Looking For Construction Funds

Schools Short $2 Million

By Paul Schaefer
Herald Staff Writer

More than $2 million in additional funds are needed if phase one construction at two Seminole County high schools under the $105 million school construction bond issue program is to continue as planned, the School Board learned at their Wednesday afternoon regular session.

The board was advised of the funding shortfall just prior to their meeting through two memos from county school administrators. The data left board members scratching their heads as to where the additional money will come from, and if the scope of planned construction at the two schools should be reduced.

Compounding the situation are cost estimates from an architectural firm which project costs double the allocated amount.

The board called a work session for 1:30 p.m. June 18, at the county school offices, 1211 Mellonville Ave., Sanford, to examine the situation, and possible alternatives.

The two memos notifying the board of the need for at least a million per school for construction at Lake Brantley and Lake Howell High Schools and suggestions on where the money could come from, were issued by the county school's assistant superintendent for facilities and transportation, Benny Arnold, and the assistant superintendent for business and finance, Carey Ferrell.

Arnold's memo said the budgeted allocation of funds for projects at Lake Howell were $5,344,915, and $5,425,189 at Lake Brantley. Those figures were developed by school district staff, and were approved by the Design Arts architectural firm, as well as the state Department of Education, a school board member said.

Arnold's memo reported that similar cost increases of more than $1,023 million were needed at each school, escalating the needed allocations to $6,368,226 at Lake Howell, and $6,448,499 at Lake Brantley. The costs include construction for similar 24,000 square foot science wings, plus food service areas, and guidance suites at each school.

Another architectural firm, Reynolds, Smith, and Hills, however, has projected costs of more than $12 million for each school's construction program.

Superintendent of Schools Robert Hughes said Reynolds, Smith, and Hills' projections included wanted, but not absolutely necessary items, which could be trimmed or eliminated.

Arnold's recommendation to the board was to take $1.6 million from the $5 million bond reserve account, and add to it $446,421 from 1986-87 State Science Facilities grant money for the two science wings, to

City Plans $16 Million Bond Issue

By Karen Talley
Herald Staff Writer

Sanford plans to float an approximately $16 million bond issue in August as the first of two issues planned to finance the city's revised wastewater management program.

Financial preparations for the issue are being undertaken this month in tandem with city engineers' efforts to complete project revisions. The revisions target effluent disposal on city properties through spray irrigation. They became necessary last spring, when Sanford lost its previously targeted effluent disposal site to Seminole County.

Sanford wants to hit the bond market this summer to secure a multi-million dollar issue for first phase wastewater management program work before federal tax reforms are signed into law, City Manager Frank Falson said.

The reforms, expected to be signed by Sept. 1, will adversely impact municipalities' ability to earn tax free interest on their issues, he said.

Sanford commissioners and staff addressed the impending legislation on Monday, as part of an overall discussion of the financial and engineering amendments being made to the wastewater management program.

Fuller detail of the bond issue and engineering modifications will be offered during two public sessions later this month.

Prior to these sessions, commissioners will consider formal approval of a $94,737.34 payment to the city's engineering firm, Conklin, Porter and Holmes, for project revisions.

The fees involve $71,487, for engineering reports that will be prepared to justify the new project to the state and assist the city in retaining the grants it had secured under its original project.

The balance, $23,250.34, will cover costs for study of soils at the Sanford Airport, the Mayfair golf course and other city properties, which have all been targeted as effluent disposal sites under the new program.

Commissioners voiced no opposition during discussion of the proposed expenditures at Monday's work session, and will formally vote on them July 14, during their next regular meeting.

Although anticipated to be in the vicinity of $16 million, exact amount of the August bond issue will be determined during the coming weeks, when costs of implementing the results of project studies and reports are finalized. City Engineering and Planning Director Bill Simmons said.

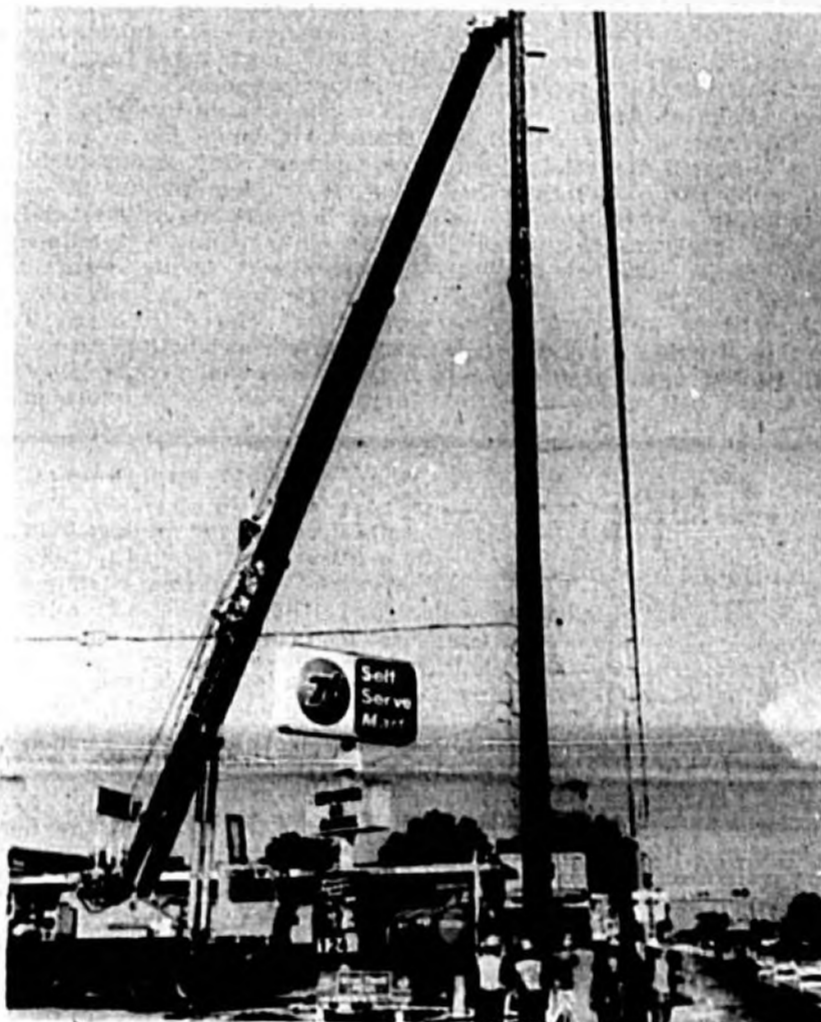

A public meeting for discussion of the bond issue has tentatively been scheduled by commissioners for July 21. Sanford representatives expect to follow-up the bond issue hearing with a visit to New York on August 25 and 26 to sign off on it.

On July 28, project modifications being undertaken by city engineering staff and consultants from Conklin, Porter and Holmes will be presented for public review.

Comments made at the July 28 public session, and all engineering data related to project modifications, will be presented by Sanford representatives to the state Environmental Regulatory Commission (ERC) at a hearing on Aug. 20.

The ERC is governing body for the state Department of Environmental Regulation (DER), which has ordered Sanford to cease disposing its treated effluent in Lake Monroe

Intersection Loses Tractor Push Match

Road blocks at State Roads 434 and 427 were to be removed today following a traffic accident that prompted police to close the roads because of a damaged power pole.

According to a Longwood Fire Department spokesman, a tractor-trailer struck the guywires of a cement powerpole at the intersection around 10 p.m. Wednesday. No injuries were reported.

Traffic is being rerouted. The impact caused the pole to split in half with the upper half suspended by the powerlines and guywires. Pole debris did not block the roads but they were closed because of the dangerous powerline situation, the spokesman said.

The high tension lines supply electricity to most stores and homes along SR 434, the spokesman said. They were not shut down, she said.

While traffic was expected to be allowed through the intersection today, the traffic lights will be out for about three days, a Longwood Police Department spokesman said.

He said officers will be directing traffic through the day. At late night, stop signs will be put on both lanes of SR 427, and SR 434 will be a through road, he said.

Repair crews faced two problems in repairing the damage, the fire department spokesman said. They had to find a large enough pole to replace the damaged one and locating the equipment to put the pole in the ground.

County OKs Water-Sewer Pre-Sell Plan

A program designed to raise money for water and sewer plant expansion without selling bonds or raising taxes was approved by Seminole County Commissioners during their regular Tuesday session.

Under the program, future water and sewer service will be pre-sold by reservation to developers, who will be assured of service when plant expansion is complete.

A builders group and county officials agree the pre-sale of water and sewer service will be a benefit.

"This will increase the sewer and water capacity so growth can continue," Home Builders Association of Mid-Florida, Inc. secretary Bill Miller told the commission. The HBA participated in drafting the two pre-sale resolutions.

Commission chairman Bob Sturm said the revenues from the pre-sale will allow the county to expand its water and sewer service capability, without a county bond sale or other alternative funding.

It will also assure developers of water and sewage service, in advance of project completion. The 60-day pre-sale period could begin as early as Monday, and could raise up to $30 million.

The commission unanimously approved pre-sale resolutions during their regular Tuesday afternoon session.

The pre-sale policies apply to the Greenwood Lakes service area near Lake Mary, and the Iron Bridge/Consumer Water and Sewer service area in South Seminole County.

Under terms of the policy, developers can reserve up to 90,000 gallons per day of water and sewer capacity.

Those who pay 100 percent of water and sewer connection fees for the service will get top priority when service becomes available, and get a discount on

Longwood Lifts Utility Tax Cap

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

The $10 cap on Longwood's utility tax has been lifted on commercial and industrial customers and the tax will now be 10 percent of the utility bills, the maximum allowed by state law. There is still a $5 maximum on utility taxes charged to residential customers.

The amendment to the ordinance passed in a 4-1 vote at Monday night's City Commission meeting. Commissioner Perry Faulkner, who voted against the ordinance, said he agrees with B.D. "Bo" Simpson, Longwood businessman who spoke against the ordinance.

Simpson said "In my opinion, you can't do what you want to do tonight. It must be across the board for residential as well as commercial and industrial. You can't separate the commercial from industrial or residential.

City-County Eye Joint Effort

By Karen Talley
Herald Staff Writer

Although administrative guidelines still have to be developed, Seminole County and Sanford are eyeing "invisible boundary lines" to enhance implementation of their respective community development block grant programs.

Parallel efforts the governments are taking to prepare for receipt of their grants will ultimately transcend at least one county-city border, Georgetown, and may end up extending into Goldsboro as well.

Georgetown will benefit from a $650,000 state grant Sanford will receive this summer. The community will also receive a share of the estimated $3.9 million state grant the county anticipates receiving in three $1.3 million installments during the next three years.

The $3.9 million was secured through a cooperative venture between the county and its cities, and will be applied in municipal and unincorporated areas the county has targeted for rehabilitation.

Goldsboro and Georgetown have been targeted by the county to receive funding, although the rehabilitation plans

Abbas Draws Life Sentence For Planning Achille Lauro Hijacking

GENOA, Italy (UPI) — Mohammed Abu Abbas and two of his Palestine Liberation Front aides were sentenced in absentia today to life jail terms for masterminding the Achille Lauro hijacking but none of the 15 defendants was found guilty of murdering American passenger Leon Klinghoffer.

Magied Al Molgi, 23, leader of the four-man hijack team who was accused of shooting Klinghoffer, 69, to death, received a sentence of 30 years in jail.

None of the 15 defendants was found guilty of Klinghoffer's murder and court sources said this meant the court judged the evidence of how Klinghoffer was killed to be too circumstantial to warrant a conviction.

Presiding Judge Lino Monteverde read the sentences in the packed underground courtroom at the Genoa Palace of Justice. Monteverde, another judge, and a six-member jury had deliberated for three days and nights in a closely guarded villa on the outskirts of Genoa.

Bomb Kills 1, Injures 20

PARIS (UPI) — Officials today tightened security at police installations after a bomb exploded in a police offices overlooking the Seine, killing one officer and wounding more than 20 people, two of them critically.

The blast Wednesday occurred on the fourth floor of a five-story building on the waterfront Quai de Gesvres, wrecking the offices of the Brigade de Repression de Banditisme, a unit that specializes in criminal cases and is not involved with terrorism.

Police sources said they believed the offices were chosen because security was lighter than at most obvious terrorist targets, prompting moves to improve checks at police stations. Police also said they were puzzled because no person or group claimed responsibility for the attack.

Government Backs Down

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — The government has backed down from a ban on trade union meetings in and around the city less than 24 hours before a deadline today set by the nation's biggest labor federation for the release of union leaders.

In a further setback for authorities, Cape Town Supreme Court Judge Robin Marais Wednesday ordered the immediate release of a white Catholic nun who was detained without charge June 23 under state-of-emergency provisions.

Marais also condemned police violence against a mourner.

In Pretoria, an official said a black man was shot and killed by police near the south coast city of Port Elizabeth on Tuesday when he tried to fire on security forces.

His death took the toll under emergency rule, declared last month, to 134. In more than 22 months of anti-government violence more than 2,000 blacks have been killed.

State's First Liver Transplant Patient Dies Of Complications

GAINESVILLE (UPI) — Florida's first liver transplant patient died nearly two days after a 10½-hour operation and just hours after doctors expressed hope for her recovery based on a good success rate with other patients.

Phyllis Breisinger died at 9:27 p.m. Wednesday of pulmonary problems related to the operation, hospital spokeswoman Virginia Hunt said. She was 47.

A real estate broker from St. Cloud, Fla., Breisinger received a new liver early Tuesday in a complicated operation that involved attaching hundreds of blood vessels.

Dr. Richard Howard, who performed the transplant assisted by Dr. Gary Davis, said the operation went pretty much as he had hoped, but also said the procedure was very difficult.

Breisinger remained in critical and unstable condition after the operation, but at a news conference Wednesday the two doctors said there was no specific timetable to determine the success or failure of the operation.

Government To Appeal Mistrial

TAMPA (UPI) — Defense Attorney Frank Ragano says a ruling by U.S. District Judge William Castagna that led to a declaration of a mistrial in the federal racketeering trial of aging underworld boss Santo Trafficante ends the case.

But prosecutors disagree and said the ruling will be appealed.

Trafficante, 71 and suffering from failed kidneys, heart problems and mental lapses, was on trial on charges of conspiracy to racketeer and racketeering.

But Castagna ruled Wednesday during the third week of the trial photographs and audio tapes presented by prosecutors as the basis for admitting hearsay testimony fell short of being the "substantial independent evidence" to show Trafficante agreed to participate in a conspiracy.

Castagna said it is a "cardinal" rule that knowing of and associating with people involved in a conspiracy is in itself insufficient to tie a person to the conspiracy. He said it must be proven the person agreed to, and participated in, the conspiracy and said the government failed to do so.

Sheriff Accused Of Harassment

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Bay County Sheriff LaVelle Pitts is under investigation by the Florida Department of Law Enforcement following allegations by a female dispatcher that Pitts sexually harassed her.

Jack Fenwick, director of the FDLE's Office of Executive Investigations, said Gov. Bob Graham requested the investigation and that a preliminary report was presented to the governor's office Wednesday.

Fenwick declined to say whether the investigation was linked to the charges by Cindy Sossaman, 24, who has been a dispatcher with the department for eight months.

Sossaman said in a telephone interview that her lawyer advised her to offer no details of the alleged harassment.

fees. They will pay $5.00 per gallon for sewer connection, and $2.02 for water connection.

Second on the list for service will be those who pay 25 percent in cash and 75 percent in the form of a letter of credit for the connection fees. An applicant will pay $6.00 per gallon for sewer and $2.43 per gallon for water connection.

Third on the list will be those who pay five percent in cash, with the balance unsecured. They will pay connection fees of $6.25 per gallon for sewer and $2.53 for water.

Fourth on the list will be those who pay 100 percent of the connection fees, or a minimum of 50 percent in cash and a letter of credit for the remaining 50 percent at the time of capacity allocation. An applicant will pay up to $7.00 per gallon for sewer connection, and $2.83 for water connection.

According to Jim Bible, director of the county's Environmental Services Department, the Greenwood Lakes service area is bounded on the west by Interstate 4, on the north by County Road 46A, on the south by E.E. Williamson Rd., and on the east by Lake Jesup. The Iron Bridge/Consumer service area is south of Lake Jesup to the Seminole-Orange county line.

Bible said the reservations of water and sewer service could mean up to $30 million to the county which will be used for water and sewer plant expansion. Reservations could go on sale as early as next week, and will remain available for 60 days.

He said Greenwood Lakes has an existing capacity of 1.5 million gallons per day. When the plant expansion is completed in 16-18 months to 3.5 million gallons per day, 1.3 million of reserved capacity will be available.

The Iron Bridge/Consumer service area will have a combined capacity of 4.5 million gallons per day, with 3 million of that available to be reserved. Bible said the area should reach the 4.5 million gallon daily capacity within two years with plant expansion.

An HBA member, Howard Pomp, said the intent of the policy is to have enough capacity for everyone.

Miller told commissioners, "We support and recommend both resolutions."

by Nov. 30, 1988, or face a building moratorium and paying the state $20,000 for every day the deadline is missed.

DER financial representatives have indicated that Sanford will retain the $8.6 million in grants it was to receive under its original program if the ERC approves the city's new disposal plans.

Sanford is also waiting for word on whether it will receive a $4,950,000 project grant applied for earlier this spring from the

DER. Simmons said.

Sanford began amending its program in April, as a follow-up to commissioners' decision against appeal of the city's condemnation effort to acquire the 2,867 acre Yankee Lake site for effluent disposal.

The site was also targeted by Seminole County for a waste management effort, and Sanford filed its condemnation suit in November, two days after the county entered into a purchase agreement with the site's owner.

The Sanford suit was dismissed in March, due to a procedural shortcoming involving lack of advance notice given for the special city commission meeting at which the suit's filing had been authorized.

Sanford first attempted to float an approximately $16 million project bond during the winter, although the effort was derailed by impacts Yankee Lake litigation had on the city's credit rating.

Costs projected during preliminary discussion of the new disposal project in May indicated it would involve an expenditure in the vicinity of $37 million, which is $5 million more than had been estimated for implementation of the Yankee Lake-based project.

Effluent disposal is one of several projects the city has planned to implement through the wastewater management program expenditures. The Sanford program also involves modification and expansion of treatment capabilities at its Poplar Avenue sewage plant, separation of certain lines that carry a combination of stormwater and sewage to the plant, and repair of leaks that allow groundwater to seep into sewage lines.

Some of these projects have already been let for bid, Faison said.

Implementation of the entire wastewater management project is expected to take seven to 10 years.

there is no such thing as 'classes,' just 'users.' I'm not opposed to a utility tax, but it should be equal. However, you could exempt the first 500 kilowatts of electricity for residential users."

J.E. Kirtley, owner of Longwood Retirement Village, complained that his sewer bill had gone from $300 a month to more than $1,100 because of the recent increase in sewer fees and now removing the cap on the utility tax would be a further blow. He said few businessmen could raise the price of their product by 150 percent to pass along the increase in utility charges.

In another 4-1 split vote, Commissioner Harvey Smerilson voted against an amendment of the 1985-86 fiscal year budget that had been tabled on June 2, 1986, when he asked for an explanation of where the money was coming from to fund the finance clerk's position.

Smerilson said he still was not satisfied with Finance Director

Barry Weeks' explanation. Weeks said the position was authorized in the budget and was filled until Nov. 12, 1985 when the accounting clerk resigned. Due to the computer system being ordered and installed, there was a delay in hiring a replacement. However, he said, the city was utilizing the College Work Program, which was partially state-funded providing two people on staff part-time in the accounting department during this period.

After an April 28 request by the Building, Planning and Zoning Department for a clerk, the commission hired a clerk by transferring funds from the Finance Department. This created a hardship in accounting, Weeks said, when the College Work Program ended April 30.

The approximately $4,000 required to fund the accounting clerk for the remaining three months of the fiscal year will be taken from the Utilities/Data Processing Department, which has the money available for these expenses, Weeks said.

In other business, the commission:

• Approved a conditional use request submitted by Commerce

Utilities, Inc. to construct a 95,000 gallons-per-day waste water treatment facility on Tract A of Florida Central Commerce Park in spite of a complaint by attorney Harlan Tuck representing Barfield Fence Co., that his client's property adjacent to the industrial park is already being flooded by stormwater runoff and the treated effluent if sprayed on the ground would further saturate the soil.

• Authorized traffic signalization on State Road 434 at the entrances to South Seminole Community Hospital and Florida

Central Parkway with the stipulation it be on a blinking status from 9 p.m. to 6 a.m. or as long as possible and it will be activated on the side entrances by traffic during the day. An interlocal agreement with the county to provide maintenance was also approved.

• Approved an interlocal agreement between the county and Longwood that information be provided the E-911 coordinator when any changes are made that would effect the 3-911 system.

for these areas have yet to be finalized, County Planning Director Tony Vanderworp said.

The cities' agreement to join the county last year to help secure the $3.9 million also ruled out their applying for like community development block grants from 1986 to 1989.

Sanford applied for its $650,000 Georgetown grant in late 1985 and the city has also eyed extending its benefits into Georgetown. This would be done by distributing as much of the $650,000 as possible to Georgetown property owners through low interest loans, rather than outright allocations.

Both government's having targeted Goldsboro and Georgetown prompted Simmons to offer grant project proposals to the county this week. They involve either a joint-effort in Goldsboro and Georgetown, or Sanford assuming management of the overall effort by receiving the money Seminole County plans to expend in these areas.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: A stifling heat wave in the South entered its fifth day today as residents flocked to air-conditioned malls, chicken farmers tried to coax their panting birds to water and a "fainting team" stood by at Elvis Presley's mansion. Storms Wednesday helped cool off the Northeast — and killed a man with lightning — but there was no relief for the South, where temperatures in Georgia and the Carolinas remained in the high 80s at 1 a.m. EDT. "It's still going to be fairly hot," said National Weather Service meteorologist Scott Tansey. Eight record highs were set Wednesday in Georgia, Virginia and the Carolinas. Augusta, Ga., reported a record 104 degrees, and the temperature reached a record 103 in Macon and Savannah, Ga., and in Beaufort and Charleston, S.C. No deaths have been blamed on the heat wave, but Georgia officials announced Wednesday that heat played a part in the deaths of two people last week before temperatures reached record levels. In Augusta, emergency shelters were opened for elderly people without air conditioners, but by Wednesday afternoon no one had used the shelters. Officials speculated people were going to shopping malls to keep cool. The hot weather also had not deterred fans from visiting Elvis Presley's home at Graceland in Memphis, Tenn., where the busiest season is July and August. "We have all the cold compresses ready and we have our fainting crew ready," said spokesman Todd Morgan. Agriculture officials in the South warned the severe heat combined with high humidity and a lack of rain was endangering livestock and crops. Dr. William W. Adams, a veterinarian at the University of Georgia Poultry Science Department, said the heat was likely to hurt the state's poultry business, which does a billion dollars of business a year. "When the temperature rises above a certain point, birds become reluctant to move and if they don't move they don't get to the watering trough to drink water and they don't get to the feeding trough to feed," Holly Farms Chicken Corp. near Charlotte, N.C., said about 25,000 chickens and turkeys since Monday at its processing plant because of the heat. In Virginia, thousands of fish have died because of a lack of oxygen caused by the heat and drought. Hot water has a lower oxygen content, experts said, and the volume of water is down because of the drought. The hot, dry spell is threatening West Virginia's $5 million peach crop and $30 million apple industry, and many farmers in eastern Tennessee may be forced to sell their livestock because of poor hay crops, experts said. In Alabama, the heat aggravated the worst spring-summer drought in 104 years. Agriculture official Bubba Trotman said up to 90 percent of Alabama's $50 million wheat crop has been destroyed. "It was a disaster," he said. Near Washington Wednesday, lightning killed one man and injured four on a Virginia golf course. The storm dropped the temperature from 86 degrees to 75 in one hour. Lightning also seriously injured two people in Wyoming Wednesday.

LOCAL REPORT: Temperatures sizzled Wednesday with a 94 degrees in the shade high recorded at University of Florida Agricultural Research and Education Center on Celery Avenue, Sanford, and no rain. Seminole School Officials Welcome Court Decision

By Staff And Wire Reports

A student punished for giving a speech loaded with sexual innuendo warns that a Supreme Court ruling in favor of his high school will have a "chilling effect" on students everywhere, but the decision was welcomed in Seminole County.

The court, voting 7-2 Monday, reversed the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals and said the Bethel School District near Tacoma, Wash., acted legally in suspending Matthew Fraser after he spoke to an assembly of 600 students.

The ruling pleased Seminole County Superintendent of Schools Robert Hughes.

"We're pleased with the Supreme Court decision, and support it," Hughes said. "They have legally reinforced (local) school board rules and regulations regarding student conduct during school functions and on school property. Obviously we've always been of the opinion that we must have good discipline in our schools."

"Any Supreme Court decision that upholds the school board and teacher's ability to maintain order in the classroom is welcomed," Hughes said.

Hughes and his Administrative Assistant Dr. Hortense Evans, who handles Seminole school expulsions, said they cannot recall a student being expelled for profane or suggestive language.

"Abusive language is sometimes one of several violations of the student code," when an expulsion is considered, Hughes said.

"I don't remember an expulsion solely for that reason." He said foul language may be one of several issues relating for a student being recommended for expulsion.

According to Seminole County schools 1985-86 Student Conduct and Discipline Code book, the "use of profane, obscene, indecent, or immoral language or gestures" is punishable by detention, corporal punishment, suspension for up to ten days, and parent notification.

In addition to the school suspensions, Dr. Evans said 51 students were expelled from Seminole schools during the 1985-86 school year. 32 were high school students, and 19 were from middle schools. 11 of those expelled were re-admitted to classrooms after signing a contract with the school board and their parents to abide by the school rules. There were 64 expulsions the previous school year.

Chief Justice Warren Burger wrote in the court's decision. "The constitutional rights of students in public school are not automatically co-extensive with the rights of adults in other settings."

"Surely it is a highly appropriate function of public school education to prohibit the use of vulgar and offensive terms in public discourse," he said.

But Fraser, whose campaign speech for another student three years ago led to the legal battle, warned Monday that schools will be able to use the ruling "to curtail the rights of students they simply don't want to hear from."

"Although this no longer directly affects me, I'm very concerned about the limitations on free speech and its chilling effects," said Fraser, 21, now a senior at the University of California at Berkeley.

The decision was applauded at Bethel High School, where officials had argued that they deserve wide leeway in limiting indecent speech or lewd behavior.

"If students can speak and we have no control over their behavior, then it would be very difficult to educate them," said Vice Principal Christy Ingle. "These kinds of incidents are happening all over the country."

Education Secretary William Bennett also praised the decision, saying it upheld "the legitimate, indeed essential, responsibility of schools to maintain an environment and ethos conducive to learning. ... This is an important victory for American schools."

Kathleen Turner, the American Civil Liberties Union's director in Washington state, predicted students "will learn the wrong lesson on freedom of speech because of this ruling. It's heavy-handed to restrict words or speeches a school district thinks are lewd."

The decision was one of a series aimed at balancing student rights with need for school discipline. Last term, the court ruled in a New Jersey case that public school officials did not need warrants or "probable cause" to search a student's purse for drugs.

Fraser's case began April 26, 1983, when he was a 17-year-old senior who nominated a friend for school office at a student-run assembly with about 600 attending.

Fraser's four-paragraph speech used no obscenities but was thought by school officials to be sexually suggestive. One indicative remark promoted the candidate by saying he "is a man who will go to the very end — even the climax — for each and every one of you."

Shortly after the speech, school officials suspended Fraser for three days and removed his name from a list of candidates for graduation speaker.

Fraser, a member of the Honor Society and recipient of the "Top Speaker" award in statewide debate championships for two years, went to court with his father to contest the suspension as a violation of his constitutional rights. Lower courts agreed with him and he was allowed to speak at commencement.

Justices Thurgood Marshall and John Paul Stevens dissented from the decision Monday, with Stevens arguing that school rules were too vague and Fraser did not have "fair notice" that he might be punished for his speech.

According to published reports, a federal appeals court in St. Louis ruled Monday that student's constitutional rights were violated by school officials, when a principal reportedly deleted controversial articles from a student high school newspaper.

Student staffers of the Spectrum newspaper of Hazelwood East High School in St. Louis sued the school in 1983, after Principal Robert Reynolds allegedly deleted controversial articles about divorce and teen-age pregnancy from the student newspaper.

The court ruled that the student's constitutional rights for public forum are protected by the First Amendment, and had the right to publish the articles.

Both Hughes and Evans said they know of no disciplinary actions taken against members of Seminole school newspapers for printing articles which contained controversial topics or profane language.

Nice Dance, But It's Grotesque

South Africa is made up of many tribes. There is the Afrikaner tribe of white Boers. There is the English tribe. There are the Hindus from India. There are the Moslems from Pakistan. Then, of course, there are the black tribes. The Zulus and the others...

That is how a white Afrikaner, an apologist for apartheid, once explained his country to a group of American journalists. If we would only stop seeing South Africa as a black and white struggle, he urged, we would see the genius behind the Botha government's program for the homelands. Each group in its enclave. Each with its land and quaint customs.

The customs of the not-so-quaint Afrikaner tribe include the vicious practice of discrimination by race and tribe. They use the labor of the other "tribes" but do not give them power. Even the white minority, the English, and the "coloreds" are restricted in their freedom to speak out in dissent. And Afrikaners who leave the fold of racism are branded as black sheep.

The homelands policy failed, as it was doomed to fail. And now, in its place, the Botha government is searching for a new way to divide the blacks and to render them powerless.

The Afrikaners want to make an alliance with a powerful black tribe, the Zulus. They have invited the moderate Zulu Chief Mangosuthu Gatsha Buthelezi to join in an amorphous council to rewrite the constitution.

Buthelezi says he won't join unless he gets a strong show of support from the blacks. He may — from fellow Zulus. But Zulus have been used before by the South African government to quell uprisings among other blacks.

Each time Pieter Botha emerges with a new "reform" it is laced with the same poison as the others.

The poison is the idea that people are inherently different because of whatever background they come from and must be kept separate forever. That inhuman idea, the basis of apartheid, is what is tearing South Africa apart.

If the Afrikaner tribe wants to live in its own enclave, let it do its own farm work. Let it clean its own toilets. Let it sweep its own streets.

The Zulus should be wary of becoming the white man's token, lest they one day become the other blacks' hated symbol of repression.

Not Enough

One of the latest novelties for new parents is to have a sign in the rear window of their car warning, "Baby on Board." The implication is that other motorists should be extra careful. So be it. No one can blame parents for feeling this way.

What is mystifying, however, is the number of "Baby on Board" automobiles in which babies or young children can be observed standing on the seat, riding in the arms of adults or bouncing from seat to floor — instead of being secured in an approved restraint seat.

The dangers to unprotected babies and small children in a traffic accident are almost too horrible to contemplate. Tiny bodies become like missiles when a car is hit or comes to a sudden stop.

Sometimes they are forced through windshields or thrown through an open window onto the pavement. Sometimes they are smashed against door posts or crushed against dashboards by the body of the adult in whose arms they are riding.

Using an approved safety seat or harness not only gives the child a better chance of surviving but also complies with the law in a number of states.

A "Baby on Board" sign might help new parents share their feelings of pride with fellow motorists. But parents who really want to show that they care about their children's safety do so by making sure that the child is properly buckled in.

BERRY'S WORLD

DICK WEST

Being Frank On The Franking Monster

WASHINGTON (UPI) — For as long as I can remember, and perhaps even longer in some cases, members of Congress have been abusing the frank.

Child abuse also has been getting a lot of publicity this year but abusing the frank is not. I hasten to add, the same thing as abusing Frank, assuming Frank is a minor.

When preceded by an article and spelled with a small "f," the frank refers to the substitution of signatures for postage stamps. No congressman in my memory has ever gotten back a letter marked "insufficient signature." Which may be part of the problem.

The franking privilege, which members of Congress began voting for themselves back in the days when they still appointed postmasters, long has been a thorny issue.

Sen. Pete Wilson, R-Calif., has estimated the congressional postage bill will rise to more than $166 billion a year by 1990 unless something is done.

The recently approved supplemental appropriations bill recommended formation of a joint commission to work on the problem, but considering this is an election year, franking foes are not exactly exuding confidence.

Considering what happened to a couple of amendments when the measure first came before the Senate, they are entitled to all the pessimism they want to display.

Wilson wanted to bar free mailings of congressional newsletters, a subject much in the public eye lately. There is a suspicion that some of the newsletters aren't as newsworthy as they are political.

According to Wilson, it now costs more than $100 million a year to mail congressional newsletters to constituents, most of whom already know that the franker frankly is running for re-election.

As he has observed, "congressional newsletters, all too often, are nothing more than political advertisements (written) under the false pretext of providing news."

"With the current budget pinch," he said in a news release, "I cannot in good conscience continue supporting" these billets-doux.

A news release, I might add, is not the same thing as a newsletter. And Wilson, I also might add, is not running for anything this year. His current Senate term doesn't end until 1989.

The six-year Senate term contrasts with the two-year term of House members, who are practically born running for re-election. Small wonder they decided to forgo an opportunity to clamp down on something, like newsletters, that tend to aid incumbents.

Incidentally, the controller general says a postman must deliver all congressional franked mail, including newsletters, regardless of whether he is reimbursed.

The word "frank" is derived from a Latin term meaning "free." When begun with a capital, the name sometimes serves as a short form of "Franklin."

The first postmaster general, coincidentally, was Ben Franklin. Wilson should be pleased his first name is Pete.

ANTHONY HARRIGAN

General Pershing's Importance

LACLEDE, Mo. — Amid all the comforts of the late 20th century, Americans are in danger of forgetting that their style of leadership was forged in conditions of austerity.

One is reminded of the near-primitive conditions of much of the country in the mid- and late-19th century in visiting this dying hamlet, the boyhood home of General of the Armies John J. Pershing.

Pershing must be a very dim figure to younger Americans, if he is recognized at all. Yet he was a towering figure in the First World War, the commander of the American Expeditionary Force in France. Under his command, raw American troops produced victories over the enormously experienced and professional German army.

Gen. Pershing faced a new historical situation for an American military commander. He was under tremendous pressure to feed the "doughboys" arriving in France into existing allied formations. He refused to yield to such international political pressure, insisting instead that American soldiers fight in large-scale American formations. Pershing created models for American military action abroad that served well in World War II and set the American military style for the 20th century. Gen. Pershing represented America's military power come of age in an international context.

The future six-star general — the only American to hold that rank — was born in Laclede on the edge of the frontier. The house into which his family moved when he was six years old is preserved by the State of Missouri and filled with materials that tell Pershing's story. The family wasn't poor when he lived in this house, but lost their home in one of the periodic agricultural depressions. Young Pershing hoped to become a lawyer, and, in order to save money for college, taught school at nearby Prairie Mound for $30 a month. His first thought of military service came when he saw a newspaper ad for a West Point examination. He took the exam, was accepted by the U.S. Military Academy, and began his military career in 1882.

In the years that followed, Pershing was tested in all the great American military struggles of the late 19th and early 20th centuries. He fought in the Indian wars, served in Cuba and the Philippines, and was an observer in the Russo-Japanese War. His service in Mexico against the bandit leader Pancho Villa brought him to national attention.

Pentagon Drug Tests Inaccurate

By Jack Anderson
And
Joseph Spear

WASHINGTON — When two competing government contractors get involved in a hissing match, the results can be unexpectedly revealing. That's what has happened in a controversy that has pitted two of the largest manufacturers of drug-testing equipment against each other in a battle for the lucrative Pentagon contract to test servicemen and women for illegal substances.

Syva Co. had the original contract to test military personnel with its EMIT urinalysis kits. But two years ago, responding to complaints that the laboratory results were inaccurate, poorly controlled and unfairly implicating innocent servicemen, the Pentagon reopened the testing contract.

Syva argued that the inaccuracies were due to bad lab work, not to its

WILLIAM RUSHER

In Right Direction

Thumbing through a magazine recently, I came across one of the most incisive articles on America's welfare problems that I have read in many a moon. The author reviews current practices as well as the various suggestions for reform put forth on both the left and the right. Finding them all unsatisfactory for one reason or another, he comes up with his own comprehensive proposal: "replacing all cashlike welfare programs that assist the able-bodied poor (AFDC, general relief, Food Stamps and housing subsidies, but not Medicaid) with a single, simple offer from the government — an offer of employment for every American citizen over 18 who wants it, in a useful public job at a wage slightly below the minimum wage."

"If you could work, and needed money, you would ... be given the location of several government job sites. If you showed up and worked, you would be paid for your work. If you don't show up, you don't get paid. Simple."

The most striking feature of the proposal is that it would apply to everybody able to work, including mothers of small children. Day-care centers for such children would be provided — in part out of the pool of employables produced by the work requirement.

Problems remain, including the well-known doubts of conservatives about the desirability of "make-work." But the author's insistence is persuasive: "The point is to enforce the work ethic.... Welfare doesn't work. Work 'incentives' don't work. Training doesn't work. Work 'requirements' don't work. 'Work experience' doesn't work and even workfare doesn't quite work. Only work works."

Turning to the next issue of that same magazine, I noted in a book review a graceful tribute to President Reagan: "... barring some unforeseeable shock to the economy, it now appears entirely possible, even likely, that Ronald Reagan will bequeath to his successor both a strong economy and a reasonably solvent federal government. An impressive feat, given how few presidents have pulled it off."

A few pages further on, another book reviewer had these sharp criticisms to make of FDR: "Running in 1944 was a ghastly blunder for himself and the nation. His treatment of Churchill and the British as somehow part of a dread colonialism, his failure to understand Hitler's deepest intent, his 'unconditional surrender' dictum at Casablanca, his fantastic misassessment of Stalin and the nature of Soviet power, his failure to direct his generals to meet that power as far East as possible, his enthusiasm about the later advance of the Soviet armies that was linked fatefully with Tehran and Yalta — with all this history will not deal lightly."

I laid the magazine down, its cover face up, the familiar logo easily visible: The New Republic.

The New Republic? Yes, and the author of that splendidly provocative article on enforcing the work ethic was Mickey Kaus, identified as its West Coast correspondent. The remarks about Ronald Reagan were from the pen of Michael Barker, editor of the monthly newsletter of the Gallatin Institute, and those on FDR were made by none other than the venerable Max Lerner.

SCIENCE WORLD

Twin Infant Deaths

By Larry Doyle
UPI Science Writer

CHICAGO (UPI) — One Sunday in March 1976, a 25-year-old woman went to church, leaving her 4-month-old identical twin boys lying on the living room couch. When she returned home 2 1/2 hours later, her sons were dead.

The authorities were suspicious — of the mother, of the father who was sleeping in the next room when the infants perished, of others unknown.

But a thorough investigation determined no foul play was involved. The twins had simply died, simultaneously.

"That was a very difficult conclusion to reach and I wrestled with that for a long, long time," says Dr. John Smialek, then of the Wayne County, Mich., medical examiner's office. "I tried to find another medical examiner who had a very similar circumstance, but I couldn't find one."

Until recently, the unexplained death of a baby was often a source of speculation: had the parents somehow accidentally, negligently, or purposely killed their child? But medical authorities now recognize a phenomenon called sudden infant death syndrome, or "crib death," a mysterious disease and the leading cause of death of infants 1 month to 1 year of age.

When twins suddenly die, however, authorities are not so willing to presume innocence.

"I know of cases where parents have been accused of killing their children because investigators have not accepted the fact that such a death could occur by natural means," Smialek says. "There is a tremendous lack of support even from the medical community on this."

Smialek, now chief medical examiner for the state of Maryland, has identified eight cases of simultaneous sudden infant death syndrome in twins in the United States, two of which he has dealt with personally. These he described in a recent issue of the journal Pediatrics, adding cases have also been reported in Sweden, Belgium, England and Germany.

"The cases I've been able to document certainly don't represent all of the cases that have occurred here, even though it is rare to have this happen," he says. "But I think this needs to be recognized as a legitimate syndrome."

Little is known about sudden infant death syndrome, either in a single child or in twins, but Smialek says he believes the same process accounts for both.

EMIT kits, but the Defense Logistics Agency awarded the contract to Roche Diagnostics Systems Inc. Its Abuscreen test kit was similar to EMIT, but relied on a slightly different technology.

Syva protested, but the General Accounting Office ruled early this year that the Pentagon had not been unfair in giving the test contract to Roche.

The legal documents filed by both sides have been reviewed by our reporters Brian Bloch and Donald Goldberger. They provided a fascinating inside glimpse of the drug tests now being administered by government agencies, schools and corporations across the country.

In fact, if what the two quarreling contractors claim is true, the urinalysis tests being given are not only inaccurate but cannot detect the difference between legal and illegal substances in many cases.

For example, Syva's claim — undisputed by Roche — is that neither the EMIT nor Abuscreen test can "distinguish between use of heroin or codeine," and would simply identify the presence of an "opiate" in the tested person's body. Heroin is highly addictive and illegal. Codeine is a common ingredient of prescription cough syrups and other medications.

The documents show a similar problem with testing for amphetamines. Abuscreen detects the presence of amphetamines, but doesn't single out the presence of "the abused drug methamphetamine," according to Syva. On the other hand, Syva acknowledged, its EMIT identifies methamphetamine but doesn't isolate other abused offshoots of the parent drug amphetamine.

In addition, neither test does well in singling out the presence of PCP, an extremely dangerous substance that has caused widespread crime and violence in many U.S. cities. Both tests gave positive results for "closely related analogs" of PCP, but also for high concentrations of a common cough medicine ingredient called dextromethorphan, according to a Syva document.

The company documents also detail other problems in drug tests, such as variations in testing temperatures and the presence of other substances in the bloodstream. For example, a pinch of salt added to a urine sample can neutralize the testing chemical and result in a "clean" test.

The problem revealed by the companies' documents is not that innocent parties will be wrongly identified as drug users, but just the opposite: Drug users will escape detection because of the (other company's) faulty test kit.

Woman Wanted In Human Torching Arrested

An Altamonte Springs woman, accused in the May 17 burning of another Altamonte Springs woman who refused to give her $10, has been nabbed by Seminole County sheriff's deputies and charged with attempted murder.

Seminole County sheriff's Capt. Roy Hughey said deputy Daren Tjomstol stopped a car being driven by the wanted woman on North Street near Altamonte Springs at about 8 a.m. Saturday. The woman was identified as the suspect in the burning of Bernila Getter, who suffered second degree burns on her neck and shoulders after the suspect allegedly doused her with gasoline and tossed a match on her.

Ms. Getter was burned while at Floyd's Pool Room on North Street, and witnesses who reportedly saw the suspect take gasoline from the trunk of her car and return to the pool room to set Ms. Getter afire after she said she didn't have $10 that the suspect has asked for, help extinguish the flames, Inspector Greg Barnett said.

After the flames were put out and as Ms. Getter was on her way to her mother's home, the suspect allegedly tried to run over her. Ms. Getter also told sheriff's deputies that the suspect made a second attempt to run her down on June 4.

Deputies had been searching for the suspect and after she was spotted by Tjomstol she was arrested by Barnett and booked into the Seminole County jail.

Annette Lawson, 30, of 126 Jackson St., Altamonte Springs, has been charged in the case and was being held without bond.

$2,975 check mailed to Patrice Posey of Sanford, has been charged with uttering a forgery and grand theft.

According to Seminole County sheriff's Sgt. Ken Starr, the suspect has been accused of forging Ms. Posey's name on the check and cashing it at Sun Bank in Fern Park. The suspect reportedly made an agreement to repay the money, but only returned $600 and then stopped making the agreed on payments, Starr reported.

Linda Gordon Posey of 372 Hansom Parkway, was arrested at her home at 7:10 p.m. Tuesday. She was being held in lieu of $1,000 bond.

DUI ARREST

The following person has been arrested in Seminole County on a charge of driving under the influence:

—Stephen Michael McQueen, 38, of Orlando, was arrested at 9:23 p.m. Tuesday after Altamonte Springs police, who had been alerted to a possible drunk driver, reported spotting his weaving car on Hermita Trail west of State Road 436.

BOTTLE INJURES DEPUTY

Seminole County sheriff's deputy Hugh Thomas was treated in the emergency room of Florida Hospital-Altamonte Springs for injuries to his left hand received when a motorist threw a beer bottle at Thomas' car at about 9:55 p.m. Tuesday.

Thomas, who remains on duty, reported that he was westbound on State Road 436 at State Road 427 when someone in an eastbound, dark colored Jeep threw a bottle at his patrol car. The bottle hit the left door of the vehicle and Thomas' left hand, which was resting on the window area of the door, he reported. Because of traffic in the area Thomas said he lost sight of the suspect's vehicle.

SCHOOL VANDALISM

A school classroom door window was shattered by vandals Thursday, according to a Lake Mary police report. The door window of classroom number 501 was broken out at Lake Mary Elementary School, Lake Mary Blvd. and Country Club Rd. Children discovered the broken window, and reported it to police, according to the report, which said no theft or other damage to the classroom was found. A school employee was summoned to make repairs, the report said.

FENCE DAMAGED

A wooden fence surrounding a residential swimming pool was vandalized Sunday, according to a Lake Mary police report. Six boards from the fence were pulled off and broken, the report said. Dorothy A. Edwards, 56, 171 South Fifth Street, reported the damage to Lake Mary police.

DOCTORED CIGARETTES

Two 16-year-old girls, residents of the Lighthouse Youth Ranch in Geneva, were examined by Seminole County paramedics and at Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford, after they smoked cigarettes that had apparently been laced with a narcotic.

A Seminole County sheriff's deputy reported that the girls were short of breath, itching, dizzy and couldn't walk without help after smoking the cigarettes at about 8:45 p.m. Tuesday. The deputy said the cigarettes might have contained Benedryl, an antihistamine used in allergic conditions and travel sickness, and which also has a sedative reaction.

BURGLARIES & THEFTS

About $660 worth of cigarettes, 45 cartons, were taken by a burglar who broke a glass door of Handy Way, 170 Tuskwilla Road, Casselberry, at about 2:48 a.m. Wednesday. A Seminole County sheriff's deputy who responded to a burglary alarm discovered the burglary and manager Janet L. Olvera, 34, of Lake Mary, reported the loss.

Walter L. Bradley, 37, of 1840 1/2 Strickland Ave., Sanford, reported to sheriff's deputies that a $150 television was stolen from his home between July 4 and 6.

A lawnmower valued at $172 was stolen from the carport of Robert F. Miller, 39, of 575 Faith Terrace, Maitland, on Monday or Tuesday, a sheriff's report said.

Parts valued at $145 were stolen from the car of Joe R. Rainey, 51, of Casselberry, between June 27 and Tuesday while the car was at a repair shop at 1095 Nurcery Road, Longwood, deputies reported.

An employee of the Central Florida Zoo, Keely Michelle Weaver, 21, of Debarry, reported to Seminole County sheriff's deputies that her wallet containing $220 was stolen from her car while parked at the zoo on U.S. Highway 17-92 in Sanford, on Monday.

LeRoy Doe, 76, of 1709

Southwest Road, Sanford, gave Seminole County sheriff's deputies the name of an Orlando woman who he said came to his home, agreed to have sex with him, and then grabbed his trousers and fled as he lay nude in bed. The pants contained $360, a sheriff's report said.

Sheriff's deputies don't have the name of the company that owns it, but a $629 swimming pool cleaner was stolen from an unoccupied home at 342 Forest Park, Longwood, according to a report filed by Barbara A. Koehn, 40, of 2620 Bent Hickory Circle, Longwood, on Tuesday.

Two cameras, photo gear and $150 in change were stolen from the home of Martha McConnell, 29, of 5357 Orange Ave., Winter Park, on Monday, a sheriff's report said.

A $760 refrigerator and a $1,675 copier were stolen from a model home belonging to University Hills, Inc., of Orlando, at 1514 Antoinette St., Winter Springs, on Monday or Tuesday, a sheriff's report said.

Willie Perry, 25, of 2103 E. 21st St., Sanford, reported to sheriff's deputies that a $400 video recorder was stolen from his home Tuesday.

Two fog lamps with a combined value of $170 were stolen from the vehicle of Loula Lang, 120 Candlewick Drive, Altamonte Springs, on Monday, deputies reported.

Gwynn Edges Raines

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Tim Raines, who had his 14-game hitting streak snapped against Houston Wednesday night, received some more unpleasant news this morning when it was announced the fans had voted San Diego's Tony Gwynn ahead of him to the third starting spot on the National League All-Star team.

Gwynn, the N.L.'s leading hitter, received 987,943 votes, to join New York's Darryl Strawberry and Atlanta's Dale Murphy in the outfield. Raines, who held a 7,772-vote lead when Tuesday's results were announced, finished with 905,095 votes. The difference was 82,848. The votes are released weekly and are about a week behind.

Raines, who has been outspoken that his talents are not recognized nationwide, has been an all-star all five years in the majors. He will undoubtedly be named again by manager Whitey Herzog for Tuesday's game at the Astrodome since he is in the midst of his best season with a .331 batting average. He also ranks highly in every category except homers and runs batted in.

Although Raines has been on the select team every year, he was voted as a starter just one year — 1983. In a feature article in USA Today Wednesday, Raines detailed his plight:

"I think I should do one of those credit card commercials where your name is famous but no one knows what you look like," he said. "Except I don't even know if enough people know my name for me to qualify."

Raines played the last week of the voting on the road, Chicago and Atlanta, while Gwynn played the majority of his games at home. Players, of course, receive more support when they play at home.

Even playing at home has not been much help to Raines as the Expos are drawing just 14,000-plus, the third lowest figure in the league.

Strawberry, meanwhile, was the top vote-getter, as he amassed 1,819,511 votes, most in the major league, to head the National League All Star starting lineup that includes five repeaters from the 1983 squad, and three newcomers.

In the infield, first baseman Keith Hernandez of the Mets (995,279 votes) beat out nine-time starter Steve Garvey of the San Diego Padres, for his first starting assignment.

The Chicago Cubs' Ryne Sandberg (1,054,770) returns at second base after losing out last year to Tommy Herr of the St. Louis Cardinals. Ozzie Smith of the Cardinals (1,379,870) will make his fourth consecutive start at shortstop, and Mike Schmidt of the Philadelphia Phillies (891,165) recaptured the starting role at third base he held from 1979-1984.

Gary Carter of the Mets (1,486,141) won his sixth consecutive selection at catcher. Since balloting was returned to the fans in 1970 only Carter, Johnny Bench and Ted Simmons have caught for the National League in the All Star Game.

Fans Ignore Boggs

NEW YORK (UPI) — Fans selecting the American League All-Star team ignored the major-league's leading hitter and selected a rookie to start for the first time.

Kansas City's George Brett outdistanced Boston's Wade Boggs by 85,000 votes at third base when the final fans' balloting was announced Wednesday despite the fact Boggs's major-league leading average of .373 is 83 points better than Brett.

Also, Wally Joyner became the first rookie ever selected by the fans, bettering AL Most Valuable Player Don Mattingly of the Yankees by more than 134,000 votes at first base.

However, Joyner's California teammate and 14-time All-Star Reggie Jackson was not as fortunate. Minnesota centerfielder Kirby Puckett rode a late wave of support to gain the last AL outfield slot by 17,189 votes.

Buoy Oh Buoy, What A Catch

Last Friday's fishing trip began like countless others — waking up at 4 a.m. and going through the pre-fishing ritual of loading up my fishing equipment.

Several phone calls to Port Canaveral the night before helped me to determine that the water was clean in the buoy line and that a few king mackerel were present.

I was careful to remember my gaff, wire leaders, and traces (two hook rigs). The game plan was to slow troll live mullet in the buoy line, and this is essential equipment for king mackerel.

My wife, Martha, likes to accompany me on most of my fishing excursions for sun and fresh air. The sun and fresh air does not come cheaply. I awakened her at 4:30 a.m.

We arrived at Port Canaveral a little after 6 a.m. and launched my 17-foot fishing skiff.

Locating and catching mullet was the next necessary item on the agenda before heading out for the buoy line. Idling slowly until schools of bait were located, I threw my 10-foot cast net a few times and soon had a bait well full of nice silver mullet — a king mackerel delicacy.

We then went out to the buoy line and observed that the clean water started around marker seven and eight. I put out two lines and started to troll around these marker buoys.

Jim Shupe

Shortly, a 35-pound king mackerel skyrocketed one of the baits and was hooked up. The fish was brought to gaff after several screaming runs.

An hour passed before a 24-pound king mackerel found one of the mullet too tempting to pass up. He was put in the fish box after a good fight.

It was now time for Martha to start on her limit (the new limit is two king mackerel per person).

An hour and a half later, one of the rods started to bend and line peeled off the reel. Martha took the rod and worked the fish to the boat in about 10 minutes. It was a 14-pound king mackerel.

Hours went by before we had any more action. Several times fish were under the baits, but they would not strike.

Soon it was almost 2 p.m., and it was almost time to start packing up our gear for the hour drive home.

A few big kings started to follow the baits, so I decided to fish a few more minutes. These fish would come up to the baits and then disappear into the depths of the 60-foot channel.

Suddenly, a large fish appeared under one of the baits. After going several hours without a strike, I expected this fish to also lose interest. Several seconds later water boiled around the mullet and one of the rods bent sharply — a fish was on.

This fish was different — it jumped! My eyes focused in disbelief on a sailfin at the end of my line. The sailfin jumper repeatedly and made several strong runs. I changed directions suddenly and I had to reel rapidly to keep the line tight.

Several things were passing through my mind as I fought the fish. First of all, if I lost the fish, I may as well keep my mouth shut. After all, who would believe that there was a sailfin in the buoy line?

Harmer's 3-Homer Barrage Sparks Nationals

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Frankie Harmer, who homered in his last at bat Tuesday night, powered round-trippers in his first three at-bats Wednesday night as the Altamonte Nationals buried DeLand, 17-4, in District 14, Division 2 Major League All-Star Tournament Baseball at Mount Dora.

Harmer's power show enabled the Americans, 3-0, to advance to the Division 2 winners' bracket final today at 5:30 against the Altamonte Americans at Maitland. The Americans destroyed Mount Dora, 22-11, Wednesday.

Today's pairing is one of considerable intrigue since six of the Americans and eight of the Nationals were teammates before Little League Baseball, Inc. ruled that the Altamonte Little League must form two teams because of overpopulation in the program.

"It's something both teams approach with mixed emotions," Frank Harmer, Frankie's father and the original manager of Altamonte's one all-star team, said. "But the first goal for both teams was to eliminate the competition. We've done that. I just hope it's a close team and neither team dominates the other."

The Nationals didn't have any trouble dominating DeLand Wednesday.

Harmer, an 11-year-old catcher, drove in seven runs with his three homers and a fielder's choice. Kevin Scott plated three more runs.

The power-hitting Harmer said the thought of Bob Horner's four homers last Sunday entered his mind after he socked a two-run homer in the first inning. "I felt good after the first one," he said. "But I was just thinking base hit. All of the pitches were fastballs at the belt."

After Harmer's first homer brought home irreplaceable leadoff hitter Shane Odom, Scott Davidson was hit by a pitch and Matt Ferguson singled. One out later, hot-hitting Scott drilled a two-run single for a 4-0 lead.

Harmer popped a solo homer in the second inning before DeLand bounced back against winner T.J. Hamilton (five hits, four strikeouts and two walks) for three runs in the third.

In the fourth, Dan Anson singled and Odom reached on a fielder's choice. Harmer followed with his third consecutive dinger — a three-run blast over the left field fence.

"I was trying to be low key about the whole thing," Manager Harmer said. "But inside you get that little glow. If Frankie would have hit another one, they would have had to carry me out of there."

Harmer had his chance in the fifth. He picked on a pitch that was a tad high, however, and grounded the ball to third base. Jeremy Ludwig, who had pinch-hit a single, beat the throw home for Harmer's final RBI.

Altamonte put the game out of reach in the sixth when Chris Barfield walked, Marcus Bullock pinch-hit a single, Ludwig walked and Odom singled in two runs for a 13-4 bulge. Brian Saunders, pinch-hitting for Harmer, tripled home two more runs.

Harmer said he is leaning toward righthander Matt Ferguson to face Americans' ace Kevin Morro tonight. "If we have an advantage it's that we have a lot more pitching depth," he said.

Monahan, Dearth Propel Americans, 22-11

The Altamonte American League All-Stars rode a four-home run barrage to a 22-11 rout of Mount Dora Wednesday night in District 14, Division II Tournament action at the Mount Dora Little League Complex.

The Americans' win, coupled with the Altamonte Nationals' victory, sets up a winners' bracket meeting between the two clubs tonight at 5:30 at Maitland. Americans' manager Rudy Callahan said Kevin Morro, who tossed a two-hitter and struck out 15 on Tuesday, will be on the mound tonight.

"It should be a very good ballgame," Callahan said. "Both teams have a lot of talented kids."

Wednesday night, Altamonte jumped out to a 7-0 lead after one inning with Mike Monahan's three-run homer paving the way. The Americans eventually went up, 16-7, and were never really threatened the entire game.

Monahan would later drill another three-run homer. Dana Dearth added to the onslaught with a grand slam homer and Billy Moore contributed a two-run blast, his third of the tournament.

While Altamonte's power brigade was blasting balls out of the park left and right, Pablo Abreu had three hits without hitting a ball out of the infield as he laid down three bunt singles.

Chris Lubinskas went the distance on the mound for the Americans.

Iatarola-Led Altamonte Tops Maitland

By Scott Sander
Herald Sports Writer

EUSTIS — "The Sheik" and some thing "sweet" are not usually compatible terms.

After two disappointing losses to district champion Maitland in last year's all-star tournament, manager Woody Woodward and his Altamonte Seniors were determined to turn things around in '86.

They took their first step Wednesday night. Aaron "The Sheik" Iatarola scattered seven hits and slugged a two-run homer as Altamonte turned back Maitland, 9-4, in an intensely played District 14, Division 2 Senior League All-Star Tournament Baseball game at the Eustis Recreational Sports Complex.

"This win was very sweet," an exuberant Woodward said after the game. "Maitland is a heck of a team. They never gave up. We hit the ball well tonight and that was the difference."

Altamonte, 3-0, will now play the survivor of the losers' bracket at 7 p.m. Saturday at the Eastmonte complex in Altamonte. Maitland will play the winner of tonight's Mount Dora-Deltona game Friday at 7 p.m. at Deltona.

Altamonte pounded out 10 hits while Maitland could manage but seven. Willie Daunic, Maitland's ace lefthander, took the loss as he pitched five and two-thirds innings, giving up six hits and five costly walks.

Lefty Iatarola, who helped pitch Altamonte's 12-year-olds to the World Series two years ago, fanned eight while issuing five walks.

"I started off really slow," Iatarola said after the game. "But I felt stronger as the game went on."

Despite the loss, Maitland manager Myles Weisman was still optimistic about his team's chances in the rest of the tourney. "We didn't play our type of game tonight," he said. "But we will definitely be back."

Altamonte got a quick start as it pushed home three runs in the top of the first frame. Right fielder Shane Stuffed led off the game with a walk. Shortstop Jason Varitek bunted Stuffed over to second. First baseman Wes Weger, playing with a sore hamstring, followed with a solid single to left field, scoring Stuffed. Center fielder Jim Kremer then walked. Carlos Abreu hit a hard grounder to first baseman Bob Moore. Moore bobbled the ball and it rolled into right field. Weger and Kremer both came all the way around to score.

Maitland came back with a pair of runs in the bottom of the second inning. Third baseman Mike Anderson led off with a single up the middle. After a pop up, Tom Sloan nubbed a ball off the end of his bat that stopped right on the line, giving him a base hit and moving Anderson to second. Anderson took third when Iatarola tried to pick him off at second and instead threw the ball into center field. Sloan then stole second and Magee walked to load the bags.

Right fielder Gary Woodell walked scoring Anderson, advancing the runners, and giving him an easy RBI. Bobby Lefflander cut the lead by 3-2 when he chased home Sloan with a groundout.

Altamonte cushioned its lead in the fourth. With one out Abreu walked. Dan Hendricks followed with a bloop single to right, moving Abreu to second. Abreu and Hendricks took second and third on a wild pitch and Stuffed followed with a solid base hit to center for a 5-2 edge.

In the fifth, Altamonte added two more when Alex Birtling singled and stole second. Iatarola then helped himself as hit a towering homer just inside the right field foul pole.

"I didn't think that it was gone when I hit it," Iatarola said. "But I was happy when it cleared the fence."

After Altamonte added two more runs in the sixth, Maitland came up with two runs of their own. Moore led off with a tremendous home run to center.

Martinez: Bat Will Perk Up Second Time Around

CHICAGO (UPI) — Injuries and the Chicago Cubs' disappointing record have opened opportunities for several of the club's prospects to test the major leagues this year.

When Cubs president Dallas Green replaced manager Jim Frey with Gene Michael June 12, he also added some new faces from the team's Triple-A affiliate, Iowa of the American Association. An injury to center fielder Bob Dernier and poor performances by the entire pitching staff cleared the way for pitcher Jamie Moyer and outfielder Dave Martinez to move into regular action.

On June 28, Green called up reliever Dave Gumpert and sent down Jay Baller.

Martinez, 21, a New York native who played his junior and senior years in high school at Lake Howell, hit .342 at Single-A Winston-Salem in 1985. He was hitting .285 at Iowa before being brought up to the majors.

"He looks very poised to me," Michael said. "Sometimes they come up shaky, but more players come up poised these days. He swings the bat good and looks like he has a purpose."

With Dernier out because of a foot injury, Martinez has stepped in and kept pace with Dernier's totals. Dernier, however, was hitting just .173 when he left and Martinez, a left-handed batter, went 0-for-11 before getting his first hit. Through July 5 he was hitting .150 with six hits in 40 at-bats. "Every day I get a little better," Martinez said. "After my first hit, I started relaxing. I felt like I got a monkey off my back."

Martinez said he needs time to get used to the way big-league pitchers throw on certain counts.

"Up here, I have to put it in the back of my head that at 2-0 or 3-0, they are not going to throw me a fastball," he said. "They might throw a changeup. At 2-1 they might throw me a slider. If I can keep those in the back of my mind and see those pitches, I think I can be all right."

"Once I get to go around the league once or twice, I will be able to do well and help the team out." The question is whether Martinez will get the chance to go around more than once. Dernier was expected to return before the All-Star break and with Jerry Mumphrey and Thad Bosley sitting on the bench, there may not be room for an outfielder hitting less than .200.

Martinez Dernier Moyer, 23, was hit hard in his first three starts, compiling a 1-1 record with an 8.00 ERA. In his first start he went 6 1/3 innings and gave up five runs and eight hits to earn the victory against Philadelphia.

Murphy's Streak Ends But Atlanta Wins, 7-3

United Press International

Slasy. After playing in only 740 consecutive games, Atlanta's Dale Murphy sat out Wednesday. The Braves responded immediately to his absence, breaking a five-game losing streak with a 7-3 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

"Helping the team is more important than a streak," said Murphy, who was 3 for his last 26 and has knocked in only 36 runs this season. "I needed a day off. I wasn't swinging that good."

"I feel I can help the team if I'm mentally sharp, and taking the day off will help me be more mentally sharp."

Murphy, whose streak had been the longest of any active player, had played in every game since Sept. 25, 1981.

Doyle Alexander, 1-0, making his first start since he was acquired from the Toronto Blue Jays, scattered eight hits, walked none and struck out six in seven innings. Alexander left the game with muscle cramps in his left leg after warming up for the eighth inning. Gene Garber came on to earn his 10th save.

Murphy said he and Atlanta manager Chuck Tanner discussed the matter Tuesday and told Tanner he did not mind if the streak ended. "It was always on your mind," Murphy said. "Chuck had to figure out what to do. It's better not to have it hanging over your head. I told him let's not worry about it."

Tanner said he thinks the day off will help Murphy in the long run. "The mental part of it will be so good for him," Tanner said. "It will also be a mental lift for us. He thought it would be a big relief off his mind if this streak could be broken. It will take a lot of pressure off him."

In other games, Cincinnati pounded New York 11-1, Chicago downed San Francisco 4-3, Montreal shamed Houston 2-1, Pittsburgh defeated San Diego 6-4 and Los Angeles beat St. Louis 8-2.

In the American League, it was Detroit 7, Minnesota 0; Cleveland 6, Chicago 3; California 6, Milwaukee 1; Toronto 6, Seattle 5; Boston 7, Oakland 6; Kansas City 3, Baltimore 0; and New

N.L. Baseball

York 5, Texas 4.
Reds 11, Mets 1
 At New York, Wade Rowden collected five hits and three RBI and Sal Butera belted a three-run homer to lead a 17-hit Cincinnati attack. The victory gave the Reds a three-game sweep of New York and marked the first time this year the Mets had been swept and only the second time they had lost three in a row.

Cubs 4, Giants 3
 At San Francisco, Terry Francona's one-out sacrifice fly scored Keith Moreland in the top of the 10th to lift Chicago, which pulled a triple play. Lee Smith, 6-6, pitched 1 2/3 innings of relief for the victory. Ray Fontenot pitched the 10th for his second save. Juan Berenguer, 1-2, took the loss. Dave Martinez was 0 for 1 as a pinch-hitter.

Expos 2, Astros 1
 At Montreal, Floyd Youmans fired a two-hitter and Andre Dawson crashed his 14th home run, leading the Expos. Youmans, 9-5, won his fifth straight decision, a career high. He struck out 11 and walked four. Bob Knepper pitched seven innings, falling to 10-7.

Tim Lincecum was 0 for 4 and had his hitting streak snapped at 14 games.

Pirates 6, Padres 4
 At San Diego, Joe Orsulak led off the fifth inning with a tie-breaking homer and R.J. Reynolds doubled in a run two outs later to carry the Pirates, who have won five of six in San Diego this season. Mike Bielecki, 6-5, pitched five innings for the victory. Lance McCullers fell to 4-3.

Dodgers 5, Cardinals 2
 At Los Angeles, Fernando Valenzuela tossed a five-hitter and rookie Jeff Hamilton doubled in three first-inning runs, lifting the Dodgers and dropping St. Louis into last place in the NL East. Hamilton's double allowed Valenzuela to earn his 11th victory on his fourth try.

Jackson, Royals Halt 11-Game Skid

United Press International

The birth of a second child pumped new life into Danny Jackson. Jackson, whose wife gave birth to their second child early Wednesday, allowed six hits in six-plus innings Wednesday night and helped the Kansas City Royals snap an 11-game losing streak with a 3-0 victory over the Baltimore Orioles.

Jackson's strong outing came less than a week after manager Dick Howser had threatened to send the left-hander back to the minors unless his performance improved.

Jackson improved to 5-6 while Bud Black retired all nine batters he faced to collect his third save. Rich Bordi, the Baltimore starter, fell to 3-1.

Jackson's day started well with the birth of Brandon Neal Jackson at 6:51 a.m. The proud father then turned his attention to the Orioles, grabbed three hours of sleep and headed for the ballpark.

He passed out cigars to his teammates before the game and headed to the bullpen to warm up.

"I guess I'd just have to say I was lucky," Jackson said. "I just didn't feel comfortable out there and out in the bullpen (before the game). I was the worst I've ever been."

"But I had a lot of good luck working for me tonight. I wasn't comfortable and yet I came away with a three-hitter and a win."

The Orioles' best chance against Jackson came in the first. Mike Young reached on an error and went to second on a single by Lee Lacy. But Jackson got Fred Lynn to hit into a double play and Cal Ripken then grounded out to leave Young on left.

"It looked like we were off and running in the first," Baltimore manager Earl Weaver said.

Lonnie Smith helped make Jackson's outing easier by scoring three runs. Smith scored in the first when he was hit by a pitch, went to second on a Mike Kingery single and scored when when Frank White singled to left.

Indians 6, White Sox 3
 Julio Franco went 5-for-5 and Mel Hall hit a two-run homer to key a 14-hit attack that helped the Indians. Franco collected five singles for the first five-hit performance of his career. Phil Niekro, 6-6, went the distance, allowing six hits while striking out three and walking none.

Tigers 7, Twins 0
 At Minneapolis, Jack Morris pitched a six-hitter and Lance Parrish hit two home runs to pace a 14-hit attack that lifted the Tigers. Darnell Coles also homered for the fourth time in 11 games. Morris, 8-6, threw his first shut-out since July 10, 1985. Allan Anderson fell to 2-2.

Angels 6, Brewers 1
 At Milwaukee, Wally Joyner stroked three singles to back the combined six-hit pitching of Don Sutton and Donnie Moore and spark the Angels. Sutton, 8-5, gained the 303rd victory of his career. Ted Higuera, 10-7, pitched 3 2/3 innings, allowing four runs on four hits while walking five.

Red Sox 7, A's 6
 At Boston, Tony Armas highlighted a six-run third inning with a two-run double to carry the Red Sox. Oakland's Dave Kingman hit his 19th homer of the season. It was the 426th of his career, moving him into a tie with Billy Williams for 19th place on the all-time list.

Blue Jays 6, Mariners 5
 At Toronto, Cliff Johnson singled home two runs to cap a three-run eighth that ruffled the Blue Jays. Bill Caudill, 2-0, was the winner. Mike Moore, 5-8, took the loss.

Yankees 5, Rangers 4
 At Texas, Mike Pagliarulo hit a three-run homer and Claudell Washington singled home the tie-breaking run in the sixth, leading the Yankees. Bob Tewksbury, 6-3, gave up nine hits through six innings. Dave Rightt collected his 19th save, working three innings. Jose Guzman, 8-9, took the loss.

Players Request Restraint

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The NFL players union today awaits word on its request for a temporary restraining order to halt Commissioner Pete Rozelle's new drug program that includes random testing of all players.

The NFL Players Association Wednesday asked federal Judge Barrington Parker of the District Court of the District of Columbia to issue the restraining order to block the Rozelle plan.

Richard Berthelsen, the NFLPA's general counsel, said Wednesday night the union is "hopeful" Parker will convene a hearing and respond to the request in the next 24 to 48 hours. The temporary restraining order would legally prevent Rozelle from implementing the drug-testing plan.

Berthelsen said the union's action was triggered by the NFL Management's refusal to respond to a grievance filed Tuesday within 24 hours seeking neutral arbitration on the matter. The Management Council is the league's negotiating arm.

"We feel the union is trying to make a mountain out of a mole hill," Management Council Executive Director Jack Donlan said.

"We don't think the court will grant it," Donlan said from his New York office. "After all, all players would have to take training camp physicals anyway. We are willing to expedite the situation through arbitration."

Said Berthelsen: "We got a telex from Jack Donlan (Wednesday) afternoon which pretty much precipitated the matter. It said they got our 'alleged grievance' — that's how he characterized it. But he said that under the grievance procedures (in the collective bargaining agreement), grievances are acted on in seven days and we'll be receiving an answer from them then."

On Monday — 10 days after the cocaine-induced death of Cleveland Browns defensive back Don Rogers — Rozelle announced he was implementing a comprehensive drug plan to make the NFL the first professional sports league in the nation requiring mandatory random drug testing.

Each player would be forced to submit to two surprise urinalysis tests during the regular season to detect the presence of illegal drugs in addition to urinalysis tests already performed during the preseason physical.

NFL spokesman Joe Browne said the union's action was expected.

"After meeting with (NFLPA executive director) Gene Upshaw on July 1, Commissioner Rozelle realized that the implementation of his new plan could very well result in a legal challenge by the players union. So, today's litigation unfortunately comes as no surprise," Browne said.

HESSE CONTRADICTS DAVIS
NEW YORK (UPI) — New York Jets owner Leon Hess flatly contradicted testimony of his fellow NFL owner Al Davis Wednesday, saying the league never agreed to bar any other football teams from moving to New York City.

Hess, chairman of the Amerasia Hess Corp., testified Wednesday for the NFL in its defense of antitrust claims brought by the USFL. He is expected to return for further testimony today in the trial in U.S. District Court in Manhattan, now in its ninth week.

Hess's testimony related to the USFL's so-called "New York Conspiracy," a claim that Hess and other NFL owners agreed to keep other NFL and USFL teams out of New York City after the Jets moved to New Jersey.

Hess said he did not state any objections to a third NFL team playing football in the New York metropolitan area at the Oct. 5, 1983, league meeting when he informed the other owners he was moving the Jets to New Jersey.

Asked if there was any "agreement or understanding" among the owners that there would be no third football team in New York, Hess answered, "None, whatsoever."

That testimony contrasted sharply with Davis' recollection of the meeting. Davis, managing general partner of the Los Angeles Raiders and the only NFL owner not included as a defendant in the USFL's suit, testified two weeks ago.

Davis said Hess opposed the possibility of a third team in the area. Asked if the league owners had agreed to keep out other teams, Davis responded, "I would not use the term 'agreement.' I would use the term 'understanding' that there would not be a third team in New York City."

Seminole Ponies Tap 3 Dominant Teams For Stars

The three dominant teams in the Seminole Pony Baseball Pony Division this season also dominated the all-star selections.

Lake Mary Rotary, Seminole Suzuki and Hughes Construction combined for a 54-18 record this season and the Pony All-Stars' hopes are riding on 13 players from those three clubs going into the Pony District Tournament.

The tournament opens tonight at 7 at the Seminole Pony Baseball Complex with Gainesville going against West Seminole. Seminole opens play Friday night at 7 against the loser of tonight's game. The double-elimination tournament is scheduled to conclude Saturday.

The winner of the district tourney goes on to the Southeast Regional Tournament next Thursday through Saturday at Lake Worth.

Lake Mary Rotary led the Pony All-Stars selections with five players including Ted Thompson, Mike Senechek, John Connelly, Cory Schenk and Rick Eckstein.

Seminole Suzuki and Hughes Construction had four players each selected to the all-star team. Making the squad from Seminole Suzuki are Bo Smith, Jason Sewell, Lance Reyes and Todd Mancini. The Hughes Construction choices include Greg Twiggs, Andy Gastley, Jason Hulsh and Mike Boyd.

Also making the team were George Wisneski from Estate Homes and Junior Schneider from Hardee's.

The manager of the team in John Connelly, his assistant is Nap Reyes and the business manager is Greg Twiggs.

Connelly said Sewell will be on the mound Friday night when Seminole opens the tournament. The infield will include Twiggs at first base, Eckstein at second, Reyes at short and Senechek at third with Thompson behind the plate. The outfield will include Mancini in left, Connelly in center and Gastley in right.

Depth in the outfield is provided by Schenk, Schneider, Wisneski and Smith. Hulsh will back up at third base and Boyd at catcher.

Manager Connelly has been practicing with the team for two weeks and said, "they have come a long way and melded together as a smooth unit. They've looked especially good the last few practices."

Kleibl, Martin Propel American To 14-2 Win

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

'Chris "Crash" Kleibl tossed a one-hitter and Will "Marvelous" Martin smashed a homer and drove in three runs as the Seminole Pony Baseball Mustang American League All-Stars bombed the West Seminole "B" team, 14-2, Wednesday night in the Mustang District Tournament at the West Seminole Complex in Forest City.

The Americans play in the winners' bracket final tonight at 7:30 against the West Seminole "A" team which hammered the Seminole Nationals, 14-0, in Wednesday's second game.

In losers' bracket play tonight in the double elimination tournament, Seminole National takes on the West Seminole "B" team at 5:30.

Wednesday's first game lasted only four innings due to the slaughter rule. While Kleibl's pitching kept West Seminole out of the game, the Seminole Americans had some key hits and also took advantage of West Seminole's wildness.

While allowing just one hit Wednesday night, Kleibl struck out seven and walked only two.

Baseball

The Americans had six hits in the game led by Martin who was 2 for 3 with a home run and three RBIs. Martin hit his homer to lead off the second.

"There was no doubt it was gone," Americans' manager Steve Goodman said. "West Seminole's fence is about 30 feet high and Martin's homer cleared it by about 10 feet."

Ben Thomas contributed one hit and two RBIs for the Americans while Brian Luger added a two-run single and Kleibl and Shannon Sharp each had a single and an RBI.

"It was an excellent way to start the tournament," Goodman said. "The kids are really psyched after tonight and will be fired up going into tomorrow night."

On the other hand, Seminole National assistant Mike Black said there was not very much good to talk about the Nationals' 14-0 loss to the West Seminole "A" team. The Nationals will try to regroup tonight with Michael Carr on the mound.

Bias Was Free-Basing

BALTIMORE, Md. (UPI) — Maryland basketball star Len Bias smoked free-based cocaine, rather than snorting the drug as previously reported, in the seconds before his drug-induced death, the assistant state medical examiner says.

Dr. Dennis Smyth, an assistant medical examiner, said Bias had 6.5 milligrams per liter of cocaine in his system, a concentration that could not be attained through snorting the drug.

"We've never seen people snorting get levels that high," said Smyth, who performed the autopsy on Bias. He said the redness in the lining of the trachea is "usually present in fire deaths. It's the heat that causes it."

Congestion in the mucous membrane of Bias' throat also indicated he was free-basing the drug, the medical examiner said.

Cocaine must be free-based, a process that puts the drug into its basic, gaseous form, before it can be smoked, said Robert O'Leary, spokesman for the federal Drug Enforcement Administration. During the free-basing process the user can inhale the fumes.

Secondly, I realized that this was a fishing first. A sail had never been caught in the buoy line before. I was less than 3 miles offshore.

I fought the fish carefully, allowing it to run on a fairly loose drag. Eventually the beautiful fish was worked in and boated.

We immediately arranged our gear and headed for the ramp.

The sailfish was measured and weighed at Captain Jack's. It was 68 inches long and weighed 31 pounds. Not a monster, but a sailfish nevertheless.

It is now at the taxidermist's, but soon it will be hanging on a wall apex that has already been selected. I have caught several sailfish, but this "buoy line sailfish" will always be special.

nal tackle. If there is any doubt, make it a point to re-tie your rig. You never know when the fish of a lifetime is going to strike.

WEEKEND FORECAST — Rick Rawlins from Highland Park Fish Camp reports that fishing is getting tough in the summer heat waves. Bream keep biting, but bass fishing is early and late. Schooling bass can be caught at the mouth of Lake Woodruff. Bream are being caught in good numbers in Lake Woodruff and Mud Lake.

Del Abernethy at Osteen Bridge said that the heat is harder on the fisherman than on the fish. Bass are being caught in good numbers on plastic worms. Fish near cover or on good drops. Topwater plugs, spinnerballs and buzz baits are also good early in the morning and late in the afternoon. A lot of catfish and bream are also being caught around the new bridge.

Fisherman at Sebastian Inlet do not have their hearts in their fishing because of the closed snook season. A few redfish, flounder and sea trout are being caught.

Captain Jack at Port Canaveral reports that offshore fishing is very good in 100 feet of water. Many dolphin, wahoo, and sailfish are being caught. The Sea Witch and ballyhoo is the best combination. King mackerel are in the buoy line when the water is clean. It has been dirty a lot this month due to many squalls. Trout and redfish are rated as good in the Banana and Indian rivers. Fish the flats early in the morning and move out to deeper water when the sun gets up and starts to cook the shallow water.

Sheephead, redfish, flounder, drum, and bluefish are keeping anglers happy at the New Smyrna jetties. You have to get your live shrimp and be out there early in the morning to beat the crowds to the best spots.

NATION IN BRIEF

30,000 Evacuated as Second Explosion Rocks Derailment Site

MIAMISBURG, Ohio (UPI) — Firefighters played a wailing game today, trusting a toxic chemical fire at a freight train derailment site that flared up a second time and forced the evacuation of 30,000 people would burn itself out.

The fire flared up again unexpectedly Wednesday shortly after 6 p.m. CDT, about 26 hours after seven cars of a Baltimore & Ohio freight train ran off the tracks.

A car containing phosphorus ruptured on impact when it derailed, and the chemical, which burns spontaneously at 86 degrees, burst into flames, sending a huge white cloud of phosphoric acid vapor over the Dayton area.

The rail car, on its way from Richmond, Va., to Cincinnati, was carrying about 12,000 gallons of phosphorus, used in the manufacture of fertilizer, officials said.

Authorities evacuated 15,000 people shortly after the derailment and expanded the evacuations to 30,000 people with the new flare-up. Evacuation centers had been set up at the Dayton Convention Center and the University of Dayton Arena, about 20 miles northeast of Miamisburg.

Prison Fire Out Of Control

LORTON, Va. (UPI) — Fires apparently set by inmates erupted and burned out of control early Thursday at the Lorton Reformatory, the District of Columbia's prison complex in suburban Virginia, police and fire officials said.

It was not known if there were injuries but fire department radio reports from the scene indicated at least one roof collapsed on a building at the reformatory's medium-security Occoquan Unit.

The fires erupted shortly before 1 a.m. EDT and appeared to be widespread around the Occoquan Unit. Flames leaped into the air.

Scores of fire engines, ambulances and police cars were assembled outside the prison. Riot police from Washington, 20 miles away, were on the scene along with 50 firefighters from Fairfax and William counties. Firefighters from the District of Columbia were en route.

Waterfront Fire Extinguished

BAYONNE, N.J. (UPI) — Firefighters on land and sea today extinguished a fire that had engulfed four huge gasoline and chemical tanks, spread to a polluted canal and shrouded the New York-New Jersey waterfront in smoke for 15 miles, closing two waterways.

Bayonne Fire Department dispatcher James McGill said today the blaze was put out shortly after 2:30 a.m. EDT — about 13 1/2 hours after it was triggered by an explosion in one of the gasoline tanks at the International Matex Tank Terminal in Bayonne, about 6 miles southwest of Manhattan's southern tip.

Officials had declared the fire under control at 1 a.m., saying it had been contained to one of the four tanks — three 6,200-barrel tanks used to blend gasoline and a fourth used to store a chemical used in making plastics.

come up with the additional $2 million to be split between the two projects.

Ferrell's memo also included the use of the grant money, but suggested getting the additional $1.6 million from a discretionary Capital Improvement millage of .312 mills, or 31 cents per thousand dollars of property tax money. That tax would produce $1,672,775, to be divided equally between the two schools, along with the grant money.

Ferrell projects the $1.50 per $1,000 school property tax rate would not be increased by his proposal, since the school tax rate has been projected to drop to $1.18, because of the late bond sale, which was concluded last month. The late bond sale means lower financing rate payments than projected.

Keeping the school property tax rate at $1.50 per $1,000 will allow the payment on the bond sale, plus generate the money needed for the project fund shortfall.

One of the sales points for the district's $105 million school bond issue approved by voters last year was that property taxes would not increase during the first four years of the repayment program. To accomplish that, the board said it would drop its $1.50 per $1,000 assessed value tax rate for capital outlay, and use the money toward repayment of the bond sale, thus avoiding a tax increase.

Because of the late bond sale and resulting lower interest payments, the tax would actually have decreased this year.

Ferrell's proposal keeps the rate at the former level, without a tax increase, and the extra 31 cents goes to the Lake Howell and Lake Brantley projects.

"I'm really taken back by this," board member Bill Kroil reacted to the memos.

Board member Pat Telson added, "The well is going to go dry. Citizens are not happy with politicians who keep saying 'give me more money.' I want a work session to decide where the money is coming from."

Board chairman Nancy Warren said, "We need to make a decision on a decrease or increase in the scope of work, and how we are going to finance it. The longer we wait, the longer that building is not going to be built."

Long-Term Rash Needs More Help

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT — I am 12 years old and have had a rash on my chest for three or four years. All I'm allergic to is sulfa. My doctor has prescribed cream and soap, but they don't help. What else can I do?

DEAR READER — Ask your doctor to refer you to a skin specialist. Three or four years of unsuccessful treatment is valid enough reason for you to see a dermatologist.

DEAR DR. GOTT — What is the difference between capsular and extra-capsular extraction methods for cataract removal?

DEAR READER — A cataract is made up of three components: a hard nucleus, a soft cortex and a capsule that surrounds the whole cataract structure. During an intra-capsular extraction, the nucleus, cortex and capsule are removed. During an extra-capsular procedure, the nucleus, cortex and only the front part of the capsule are removed.

Ophthalmological opinion is swinging more in favor of the extra-capsular surgery, because this enables the patient to be more easily fitted for a contact lens. The disadvantage is that the retained capsule can become cloudy with time and the patient may have to consider more cataract surgery at a later date.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Five years ago I had a transurethral prostatectomy. Now my urologist says I need the operation again. I realize that the prostate can grow back, but in five years? Would medication prolong the inevitable?

DEAR DR. GOTT — Three years ago I had a benign brain tumor removed. Before the operation I was on Dilantin, but the surgeon took me off it. Now my neurologist has me taking it again and says I should continue it for an unspecified period of time. Follow-up CAT scans have shown no trouble, and I've had no subsequent seizures. Is it advisable to continue the drug?

DEAR READER — I'll have to leave that decision to your neurologist. Ordinarily, if the seizures you had were due to a brain tumor and the tumor was removed, you would no longer need the Dilantin. On the other hand, if your seizures preceded the tumor, you may require continued medical treatment.

DEAR DR. GOTT — What causes lichen planus sores in the mouth, and is there a cure?

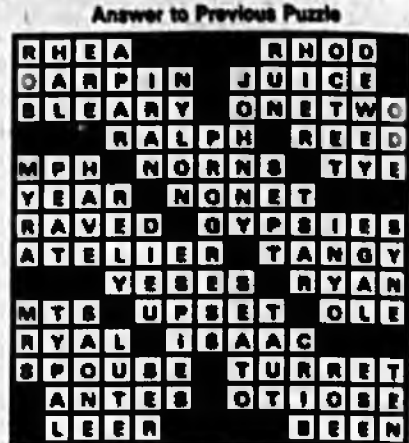

DEAR READER — Lichen planus is a chronic skin disease that usually causes itching. In the mouth, the lesions are lacy and white. Nobody knows the cause of lichen planus and there is no cure. Fortunately, it is not a serious condition, although it is bothersome. Some lichen planus is due to a reaction to medicines

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

Greed is a terrible thing in any human endeavor, but it is often encountered in duplicate bridge, where an extra trick can be quite important.

South was intrigued by that nine-spot. It might be from Q-9 doubleton, in which case he could lay down the king and make an extra trick. Or maybe it was from 10-9 doubleton, and if he returned to his hand and led the jack he could make all the club tricks that way.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY JULY 11, 1966

Partnership arrangements will work out fortunately for you in the year ahead. Two, in particular, will produce outstanding benefits.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You will have a marvelous facility today for taking ideas that have not worked well for others and using them successfully for yourself. Is there romance in your future? To find out what's in store for you, get your Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead. Mail $1 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, PO Box 1846, Cincinnati, OH 45201. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Additional efforts could pay you a bonus at this time, so don't mumble and grumble if the boss asks you to do something extra.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You will not fit comfortably into a subordinate role today, so instead of taking directives from persons less capable than yourself, step forward and take command.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) A matter that has been a thorn in your side for quite some time can be concluded to your satisfaction today. All it will require is your will to do so.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You could be disappointed if you wait on others to make the social arrangements today. Get on the phone early and start putting some fun together yourself.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) The aspects indicate that you can be fortunate today in money matters. However, if you want to fatten your purse, you'll have to be enterprising.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) If there is an idea or cause you are promoting today, be both bold and dramatic in your presentation. You will win supporters with your enthusiasm.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Your greatest asset today is your talent in managing situations for others. When you genuinely try to be helpful, rewards will follow.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Friends will find you an enjoyable companion today because you'll know exactly what to say or do to make them feel important. What's more, you'll mean it.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) This is the right day to call attention to yourself regarding an assignment you've done successfully. Those in authority should know who deserves the credit.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Competitive situations will prove to be very stimulating to you today. It doesn't matter whether they are in the sports or commercial world.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Don't be reluctant today to stand up for what you believe, even if you have to go toe to toe with a person who is loud and arrogant.

ANNIE by Leonard Starr
