico earlier this summer but his family and doctor changed his mind. He said he would consider some type of surgery "within the next couple of years." Catledge Condition Serious

TUPELO, Miss. (UPI) — Washington Bullets forward Terry Catledge remained in stable condition in a hospital today with a fractured vertebra after a single-vehicle accident that killed another passenger.

Catledge will be able to return to playing basketball, said Dr. Tom McDonald, who treated Catledge. The starting forward was fitted with a plastic foam support to hold his neck still, preventing aggravation of a fracture of the sixth

"It's not a displaced fracture ... it's basically a hairline fracture of the bone," McDonald said.

A hospital spokesman said early Tuesday morning that Catledge was in "very stable condition."

Catledge, 23, a native of Houston, Miss., was admitted Sunday to the North Mississippi Medical Center in Tupelo, said hospital spokeswoman Rosemary Jarrell. She denied earlier reports that Catledge had been treated and released. Troopers said Catledge and three other people were riding in a 1987 Ford Bronco on state highway 8 when the driver, Michael Evans, lost control. The truck skidded off the road at 2:50 a.m. CDT, about four miles south of Calhoun City. One passenger, Ricky Cooper, 22, died in the accident. Catledge, Michael Evans and Earl Evans were thrown clear of the vehicle.

Georgia, Alabama Win At NBC

WICHITA, Kan. (UPI) - Center stelder June Munford rapped out a pair of doubles to lead Valdosta, Ga., to a 5-2 triumph over Jackson, Miss., at the National Baseball Congress World Series.

In an earlier game Monday, left fielder Mike Burns drove in three runs to lead Hartselle, Ala., to an 8-2 victory over Tucson, Ariz., was to play Houston in an elimination game at 10 p.m. Monday. The 15-day, double-elimination tourney began Friday.

Valdosta scored three times in the fifth inning to take a 5-0 lead. Munford drove in a run with a double. He scored on a single by third baseman Tom Gorman. Center fielder Tim DeMoonie later scored on a wild pitch.

Don't Neglect Routine Maintenance

Our engines and other marine equipment operate in a harsh environment, sait and moisture, and yet we expect never to have to service the equipment and most of us sadly neglect the maintenance that would have kept them in operation for years on

For those of us who are unable to do our own service, a reputable service organization will keep your boat running in tip-top shape provided you let them perform the necessary maintenance functions on a scheduled basis. All too often we, in the Coast Guard Auxiliary, are called upon to help someone in trouble who has sadly neglected simple routine maintenance.

How long has it been since you changed the grease in your outdrive of your inboard-outboard or your outboard? Some have one reservoir, other units may have more. Many of the manufacturers recommend a particular brand for each application. If you have not had previous experience and you want to do this chore yourself. get a copy of the service manual for your particular boat or engine. It can make the job much easier. Outboard and stern drive gearcases are filled from the bottom. Both plugs are removed and the old oil is allowed to drain out. Catch the oil in a clear container and examine it closely. If the gear oil is milky or has water in it, the milky color is an indication of water mixed with the oil, there is a good possibility that you have a leaking seal. Before you do anything else get it replaced or expect some hefty repair bills later on. After you are certain the oil is well drained out, fill the unit through the bottom plug until the oil comes out of the top plug opening. The top plug is then installed: the oil will not drain out while you are installing the bottom plug.

Check the rest of your boat for Zerk-grease-fittings. Be sure to wipe each one before you pump grease into it. If you don't you may be pushing dirt and other foreign materials into the bearing areas. Some fittings may require the use of a needle tip adapter. Clean these too before inserting the tip. In all instances where you use a grease gun, buy a good quality waterproof multipurpose grease. Special purpose greases are available. On interior drawer slides and other moving parts slicone in either spray or squeeze bottle works well.

By all means do not forget your trailer. The wheel bearings are especially vulnerable to water and immersion in salt water can play havoc with the bearings unless you wash the salt out each time you use the Some trailers are equipped with "Bearing Buddy" fittings that ansintain a slight pressure on the grease reservoir so water does not easily enter the bearings. Regular attention is still required, however.

At regular intervals it is well to remove the trailer wheels and clean and grease the bearings. It is not a difficult job unless the wheels have brakes; then you must have some brake repair experience or perhaps a friend who has the necessary experience.

After the bearings have been removed and thoroughly cleaned, examine both the bearings and races (the part the bearings roll against) for corrosion pits and wear. If they do, best to replace them now. It's easier to replace them now than on some busy highway on a Sunday afternoon. If they appear OK, force some grease through the rollers with your fingers and then reassemble the bearing assembly and fill the bearing cap with a liberal amount of grease.

BOATER'S TIP: The bearing nut should be tightened to a snug fit and then backed off % of a turn. Spin the wheel; it should turn freely. If not, loosen the nut son.e more. Better a little loose than too tight. If you tighten the nut too tight, the bearing assembly will heat up and expand as you drive. The more expansion the more heat. Soon you find yourself replacing a bearing or possibly an axle shaft. After you are satisfied with that chore, finish up the job with a new cotter pin. Have a safe boating

A message to our friends and customers

For the past months many of you have enjoyed participating in the Publix Wheel of Fortune Promotion. And every week during the promotion thousands of our customers have won cash prizes. However, some have raised questions about the promotion due to the airing of a Wheel of Fortune program on a recent Saturday night. I hope the following explanation will help clear the air.

From the beginning of the promotion the Publix Wheel of Fortune game has run in the evenings from Monday through Friday on specifically designated stations. Winning puzzle solutions are posted weekly in our stores, clearly indicating they are taken from the TV shows broadcast Monday through Friday evenings, and are the only winning puzzle solutions in the Publix Wheel of Fortune game.

Then how did supposedly "winning" solutions suddenly turn up? Some television stations carry Wheel of Fortune Shows on Saturday nights and daytimes. The winning puzzle solutions on these Saturday evening and daytime shows have no connection with the Publix Wheel of Fortune game. They are not, and never have been, part of the Publix game.

The Publix Wheel of Fortune Game is our way of giving our customers a little something extra. I hope all of you will continue to enjoy the game for the remaining weeks of the promotion. You have my promise that all of us at Publix will continue to do our best to make shopping a pleasure for you.

Parents Stunned When Son Tells Them Frankly He's Gay

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are besides ourselves with grief and frustration. Our 18-year-old son has just told us that he is gay. This doesn't seem possible. He is an honor student. excelled in athletics and has even had girlfriends all through school. Abby, he is so masculine looking, no one would ever guess

He didn't express any great sorrow about it. He just stated the fact that he has "known" how he felt ever since he was 7 or 8 years old. He swore he has never been molested by a man at any time in his life and was not introduced into this kind of sex by anyone. He says he just "feels" a sexual desire for men that he has never felt for a woman.

Abby, his father is an elder in the church, and our son loves the Lord and knows what the Scriptures say about man lying with man.

It breaks our hearts to know that our only son will never marry and have children. How do other parents handle this problem?

What can we do apart from praying for him?

> GRIEVING PARENTS IN L.A.

DEAR PARENTS: You can accept him and love him. You can also learn more about homosexuality and meet with other parents who have lived through this experience and are now supportive of their gay children. Many parents in PARENTS FLAG are also religious and some are members of the clergy.

Please send a long, stamped (39 cents), self-addressed envelope to: PARENTS FLAG (Federation of Parents and Friends of Lesbians and Gays Inc.), P.O. Box 24565, Los Angeles, Calif. 90024. It is a non-profit organization, and will provide you with enlightening literature at no cost.

DEAR ABBY: When I read the beautiful poem "In Memory of Beau" with "author unknown," I knew I had to write. Abby, the author is not unknown. That poem was written by Jimmy Stewart, the famous actor, I heard him read it on Johnny Carson's "Tonight Show." If Mr. Stewart did indeed pen those moving words, I feel he should be given credit for touching so many of us with that beautiful tribute to a beloved pet.

DEAR BERNICE: Many readers write to tell me that they had heard Jimmy Stewart recite his beautiful tribute to Beau, so I wrote to Mr. Stewart and asked him if he was indeed the author. His response:

BERNICE COGGAN, DENVER

DEAR ABBY: I have your letter and the copy of the piece from your column titled "In Memory of Beau."

This one was not composed by me. I once wrote a poem about my dog, Beau, but it's completely different than "In Memory of Beau." Very sincerely.

JAMES STEWART

DEAR MR. STEWART: Thanks for settling this bone of contention and getting me out of the dog house.

DEAR ABBY: I am a R.N. In the intensive car unit, so I know how "The Doctor's Wife" feels when people telephone her husband at home (or drop in) expecting free medical advice or prescriptions. I am neither qualifled nor licensed to give medical advice, yet when people I meet casually find out I'm a nurse, they ask me medical questions.

Doctors could stem those rude interruptions from people who are not their regular patients by saying something like this when people call or drop in for free professional advice: "I'm sorry, but I can't give you proper medical advice without first medical history, plus knowing about any current and recently prescribed medications. Anything less than that would be not only a disservice to you, but also to my professional ethics. If you wish, please call my office for an appointment."

DENNIS L. OEHLER, R.N., GALT, CALIF.

DEAR DENNIS: Beautiful. That little speech was just what the doctor (or nurse) ordered.

There's no shortage of attention for Charles Eugene Locklin II when he comes to Hair Formula I for a haircut. From left, Christy Casto, Denise Kennedy, owner Rita Sheehan, Brenda Gracey, Elizabeth Rumbley and Jennifer Scott,

Hair Formula 1 – 7 Days A Week Committed To Change & Integrity

HAIR FORMULA I, located at 2479 Airport Blvd. in Country Club Square Shopping Center, Sanford, has been in business since Sept. 2, 1986 and the response from the area has been overwhelming. The owners and staff at HAIR FORMULA I are extremely gratified with this response, they thank their many customers. They also appreciate the referral business that their customers have generated and place the utmost value upon this.

HAIR FORMULA I is now staffed with some of the best top professionals in the business. Christy, Denise, Brenda, Elizabeth and Jennifer are fully committed to you, the customer, and the management is fully committed to change or expand the professional staff as necessary to best accommodate you.

HAIR FORMULA I fully realizes, understands and appreciates the reluctance in getting accustomed to a new stylist and they further realize the frustration sometimes experienced in trying to follow a stylist from shop to shop and often times having to pay a higher price for the same service that they have been receiving. Rest assured HAIR FORMULA I will always staff with the best possible stylists.

HAIR FORMULA I maintains a strong Code of Ethics and is committed to the customer to always maintain the highest standards and integrity possible. They pledge you will always find the same warmth you found on your first visit to the facility.

HAIR FORMULA I is a full-service salon for the entire family and you are welcome to come by, say hello, become acquainted and have a cup of coffee with them anytime.

Hair plays a significant role in human culture. it has since the dawn of time. Hair loss, too, has been an equally historic phenomenon. Losing hair Isn't easy, it may even take some mental adjustments. Some choose to cover their heads. others choose or prefer to replace their hair. If you are more comfortable covering your head there are several options, such as a cap, scarf, hat or

If you choose to replace your hair, there are three options, first a hair transplant, (which often is very expensive, painful and doesn't achieve the desired results); second, choose a fashionable wig: or thrird, you can choose a phosthetic hair unit.

Happily, fakey-looking "wigs" are a thing of the past. Technology has advanced so you can look the way you like and enhance your self-image.

HAIR FORMULA I is equipped and has the expertise to achieve that natural look as if hair were growing right out of your own head. In fact, no one will ever know. Hair loss detracts from your image in today's competitive marketplace and social environment. Today's man knows that his appearance, personality and physical self is incomplete without a good looking ead of hair, as we are living in a youthful, competitive, fastmoving world of action - a world that demands the best of us. Modern techniques in hair replacement have now made it possible to "replace the hair you do not have" and allow you to work, play, swim, sleep, shower and live with complete confidence. Nothing can stop you now. The only thing you have to fear is fear itself.

HAIR FORMULA I is also dedicated to work with those patients receiving medical treatment. Come in and receive information in private on "Chemotherpy, Radiation Therapy - Hair Loss And You." This information and resource material assistance are provided by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, National Cancer Institute, American Cancer Society and John Hopkins Oncology Center.

Call for a free private consultation, so consider what have you got to lose - or gain?

HAIR FORMULA I offers "house call" service for those who are handleapped, sick or bed confined Just call 321-6114 and they will send a professional technician to your door to take care of your hair needs.

HAIR FORMULA I has added another service for you. When you desire to come to HAIR FORMULA I and you are without transportation. Just call 321-6114 and someone will pick you up and take you back home after your service. Can you beat that anywhere? The professionals at HAIR FORMULA I strongly recommend for your benefit that you remove hair care items from your grocery list and use ONLY PROFESSIONAL PRODUCTS on your hair. You will find a full line of Paul Mitchell and Brocato International products, which are interchangeable with each other at this salon. Try these products, they are all sold with a 100 percent money back guarantee. Hours are Sunday, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.; Friday, Saturday and Monday, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.: Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Later hours by appointment. Walk-ins are welcome. Call today.

Carnival Cruise Lines' Profits Rise By 74 %

The complete contract of the c

MIAMI (UPI) — A big rise in passenger traffic at Carnival Cruise Lines Inc. helped lift the company's second-quarter profits by 74 percent. the cruise operator said Monday.

Carpival, which recently began reporting financial dall, said it earned $42.2 million on revenues of $156.7 million in the second quarter, compared with income of $24.2 million on revenues of $102.2 million during the same period last

Quarterly earnings equaled 39 cents per share. based on information supplied by the company in a recent prospectus.

Carnival began an initial public offering of 23.6 million shares of common stock on July 24 at an initial price of $15.50.

Passenger traffic on the company's seven cruise ships rose to 150,448, up 40 percent from year-earlier figures, the company said. Carnival christened two vessels, the Celebration and Jubilee, since July 1986. Each ship has a capacity of 1,486 passengers. An eighth ship is under construction.

Carnival said its average occupancy level for all ships during the second quarter was 111 percent. A spokesman for the company said a cruise ship is considered full if two people occupy each cabin. However, cabins can be shared by more than two people, leading to occupancy levels greater than 100 percent, he said.

Cruise ship revenues accounted for $145.8 million of the company's second-quarter sales. while Carnival's hotel and casino operations in the Bahamas contributed $10.9 million.

The hotel and casino operation in Nassau reported operating income of $722,000 for the second quarter, compared with an operating loss of $1.3 million for the same period last year, the company said.

Company income for the six-month period was $68.3 million, or 63 cents per share, on revenues of $278.1 million, compared with earnings of $42.2 million on revenues of $195.9 million, the company said.

Judge To Rule On DeLorean Bankruptcy Case

DETROIT (UPI) - A federal judge is to rule next week on former auto magnate John Z. De-Lorean's plan to pay creditors only $9.36 million in the $100 million-plus bankruptcy of his defunct sports car company.

DeLorean Monday returned to federal bankruptcy court in Detroit to fight critics, charging that the proposed settlement in the; 4-year old case is insufficient and that the payment is not backed by any collateral other than the 62-year-old former automaker's word.

DeLorean said, however, that the money would? come from his real estate holdings. Under the! proposed settlement, DeLorean - in return for his $9.36 million payment to creditors - would: keep his New Jersey estate and New York City apartment, plus have rights to use his name da automobile manufacturing again.

The largest creditor is the British government. which paid for most of the DeLorean Motor Co. assembly plant in Northern Ireland. The British. through New York attorney Malcolm Schade, sald the $9.36 million settlement is inadequate and that DeLorean may be hiding other assets.

DeLorean appeared pleased at the conclusion of Monday's hearings, which U.S. Bankruptcy Judge Ray Reynolds Graves will rule on sometime next week.

"Obviously we're pleased," the tall, silverhaired DeLorean said upon leaving the courthouse. "The other side presented no evidence, no witnesses."

DeLorean earlier told a Detroit newspaper that the British know that the minute everybody stops harassing me we're going to turn around" and sue them.

The settlement, filed June 25 in U.S. Bankruptcy Court in Detroit, was reached between DeLorean and David Allard Jr., the court-appointed trustee for creditors in the bankruptcy case.

It is opposed by the British, by French-carmaker Renault — which supplied parts to DeLorean's company — and two other creditors. The payment is nearly the same amount the creditors have accused DeLorean, in the bankruptcy and several suits, of stealing from DeLorean Motor Co. The creditors say DeLorean used the money to acquire Logan Manufacturing Co., a maker of ski-slope grooming equipment in DeLorean has denied the accusation, saying the money was a 1979 loan from British race car; executive Colin Chapman who died in late 1982. Under the settlement, DeLorean would keep; Logan.

DeLorean was acquitted in Detroit late last year; on 15 counts of fraud and racketeering connected: with his defunct car company.

In 1984. DeLorean was acquitted in Los Angeles after a four-month trial of eight counts of a federal indictment on drug charges.

Another Banner Year For Florida Tourism

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) - Florida hosted 15.5 million visitors during the first five months of 1987 and the tourism industry may be headed for another banner year, state Commerce Secretary Jeb Bush said Monday.

The tourism influx included 7.2 million arriving by car and 8.3 million coming in by plane.

Motor vehicle tourism is up 7.5 percent over the first five months of 1986. Year-to-year comparisons for air tourism and total tourism are not possible because the Department of Commerce has changed the way it counts tourists flying into

Bush said, however, the early signs are that the tourism industry will enjoy another record year.

"We've seen increases in the number of autotravelers in four of the first five months of 1987," he said. "If the flow of visitors continues as it has through May, this could be another banner year."

During May, Florida hosted 1.4 million tourists arriving by car and 1.3 million coming in by air. The number of auto travelers was up 12.6 percent over May of last year.

HREE-DAY WEEKENDS

DEARREADER -Mycobacterium aviumintracellulare produces a type of lung infection that resembles tuberculosis. However, it is not us serious as tuberculosis, and many experts believe that treatment is not necessary.

Otherwise-healthy patients with MAI seem to have chronic lung infections that remain stable for years. On the other hand, MAI infection in immunologically suppressed patients, such as those with AIDS, can be serious and fatal. MAI bacteria are quite resistant to antibiotics; there is no one universally effective treatment.

DEAR DR. GOTT - My flance was in a car accident 11/2 years ago and developed seizures. Medication is not controlling them. He's 100 pounds overweight, but when he tries to exercise he has a seizure. He also exilibits bizarre behavior during zeizures: He searches for a cap he doesn't have, pulls non-existent strings off his sweater, walks like a gorilla and refuses to have anyone touch him. He's only 37 and I hate the idea of him living the rest of his life like this. Can you help?

DEAR READER - Your flance appears to have suffered brain damage at the time of the accident. This damage is associated with episodes of seizure activity and bizarre behavior that probably are caused by abnormal electrical discharges within brain tissue.

If medication is not controlling his problem, he needs evaluation by neurologists who are experts in dealing with post-traumatic eptlepsy. I recommend that you ask his doctors for a referral to the neurology clinic at a teaching hospital. In such a setting, the super-specialists will have resources for diagnosis and treatment that are not available to average physicians.

DEAR DR. GOTT - I once touched mercury while cleaning up a broken thermometer. Within three days I was covered

DEAR DR. GOTT - I con- with a hot, bright-red rash. Do I have anything to worry about?

DEAR READER - I doubt that the brief exposure you had to mercury is the caused of your rash. Free mercury is not absorbed through intact skin. Rather, it does its damage when inhaled (as a vapor) or swallowed. Mercury poisoning causes acute symptoms of thirst. nausea, vomiting, stomach pain, bloody diarrhea and kidney failure. Chronic potsoning causes irritability, slurred speech, gum disorders, trembling and stag-

WIN AT BRIDGE

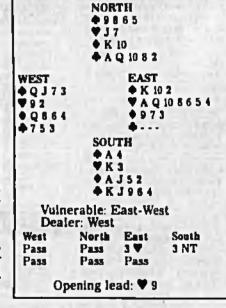

By James Jacoby

Did you ever wonder how to define good luck at bridge? Maybe you think that holding a fronted with just such a problem lot of high cards is lucky, and that would certainly be true at rubber bridge. It's also certainly lucky if you bid to a contract that requires some breaks, and you get them. And of course there is a large element of good luck in having your opponents misbid or misplay their cards.

In tournament bridge, where your opponents are doing their best to make your life at the table difficult, you will encounter numerous situations where you just have to step out and take a chance. Good luck at such times consists in your partner holding what you need to justify your risk. Heltle Noland of Lake Charles, Louisiana, was conat a sectional competition in Houston last June. After two passes, her right-hand opponent opened the bidding with three hearts. Since her partner had originally passed, Heitle feared he would not have values to take any action. So she made what seemed to be a good percentage bid if she was going to catch a few cards in the North hand. She tried three no-trump.

This may not be the right bid, but it worked. Heltie made her nine tricks and won the Flight A Open Pairs.
