Toxic report 'startling'

WASHINGTON — Industry spewed at least 22.5 billion pounds of toxic and cancer-causing chemicals into the nation's air, land and water in 1987, the government said Wednesday in an unprecedented report that officials called "startling."

In releasing the first nationwide summary of toxic emissions, a top Environmental Protection Agency official said the enormous amount of chemicals released was "unacceptably high" and that the report underlined the need for industry to reduce toxic pollution.

Worse, EPA officials said the figure of 22.5 billion pounds undoubtedly underestimates the actual amount of toxic materials released, since the report does cover all chemicals nor does it include emissions from smaller companies and certain industries.

Abbie Hoffman dead at 52

SOLEBURY TOWNSHIP, Pa. — Abbie Hoffman, a colorful leader of the 1960s anti-war movement who later hid seven years as a fugitive for cocaine trafficking, was found dead at his home at age 52. Authorities said they suspected no foul play but ordered an autopsy Thursday.

Hoffman, the Yippee leader who stood trial in the politically charged Chicago Seven case, was found dead by his landlord Wednesday night of apparently natural causes in his apartment 25 miles north of Philadelphia.

Soviet ships attacked

MOSCOW — Two helicopters bearing Syrian identification markings launched a rocket attack on two Soviet ships off the Syrian coast, wounding seven sailors and causing major damage to one of the vessels, the army daily Red Star reported today.

In a brief report on an inside page, the newspaper said the incident occurred about 10 a.m. Tuesday near the Syrian port of Tartus, where the Soviets maintain naval facilities.

Diplomats in Moscow said the attack may have been a case of mistaken identity.

Oviedo outlasts Seminole

SANFORD — There may have been better outings for junior pitcher Gregg Twigg this season, but none more memorable in the eyes of Oviedo coach Mike Ferrell than Wednesday night's masterpiece.

Twigg, rocked for three runs in the first inning, racked up nine strikeouts to propel the Lions (10-12, 4-5) to a 5-4 victory over Seminole (8-9, 3-5) in a Seminole Athletic Conference baseball contest before 101 wind-chilled fans at Sanford Memorial Stadium.

Victims Rights Week event a solemn occasion for many

By LAURA L. SULLIVAN

SANFORD — The blue lights that followed a marching group down Park Avenue last night weren't flashing to mark a crime scene. The lights of police and sheriff cruisers from across Seminole County flashed in memory of lives lost or hurt by crime.

The march from Centennial Park to the Courthouse was the third annual observance of National Victims Rights Week in Seminole County.

Sandy Brown spoke to the group of about 125 people in front of the courthouse. The 31-year-old Pinellas County woman told the group she had been sexually assaulted by her brother as a child, her sister was raped at knifepoint, and her father was brutally murdered less than one year before she found her uncle dead at her birthday party.

"After the murder, I began to see the inadequacies of the system and its failure to address victim needs," she said.

Brown, who heads Bridgewater Ministries for victim advocacy, applauded the state of Lake Mary residents offer alternative funding ideas for beautification plan

By SANDRA BOUCHAHINE
Herald staff writer

LAKE MARY — Several citizens last night suggested alternative funding for the Lake Mary Boulevard beautification plan other than a one penny voted gas tax recommended by county commissioners.

Many homeowner's association representatives spoke in support of the $3.7 million plan to line the boulevard with live oak trees, bury utility lines and use other standards to improve the appearance of the roadway as it is being widened. They also said they would vote for the one penny gas tax and that the Lake Mary boulevard plan should be the standard for all county roads.

Lynn Lawrence of Winter Park's Eastbrook Homeowner's Association suggested a 2 percent sales tax on all food and beverages sold in Seminole County restaurants. Chairman of the Boulevard Committee Randall Morris read the letter written by Lawrence, who said the sales tax could be considered a "user friendly tax."

Lawrence said that voters may be suspicious of a gas tax if they don't know how it will be used. She said she learned that Orange County has raised about $900 million through the kind of tax she suggested.

"I've just did a quarter of that," she said. Larry Lucas, a Lake Mary Boulevard property owner who belongs to a group concerned about the cost of the plan suggested that the homeowner's associations ask their people to pledge a small sum of $5 per person. "Some may not even live along the boulevard," Lucas said.

Morris discounted Lucas' idea calling it "sarcastic."

County Commissioner Robert Sturm told Lucas there are 86,000 homes owned by homeowners and that they would pay the largest share of any tax that would be passed.

Others who were in support of the gas tax said it should be clear on the ballot that it is for beautification otherwise it may not pass.

"They should be very careful how they write the ballot. If the ballot makes it clear it will be used for beautification, I think they will vote for it," said Adolph Berge of Sausalito Shores Homeowner's Association on Red Bug Road.

John Ellis of Howell Cove Homeowner's Association said, "We don't feel you're going to have a problem with the gas tax if you get people informed." Ellis said the plan should be the standard for all county roads.

Morris said he thought the input was excellent. He said that at this point the gas tax seems to be "fairest and broadest use tax."

The sources of funds just are not that plentiful, he said. Morris said the suggestions for alternative funding will be discussed at the committee's final meeting at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, April 19 in the county services building.

School rezoning approved

Board makes no changes to superintendent's plan

By VICKI DeSORMIER
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — The Seminole County School Board approved without change a rezoning plan for district middle and high schools.

Four people appeared at the meeting to object to the plan.

The approved plan, presented by school Supt. Robert Hughes after months of deliberation and public hearings, will move 264 eighth graders and 150 middle school students to new schools in the fall.

Now that the new attendance zones have been approved, Jack Heisler, director of secondary education, will hand out a memo to all students advising them of what school they will be attending during the next school year.

During the meeting, Carol Perry, of Winter Springs, said a small number of students from the Sunrise, Amherst and Lafayette Forest subdivisions will be sent to Lake Howell High School while the rest of their classes will be sent to Oviedo High School under the new zoning boundaries.

Sixteen of those students, who are in eighth grade this year, will be separated from their peers next year, as will 11 of next year's eighth graders.

Many families in the three subdivisions already have children at Oviedo High School. Perry argued that the placement of one child at Oviedo and another at Lake Howell would disrupt the family unit. Perry quoted psychologist Dr. Howard Johnson in saying that disrupting the support group which children form in middle school will effect their success as adults.

Becky Woolery, of Oviedo, argued that the number of students going to Lake Howell High School from Jackson Heights was too small to cause a problem if they were to be placed at Oviedo instead.

Board member Pat Telson said she had contacted Oviedo principal Charles Webb and he had assured her there would be no problem accommodating the additional few students.

Hughes said new development and rapid growth made it imperative that they stick by the guidelines as advertised.

"I'm talking about children's needs here, not development," she said. "Children have to be with their peers."

Board member Joseph Williams pointed out that if the plan was amended, it would need to be readvertised and a vote would be postponed for at least 30 days.

"We're at the eleventh hour," he said. "We won't have time to notify students of changes if we wait much longer."

Telson made a motion that the plans be amended to allow all Jackson Heights students go to Oviedo. Member Nancy Warren seconded the motion, but the other members voted to accept the recommended lines for high school rezoning and reject Telson's motion.

Judy Williams and William Royster, both of Sanford, representing the Sanford Local School Action Committee (LSAC), said they had seen the board listen but take no action to put more students at Lakeview Middle School when it had been identified as being 400 students under capacity.

"Putting more students in Lakeview Middle School (instead of realigning the district) is a cost effective solution to overcrowding," said Williams. "The rezoning is not in the best interest of the district."

Angry Gardner stalls reorganization plan

United Press International

TALLAHASSEE — A reorganization plan for the state's personnel agency was stalled in a Senate committee Wednesday by Sen. W. W. "Bud" Gardner, who was angry because the agency stopped highway maintenance workers from getting uniforms.

Gardner represents Seminole County. The Senate Governmental Operations Committee delayed a vote until a subsequent meeting on the relatively obscure bill to create two new divisions within the Department of Administration.

One of the offices would consolidate computer systems into a Division of Information Systems, and the other new office would combine the department's Labor Relations Office with its Office of Classification and Pay.

Sen. Winston "Bud" Gardner, D-Titusville, said he wanted to delay the vote because he was concerned about the estimated cost of the two new divisions — about $2.35 million. But he said he was more bothered by Administration Secretary Adis Vila's action last year on the road worker uniforms.

"This caused me a lot of grief personally in my district," said Gardner, a former House member who was running for the Senate when the incident occurred.

Gardner said Gov. Bob Martinez and leaders of the House and Senate last year

Man jailed after identifying CCIB agents

LONGWOOD — Undercover City County Investigative Bureau agents report a man they arrested in July as a suspected cocaine trafficker pointed them out to patrons of a Longwood bar while the agents were conducting an investigation there.

That brought a charge of interfering with an investigation — obstruction, against Bradley Gene Cox, 28, of 714 Meadows St., Sanford. Cox was arrested at 11:33 p.m. Tuesday at the Plus 3 Lounge.

Agents said they saw Cox point them out to other patrons. The agents were investigating reported distribution of cocaine in that bar. They decided to leave to minimize the damage done by the alleged identification. As they walked out past Cox, they said they heard him call them "narcs."

The agents went outside and sent a uniformed Seminole County sheriff's deputy back inside to take Cox into custody. The agents said they were endangered by the alleged identification of them as undercover police officers.

Agents said Cox had seen them during depositions in the cocaine trafficking case for which he was arrested July 20.

Contraband found during search

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Altamonte Springs police report the arrest of a woman after searching 357 Cedarbrook Lane with a warrant at about midnight Tuesday.

Darcyne Rae Studley, 26, is charged with possession of less than 28 grams of cocaine, possession of less than 20 grams of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia. Police said they found several packages of the narcotics in the house along with a log that appeared to be a list of narcotics buyers who owe money on drug deals. Bond for Studley is $3,000.

Man charged in sale of stolen goods

SANFORD — A 21-year-old Sanford man is charged with dealing in stolen property. Sanford police said they linked Anthony Gene Biddle, of 1105 Laurel Ave., to the pawning of items stolen in March from the van of Hiram Hamlin, at 1109 Oak Ave.

A torch, two gauges and hoses and extension cords taken from Hamlin's van had been pawned at Huey's Pawn Shop in Sanford, police said. That led them to a suspect in the case. Bond for Biddle is $5,000. He was arrested at 1:20 p.m. Tuesday at the police station.

Teachers suspended without pay

By VICKI DeSORMIER
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — The Seminole County School Board heard remarks Wednesday from suspended Seminole High School dean of students George Zeiss and teacher Glen Maiolini, then voted to suspend the two without pay.

The two were arrested late last month on charges of possession of 9.5 grams of marijuana and assorted drug paraphernalia. They had been suspended with pay while the case was under investigation.

The two spoke before the board before the vote on their disposition. "I've retained counsel. I'll be in court on May 17. I'm innocent. Thanks," said Maiolini, grasping his hands tightly behind his back.

Zeiss said that what he described as his spotless record over the two decades he has been a teacher should be considered in the decision to cut off his income.

After hearing Zeiss and Maiolini's side of the story, Supt. Robert Hughes recommended, nonetheless, that the board vote to suspend them without pay pending further investigation and the outcome of their May 17 court appearance.

"The key word here is 'pending the outcome of the trial,'" said board member Joseph Williams Jr. before the board voted unanimously to suspend them without pay.

In other business, on a split vote, the school board allowed Carey Ferrell, director of finance, to begin negotiations for the TERMS software for payroll and financial applications.

According to Ferrell, the program is only available from one source and attempts to obtain the system through regular competitive bidding would be redundant.

He also requested that he be allowed to negotiate for the hardware capable of operating the system and for the necessary components and software to interconnect with the present computer system and all the remote systems in the schools.

Board member Pat Telson said she was uncomfortable with using the word "negotiate" when what they really meant was "purchase." She also said the district should make sure the software would be appropriate for the district's needs before making commitments for the purchase of any hardware.

Telson's was the lone dissenting vote.

Friday's scheduled 9 a.m. termination hearing regarding non-instructional employee Phyllis Taylor was cancelled after legal counsel agreed to settle out of court and pay Ms. Taylor $6,777.88 less normal withholding (her regular pay from the date of termination until the last working day of the 1987-88 school year).

According to school board attorney Ned Julian, Taylor, under contract for a year, was terminated for "not doing her job."

It was determined that it would be more cost effective to pay off her contract than to take the battle into the courts.

The work session scheduled for this afternoon at 3 p.m. to discuss actions that must be taken to achieve the goals of the educational plant survey, including two new bond issues and the additional impact fees, was postponed until 9 a.m. on April 21 to allow the board to better prepare for the discussion.

Rezoning

Despite the arguments, the board voted unanimously to accept the middle school rezoning as advertised.

Hughes said that the board will have to monitor the growth in the district annually and rezone as necessary.

"In a county that is growing as rapidly as ours we cannot rezone for 10 years at a time," he said. "We have to monitor this carefully."

Under the plan that was accepted, Seminole High School will lose 11 students who live in Lake Monroe Terrace and Higgins Terrace in Sanford to Lake Mary High School. At the same time, Lake Mary would lose 62 students from the Spring Oaks and River Run subdivisions to Lake Brantley High School in Altamonte Springs.

Sixteen students from the Amherst, Lafayette Forest and Sunrise neighborhoods will go to Lake Howell High School instead of Oviedo High School. Oviedo will also lose about 175 students to Lyman High School in Longwood from western Winter Springs, Casselberry and an unincorporated area north of Deer Run.

The middle school students effected by the plan are 150 students from the Skylark neighborhood who will attend Milwee Middle School in the fall instead of Greenwood Lakes Middle School in Lake Mary. This area is bounded on the south by S.R. 434, on the north by General Hutchinson Parkway, on the east by U.S. 17-92.

In addition:

- 229 Tuskawilla Middle School students living in Indian Hills, English Estates and Damerich Woods will attend South Seminole Middle School in Casselberry. The area is bounded on the west by U.S. 17-92, on the south by the Seminole/Orange county line and on the north and east by S.R. 436.

- 124 Jackson Heights students living in an area bounded by Tuskawilla Road to the east, Lake Drive to the south, through the middle of Little Lake Howell to the west and straight north, will attend Tuskawilla Middle School.

- 94 Greenwood Lakes students living in the Highlands subdivision will attend Lakeview Middle School next year.

- 92 Jackson Heights students from Sunrise and Amherst will move to Tuskawilla Middle School.

- 78 students from Greenwood Lakes Middle School in Lake Mary who live in the Hidden Oaks and Tiberon communities will attend Rock Lake Middle School in Longwood. The area is bounded by S.R. 434 on the south, C.R. 427 on the east, Indian Hills Road to the north and on the west by Range Line Road.

- 64 South Seminole Middle School students living near Paairie Lake will go to Milwee Middle School in Longwood.

This area is bounded by U.S. 17-92 to the south and east, North Street to the north and the Seaboard railroad lines to the west.

- 10 Milwee Middle School students who live in an area west of Montgomery Road and north of S.R. 436 will attend Teague Middle School.

- 61 Lake Mary High School students will attend Lyman High School. The area is bounded on the north by Longwood Hills Road, on the west by Range Line Road, C.R. 427 to the east and S.R. 434 on the north.

Jews upset over school calander

SANFORD — Andrew Reiff, community relations chairman of The Jewish Federation of Greater Orlando, told the Seminole County School Board Wednesday he was concerned that steps had not been taken to reschedule the dates of graduation (June 8, 9 and 10) which overlap the Jewish holy time of Shavout.

"Though you've been aware of the problem as early as September of 1987," he said, "nothing has been done to change the dates."

Reiff suggested that members of the community, "not just the Jewish community" be allowed to have input on the school calendar as it is drawn up.

"This is just another example of the negligence and insensitivity of the Seminole County School Board in dealing with people who are different than themselves," Reiff said.

Ann Neiswender, chairman of the school board, thanked him for his comments, then moved on to the next item on the agenda, without further discussion of the matter.

Heroin stash found during traffic stop

By SUSAN LODEN
Herald staff writer

MAITLAND — A Florida Highway Patrol trooper reported finding a cache of heroin and money Wednesday in the possession of a driver whose car the officer stopped after it was travelling 70 mph on Interstate 4.

The find began when the trooper spotted a foil packet in the man's shirt pocket. Syrus Abvasai, 39, of 163 E. Evergreen St., Longwood, reportedly refused to hand the packet over and tried to drive away, the trooper said. The trooper took the keys from Abvasai's car and prevented his flight.

In a search, several packets of heroin were reportedly found in Abvasai's possession along with $3,435 cash and $1,335 worth of checks.

Abvasai reportedly said he bought the narcotic in New York City in March. He allegedly said he was enroute to Sanford to buy a car with the cash he had. When the trooper found the first packet of heroin, Abvasai reportedly said, "It's my brother's." He also reportedly said the heroin was hashish, but a test by troopers determined that it was heroin.

Abvasai was arrested at 10:16 a.m. Wednesday on Interstate 4, four miles north of Orlando. He was booked into the Seminole County jail on charges of possession of heroin, attempting to elude police and trafficking in heroin. He is held without bond.

Deadly combinations

Contemplate the chilling implications of a time when fanatical regimes in the Third World will possess not only nuclear warheads but also ballistic missiles capable of striking cities half a continent away. That terrifying moment, far from being on the distant horizon, is nearly at hand for the world community.

India is the latest developing country to master the deadly combination of nuclear arms and ballistic-missile technology. Early this month, New Delhi is expected to test fire a launcher with a range of 1,500 miles and a one-ton payload.

India almost certainly has the capacity to produce nuclear weapons, despite official denials. With the development of the new ballistic missile, called the Agni, India will soon have the potential capacity to deliver atomic warheads to targets as far away as the horn of Africa, deep inside the Soviet Union and China, and Southeast Asia.

The prime purpose of New Delhi's missile program, however, is to intimidate its arch foe, Pakistan, and enhance its military and political power in Southwest Asia. Not surprisingly, the events in India are spurring Pakistan's efforts to build the bomb and rockets to deliver it across the subcontinent. Pakistan's missile program is believed to have benefited from Chinese assistance and technology borrowed from Western commercial space launchers.

Even more ominous are the military advances being made by radical Middle East countries. Iraq, which used both conventionally armed missiles and chemical weapons in its war with Iran, is reportedly rebuilding its fledgling nuclear arms program. In 1981, Israel warplanes destroyed an atomic reactor near Baghdad that was being used to develop fissionable warheads. Similarly, Libya is engaged in secret programs to build the bomb, ballistic launchers and poison gas munitions.

Israel, which is believed to possess a nuclear arsenal, has recently tested its Jericho 2 launcher, which has a range of 800 miles. Meantime, Saudi Arabia has purchased Chinese-produced missiles with a 1,200-mile range and the capability of carrying conventional, nuclear or chemical warheads.

By the year 2000, at least 15 developing nations will be producing their own ballistic missiles, according to an estimate by the CIA. Most of these are among those already believed to be involved in some form of nuclear-arms program, including South Africa, Argentina, Brazil, Taiwan, North and South Korea.

What these developments demonstrate is that the international controls implemented by the United States and its allies to stop the proliferation of chemical and nuclear weapons in the Third World are wholly inadequate. Indeed, much of the advanced technology and materials used to produce these arms in developing countries were provided by Western companies.

In conjunction with other industrialized countries including the Soviet Union, the Bush administration now needs to take the lead in devising a program of comprehensive safeguards to help check the nuclear-missile competition among Third World countries. Stiff international sanctions against nations and companies that participate in these arms programs would be a good place to begin.

Drug scourge has bypassed Chicago

CHICAGO — From the streets of Boston and New York to Miami and Los Angeles, crack is spreading so rapidly — with its drug-related murders and other crime — that even hardened narcotics agents seemed stunned.

The national figures are startling. In New York City, there had never been an arrest for crack, the highly concentrated form of cocaine, before June 1985. In 1988, there were over 20,000.

Washington, D.C., now has the nation's highest per-capita murder rate — 372 in 1988. More than two-thirds were crack-related.

Los Angeles' infamous youth gangs — responsible for 400 murders last year — now have turned into what a recent Drug Enforcement Administration report called "nothing more than heavily armed crack distributorships."

It seems that no urban area is immune. Except for Chicago.

For reasons that investigators are still trying to piece together, the crack epidemic has almost entirely bypassed the Windy City.

Crack — a type of hardened cocaine that is sold in small chips or "rocks" — acts quickly on the central nervous system when smoked to induce an intense, short-lived euphoria.

It is also significantly cheaper than powdered cocaine, which explains its popularity among the inner city poor. A large vial — enough for about an hour-long high — costs about $15 in New York City and as little as $10 in some cities.

Crack is even more addictive than powdered cocaine, but it also gives its user a rapidly diminishing high. The longer it is used, the shorter the duration of each high and the more the hardened addict must buy.

A significant percentage of the crack trade nationally is today controlled by Los Angeles youth gangs and gangs of murderers called "posses."

Two of the largest Los Angeles street gangs — the "Crips" and the "Bloods" — are major suppliers of crack as far east as Cleveland and have significant operations in Midwestern cities as small as Omaha, Neb.

The posses — named after the old-time westerns that were a staple of daytime television in Kingston, Jamaica — started as marijuana dealers in Miami, switched to the more profitable crack trade, spread up the East Coast and are now well established in the Midwest.

Why hasn't crack become a staple on the streets of Chicago? According to drug agents here, it's a good news/bad news story.

Simply put, Chicago already has such a highly organized and entrenched gang system that it has been impossible for the outside gangs who trade in crack to move in.

According to Chicago DEA spokesman Franz Hiray, federal agents have concluded "the existing gangs are doing well enough without crack. They would have to deal with the posses or the gangs to get it, and they have seen how quickly both have moved into other cities. This is not something they want."

There is a second explanation offered by law enforcement officials, that, at first glance, seems extraordinary. Crack use is so low, they say, because cocaine use is already so high, so readily available and relatively cheap.

The Chicago Police Department reports that mandatory urine tests on all persons arrested for crimes in Chicago last year showed that almost 80 percent tested positive for cocaine use.

Local gangs are already so highly organized that it has been impossible for the outsiders to move in.

Air Force brass get nothing but the best

WASHINGTON — Air Force Gen. Duane Cassidy may have to learn how to live a simpler life without his staff car — a midnight blue Mercedes Benz.

The four-star general has an appetite for luxury. He saw nothing wrong with having the car awaiting his every visit to Andrews Air Force Base. But Congress did.

Last month, we exposed how the base had paid for a 1981 Mercedes 240D out of the Morale, Welfare and Recreation Fund — money that is supposed to be spent for perks that the whole base can use. Apparently Cassidy's morale needed a boost when he flew to Andrews, outside of Washington, D.C., a couple of times each month from his post in Illinois.

On the day our report ran, five congressmen wrote Air Force Acting Secretary James McGovern, insisting that the Mercedes be sold.

"We were amazed to read of the use of non-appropriated funds to purchase a Mercedes Benz," the lawmakers scolded in the private letter to McGovern. "Surely the motor pool at Andrews Air Force Base can meet this requirement."

The congressmen had a refreshing suggestion that might sound rank for royalty — use the money from the sale of the car on morale, welfare and recreation programs that all 5,000 people at Andrews can enjoy. The Air Force has not responded to the letter.

Andrews paid $1,500 for the car at a government sale of booty confiscated from drug dealers. But it is worth anywhere from $4,000 to $8,000. Maybe Andrews could use the money for books, washing machines, fishing poles — things the general doesn't need.

The Mercedes is just one jewel in the crown of Pentagon excess. Last month, the Newport News (Va.) Daily Press exposed how top officials at Langley Air Force Base in Virginia siphoned off $1.5 million of the taxpayers' money to spruce up base golf courses.

The Air Force Audit Agency recently reported to Congress that Sawyer Air Force Base in Michigan had 24-carat gold-plated bathroom fixtures and custom oak doors in its VIP quarters.

It was too much for the five congressmen on the House Armed Services panel that oversees the Moral, Welfare and Recreation Fund. "The mismanagement of these funds represents a total disregard for rules, regulations and procedures governing the program," they wrote to McGovern. "We have evidence that there may be a pattern of similar abuse throughout the Air Force."

Our associate Jim Lynch has learned more about the lavish trappings of four-star generals. They don't come any better decorated than Cassidy. The jocular and well-liked general is head of the Military Airlift Command, a workhorse branch of the Air Force that shuttles cargo and supplies to bases around the world. Cassidy not only enjoys elegance on the road, but in the air too.

There is a fleet of C-141 Starliners based in Altus, Okla. All but one of them are basic government issue — old and ugly but serviceable. The one that stands out has a gold-trimmed base line running the length of the fuselage and extra large tail numbers bordered in gold paint. It is the plane that carries Cassidy on his trips abroad.

A spokesman for Cassidy said there is nothing to distinguish the plane from the other Starliners at Altus. Tell that to the people who work on it. To listen to them, one would think it was fine china. "You could eat off the wheel wells," one mechanic told us.

Apparently Cassidy's morale needed a boost.

Growing up with a divorce

BOSTON — Not long ago, I asked a young friend of mine what he and his new girlfriend had in common. Well, he said, first of all, we both come from divorced families.

The answer surprised me. This 20-year-old college sophomore, with two sets of parents and step-parents, still identified himself primarily as the child of divorce. The divorce of 12 years ago loomed that large in his young adult life.

More to the point, it was not ethnic, religious, geographic or class background — let alone taste in music or majors — that gave this pair an instant familiarity. It was their shared emotional background.

The experience of loss and separation, of split holidays and single parents, was a common ground on which they made their first connection. He was clear on that. "First of all" it was the fact that they had come from divorced families.

This is familiar stuff to Judith Wallerstein, a psychologist, who has been studying the experience of divorce since 1971. Divorced families, she will tell you, like intact families, come in all shapes and sizes, all manner of personal and life-styles.

But Wallerstein agrees, the children "think of themselves as belonging to a special group and feel a kinship with the other children of divorce." Based on long interviews over more than a decade with 60 families that include 131 children, she has written a book for and about the kinship group.

"Second Chances" is named after the adult hope that often fuels divorce. But it is the children's perspective that seems freshest and most compelling.

Her stories are full of the difficulties of children who had to grow up too suddenly, children who suffered through the crazy post-divorce time when adults do not parent well, and children who are emotionally abandoned, especially by their fathers.

One searing and controversial conclusion in her book is that: "Almost half of the children entered adulthood as worried, underschieving, self-deprecating and sometimes angry young men and women." But perhaps most intriguing is the long-term legacy of a failed relationship and its effect on how these children see and form love relationships.

Divorce, after all, is not like any other family crisis. In Dr. Wallerstein's words: "It's a man-woman crisis." The mother or father may resolve it, close one marital chapter and go on to the next. "For the children there are no chapters, just on long continuum," says Dr. Wallerstein. "The child sees an unhappy marriage. He lives through the brouhaha of divorce, the stress of early post-divorce, the years after...All the time that child is developing a point of view about man-women relationships that he or she will take into adulthood."

This point of view may be the most crucial remnant of divorce they take with them. "I am arguing for the recognition that people are models of man-woman relationships after the divorce too." Before divorce, during it and — unexpectedly — long after divorce and even remarriage, children are looking at them together.

For most of these young adults it is not a reassuring look. "They are different than the children who grow up thinking their parents did it pretty well," says the woman who listened to them closely over time. In their 20s, the conservative children of divorce seem to worry more about commitment, fear betrayal and are especially wary of abandonment. They are anxious about getting what they want: "a permanent, moral relationship."

Dr. Wallerstein is not telling parents to stay together for the sake of their children. "The children of unhappy marriages do terribly." Moreover, she says, adults get divorced because their lives are also important; they opt for "Second Chances."

But as a researcher and head of a clinic that counsels divorced families, she believes the worst effects of divorce can be muted. Muted when parents put their lives together in ways that include their children. Muted when parents managed to keep their post-divorce hostility under control; when fathers maintain relationships, not just the form but the emotional content, with those children.

We are in the midst of a huge national divorce experiment. About 40 percent of American children will see their parents split. Divorce is not a single event in the life of these young. They don't get over it during the next year or even the next marriage.

We now have this huge kinship group. Like my young friend, they remain, in their own eyes, the children of divorce. We will find out how they take that image with them when they try for their own Second Chances: families of their own.

It is the children's perspective that is freshest and most compelling.

Stocks open lower

United Press International

NEW YORK — Prices opened lower Thursday in moderate trading of New York Stock Exchange issues, pressured by some mild profit taking on gains won in the previous two sessions.

The Dow Jones Industrial average, which rose 9.71 points Tuesday and 8.07 points Wednesday, was off 5.31 to 2314.33 shortly after the market opened.

Declines led advances 512-294 among the 1,345 issues crossing the NYSE tape. Early turnover amounted to about 9,887,000 shares. Stock prices closed higher in moderate trading Wednesday, supported by further developments on the takeover front and some renewed strength in the technology sector.

"It's a fairly good market," said Illdegard Zagorski, market analyst with Prudential-Bache Securities Inc., noting the recent ups and downs in prices.

"Technology issues are still doing well and there remain a lot of whisper and deal stocks around.

Dollar lower, gold higher

United Press International

The dollar was lower against most key foreign currencies Thursday in moderate trading on world currency markets. Gold moved higher.

In early New York trading, the dollar was lower against key foreign currencies in active trading following a Commerce Department report which showed the nation's retail sales rose a weak 0.1 percent in March.

Last month's increase followed a revised decline of 0.6 percent in February after a 0.6 percent increase in January.

Experts had been waiting for the retail sales figures as a key indicator of the nation's economic health.

A slowing of retail sales, economists said, could reflect a decline in consumer demand, viewed as necessary to stunt increased inflationary pressures.

Currency watchers in New York said activity should become subdued as traders await several reports on the U.S. economy due out Friday.

Traders are anxious about Friday data on March producer prices, particularly in light of the sharp 1 percent rise in both January and February.

Analysts expect a 0.5 percent hike in producer prices. If the number is above that, people will buy dollars on the assumption that interest rates will go up and the Federal Reserve will have to implement a tighter monetary policy to fight an accelerating economy, they said.

They noted the dollar showed sharp declines against the West German mark after West German Chancellor Helmut Kohl announced he will name Theo Waigel, head of the Christian Social Union, to replace Finance Minister Gerhard Stoltenberg, who will become defense Minister.

In Tokyo, the dollar weakened slightly against the Japanese yen, closing at 132.80 yen, off 0.05 from 132.85 yen Wednesday.

Dealers said the Bank of Japan conducted the rate-checking with some inter-bank dealers when the dollar climbed to 133.15 yen late in the afternoon.

The dollar dropped below the 133 yen level after the central bank action which is usually followed by intervention into the market, the dealers noted.

The Bank of Japan last week conducted its first yen-supporting operation in more than three years.

In Singapore, the dollar closed at 1.957 Singapore dollars, down from 1.9585, and in Hong Kong at 7.705 Hong Kong dollars, down from 7.7825.

In Europe, the dollar began the day in Frankfurt at 1.878 West German marks, down from 1.884 marks on Wednesday.

The dollar began the day in Zurich at 1.6645 Swiss francs, up slightly from 1.662.

Two Soviet ships attacked

United Press International

MOSCOW — Two helicopters bearing Syrian identification markings launched a rocket attack on two Soviet ships off the Syrian coast, wounding seven sailors and causing major damage to one of the vessels, the army daily Red Star reported today.

In a brief report on an inside page, the newspaper said the incident occurred about 10 a.m. Tuesday near the Syrian port of Tartus, where the Soviets maintain naval facilities.

Diplomats in Moscow said the attack may have been a case of mistaken identity.

"Two helicopters with Syrian markings launched a rocket attack on Soviet auxiliary ships — the sea-going tugboat SB-524 and the anti-submarine ship VM-125 — located about 39 nautical miles from the port of Tartus," the Red Star report said.

"The VM-125 sustained major damage. As a result of the incident, seven sailors were wounded, one of whom was shell-shocked," it said.

Diplomats said they saw no reason why Syrian aircraft should launch such an attack unless it was a case of mistaken identity because the Soviet Union is Syria's chief arms supplier and has close ties with Damascus.

The incident was reported only by the army newspaper, and a Syrian official in Damascus said he could make no comment.

"The big anti-submarine ship Red Caucasus and the anti-submarine cruiser Leningrad, which were in the area, rushed to the rescue," Red Star said.

"The wounded sailors were given the necessary medical aid, and two of them were taken to Tartus for further treatment."

"Those who sustained the most serious injuries are the petty officer of the crew, Chief Warrant Officer V. Biserov, and the chief sailor, E. Shkldchenko, who is almost beyond hope," the paper said. "Competent authorities are now investigating the cause of the incident."

The report gave no further details.

In Damascus, a Syrian Foreign Ministry official said, "We are not allowed to speak about this."

But a spokesman for the Syrian Embassy in Doha, Qatar, said it was "highly unlikely" Syrian helicopters were involved in the alleged incident because Damascus "maintains friendly ties with the Soviet Union."

The spokesman said he had heard nothing from Damascus about the incident.

Moscow is Syria's main arms supplier and has given millions of dollars worth of weapons to Damascus in the last six years, according to Western estimates.

Soviet Defense Minister Dmitri Yazov paid a four-day visit to Damascus last month during which he inspected Soviet naval facilities in the port of Tartus, 100 miles north of Damascus.

U.S. officials said in April last year that the Soviets had been expanding their military installations in Tartus to be able to repair and maintain Moscow's Mediterranean fleet.

Retail sales up in March

United Press International

WASHINGTON — Increasing business at food stores, restaurants and gasoline service stations offset declining sales of car dealers, hardware and department stores as retail sales rose a weak 0.1 percent in March, the government said Thursday.

Excluding auto sales, the biggest single factor in the report, retail sales last month increased 0.2 percent, according to the Commerce Department.

Experts had been waiting for the retail sales figures in March as a key indicator of the nation's economic health. A slowing of retail sales, economists said, could reflect a decline in consumer demand, viewed as necessary to stunt increased inflationary pressures.

In March, retail sales totaled a seasonally adjusted $139.4 billion. Retail sales fell a revised 0.8 percent in February after a 0.6 percent increase in January, according to the department's Census Bureau.

A 0.1 percent decline in auto sales in March was the third straight monthly downturn, the first three-month, consecutive monthly decline in car sales since the summer of 1984, the department said.

Sales of durable goods, big ticket items designed to last at least three years, fell 0.2 percent last month. Sales of hardware goods plunged 1.9 percent while furniture stores saw business decline 0.2 percent. Sales of non-durable goods rose 0.3 percent. Food store sales, another huge factor in the retail report, increased 0.2 percent with grocery sales up 0.1 percent, the department said. Gas station sales rose 0.5 percent.

agreed to appropriate about $500,000 to provide protective work clothes for the Department of Transportation road crews.

He said Vila later determined that the uniforms constituted a "perk" not provided for in state personnel rules — so the DOT was unable to carry out the last year's budget directive.

"The DOT maintenance people asked for these uniforms because their personal clothing was getting ruined by asphalt and pesticides," said Gardner. "It meant a heck of a lot to these people."

Martinez recommended the item and later signed it into law. "Then she (Vila) makes the unilateral decision. 'No, you can't have it,' said Gardner. "To this day, I can't understand how she can do that."

Vila did not attend the committee meeting. An aide said the uniforms might have been a benefit subject to collective bargaining, rather than budget appropriation.
The bill by Sen. Kurt Kiser, R-Dunedin, chairman of the government operations panel, would also delete the Division of Veterans Affairs from DOA's organizational chart.

Florida for voting into law in November a constitutional amendment providing victims with the status of their offenders within the justice system.

"We can never balance the scales of pain," she said, but advocacy is important because victims deserve some comfort from the criminal justice system.

The loss of a Seminole County deputy who died in a shootout earlier this month was remembered by speakers and sobbing participants in the vigil. Sanford Police Chief Steve Harriett told the crowd, "I'm thankful there are still little girls and boys who want to grow up to be policemen like Hugh Thomas did."

The march began with a candlelight vigil in Centennial Park. Linda Kuhn, organizer of the event, lit the first candle in memory of a list of friends. The last name on that list was Hugh.

"You are not forgotten," she said.

David Horn, a 14-year-old Seminole High School student killed in a January vehicular homicide, was remembered last night by families in the crowd. Bob and Audrey Williams and their son Matt lit candles for Horn, who had been a babysitter for Matt.

Norm Wolfinger, state attorney and prosecutor in the William Cruise trial, said education about victims rights "is one of the main goals of our office."

"The Cruise trial in Bartow really hits home when you see the families of victims and police officers sitting out there," Wolfinger said. "You learn very quickly to appreciate what victims have to go through, and you want to do everything you possibly can for them."

"I always consider this a time of remembrance, a time of hope, a time of faith," Wolfinger said about Victims Rights Week.

Seminole County Commissioner Jennifer Kelley presented Wolfinger a resolution passed by the commission Monday declaring this week Victims Rights Week.

ordinance on March 14 to make the beautification standards the law, and the Lake Mary commissioners also approved it unanimously later that same week.

Funding mechanisms had been suggested including impact fees, already-bonded gas tax money and property taxes. The county suggested a penny-gas tax to fund landscaping along the boulevard. Annual revenue from the penny tax collected on every gallon of motor fuel and special fuel sold in the county was projected at $1.2 million.

The county's beautification costs for items such as trees, signalization, concrete pavers and irrigation is estimated at $1.7 million.

The total cost of the plan is estimated at $3.7 million although cost-cutting options have been prepared by the roadway committee in case the cost becomes a key factor to the plan's implementation, according to County Planner and Corridor Study Committee member Dick Boyer.

At a recent Lake Mary commission meeting, Jim Davidson of Davidson's Tree Farm Inc. in Sanford, handed the commissioners a discount sheet for buying trees in bulk for the boulevard. Davidson said he also plans to donate trees to the gateway boulevard concept when it gets underway.

Contra humanitarian aid nears approval

WASHINGTON — Congress was moving swiftly toward approving a deal with President Bush that provides nearly $50 million in non-lethal aid to the Contra rebels and challenges the Nicaraguan government to uphold its promise of democratic reforms.

The agreement, announced by Bush and the Democratic and Republican leadership March 24, denies military aid to the guerrillas, who have fought since 1981 to topple the Soviet-supported government in Managua.

But the package would pay for food, clothing, medicine and similar supplies to keep the Contras together through February 1990, by which time Nicaraguan President Daniel Ortega has promised to allow democratic elections in his country.

The House is expected to pass the $49.7 million bill today, three days after its introduction. The Senate planned to give its quick final approval to the measure.

The expected swift, virtually unopposed action stood in stark contrast to the bitter legislative fights that marked policy toward Nicaragua during the Reagan administration.

Bush and Secretary of State James Baker acknowledged March 24 that former President Ronald Reagan's policy of arming the guerrillas had failed and there was no prospect of restoring the military aid that Congress has cut off since

Kennedy: wage compromise possible

WASHINGTON — Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., who spearheaded Senate passage of an increase in the minimum wage to $4.55 an hour, says the "door is open" to a compromise that would avert a veto by President Bush.

Shortly after the Senate approved legislation Wednesday raising the minimum wage for the first time since 1981, Kennedy refused to concede that a veto was certain or that the legislation was doomed.

"Our door is open on Capitol Hill," Kennedy said. "The White House door is shut now, but it does not have to stay shut in the days ahead."

"There is still time for us to sit down together, to reason together, and to agree on a bill that Congress can be proud of, that President Bush can sign, and that provides simple justice for the lowest income workers in America."

Asked what will happen if Bush vetoes the bill and the Senate and House cannot override the rejection, Kennedy said, "My current disposition is, then we'll just see him at the polls."

The Senate gave final approval Wednesday 62-37 to legislation increasing the minimum wage to $4.55 an hour over three years and creating the first-ever "training" wage for workers coming into the workforce.

Icahn Interested in Eastern

NEW YORK — With Peter Ueberroth striking out in his $464 million bid take control of Eastern Airlines, Trans World Airlines chairman Carl Icahn re-emerged as a candidate to buy the strike-bound air carrier.

Ueberroth's attempt to take Eastern out of the hands of Texas Air chief Frank Lorenzo fell through Wednesday over unresolved differences, including a demand by the Air Line Pilots Association, which represents Eastern's 3,600 pilots, that a trustee be appointed to run Eastern while it reorganizes.

Eastern's operations have been crippled since a March 4 strike launched by airline workers and supported by pilots. The airline, which had been losing around $1 million a day, filed for protection from creditors under Chapter 11 of the Federal Bankruptcy Code.

Ueberroth, the former baseball commissioner, made a pitch to buy Eastern last Thursday in an agreement that hinged on his reaching accords with Eastern's major labor groups. The unions, fearful of granting renewed power over the airline to Lorenzo, insisted that a trustee be appointed to run Eastern until Ueberroth could gain control.

Trans World Airline's Icahn, who earlier had expressed interest in acquiring Eastern, said he was contacted Wednesday by union representatives and said he told them he is still interested.

"We would be interested in working with the unions and making a proposal," Icahn said. "But the reason Lorenzo is so much against that, I believe, is he knows we will not pay for the common equity because we don't think it's worth anything."

From United Press International reports

Murders done by Cuban cult

United Press International

BROWNSVILLE, Texas — A U.S. Customs agent said members of a drug-smuggling ring giggled and postured as they led officers to the bodies of 12 men sacrificed during the practice of the Cuban cult religion Santeria.

Agent Oran Neck said Wednesday that the four suspects in custody willingly led officers to the graves on a Mexican border ranch and identified the leader of the cult and five other members, perhaps thinking all of them were invulnerable because of black magic.

The ringleader, whom the members called padrino, or "godfather," was identified by authorities as Adolfo de Jesus Constanzo, 27, who was born in Florida to Cuban parents and lives in Matamoros across the Rio Grande from Brownsville.

"The type of ritual group we're talking about right now has overtones of a religious cult that's been exported out of Cuba and Haiti and Jamaica known as Santeria," Neck said.

"It is evidenced by a lot of physical characteristics. It's confirmed also by the person being sought now (Constanzo). He's a Cuban national. (The four suspects) adored this Constanzo. We did not get the impression he manipulated anybody. They were followers and loyal believers and they did so willingly."

"They prayed every day," Neck said. "They went to this cabin every day and did certain things. There were several cases of Mexican liquor and several boxes of cigars. They would go every day and smoke cigars and do black magic. Supposedly smoking cigars gave them power."

Santeria, brought to the United States by Cuban immigrants, combines some outward signs of Christianity with the religious traditions of West Africa. The name means "saint worship." During the ceremonies, the Santero, or priest, sacrifices animals to get help from the gods called the Seven African Powers.

The cult was brought to the Caribbean by African slaves, who gave their traditional gods the names of Christian saints in order to practice the religion while making it appear to their masters that they had converted to Roman Catholicism.

Neck said a wood shack near the graves was the site of the rituals and that it was filled with grisly evidence of black magic, particularly a metal kettle in which the brains and blood of victims were boiled.

When found on Tuesday, the kettle contained human brains, goat brains, a turtle, a goat head and chicken feathers. The shack also contained candles and other pots that held goat heads.

Most of the key issues in the case reportedly had been decided by the 12-member panel, but aides to the speaker said he had not yet been notified by the committee of its conclusions.

NBC News reported Wednesday night the committee had tentatively decided that Mallick had a direct interest in legislation before the Congress — legislation to aid a Fort Worth, Texas, real estate development that Mallick tried to finance and legislation to help savings and loans at a time when Mallick was defaulting on a loan from an ally.

Neck said a wood shack near the graves was the site of the rituals and that it was filled with grisly evidence of black magic, particularly a metal kettle in which the brains and blood of victims were boiled.

When found on Tuesday, the kettle contained human brains, goat brains, a turtle, a goat head and chicken feathers. The shack also contained candles and other pots that held goat heads.

IN BRIEF

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Ryan Express is back in AL

After nine seasons victimizing batters in the National League, the Nolan Ryan fastball returned to the American League in the off-season and from every indication, it didn't change much while it was away.

Nolan Ryan, signed as a free agent during the off-season, allowed one hit over eight innings and struck out 15 Wednesday night, leading the Texas Rangers to an 8-1 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers.

Ryan, with the Houston Astros the last nine seasons, lost a bid for his sixth career no-hitter with none out in the eighth on a single by Terry Francona.

Elsewhere in the American League: Cleveland topped Boston 10-6, New York clipped Toronto 5-3, Seattle pounded Chicago 9-1, California blanked Oakland 5-0 and Baltimore edged Kansas City 5-4 in 15 innings. Minnesota at Detroit was postponed because of rain.

NHL PLAYOFFS

Capitals not ready for golf

The Washington Capitals would rather wait for warmer weather before getting their golf clubs out.

The Capitals, regular-season champions of the Patrick Division, trail 3-2 their best-of-seven series with the Philadelphia Flyers after absorbing an 8-5 drubbing in Game 5 in Landover, Md. The Capitals face elimination Thursday night in Game 6 in Philadelphia.

Washington right wing Dino Ciccarelli said some Flyers players, particularly Rick Tocchet, made derogatory remarks at the Capitals after Game 5.

"They're yelling at us after the game about getting our golf clubs ready," Ciccarelli said. "I don't think it's that easy. Just because they won in our building doesn't mean it's going to be automatic for them going back there."

Last year, the Flyers led the Capitals 3-1 in the opening-round series, only to watch Washington become the fifth team in NHL history to rally from a 3-1 series deficit to win a best-of-seven series.

BASKETBALL

Islah: Pistons-Cavs race is over

The Cleveland Cavaliers are still blowing smoke, but Detroit guard Isiah Thomas is not worried.

As far as Thomas is concerned, the NBA Central Division race between his Pistons and the Cavaliers is over.

"I knew if we won this game, they might as well rest their guys, because the race is over," Thomas said Wednesday night after Detroit's 107-95 victory over visiting Cleveland.

Vinnie Johnson scored 31 points on 13 of 22 shooting to lead Detroit one step closer to clinching the best regular-season record in the NBA.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Reds capitalize on Davis' error

For once this spring Pete Rose could talk about someone else's mistakes.

Rose, embroiled in an investigation by the commissioner's office into his alleged gambling habits, Wednesday refused to comment on the latest reports that he bet as much as $18,000 a day during the spring of 1987 on baseball games.

Rose was more than happy to discuss the Reds' 5-2 triumph over the Houston Astros. The triumph was sealed by a three-run ninth inning set up by first baseman Glenn Davis' throwing error.

"We just took advantage of a miscue by them," Rose said. "That was the thing that turned it around. Davis made a great play, then made a bad throw."

In the National League it was Chicago 3, St. Louis 2; Philadelphia 6, Montreal 3; Atlanta 5, San Diego 0; and San Francisco 3, Los Angeles 1.

ORLANDO — Some eight years ago, the Central Florida Sports Hall of Fame was created with several specific goals in mind, the foremost of which are:

"...the promotion and recognition of outstanding achievements in amateur and professional athletics in Central Florida, and to perpetuate the memory of athletes and persons who served the athletic community as athletes, contributors or coaches and brought lasting fame and recognition to the Central Florida area."

Following that tradition, the Central Florida Sports Hall of Fame announced its 1989 inductees during a luncheon press conference at the Dubsread Golf Course — Debbie Austin, Larry Gergley and Mike Roberson.

"We have very specific guidelines," explained Selection Committee chairman Bob Gould, himself a Hall of Fame inductee in 1983. "We require documentation and information on all the individuals. We look at the statistics and compare one athlete against the other."

"This year, there were 30 on the ballot and we elected three. And half of the people that didn't get elected this year probably deserve to be in and will probably get in down the line. We limit it to five inductees a year and the must have two-thirds of the votes (from a committee of 25)."

Making the grade this year are three very storied individuals in their respective fields.

Austin, a 19-year veteran of the Ladies Professional Golf Association and the current women's golf coach at Rollins College, was the Florida High School champion in 1966, the Florida State Junior College champion in 1967 and, in 1977, was honored by Golf Magazine as "Player of the Year."

DAV whips Sun Bank

By DEAN SMITH
 Herald correspondent

SANFORD — Quentin Hunt stroked a double and a home run as the Disabled American Veterans moved to 2-0 on the season with a 22-9 thrashing of Sun Bank in the second game of an American Division doubleheader of the Sanford Little Major League Wednesday night at Roy Holler Memorial Field.

In the first game, Joshua Watson hit a single and triple as Ken Rummel Chevrolet improved to 1-1 with a 19-9 victory over First Union Bank.

Hunt was also the winning pitcher for DAV as he gave up no hits and struck out four in his two innings of work. But he did have difficulty with his control as he walked six and hit two batters. Alton Jenkins pitched the final two innings for DAV, giving up two hits.

Also collecting two hits for DAV were Jenkins, who had a home run and a double, and Corey Williams with a pair of singles. Curtis Peterson had a double and Lloyd Dixon a single to complete the DAV hitting.

Hunt scored four runs; Jenkins, Williams, Kelvin Butler, and George Beasley scored three runs each; Peterson tallied two; and Dixon, Sherman Hudson, Corey Donaldson, and Alvin Kilgore one run each.

Aaron Knight had a double and Fabian McKinney a single for Sun Bank's two hits. Walter Gaines scored three runs, and Lawrence Mason, Durrell Riggins, and Todd Hudson two runs to account for the Sun Bank total.

DAV took control of the game early as they exploded for 14 runs in the bottom of the first inning.

In the first game of the evening, Rummel took a 1-0 lead after one inning of play, then exploded for 11 runs in the top of the second and put the game away.

Rummel collected 10 hits in the game as Ivory Peterson, David Hayes, Richard Badge, Tommie Thompson and Watson had two hits each. One of Peterson and Thompson's hits were doubles.

Watson, Hayes, and Terrell Jackson scored three runs each.

Despite being hit in his pitching hand with a hard-hit ball and giving up three runs in the first inning, Oviedo junior Gregg Twigg settled down and threw a complete game victory to lead the Oviedo Lions past Seminole Wednesday night at Sanford Stadium.

Twiggs recovers to beat Seminole

By JIM RICKENBACHER
 Herald Correspondent

SANFORD — There may have been better outings for junior pitcher Gregg Twigg this season, but none more memorable in the eyes of Oviedo coach Mike Ferrell than Wednesday night's masterpiece.

Twiggs, rocked for three runs in the first inning, racked up nine strikeouts to propel the Lions (10-12, 4-5) to a 5-4 victory over Seminole (8-9, 3-5) in a Seminole Athletic Conference baseball contest before 101 wind-chilled fans at Sanford Memorial Stadium.

What greatly impressed Ferrell was that Twigg shook off the effects of Ron Cox's rocket-like hit that left the lefty's hand pulsating in the game's early moments. And on a night where temperatures were more suited to spring in Minnesota rather than Central Florida.

"His pitching hand was numb," said Ferrell, pointing to the spot in Twigg's hand that absorbed Cox's shot. "He was a little rattled after the first inning but really settled down after that. He kept the ball low and wound up with just about as many strikeouts as he had when he shut out DeLand."

The Lions didn't live entirely on Twigg's pitching, though.

Not known as an offensive machine, Oviedo sent seven batters to the plate in the top of the fifth, turning a 3-1 deficit into a 5-3 lead.

Keying the uprising were Micah Kinnard's two-run, bases-loaded single. That came moments after B.J. Calapa and Todd Tocco perfectly executed a double steal that preceded Greg Hughes being intentionally walked. Brian MacCinnes contributed a sacrifice fly

Sugar Ray Robinson dead at 67

United Press International

LOS ANGELES — Sugar Ray Robinson, whose incredible boxing career began before Jackie Robinson broke baseball's color barrier and continued into the age of Muhammad Ali, died following long bouts with diabetes and Alzheimer's disease. He was 67.

Robinson, accompanied by his wife, Millie, was taken by paramedics to the emergency room at Brotman Medical Center in Culver City Wednesday morning after he began having trouble breathing. Arriving in what a Coroner's Office spokesman said was "full arrest," he was pronounced dead of natural causes a few minutes later.

Millie Robinson said her husband suffered from Alzheimer's and diabetes for years. "His blood sugar went sky high (in the morning) and I called the ambulance," she said.

Robinson, who many experts called the greatest fighter who ever lived, held the welterweight championship of the world once and the middleweight title five times.

In a career that began with a knockout victory in 1940, Robinson had 201 professional fights, winning 174, including 109 by knockout. He lost 18 decisions, dropped one bout by a foul, was knocked out once, fought once to a no decision and had six draws. Ten of his losses came after he was 40.

On Nov. 10, 1965, Robinson lost a 10-round decision in Pittsburgh to a plumber named Joey Archer. It was his last fight.

Exactly one month later, pudgy and tired but still wearing the faint smile that was his trademark, Robinson announced he was retiring from the ring at the age of 44.

Along the way he fought many of boxing's legends, including Jake "Raging Bull" LaMotta, Gene Fullmer and Carmen Basilio.

Walker Smith Jr., became Ray Robinson one night in Kingston, N.Y., when a fight promoter needed a flyweight. Because at 15 he was too young to hold a card allowing him to fight in AAU sanctioned bouts, the promoter sneaked him a card belonging to a young man who had quit the ring. "Ray Robinson" won a unanimous decision, and never bothered to apply for an AAU card in his own name. A sportswriter nicknamed him "Sugar" because he was "a mighty sweet fighter."

Robinson won his first title in 1946, taking the vacant welterweight championship with a 15-round decision over Tommy Bell. He gave up the crown after winning the middleweight title from LaMotta in 1951.

"We had six great, great, great fights. My God, how can I feel. I love the man. I just love the man," LaMotta said in New York. "He was the greatest fighter pound for pound."

In Las Vegas, boxing promoter Bob Arum said. "There's no question in my mind, that with all the great fighters that we've had in recent times like Sugar Ray Leonard, Marvin Hagler (and) Muhammad Ali, the greatest fighter of all time without any doubt was Sugar Ray Robinson."

"It's a loss to the boxing profession," said Teddy Brenner, the matchmaker at New York's Madison Square Garden. "He was the best boxer I ever saw and it's a loss to humanity."

Varitek, Morse hit home runs in Patroits' win over 'Hounds

By MARK BLYTHE
Herald sports writer

ALAMONTE — Jason Varitek and Jim Morse each ripped two-run homers to lift Lake Brantley to a 7-3 victory over Lyman in a big Seminole Athletic Conference game before a wild 451 fans at Lake Brantley High School.

The Patriots improved to 10-10 overall and 6-2 in the SAC and will return to action Friday at home against Oviedo. Lyman dropped to 14-9 and 6-2 in the conference and will return to action Friday at home against Lake Howell.

Brantley and Lyman now are both tied for second in the conference race with Lake Mary leading by a one half game margin with a 7-2 mark.

"At this stage in the season every game is tough," Lake Brantley coach Mike Smith said. "It's good to beat a team like Lyman. They're very strong offensively and defensively along with having a strong pitching staff. We needed a win over a team like that."

Lyman opened the games scoring with a run in the top of the first inning as Chris Radcliff led the frame off by ripping a double. Kevin Waincott followed with a walk before Andy Spolski grounded into a double play that sent Radcliff to third. Kenny Jackson was then intentionally walked before Jim Lucas singled to give the Greyhounds a 1-0 advantage.

Lyman increased its lead with a pair of runs in the top of the second. Charlie Curley led off with a walk and, after two consecutive strike outs, Radcliff came up and ripped a ringing single to right to place runners on the corners. Waincott then delivered a run scoring single and Spolski reached on an error allowing Radcliff to score, building the lead to 3-0.

The Patriots finally got on the scoreboard in the bottom half of the inning with Varitek reaching on a walk, Chris Knutson then dropped down a sacrifice bunt and Terry Brown reached on an error that brought in Varitek to trim the lead to 3-1.

Brantley evaded things up in the bottom of the third as Eddie Zaremba reached on a single with one out. With two outs Morse stepped to the plate and took Chuck Lamb's offering well over the light pole in left field to even the game at 3-3.

Brantley then came up with some great defense in the outfield as Zaremba made two tremendous plays in left with Knutson equaling the performance in center to keep Lyman from threatening.

Lyman brought in Heath Greenlee, a new transfer from Winter Park, to pitch in the bottom of the fifth and he opened the frame with a strikeout. Greg Thomas then hit an opposite field single before another strikeout. Varitek then lifted a 1-1 pitch over the right field wall for the game winner.

"I didn't hit the ball solid but I knew it was gone," Varitek said. "We knew we could play with Lyman, our hits just didn't drop in the first game with them. We lined but eight times, tonight our hits fell and we were able to come out on top."

Matt Fair came in relief of winning pitcher Mitch Shatto in the top of the sixth and put the Greyhounds down in order before Dalton Reed came on in the final inning to pick up the save.

"All of our pitchers did a great job," Smith said. "Fair did a nice job and if the low strike were being called he would have stayed in the game. He keeps the ball down but he wasn't getting the call so we went with Reed who throw a lot of off speed pitches in the final inning."

Smith feels his club must pick up its level of play for the remainder of the season to have a shot for the SAC title and a good shot in the district tournament.

"We have to play 700 ball the rest of the way," Smith said. "We have some tough teams coming in to play us."

Lake Brantley's Jim Morse added to his county-leading home run total with a monster blast against Lyman Wednesday night. It was Morse's ninth home run of the season.

Lake Brantley, Loch Lowe Prep pull out close softball victories

From staff reports

ALAMONTE SPRINGS — Lake Brantley scored a run in the bottom of the seventh inning to break a 2-2 tie and defeat Orlando-Evans 3-2 in a high school softball game Wednesday night.

After Mary Weston led off the seventh with a single, Shelley Sturdivant, pinch hitting for Stacy Brandenburg, hit a ground ball that was bobbled by the second baseman, allowing both runners to reach base safely. Sherry Adams then pinch hit for Chris Rabaja and grounded a ball to the shortstop, who had trouble handling the ball and threw it away, allowing Weston to score the winning run.

After Evans took a 1-0 lead in the top of the third, Lake Brantley answered with a pair of runs in the bottom half of the inning.

With two outs, Tania Diaz singled and Michelle Davis walked. Tracy Brandenburg, who has been selected to play in this year's Florida Athletic Coaches Association North-South All Star games in May, then hit a line drive single to left, scoring Diaz. Tina Wilson followed with another single to left. Davis scoring the go-ahead run.

Evans tied the score in the fifth inning, setting the stage for Lake Brantley's last-inning heroics. The win makes Lake Brantley 18-1 on the season. Lake Brantley returns to action today, traveling to Red Bug Park to play the Oviedo Lady Lions in a Seminole Athletic Conference contest at 4 p.m.

Loch Lowe Prep 14, Seabreeze 12

DAYTONA BEACH — Loch Lowe Prep of Lake Mary, a Class 1A high school, scored a 14-12 softball win over Class 3A Daytona Beach-Seabreeze on Tuesday night.

This is the second year in a row the Lady Lions of Loch Lowe have beaten the Seabreeze Lady Sanderachs. The two wins are the only ones that Loch Lowe has over any higher schools.

"The team is finally playing up to their potential," said Loch Lowe coach Tina McFerrer. "With districts in two weeks, we're peaking at the right time. I'm very pleased with the constant progress this team is making."

"We have worked hard since January and that work is beginning to show."

Kris League was 3-for-3 with a double and a home run to lead Loch Lowe. Chriss Rabb contributed four hits in five at bat with two RBI and Missy Coutts chipped a home run and three RBI with a 2-for-4 effort. Dana Mulligan was 3-for-5 with two RBI.

Overall, the Lady Lions pounded out 22 hits to Seabreeze's 13.

that accounted for the Lions' final run.

Seminole, which has lost all eight of its one-run games this season, got its final run in the seventh. Anthony Roberts' on-the-out double in the bottom of the seventh allowed Jeff Derr to reach third. Derr raced home on a fielder's choice, but Cox struck out to thwart the threat.

"We moved Kinnaid from the leadoff spot to the No. 4 spot the last two games, and it's paid off," said Ferrell, who took over as Oviedo's coach this season after spending the past four years at Seminole's head coach. "We seem to score more runs when we make things happen, whether it be stealing bases or a hit-and-run."

Seminole was happening in the first inning, which took 27 minutes.

The 'Noles started with Cox's single. After he stole second, Bubba Coral singled to send him to third. Coral, like Cox, got a good jump and stole second. Pitcher James Joyce, who struck out six, singled to tie the score, 1-1, and sent Coral to third.

Coral sped home on a fielder's choice to give Seminole a 2-1 lead, and Mike Senechek made it 3-1 on a sacrifice fly.

"Our boys really wanted to get Ferrell," said Seminole Coach Mike Powers, an assistant under Ferrell last season. "But give Twigg credit. He kept his composure and kept the ball down low after Cox almost took his hand off in the first inning."

Both teams will return to action on Friday night, Seminole hosting Lake Mary at Sanford Stadium and Oviedo traveling to Lake Brantley for a contest.

A former player and coach of the Continental Football League's Orlando Panthers, Gergley has been the coach at Winter Park High School the last 18 years, winning 10 Metro Conference titles, 10 district championships, five regional championships and three sectional championships.

Roberson made his name in track, running as a member of the 4x100 meter relay team in the 1980 Olympics. While at Winter Park High School, Roberson set National School Boy records in the 120 high hurdles and 220 dash as well as tying the record in the 100 meter dash. He later lettered in track for four years at Florida State.

After their formal induction, plaques detailing their accomplishments will be added to the Sports Hall of Fame display at the City of Orlando Bureau of Recreation in the Davis Armory on Livingston and Paramore streets.

According to Gould, the Hall of Fame draws from three counties: Seminole, Orange and Osceola. They count on people from those areas to provide the information on possible candidates for nomination and election, then draw on a cross section of people involved in sports in various capacities to help with the selection process.

"We try to pick people who grew up here or came here at a young age," explained Gould. "We also look at people who came to Rollins, Stetson or UCF and stay here after they graduate."

"There are 50 more people we'd like to have in the hall of fame. But we've purposely made it difficult and very specific as to who can get in so that people who don't belong in won't get in. Of those who do deserve to be in, there are so many that it takes time. We don't want to ramrod them in."

The formal induction ceremonies will take place on May 11 at the Omni in downtown Orlando and will coincide with the 23rd annual Orlando Amateur Athletic Association's Sports Award Banquet.

Tickets for the banquet, which will feature guest speaker Cris Collinsworth of the Cincinnati Bengals, are $30 a piece. Call 843-6222 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday for more information.

Kiwanis' youth clubs unique

By SANDRA BOUGHANINE
Herald staff writer

Vernon Bowman of Deltona didn't intend to get hooked on Kiwanis. It just happened that way.

When he became elementary school principal in Ohio, a Kiwanis Club was already meeting in the facility.

"It was either yell at them to get out or join in and help them," he said.

Since attending his first meeting 30 years ago, Bowman has had his hand in Kiwanis.

"Once you get involved, to me it was like eating popcorn: You couldn't stop with just one," Bowman said. "They've done so much in so many communities for so many, it's been worth every minute of it to me."

Bowman is now lieutenant governor for Florida's Division 25 of Kiwanis, which includes 13 clubs, about 400 members and much of Seminole County.

One thing sets Kiwanis apart from other community service organizations, Bowman said.

"No other club is involved directly with youngsters through clubs in the schools," he said.

Kiwanis sponsors Circle K Clubs at college level, Key Clubs in high schools, and Builders Clubs for middle school students. Kiwanians sponsor the clubs with advisory and financial aid.

Some high schools have Key Clubs for boys and Keyettes for girls, while others have girls and boys together in a Key Club. Bowman said the students decide what they want.

Bowman said the Sanford Kiwanis Club, the largest and oldest in the division, contributes to Boy Scouts, schools, churches and the Salvation Army, to name a few.

Greg LeFila, president of the Sanford Kiwanis, said the club has been dedicated particularly to bettering the lives of young people for nearly seven decades.

Founded by a group of businessmen in downtown Sanford, the club is 87 or 88 years old, LeFila said. That's a little younger than Kiwanis International, which was established in 1909.

According to LeFila, the 82-member club sponsors baseball teams and gymnastics, and transports youth to ball games and the Central Florida Zoo. It also sponsors two scholarships worth $1,500 and $2,000 at Seminole High School.

At Seminole and Lake Mary high schools, the Sanford Kiwanis Club sponsors two Key Clubs that actively participate in club events and projects. The

CLUB FOCUS

Key Club at Seminole High is currently sponsoring a department of elections to encourage 18-year-olds to register to vote. LeFila said.

The club's next event is the Annual Pancake Day, set for Saturday, April 22, from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m., at the Sanford Civic Center. Pancakes will be served all day. A car, boat, flea market items and used office furniture will be auctioned off.

LeFila said the Pancake Day and auction are the major fund-raisers for the club and generally raise around $12,000 to $18,000.

The entire community is invited to attend. Admission is $2 per person in advance, or $3 at the door.

The Sanford Kiwanis Club also is a co-sponsor of the annual Golden Age Games, at which senior citizens converge on Sanford to compete in various sports and activities. At last year's Golden Age Games, the Kiwanis Club sponsored the track and field event at Lake Mary High School.

Social gatherings such as barbecues and water-skiing parties allow members to fraternize apart from work projects and business meetings.

Kiwanis Clubs cover area

Following are the names of the Kiwanis Clubs and their presidents in the local Division 25:

- Casselberry Kiwanis Club: Henry LaMontagne, 407-831-8545.
- Central Florida Kiwanis Club (Maitland): Herb Geartner, 407-268-2698.
- Debarry Kiwanis Club: Henry Narducci, 407-868-8895.
- DeLand Kiwanis Club: Harold Pyke, 904-734-3872.
- DeLand Sunrise Kiwanis Club: Wayne Smith, 904-738-8444.
- Deltona Kiwanis Club: Kim Reddick, 904-775-8879.
- East/West Kiwanis Club (Sanford): Ben Adams, 407-321-5454.
- Maitland Kiwanis Club: Paul Leverault, 407-283-7574.
- Sanford Kiwanis Club: Greg LeFila, 407-330-3703.
- Seminole Sunrise Kiwanis Club (Sanford): Jerry Posey, 407-323-1762.
- West Volusia Kiwanis Club (DeLand): Herb Strandberg, 904-734-0577.
- Winter Park Kiwanis Club: Charles Spradley, 407-644-7590.
- Winter Park Sunrise Kiwanis Club: Steve Windham, 407-558-4282.

Older Kiwanis club members pit themselves against Key Club members in an annual volleyball game. In the game last fall, LeFila said, the Key Club team was made up entirely of female, most of whom were on the volleyball team at Seminole High School.

"They kicked our fannies. They did a good job," LeFila said.

He said the loss was easy to take, because it's just all part of the fun.

"Everything I have experienced (with Kiwanis) has been pleasurable," LeFila admitted.

Any male or female age 18 or older is eligible to join the Sanford Kiwanis Club or any Kiwanis Club. Dues are $25 for the initial fee and $2.50 per week.

The Sanford Kiwanis Club meets at noon every Wednesday at the Sanford Civic Center.

"We take every member we can get that's willing to work," LeFila said.

Kiwanis International has nearly 400,000 members in 71 countries, Bowman said, all operating under the motto of "We Build."

"We can work for senior citizens, hospital buildings, schools...Probably the biggest thrust lately has been toward handicapped children," Bowman said.

Rural shops yield antique treasures

By BOB AREHART

It's time to roll down the windows of the car and take a springtime drive in the country to explore antique shops tucked away by the roadside. Yes, "antiquing" is a national pastime. And fortunately, spring's the season to clean—so you can make more room for your discoveries.

Most people like to look back to the days of old without truly stepping backwards. They admire the beauty created by ancient artisans, but they are unwilling to abandon their modern comforts.

The answer is to bring history up to the present. Isn't that what our architects and builders have done—taken the best from the past? They may alter it a little for today's applications, but they don't disregard its intent.

As designers, we do the same by using the best of antiques. A bit of the past can be resurrected, and, with just a little tender loving care, it takes a new-found place in modern surroundings.

Just for the sake of antiquity, I, for one, am not about to return to the dark, damp rooms of yesteryear, where lighting was inferior and there were no heat or bathrooms. Give me today with all our new technology—thermostatically controlled heat, abundant lighting of a wide variety, comfortable furniture and acoustically perfect sound systems.

At the same time, I think we should all add a bit of spice to these comforts of home by allowing pieces of antique furniture or accessories to bring history into our lives. The right pieces will give a warm glow to any home and show that you care enough to take your time seeking out something different. Antiques don't usually come in

Caffeine, cigarettes may worsen glaucoma

DEAR DR. GOTT: Please discuss the relation of caffeine to glaucoma. My ophthalmologist suggests I discontinue my wake-up cup of coffee. I'm 80 and in excellent health.

DEAR READER: Glaucoma refers to an abnormal increase in the fluid pressure within the eye. The condition is often due to blockage of the tiny drains (trabecular angles) that normally allow fluid to circulate between various parts of the eye.

Some forms of glaucoma appear to be made worse by fatigue, tobacco, caffeine and emotional upset. Therefore, ophthalmologists often prohibit cigarettes and coffee.

Because glaucoma is readily treatable using modern drugs, your doctor may rescind his order about your one cup of coffee if your wake-up drink is important to you. Ask your doctor.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

DEAR DR. GOTT: My doctor put me on amoxicillin for pneumonia. After five days I developed joint pain. The physician says it's due to spurs and tennis elbow, but I'm wondering if it might be a reaction to the medicine. What do you think?

DEAR READER: Arthralgia (joint pain) is sometimes caused by the fever that results from infections such as pneumonia. It can also be the consequence of certain types of pneumonia, such as pneumococcal pneumonia, in which the bacteria may temporarily infect joints. Joint spurs of calcium and tendon inflammation (tendinitis) will cause joint pains.

Finally, as you pointed out, adverse reactions to medications are often associated with arthralgias.

From your question, I cannot sort out the various factors causing your problem. The arthralgias from bacterial infec-

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

If you fear that when partner opens three no-trump, he may have seven winners in a solid minor suit and scattered stoppers in the other suits, it's good to have a specific agreement as to what the bid means. South assumed North held a balanced 24-25 high-card points and hoped he would be playing in at least a 5-3 spade fit when he bid four spades. The raise to five spades guaranteed four-card support, maximum points and controls in all the suits. So it was a decent gamble for South to bid six.

After dummy's diamond ace won, the play of the ace of spades told declarer that slam would require careful play and some fortunate distribution in the off-suits. Declarer ruffed a diamond, played dummy's A-K of clubs and ruffed another diamond. Next a club was ruffed in dummy. So far, so good, since East had to follow to all suits led. Declarer now played out the Q-K-A of hearts, ending in dummy. Once again, East had to follow three times. The stage was now set. When declarer led dummy's fourth heart, East was pinned. If he ruffed in with a spade honor, South would shed a club and East would be endplayed, forced to lead from the honor-small in-trumps. If he failed to ruff with a high honor, declarer would simply have 12 tricks.

Lesson: A bad trump split does not always spell defeat. Careful play can still result in an end position favorable to declarer, if he keeps his wits about him.

HOROSCOPE

By Bernice Bede Osol

YOUR BIRTHDAY
April 14, 1989

Joint ventures could work out rather well for you in the year ahead, provided what you are attempting to do is practical and you are tied in with the right types of associates. Good luck!

ARIES (March 21-April 19) People with whom you've had comfortable dealings previously should live up to your expectations today. Conversely those who have caused you aggravation could once again cause problems. Get a jump on life by understanding the influences which are governing you in the year ahead. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today by mailing $1 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) In domestic relations today don't be too insistent upon doing something of which your mate disapproves. If you behave in a spiteful manner you could create a situation you'll wish you hadn't.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Strive to be helpful and cooperative when dealing with others today, but, by the same token, don't impulsively volunteer to take on an assignment you're not qualified to handle.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Inclinations to get involved in risky ventures should be kept in check today. The regrets you may experience if you fall on your face could be of the long-lasting variety.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You're likely to be generous with those you love today, but you might also attach terms and conditions to your gestures. This may cause recipients to reject them rather than try to comply.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) In career situations act in accordance with your impulsive urges today. The longer you mull things over, the more likely you are to travel in a circle.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) In your involvements with friends today, don't base what you will do for them on what they will do for you. The accounts might be a bit out of balance, and it could be your turn to be more of a giver than a taker.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Even though you'll be ambitious, resourceful and effective today, timing could prove to be the critical element. If you attempt to implement things prematurely, you might meet with stiff resistance.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You could be very adept at being able to get your foot in the door today, but after that, then what? Try to have your game plan worked out in advance before your ring the doorbell.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) It may not be wise today to become obligated in some manner to people you do not know too well. They could be the salt of the earth, but then, on the other hand, they might be the opposite.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Something unusual may develop today from which you could reap some special benefits. However, there's a chance another might interfere and attempt to block you out.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) If you are working on a project in conjunction with others today don't make any changes or revisions without first advising them. What you have in mind might throw a monkey wrench in the operation.

DEAR ABBY: The letter from "Shocked in Colorado" prompts my first letter to you. I can top her bizarre tale of a double-dealing lover.

ADVICE

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

I met a handsome man in October 1983. "John" said he was married, so we had to be "careful." He was so charming, I couldn't resist him. John would come to my house for lunch and "whatever" twice a week. In December of '88, I happened to see his car pull into an alley behind a strange house. (By this time I had caught him in several small lies and had begun to distrust him.) I obtained the address and phone number of this house. I called and a woman answered. When I asked for John, she acted so strange I knew he was there. To make a long story short, I called her again, and the two of us got together.

not having to cheat and slip around anymore. Would you believe that this woman and I lived within a mile of each other?

RECOVERING IN ARKANSAS

DEAR RECOVERING: After writing this column for 33 years, I can believe anything. But, there's a lesson to be learned here. There is no free lunch. Or breakfast, either.

DEAR ABBY: In your answer to "Choking," who coughed, wheezed and got migraine headaches from the perfumed mail and samples of soap and fabric softener delivered to her home unsolicited, you said, "If the army of allergics were to join forces and do a little lobbying, they would create a stink no one could ignore."

Abby, there is an organization of people who are sensitive to perfumes and scented products—the Human Ecology Action League (HEAL). Though we are a non-profit organization and cannot "lobby," we provide information to legislators and to the members of HEAL chapters across the country.

Please inform your chemically sensitive readers that HEAL can help them. For information, they can write to: HEAL, P.O. Box 88637, Chicago, Ill. 60668. Please enclose a long, stamped (45 cents), self-addressed envelope.

LYNN IN EVANSTON

DEAR LYNN: HEAL was founded in 1977 by Dr. Theron Randolph, a Chicago physician. It provides a broad spectrum of information for people with allergies, including: lists of specialists in the field of environmental medicine, lists of non-toxic products and where to find them, and affiliated support groups nationwide. Moreover, HEAL lets allergy sufferers know they are not alone with a problem that's nothing to sneeze at. Gesundheit!

DEAR ABBY: My 14-year-old daughter, "Sara," was assigned to read your booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," for her phys-ed course on hygiene and homemaking. I thought you'd get a kick out of what happened when Sara overheard her older sister telling her father and me that she was going to announce her engagement soon.

Sara rushed to her room and grabbed your booklet to advise us of our "responsibilities." Then she proceeded to read aloud: "The groom's parents provide the bachelor party, pay the minister, etc. The bride's parents provide the torso."

SAN FRANCISCANS

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter is being married soon. We have exchanged visits with the groom's parents, but our families have not met yet. Because our daughter and her fiancé have both been in medical school out of state, neither family knows more than a few of their classmates and colleagues.

pairs, so you're safe!

Today we find wonderful new homes built on a scale that provides space specifically for family heirlooms or newly found treasures.

When one is building, it's nothing to move a doorway over to accommodate a special breakfast or sideboard. And it's a rewarding experience when you find that special background wallpaper to set off a handsome 9-foot grandfather clock in the foyer, or you nestle that treasured antique corner cupboard into your newly designed family room.

When designers research Williamsburg or Winterthur, we aren't copying. We're just borrowing a bit of proven good taste from the past and adapting it to our modern needs. You know that expression, "There is nothing new, it's all been done before." Maybe so, but we can do it again our way—and we will do it better.

Even a very contemporary home needs the warmth of a few collectibles. It could be something as small as a gold-trimmed bone dish used on a coffee table as an ashtray, or as large as a ceremonial Chinese robe framed for display.

I recently bought a rice bowl from China—how old it is! But I don't care. I just liked the picture on it and the worn finish, and wondered how many times rice had been served from it. Whose home did it come from? How many more were like it? It now rests on a pine chest in my entrance hall. A little bit of the past has found its way into my home.

A friend of mine from England used to keep a circular bronze jar in his entrance hall. He would polish it up once a year to hold his Christmas tree. The jar had been handed down from a relative whose business took him to the Far East.

As a speculative venture, my friend sent it to an auction, where it was hailed as a Chinese Shang Dynasty wine jar, some 3,000 years old. It sold for 40,000 pounds—a surprising figure for such a piece. But my friend found out that his years of polishing the jar had removed its age-old patina, and it could have been worth thousands more. What a disappointment.

That's a good thing to remember. We sometimes worry too much about a little nick or the fact that something doesn't shine like a silver dollar. But the truth is, age on a good piece will enhance its beauty, and a little distress can add to its character.

No matter how counterfeiters try, they can't quite reproduce ancient patina. Enjoy those wonderful finishes, dust them lightly, fondle them gently. But, above all, don't clean them up to look like new.

When you take that trip into the country this spring to look for special old pieces, be sure to seek out reputable antique dealers. They are the only ones who can assure you, not only in finding such items, but in assuring that you get what you are paying for.

Even a very contemporary home needs the warmth of a few collectibles.

Bob Arshart writes for the Newspaper Enterprise Association.

Who's cooking?

The Sanford Herald welcomes suggestions for cooks of the week.

Do you know someone whose food is always the highlight of company picnics, church potlucks, receptions or covered-dish luncheons? It might be an acquaintance who has won a cooking contest or invented a new twist to the peanut-butter-and-jelly sandwich.

Novice cooks and ethnic cooks, as well as experienced cooks and master chefs, add a different dimension to dining. Who is your choice? Maybe it's your mother, father, brother, sister, son, daughter, spouse, friend or boss.

Submit your nomination for Cook of the Week to the Herald People editor at 322-2611, ext. 34.

The Cook of the Week feature is published in this section each Wednesday.

Would it be improper to provide name tags for family members and guests at our daughter's wedding reception? They would certainly be helpful.

FATHER OF THE BRIDE

DEAR FATHER: Improper? I think it's ingenious! I promise that more guests would bless you than blast you. And if anyone criticizes you, tell 'em that Abby said it was a great idea.

(Problems? Write to Dear Abby. For a personal, unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dear Abby, P.O. Box 89440, Los Angeles, Calif. 90089. All correspondence is confidential.)

REGENTS ROW RESTAURANT

Regents Row specializes in grilled cuisine because the chef and owner believe it is healthier by slow cooking all the flavors are maintained and all the fats of the meat drain. In fact fried foods are strictly taboo at Regents Row Restaurant.

Danny the chef/owner and Marion his wife and hostess have been in the restaurant business many years. Danny owned two restaurants in New York City (the International Restaurant (across the street from the Empire State Building) and the Sixth Ave. Restaurant).

Danny was born in Argentina where meat is the main diet and usually grilled. He prepares every meal to order, nothing is precooked. Besides meats all the seafood is also grilled. Many residents of Lake Mary and the adjacent cities of Longwood and Sanford are frequent customers and admirers of Danny's cooking.

The restaurant is open from 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. Mon. - Sat. with early bird special from 4 to 5:30 p.m. Senior Citizens receive a 10% discount.

For the business community you can save time by FAXing your order for quick pick-up by using 333-9471.

The restaurant is located in the Lake Mary Center right by the clock tower.
