Krider produced a letter from Richey Green, District Engineer for the State Road Department, giving a traffic count study of Sanford Ave. (SR 425). The study, made in 1957 shows 4,083 cars in February (daily); 4,729 daily in May; 5,096 daily in June; 4,025 daily in August; and 4,440 daily in November.

"It is the highest traffic count of any street in the city and the most hazardous," Krider said, and added "Six Circles Park Ave."

"I am going to ask for the immediate approval for widening of Sanford Ave. from 25th St. South to Glinder's Corner," he said.

Shriners Install Officers For '58

Officers of the Sanford Shrine Club for the coming year were installed at the recent meeting in the Shrine Club building.

Potentate J. D. Hill of the Bahia Temple was the installing officer.

Those who were officially elevated to their new offices in the club were: Milford Leonard, DeBary, president; Ledr. E. J. Still, first vice president; A. F. Ramsey, second vice president; Irving Pryor, secretary; and Bob Dean, treasurer.

Two outgoing officers were: A. L. Wilson, president and Dick Alkan, secretary.

There were a number of members of the Bahia Divan in Sanford for the event as well as several visiting dignitaries from Bahia Temple.

A spokesman for the Sanford Shrine Club stated that "we appreciate the wonderful cooperation we're getting from DeBary."

The installation ceremony was preceded by a barbecue dinner and the annual Christmas Party. Gifts were exchanged and a special award was made to Mrs. Burke Steele.

Officers installed at the December meeting of the Sanford Shrine Club were elected at a previous meeting.

25,000 Sputniks Under German Christmas Trees

By DONALD R. SHANOR United Press Staff Correspondent MUNICH, Germany (AP)—Twenty-five thousand little Sputniks will circle under Christmas trees in Communist East Germany this year.

East German factories have been just as busy turning out Nativity scenes and wooden figures of Santa Claus. But they are for export to the West only.

Throughout the Communist world, the propaganda machines are working hard to obscure the Christian origin of the holiday and turn it into a day of pagan praise to Communism. Christmas toys are an important part of this campaign.

The earth satellite, current trump card in Communist propaganda, is being produced by East German toy factories on a rush basis.

More Sputniks doubtless would be on the market in the other Soviet bloc nations but for bureaucratic production tangles in the state toy shops.

Strict Controls Enforced

In Czechoslovakia, toy production is subject to strict government controls and is planned a year in advance. The October launching of the Sputnik apparently caught the planners by surprise and there was no time to shift gears and have Sputniks ready for Christmas.

Polish children will also be Sputnikless. The traditional teddy bears and dolls are the most popular toys there. Mechanical toys are also much in demand but are hard to get.

Communist Yugoslavia, well-armed neighbor of the Soviet bloc, reflects its defense-mindedness in its selection of toys. There are toy rifles, tanks, armored cars, fighter planes, and drums. There are more toys than ever in Belgrade shop windows this season, and more will be sold. The government has promised an extra month's salary as a Christmas bonus to all state employees.

Militaristic Ban Over

East Germany also has its share of lead soldiers and their weapons, after banning "militaristic" toys for more than a decade after World War II.

Hungarian and Romanian toys are simple carvings that carefully avoid the Christmas theme.

East Germany, Romania and Bulgaria place great emphasis on children's books as Christmas presents, but the fairy tales must follow the party line. The sleeping beauty in the East German version, for example, is rescued by a handsome young party activist rather than a prince.

Administration Will Seek Extra $ Billion In '58

WASHINGTON (AP)—Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy has disclosed the administration will ask Congress for about one billion dollars extra to finance stepped up defense spending in the current fiscal year.

McElroy said the additional money for the year which ends next June 30 will be needed because of an increase in spending for missiles and in other defense fields.

If Congress approves the supplemental appropriation when it convenes in January, total defense spending for the year will rise to close to $214 billion dollars.

This request for extra funds is in addition to an expected increase of about two billion dollars in the defense budgets for the fiscal year

Moony Real Estate Holdings

By DOC QUINN United Press Staff Correspondent NEW YORK Dec. 18 (AP)—Pack my space valve, Matilda, I'm off maybe not tomorrow, but soon, 10 or 15 years to inspect my moony real estate holdings by the light of the silvery earth.

I am the proud owner of a piece of moonland on which the earth never sets. I had forgotten all about my little acre, which is in a crater near the left eyebrow of the man in the moon.

But the American Rocket Society recently received a timetable for getting man spaceborne—at a cost of a mere billion or so above the regular military space spending. And when the very expert Dr. Kraft A. Ehrlich said that, given the mere billion bucks, American scientists could get a manned vehicle to the moon in 8 to 10 years and to Mars in 10 to 15 years, the vision of my own parcel of good moon orbited before my eyes.

Deed Cost Dollar

It's an acre with a rather varied climate. The ground gets hot enough during the day to hold water just like pfft. At night, it gets down to 243 degrees below zero. But never mind that. I've got a general quitclaim deed to it, plus beach rights on the nearby Sea of Tranquility and fishing rights in the Sea of Neetar.

The deed cost one dollar back in 1935. Today, you can't get one. The lunar real estate outfit folded up. Why? Too many people failed to realize they were joking. The idea, at the time, was to stick the moon-acre deed into an educational packet to be given away by department stores. The deed reads "in consideration of one dollar."

But thousands of persons heard about it and began sending in $1 for a deed, and the thing got to be a headache. Since the boss of the now-dissolved outfit doesn't want to be bothered, we'll just call him Dr. X. In 1935, he even filed a claim to two million acres of the moon at City Hall of his home town.

Filled With Dog Licenses

"We don't want any more orders," he says now. "It's all part of a joke. You can claim anything—even Mars—but you can't prove you own it. When I filed my affidavit claiming part of the moon, City Hall couldn't find any authority on the subject and they filed it away with the dog licenses. Now, with all the talk of satellites and moon travel, some people seem to think they might be planting corn up there in a couple of years."

There's going to be a heap of thinking about this ownership business. Sir Leslie Munro, U. N. General Assembly president, says the U. N. will soon take up the whole question—"It used to be that you owned the air above your land; now it goes to the moon. Who owns the air? Who owns the moon?"

I do, sir. I paid $1. After all, I CAN CLAIM CAN'T I?

beginning next July 1.

McElroy made the disclosure in a plane-side news conference held in the rain at National Airport on his return from the NATO summit conference in Paris.

He said the defense of the NATO powers had "been strengthened at least prospectively" by the meeting.

A reporter asked whether this strengthening would require a supplemental defense appropriation. McElroy did not make clear whether agreements stemming from the NATO meeting itself would require such an appropriation. He did say "there will, however, be a supplemental appropriation for 1958 requested."

South Spared 'Cause Celebre' In 1957 Catalogue Of Crime

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is one of a number of year-end dispatches on news and feature developments in the South in 1957, written by United Press staff correspondents.

By ED ROGERS
United Press Staff Correspondent
ATLANTA — The South was spared a "cause celebre" in its 1957 catalogue of crime but some of the year's suspects were tops in glamor.

No southern crime kept the nation's headlines black for long as greatly stirred public passions but some interesting people, with a flair for the unusual, turned up as suspects.

Mrs. Margaret Lydia Burton, for example, found the county jail at Decatur, Ga., a place for meeting "many new friends" after her arrest for larceny after trust of $186,757 from a medical clinic.

In the guise of Mrs. Janet R. Gray, the gray-haired, friendly woman, her soft southern voice flavored with a cultured British accent, was known as an "intimate" of international high society's notables.

Military Breeding
Good military breeding was shown by dapper Maurice M. Chavigny, 43. He donned his French Foreign Legion uniform sporting five rows of ribbons and 17 decorations last April before a bit of gunplay—with himself the intended victim, he claimed.

Coed Skis In Wheelchair

SANTA MONICA, Calif. — A perky, blonde coed who only three years ago was America's ski queen, rushed through final school work this week in order to spend her Christmas vacation at her first love, skiing—even though she does it now in a wheelchair.

"They just sort of bolt these special skis on the bottom of my chair, the kids give me a shove and I yell if anyone gets in the way," Jill Kinmont explained with a smile.

Jill is the pretty blue-eyed girl with the vivacious manner and voice—now a UCLA student—who broke her back and was paralyzed from the neck down three years ago in a skiing accident. She was trying out for the U. S. Olympic ski team at the time. The American women's slalom champion, she was considered a cinch for the team berth. But she slammed into a spectator and a tree, ending her skiing career—possibly never to walk again.

Jill is majoring in business administration and working toward a degree in apparel merchandising. She will be a sophomore next semester and plans to take a job managing a ski clothing shop when she finishes her education.

Auto Official Predicts New Type Of Car In 1958

By JIM KLOCKENKEMPER
United Press Staff Correspondent
DETROIT — A "new" type of American car probably will be born out of the 1958 labors of the auto industry to adjust to its changing market.

This was the recent prediction of a Chrysler Corp. official who viewed the decline of the middle priced luxury market and the still small but startling growth of foreign small cars.

Since this prediction was delivered there have been several other developments which make it look even better:

All sales figures show that except for the lower priced lines there has been little to cheer about in public reception of 1958 models.

Production Cutback
Ward's Automotive Reports, authoritative industry statistical publication, reported yesterday domestic auto makers have cut back 1958 production plans by 8.4 per cent or by a half-million cars; and steel firms supplying the auto industry report cutbacks in steel orders.

Secretary of Labor James Mitchell and State Employment officials are predicting increased unemployment for early 1958, with recovery of these jobs seen later in the year.

Increased prices for U. S. autos have outdistanced many consumers, according to average wage figures, who bought 1954 55-56 models.

American Motors Corp. President George Romney, admitting his firm barely survived its years of readjustment to compact and small cars, this week gleefully needed the "big three" and said:

they will now have the same tortuous change to meet the new market.

Foreign car imports, laughed at by the heads of the big U. S. firms only some 18 months ago as fads, will top 200,000 in sales this year and may go to 300,000—or near 6 per cent of the market next year, Ward's said.

May Buy Plans
Chrysler Corp. is expected to announce in the first half of 1958 plans to either buy a foreign car plant or build a plant abroad to sell small economy cars both in the U. S. and world markets.

Most of these signs point to the direction indicated by the Chrysler official, who said the foreign "bugs" probably will not capture the mass market but will force U. S. firms to bring out a domestic built economy model. He said this will be an entirely new price class, below the lowest priced lines of the low priced three. This so-called low priced three no longer sells a car below $2,000.

Studebaker-Packard Corp. has tried to anticipate exactly this market shift by introduction earlier this year of the "Scotsman" line. The "Scotsman" was stripped of much of the fancy trappings and given a modestly powered economy six engine to sell for less than $2,000.

Sales Tax Collections Reveal Steadily Climbing Economy Here

Each month, the State Comptroller, Ray E. Green issued a report on sales tax collections.

Totals for each county shown in the report as well as the state-wide total. This report is a tremendous value to Floridians for in it is an index to the growth of the state and each community.

Rarely has a month gone by that increases are not shown for each Florida county—not a one or two per cent increase but a generous increase of good proportion.

Naturally, the sales tax report (always on collections based on sales for the previous month) is a climbing guide to Florida's success in its venture to attract more people, greater trade, more manufacturing, and healthier spending.

According to Mr. Green's report each month "there is never a dull moment" in Florida business establishments and each month the activity grows bigger . . . and bigger . . . and bigger! Where it will stop, nobody knows.

Frankly, there is no cause for pessimism when reports such as those of the State Comptroller are ready and digested each month. As a matter of fact, there should be a growing optimism in every section of the state and in particular right here in Seminole County.

The idea, as we see it right now, is to attract more and more shoppers to the idea of shopping "in Sanford" so that their own salaries can be continued in future weeks and months.

Seems as if it is hard to convince people that the "more they shop at home" the more secure their own incomes become — and those of the folks whom they employ, and so forth and so on, right down the line. Adequate stocks are carried in Sanford stores—stocks to fulfill the desires of the people who trade at home. However, if more and more people shop at home, the bigger the stocks in local stores would become, the more varied the merchandise, and the more thrilling it would be to buy where there is "confidence in one another."

Courtesy Week is really going to show Sanford people just how important it is to be friendly and human—and to apply the golden rule in all instances where friends and neighbors are involved in sales and merchandise selection.

The Sanford-Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, always willing to take on additional tasks and projects, in cooperation with the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, will stage the gigantic Courtesy Week program in Sanford and Seminole County the week beginning January 6. A lot of people are going to be pleasantly surprised when secret committees go to work choosing the most courteous sales person, the most courteous motorist, the most courteous policeman.

Might we suggest that another category be added—that of the most courteous shopper. We think this is necessary for many times the shoe is on the "other foot" and shoppers are the ones who are disagreeable.

It's an event well worth looking for. Taxing part in, and being "on your toes" for fear you are being watched by one of the secret Jaycee committees.

Let some forget—It's the Jaycee-Chamber of Commerce "Courtesy Week" beginning Jan. 6.

A New Footnote To History

Joel R. Poinsett of South Carolina is chiefly remembered for the gay flower that bears his name. Yet a hitherto unpublished document reveals that he came near to achieving an important diplomatic triumph which would have greatly altered our latest history.

This document, long in the Poinsett family and now for sale by a New York dealer, was an authorization in 1829 by President Andrew Jackson to attempt the purchase of Texas from Mexico. Jackson was prepared to offer five million dollars for the province.

Mexico's great need of money encouraged the hope that it might consent to the sale. Another consideration which should have urged the sale was that, as Americans were rapidly moving to Texas, a movement for independence from Mexico would probably soon develop. This actually did occur in 1836. Texas did not become an independent republic until its annexation by the United States in 1845.

Had the Mexicans consented to the sale, the Mexican war would never have been fought and our subsequent acquisition of California and the south-west might not have taken place. Many careers would have been far different, among them that of an unsuccessful business man but a great military leader named Ulysses S. Grant.

There is another interesting fact to the story: Texans find it hard to believe that any one ever set the value of their homeland at a mere five million.

Out of the deal, however, wherever it might have occurred, we have the beautiful Florida flower, the Poinsettia.

Failure of the Vanguard rocket to function brings sad recollections of the July 4th boyhood disappointments when the rockets in which savings had been invested turned out to be "fizzers."

Veterans Corner

Here are authoritative answers from the Veterans Administration to questions of interest to former servicemen and their families:

Q. My uncle, a totally disabled World War I veteran, is in a rest home. I am taking care of all the expenses. He is getting a VA pension, since disability is not service-connected. In computing his annual income, must he include the money I pay to the home for his upkeep?

A. No. Money which you pay to the home to cover his maintenance is not to be considered as income, for VA pension purposes.

Q. I want to go to college under the Korean GI Bill, but not to get a degree. On my application form what should I put down as my course of study?

A. You must list all the subjects you plan to take, which make up your program of education.

Q. I understand that special restorative training is available under the War Orphans Education program to handicapped young men and women in need of it. Does this restorative training also include medical care?

A. No. Special restorative training does not include medical care. It does include special courses—such as braille reading, language retraining and the like—designed to help a person overcome his handicap. He may take regular training at school.

CHRISTMAS IN EUROPE

Too Late To Classify

BY RUSSELL KAY

Finding life as a professor of zoology and entomology at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio rather boring, George Fichter gave up an assured career and regular pay check to become a free-lance writer.

—It was a mighty big gamble but George was in "pursuit of happiness". He chose Florida as his home and moved to Ft. Myers about a year ago. Now his wife and two small children enjoy Florida sunshine while daddy employs his knowledge of wild life and insects in telling stories about them that are stirring their way into a number of publications yielding a return that so far has been satisfactory and promises to improve.

Shortly after locating in Florida he sold an interesting story on pelicans to the Reader's Digest that netted him $1,800. He completed a book entitled "Good Fishing" which has been accepted for publication and will be out soon.

His first Digest story brought such favorable response that the publishers have accepted another of his nature tales, "That Terrible Lizard, the Alligator," which will appear as a condensation from Nature Magazine.

The title of his story goes back to a report of early Spanish explorers. They told of the "terrible lizards" found infesting Florida waters, one account stating that the creatures were so thick in the St. Johns River that you could cross the stream walking on their backs.

Fichter points out that while the Spaniards termed them lizards, they are not members of the lizard family but are related to the crocodile. Today in Florida you seldom see an alligator and they are considered a tourist attraction. The Legislature sought to protect them from extinction a few years ago by passing a law making it a punishable offense to kill a Florida gator.

The small creatures sold by gift shops and roadside stands and called Florida alligators are not gators but caymen imported from South America and Caribbean countries. It is unlawful to sell a Florida alligator.

Fichter tells of his first experience with a Florida alligator. He was taking combat training in this state and one of the daily routines included a stint around an obstacle course. On the final

'Gaither' Report Is Top Secret

By LYLE C. WILSON

United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON 27—A fair question to President Eisenhower right now would be: Who has a better right to know than the people of the United States if their lives may soon be forfeit in fiery warfare?

That is a horrible thought for the Christmas season. The question arises, however, because of considerable evidence that the administration is suppressing some national defense facts of appalling importance.

These facts are believed to be contained in what is called the Gaither report drafted by a committee headed by H. Rowan Gaither, Jr., a San Francisco attorney. It is a roundup on the comparative production and striking power of the United States and the Soviet Union.

The Gaither report is top secret. The President has refused to reveal its contents to the Senate. The President has refused to reveal its contents to the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee. There has been, however, the inevitable leak. Over the weekend, the Washington Post and Times Herald printed a copyrighted story asserting that the Gaither report portrayed the United States in the gravest danger in all of its history.

The Final Eschat

The paper said the report foresaw inevitable catastrophe for the United States and its men, women and children. Catastrophe is a chilling word, its dictionary meaning is: The final event, usually of a calamitous or disastrous nature. There is something especially grim about that phrase: The final event.

And, if the United States is, as reported, in a period of its gravest danger, then what great trials and personal tragedies does the future hold for the American people and how soon shall they be expected to come to pass?

It is no reflection on the Washington Post and Times Herald to report that the least satisfactory way of presenting such complex information and ideas to the public is through what commonly is known as a leak. Leaked news is unofficial. The reporter who obtains and writes it usually has less than the time desirable for study of a complex document.

Factual Flavor

More often than not, news which leaks appears to more extravagant terms than would be warranted by some of the qualifying fine print in the official document. There was a substantial and factual flavor to the leaked version of the Gaither report, however, and the citizens would be warranted now in believing the very worst of the nation's national defense and security posture until the situation can be proven to be otherwise.

The report evidently includes

My Neighbors

"What do I want with snake-oil—heaven knows that I'm having trouble keeping him quiet as it is!"

statistical material, military estimates and defense data which properly must be top secret in the interests of national security. But the public which, after all, is the proprietor of the United States, has a right to know the extent of its jeopardy.

The President, in his TV report to the nation tonight, probably will proclaim new defense spending needs accompanied by a call for the citizens to make sacrifices for the national defense.

How are the voters to pass judgment if they do not know the national defense score?

If the politicians who have been running the country now and before have put the people in jeopardy, who has a better right to know?

GEORGE ADE, motoring in Indiana, ran plumb into a convention of ministers one evening. When they discovered his identity, the clergymen clustered around him to shake hands. One asked, "How does a humorist of your stamp, sir, feel in such reverend company as this?"

"I feel," admitted Mr. Ade, "like a lion in a den of Daniels."

"Children today love luxury too much," complained a famous scholar. "They have execrable manners. Most authorities, have no respect for their elders. They no longer rise when their parents or teachers enter the room. What kind of awful creatures will they be when they grow up?"

The scholar who wrote these words, incidentally, wasocrates, shortly before his death in 399 B.C.

Impressive Ceremony Yesterday Unites Miss M. Owen, J. Davis Jr.

In a candlelight ceremony Sunday afternoon at 4:00 P. M. Miss Martha Jane Owen became the bride of James Bishop Davis Jr. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Owen. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Bishop Davis Sr. of Madison.

The double-ring service was performed by Dr. R. E. Rutland in the First Methodist Church. Holly, magnolia leaves and pyrocephala berries formed a background for the altar and decorated the church. Mrs. F. E. McCoy, organist played while soloist, Gene Kronjaeger sang "Because", "Whither Thou Goest" and "The Lord's Prayer", besides the traditional wedding music.

The bride was lovely as she entered on the arm of her father. Her full-length satin gown was princess style. It featured a chapel train, and bodice of chantilly lace. The neckline was scalloped. Long pointed sleeves and a lace bustle completed the picture. The gown was made by Mrs. L. C. Burright.

The bride wore a crown of seed pearls attached to a fingertip veil of bridal illusion. She carried a cascade of white carnations.

Maid of honor was Miss Diane Wright of Winter Park. Miss Wright wore a ballerina length gown of rose taffeta trimmed in red. Her headband was red with matching veil. She carried a white taffeta muff, trimmed with holly, red crystalhemiums and ribbon streamers.

Other attendants were Miss Marjorie Barber of Madison, Miss Ann Faircloth of Perry, Miss Jeanette Kinlaw of Sanford and Miss Nancy Rountree of Sanford. They were gowned in red taffeta gowns like that of the maid of honor. They carried the same white taffeta muff.

James Bishop Davis Sr. was best man for his son. Ushers were Raymond Brown of Madison, James C. Owen Jr., brother of the bride, Albert Davis of Madison, brother of the groom, and fraternal brothers, John Thomas of Adelle, Ga., and Slater Wright of Carro, Ga.

The bride's mother was gowned in blue lace over taffeta with matching hat. Her accessories were black. She wore a lavender orchid.

For her son's wedding, Mrs. Davis chose a grey lace dress, over rose taffeta with matching hat. Her accessories were also black. She too wore a lavender orchid.

A reception in McKinley Hall followed the ceremony. Holly and magnolia leaves decorated the large room. Assisting were Mrs. Malcolm Higgins, Miss Patty Walker, Mrs. Gerald Covington, Miss Joni Saunders, Mrs. James DeBrine and Miss Fay Clark.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Boyd of Jacksonville, Mrs. A. L. Nunn, grand-mother of the bride and G. M. Nunn, uncle of the bride, both of Brooksville, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Nunn III of Brooksville, Fla.; and Mrs. Monroe Langford of Jacksonville.

Conning The News

By VIRGINIA CONN, Society Editor

After a flying trip to Palm Beach, I am trying to throw a few facts together to make a little reading. We loaded all the children into the car Saturday morning (and the presents for Grandmother and Grandfather), and off we went.

The effects of the recent freeze were woefully apparent almost until we reached our destination. Even in that supposedly tropical climate, frost had damaged tender plants. The usual beautiful trip was marred by the dead, limp appearance of nearly all ornamental shrubs.

Sad too, were the fruit stands, completely shut and boarded, unable to snap fruit if they have it because of the embargo. At this time of year usually every mile through the Indian River country particularly, is dotted with fruit stands. Each tries to outdo the other with all the juice you can drink or orange, 30 cents a bag.

No more. A few still try to sell honey, jelly, and nut butter, but have gone home until a decision on shipping has been reached.

As we neared the Palm Beaches, however, the lawns turned green again and flowering shrubs were once more apparent. The ocean breeze was warm and sunny. Interesting to me was the Dodge estate across the street from where the Conns live. This mansion of 130 rooms has been completely eradicated. Mrs. Dodge tried to sell it for a club, a hotel, anything. The area was zoned, so she imported woods, garages, marble fireplaces, carved stairways—all had to be demolished.

and still carrying his one remaining gift—the precious pearl. He hears that a man who is called "King of the Jews" is to be crucified, and his heart leaping, realizes that this is the King he has sought so long.

Believing that the pearl may ransom the King, he hurries to Golgotha. On the way he passes a terrified young girl being carried away into slavery by soldiers. She throws herself at his feet and begs him to ransom her. In a agony of indecision, he gives the pearl for her freedom.

Suddenly there is a great earthquake. Artaban is struck by a falling stone and hurled to the ground. The soft voice speaks again and this time it is even more sweet and clear: "Verily I say unto thee, inasmuch as thou hast done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, thou hast done it unto Me."

The true spirit of Christmas is beautifully expressed by Bishop Remington in "A Christmas Message": "I would send you those gifts which are beyond price, outlast time, and bridge all space. I wish you all laughter and pure joy, a merry heart and a clear conscience, and love which thinks no evil, is not easily provoked, and seeks not its own.

The fragrance of flowers, the sweet associations of holly and mistletoe and fir, the memory of deep woods, of peaceful hills, and of the mantling snow, which guards the sleep of all God's creatures. I wish that the Spirit of Christmas may draw you into companionship with Him who giveth all.

The little Christ-hands are beckoning us to come within the circle of His faith and love, where are bright angels and everyday saints, and all goodness, rub and beauty, and the Feast of the Child, Come, let us adore Him.

Apples originated between the Black and Caspian Seas, says the National Geographic magazine. Peaches and oranges came from China, where they were cultivated 4,000 years ago. The Near and Middle East gave us lettuce, carrots, peas, and spinach. The Andes produced the "Irish" potato.

NEW YORK (U.P.)—Stocks declined during the past week and finished with industrials only 7.41 points above the 1947 low and rails within a few cents of their low since Jan. 12, 1948.

The decline, interrupted by a sharp recovery on Thursday and a small one Wednesday, was severe. It knocked the industrial average down 18.38 points to 427.85; rails down 4.30 to 66.92 and utilities off 0.44 to 67.85.

Daily average trading totaled 2,634,664 shares, against 2,297,441 shares in the previous week and 1,222,915 shares a year ago. Of the 1,430 issues traded, most in two weeks, 1,018 declined and only 287 gains and 115 held unchanged. There were 329 new lows and only 13 new highs set.

Unfavorable Talk
 When stocks were in a decline Wall Street talked of sharp cuts in output ahead, poor reception of the 1958 auto models, possible flop in holiday trade, further cuts ahead in steel output, a drop in overall production as reflected in the Federal Reserve index, and an oversupply of copper.

The Thursday rally brought out several favorable news items, including successful firing of the Thor missile, a big Air Force order for Lockheed, and a statement by the secretary of labor that business will turn up in the second half.

The resumption of selling Friday reflected disappointment in failure of the Federal Reserve Bank to ease money further through a cut in the discount rate and a lowering of reserve requirements which had been rumored. Also Chrysler announced a sharp reduction in its production schedule and a leading trade magazine predicted lower auto sales in 1958.

Sales Turn Up
 The week's feature news included a spurt in retail sales when the weather cleared and the New York subway strike ended. Economists said there could well be a holiday record now contrary to their belief a week ago.

Chrysler was heavily sold with a week's loss of nearly seven points. Zenith lost more than nine in the television group. Allied Chemical and DuPont fell four points or more. Alcoa was down nearly five, and Kennecott down more than three. Oils had declines ranging to more than four points. Steels were depressed one to more than two points. They had a good recovery on Thursday which kept their losses relatively small. Shipbuilding stocks declined as much as six points in America.

On the basis of all shares listed total market valuation on the week was down nearly six billion dollars.

Wall Street experts said a year-end rally still could develop but Furthermore all interior residential or dead end streets the right-of-ways are to be 50 feet or more in width, and collector streets are to have a minimum of 66 foot right-of-way. Cul-de-sacs shall have a minimum radius of 40 feet. They will also require the surveyor or owner to furnish (2) blue prints of both the subdivision plat and the topo map. The Board reserves the right to waive any of the above for period needed to complete existing surveys.

In the event the city does not require a topographic map of the area plotted, this may be waived by the County. It should be further noted that in the case of replats where roads are not effected, the topo map requirement can be waived by the County.

After the Board has approved plat, the owner will be required to furnish one blue print on cloth and two on paper for the records.

Santa Claus To Visit American Camp At South Pole This Year

The following dispatch was written by Lt. Vernon Houk of Firebaugh, Calif., Naval officer in charge of the American camp at the South Pole.

North Pole we are sure he will come south this year for us. We received our tree the other day—a real live one from New Zealand delivered by Gus Shinn and his crew. Lt. Cmdr. Conrad S. Shinn of Spray, N. C., who piloted the first plane to land at the South Pole.

It has been decorated in the traditional fashion without using an ounce of artificial snow. Mistletoe and poinsettias also were brought to us—the Navy looks out for its people.

Santa From Florida We will have the traditional exchange of gifts, but with the simple things that we have on hand here.

Another report said the South Pole Santa Claus would be Stephen Fazekas of DeFuniak Springs, Fla.

The greatest recipient, of course will be our husky pup Blizzard, who is really getting on well—40 pounds. The "pup" was flown to the pole Dec. 5 and immediately made himself at home, especially in the gallery.

We have a choral group and will attempt to sing carols by radio to the American bases at McMurdo Sound and Little America on Christmas Eve.

Chapel Under Ice The midnight Catholic mass is expected to come by radio from McMurdo and we will also have Protestant services. However, the services will not be in our snow chapel since it is minus 60 degrees in there—it would be the world's shortest service.

The snow chapel has been hatched out about 20 feet under the ice at the end of a branch tunnel from the snow mine that furnishes the snow for the camp's water supply. I learned also that there has been some trouble with the ceiling hydrating up, making its use at least dangerous.

Weather

Considerable cloudiness with scattered showers today. Partly cloudy tonight and Wednesday.

Plans Set For Sanford's Courtesy Week Jan. 6-12

Talks On Franchise For Bus Operation Delayed By Board

A discussion of a new franchise for the operation of buses in the City of Sanford was delayed until the first meeting of the Board of Sanford City Commissioners in 1958.

The possibilities of other people interested in operating a bus line in the city was brought up by one commissioner who said "they will probably be at the next meeting for the discussion."

Commissioners will possibly look at the franchise for bus operation here in light of a "new franchise" rather than a renewal of the present franchise which has expired.

City commissioners approved the rezoning of three lots in Block 13 of the San Lanta Subdivision and authorized the City Attorney to prepare the necessary ordinance which will allow the First Christian Church, owners of the property, to build an educational building on the site. The lots are to be rezoned from R-1A to R-1. There was opposition at the public hearing.

The transfer of a beer and wine license at 408 Sanford Ave. to Charlie Lemmons was approved by the commission.

In another move to improve the amendments to the Zoning Ordinance, the Board of Sanford City Commissioners authorized a revision of the amendments. City Attorney William C. Hutchison was instructed to prepare the necessary ordinance.

The sale, allowing to be sold, or storage of gasoline in glass containers will soon be outlawed in the City of Sanford. An ordinance prohibiting the gasoline-container sale of gasoline was read for the first time last night.

A letter of appreciation to the Sanford-Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce for making possible the construction of a new deer pen at the Sanford Zoo was authorized by city commissioners last night in their marathon session. Cost of the deer pen was $342.13.

Plans for Sanford's Courtesy Week, Jan. 6-12 were set this morning when M. L. Raborn Jr., president of the Sanford-Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce, John Krider, manager of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, and Howard McNulty, chairman of the Jaycee Courtesy Week Committee met to work out final details of one of the biggest weeks to be staged here.

Awards will be presented to the most courteous waitress, the most courteous policeman, the most courteous saleslady, the most courteous salesman, and for the most courteous act, the committee decided.

Recipients of the awards will be chosen by secret committees, said Howard McNulty, chairman of the Jaycee Committee.

The event is being sponsored cooperatively by the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce and the Sanford-Seminole County Jaycees.

All of the merchants have been polled, said Krider, and they have agreed to make Courtesy Week one of Sanford's biggest events by staging Courtesy Week Clearance Sales.

Already planned for the week's event will be banners for every store, bumper stickers, badges to be worn by all salespeople and others who come in contact with the public, and letters to all merchants outlining complete plans. Chamber of Commerce Manager Krider said that letters to merchants will ask that meetings be held with sales staffs explaining the purpose of Courtesy Week and the week-long observance.

Governor LeRoy Collins has proclaimed "Courtesy Week" throughout the state requesting that Chambers of Commerce and citizens join in with the spirit of the event.

Sanford-Seminole County Jaycees, up immediately, said chairman Howard McNulty, so that they will be ready to go into action on Jan. 6, observing sales people and others who come in contact with the public so that winners of the awards might be chosen.

"Certainly, this is one of the biggest events of its kind that we have staged in Sanford," said John Krider.

M. L. Raborn Jr., Jaycee president said "interest is already being aroused and the general public joining in. We expect this project to be among our biggest and best."

Additional plans will be announced each day as they are completed, said McNulty.

2 Commissioners Will Be Seated At Special Meet

New commissioners will be seated at a special organizational meeting of the Board of Sanford City Commissioners on Tuesday night, Jan. 7 at 8 p. m.

The organizational meeting is held as required by the City Charter.

The Mayor for 1958 will be elected at the organizational meeting following the seating of the new commissioners.

To be seated for the first time will be Robert S. Brown. Brown was elected in office last November. Also to be seated is A. L. Wilson who was re-elected.

Contest Winner To Give Talk

The Sanford-Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce will hear Miss Sybil Grant, winner of the Seminole County "Voice of Democracy" contest, give the talk which won her top place in the competition.

The Jaycee luncheon meeting will be held Thursday at noon at the Yacht Club with Tammy McDonald as program chairman.

Extensive plans for the Jan. 6 "Courtesy Week" will probably be discussed.

Also to be heard will be the Christmas Tree Sale report and further reports on the plans for the new Jaycee Information Booth to be constructed on French Ave. between 4th and 5th Streets.

Rotarians Display Holiday Spirit

Sanford Rotarians, at their pre-Christmas meeting yesterday afternoon at the Yacht Club, lifted their voices in the singing of appropriate songs of the season; remembered their caterer, Mrs. Roberta Gatchel and her assistant, Mrs. Margaret Yates, with gifts of Christmas checks and observed a moment of silence in respect to the memory of their recently deceased member, Charles C. (Charlie) Wagner of DeBarry, who passed away last week.

Club President Myron A. (Mike) Reck presided; the invocation was by Fr. LeRoy Lawson, of DeLand, with the singing of the carols led by Charlie Morrison and Harry Kudell.

City Planning To Be Discussed At Joint Meeting

Sanford City Commissioners met Jan. 4 for a joint meeting with the city and county's zoning and planning commission.

Purpose of the meeting is to hear about city planning whereby a municipality can hire its own planner and receive matching funds to pay for such services.

The matching funds, City Manager Warren E. Knowles told commissioners, are available through the Florida Development Commission.

Commissioner Merle Warner brought out the fact that "there are no funds set up in this year's budget to finance such a project."

However, Mayor David Gatchel commented "We couldn't go wrong by looking into it."

The city, on another occasion, attempted to set up city planning but came to a "dead end" during interviews with prospective planners.

"It won't cost us anything to talk with them," said Commissioner Warner.

'Peace On Earth' Good Will To Men'

And it came to pass in those days that there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus that all the world should be taxed.

(And this taxing was first made when Cyrenius was governor of Syria.)

And all went to be taxed, every one to his own city.

And Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth into Judaea, unto the city of David, (because he was of the house and lineage of David;)

To be taxed with Mary his espoused wife, being great with child.

And so it was that, while they were there, the days were accomplished that she should be delivered.

And she brought forth her firstborn son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger, because there was no room for them in the inn.

And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night.

And to the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them; and they were sore afraid.

And the angel said unto them, Fear not, for, behold, I

Board Approves Light Installation At French, 20th St.

The Board of Sanford City Commissioners, last night, approved the installation of an "actuated type" light at the intersection of French Ave. and 20th St.

During the 35-minute session last night, commissioners discussed a signal for the direction of traffic at what commissioners termed one of the worst intersections in Sanford due to "parking on French Ave."

City Manager Warren E. Knowles advised the board of commissioners that a "fixed signal" would impede traffic.

The State Road Department has repeatedly refused to permit the installation of a "fixed signal" since a traffic count at the intersection would not permit its use.

However, the State Road Department agreed to permit the use of a semi-actuated time signal.

Cost to the city for the type of traffic signal light will be between $2,200 and $2,225.

Mayor David Gatchel noted that "yearly morning traffic from Loch A-hor is bad."

That is a terrible situation, he said, "and I feel that an expenditure of this amount would pay for itself in time."

The board of city commissioners, with one opposing vote, approved the installation and authorized the City Manager to "work out the details."

Applications For Recreation Director Closed

City Manager Warren E. Knowles advised city commissioners last night that applications for the position of Recreation Director for the City closed yesterday.

"We have five applications on hand," the City Manager told commissioners "they look so good," said Knowles, "that we should talk to all of them. Many of them have college degrees," he said.

The board of commissioners authorized the city manager to set up interviews with all of the applicants. Plans at present are to interview the applicants three each evening during a three week period.

None of the interviews will be made until after the first of the new year.

Collins Sees Financial Difficulties For State

TALLAHASSEE (UP)—Gov. LeRoy Collins predicts that the state will run into financial difficulties next year.

But he says he will oppose any additional taxes proposed during the remaining three years of his administration.

Collins, speaking at a news conference Monday, said it is almost a certainty that Florida will have a deficit next year but that nothing definite will be known until next July when the fiscal year ends.

He pointed out that the 1957 tax increases, mostly sales taxes, are not producing the revenue needed to meet the record high appropriation that sum.

The 1957 Legislature passed some $100,000,000 in tax increases but it has been earmarked for appropriations totaling more.

He attributed the deficit to miscalculations by the Legislature in estimating what the tax increase would produce rather than to a drop in business.

The governor said there is no need for a special session to increase revenue and added that he does not expect the need to arise during the remainder of his administration.

He urged some curtailment with a priority system in connection with the building program. Collins said he doubted that the cutback would include a reduction in funds for building a new state university near Tampa.
