Senate Group Approves U.S. Rent Controls

Legislation Will Be Kept Six Months; Present Law Will Expire June 30

WASHINGTON, June 2.—(AP)—The Senate Banking Committee approved 8 to 5 today legislation to keep Federal rent controls for another six months. The present control law expires June 30.

Like a bill pending in the House, the Senate Committee's measure would permit cities to keep controls for the first six months of 1951 if their governing bodies voted to keep them.

This idea has been called a compromise between the Truman Administration's request for a full year's extension of controls and the view of some Congress members that controls should be allowed to end when the present law runs out.

The House is due to vote on its bill about June 12. A Senate vote may be held up until after the House acts.

There is only one point of difference between Senate and House bills. The Senate bill would decontrol the hotels remaining under Federal ceilings.

Senator Douglas (D-Ill.) asked that all hotels be removed from Federal control.

In announcing the vote, Chairman Maybank (D-DC) said that a proxy vote by Senator Long (D-Mo.) favored reporting the bill to the Senate but reserved the right to oppose it there.

In addition to Long, the Senators voting to report the bill were Maybank, Douglas, Fulbright (D-Ark.), Sparkman (D-Ala.), Frank (D-Ind.), Taylor (D-Iaho) and Vyas (R-N.Y.).

The five opposition votes were cast by Senator Robertson (D-Va.), Republican Senators Tobey of New Hampshire, Capahart of Indiana, Flanders of Vermont and Bricker of Ohio.

A publicist told reporters that he had asked Senator Long for a "clarifying question" as to the "constitutionality" of allowing cities to extend the federal controls for the additional six months.

Several other measures were turned down.

Maybank said only three Senators voted for the one-year extension of controls.

China turned out to be no haven and last month they came to San Francisco. They traveled across the continent in a sealed train. (International)

Georgia Police Spread Dagnet For 3 Outlaws

Trio Trades Pistol Shots With State Highway Officer

PANAMA CITY, June 2.—(AP)—Well Patterson, 30-year-old city employee was fatally wounded in a shooting at nearby Lynn Haven last night. Sheriff Alva Thomas said the gun play grew out of argument over a $10 rent bill allegedly owed by Patterson's mother. Thomas reported that Charles Sumner, also of Lynn Haven, was being held.

CAHOON, Ga., June 2.—(AP)—Highway patrolmen from two states and local city and county police have joined forces to scour the countryside here for a trio which instigated a reign of lawlessness in Tennessee and Georgia yesterday.

Some 25 to 30 cars of Tennessee and Georgia patrolmen, airplanes and bloodhounds were used in the all-night hunt for the two men and one woman.

The chase began near Ooltewah, Tenn., yesterday when Lieut. Danny Garland came upon a car containing the three after he had received reports they were driving while drunk.

Chattanooga patrol officials said the car belonged to William J. Parker of Huntsville, Ala., who was wanted for five counts of burglary, according to Alabama police officials.

Garland said the driver "got the drop" on him, took his patrol car containing a machine gun and some 500 rounds of ammunition and fled—not before a brick gun battle broke out. The lieutenant was not hurt.

Later the fugitives told a housewife nearby they were highway patrolmen and she allowed them to use her car. They left the stolen patrol car at the house.

After bursting through a roadblock set up by Georgia and Tennessee patrolmen near Ringgold, Ga., 25 miles south of Chattanooga, the three slugged police south of here. However they wrecked their car and were last reported about in the hills.

Meanwhile, in Scarborough, Me., a man wrote me from there and offered to add a portable coffin to my collection of relics," declared Mr. Herndon with a chuckle.

Expenditures Are Listed By 19 Candidates

Smathers Drive Cost $93,000 While Over $78,000 Is Spent By Senator Pepper

TALLAHASSEE, June 2.—(AP)—The 19 candidates who had opposition for statewide and congressional district offices in the Florida Democratic primaries reported total campaign expenditures of $242,916-41.

Their statements filed with Secretary of State R. A. Gray also showed contributions of $136,399-33.

George Smathers, who defeated Sen. Claude Pepper, reported he spent $93,745.88 and received $63,767.75 in contributions. He listed more than 250 individual donors, many of them doctors who backed his stand against the National Health Service Bill.

Pepper reported contributions of $59,849.50 and expenditures of $78,644.81.

Chester B. McMillen, who defeated four opponents for the Democratic nomination to Congress from the first district, reported contributions of $20,900 and expenditures of $23,332.

Tom Watson, who's trying to get the courts to declare him still in the running for the congressional seat, said he was given $11,110 and spent $11,108. Jerry Collins reported contributions of $12,650 including $8,000 from his own pocket and he spent $7,410.

Contributions were low in the second congressional district with Rep. Charles E. Bennett, the victor, receiving only $308 in comparison with $49,910 spent in his campaign. Emory Price said he was given $387 and spent $7,861.

In the fourth district, Bill Lantaff, winner of the Democratic nomination, reported his contributions exactly equaled his expenditures. He said he was given $18,124 and spent the same amount. Pat Cannon said he received $6,200 and spent $6,199.

Rep. Dwight L. Rogers, victor in the sixth district, said his contributions totaled $1,650 and that he spent $3,130. His one opponent, Clarence C. Shaffer, said he had no contributions and spent $1,290.

Mrs. P. M. Gingles Installed Head Of B. & P. W. Club

Mrs. P. M. Gingles was installed at a banquet at the Chamber of Commerce Wednesday night as the new president of the Sanford Business and Professional Woman's Club, together with Mrs. E. J. Routh, first vice-president; Mrs. R. E. True, second vice-president; Mrs. A. E. Little, recording secretary; Mrs. Gertrude Gilbert, corresponding secretary and Mrs. Alice Steenworth, treasurer.

Mrs. Sally Mero Williams, retiring president, presided at the banquet and received from the new president the past-president's pin and a gift from the members. Mrs. Gingles credited the hard work of Mrs. Williams for the success of the club during the past two years under her gavel.

Local Syndicate Buys 210 Acres At Blue Springs For Development

Blue Springs and a surrounding wooded area of 210 acres adjacent to Blue Springs town and the St. Johns River is now being developed as a natural bathing resort by a syndicate of Central Florida business men of which W. R. Williams, local teacher, is trustee, and C. W. Spencer, attorney, is a member.

A contract was executed last week by the owners of Blue Springs, which is located in a natural wooded setting of surpassing beauty two miles west of Orange City in Volusia county. The area does not include the point of land owned by Homer Smith at the junction of Blue Springs Run and the St. Johns River, but includes the spring itself. The plan of development includes retaining the most of the natural tree growth, for to destroy one of these beautiful trees would be to destroy the exact number of gallons of water that would flow from the spring proper.

The natural beauty of this property cannot be imagined, said Mr. Williams. It is covered with magnolia, oak, pine, hardwood and other trees that naturally resist insects for years to grow. The plan of development includes retaining the most of the natural tree growth, for to destroy one of these beautiful trees would be to destroy the exact number of gallons of water that would flow from the spring proper. ## Local High School Miami Resident Is Elected Secretary Of Women's Clubs

HOSTON, June 2.—(AP)—Locally balloting featured elections for three high offices last night at the 69th annual convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

Runoff elections were required for two of the posts—second vice-president and recording secretary—when no candidate received a majority.

Mrs. Theodore B. Chapman of Jerseyville, Ill., defeated Mrs. Earl B. Shoemaker of Paso Robles, Calif., for the second vice-presidency. The vote was 629-402. Mrs. Jefferson D. Atwood of Roswell, N. C., was eliminated in the early voting.

Mrs. Leonard J. McCaffrey of Miami was elected recording secretary as she pulled 661 votes to 567 for Mrs. William B. Chandler (Hillsboro, Ore.). The initial balloting eliminated Mrs. William B. Fowler of Memphis, Tenn.

A federation director for 13 years, Mrs. R. I. C. Poot of Waterfield, Mich., was elected treasurer on the first ballot. She defeated Mrs. C. Whitfield Gowrie of New Haven, Conn., 870 to 634.

Elected without opposition were Mrs. Hiram C. Houghton of Red Oak, Ia., president, and Mrs. O. (Continued On Page Four)

Secretary Of State Tells Congress US Must Send Aid Or Face Possible War

WASHINGTON, June 2.—(AP)—The State Department today urged Congress to authorize a $1,222,000,000 Marshall Program to help European peoples fight themselves against those who would enslave them.

Acheson said the United States must continue to support the free world's fight against Communism.

He said the United States must continue to support the free world's fight against Communism.

The Secretary emphasized the background of the present arms and requests, $1,000,000,000 of which would go to western European countries to help arm them against the advance of Communism. The remainder would go to other areas where Communism poses a threat.

Acheson said the estimate of need grew out of very careful estimates of the size of the rearmament task.

He reminded the commission that, in addition to furnishing arms, the United States also has financed projects for the production of military equipment in Europe and said some of these are being carried out. In addition, the Allies—Acheson called them "our partners"—are being trained in the use of the American arms they get.

On the whole, Acheson said the efforts of the European to build up their might "are encouraging." "There is a new spirit in being," he said, "which is characterized by the conviction that the (Continued On Page Four)

State Market Produce Sales Show Increase

Steady Anderson Tells Of Sixty Thousand Unit Gain In May

Sales of produce at the Sanford State Farmers Market totalled $410,711 in May, an increase of $48,905 over the May, 1949 figure of $361,805, Manager Sandy Anderson reported today. Units sold were 194,630 compared with 133,649 during the previous May.

In spite of the increase of business at the market, sales at the new auction block this spring were just about a "complete failure" during the 27 days they were conducted, said Mr. Anderson.

The failure, he declared, "was due to the fact that there wasn't sufficient volume and variety of products offered for sale."

"The amount of produce grown in Seminole County was far from being sufficient to take care of the vegetable buying trade that telephone buyers bring to the dealers at the market," he added. "Therefore the dealers were compelled to buy their supplies from producing sections south of Sanford in order to meet the demands of their customers."

Mr. Anderson pointed out that the method of selling will again be tried this fall, "when and if the growers of Seminole and adjacent counties arrange the planting of wide variety of commodities which are required and certainly necessary to make an auction successful."

Leo Holly, local grower, emphasized the point in a recent talk, said Mr. Anderson, and important factor for the success of an auction is that it must receive the enthusiastic support from the growers of this area.

"Mr. Butler also brought out another important factor," Mr. Anderson said. "A wide variety of commodities is required. This is true, because if only a limited number of crops are available on one market, that buyer would be forced to go to other markets to obtain his requirements."

An accurate check was made of varieties sold each month at the market which had been purchased this season by local dealers at markets south of Sanford such as at Florida City and Pompano, said Mr. Anderson.

These purchases, many of which were made at auctions, included 10,059 bushels of pole beans, 46,797 bushels of lima beans, 24,793 bushels of cucumbers, 3,075 bushels of egg plants, 2,557 bushels of blue seed peas, 1,110 bushels of crowder peas, 22,192 bushels of peppers, 24,151 bushels of yellow squash, 1,577 bushels of white squash, 25,527 bushels of tomatoes, 4,540 bushels of cauliflower, 290 bushels of okra, 6,113 bushels of sweet corn, 95,286 bushels of potatoes and 1,015 bushels of string beans.

The total number of units purchased by local dealers from the market was 276,164 from October, 1949 through May 24, 1950. This is the equivalent of 592 cartloads. Practically all of the vegetables purchased could have been produced by local growers "which could have deposited the net sum of approximately $475,000 in their pockets," Mr. Anderson declared.

Salty Water In Seminole Wells To Be Discussed

The problem of salt water intrusion in wells in Seminole County will be discussed in a public meeting next Wednesday at 2:00 P.M. at the Tourist Center in Sanford.

Farmers and others interested in this problem are urged to attend and participate in the discussion. Arrangements for the meeting were made by the Board of Supervisors of the Seminole Soil Conservation District, after receiving requests for assistance from Seminole County farmers. Chairman C. A. Wales of Fern Park stated.

H. H. Cooper, Jr., District Engineer for the U. S. Geological Survey, Tallahassee, and Dr. Phil W. Wentgate, hydrologist with the Central Florida Experiment Station, and technicians of the Soil Conservation Service will assist in the discussion. Mr. Wales said Dr. Wentgate will discuss analysis made of many wells used for irrigation have shown a chlorine content of 500 to 1,100 parts per million, adding that it is not desirable to use irrigation water that contains in excess of 500 parts per million chlorine.

Field studies conducted on tiled farms in Seminole District by technicians of the Soil Conservation Service have shown that approximately 100,000 gallons of water is used to irrigate one acre of corn. Without rain irrigation is repeated every three to five days. The efficiency of subirrigation has been estimated as about 75 per cent. This is a very low efficiency when compared to the 75 per cent efficiency obtained from the sprinkler method of irrigation.

With subirrigation it has been estimated that as much as 85 per cent of the water applied is lost below the surface and does not evaporate. The efficiency of subirrigation has been estimated as about 75 per cent. This is a very low efficiency when compared to the 75 per cent efficiency obtained from the sprinkler method of irrigation.

MOSQUITO DROPP DAYTONA BEACH, June 2.—(AP)—A heavier than usual mosquito "crop" is expected in this vicinity because of an unusually dry spring. Sam Mitchell, East County mosquito control director, said today.

Ringed Of Local School Bell Is Heard In Lone Star State

By WILLARD CONNOLLY

Sound must travel a long distance, for the little school bell rung recently by O. P. Herndon, county clerk, and presented to him by Mrs. Mary L. Strang, was apparently heard as far away as Texas.

"A man wrote me from there and offered to add a portable coffin to my collection of relics," declared Mr. Herndon with a chuckle.

Mention in The Herald of the little school bell which sent the pioneer children of Melbourne scurrying to classes, as well as the notice by Mr. Herndon that he is collecting historical relics of this section, brought a hearty response in the form of letters from many citizens.

RAIL INCREASE WASHINGTON, June 2.—(AP)—The Association of American Railroads today estimated the net cost of class 1 railroads for the first four months of this year at $28,000,000 compared with a net of $6,000,000 during the corresponding period in 1949.

The net income for April, 1950, was estimated at $39,000,000 against $40,000,000 in the same month a year ago.

POPULATION RISE PENNSACOLA, June 2.—(AP)—Population in one west Florida county has more than doubled since the 1940 census.

"God The Only Cause and Creator" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world on Sunday, June 4.
The Golden Text is: "He is the former of all things; and Israel is the root of his inheritance; The Lord of hosts is his name" (Jer. 10:16).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Son of man, what is that proverb that ye have in the land of Israel, saying: The days are prolonged, and every vision faileth? ... it will make this proverb to cease, and they shall no more use it as a proverb in Israel; but say unto them, The days are at hand, and the effect of every vision" (Ezek. 12:22, 23 begin "I will").
The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to more than all other spiritual Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Scriptural causation is the one question to be considered for causation relates to human progress. The age seems ready to approach this subject, to consider somewhat the supremacy of Spirit and at least to touch the hem of Truth's garment." (170:25).

Curry, who had more than 600 transfusions in that time. And he recently made up his mind to repay the bank for its life-giving fluids.

Curry is going to start a one-man recruitment campaign for blood donors, he said. "I'm going to do everything possible to keep an even balance on the books." ### Auto Engineers And Oil Men Can Cut Gas Consumption 40 Percent

NEW YORK, June 2 — (AP) — Auto engineers know how to make engines that will give ordinary sized cars 30 or more miles per gallon. Petroleum engineers know how to make the high octane gasoline these high compression engines require.

The question when will they get together, so that you can have your dream car?

Detroit points the finger at the oil industry. Before these 11-1 or 12-1 compression engines can be turned out in volume, there must be 100 octane gasoline available at every service station at a price motorists will pay.

Oilmen say the dream cars aren't close enough to mass production yet to justify the cost of equipping refineries to turn out a flood of the expensive gasoline which the average motorist doesn't need now.

But in-between models already are on the road. Owners of some of these late models quote garagemen as saying that the new engines could give up to 40 percent more miles a gallon, if higher octane gasoline were available. Garagemen say it isn't being produced because: 1. Its price would be too high, due to the rising cost of special refining equipment — and motorists think gasoline is high enough as it is; 2. The lead content for auto gas is held down to three cubic centimeters (one-tenth of a fluid ounce) per gallon by health authorities.

Oil refiners reply that the octane rating has been going up of late and that plans call for a steady but gradual increase over the next few years. Meanwhile, most of the postwar cars do very well on the 90 to 93 octane gasoline now available. They say only a small minority of the cars on the road today would benefit by higher octane gasoline. Premium gasoline now rates 90 octane or better; ordinary gasoline runs from 83 to 86 octane in most places.

The octane rating is the measure of the tendency of the fuel to knock in a gasoline engine. Hundred octane gas won't knock under any circumstance. If 90 per cent of the gasoline won't knock any circumstance it is called 90 octane gas.

A 12-1 compression engine means one in which the fuel charge in the cylinder is compressed into 1/12th of the cylinder space as the piston comes upward. That engine requires the 100 per cent no-knocking gasoline for the promised 30-mile-per-gallon performance.

Just adding more tetraethyl lead to present gasoline won't do the trick in itself, oilmen add. There is a sharply diminished return in anti-knock improvement when lead is added above the amount now being used.

It takes more crude oil to produce the higher octane refining gasoline. With each process of refining for higher octane, you lose a little in the yield per barrel of crude oil. This makes it uneconomical for the oil companies by that much, depletes oil reserves just that much faster.

Some say the 100 octane gas—if refineries had to be built now to supply it in big time—would cost at least five cents a gallon more, or 50 per cent more than the present refinery price of gasoline. The difference between the average 10-cent refinery gasoline and what you pay at the pump is charged to transportation, distribution, profit margins along the way, and—in generous amounts—to taxes.

At airports around New York private plane owners can buy 100 octane gasoline at 35 1/2 cents a gallon. Premium auto gasoline in the neighborhood sells, with taxes, at 28 to 29 cents a gallon.

Oilmen say that the price of 100 octane gasoline, if produced in large quantities for cars, might go even higher, because aviation gasoline is produced with equipment put in during the war, often by the government. This equipment is now much higher priced. To put in enough new equipment to handle a flood of 100 octane gasoline for the motorists would call for large expenditures, especially if done suddenly.

However, the cost of higher priced gasoline would be offset for the motorist if he got more miles per gallon from higher octane gas.

The higher compression cars may come along one of these days. Meanwhile, the auto companies still find making the old models a profitable enterprise. And the oil companies sell more and more gallons of the old fashioned gasoline.

More competition—or the ending of the auto boom—might change that quickly.

dent Truman. They were Douglas, Taylor and Ives.

He said there was no support to a bill by Senator Lehman (D-NY) to extend the controls two years and tighten them.

Meanwhile, in Washington, a gold medal that Congress voted Vice President Alben Barkley for "distinguished public service" was presented to the "Veep" today.

President Truman gave it to him at a White House ceremony attended by members of the Supreme Court, the Cabinet and many members of the Senate.

Beaming, Mr. Truman said he didn't believe he "ever had a privilege I appreciated more."

The Senate also approved legislation permitting business firms to absorb freight charges and sell at uniform delivered prices.

The so-called "bait point" bill also allows price discrimination to customers, if done in good faith to meet competition, and without conspiracy or collusion with other sellers.

The 48 to 27 vote on the House-approved measure ended a two-year Congressional dispute over pricing practices and sent the bill to the White House. President Truman has given no sign as to whether he will sign or veto the bill.

Secretary of Commerce Sawyer, who is having trouble firing two trade officials in his Department, said today Congress should give Cabinet officers more authority to "discharge incompetent and troublesome employees."

Sawyer made that comment to reporters after refusing to discuss directly the case of Michael L. Lee and William W. Remington. Lee and Remington have declined "on principle" to resign at the request of Sawyer.

TODAY'S BIBLE VERSE

Some of us are trying to go in too many directions at once. We will never get anywhere. One thing I do—Phil. 3:13.

General Marshall says the United States should finish the European Recovery Program by 1952. One thing is certain the United States must finish the ERP, or the ERP will finish the United States.

We see where the Supreme Court is planning to install a $42,000 air conditioner. If it'll just be patient and wait a little while, Tom Watson will get through and they won't need an air conditioner.

We see where over 1,350 students will graduate from the University of Florida this year. It was not so many years ago that there were not more than 500 students in the entire University, Florida grows.

Some of these new-fangled preparations that are supposed to get rid of all bugs around the house in one fell swoop—no fuss and bother—may turn out to be like those fountain pens that would write under water. Give us a fountain pen that will write period.

Courtesy warning cards are being issued by Jacksonville police to all out-of-town motorists who inadvertently violate traffic regulations. The plan is being undertaken as a means of increasing "the goodwill of the traveling public toward Jacksonville," says the city's Mayor Hayden Burn. It is a plan which might well be followed by all Florida cities who hoped to be favored by northern tourists. It leaves a pretty bad taste in a man's mouth to get pinched for parking over a white line.

Small wonder the humble American citizen is confused if not completely confounded. President Truman, on the same day that he was telling his press conference for the benefit of the American people that the world is closer today to real and permanent peace than it has been in five years, was at the same time sending a message down to Congress asking for another $1,222,500,000 for more guns for Europe on account of the growing danger of war with Europe. Wonder whom the President thinks he's kidding?

Communist youth of East Germany held their demonstration in Berlin without serious consequences but they raised many an unpleasant memory throughout the world. It was the memory of the Nazi youth demonstrations in Hitler's Germany which more than anything else in the world these Communist youth seem to emulate. There was no violence, but the noise they made was vicious. As John Temple Graves said, "It was the noise that Youth makes when it is full of vigor, enthusiasm and ideology—and empty of understanding, memory and judgment."

With all these young men of 40 and 50 dying of heart attacks and old age, it is interesting to note, at least one man who seems to have learned the secret of longevity. He is William Mark Brown of Miami, pioneer banker of that city, a member of its first board of aldermen, and still young at 87. This summer he plans an automobile trip to his old home in Springfield, Mass. He is in perfect health, reads without glasses, has all his original teeth and a plentiful thatch of snowy hair on his head. He attributes his good health to moderation in everything in life. He does not smoke, drink, or worry, and he makes it a practice every day to leave his table while still a little hungry.

Prepaid Medical Care

Prepaid hospital and medical-care plans can provide service for far less than the government would require under compulsory health insurance, declares Dr. Elmer L. Henderson, new head of the American Medical Association, in an article in the May Reader's Digest.

Refuting the contention of compulsory-insurance proponents that "a scant 20 per cent of our people are able to afford all the medical care they need," Dr. Henderson states that 80 per cent can afford good medical care. No one, he holds, can get all the care he needs because "we doctors don't know enough to give that much."

Private, prepaid health insurance, such as Blue Cross, Blue Shield and other groups offer, has freed millions from the financial worry of illness. By the end of the year an estimated 75 million Americans will be covered by hospital plans, 40 million by surgical plans, 20 million by medical-care plans. Blue Cross pays an average of 80 per cent of hospital expenses; Blue Shield 50 to 60 per cent of the doctor fee.

Dr. Henderson praises the action of citizens in many communities who have sparked these voluntary plans locally. Dozens of hitherto doctorless areas are raising money to build hospitals and clinics. "Small towns are breaking out in a nationwide rash of hospitals; 981, most of them in rural areas, have been approved under the National Hospital Construction Act. This act, providing grants-in-aids to help finance hospitals, is strongly supported by the AMA."

Conceding a "justifiable grievance against a certain amount of medical overcharging, neglect and bad practice," Dr. Henderson states that the medical profession is now "clearing its own house with a vengeance." Led by action of the Colorado State Medical Society more than 20 states now operate grievance committees. These groups investigate patients' complaints, usually settle them to the patients' satisfaction.

Many communities now guarantee medical care to all who need it, regardless of ability to pay. Even in the grim problem of long illness, local action "is beating the best that Government compulsory insurance can offer." In California, for instance, "catastrophic coverage" provides full medical care up to $5,000 for two years, for polio, cancer and 21 other diseases, at a cost of $1.95 a month per family.

Broad advances in medical knowledge and sharply declining death rates—such as have occurred since 1900—could hardly continue under Government compulsory insurance, Dr. Henderson believes. "Standards of skill would be junked for arbitrary ones dreamed up by somebody in Washington. Doctors' hands would be tied in a snarl of regulations. . . . We would be swamped with calls from people who did not need care, and would not have time to treat those really ill."

Dr. Henderson sees the decade ahead promising control of cancer, heart disease and rheumatoid arthritis, but believes the promise may be fulfilled "only if doctors and local health services are free to go on with what they've so brilliantly begun."

Checking Tax Returns

Every individual's federal income tax return may get a quick one-over by the Bureau of Internal Revenue if a scheme tried out this year in the Cleveland district office should be approved for general use. The results of the trial suggest that this might happen. Using machine tabulation and electronic calculators, the Cleveland office made a rough check of every return in which a refund on withheld taxes was claimed.

About one return in every 18 was pulled out of the pile because of some irregularity turned up in this rough check. These were examined more carefully and most of the persons who filed them were called in for interviews. About half of these returns were revised, with a net gain to the government of over $2,708,000 for this one checking operation in one collection district. Thus the plan seems to hold promise of a tidy increase in federal revenues if generally applied. The amount was large in comparison with the cost of making the check-up, in fact almost equal to a full year's operating expense for the Cleveland office.

Some taxpayers gained, too. About a third of the simple arithmetical errors discovered were corrected to the benefit of the taxpayers, who picked up $343,000 in larger refunds. These, presumably, will heartily agree with the district tax collector that the check-up system is worth keeping.

Portuguese Awakening

Portugal, which has not always kept abreast of new ideas, now recognizes that Asia is on the march. To ward off worse things, the Portuguese have arranged to grant financial and governmental home rule to the inhabitants of their territories in India.

These diminutive regions extend to not much more than 1,500 square miles, with 600,000 inhabitants. They are scattered reminders that in the sixteenth century Portuguese power spread over much of India, Ceylon and part of the Malay peninsula, and even extended to China. The port of Macao is the sole Chinese survivor of Portugal's former great days.

Large or small, these souvenirs of what was once a great domain would soon be lost to the Portuguese if they did not see the storm coming and introduced self government. Now that this has been done, the Portuguese flag may be enabled to wave in Asia a little longer.

Local Syndicate

Troy the beauty of nature. The syndicate plans to develop the property as a bathing resort. A subdivision around the springs, the spring run and the St. Johns River is in its embryonic stage at the present time. Fred H. Williams, civil engineer and member of the syndicate, will spend much time in the near future doing the necessary engineering work.

According to Mr. Williams and Mr. Spencer, the portion of the St. Johns River in this area is a natural schooling ground for black bass, and the annual shad run produces many silver shad. Fishing in this area will interest all sportsmen. Yachts are able to navigate the Spring Run from the St. Johns to the spring proper, a distance of more than half a mile. Although the syndicate is not in a position at present to estimate what the estimated cost of the development will be, said Mr. Williams, it probably will run well into six figures. The property is on the old F. P. Fatio Spanish grant and has been owned by one family for more than 100 years. A member of the family who sold the property still has in her possession the original Spanish grant written in Spanish on sheepskin.

"Coo" Operation

about the business of getting settled. "They're not so dumb," said Lake Loyal, county commission chairman. "The snakes are rubber and must be mighty comfortable compared to the hard ledge. But what do we do now?"

Nobody had an answer. There was scratching of heads and talk of balloons and paper bags, but no decision was made. The commissioners had firemen place 28 rubber snakes on the ledge under the eaves last week to drive the pigeons away. The birds kept their distance at first and then gradually moved in as the snakes remained motionless. On Tuesday this week they were reported landing cautiously on other projections near the ledge. Some people said they looked like large garter snakes and others hoped they rather resembled rattlers. It took the pigeons quite a while to decide what they were. But the answer was simple and satisfactory. The snakes made an ideal foundation for a happy home. Chinese hand methods of harvesting wheat take 500 man-hours per acre, against 18 for an American machine.

THE WORLD TODAY

By SIGRID ARNE
Foreign Analyst
(For Hewitt Mackenzie)

All the post war years the western European nations have worried over some means to regenerate their old trade with middle Europe.

Russia wrote the sort of post-war trade treaties with its satellites in middle Europe that siphoned off large portions of their goods for Russia. There was little or nothing left for the west.

This raised important hub. Middle Europe had always supplied much food and raw materials for the factories and workers of western Europe.

Now, for an announced reason, Moscow is willing to consider shipping Russian grain to western Europe again—in return for commodities as yet unnamed.

The offer secretly raises a cheer among Washington trade experts. There are several competitors about Russian motives.

This shift in Russian trade strategy arose after the United Nations Economic Commission for Europe (ECE), headed by Gunnar Myrdal of Sweden, put out a feeler last November on possible greater trade between the non-Communist and Communist halves of Europe. Moscow has just replied that the feeler is "favorably received" insofar as a possible grain swap might be concluded.

Between the issuance of the ECE feeler last November, and the favorable Moscow reply, Myrdal made a visit to Moscow, western Europe again—in return for commodities as yet unnamed. Now, on the surface, it appears that Moscow is moved to shove the iron curtain aside a little. But government wheat experts here point out there is a much reduced need now for Russian or middle European grain, much as it was needed in the grueling years of 1946 and 1947.

Europe's basic needs on wheat are cared for. It's possible, however, that Russia might offer some grain and that Europe might need them enough to get a new East-West trade channel open.

And of course it is possible that the Russians may try to underbid the world market so that the international wheat agreement would be strained. The gloomier of the trade prophets in Washington have always said that it was in Russia's pattern of aggression eventually to use surpluses to break world prices.

What could have motivated the Russian move?

No one in the U. S. Commerce or Agriculture Departments in Washington, or at Marshall Plan headquarters, believes that the move is based on normal trade thinking as the West knows it. Many guesses are that the Russians have had more trouble than they foresee either in manufacturing or buying the kind of machinery they want.

U. S. trade experts say the Russians have never bid for consumer goods for the Russian people and for machines to turn them out. Whether they want the sort of heavy machinery that could be turned to war use.

This they are not likely to get, even on this new bid to reopen old trade channels. The United States has a long secret list of articles that may not be sold to the Soviets or the satellites, things that might be used to make war goods.

There is the possibility that the Russians are selling wheat stockpiles they had built up in case of war. Government experts admit the possibility exists, but they have no proof.

Mr. Herndon pointed out that the school bell was the Municipal School in Lakeland, Fla., which was a thriving city with a horse-race track, hotels, and a number of other attractions. He pointed out that Lakeland was the northern terminus of a trade route which ran along an Indian trail which later became a military road and is now Lakeland Avenue.

Acheson Supports

defense of the Atlantic area is a real and attainable objective. In spite of the continued importance of pursuing the task of economic recovery, our European partners are progressively devoting more funds to their defense budgets.

Acheson said all these countries will get the most for their money through the plan to create "balanced collective forces." Under that plan each country will develop forces which best contribute to the defense of the whole area though they are not necessarily the forces needed for the defense of that country alone.

The Secretary said the total task—economic and political as well as military—of coordinating the Atlantic allies is far from completed. But what has been accomplished so far is a good indication of what can be done in the future.

Then he added: "On the other hand, if any of us let down, or slacken our efforts, the result could well be disaster." Acheson also urged relaxations in the new arms law provisions compared with the present law. The change would allow the President to sell arms to a friendly nation anywhere in the world when he considered it necessary and also to let him have power to divert funds from the aid program to bolster any country threatened by Communist aggression.

He stressed the importance of continued aid to Greece and Turkey for which the administration is asking $120,000,000 and also the importance of supporting Iran, the Philippines, and Korea with military assistance to a total of $27,500,000.

Meanwhile Republicans cast dubious eyes today on President Truman's new Foreign Arms Program but conceded it probably will get Congress approval.

Recital Is Given By Miss Davis' Pupils

An outstanding event of the season was the presentation by Miss Margaret Davis of her piano pupils in recital Wednesday evening at the Woman's Club.
Guest artist for the occasion was William Jones, accompanied by Miss Margaret Brice, both of Stetson University. Mr. Jones' voice contains a richly lyrical quality not often found in a baritone, and his skill and artistry in interpretation were greatly appreciated by a highly receptive audience.
The stage appointments were handled by Melvin Fiescher and Edwin Lockett. Pianos and tall prismatic baskets of brightly glistening were used in decoration.
The programs were given out by the school, Mrs. Helen Fiescher, Mrs. Robert Miller and Bobby Shumaker.
Assisting in serving after the recital were Mrs. A. M. Phillips, Mrs. E. E. Lane, Mrs. Harry Wagner, Mrs. John Rogers, Mrs. Herman Myers, Mrs. Clarence Redding, Mrs. T. B. Middleton, Mrs. Fred Ford, Mrs. Martin Stonecipher, Mrs. Charles G. Wilke, Mr. John L. Lee, Mrs. Roy Partin, Mr. H. W. Wyatt, Mrs. W. A. McClain, Mrs. Fred Cooper and Mrs. John Miller.
The program was opened by Santa and Sonja Montforton with a well done performance of Raffi's "Cantata" "Maree Brillante".
Closing an evening of musical enjoyment was the theme from Tchaikovsky's beautiful "Concerto in B Flat Major" exceptionally well played by June Ford.

Hollywood

By DON THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, June 2. — Bud Abbott and Lou Costello are celebrating their 15th anniversary and Lou says "we're planning on 15 more."
Explaining the long and stormy association, Lou—he's the fat one—added: "We just couldn't bear to be separated; Siamese twins have that trouble, too."
"How long have they been in the movies?"
"Fifteen years," said Bud. "Ten years in the movies, dope!"
"Ten years of lather, soap and shaving. This sort of lather goes on constantly. For although the comics are partners, they are competitors as well. Whether they are on stage in a "Who's on First?" routine or engaged in a cut-throat rummy match, they are constantly at odds."
Whatever Bud gets, Lou wants too—only bigger. As a result, both have outside businesses that rival those of Crosby and Hope. The competition reached the point of a split-up five years ago. But after a few months of name calling, they reconciled.
"How did they meet?"
"It was a windy day," began Lou. "My hat blew off and Abbott got it for me."
"He was under then," added Bud. "A finally, the duo met while performing separate acts in burlesque. Lou had worked unsuccessfully in the movies and Bud came from the circus. They teamed up and their violent comedy became a sensation."
Despite the sneers of arty film critics, A & C continued to rate high in the box office polls. They played just below Hope and Crosby in last year's list of money-making stars. Their studio, however, the boys have brought in $70,000,000 in their decade of film making. The pair recently won a new contract which gives them more of the profit, and freedom to do TV in a couple of years.
"Abbott calculated that he and Lou will be celebrating their gold wedding anniversary next year. His reasoning: "I've been married 42 years. Lou for 16. That makes 48 years of married life, and next year we'll make 50."
The anniversary-happy boys also disclosed that their current picture "A & C in the Foreign Legion," is their 25th film. "If I had known all this was coming I should have baked a cake, or something."

Plantation Estates
By BERT PATTERSON

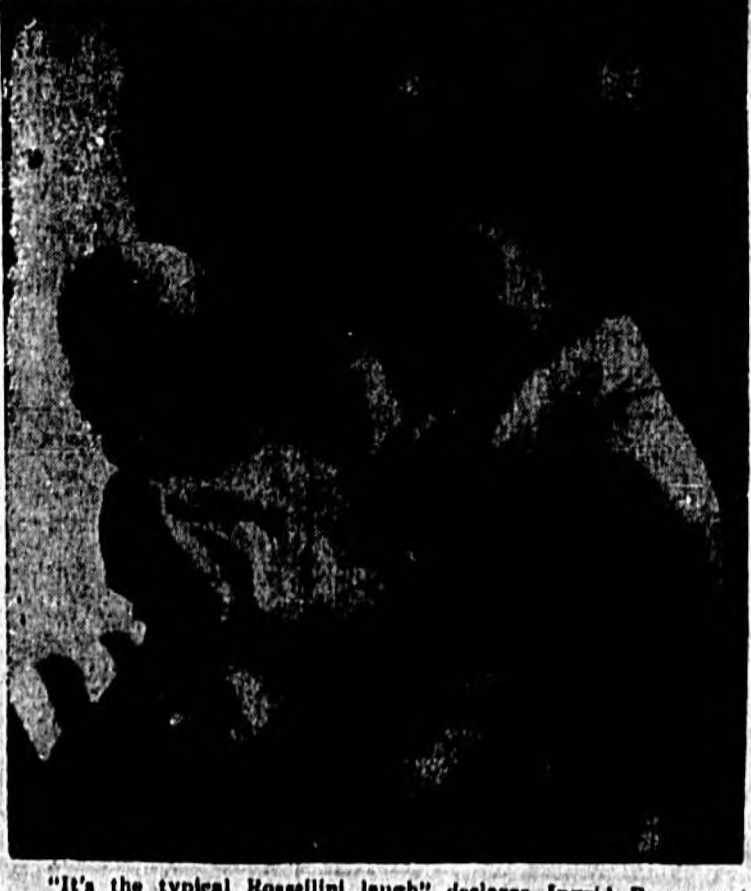

There has been much activity all over the place for the last few days. The telephone company has started work on the new line. Those cables are going down in record time. Mr. Taylor tells me that they laid 4000 feet one day. There is a crew of 20 men working. It looks like E. V. Turner's promise of unlimited service by Aug. 1st will be kept. The new road from the Mansion to Lake Monroe is also progressing very rapidly.

A group of six couples, the Pecks, Hofmans, Leonards, Spas, Taylors and Pattersons spent Memorial Day on a picnic at Rock Springs in Kelly Park. On the way over they drove through what seemed to be miles of watermelon fields. The more one sees of Central Florida, the more amazed one is at the fertility of the soil. Everything we grow is bigger and more abundant than on similar farms in other sections of the country. The bathing at Rock Springs was delightful, the water is crystal clear and there is just enough current in the river to make for vigorous swimming. A good picnic lunch was served of fried chicken, German potato salad and all the other trimmings. There was a cake in honor of Mrs. Amanda Hoffman who was celebrating a birthday in the evening the group returned to the Mansion where the beautiful sunset was enjoyed from the upstairs balcony. Later there was Canasta playing and Mrs. Patterson served cake and coffee. The Saturday Night Dance Club was held at the club rooms with Mrs. Dorothy Taylor acting as hostess.

The monthly business meeting of the Glee Club was held at the Club Rooms on Wednesday and as it was a short meeting there was singing afterward with Everett Swift directing. Later all hands piled into the cars and drove to DeLand for milk shakes. That sweet shop on the highway here is nearing completion and soon we will be able to get our sodas right at home. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Meyer and son Joe Jr. have moved into their new home up there on the hill. The Griffins have lots of company now that the Neiders, Whitakers and Meyers have moved. That is one of the fastest growing sections on the place. There are some half dozen new homes to be completed this summer on Half Moon Lake alone.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Healy have taken an apartment in Robert Brown's house on Gem Lake until their new home on DeBary Drive is built. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Spink have moved north for a few months on business but intend to hurry back and build their home this fall. Mr. and Mrs. Strauch are moving into their new home this week and Mrs. Strauch tells me they hope to open their new service station by the 1st of July. Mr. Strauch will do minor auto repairs when he first opens but hopes in time to handle anything that needs to be done on cars.

Mr. Lou Biraide months of work on the Mansion grounds are really bearing fruit these days. The citrus trees bloomed profusely and the flower gardens are a riot of color. That tiny Persian lime tree, which is Mrs. Patterson's pet, has had blossoms and fruit on it ever since it was planted last year. Mr. and Mrs. Biraide moved into their home on Plantation in October of 1948. They were one of the first families on the place. Although too young to retire they decided to semi-retire and have made a wonderful job of it. Mr. Biraide became interested in Florida horticulture when first came down and now is the gardener for the firm and has helped many of the folks with their new gardens. His own place is beautiful. Mr. Biraide was born in Canada of French

Georgia Police

(Continued From Page One) the battered body of a well-to-do widow was found in a watery ditch after her 19-year-old nephew was taken into custody at gunpoint while driving her blood-stained car. The body of Mrs. Viola Tully, 56, was discovered by police less than six hours after she was found missing from her blood-spattered home in Marietta, Mass., nearly 150 miles from Scarborough. Her nephew, William N. Elwell, of Brunswick, Me., was captured by police in Portland, but denied he killed Mrs. Tully. Portland Police Capt. Douglas Steele quoted the hunky, six-foot two-inch youth as saying that two men broke into his aunt's home and killed her while they were eating.

Then, Steele said, Elwell told him the men forced him to put the woman in the trunk of her car and drive to Maine. Elwell said the men dumped the body in a ditch, made him drive to Portland and then fled, according to Steele. The police captain said Elwell had not been charged, but was being held for further questioning. Steele said that Elwell's clothing was soaked with blood. Even $1 bills found in the trunk's pocket also were stained. An all-New England police alert was broadcast for Elwell after Mrs. Tully was found slumped from her home. Her car was splattered with blood, trail of blood led to her garage. Neighbors called police after hearing phone conversations and saw Mrs. Tully's auto hurriedly get out of the garage. A blood-stained tie pin was but police could not establish immediately if it was the murder weapon. Medical examiner Dr. Joseph E. Urtter said Mrs. Tully had suffered several wounds on the head from a sharp instrument. Police reported Elwell was given a medical discharge from the Marine Corps a year ago. He had been visiting his aunt for the past three days. In New York a police sleuth-clad woman detective shot and wounded a man as she and a male sleuth raved an upper Manhattan apartment and arrested eight dope suspects. The verdict, after more than six hours deliberation left some doubt whether the burly Rutland, Vt., soldier would escape death in the San Quentin Penitentiary gas chamber.

Federal Judge Louis Goodman said he was puzzled at the wording of the verdict. After the jury was excused he expressed doubt as to the validity of the recommendations.

Chief Member Of Tampa Vice Group Violently Slain

Victim Jimmy Lumia Was Described As "Enemy" Of Slain Gambler Vela

MIAMI, June 5—(AP)—An assistant New York district attorney skilled in interstate gambling cases was in Miami today to gather evidence about the Florida ties of Frank E. Vela and other reputed gamblers.

TAMPA, June 5—(AP)—Jimmy Lumia, a top ranking Tampa gambler, was assassinated today in a gangland slaying.

He was killed with one blast of shotgun buckshot in the Tampa waterfront area. His head was almost severed.

As city police and sheriff's deputies reconstructed the crime, it happened this way:

Lumia was parked on Adamo Drive near the oil company which he owned. Someone from a passing car got up from the rear seat and fired one blast at Lumia.

Deputy Sheriff M. G. Pingat, working on another case, happened to be near the scene when someone shouted:

"Jimmy Lumia's been shot."

Pingat saw Lumia's car being driven away. He stopped the car and found a small, thin man with a pistol inside. He was not identified.

The 40-year-old Lumia was a lone at the time of the slaying. Pingat explained the small man had jumped into Lumia's car after Lumia was shot and started driving it away.

The unidentified man had a pistol which he either was putting in or removing from a blood-stained paper bag, Pingat related. The unarmed officer knocked the man down.

Lumia was referred to in court last month as one of the chiefs of a Tampa gambling syndicate. The widow of Jimmy Vela, a murdered gambler-politician, testified Vela and Lumia were enemies.

George Touhy Is Chosen To Fill Personnel Post

George Touhy has been appointed to fill the position of Personnel and Public Relations Director of Florida Fashion, Inc., local mail order company, it was announced today by Michael Glison, operating executive of the firm.

Although the organization is less than four years old, its steady growth and progress have made it necessary to coordinate the personnel and public relations activities into one office, according to Mr. Glison, who pointed out that the firm started with a payroll that averaged 60 people in 1947 and that in 1949 his had increased to 280, with a payroll of over half a million dollars annually.

During the recent war, Mr. Touhy did personnel work as an officer in the Army, and prior to that time had served with General Motors in both Personnel and Public Relations. He has lived in Sanford since 1944, and has been closely identified with various local civic, promotional and business activities. Most recently, he has been working with the Bureau of the Census as Assistant Supervisor of the Orlando District.

STREAMS OF INCANDESCENT LAVA flow down the side of Hawaii's Mauna Loa, one of the world's most active volcanoes, as the famous crater erupts for the second time within 17 months. Two native fishing villages on the coast were completely engulfed by the white-hot mass of steaming lava which flowed down a 100-foot cliff into the ocean. ## President Truman Urges U. S. To Cut Industrial Accident Rate

WASHINGTON, June 5—(AP)—President Truman urged the nation today to cut sharply its industrial accident rate as its full resources can be used to meet the "threat of totalitarianism."

The President used the platform of world freedom in an address prepared for the group's opening session at the Labor Department auditorium, Mr. Truman said some people would have ant that we press forward with programs to increase our productive capacity and improve our standard of living. That is why it is more important than ever for us to prevent the loss of our resources to industrial accidents or wasted lives.

We cannot afford wasted lives. The President said that in 1949 the number killed in industrial accidents was 16,000 equal to the population of the City of Plymouth, Mass. 78,000 were permanently disabled, about the population of Durham, N. C., and 1,870,000 were injured, as many as the population of Oregon.

Sanford Resident Tells Of Beauties In Central Florida

Mrs. Raymond Wheeler, who recently established one of Sanford's newest business enterprises, the Victoria Salad Co., producer of a new salad in made-to-order quantities, said today that it was the talk of friends about the beauties and adventures of Central Florida that induced her family to become residents here.

Interested in this section after hearing the accounts of it from friends, Mrs. Wheeler left Sanford, N. Y. in September, visited Central Florida, and found it everything she had been told. On her return to Sanford, she persuaded her husband, an inspector at the Wilcox and Gibbs Sewing Machine Co. of Nyack, N. Y. to sell their home in Sanford and come to Florida. They moved to Sanford in February and in April purchased the former James Howland home at 911 Magnolia Avenue.

Mrs. Wheeler is now engaged in construction work at Plantation Estates. Mrs. Elsie Wheeler, their daughter, is employed by Fred Williams, engineer, and is a talented pianist who can be heard each Monday at 1:00 P. M. over Station WTRR. She is also serving as pianist for a small orchestra recently organized by Raymond Ball. In Sanford, Mrs. Wheeler was organist for the St. Elizabeth Memorial Church, and formerly studied in Massachusetts. (Continued on Page Two)

Segregation On R.R. Dining Cars Banned

Supreme Court Rules Present Law Violates U. S. Interstate Commerce Act

WASHINGTON, June 5—(AP)—The Supreme Court today ordered Texas to admit a Negro student to the all-white law school of the University of Texas.

Chief Justice Vinson delivered the unanimous decision. Herman Marion Sweatt, of Houston, demanded admission to the white law school in Austin. He has refused to attend a new law school for Negroes set up by the state in Houston. The high court said before the present session of congress ends he will move again to get action on the measure.

WASHINGTON, June 5—(AP)—The Supreme Court today ordered segregation of Negroes in railroad dining cars.

By an 8-0 vote the high tribunal declared such segregation violates a section of the Interstate Commerce Act which prohibits "any undue or unreasonable prejudice" to any person using the railroads.

Justice Burton wrote the court's opinion. Justice Clark took no part.

Those who voted with Burton are Chief Justice Vinson and Justices Black, Reed, Frankfurter, Douglas, Jackson and Minton.

The new dining car policy was approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission. When Henderson passed the bill to the Supreme Court, the Commission defended its action, but the Justice Department opposed it.

The Department insisted that "the action that separate but equal facilities constitute and statutory prohibitions against the discrimination is obsolete."

Profitable Habits Are Stressed By American General

DELAND, June 5—(AP)—A general who worked a hard day's work in the military service, today stressed the importance of the outstanding habits of a World War II graduate of the University of Delaware.

The 28 members of the graduating class and upwards of 1200 parents, friends and guests gathered in the gymnasium of the Delaware Military Academy.

Work—hard work, plus concentration on the job you are holding, will eventually spell success. That is, if you make work a habit," General Wauwatsch said.

Administration Leaders Block Every Other Security Avenue

WASHINGTON, June 5—(AP)—The administration told Congress today that arming Europe is the only road left open toward peace and security.

"The Soviets had roadblocked every other avenue," Secretary of Defense Johnson testified before the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees.

The program is a "vital immediate step" toward world peace, Secretary of State Acheson told the House Foreign Affairs Committee simultaneously.

Both cabinet officers testified in support of President Truman's call for a $1,222,500,000 authorization to bolster the defenses of countries opposing communism.

Their appearance at the Capitol came on the heels of a statement from Senator Byrd (D-W.Va.) who called for an "unprecedented national defense" for America itself and described the Foreign Arms Program as a "waste of money."

"The Soviets seek and think only in terms of force," Johnson said. "The danger of aggression will be avoided only by prompt development of North Atlantic treaty forces sufficient to make Soviet armed attack a risk too dangerous for it to run."

Johnson gave this outline of American plans for restoring the non-Communist nations:

Western Europe:

A relatively small European ground force equipped with modern weapons and backed by a tactical air force with America's Strategic Air Force ready to give immediate support.

Such a force, Johnson said, could contain the early phases of a Russian invasion in the opinion of the U. S. Chiefs of Staff.

"A 'hot' European force would be added, if European resistance were to continue," he said.
