Union Leaders Want Shorter Work Week

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A union leader said today a shorter work week might be the only alternative to counteract Russian Premier Khrushchev's warning that he will "bury" us, economically.

The best way to meet this threat, according to Umbaugh, would be to "take the fat out of government and give it back to the taxpayer." He emphasized that a government dedicated to a more productive America through individual incentives is "a must for survival."

Umbaugh and five other wealthy businessmen have formed an organization called Americans for Economic Freedom.

"What we need in the United States is the stabilization of the dollar," Umbaugh declared. "A return to economic freedom will stabilize the dollar."

Umbaugh said that 1969 is "the year of decision." With that in view, his organization plans to work for delegates to the Democratic and Republican national conventions who will support the principles of the AEF. He said he hopes to have 50 per cent of the delegates in favor of his plan.

Mickey Rooney, Jack Paar 'Mix' It Up During Television Show

NEW YORK (UPI)—What does Mickey Rooney really think of Jack Paar?

TV viewers didn't get a chance to find out Tuesday night as Rooney was invited by Paar to leave the show.

Before leaving, Rooney had told Paar he was a Paar fan, and he wasn't a Paar fan. The comments came as he leaned on a desk top, on Paar and sang songs.

Asked by Paar if he, Rooney, liked him, Rooney first said "Jack—first of all, I couldn't figure out why you are so popular till I was here tonight. Then I realized. . ."

At this point the band began to play and Rooney began to sing. "Love Is A Simple Thing" as the commercials began. Back again, Rooney was still singing—a different tune this time—and he then told Paar, "everyone stays up late to hear your show. I'm a fan, too. . . you have a wonderful show."

Later, Rooney changed his mind again. "I look at the show. I don't enjoy your show," he told Paar. "I don't enjoy it too much except I can't stay away from it."

"You enjoy it tonight?" asked Paar.

"Not necessarily," replied Rooney.

"Would you care to leave?" asked Paar.

Rooney nodded, pulled himself to his full height, shook hands with Paar and exited to his left.

Paar watched him go while the audience applauded and said, "It's a shame, he was a great talent."

Later, when asked by a man in the audience if Rooney was "really drunk," Paar said, "I don't think so. Just high strung." He added, "but I wouldn't light a match in here for weeks."

Here's One Kiss That Paid Off For Farm Lass

CHICAGO (UPI)—A farm girl kissed a stranger Monday and won $16 for her fiancé.

As a result of that kiss, Black Jewel, the grand champion steer of the International Live Stock Exposition, sold for $22,356 and its owner, Roy Maass, 21, of Remsen, Iowa, will plow a few extra acres next spring.

The kiss climaxed the bidding on Black Jewel, a 1,050-pound Aberdeen Angus, at the exposition auction. The top price of $22,356, or $21.60 a pound, was paid by the Howard Johnson restaurant chain.

The bidding had reached nearly $20 a pound when Ellard Pfelzer, representing the Johnson chain, pointed to Maas fiancé, Darlene Hansen, 21, and announced: "If this little girl will kiss me I'll raise it a dollar."

Darlene, a pretty, suburban-haired farm girl obliged happily, and the bidding continued until Black Jewel was knocked down to Pfelzer at $21 a pound. But Pfelzer still had some unused generosity.

"In honor of the 80th anniversary of the exhibition and for kissing this little girl, I'm going to pay $21.60 for this fine animal," he said.

While Roy Maass grinned and the farm crowd cheered, Darlene once again kissed Pfelzer and the price for Black Jewel jumped $618.

The $22,356 represents a sizable net egg for the young Iowa couple, who plan to be married next spring.

Churches Stress Worldwide Bible Reading Program

An invitation to join the "world's largest Bible reading class" has been issued through many local churches. The 16th annual World Wide Bible Reading program is sponsored by the American Bible Society encouraging Christians across the globe to join in a unified campaign of Bible Reading. Lists of Scripture selections are distributed through local congregations suggesting Bible portions to be read each day between Thanksgiving and New Year's Day. Over 60 million copies of these lists, which are printed in book form, have been distributed over the world. One of the primary values of this inspirational effort is that it introduces to Bible thousands every year who never before have read it. Begun in 1943 by the request of an unknown marine on Guadalcanal for a Bible-reading fellowship with his family in this country, the worldwide program has been effective in joining Christians of various creeds, nationalities, and races in reading the same Bible texts each day. This program is sponsored by a distinguished committee of laymen, headed by President Eisenhower. The Bible reading selections each day will be announced over radio and television stations on many air.

Hungarians Claim Espionage Arrests

VIENNA, Austria (UPI) — A top Hungarian communist official, in a speech following up Nikita Khrushchev's defense of the use of Soviet troops against freedom fighters, claimed today that members of "armed espionage groups" have been arrested recently on Hungarian soil. Ministers of the Interior Bela Bajnai said the arrests, made near the Austrian border, represented proof that "several influential circles in the United States, West Germany and Austria" have not stopped "interfering in Hungary's internal affairs."

All parade participants are urged to be at the parade's starting point at First St. and Sanford Ave. by 3:15 p. m. so officials can start lining up floats and marching units. ## 260 Die In Flood After Dam Breaks

PREJUS, France (UPI) — The 200-foot high Malpasat dam burst Wednesday night with a noise like the crack of doom and sent a 25-foot wall of water onto this sleeping Riviera town, killing at least 260 persons. The official death toll was announced by rescue headquarters of the regional prefect in Marseilles. Additional scores of villagers were feared swept to their death when 45 million tons of water cascaded through the 10-mile long Reyran River Valley. Prejus, founded by Julius Caesar and a target of the Allied invasion of the Mediterranean coast of France in August, 1944, escaped total destruction because a slight rise of ground divided the wall of water into twin torrents that roared through the town's edges. But the town of 14,000 was a scene of devastation, stunned and flooded, some of its streets running in rivers six feet deep. A French army rescue team said the scene during the night was blood chilling with screams and cries for help coming from the darkness.

The morgue was a scene of chaos. Bodies of men, women, children, most of them naked, their clothes stripped off by the fast moving waters, lay side by side in the morgue, its chapel and neighboring buildings taken over as morgue annexes.

Long lines of anxious relatives, some sobbing, some moaning, moved through the morgues, looking for their kin and found them dead.

Survivors told of seeing neighbors and even members of their own families swept from rooftops where they had clambered in an effort to escape. One rescue worker, a teacher, found several of her pupils half buried in the mud, all dead.

The rushing waters carried away the town's new power station, plunging it into a darkness lighted only by the faint starlight that followed five days of torrential rains and gales.

The night of fear and sudden death was worst in the farmhouses which dot the 10 miles of valley between Prejus and the dam, along a highway where trucks and cars were swept away like matchsticks. A moving passenger train was derailed as it sped along the Riviera from Marseilles to Nice but all passengers were accounted for although two cars rolled into the water.

Howell Park Shop Area Is Approved

Plans for a new shopping center in the Heftler Home area at Howell Park were approved last night at a meeting of the county zoning board.

The board agreed to zone the 37-acre tract as C-1 commercial. Final approval is expected to come before the board of county commissioners at their next meeting.

The application for a C-2 commercial zone in the Howell Park subdivision area was refused in an earlier hearing by the zoning board after some Lake Howell residents complained that there would not be a sufficient buffer zone between the proposed shopping center and their lakefront property. In other action, an industrial area for a proposed "light industry" site was okayed by the board. The 40-acre tract is owned by Seminole Ranches, which hopes to develop the site in the very near future. Zoning Director Robert Brown reported.

The area is located near SR 419 northwest of Chuluota.

Stations Ordered By FCC To List Program Finances

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Communications Commission took an unprecedented step today aimed at cracking down on payola and deceptive advertising practices on radio and television.

It ordered every radio and television station in the country to submit within 30 days complete information on the financing of its programs.

The request for the information was contained in a letter sent to all of the 5,236 radio and television stations licensed by the FCC. The action clearly stemmed from the recent disclosures of TV quiz show scandals and a coming investigation of payola, the practice of paying disc jockeys to play records on the air.

Payola or any other type of hidden commercial practice is illegal under the Communications Act of 1934 which created the FCC to police the broadcasting industry. Anyone found guilty of breaking this law could face a maximum penalty of $10,000 or one year in prison or both.

FCC members have said that violation also could lead to loss of license by stations which sanction payola or so-called "sneak" commercial practices.

The radio and TV stations were given until Jan. 4, 1960 to supply information on the program financing practices.

The FCC asked them to report on what internal controls and procedures you have established to provide you with information concerning the remuneration, other than that paid by you, that has been or may be received by individuals in connection with participation in the preparation and presentation of programs broadcast by your station.

Another government agency, the Federal Trade Commission has launched its own inquiry into disc jockey payola practices. Its crack-down would be aimed at record companies.

FTC Chairman Earl W. Kinter also warned broadcasters to come up with an industry "plan without loopholes" to curb misleading ads or the FTC will step in to "fully discharge its duties" by instituting enforcement actions.

Another government agency, the Federal Trade Commission has launched its own inquiry into disc jockey payola practices. Its crack-down would be aimed at record companies.

Thank You, Firemen

Fire fighting is not an easy job but often is a thankless task. Once in awhile, though, the men who do their best to save property and people from fires get a "thank you."

Mrs. Robert Cully, whose house at 1200 Magnolia Ave. was saved from damage Sunday night when an adjoining apartment was burned, called to urge a public acknowledgment of the efficient work of the fire department.

"If it weren't for the work of Chief Cleveland and his firemen, we wouldn't have a roof over our heads today," Mrs. Cully said.

She said the fire fighters worked quickly and bravely to confine the blaze to the apartment and prevented it from spreading into the main house.

And that was the night the fire department had three other calls, too. So, for Mrs. Cully, and others, thanks firemen.

Trade At Home

The Chamber of Commerce's monthly bulletin notes that Chester Muse, new chairman of the Retail Merchants Division, is pushing the effort to promote "trade at home."

The bulletin points out that income in Seminole County is at an all-time high, but that retail sales have not increased in proportion to the rise in buying power.

The Herald has steadily plugged for the trade at home idea—and this includes all the shopping areas in the county, in which the merchants make their living and pay their taxes.

If anybody has any good ideas how to help Mr. Muse and the merchants committee promote increased buying here at home, speak up.

Navy Day Dec. 12

The third annual Navy Appreciation Day will be held Dec. 12 under sponsorship of the Chamber of Commerce, which enlists the aid of the Jaycees also.

Outstanding works and events of the men of the Naval Air Station frequently are acknowledged in various ways, but this day on which the whole community pays tribute to the Navy is the most important expression of neighborliness.

The Chamber of Commerce hopes to do the town proud when it puts on the big event at Ft. Mellon Park. It means that the community does not stop at the Air Station gate for the personnel who are stationed there.

Toothbrush Class An Outside Job

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (UPI) — When more than 100 school children here were taught to brush their cheeks with a toothbrush, it was all in the interests of science.

The Eastman Dental Dispensary conducted a research project to test a new method of teaching children to brush their teeth in the manner recommended by the American Dental Association.

A hygienist conducted 20-minute toothbrushing classes once a week for three weeks with a group of first and second graders. She taught the proper strokes and wrist movements — down on the upper teeth, up on the lower teeth — by using a toothbrush on the outside rather than the inside of her mouth. The children followed suit, so she could see if they got the idea.

 WASHINGTON — The place where people exercise greater hindsight than they do in the political arena is at the racetrack.

And here is a horrendous example based on the training at Laurel, Md., of the eighth Washington, D. C. International race.

What this amateur assayer of equine qualities knows about racehorses and horseracing could be easily inscribed with a fat pen on the head of a hoholai. The only previous acquaintance with horses had been with the dark political variety.

But somebody had a free pass, and the next thing you know I was in the lumpy, glass-enclosed penthouse-like box of John Schapiro, track president. He was entertaining a big international elite, including the owners of the 12 horses.

This was the jackpot. Race-track gold. Even though I knew nothing about picking winners by looking at horses' teeth, I'd go one better and pick out the winners by looking into the owners' eyes. The look of confidence would tell.

I mingled among 'em. I overheard a portly fellow talking in Russian. That was Yevgeny Dolmatov, who owned Garner and Flang, the Soviet's finest racehorses.

Dolmatov leaned over and winked at the man at his side and murmured: "Olegien Harashaw." I knew the translation — "very good." So this was his tip! I edged downstairs through the barrier of blueboots and shoved my bills at the man behind the cage. (The odds were so high on the Red nags that one bet covered both the horses.)

When I got back, several people were surrounding Mrs. Noel Simpson, of Auckland, New Zealand, wife of the owner of Up and Coming. Her eyes lighted up as she said that Up and Coming should be up and going. I made another trip to the "win" window.

This atmosphere of owners' confidence kept growing with each new owner I met until I had placed bets on the nose of more than a half-dozen sore winners.

Only one gentleman plainly displayed hesitation about his entry. That was Capt. Harry F. Guggenheim of New York, former Ambassador to Cuba. His open lack of confidence saved me from a bet on his colt.

The horses, finally, stood twanging at the starting gate. The flags of nine nations fluttered stiffly in the breeze.

And like a bolt out of the blue, a tall brunette form went racing by, skipping down the stairs in front of me, shouting in a whisper to no one in particular: "I haff a hot tee!" She skittered to the "place" window and put her money on France's Sun. I followed suit.

The unwitting tipster was Carlota Savarese, Panamanian wife of a Washington, D. C., doctor.

And then the horses were off. I found myself urging them on. I had so many bets going that all I could yell was, "Come on, anybody!"

I meant anybody but that horse owned by Capt. Guggenheim, which I knew wouldn't win from the look in the owner's eye.

The horse was Hald Eagle. It won.

Mrs. Savarese's tip for second place paid off. My $2 won $8.00. I learned later where she got her tip — from the wife of somebody who got K from a friend of the jockey.

Washington See Saw

By WIN PENDELTON
 The biggest objection we see in President Eisenhower's 20-day trip around the world is the appearance it creates of copying Mr. Khrushchev. The whole idea of the trip appears as though it were an afterthought.

It looks to us like somebody rushed in to see the President one morning with a "bright idea." The arguments for the trip may have sounded like this: "Mr. K has been covering a lot of ground and making a lot of friends and maybe we better get busy doing the same thing before it's too late."

The big question is: Is this getting to be an American habit? Rushing around trying to catch up with everything that Soviet Russia does instead of having a few ideas of our own.

This seems to be the pattern today. We began a submarine-building program five years after Russia has completed the world's greatest submarine fleet. We rush like mad to throw a satellite at the moon just because Russia did it.

And now our President takes off on a good old "selling" trip around the world in an effort to counteract Mr. Khrushchev's travels.

No one has yet said what President Eisenhower plans to accomplish. Certainly, he cannot hope to contribute much to the solution of the Cuban problem by spending an afternoon with Mr. Nehru or do the United States much good by merely having lunch with Franco in Spain. About all he will have time for on any of these "pop" trips is to shake hands with his host and promise to send him more American dollars.

We think it is time for America to quit copying somebody else and to recapture the lead in dealing with other nations. The way we copy cat other countries today is a far cry from the American tradition of 1823 when President Monroe told the world to keep out of our back yard.

We need a return to the positive approach of President Monroe. Wouldn't we be better off if we told the world what we stand for — then stick to it?

Instead of flitting around the world trying to "out Khrushchev," Mr. K, we think the President's time would be spent better if he stays at home and works on a strong, firm and definite policy for strengthening our friendships in the Western Hemisphere.

Isn't the Cuban situation a perfect example of how our negative foreign policy can get out of hand? This is a clear case of "aloppy" day-to-day, catch-as-catch-can foreign relations.

Are we going to continue to sit by and let some revolutionary upstart push us around? Or are we going to behave like the great nation we are — and tell the wild-eyed Cuban to behave himself?

This Cuban mess certainly was no surprise. We had plenty of warning. The State Department should have paid more attention to the "pushing around" that Vice-President Nixon received in Venezuela.

What to do about it? Milton Eisenhower, the President's own brother, has made several trips to Latin America. His famous "Latin-American Report" is still gathering dust on the President's desk.

There is no mystery about the unrest and bad feeling against the United States in Latin America and it will take positive action to overcome it.

We think the important job is right here in the Western Hemisphere rebuilding the famous good-neighbor policy of Cordell Hull — and not tramping around the world with no real plan in mind.

Hope For Hearing

DENVER (UPI) — At least 80 per cent of the hearing impairments of pre-school age children "can be cured or arrested" by medical care if detected early enough, according to hearing specialists. Routine screenings of 3,112 three- and four-year-olds in Denver in the past two years led to the discovery of 126 children with hearing losses. About 80 per cent had problems of a conductive nature, which usually respond to medical treatment.

Tax 'Conscience' Fund Keeps Growing

By FRANK ELFAZER
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — It begins to look like one of our more dependable taxpayers for the past several years has been a Seattle resident who just possibly never filed a return.

Each week he or she stuffs $7 or so in an envelope and drops it in the mail to "the collector of Internal Revenue, Washington D. C."

These anonymous offerings have totaled $712 since somebody noticed their similarity and recurrence and started a tally. The serial number of each $5 of $1 bill has been recorded and the money added to the government's conscience fund.

I don't know whether there has been a national outbreak of honesty or what. But conscience money has been raining down on the Treasury at a rate of $700 or $800 per day.

President Eisenhower said he hoped to pick up $45,000 in conscience payments in fiscal 1959. It turns out he took in $283,473.16. The previous year's take was only $48,014.76.

Most tax dodgers find it possible to ease their consciences with payments of less than $4,000, the amount received from an anonymous Chicagoan last week. Tax agents here say "his downright amazing how many anonymous taxpayers figure their debts at an even $10."

The biggest anonymous payment on record was $30,000, in 1916.

Uncle Sam got his first recorded conscience payment in 1811. With the exception of 1848, something has been dropped into the kitty every year since. In 1827 the contributions came to $4. The big year to date was 1950, when the anonymous take was $370,285.47. The total received through last June 30 was $2,356,678.

Somehow, a lot of the unassigned mailings are postmarked at quiet hours like 2 a. m. Many are addressed merely to "Conscience Department, Washington, D. C."

One regular contributor recently has been a Tampa fellow who addresses $10 bills every month or so to the "conscience" fund. Fortunately the postmaster takes a broad view on matters of spelling. He sends these promptly to the Internal Revenue Service.

It's not only tax matters that get people's consciences to hurting. A government worker in Boston enclosed $25 with a nice letter explaining that he had used government stations for his private correspondence, and he wanted to settle the debt. His letter was on government stationery, of course.

Sentimental JP Keeps Souvenirs

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (UPI) — Robert W. Kyger is a sentimental justice of the peace who collects wedding ring boxes as mementos of the couples he has married.

It's an unusual collection, he admitted, but no more unusual than many of the 500 weddings he has performed during the past 20 years.

At least half were unusual simply because Kyger used to conduct the ceremonies in his funeral parlor. During the past 10 years, however, they have taken place in the more traditional setting of his home or garden.

"I can tell if they need the money," he said. "I take it from the husband and hand it back to the bride. She knows what to do with it."

Many years ago, Kyger started collecting the wedding ring boxes that the couples left behind. The assortment now includes jeweler's labels from all parts of the nation and a few from Mexico.

Vegetable Crop Damage Reported

The county's vegetable industry suffered medium to heavy damage during this week's cold wave. County Agent Cecil Tucker, said today.

Tucker reported heavy damage to the area's egg plant and pepper industry, where in many cases ice formed on the tender crop plants.

Tucker said the celery and cabbage damage was medium, with only a few spotted areas hurt.

Tucker said also that the citrus industry escaped with only slight damage during the blistering cold snap that moved across the county during the past weekend and Monday.

Although no frost was reported, temperatures dipped as low as 32 degrees in some areas of the county Monday.

Although the total number of male workers on farms in England and Wales declined by 3,600 in the past year, there has been an increase of 2,800 in the number of those under 1

Birth Control Issue Seen As Vote Factor

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower may have dimmed the religious issue as a force in the 1960 presidential campaign but there is no sign that he has pushed it out of sight.

The President appeared to be trying to knock religion out of next year's campaign with his Wednesday news conference comment that the U. S. government has no business providing birth control help to countries with overpopulation problems.

Catholic clergymen applauded his statement and some Protestant leaders objected.

Issue Stirred Up By Population 'Explosions'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—If you read at average speed, 18 children will be born in the world during the time it takes you to read this sentence.

Nine people have died during the same interval of time. So the world's population showed a net growth of nine.

Every 24 hours, the total grows by 135,000. Each year, it increases by about 50 million — the equivalent of adding an entire nation the size of France.

This is the "population explosion" that has plagued religious and political leaders into controversy over the need for global birth control measures.

The basic facts of population growth are not in dispute. In recent years, the introduction of modern health measures has caused a sharp drop in death rates, particularly in underdeveloped countries. But birth rates generally have remained at traditional high levels.

The result has been a dramatic acceleration in the rate at which the human race is multiplying. Before World War II, total population growth never exceeded 1 per cent a year. Today the growth rate is about 1.7 per cent world wide, and more than 3 per cent in some parts of Asia and Africa.

At this rate, the population of the earth will increase from the present 2,900,000,000 to about 4,000,000,000 by 1980, and to more than 6,000,000,000 by the end of the century.

If the facts are not in dispute, their implications are. An increasingly serious debate, which already has involved President Eisenhower, Protestant and Catholic religious leaders and nearly all candidates for the 1960 presidential nominations, centers around three questions.

The first is: How serious is the problem of population pressure? The Catholic Bishops of the United States, in a formal statement last week, asserted that "pessimistic population predictions" have greatly exaggerated the danger. They expressed confidence that "the thus far hidden reservoirs of science and of the earth" can be tapped to provide adequately for a growing world population. Some scientists support this view.

On the other hand, many authorities agree with Robert C. Coia, president of the Population Reference Bureau, who says that present rates of population growth are "as ominous a threat to mankind as the H-bomb."

French, Algeria Talks Are Urged

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UPI)—Opposition grew today to a 21-nation Afro-Asian resolution calling on France to hold diplomatic talks with the Algerian rebels in an effort to end the five-year-old war in the French African territory.

France could count on both Britain and the United States for support in the four-day-old Algerian debate and it appeared certain the Latin American countries would fall in behind them.

The resolution is before the Assembly's main political committee Wednesday, both the United States and British appealed to the committee to leave the question to the French and Algerians, without passing a resolution of any kind.

The Afro-Asian resolution, introduced Wednesday by Burma, called for French-Algerian talks on a cease-fire and self-determination for Algeria.

Qualified diplomatic sources predicted today the measure would fail to gain approval in the Assembly. Afro-Asian acceptance of compromise amendments was seen as the best hope of avoiding an Assembly defeat, however, and there was talk of several such amendments.

Southern States That Backed Ike To Get Reward

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Five southern states which went for Eisenhower in 1956 will get their reward at the Republican national convention in Chicago next summer. The five states—Florida, Louisiana, Tennessee, Virginia and Texas — will get a bonus for supporting their normally Democratic appetites.

Under the formula for selecting delegates to the national convention each state which voted for Eisenhower will get an additional six delegate votes.

However, only Louisiana will get substantial benefit from the new delegate lineup. The Bayou State picked up six delegates for a total of 26, compared to 20 in 1956. Alabama, which ad 21 in 1956, will get 22 next year and Georgia has been raised from 23 to 24.

Two old Confederacy states will lose delegates by next summer. Mississippi, which had 15, has been reduced to 12. South Carolina, which ad 16 in 1956, is "ow down to 13.

The rest of the southern states retained the same delegate strength. Arkansas has 16, Florida 26, North Carolina 28, Tennessee 28, Virginia 30, and Texas 54.

The 11 southern states will have 29 delegates votes out of a total of 1,331. In 1956, the figures were 277 southern delegates out of 1,323.

SF Airport Gets New Traffic Net

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A new air traffic control system — the first of its kind in the nation — has been installed at San Francisco International Airport. The system was designed by the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. to cope with the problems of increased air traffic.

Chief Controller E. P. Sullivan explained that until recently radar and visual traffic observers were housed in the same room, making communication between them easy.

But then, the controller points were spread out and a new radar room was installed on another floor of the tower. The telephone company system, which required the installation of 36,000 wire connections, is a combination of the company's latest developments with features adapted from the communications systems of the Federal Aviation Agency, the Air Force and the Navy.

It provides instant communication between controllers in the tower cab and the radar room; instant contact between the San Francisco terminal tower and other control facilities in the Bay Area.

Dialogue Proves Faulty On Ford TV Special Show

By FRANK DANEG
NEW YORK (UPI)—A TV special called "Something Special" wasn't.

The NBC-TV colporteur, with Red Buttons, Jeanne Carson and Jack Carson, trucked across the Ford Starline hour Tuesday night.

Buttons played a shy, single, 27-year-old country boy with grey hair who was in the big city looking for a nice, honest girl whose driver's license would verify her age. Miss Carson portrayed a shy, red-haired English girl in the big city. She had no driver's license and lied about her age, but otherwise seemed right for Buttons.

Jack Carson was the manager of a matrimonial bureau that brought Miss Carson and her beau, Buttons, together. Carson, Jack, had black hair.

The play tried very hard to be tender. It resembled the kind of teleplay I imagine a younger Paddy Chayefsky might have written for the U.S. Steel Hour while he was learning his craft.

The story was supposed to be an intimate one about two lonely, shy people who meet, date, quarrel — over her age — and finally get back together again. The moral, as I caught it in the final moments, was uttered by Buttons when he told Miss Carson, "don't try to make everything perfect." Earlier, Jack Carson set the stage for Buttons' change-of-heart when he lectured Red on the folly of seeing a platinum-coated, glamorous Hollywood-style romance. "Applesauce!" he shouted, adding the only line in the play with some bite in it: "Love. That one word louses up my whole business."

In a play of this sort, the dialogue must delve, pierce, explore and expose these lonely drives of its characters. The dialogue must shade in the backgrounds in order to lock up our interest and sympathy. In this, the "Something Special" dialogue failed.

For example, Buttons kept harping about honesty. His girl, he kept saying, would have to be honest above all. Why this Diogenesian phobia? It was never explained. Sure, bachelors often cling to outlandish reasons for staying single, but Buttons' behavior was too much on the kooky side. He kept pestering poor little Jeanne Carson for her right age and her driver's license to prove it. I guess he never heard of chivalry or birth certificates.

Miss Carson brought too much charm, prettiness and warmth to her role to be convincing as a lonely heart. Jack Carson threw me off by starting out as though he was impersonating a shyster. As usual, he finished up with a strong display of integrity. Buttons' performance was more leathargic than lonely because of the shallow dialogue and a lack of substantive action. He could only dig in during a brief encounter with a dance hall girl and, later, as he blurted out his love for Miss Carson.

I felt sorry for Red and Jeanne, but not for the reasons that Sol Saks, the author of the play, had in mind.

Mickey Rooney did the Brendan Behan bit on Jack Paar's show in Hollywood Tuesday night — but in a good-natured, incoherent fashion. After inviting Rooney to leave, Paar told his NBC-TV audience, "it's a shame. He was a great talent."

The Channel Swim: "Dr. Tom Dooley Tells His Story" pre-empted ABC-TV's Keep Talking next Tuesday. The American doctor, whose work in Laos is legendary, will discuss his future plans. For the third consecutive year, Red Skelton will offer his adaptation of O. Henry's classic, "The Cop and The Anthem," on his CBS TV show Tuesday, Dec. 22. Allen Jenkins will be featured in the sketch. Ted Mills, producer of the famous Chicago-originating "Garroway At Large" shows, will be reunited with Garroway on NBC-TV's Jan. 1 Bell Telephone special. Mills will produce; Garroway will host. "The Word of Carl Sandburg," the Bette Davis, Gary Merrill vehicle now touring, may head for TV as a special next year. CBS-TV's Death Playhouse for Christmas Day is presenting members of the Death workshop in musical and comedy skits. The newcomers will be aided by their mentors, Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz.

Airman's Death Being Studied

PANAMA CITY (UPI) — The Bay County sheriff's office mailed a report today to the governor on the controversial death of a Negro airman.

Gov. LeRoy Collins asked for the report after the state NAACP said the death of Robert L. Humphrey of Tyndall Air Force Base might have resulted from foul play rather than suicide.

The sheriff's office said Humphrey shot himself to death after being stopped for speeding.

Air Force investigators were satisfied with the ruling as was P. L. Plover, president of the local NAACP branch. But the state NAACP said there was reason to believe Humphrey did not take his own life.

Wednesday, the Highway Patrol office here sent to the governor's office a report concerning the alleged beating of a Negro, Frank Miller had charged the Negro was blackjacked by a state trooper.

NEW INVENTION that will save the Navy money is being demonstrated by C. W. Goldstein, ADC, left, and W. D. Eslick, AD2, right, to Ledr H. Goblen, VAH-5 maintenance officer. The new tool will be used to tie down aircraft and to clean out padeye holes on the aircraft parking ramp.

Governors To Host Red Officials

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (UPI) — The National Governors' Conference will play host next year to 14 Russian government leaders who plan to tour the United States on a good will visit.

Delaware Gov. J. Caleb Boggs, chairman of the conference's executive committee, said Wednesday night his group had received "informal information" that the Russians had accepted an invitation extended last August.

He said the Russians are expected to arrive in late January or early February. The group will be composed of members of the Council of Ministers of the 14 Russian republics which Boggs said was "the closest thing to our governors that Russia has."

Nine American governors toured the Soviet Union for three weeks last summer.

Governors from 16 states attended special meetings here Wednesday of the conference's executive committee and the committee on roads and highway safety. Many stayed on for a series of meetings today sponsored by the Council of State Governments.

The executive committee in other action suggested that the conference appoint members to confer with President Eisenhower and congressional leaders to find some way of preventing a possible billion-dollar cut in federal allocations to states to finance interstate highway construction.

The committee also reported that its recommendation to send a delegation to Latin-America on a tour similar to the Russian visit was temporarily postponed because of a lack of funds.

The executive committee voted to reconvene in Las Vegas, Nev., Feb. 21-22.

In addition to Boggs, other executive committee members attending were Govs. Nelson A. Rockefeller, New York; J. Lindsay Almond, Virginia; James T. Blair Jr., Missouri and Grant Sawyer, Nevada.

Airman's Death Being Studied

PANAMA CITY (UPI) — The Bay County sheriff's office mailed a report today to the governor on the controversial death of a Negro airman.

Gov. LeRoy Collins asked for the report after the state NAACP said the death of Robert L. Humphrey of Tyndall Air Force Base might have resulted from foul play rather than suicide.

The sheriff's office said Humphrey shot himself to death after being stopped for speeding.

Air Force investigators were satisfied with the ruling as was P. L. Plover, president of the local NAACP branch. But the state NAACP said there was reason to believe Humphrey did not take his own life.

Wednesday, the Highway Patrol office here sent to the governor's office a report concerning the alleged beating of a Negro, Frank Miller had charged the Negro was blackjacked by a state trooper.

Make Your Own Doughnuts From The New French Recipe

MYRTIE WILSON
Home Demonstration Agent

In Paris after the theatre everyone goes to Les Halles, an old and famous produce market in the center of the city, to eat the equally famous French onion soup. In New Orleans, they do the same thing. They go to the French Market in the old French Quarter of the city. They go not for onion soup but for cafe au lait and Creole Croquignoles.

Croquignoles are delectably puffy doughnuts cut into triangles or rectangles instead of the usual circles. Although there is no hole in the center, some rectangular Croquignoles are given three small cuts, somewhat similar to the cuts in French bread. At the French Market the Croquignoles are fried to order, and served piping hot dusted with confectioners' sugar. Shakers of sugar are available and many people shake extra sugar onto their plates and dunk the doughnuts into it.

The recipe for Croquignoles given here was developed from an old Creole recipe by Corn Products Company who entertained the Home Demonstration agents during their annual meeting held this year in New Orleans. According to Corn Products' the word Croquignole is a Creole word which evolved from Canadian French word Croquecigne meaning a crisp fried cake.

CROQUIGNOLES
(French Market Doughnuts)
1/2 cup warm water
2 tablespoons corn oil
1/3 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup evaporated milk
1 package active dry yeast or 1 cake compressed yeast
1/2 cup warm, not hot, water
4 cups sifted flour, about 2 eggs, beaten
Corn oil for frying

In a large mixing bowl combine water, corn oil, sugar, salt and evaporated milk. Sprinkle dry yeast into 1/2 cup warm, not hot, water (or cool water to lukewarm) and crumble in compressed yeast. Stir until dissolved. Add to corn oil-milk mixture. Stir in flour and eggs alternately, beating hard and brisk.

If necessary add more flour to make a soft dough. Turn dough out on a lightly floured board and knead dough lightly for about 5 minutes or until smooth and elastic. Place dough into an oiled bowl; cover with a cloth and let rise in a warm place about 1 1/2 hours.

The dough will not be doubled. Punch down, turn out on lightly floured board. Divide dough in half. Keep unused portion of dough covered. Roll all the dough at a time into a rectangle about 1/2 inch thick. Cut in small triangles or rectangles about 1 1/2 inch by 1 inch. Stretch with fingers until double in size and thin. Pieces should be slightly thinner in center.

Fill a sturdy flat bottomed saucepan or fry kettle one-third full of corn oil. Use 1 quart oil in a 3-quart pan. Heat to 350 degrees F. Add doughnuts slowly when correct temperature is reached. Fry only one layer a time. Turn to cook and brown all sides evenly, about 2 to 4 minutes. Drain on absorbent paper. Dust with confectioners' sugar. Serve hot. Makes 4 dozen.

Florida University Officials Open Search For New Coach

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (UPI)—The University of Florida began seeking a replacement today for football coach Bob Woodruff whose forced resignation Wednesday brought stormy reaction.

J. J. Daniel, chairman of the State Board of Control, said selection of Woodruff's successor would be left up to the university. Some of the names already mentioned as possible candidates are Frank Broyles, whose Arkansas team plays in the Gator Bowl; Tom Nugent of Maryland, a former Florida State University coach; Florida assistant coach Fuldberg; ex-Navy coach Eddie Erdelatz; Iowa Coach Forest Eshbach; and Georgia Tech backfield coach Charlie Tate.

Tate put himself formally on record for the post here Wednesday. He said "I wired Florida President J. Wayne Reitz and told him I would appreciate being granted an interview."

Tate, 40, said Georgia Tech Coach Bobby Dodd assured him of recommendation for the Florida post.

Tate was freshman coach at Florida in 1956. He moved to Georgia Tech the following season and was promoted to backfield coach this year.

There had been numerous reports this week that Woodruff's last year as head football coach and athletic director at the university here. But the formal resignation was a surprise to most, including Florida players and coaches.

"We don't like it a little bit," said end Dave Hudson, captain of the team and spokesman for the players. "It would be hard to find a more sincere and fair-minded man than Coach Woodruff."

One assistant coach, who asked his name be withheld, said losing Woodruff would affect the school's recruiting program. Southeastern Conference recruiting opens Monday, and he pointed out "the boys might wait until they see who the new coach is before signing up."

Coach Andy Gustafson of the University of Miami said he was "terribly sorry" to learn of Woodruff's leaving. He called the Gator coach "one of the finest, soundest football coaches in the country and also one of the men of integrity in this game of football."

Woodruff said his resignation was asked by President J. Wayne Reitz after a hectic season in which the 43-year-old coach found himself hanged, buried and drowned in effort and criticized by sports writers across the state. The Gators piled up a 5-4-1 record.

Schooling Races Slated Soon At Area Dog Track

Many of the finest greyhounds in America will start their preliminary tests Tuesday night at the Sanford - Orlando Kennel Club as schooling gets underway in preparation for the track's opening Dec. 19.

Greyhound entries represent the strongest array of racing kennels ever assembled here with the list totaling 29. Veteran racing secretary, R. C. "Patsy" Williamson estimates that the roster of racing dogs will number close to 750.

Many of last season's stars will be back and there will be numerous ace newcomers to provide the toughest kind of thrill competition. The most talked about outfit among the newcomers is Oswald Brothers' Kennel which held the top spot at both the Taunton and Raynham, Mass. tracks in recent weeks. Among Oswald entries are no less than nine speedsters boast in national A ratings.

Other talented newcomers include Frank Lane, leading kennel at Pensacola; H. Van Buskirk, one of the leaders at Pueblo; Pat Reed, who finished close to the top at Caliente; Karl Miles, top kennel at Elkhart; Doug Spratt, a stand-out at SODRAC and Arthur Bowser, Daniel Mirano, Arch De Geer and Joseph Picarollo.

Though Bowser is a newcomer familiar to fans in this area as they were raced locally last season by Jack Herold. They include such top performers as Rocky Mac Duff, Rocky Mac Ginty, Rocky Mac Coy, Roxanna Mink and Saddle Mark.

Deep Rock Kennels raced here previously, but was not enrolled last season. Two of its entries are Dependable and Fish Rock, who finished in that order in the Colorado Springs puppy stakes.

Among the favorites returning from last year are W. F. Swafford, leading money-winner for the past two years; Paul Boone, Mike Castellani, P. C. Collier, R. S. Collins, Keith Dillon, James Farley, J. R. Githens, Darby Henry, Larry Hughes, Mrs. M. V. Kirkland Jr., Orville Moses, Race Street Kennel, Charles Reinhardt, Paul Sutherland and Carl Tracy.

Race Street Kennel is a new name for the same outfit that raced here last season as the Hobby Hour Ranch Kennel.

But in other ways the pre-season rankings are vastly different from the final rankings of last season. Only four of the final "top 10" of last year stay in the elite group—Cincinnati, Kentucky, and North Carolina, plus Kansas State which was ranked No. 1, but now drops to 10th with the loss of All-American Bob Boozer through graduation.

Completing the top 10 in the pre-season ratings were Ohio State, Indiana, Louisville, St. Joseph's (Pa.), and Kansas State.

The "second 10" included, in order, Utah, Bradley, St. John's, St. Louis, Kansas, Southern California, Providence, North Carolina State, New York U., and Villanova.

The 1959-60 racing season will extend 92 days, including one day for the Scholarship Fund and one for Charity Night. Dates are December 19 through April 4. Starting Tuesday, schooling will continue nightly, except Sunday, through Wednesday, Dec. 16. The public is invited to watch these contests.

Cinci Favored For Collegiate Top Cage Honors

NEW YORK (UPI)—Oscar Robertson's bid for a record third straight scoring championship will lead the University of Cincinnati to the 1959-60 national collegiate basketball championship, the United Press International Board of Coaches forecast today.

The board, composed of 35 famous coaches throughout the country, named "The Big O" and his mates the No. 1 team in the country in the annual pre-season ratings released today.

California, Coach Pete Newell's defense-conscious crew which won the NCAA tournament last spring, was ranked second behind Cincinnati, narrowly losing out to always powerful Kentucky for the runner-up spot. Completing the top five were West Virginia, last year's eastern NCAA champion built around All-American Jerry West, and North Carolina.

The selections pointed the national spotlight squarely on Robertson, who last season averaged 32.8 points per game in winning the national scoring crown for the second straight time. No player ever has won the major-college title three times and a number of other scoring marks are within Robertson's range.

The top four in the pre-season ratings include three of the four semifinalists in last spring's NCAA tournament. California defeated Cincinnati, 64-58, for the western crown, and then beat West Virginia, 71-70, for the national title.

But in other ways the pre-season rankings are vastly different from the final rankings of last season. Only four of the final "top 10" of last year stay in the elite group—Cincinnati, Kentucky, and North Carolina, plus Kansas State which was ranked No. 1, but now drops to 10th with the loss of All-American Bob Boozer through graduation.

Completing the top 10 in the pre-season ratings were Ohio State, Indiana, Louisville, St. Joseph's (Pa.), and Kansas State.

Covington Covers Sports

By JERRY COVINGTON

Where do the thousands of Sanford football fans go when basketball begins? This is a question that Seminole High coaches and players have been asking for many years.

For the last three years large crowds have jam-packed Memorial Stadium for every home game on the grid schedule but as for attendance at basketball games the crowds continue to get smaller.

It's true that the seating arrangement in the present location is very poor but a new gym is just around the corner and it is high time that the so-called loyal football fans get in the habit of being loyal basketball fans.

The attendance at the basketball games in the past is the biggest reason for poor showings by SHS teams. A high school boy is naturally attracted to a sport such as football where there are thousands of people cheering for him but knowing that nobody will be at the basketball games just keeps a lot of great material from coming out for the sport.

Although football has been labeled as the "big" sport at SHS this is not the case in many schools. Take schools like Winter Park and Seabreeze for instance. At Winter Park there are usually several lads who would make great footballers but they are so wrapped up in basketball that they pass up the fall sport in order to rip the cords. When the Wildcats are at home there is standing room only and the great fan support has really paid off because they always have a winner.

The attendance at the basketball games here is really puzzling. Coach Bud Layer recalled that two years ago his squad put together a six game winning streak and each night the crowds got smaller and smaller until there was practically no one left to watch the action at all.

Sports fans, take a good look at yourselves. Try to see the importance of attending the games this year. For the coaches, players, and for the game of basketball, let's make this a banner year—all the way around.

Brown Retains Lightweight Crown

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI)—"That kid," Joe Brown said idly, "I'll fight him again tomorrow and beat him easier."

Thus he dismissed British boxer Dave Charnley, the British Empire champion who failed to come out for the sixth round Wednesday night in his effort to wrest away Brown's world lightweight championship.

It was a two inch gash over the right eye which put Charnley out of action with his sixth loss in 40 pro fights, but there was a difference of opinion as to how he got the cut.

"It was an unintentional butt," Charnley's manager, ruddy faced Arthur Baggis, said.

But Brown countered, "but, nothing. I hit him with a left and then a right, and I cut him with the left. It was as good an over-hand left as I ever threw."

The victory was Brown's sixth knockout win in eight defenses of the title he won three years ago from Wallace (Bud) Smith. And Brown thought it was one of his easiest.

"I'd give him a rematch," he said, "but it's up to my manager (Lou Viscusi) to make the matches. I'll fight Charnley tomorrow, anywhere, even London. If I can get the money out of there. Just so I get a big purse."

Brown, at 134, scored his 74th win and his 38th by knockout in 104 pro fights. He said Charnley, who had knocked out 20 opponents previously, never hurt him. Charnley weighed 133½.

Charnley preserved his record of never being knocked off his feet. Referee Jimmy Webb and judges, Ernie Taylor and Bill Cornelius, had Brown far ahead on points. Webb gave Brown four rounds and scored one even for a 50-46 tally. Taylor gave Brown four rounds and Charnley the last for a 48-46 count, and Cornelius gave Brown every round for a 50-45 score.

A crowd estimated around 6,500 paid a gross gate of $32,720.

Middleweight Title On The Line

LOGAN, Utah (UPI)—Champion Gene Fullmer and challenger Spider Webb broke camp today and motored into Logan for their 15-round middleweight title fight (NBA version) Friday night.

Co-promoter Norman Rothchild predicted a near-sellout of 7,000 at the Utah State University Field House.

"The gate may approach $100,000," he said, "because of our 800,000 cash advance, our $10,000 worth of orders and the increasing sales in various cities."

Fullmer said, "I hope to knock him out this time," as he broke camp at his home ballpark, West Jordan, Utah.

Fullmer and his manager, Gene Fullmer, were in the towel today and conceded the last-place Senators have them licked.

Paar, Rooney Smoke Peace Pipe

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — All was peace and forgiveness today between pint-sized actor Mickey Rooney and Jack Paar.

Rooney's personal manager, Red Doff, blew up briefly Wednesday night when he was told by an unreliable source that Paar was using his nationally televised show to blast Rooney.

Doff immediately declared without seeing the show that Rooney would not appear as scheduled on Paar's show tonight and said he planned to sue Paar and the National Broadcasting Co. for slander.

He relented several hours later after viewing Paar's version of the Rooney-Paar feud and reconciliation.

"Paar's statements weren't as bad as what had been reported to me," said Doff. "I thought Paar apologized in his way."

The show, temporarily being made here instead of New York, was viewed in the East live and then shown on the West Coast by videotape three hours later.

Paar had accused Rooney of being "loaded" during a guest spot on his show Tuesday night and asked him to leave.

Rooney took offense at Paar's parting remark: "It's a shame, he (Rooney) was a great talent."

Rooney Wednesday threatened to punch Paar on the nose, but they had a 15-minute peace meeting later in the day and trooped out their differences. Rooney even consented to make a return appearance tonight.

Youngster Calls Police To Report 'Mommy Is Dead'

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — "I just found my mommy dead."

"Don't cry, Israel, maybe she's not dead. Are you sure she's dead?"

"Yes, I shook her, but she won't wake up."

That was the conversation Wednesday between Miami Beach police desk officer Mrs. Shirley Klein and 9-year-old Israel Adler.

Mrs. Klein got the boy's address and spoke soothingly to him while she wrote a note to the police dispatcher to investigate.

Police who answered the call found the boy on the telephone talking to Mrs. Klein and Israel's "mommy" dead. Authorities ruled her death was from natural causes.

The dead woman was identified as his great aunt, Mrs. Esther Adler, a 61-year-old wealthy widow who brought Israel here from Montreal, Canada, to live with her.

He was adopted by Mrs. Adler after his parents were killed four years ago in an automobile accident in which the boy was injured.

Mrs. Adler did not get up Wednesday morning when the alarm clock went off. Israel shook her repeatedly, picked up the telephone and dialed the operator and began his conversation:

"I want the police station."

The child, who became an American citizen a month ago, was taken to the home of Peace Justice Mal Englander, father of four daughters, who notified other relatives.

Englander said Mrs. Adler had set up a "substantial" trust fund for Israel.

Narcotic Helping Police In Battle On Drug Traffic

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — Oakland police are using a narcotic as a weapon in their war on narcotics addiction.

The drug is Nalline and its use, pioneered here three years ago, is spreading throughout California and elsewhere across the nation.

By injecting Nalline into a person, police can determine whether he is a narcotics addict or user. The pupil of the suspect's eye is measured before the test and 3 minutes afterward. If the pupil decreases in size after the injection, he is "clean." If the pupil enlarges, police know he is an addict.

Dr. James G. Terry, medical officer for the Alameda County sheriff's office, is credited with perfecting the use of Nalline to detect drug addicts. It has also been used by psychiatrists to relax patients and ease them to talk about unpleasant memories, and by anesthetists to counteract the effects of morphine.

Nalline has proved a valuable weapon in the war against crime and narcotics because:

—Suspects who take the test are either quickly cleared or held for trial. Many who take the test and flunk it wind up pleading guilty, saving the expense of a trial.

—As a condition of parole or probation, it deters users from becoming re-addicted.

—Reducing the narcotics traffic means less auto "floating," prostitution, burglary and other crimes committed by addicts who must steal to support a habit that may cost them $100 a day.

Citrus Shipping Holiday Asked

LAKELAND (UPI) — The U. S. Agriculture Department will be asked to declare a seven-day shipping holiday for Florida citrus fruit during the Christmas season.

The shipping holidays are customary in order to allow consumers to utilize the heavy pre-Christmas citrus shipments and thus prevent a market glut.

The federal marketing agreement committees voted Tuesday to ask that the holiday be started Dec. 23.

The committees also slightly relaxed minimum grade standards for tangerines but made no changes in other minimum standards. They voted to set minimum standards for tangerines at U. S. No. 1 fancy, size 210 or larger, for the period Dec. 7-Jan. 10.

Drive Carefully Says Race Rider

FONROBE, Mass. (UPI) — America's harness racetracks are getting to be almost as dangerous as the nation's highways, says veteran harness driver Ackerman, who is retiring at 71 after more than 50 years as a driver.

"Stricter regulations in granting licenses to drivers is the greatest need of the trotting and pacing sport today," he said. "It's almost a joke the way it is now. Buy a set of gear, pay the fee and you're a driver. It's as simple as that — and as dangerous."

Ackerman believes drivers should have several years of apprenticeship with harness horses before they are allowed to drive in competition.

Federal Lamb Grading Ends

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Note to housewives:

Next month, when shopping for lamb at the supermarket, don't bother to look for that little purple stamp on the meat showing whether it's of "prime," "choice" or "good" quality.

It won't be there.

Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson issued an order Wednesday which will end federal lamb grading on Jan. 4.

The action brought immediate sharp protests from one of the nation's major farm groups—the American Farm Bureau Federation—and is expected to draw heavy fire from Congress as well as consumer groups.

Charles B. Shuman, president of the Farm Bureau called Benson's action "hasty" and "against the best interests of farmers."

The National Grange already is on record against the move.

Under Benson's order, there will be no uniform national grades for lamb after Jan. 4. There will be only private grades and brands to guide the housewife.

Many small meat packers claim this means they will be "squeezed out" by the big packers who can afford to promote their own products in national advertising.

Benson said he took the action because the Agriculture Department has been unable to come up with a set of new grading standards acceptable to the entire industry.

Worry Clinic

Polly can't understand how that "little bird" tells Mamma about Polly's misadventures when Mamma is away from the house. And Polly usually lives with a giant and glasses, so it is natural for her to believe in fairy tales. Refresh your own memory by reading this typical case. You need for these "Parents Tests" below.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE C-202: Polly D., aged 5, is a very imaginative child. "Dr. Crane," her fretful mother complained, "Polly makes up the wildest stories."
 "Why, she tells everybody she has a little brother and sister, though she is our only child. Recently, at a restaurant, she informed the waitress about these younger children and when the waitress asked why we didn't bring them to the table, Polly said they didn't behave properly."
 "So she even took the waitress out to the car and introduced her to these imaginary youngsters."
 "Do you suppose her wild imagination is a result of the fact her Grandmother reads her fairy stories?"

Fairy Stories
 Children of high I.Q. often fabricate stories, just as Polly has done, and will create imaginary playmates whom they lack real ones.

If Polly's mother had given her a younger brother or sister, as should have been done by the time Polly was 2 years of age, then Polly wouldn't need these imaginary siblings.
 And don't grow alarmed about fairy stories: Children relish them for they are actually living in a land of giants and gnomes all the time.

For example, you adults may have entirely forgotten your last year's outlook. But at the pre-school age, a child's parents tower above him.

If you growups wish to regard the toddler's viewpoint, just assume that you are living with men and women who are 12 feet tall and who weigh 600 pounds.
 Relatively, that is exactly the type of world facing your pre-school children.

For Polly's Daddy is twice her height and 5 times her weight: He is literally a giant. Her mother is likewise a giantess.

And the world seems much bigger to a child, for we subconsciously estimate distance by our stride.

Did you ever go back to your kindergarten room for the first time after you left grade school?

In memory, that room seemed large. But now, as you view it from your adult standpoint, it seems dwarfed and tiny. Why? Because your stride is now about twice as long, so the room seems half its former size.

Little Bird
 When Polly is left alone while Mamma goes to the neighbor's for a cup of sugar and Polly accidentally knocks over the goldfish bowl, what will Polly do?

She probably will rush to an other room and be apparently preoccupied with her dolls. When Mamma then exclaims, "Polly, did you break this goldfish bowl?" Polly may say "No."

As Mamma spans her, anyway, Polly wonder aloud, "How did you know I did it?"
 "Oh, a little bird tells Mamma," replies her parent, and Polly actually believes there is such a little bird.

Her mother simply has 12 years more mental age which permit her to deduce the fact that Polly MUST be gully, since she was the only freely moving object in the house.

Small Italian Village Learns About Miracle

SAN MARCO DURRI, Italy — (UPI) — The 284 residents of this mountain village learned today that miracles reap dividends—$11.65 in a poor man's land.

The simple folk of San Marco Durri finally learned the full meaning of a "miracle" visited on them last month by two benefactors they have never seen—Joseph and Victor Saturno of Reno, Nev.

The Saturnos, on the 40th anniversary of the death of their father, an American immigrant from San Marco Durri who made good in the new world, made a gift of more than $345,000 in Bank of America stock to the people of this poor village.

That meant every man, woman and child got stock worth $1,212.30 each simply because of the accident of their place of residence.

But these villagers, having seen so little money in their lifetimes, were puzzled and confused. Suddenly they became famous, deluged with publicity and advice on how to spend the windfall.

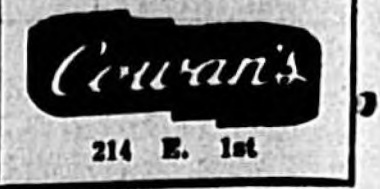

An Army of salesmen descended on them, but there was no money.

"The people don't understand what has happened to them," a villager said at the time the stock was distributed.

 "They understand they have received money but they have not seen any of it."

But that man, like his fellow residents of San Marco Durri, accepted the American "miracle," strange and puzzling as it was. They also accepted Bank of America officials' advice it would be wiser to hold the stock rather than cash it in.

Navy Highlights Activities Next Week

Next week might as well be designated as Navy Week in Sanford with the Sanford Naval Air Station's bombing derby scheduled to start Monday and Navy Appreciation Day slated next Saturday.

The bombing derby will feature pinpoint dropping of simulated atomic bombs, parachute jumps, loft bombing competition and wing-to-wing precision flying.

The derby starting Monday morning will climax on Saturday with a giant air show at the base including flying demonstrations and competition by the five NAS squadrons and their competitors.

The Saturday spectacle will feature a F96 Cougar fighter in a loft bomber demonstration where the plane releases a bomb while climbing, throwing the weapon upwards. Doing a vertical turn, the fighter will roar away before the arching bomb hits the target.

Navy officials report that the Saturday events will be open to the public. Saturday also will be Navy Appreciation Day, a joint annual project sponsored by the Sanford Jaycees and the Chamber of Commerce. At that time, Navy personnel and their wives are invited to "get together" with city officials and citizens for a special day of activities at Fort Mellon Park.

Teacher Is Suspended For Resisting Policies

Hearing Set For Williams

The County School Board last night suspended Seminole High teacher Edwin Williams for his refusal to support county policies of class salute to the American flag, daily Bible reading in class and for his reluctance to sign both the loyalty oath required by state law and certain school contracts.

The ninth grade teacher's suspension is effective today. He will be given a public hearing before the school board Dec. 15.

The board based Williams' suspension on Florida statutes as far as the salute to the flag and Bible reading were concerned.

"It has been and is the policy of the school system of Seminole County to encourage respect for the government of the United States and its flag, in accord with this policy we have required our instructional personnel in their classrooms to call for the daily salute to the American flag. You were an adviser of this policy by Mr. A. J. Bracken, principal, Seminole High School. We are informed by Mr. Bracken and Mr. Stewart Gatchel, director of instruction, that you have stated to them that you do not support this policy and further that you have stated to them that you do not 'usually' take part in the actual physical saluting of the American flag. This is in direct conflict with the policies of the Seminole County school system," the board said.

Postal Annex To Open Monday

Sanford's Post Office Annex will open Monday for mailing of Christmas packages. Packages may be mailed and picked up at the Second St. and Oak Ave. annex Dec. 7-24.

All mail carriers will be dispatched from the 2,952 square foot annex after the Christmas season, according to Postmaster Joel Field. The addition will be used for a post office workroom starting 1960.

To get packages delivered where they are needed, Field warned, "Use sturdy corrugated mailing cartons, plenty of heavy brown paper and be sure that every package is tied with strong cord. Cartons containing several gift packages should be well stuffed with tissue or old newspaper," he said.

For very large packages, check with the postoffice about necessary postage before trying to mail them. Field advised, Christmas stickers should be on the back of Christmas card envelopes so they won't conflict with the front address.

Send Christmas cards by first class mail for quicker delivery, forwarding and return, the postmaster advised. Christmas cards sent by First Class four cent or seven cent Air mail may carry written messages.

New Homes, Auto Show Is Scheduled Sunday

Sanford will be represented in the first "New Homes and Cars of 1960" show to open Sunday at the Hettler Howell Park community.

Holler Motor Sales will show the new Chevrolet, Oldsmobile and Corvair models at the eight day show of more than 30 new 1960 American and imported cars.

Sixteen dealers will show autos in the daily display to run from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. The cars will be on landscaped lawns between the 1960 Hettler model homes. The autos will range from the new domestic small or "economy" line to European sports cars and runabouts. Free parking will be provided at the Howell Park community on Routs 17-22 and 33E.

Cars displayed will include the new Austin Healy, Borgward, Buick, Cadillac, Chevrolet, Corvair, Chrysler, DeSoto, Dodge, English Ford, Fiat, Hillman, Mini, Humber Super Snipe, MG, Mercedes-Benz, Oldsmobile, Opel, Plymouth, Rambler, Renault, Saab, Simca, Sprite, Sunbeam Alpine, Taurus, Valiant, Volvo and Willys Jeep. Lighting effects will spotlight the cars at night.

"This is the newest method of selling both homes and cars, through combination display of both. A home and a car are among the two most important items in anyone's Florida's living, and to see the variety, in one place at one time, helps the prospective buyer of either home or car to select just what he wants," Howell Park General Manager Arthur Feldman said.

"The suspect in the slaying was Cleveland hoodlum Frank La Cigno, 38, identified by police as the man Whalen dragged out of a telephone booth and slumped around at Rondelli's restaurant. ## Ike Talks Peace As Tours Begins

ROME (UPI) — President Eisenhower arrived in Rome today in a driving rainstorm at the start of an 11-nation tour and said in earnest tones, "I bring a simple message from America. . . We want to live in peace."

Warm applause followed the President's remarks, made as he stood with bared head under the partial shelter of an airport balcony. His voice was firm as he said he hoped his peace message "will be heard in every country which I visit."

He had stood bareheaded earlier in a cold rainstorm while bands played the American and Italian anthems.

Eisenhower left Washington Thursday night on an unprecedented 17-day peace tour which will take him into three continents. Before he left he said he wanted to impress upon all nations his ideal of "peace and friendship, in freedom."

Rain threw the carefully worked arrival ceremony out of gear and delayed for 16 minutes the landing of the plane which circled Ciampino Airport and the seven hills of Rome while the pilot studied the low visibility.

Eisenhower, wearing a dark overcoat and hat, stepped first out of the plane and was greeted by a fanfare of trumpets. The rainmaking "stucco" wind blowing from Africa was so strong the soaked red carpet had to be spiked to the tarmac.

Eisenhower bared his head when the anthems sounded and then his wet shoulders covered him with an umbrella for the walk to the balcony where he delivered the first speech of a peace campaign that will take him halfway around the world.

"We want to live in peace and friendship, with freedom," the president repeated. "This message, I hope, will be heard in every country where communications are free.

Sun Comes Out To Take Chill Out Of County

A bright sun took the chill off Seminole County today after residents shivered through the second cold spell in a week.

The temperatures last night and this morning dipped to 34 degrees in certain areas of the county with scattered frost reported in a few isolated areas.

Sanford also got a taste of a brief hail storm during the early afternoon hours yesterday.

Over the state, temperatures dropped to freezing in extreme North Florida early today. Greater Miami, just beginning its winter tourist season, had readings in the low 40's.

Generally clear skies enabled the sun to warm up most of the state quickly this morning and high readings this afternoon were expected to reach around 60 in North Florida and 70 in South Florida.

Lows tonight were expected to range from 44 to 50 in the extreme north and as high as 60 in the extreme south.

A 48-hour cold wave starting last Saturday night did extensive damage to tender crops which remained in the ground in north and central Florida.

Sanford VAH-11 Loses Derby Lead

The Pacific Fleet's VAH-11 squeezed ahead of Sanford based VAH-11 last night to win "Operation Top Gun" held this week at Yuma, Arizona.

Coming from behind in a re-run yesterday the Naval Air Station fliers led until the final run of the final event in the competition.

On the last leg of a radar bombing-sight scoring contest which carried the bombers through Los Angeles, Denver and Salt Lake City, the VAH-11 crew fell behind over Amarillo, Texas.

Sanford's crew scored 9,800 to a VAH-11 9,700 out of a possible 10,000 points.

Hatting One, Commander Capt. James Ramage praised VAH-11 Commander G. H. Robertson for his crew's performance.
