

McLarnin, Terris Battle In New York Arena Holds Interest Of Sport Fans

By Davis J. Walsh
International News Service Sports Editor
NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—Street merchants gathered above the roar of the elevated as a baby boy came into the world some twenty odd years ago in a grand flat of the lower East Side and they called him Sid Terris. At or about the same time, a low-back car, coming out of the mists of the distant past, rattled over the cobbled streets of Belfast, Ireland, the music of its wheels playing an obbligato to the plaintive protest against the advent of the newly-born which was stifled, even the dread cry of the banns.

Nor did the streets of the East Side really need another business man, although by circumstance and environment Sid Terris seemed destined to grow herded and moderately rich at the helm of his own push cart. But, happily, the streets didn't mind Sidney didn't and so there will be 18,000 people at Madison Square Garden tonight to see two careers, begun thousands of miles apart, bisect at last.

Terris, the East Side's own, generally is regarded as the man who will do this. This town is ever skeptical of the product who is so ill-advised as to do his winning elsewhere and so McLarnin's fight with La Barba, Villa, Sanchez Kapriel and Wallace apparently have not been accepted, at face value. Neither have Terris' visitations upon the floor at the bohemian Goldstein, Wallace and McGraw in recent fights.

YANKS LEAVE FOR CAMP

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—(INS)—Headed by Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig, the first detachment of the New York Yankees leave here today for training camp at St. Petersburg, Fla. The other members of the advance guard are catcher John Grabowski, Leo Durocher, St. Paul infielder who played with Springfield, Mass., last year, and Bill Elsemann, former Syracuse University catcher. The home run twins are reporting early to improve their batting ails.

WISCONSIN WINS TITLE

MADISON, Wis., Feb. 24. (INS)—Wisconsin today held undisputed claim to first place in the Big Ten standing following one of the most exciting basketball dramas ever staged in the Western Conference. In the first of their two-game series for the Big Ten leadership played here last night, the Badgers defeated Purdue, 28 to 22. It was a game for the look. The sequel to this tilt will be staged tomorrow night on the Bojermakers' home floor at Lafayette.

TEX PREDICTS ROOTS

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—(INS)—Tex Rickard here today after a vacation in Florida, said that whether Gene Tunney defends his title in June or later depends on the outcome of the two elimination bouts next month. If one of the winners defeats his opponent, by a knockout, Tunney will meet that man in June. If neither fight produces a sensational winner, the two survivors will meet in May.

BOUQUET MAY BE CALLED OFF

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—(INS)—Jiggs McMahon, matchmaker at Madison Square Garden, declared today that he would call off the proposed Mar. 23 bout between Joe Dundee and Ace Hudkins unless the New York Boxing Commission reinstates Dundee within ten days.

ST. PATRICK'S PEPPY PARTY

WHEN good St. Patrick rid his land of snakes he was doubtless unaware that he was starting a celebration which would last down to the present day. How surprised the brave old saint would have been to know that almost fifteen hundred years after his death, and in a country he never heard of, there would be people celebrating his anniversary!

CLERK DECLARES DIVORCEES GIVEN LARGE ALIMONIES

Marrying For Alimony Is Getting To Be Profession Judging From Enormous Sums That Are Given Over Yearly
CLEVELAND, O. Feb. 24.—(INS)—Marrying for alimony as a profession, has reached enormous proportions in the United States, if nearly 1,000 paid divorcees last year, in Cuyahoga County, in which Cleveland is located, is any indication, Arthur J. Eyring, alimony clerk recently remarked.

en are often obliged to stand in line. Local alimonies received $223,923.06 in cash in 1925 and nearly $750,000 in property and money settlements were made, Eyring showed in his annual report. Some Are Deserving Eyring who has paid out alimony for many years declared that although many women are deserving being supported by their former husbands, it is unbelievable the number of women who are receiving checks from two or maybe three misguides former husbands. He said these divorcees have developed a highly skilled technique of marrying, divorcing and suing for alimony, then remarrying some wealthier man and divorcing and suing again for alimony. Where there are children, Eyring believes it is no more than right for the former married man should aid in supporting his former wife and "kiddies." It is contended, however, that the familiar "gold-diggers" far outnumber all other alimony receivers. Life Contracts Most judges, Eyring declared, TWICE SHY (From Palms) Because I'm true, you mock me with untruth, laughing to see me give myself away; Blind, blind, snarled incontinent! In sooth, The native pigeon is an easy prey; Forthright with you, I've done myself a wrong; Desperate in cover, this poor, poor gulleless dove Tries out the mockingbird's deluding song; Whose sense of humor bans the croon of love.

Oh—thou'ldst stalk me still? I double and turn... And now, you think you have me? Phut—the net 'S gone slack... Quite so... I have been slow to learn; I shall be even slower to forget; What price the dream! I'll do as others do— And so, being false, I'll have the truth from you. ELLEN GLINES.

"George Washington is 196 years old today," says an exchange. Which is a ripe old age for almost anyone.

The Volusia county fair at Deland was a tremendous success. It is unfortunate that Seminole, the most agricultural county in the state, does not have a fair.

A brother-in-law of the former Kaiser was recently arrested in Berlin on a charge of disorderly conduct. Time was when such a story would have been real news.

"Alabama is proud of Senator Heflin," a contemporary commentator opines. About as proud of Heflin as Florida was of Catts when that Alabamian was governor of this state.

Senator Reed in his tour through the West, continues the "stormy petrel." He is basing his campaign on "a return of honesty to government." A good slogan for any politics, city, state, or national.

The Florida State News says that Senator Taylor has entered the gubernatorial race just to defeat Carlton, and Carlton, it is said, is out to defeat Hathaway, and Appleyard is running perhaps to defeat Mc Kenzie. And they are all running, it would seem, just to elect Catts.

Some of these long distance fliers are the hardest people in the world to put your finger on. They are here today and gone tomorrow. The way Chamberlin, Lindbergh, Haldeman, and the incomparable Lindbergh hop about from one part of the United States to another simply makes us dizzy.

Henry Morganthau says that the United States must be ready to fight to safely insure its peace. He says to how best be ready to fight, opinions differ. Some think that the best way for a country to be prepared for war is to build roads, great canals, harbors, commercial airplanes which can be converted into war machines, and nation-wide physical culture camps; others think large standing armies and huge navies necessary.

Well At Ninety-Four

When asked by an inquisitive reporter the other day how he managed to keep young, Chauncey Depew, ninety-four year old chairman of the New York Central railway and former senator from that state, replied, "Keep in touch with younger people." That is good advice for anyone. Younger people in order to gain wisdom should associate with older people, and older people, in order to keep young, must keep in touch with those who are younger.

But Mr. Depew has other secrets which he was willing to disclose. He has not smoked, drunk, or eaten red meats for a good many years, not because he has conscientious scruples, but because he has found that these habits do not agree with him. One of his best rules for health is "Find out what does not agree with you and then leave it alone."

"Longevity," he says, "is largely a matter of curbing appetites until temperance and moderation become habits." In the matter of eating, for instance, it is customary for most people to eat as much as they can hold. After they have sat at the table and gorged until they cannot possibly take on another bread crumb, they get up feeling that they have done the right thing by themselves. Sooner or later they begin to suffer from high blood pressure and probably die, without knowing why, from a hemorrhage of the brain.

Another suggestion, which Mr. Depew makes, could well be taken to heart by most people. It is that "My guides to success are character, health, and happiness." It is as foolish for one to try to reach the top of the ladder without these three qualities as it would be to try to get there with the rungs removed. Without character, one cannot succeed; without health, success would mean little; and without happiness, there would be no point to success.

Mr. Depew who possesses character, health and happiness to perhaps a greater degree than almost anyone we know, has recently been selected a delegate from New York to the National Republican convention for the sixtieth time. Last year he was chosen but was unable to attend for the first time in over half a century. This year he hopes to be able to go again.

When a man has lived ninety-four years, and has spent his time to as good advantage as Mr. Depew, and is still as fully possessed of his mental faculties as Mr. Depew, one is forced to look a long time for qualities and characteristics to better emulate.

Better Citrus Outlook

Recent successful shipments of Florida oranges to England have demonstrated the feasibility of a plan to extend the citrus market to European countries. The fruit was packed aboard refrigerated ships and arrived in Liverpool in excellent condition. The experiment attracted considerable attention in England and the oranges were sold for a good price. The demand was greater than was anticipated and as a result plans are under way for making regular shipments to Great Britain.

But the demand for Florida fruit is not confined to England alone. "France can be developed into one of the largest markets for Florida citrus fruits in the world," according to D. J. Reagin, assistant United States commercial attaché in Paris, who made this statement on the occasion of a visit to Jacksonville. At present Florida citrus fruit is not being sold in France in any great volume. Mr. Reagin said, the people of that country consuming the small Italian orange which is declared in no way to compare with the Florida product.

The Times-Union quotes Mr. Reagin further: "Fruits shipped from the United States or from Florida direct will find a ready market in France as the small volume that is now sold in that country is consumed so quickly that it is seldom that there is any on the market. Only the first-class hotels of Paris are in a position to serve Florida grapefruit because of the high price. However, this price would be reduced considerably if fruits were sent to that country in any great volume so that there would be plenty on the market."

Mr. Reagin's remarks are interesting to contemplate. A good European market would mean more money for Florida growers. As pointed out by the commercial expert, the greater part of the missionary work toward establishing a large Florida citrus market in Europe has been completed and all that remains to be done is for American salesmen to push the product. Not only England and France should buy our citrus but all Europe should eventually become a big market. The incidental but important result should be a stimulation of marketing in our own country, resulting in better prices everywhere.

AMERICAN MOVIES ABROAD MIAMI NEWS

The motion picture section of the Department of Commerce fixes the quantity of American movie film exported in 1927 at 231,395,018 feet, and increase of more than 11,000,000 feet over 1926, and more than any year since 1919, when the peak was reached with 273,000,000 feet. The value of 1927 positive film exports was $5,775,730 falling considerably below the figure for the preceding year, $6,395,923. The quantity increased over 6,000,000 feet, however. The quantity of negative film sent to foreign countries in 1927 was 9,448,951 feet, worth $1,455,519, as compared to 6,600,586 feet valued at $1,334,960.

The largest market in point of quantity is Latin-America, which has held the title for some time. In 1927 the countries of Latin-America used 82,822,376 feet of American film, a decided increase over 1926 purchases which totaled 73,592,060 feet. Europe is second on the list with 69,512,780 feet bought in 1927, as compared to 63,128,710 feet in 1926. In point of revenues derived from showings of the pictures, however, Europe outstrips all foreign exhibitors. She would lead in quantity of film imported as well if it were not for her well developed facilities for the printing of positives from negative film. Europe can make as many prints from a negative as are needed, requiring but one negative as against all the prints sent to another country unable to make its own.

The Far East is third in line, importing 58,827,613 feet in 1927, an increase of more than 3,000,000 feet over 1926. Africa increased her purchase by almost a half-million feet in 1927, with 3,882,630 feet. The balance of American films reported during the year, 6,028,680 feet, went to various other countries which used only 1,123,402 feet in 1926.

Washington Firm Purchase City Gas Plant For $360,000

(Continued From Page One) authorizing and empowering them to maintain and operate the plant under the terms and conditions of an executory contract which is to be made between the parties.

The agreement provides that in the contract between the parties there shall be a clause to the effect that in the event of the failure of the purchaser to pay any semi-annual installment, within 30 days after the due date, the City shall have the right to declare all deferred payments immediately due and payable and to institute proceedings for specific performance of the contract.

The contract of sale will provide that the purchaser shall at all times provide an adequate service of commercial gas and that all improvements made to the plant during the life of the executory contract shall be considered a component part of the gas plant, and in the event the City is compelled to sue for specific performance of contract, the purchaser shall not be entitled to any credits or allowances for the improvements or additions.

A franchise, which will be granted to the purchasers in conformity with the state laws and provisions of the City charter, will set forth that same schedule of maximum rates now in force and used by the City shall be maintained.

Another provision of the purchaser is that it will have the right to ask that the City Commission call an election for ratification, approval or acceptance of the proposal by the citizens. This was asked, it was stated, so the buyers could, if they so desire, ascertain public sentiment and determine the good will which would go with the plant.

The City will relinquish control of the plant March 1 but will render and collect bills for February. It also agrees to turn over to the purchaser all money, representing meter deposits of current users of gas.

With the acceptance of the proposal, the buyers turned over to the City a certified check for $6,750, to be held until consummation of the contract between the parties, and then to be applied on account of the purchase price.

City Attorney George A. DeCotia was instructed to proceed at once with the preparation of a franchise, an operating contract and executory contract of sale, all of which are to be approved and executed within 30 days.

Higgins Delivers First New Model Ford To Paola Man

The first model A Ford automobile in Seminole County was delivered today to W. P. Grogan of the Umatilla Fruit Company at Paola, according to an announcement today by Edward Higgins, county distributor.

Mr. Higgins stated that deliveries are being made more rapidly now and that the next few months will see cars rushed here as fast as possible to answer the big demand.

The new Ford, which was recently introduced to the public after several months of expectation, has created more interest than any other car ever presented to the public, Mr. Higgins said. Locally there has been a big demand for the new model and a large waiting list has been made prospective buyers.

The new model is expected to outsell the old model T, which for many years led the world in sales.

Press Supervisor Goes To Houston To Aid Correspondents

HOUSTON, Tex., Feb. 18.—(INS)—James D. Preston, superintendent of the senate press gallery in Washington for the past 31 years, is expected here shortly to take charge of preparing seating arrangements for press correspondents at the Democratic National Convention in June.

Nearly 1,000 newspaper men are expected here to "cover" the convention. Special correspondents from London, Berlin, Paris and other foreign countries will be here to tell their nations of the proceedings.

Leased wires will flash the news to all corners of the globe, as telephone and telegraph companies install their finest equipment for handling the news of the convention.

During Preston's active participation in political meetings, he has come the telegraph, telephone, radio and talking moving pictures.

"Every convention something new and different has been developed," Mr. Preston said, commenting on the fact that talking moving pictures will graphically carry the words of the convention to all parts of the country.

New Loud Speaker Hurls Man's Voice A Mile Across Hudson In Novel Test

by ROBERT ANDISON (Special New York Correspondent)

"Have you a voice that carries well?"

That used to be a very important question asked of every man who aspired to be a public speaker.

But nowadays it really doesn't matter whether he has leather lungs and a siren voice or not. As long as he can talk at all, people a mile away can plainly hear his every word.

How? It's a new loud speaker that does the trick.

On an icy cold Sunday morning, not long ago, a little group of men clustered around a field telephone at the top of a cliff in Hoboken, N. J., overlooking the Hudson River. A mile away, on the New York side of the river, the loud speaker was mounted on the roof of the thirteen-story Bell Telephone Laboratories building.

One of the men in the Hoboken group spoke into the field telephone which was connected with an ordinary Western Electric amplifier in the Laboratories—the loud speaker, in turn, being connected with the amplifier.

"Hello, Hopkins! Can you hear me?" the man said, in an ordinary tone of voice.

Five seconds later, a giant voice coming from the mouth of the horn in New York, a mile away, startled the listeners.

"HELLO, HOPKINS! CAN YOU HEAR ME?" it boomed.

And so, for the first time, a human voice was thrown, without the slightest distortion, for a distance of one mile.

The loud speaker was developed by the engineers of Bell Telephone Laboratories, primarily for Western Electric public address systems and for use in connection with talking motion pictures. It is now being successfully used in presenting both Vitaphone and Movietone productions, for which the Western Electric manufactures sound projector equipment. The Hudson River demonstration was the first to be made in the open air, however, and at such a distance. As a result of this demonstration, its sponsors estimate that a round million of people can listen to a speaker or to the strains of music. Imagine what this will mean to our orators in a political campaign!

In its present form, the loud speaker is of the horn type. The engineers who developed it say that it is capable of converting into sound about 50 per cent. of the electrical energy supplied it. The moving diaphragm or armature of its receiver is not made of a magnetic material but consists of a sheet of very light aluminum alloy, about two-thousandths of an inch thick, and so constructed that it moves laterally, somewhat like a piston. Attached to the diaphragm is a small coil of aluminum strip wound edgewise and insulated with varnish. This coil lies in the magnetic field produced by a powerful electromagnet.

Telephone or voice current passing through the small aluminum winding causes the diaphragm to vibrate. The plunger-like motion of the diaphragm and the special shaping of the air chamber between the diaphragm and the mouth of the horn result in an efficiency many times greater than that obtained with other types of loud speakers. The load carrying capacity of the device arises from the fact that the small aluminum coil lies very close to the heavy iron pole-pieces of the field magnet.

In addition to its large capacity, the loud speaker is notable for its fine reproducing qualities. It encompasses the range of frequencies from 60 to 6,000 cycles per second without dis-ortion and reproduces down to 40 cycles and up to 8,000 cycles with a distortion so slight that it is doubtful if the ear can detect it.

At the recent outdoor demonstration of the horn, any number of tests of its efficiency were made. Passing ferry boats on the river were hailed and their pilots asked to toot their whistles as a signal that the messages were clearly heard.

A phonograph was set up near the loud speaker on the roof of the Bell Laboratories and five or six seconds later sounds of music from the record came with the utmost clearness and distinctness to the listeners in Hoboken—(five seconds being the approximate length of time required for the sound to travel through the air for one mile across the Hudson from the loud speaker). Mrs. R. W. King, wife of the engineer in charge of the demonstration, sang over a telephone which connected her home in Short Hills, N. J., with the Bell Laboratories, and this, too, was sent through the loud speaker in the delight of the little group in Hoboken.

It is this far-flung broadcasting of music, as well as of speech, that makes the new loud speaker of so much interest for the future. With it great crowds in public places can dance or listen to music even though a long distance away from its source. And as for being able to hear a speaker, even in the largest convention halls or out in "the wide open spaces," that will be no trick at all!

Clock Revolution Idea May Lead To Perpetual Motion

GENEVA, Feb. 22.—(INS)—A new bid for the solution of the perpetual motion problem has been made here by a young engineer, Jan Louis Reutter, the son of the municipal treasurer of Neuchâtel.

Reutter, who has been pursuing his experiments for more than ten years, started by assuming the feasibility of harnessing to clockwork the energy produced by the perpetual motion present in the varying differences of the atmospheric pressure and the temperature. His instrument is really a clock propelled by a metal barometer.

Realizing that the clocks to be used in the experiments must be so constructed that they ran with a minimum amount of energy, he set to work, and perfected two clocks which have now been running without stopping and without re-winding for several months. They require only one-thousandth part of the amount of energy necessary to drive an ordinary clock.

The smallest daily variations of pressure are sufficient to keep the clock in motion. It is believed in clockmaking circles in Geneva that the present invention heralds a complete revolution in the clock-making industry, and may lead to very important developments in other branches of science.

Official Of Indiana Starts Probe Into Activities Of Klan

ASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—(INS)—That the national organization of the Ku Klux Klan urged that whipping and tar and feather parties be used to revive interest in the St. Joseph County Klan was alleged here today by Pat Emmons of South Bend, former Exalted Cyclops of South Bend, Ind. Emmons made the charge during a deposition hearing held by Attorney General Arthur L. Gilliam at the state house for use in his suit to oust the Klan from Indiana at his office at the state house for use in his suit to oust the Klan from Indiana. The recommendation for drastic terrorism came through a national representative whose name was Sirmar, according to the testimony of Emmons.

"You ought to make somebody around this Roman Catholic city of South Bend out whip them, tar and feather them and then you would see the members joining fast. It takes a demonstration to shake up the protestant people," the testimony read.

After Emmons and other South Bend Klansmen had vigorously opposed the proposal Emmons said that the national representative called him "weak kneed and yellow."

The Klan has sunk from a high water mark of 178,000 members in Indiana to a paid up membership today of "less than 4,000" according to Emmons' testimony.
