Paris' Crazy Horse Saloon Where Strip Tease Is A Form Of Art

By ROSETTE HARGROVE
PARIS—(NEA)—It started in a large coal cellar on the crooked Avenue George V as a sort of bistro for "cowboys de luxe." Owner Alain Bernardin, Western films fan, deciding he would pattern his venture after a Wild West saloon, called it the Crazy Horse Saloon. (A picture of Chief Crazy Horse, who lived circa 1870, adorns the vestibule of the joint.)

This May, the Crazy Horse

Saloon will celebrate its 26th birthday. Probably the only strip mining gold in Paris, it has no gambling, no bunnies, no hostesses. Just a sophisticated nude show, unequalled anywhere in the world, the most celebrated, as well as the fastest.

There are two shows lasting two hours every evening—one at 10 p.m. the other at 12:30. With a seating capacity for 250 and another 100 customers at the bar, the place is practically full every night.

The 15 dancers, whose ages range from 18 to 28, represent a small United Nations. They are French, English, Italian, Portuguese, German, Czech, Scandinavian, Malaysian, Vietnamese, African. They are paid $50 a night.
"Pyromalton" Bernardin, a wry Frenchman in his late 50s, started his saloon, he says, when he realized that Paris had no intimate theater offering the public a sophisticated, unusual nude show. He explains, "The first flesh-colored lights, a daring innovation, appeared on the stage of the Folies Bergere back in 1890. It was only between the two World Wars that music halls staged 'nude' models who did not dance, just playing the part of 'live' statues."

No less than 205 dancers have appeared at the Crazy Horse since its opening.

"It is not easy to find a girl who will make a perfect nude dancer," Bernardin says. "I have had to work out lighting effects to camouflage minor defects. None of my girls are just beautiful dolls. They must have initiative, spirit and be interested in their work. Beauty is often stupid, anyway."

The chorines come from every social milieu—daughters of working-class parents, doctors, lawyers, journalists, a wide cross-section. There is even the daughter of an African king.
Bernardin gives them whimsical stage names: Prima Symphonie, Anna Portobello, Capula Pupo, Lova Moor, Bonita Super, Rosa Fumetto, Miss Zahoo, Viola V., Wanda Monopolka, Sophie Palladium, Vicky Toboggan.

Bernardin is very proud of his cast. House rules are rigid but he says they are all one happy family. The girls do not indulge in pot or just plain smoking and the majority drink nothing stronger than fruit juices or coffee.

Studio—and everywhere else he could.
It paid off. His talents as a singer and dancer were prominently displayed when he co-starred with Carol Burnett in a television special, "Once Upon a Mattress." This led to the starring role in a Broadway musical, "Draught The Cat," for which he won critical acclaim, even though the show lasted only a week. He followed this with a number of stage appearances in plays such as "On the Town," "Little Murders" and "Lovers" in the touring company with Shelley Winters. His performance in the latter was brought to the attention of casting directors, and the Hollywood assignment for "Minsky's" was the result.

IMPRESARIO ALAIN BERNARDIN, founder and owner of the Crazy Horse Saloon, discusses a routine with one of "his" girls.

'I Love My Wife' Set For Plaza On Sunday

Elliott Gould, who rocketed to stardom in "Bob & Carol & Ted & Alice" and "M. A. S. H.," opens Sunday at Movieland Drive-In Theatre in the David L. Wolper production in Technicolor for Universal. "I Love My Wife," an irreverent, yet uncomfortably real, satirical comedy which probes the institutions of marriage and sex as they apply to the new morality today's society. Brenda Vaccaro and Angel Tompkins co-star.

ELLIOTT Gould and Brenda Vaccaro star in "I Love My Wife," opening Sunday at the Movieland Drive-In Theatre.

For Gould, this is his sixth feature motion picture in less than three years since he made his debut in "The Night They Raped Minsky's." In his second feature, "Bob & Carol & Ted & Alice," in which he played Ted, he was nominated for an Academy Award as best supporting actor. In addition to those already mentioned, he has starred in "Getting Straight" and "Move."

A native of Brooklyn, 6' 2" and 209 pounds, Gould claims he was "sort of raised on the stage." When the youngsters in his neighborhood were playing baseball, he was busy taking dancing lessons and performing at lodges, temples, weddings, and bar mitzvahs. Eventually he studied with Lee Strasburg and observed classes at the Actor's

Murder Victim's Car Discovered

By BILL SCOTT

The Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) has entered the John Sechrist murder case following the discovery of the aged recluse's 1966 Comet automobile, missing since the time of his murder and found abandoned in another state. This was disclosed today by Police Det. Sgt. William Lykens, who declined to reveal in what state the missing vehicle was found.

Lykens explained that since the car was located out of Florida, the FBI would have to be brought into the case to continue the investigative phase that will involve the crossing of state boundaries.

Sechrist, a recluse in his late 70s, was found knifed to death in a bedroom of his 2418 Cedar Avenue home Feb. 10 by a real estate agent, with whom the dead man had previously dealt over the sale of his home.

The resultant autopsy revealed Sechrist had been stabbed in the left portion of his back and had died of massive bleeding.

The man's car and his wallet were not found by investigators, and after an intensive check of the wooden frame dwelling by police and sheriff's department laboratory technicians, the solution had slowed until the car was found.

Lykens, for security reasons, declined to disclose anything further about the car's location, whether or when the vehicle would be returned to Sanford.

Now it looks like the Russians will be getting their own space laboratory... again ahead of us... and then watch the national "experts" chastize everybody but themselves for letting this country get so far behind.

Choice Is Coming 12 Months School Or Bonds

By BILL SCOTT

Seminole County School Board needs more money — and plenty of it to meet the need of new schools and renovations called for in the State School Survey just released two weeks ago.

In a special work session called Friday afternoon to deal with the survey report and other school matters the board heard Supt. John Angel explain the survey that needs an estimated $21 million in new schools, renovations to existing schools and other improvements.

Present plans suggested by the school staff call for the approval by the free holders of between $5 or $7 million this year in a bond referendum, then a millage increase of up to four mills by next year.

It is anticipated the bond sale along with state money would allow the county to build enough schools to house the increasing load that has been estimated as high as 2,000 a year.

Plans for the construction of a new Lake Brantley High School and a new elementary school on Red Bug Road sometimes during 1971-72 year.

In 1972-73 year, schools have plans for construction of a Jackson Heights Middle School, a Lake Howell High School and Middle School and a North Orlando Elementary School.

From 1973-76, the plans list a need for four elementary; one and half middle schools and one high school at a yet to be determined sites.

In the years, 1976-79 the survey projects four new elementary, one and half middle and one new high schools also at undetermined sites.

Board member Jean Bryant suggested that she would be hard to sell on a bond issue until the 12-month school plan has been investigated.

A. F. Keeth, board chairman, said he will have to go to the people with a choice "do you want a 12-month school or bond issue?"

Andrew Bracken, administrative aide, said he knew of no county that had been saved having to build new schools by going to 12-month plan.

Chairman Keeth viewed that people would not want to pay money for the new schools and Dr. Stuart Culpepper, member, opined that it didn't bother him to go to the people and tell them they have to pay extra money to go first hand.

"If people want pay money to buy new schools put them on double sessions, make them as sorry as they want it," Culpepper added.

Mrs. Bryant added she could not see how the 12-month school could be avoided, but Supt. John Angel then suggested "none of us know what we're talking about."

When Young arrived, he was charged and removed to the county jail to be held without bond pending a hearing.

The alleged victim told authorities she was assaulted early April 11 by a man who held a knife to her throat and made her submit to sexual relations.

The knife was among the items taken from Young at his arrest. In other county police action, a 15-year-old Longwood youth was arrested on a possession of narcotics charge by Deputy D. M. Lane during weekend investigative activity.

Suspect Is Arrested In Altamonte Rape

After almost a week of intensive investigation, County Detective Johnny Wright arrested a Brevard County laborer for the April 11 rape of an 18-year-old Altamonte Springs woman.

Johnny Clyde Young, 35, of 827 Santa Rosa Drive, Rockledge, was charged after he arrived at the woman's house with a note and $25, which he reportedly gave to the alleged victim.

Wright, Lt. L. J. Kriz and Sgt. Tony Calanog had been at the woman's home after she received a telephone call from a man who offered apologies for the rape and asked to see her.

Working with officers, the woman agreed to have the man come to her home and a date was arranged.

The variance has been initiated for living, space area in that the present regulations encompass 1109 feet and the three divergent models do not meet these specifications. Therefore the company is requesting that the regulations be lowered by the city.

There will be a discussion of subdivision ordinance 80, which will include a discussion upon fire hydrants and maintenance bonds.

Also under discussion will be a revision of the municipality's occupational license fees. Many of the council feel that the fees are too low and need to be reviewed for possible changes.

State Is Co-ordinator Jobs Drive Planned For Vets

Jobs for Veterans task force of Seminole County, headed by City Commissioner Julian Stenstrom as chairman, plans a vigorous campaign to find jobs for returning veterans.
Jobs for Veterans, started by President Nixon last October, is getting off the ground here. The main purpose is to point out to the public in general, and to employers in particular, that many veterans are having a difficult time finding jobs.
The Florida State Employment Service in Sanford and Winter Park are the contact and coordinating points for business firms who have job vacancies and all business firms are urged to make full use of their services.
The biggest hurdle to be overcome, according to William D. McEldra, manager of the Sanford office, is to make business firms aware of the urgent need for them to employ veterans now. "Many do not know that the government pays for on-the-job training or other types of training," he said.
Committee member Robert W. Jackson, retired rear admiral and former commander of the Sanford Naval Air Station, pointed out that the community overall as well as business firms will benefit from the skills and discipline these veterans have acquired during their military service.
The task force unanimously named Helene Edmondson as secretary and publicity coordinator.
Next meeting will be Thursday, May 13, at 7:30 p.m. in the Sanford offices of the Florida State Employment Service.

The jury returned a verdict of not guilty in the case of Willie Murray and Harry Davis Jr., charged with auto larceny.
The only conviction the prosecutors were successful in obtaining was that of Danny Ziss, charged with two counts of sale and possession of narcotics.
The trial of Joseph Dean, charged with rape, was removed from the docket and reset for a later date.
A mistrial was declared in the case of James Farwig, charged with possession of narcotics. The co-defendant, Allen Layman, was released from prosecution by the state by the fact that he was granted immunity to testify against Farwig. The mistrial was declared by Circuit Judge Tom Waddell after the jury said that it was hopelessly deadlocked.
The case involved an arrest on Jan. 16 when county sheriff's deputies located a cache of drugs in a wooded area near Rolling Hills. The area was placed under surveillance and later Farwig and Layman arrived on the scene and removed the drug (a plastic chip containing cannabis (marijuana)) to a house on Barton Street, where they were subsequently arrested.

Youth Shelter 'Shelved'

By MARION BETHA
An application by Seminole all youth shelter for a special exception permitting the building and operation of the proposed facility on a 20 acre tract which is zoned for agriculture, and which was scheduled for public hearing at a 7:30 meeting tonight of the county Board of Adjustment, has been withdrawn by the applicants.
The tract is located on Crippen Road and would be used for a rehabilitation home for delinquent boys. The matter was tabled last month by the board in order to consult with Juvenile Court Judge Wallace Hall and others who are involved in the project.
Property owners in the area have opposed the location of the shelter, saying that it would be detrimental to their community.
Flameless electric comes into your home so quietly, and you use it so much in everyday life, that you hardly ever realize what a bargain it is. But when you compare the history of electric service rates with the way your other costs have risen lately, you get a pleasant surprise. While inflation has been pushing other prices up, the price of electricity has gone down...down...down. In fact, the average price paid per kilowatt hour by FPL-served families today is one-third less than it was in 1957.
No wonder, then, that you're using electricity so much nowadays...to save you work, to make home more comfortable, to bring you entertainment. There's no match for flameless electric... the biggest bargain in your budget.

Burglars Hit Oviedo Hi School

By LIZ MATHIEUX
OVIEDO—Angry intruders left a scene of destruction at Oviedo High School this weekend when they entered the building through a window in the office of David Miller, athletic director. The office once was occupied by Kirkby Bucklewe, assistant principal, and is approximately 10 feet from the bookkeeper's office which apparently is the place the vandals sought.

THIS OFFICE DOOR was successfully removed from the hinges when the would-be thieves entered the Oviedo High School early Saturday morning in quest of money. Keith Stone, principal, sadly exclaimed that this was "the second time since October that the school had been broken into."

They apparently were looking for money, which they failed to find, since Mrs. Lynda McIntosh, the bookkeeper, had made her weekend deposit on Friday evening. Paradoxically a dollar bill was found attached to a discarded paper upon a mound of cancelled checks, letters, papers and what-have-you which the culprits overlooked.
The pilferers did not take any of the expensive office machines, hi-fi equipment or microphones belonging to the public address system.
Keith Stone, principal, was positive that the intruders were after money and sought no other revenge. Stone said that the thieves were of "a mediocre type... yet well aware of the location which they sought... the bookkeeper's safe."
Stone further stated because of the "recent rash of school vandalism no money is kept on hand after office hours." The bookkeeper's office was entered by the door which had the lock picked by a sharp instrument. Also included in the search for money was the office of Mrs. Zonnie Davis and the office where the records are kept. They removed the door to the safe.
Oviedo High School is wired with an alarm system which is connected directly to the Oviedo police department. But since the entry happened approximately at 2:30 a.m. the alarm call went unheeded because of the fact that the police office is unattended at that time.
The break-in was discovered by Patrolman Steve Garver.

Drug Cases Will Fill Entire Court Docket

By MARION BETHA
The entire docket for arrangements before Circuit Judge Dominic Salfi tomorrow is consumed with narcotics cases.
Continued from last week is the case of Ronald Revels charged with two counts of sale and possession of narcotics in three separate cases. Last week, Revels' attorney, Carroll Burke, failed to show until the arrangements were almost concluded. The case was called, but by this time Revels' mother had left the courtroom and therefore the arraignment was continued.
Also being arraigned is Jerry Herman charged with two counts of sale and possession of narcotics in three separate cases. Thomas will face charges of two counts of sale and possession of narcotics in two separate cases, and two counts of sale of a central nervous system stimulant and possession of a central nervous system stimulant in three other separate cases.

Teacher's Strike is Over

By HENRY GOTTLEB
Associated Press Writer
NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — The often bitter and sometimes violent Newark teachers strike has ended, with 80,000 students and 4,200 teachers set to attend classes for the first time in 11 weeks.
During the strike, the longest teachers' walkout in a major American city, less than half of the students and teachers attended classes although the schools remained open.
The strike aroused racial animosities, which Mayor Kenneth Gibson had said were creating tensions similar to those in Newark before the 1967 summer riots that left 26 persons dead.
The Newark Teachers Union and Board of Education both voted Sunday to accept a compromise plan offered by Gibson.
It provides a three-member panel for binding arbitration of grievances, reinstatement of 247 teachers suspended for strike activities, and a compromise calling for teachers to perform certain nonprofessional chores such as hallway monitoring while they may "voluntarily accept" others.
Nonprofessional duties had become a crucial issue. The union claimed teachers were not required to do them, while the five-member black and Puerto Rican majority on the school board charged that teachers unwilling to perform them were "insensitive to the needs of black children."

'Chamber Of Commerce Week'—Time For Pride

Chamber of Commerce Week, which starts today, is an occasion which should be observed by every resident of Sanford-Seminole with much more than superficial civic pride.

Accomplishments of the former Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, now the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, are of such magnitude that pride is not only proper but essential.

The mustering of the business and professional leaders of a community into a chamber of commerce is not at all unusual. What is unusual is the extraordinary nature of the mustering and the very real leadership the chamber exerted over the past decade.

Deeds, not words, make up the record. The character of the chamber under the bold and effective management of the strong board with John Krierer's skills providing the thrust, was a welcome phenomenon to this reporter.

For our journalistic assignments, covering small and great towns and cities in New England and New York, had developed a concept of chambers of commerce, largely social and devoid of effective civic action, which the Sanford chamber drastically changed.

Mayor Lee P. Moore of Sanford in issuing the proclamation denoting this week, referred to the formula which has made the record so exceptional. "... its more than 600 members have been in the forefront of every worthwhile civic project..." stated Mayor Moore, himself a fine example of the leadership which made such a record possible.

In the past decade, the list of projects which either were conceived and completed by the chamber's membership, or which came to fruition because these dedicated business and professional men refused to admit defeat is impressive.

Visible and prime witnesses are: the new courthouse, the lakefront marina, the Port of Sanford, the improved and broadened telephone service, the overdue road improvements, the Seminole Junior College and new industries.

More important than these specifics, however, is the community strength which the chamber membership provides in a pooling of information which could be obtained in no other way.

But even this community manpower resource would not be as effective as it has been had it not been for the abilities which Executive Manager Krierer brought to play.

A resourceful and wise "ramrod" when it came to pushing chamber and community projects to a successful conclusion, Krierer has attempted to stay in the background as much as possible.

We believe that now is the time when this false modesty be shed. The history of the chambers during these critical decades will be written long after the trials and tribulations have faded away.

What should not be allowed this late, is the very sound, very courageous and very determined devotion of the chambers' membership and its executive manager.

Nor should it ever be forgotten that during these past few years the chamber has enjoyed some of the strongest leadership possible in the persons of the members who have filled the post of president. This is a trend which bids to continue happily.

We join with Mayor Moore and ask that "all our citizens, organizations and institutions..." recognize this special week and join in its observance.

In so doing the community strengthens itself and girls for the great challenges which are on hand and the great opportunities for sound progress and growth which are nearer than "just around the corner."

Inflation Problem

The government's own labor experts cannot agree on the significance of the fact that the nationwide unemployment rate is hovering at about 6 per cent.

The rate is not going up, yet it is not going down. Good news or bad news?

One thing is certain, Democrats in Congress will use the unemployment figures to back up their effort to put the federal government deeper into the job-making business.

A $1.7 billion program to give local governments the wherewithal to hire 150,000 persons to do whatever work can be found for them has been approved by the Senate and is moving through the House.

Meanwhile Democrats are pressuring President Nixon to get on with spending $12 billion he has been authorized to spend for public works projects.

Jobs would abound, they argue, if Mr. Nixon would lift the "freeze" on these funds.

The President has been withholding the funds for good reason, just as he had a good reason last December for vetoing a bill similar to the job-making measure now resurrected by Congress.

The reason is that federal spending is already nearing a level where it would undermine the effort to bring inflation under control.

Congressmen anxious to solve the unemployment problem with massive doses of federal funds are forgetting where the roots of that problem lie. They lie in inflation, and to push the federal deficit to greater heights can only make inflation worse.

Technology Is Vital To U.S.

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UPI)—This country is in some danger of losing its world advantage as the possessor of the highest technology among all its principal trading competitors.

For those who currently see "technology" as the enemy of the environment and of life, the question may be, "So what?"

The answer is just as simple as the question. We need our superiority in technology to keep healthy economically as a nation.

Obviously we, and other countries as well, now must find a way to eat our cake and have it, too. We can no longer consider technology apart from its possibly harmful environmental effects. We must spend the resources required to make and keep air and water clean.

Yet we cannot treat technology as some hated adversary. It is a key element in our economic growth—and growth we must have. Otherwise we might reach a point where we could say our waters are not stagnant any more—but we are...

If this has the ring of primality, so does the war against technology.

By volume, we are by far the greatest trading nation on earth. Exports means more in

Her Name: Kate Webb, MIA

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Kate Webb is a slender girl with dark brown hair, a shy smile, a great warmth and a great determination. In her spare time she likes to paint in oils.

What really makes her stand out is that she is a war correspondent. In a tough field she is better than able to hold her own.

Last March she put this lead on a story from Phnom Penh: "The worst time of the day for newsmen in Cambodia is nearly evening when the silent roll call is taken. All present, and faces, relax. One missing, and the alert is sounded. Someone riding the roads—perhaps Highway 4, 7, 9 or 5—is not back..."

Even among fellow newsmen she is a man apart. Among the older ones, who may have been there themselves, it is both a recognition of the risks involved and admiration for the sheer endurance it often requires.

On April 7, this alert went up for Kate—missing on Highway 4 after an ambush.

Five others disappeared with her. Cambodian freelance photographers and two interpreters.

A Cambodian soldier said he saw three Communist soldiers grab her and drag her toward the jungle. She had abandoned the shelter of a ditch to try to get pictures of the action.

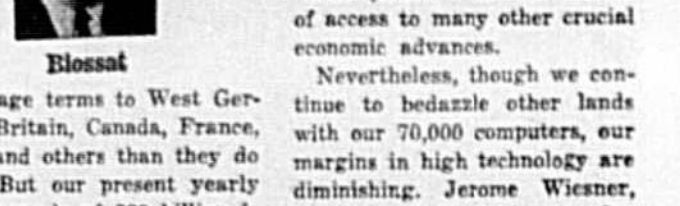

Highway 4 runs southwest from Phnom Penh to the port of Kampong Som. Highway 2 runs directly south from Phnom Penh toward the Mekong River Delta of South Vietnam. It was on Highway 2 that UPI men Frank French and Kyoichiro Sawada were killed last October. Kate Webb had succeeded French as UPI's Phnom Penh manager.

A war correspondent's business is a risky one at best, and Cambodia has been especially costly, nine known dead and 23 missing in a year. International journalists organizations and their own organizations are pressing the search for the

Rural Solon Wins

By JOHN VAN GIESON
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Grizzled Rep. Howell Lancaster, D-Trenton, quickly put to rest suspicions he was relinquishing his power as farm bloc leader by approving a revenue split that hurt rural counties.

Within a week, the 59-year-old representative showed he packed his old clout for farm in interests by fighting off Gov. Reubin Askew's attempt to tax tractor sales at 4, not 3 per cent.

Lancaster's concern about the governor's attempt to tax farm machinery sales at 4 per cent came naturally enough. He recently paid $405 sales tax on purchase of a $12,500 tractor.

"I feel like the farmers pay their fair share now," he said.

"The only thing we asked the state on is the equipment we need to make our living."

A former mayor of Trenton, 30 miles west of Gainesville in Gilchrist County, Lancaster grows corn and watermelons and raises cattle on an 800-acre farm.

Lancaster became something of an instant hero to tax reformers last week when he urged the House to pass a bill tracking the ceiling on race track funds at this year's level, expected to be $430,000 per county.

The money means little to big counties, but in the rural counties it gives voters a tangible benefit and agriculture it means better schools. It meant a lot, therefore, when Lancaster, who represents five small counties, spoke for the ceiling.

"My reason was I thought the state's obligations had run out on it," he said. "It was strictly a business judgement."

Lancaster's new found status as a tax reformer lasted only until the farm machinery issue came before the House. Rep. Marshall Harris, D-Miami, said he knew the governor's proposal to increase the tractor tax was doomed as soon as Lancaster rose to his feet.

"When Howell Lancaster gets up and moves an amendment, he's fairly certain he's got the votes," said Harris.

In getting up to advocate removal of the 4 per cent farm machinery tax proposal, Lancaster made an unusual plea to cash in chips from anyone he had helped.

First Award Program Staged By Press Club

A series of awards was made Sunday to Central Florida newsmen for excellence in reporting and interpretation of news of the Central Florida area.

The awards program was conducted by the Greater Orlando Press Club and covered reporting during calendar year 1970. It makes the first such program for the Press Club.

Pullitzer Prize winner Allen Drury served as chairman of the awards committee, although he was unable to attend the presentation ceremonies held at the Naval Training Center.

Presentations were made by Carl T. Langford, mayor of Orlando.

Awards, which included checks for $100 and an engraved plaque were presented as follows:

Best newspaper interpretive report—Joseph L. Brechner, for his column in the Orlando Sentinel titled "Our Opinion," and specifically for a series on social problems and civil liberties.

Best radio reporting of spot news—Bob Arel, WKIS, for an on-the-spot report on the capture of a man charged with murder.

Best radio documentary—Fred Bradshaw, WDBO, for a 30-minute examination of the Bithlo Rock Festival, its effects and aftermath.

Best television documentary or interpretive report—Bernice Norton, WTVT, for a 20-minute examination of the Florida Barge Canal titled "Obsolete Ditch or Modern Waterway."

A runner-up award was made in the TV documentary category to Fred Bishop, WDBO-TV, for a 20-minute report on the trial of a local racketeer.

Don Oakley Says:

Space Shuttle Fight Warming

By DON OAKLEY
NEA Editorialist

If you liked the controversy over the supersonic transport, you'll love the one shaping up over the projected development of a space shuttle.

As presently envisioned, the shuttle system would consist of a winged craft—a small orbiter riding piggyback on a huge booster.

The twin-engine orbiter would be about 210 feet long, with a wingspan of 124 feet and a launch weight of about 960,000 pounds.

The 12-engine booster would stand 270 feet high on the launch pad, have wings 150 feet long and weigh some 3.7 million pounds at liftoff.

The vehicles have been described as resembling a 747 jumbo jet standing on its tail with a 707 transport on its back.

Each vehicle would be manned by a crew of two and each would land under jet engine power. The larger one would return to base in about 90 minutes, after it had hoisted the shuttle toward orbit, and the latter would return to earth as much as a week later.

The shuttle could carry space station sections into orbit and a downer crewman at a time to assemble the station or to man it. It could carry fuel and supplies and relief crews for space stations and serve as a space-rescue vehicle.

Unlike the SST, however, the space shuttle has military applications, and that may be the kiss of death for it as far as many people are concerned. Already the Air Force has re-

The Lighter Side

Caught On The Horns Again

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Once again, as during the recent South Vietnamese incursion into Laos, we confused laymen are being gored by the horns of dilemma.

This time our quandary concerns the 1969 move by the Viet Cong to wipe out tax shelters in the internal revenue code.

It long had been apparent that Viet tactics were using the revenue code as a privileged sanctuary in which they had stored vast amounts of exemptions and allowances.

Efforts by tax collectors to halt the practice were thwarted by the ease with which the Viet falcons could slip through loopholes in the thicket of gobbledygook overlaying the revenue code.

It was for this reason that the Viet Congress finally launched Operation Tax Reform, which was designed to destroy hidden tax shelters and liberate their contents.

Officially, however, the reform move is being pictured as having accomplished its objective.

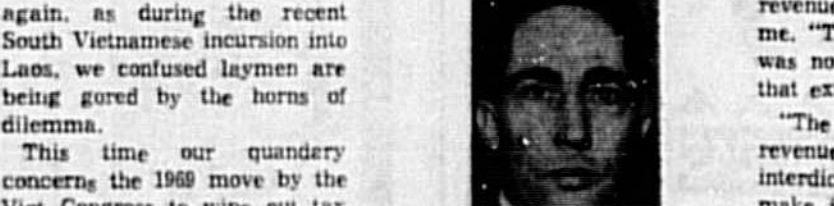

"This campaign was never intended to force a complete withdrawal of the Viet falcons from their shelters in the revenue code," one official told me. "The Viet Congress simply was not prepared to undertake that extensive an operation."

"The very limited goal of the revenue code incursion was to interrupt the major shelters and make it more difficult for the Viet falcons to move their exemptions and allowances along the loophole trail."

"To that extent, I would say the operation achieved satisfactory results. It also had the secondary benefit of building confidence in the Viet Congress of its ability to wage tax reform."

I said, "What about reports that the Viet Congress started retreating from the revenue code almost as soon as it encountered heavy lobbying?"

"That is a gross misrepresentation of the true facts," the official snapped. "Considering its inexperience, the Viet Congress displayed great courage in attacking the tax shelters, and its withdrawal from the revenue code was made according to plan."

confronted with conflicting accounts as to the success of the operation.

According to the unofficial version, compiled from reports by correspondents in the field, the tax shelters were relatively undamaged by the reform act and continue to provide effective protection for the Viet falcons.

Officially, however, the reform move is being pictured as having accomplished its objective.

"This campaign was never intended to force a complete

Battles For Corporate Tax

Askew Tackles GOP Iceberg

By BARBARA FRYE
TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—Gov. Reubin Askew will stick around the capitol Tuesday to give his personal attention to a legislative battle over taking his corporate profits tax measure before the Florida voters this year.

Askew thinks there's a "good chance" to crack the Republican iceberg that has blocked repeated efforts to get the measure to the voters in time to help balance his $1.44 billion budget proposal.

"I plan to cancel all engagements for Monday and stick around the capitol," Askew said. However, he added that he has made "no concerted campaign" to line up votes in the legislature.

"I have made no deals, no promises and no threats," he said in an interview. "Why should I? I'll live to fight another day. I am not one that gives up, you know."

Rules chairman Murray Dabbin, D-Miami, contended that the hopes to put the early public vote resolution on the House calendar for a vote "Tuesday or Wednesday" if it looks like it can pass. The governor indicated he wanted it voted on, even if sure approval is not in view.

Rep. George Caldwell, a leader in the key Republican Broward County delegation, said he can see no chance for the 90 votes needed to call the early election.

"We want to wait and take a look at the budget," he said, legislators that included Appropriations chairman Marshall Harris, D-Miami, and Republican leader Don Reed, R-Boca Raton, to lunch at the mansion Friday.

Askew said it was not an "arm-twisting" affair, but merely the start of a series of horse-hoers that will include every legislator before the session is over.

Students To Strike At U Of Florida

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP)—More than 400 protesting students performed a mock burial of University of Florida President Stephen C. O'Connell Sunday night and then carried a wreath to the O'Connell home.

"We've come to bury O'Connell, not to praise him," intoned one youth as an effigy of the university president was interred in the Plaza of the Americas.

Later in an interview, O'Connell said he will testify if called in court proceedings against those arrested for trespassing in his office last week after being ordered to leave.

"I will testify if they ask me to," O'Connell said.

Chiles attributed the troubles to a good case of spring fever.

"It's the silly season," O'Connell said.

"It's that time of year," the Florida Democrat said. "There were problems at this time of the year when I attended here and there will be problems 10 years from now."

The crowd, swelling to 600 persons, sang "Swing Low Sweet Chariot" as a dummy was lowered into the earth in protest of the arrest Thursday of 71 black students and one white youth.

Protestors placed a black wreath on the doorstep of the O'Connell home, sang several mock-serious dirges and disbanded.

Earlier in the day U.S. Sen. Lawton Chiles cancelled an Earth Week speech in the open air plaza because of tension following a clash between students and riot police last week.

Trouble began Thursday when members of the Black Student Union presented O'Connell a list of demands for more recruitment of black students and teachers, and a greater role for blacks in administration.

O'Connell ordered the group arrested when they refused to leave his office. The move sparked tension that continued over the weekend.

The black union has called on students to stage a general strike of classes today to demand O'Connell's ouster and the dismissal of charges against those suspended and arrested in last week's disturbances.

University Police Lt. Dudley Golden said the 43 man security force has been put on 12-hour duty shifts without leaves or vacation time in anticipation of strike activities.

O'Connell and Chiles appeared together at an informal news

Misleading News Info Distributed By Allies

By GEORGE ESPER
SAIGON (AP) — U.S. fighter-bombers attacked North Vietnamese positions inside the A Shau valley today for the second successive day in support of an allied operation that apparently hasn't gotten off the ground.

Both President Nguyen Van Thieu and Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, the commander of U.S. forces in South Vietnam, announced the operation Saturday, and Abrams said South Vietnamese troops were in the A Shau, giving the impression that they had moved into the 30-mile-long valley in force.

But field reports today said only reconnaissance troops were operating inside the valley on the Laotian border, and the major force would move in later this week.

The announcements by Thieu and Abrams raised the possibility that the U.S. Command and the South Vietnamese government were giving out misleading information in an attempt to confuse the North Vietnamese. But Abrams' chief spokesman, Col. Robert W. Leonard, said he considered questions along this line "impertinent" and added: "We have never used the press to cause speculation."

South Vietnamese military headquarters turned aside all questions about the operation. A spokesman, Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien, said he would not disclose any details until there was significant contact with the enemy.

The forward command posts of the South Vietnamese task force and elements of the U.S. 101st Airborne Division have been set up just to the south of Quang Tri City.

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government put a new satellite called Salute into orbit today. The Russians called it a "scientific station" but said nothing about any men being aboard.

If the satellite is unmanned, it could be joined by a manned spacecraft that would link up. There have been rumors for a week that the Soviets were preparing for a manned shot, and West Germany's Bochum observatory said it expects another launching late tonight.

The goal of the Soviet manned space program is the establishment of orbital space laboratories, but space officials have announced no date for this.

Bochum observatory reported that it recorded the launch of Salute at 3:40 a.m.—9:40 p.m. Sunday EST—and said the craft was using a radio frequency reserved in the past for manned space flights.

The Soviet government usually refers to unmanned space shots as "automatic," but the first announcements of Salute did not use this word.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, said the mission of the station was "the adjustment of elements of the design and on-board systems, carrying out scientific studies and investigations in cosmic flight." It said the station's high point from the earth was 137.9 miles and the low point 124.2 miles—and

Associated Press correspondent J. T. Wolkenstorfer reported from the field that a U.S. helicopter was shot down over the A Shau over the weekend and the pilot was killed. Helicopters of the 101st patrol troop valley regularly.

Discussions Slated On Settlement Ideas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Iracl Deputy Premier Yigal Allon left today for a surprise visit to Washington to discuss the Israeli government's ideas for a partial settlement with Egypt.

Allon is scheduled for a two-week visit to Canada, but a spokesman said he left a day early "so he could spend a few hours in Washington."

It was not known if he was carrying a message from Premier Golda Meir to President Nixon. Washington has reportedly been pressing the Israelis to present a plan for partial settlement that could result in the reopening of the Suez Canal.

Allon expressed regret Sunday at the formation of the Egyptian-Libyan Syrian settlement involving a reopening of the waterway as a preliminary to an eventual full-scale peace agreement is currently under discussion in Egypt and Israel. Public statements by leaders of both nations indicate a major obstacle is the question of how far Israeli troops would withdraw from the canal and whether they would be replaced along the east bank by Egyptian forces.

"The Jordan River is our security line, and we will stay there," Dayan said. "But I don't say withdrawal is forbidden where the canal is concerned."

He declared that in the absence of peace Israel "must continue to fortify the canal line so that we do not fall in war."

Kirk Sr. Resigns Post

By BILL SCOTT
Claude Kirk Sr., father of Florida's former governor and a former employe in Alabama's pension and securities system, has resigned from his work with the State Hospital Commissioners and Trustees Board, with whom he had been associated in a program for surveying the needs of hospitals.

The resignation was disclosed Saturday at a meeting of the Florida Hospital Commissioners and Trustees Association's Board of Directors held at Sanford's Holiday Inn.

This is the second time, the state group has held its meeting at Sanford, home of Dr. Thomas Largen, association director.

Dr. Paul W. Taylor Jr., director from Indian River County and a member of a three-man committee appointed to look into a Poly-Med federal funded program, revealed the resignation by Kirk Sr., from the board which he was appointed in December, 1969, while his son was governor of Florida.

Dr. Taylor gave no reason for the decision by Kirk to quit the post, but the directors accepted the resignation with regret.

George W. Croker, a former associate and friend of Kirk, was reimbursed in the amount of $1,500 for his work in preparing the proposal for federal funds and approved by the board to continue in his position of revising the application.

Former Constable's Trial Set By County Judge Hall

By MARION BETHEA
Trial begins this afternoon at 1 p.m. before County Judge Wallace Hall in the case of Bob Jane, former constable of Altamonte Springs who was suspended by former Gov. Claude Kirk Jr. following indictment by a Seminole County grand jury upon falsification of public records, perjury and assault and battery.

Jane requested a trial by jury, and was observed at the rear of the court room this morning wearing a sand-colored business suit. Jane appeared at ease and displayed a half smile as the trial was announced.

The perjury charges against Jane were dismissed due to the fact that Jane was not under oath when an arrest warrant affidavit was issued.

The assault and battery charges stem from an alleged incident involving Joseph Surprenant, in which he was beaten outside a bar near Casselberry in 1969.

The falsification of public records charge against Jane was the only one that was not dropped. Jane committed the alleged offense to show that Surprenant was arrested at the Regency Apartments in Casselberry, and that the offense had been committed there.

Olga Returns From China

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Tired and longing for a home-cooked meal, 17-year-old Olga Soltesz returned home to Orlando Sunday night after a one-week tour of Red China with the United States table tennis team.

The youngest member of the team, Miss Soltesz described the life in Red China as primitive but said the people were friendly.

"It's completely different from the United States," she said. "It's very primitive and I thought it would be more modern than that. Even a big city like Peking wasn't anything like Orlando."

Miss Soltesz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Soltesz, said her most exciting day was meeting Chinese leader Chou En Lai and said she hoped the ping-pong playing visit did some good.

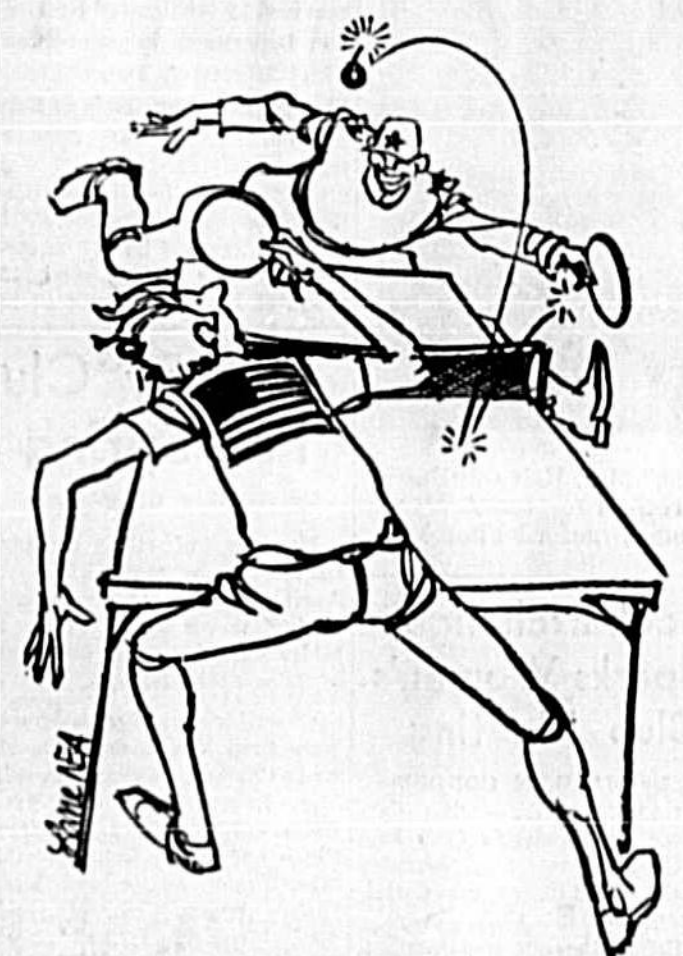

"I hope the people of both countries can come together, because they are just as nice as any other human beings," she said. "The people are warm and were really friendly — there were no cars, only a few buses and everybody rode bicycles."

Miss Soltesz returned on a 9:30 p.m. flight from Tokyo after making arrangements to come home a day early. The senior at Boone High School said she was surprised to find only blue government buildings in the modern Chinese world.

"I thought Peking would be a miniature Chicago but there were no cars, only a few buses and everybody rode bicycles," she said.

Sex segregation in the schools and the food were the most disagreeable things she found, Miss Soltesz said.

Miss Soltesz has been coached by her father, who was a table tennis champion in his native Hungary in the 1940s.

Court Gives Ali 30 Minutes

By TOM SEPPY
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court gave former heavyweight boxing champion Muhammad Ali 30 minutes today to tell why he should be free to fight in a country he says his God won't let him fight for.

It is Ali's last chance to avoid a five-year prison sentence for refusing to be drafted nearly four years ago.

Lawyers for Ali took their half of the hour hearing to argue that their client should be drafted exempt on religious grounds. A ruling is expected before the court adjourns in June.

Ali, who now lives in Philadelphia, was expected at the hearing but was not to testify.

Ali's lawyers insist the former heavyweight champion who lost a bid to regain his crown last month to Joe Frazier, was prohibited by his Muslim religion from fighting not only in Vietnam but in any conflict except a holy war declared by Allah himself.

The boxer has been quoted as saying publicly he had no quarrel with the Viet Cong and is opposed to fighting in "white man's wars."

Ali's appeal is based to a large degree on a 1955 Supreme Court ruling that a Jehovah's Witness was entitled to conscientious objector status even though he was not opposed to a "theocratic war" commanded by Jehovah.

Before today's hearing the government answered Ali's claim by arguing he "did not have a conscientious scruple to participation in all wars, but only to certain wars depending upon particular circumstances."

The black boxer was retaining heavyweight champion when he refused to take the traditional step forward April 28, 1967, at the Houston Armed Forces Induction Center.

Convicted in June of that year by an all-white jury of six men and six women, Ali was sentenced on June 20, 1967.

He has remained free under $5,000 bond while his lawyers threaded the long and complicated paths of appeal, rehearing and appeals again.

After his conviction, Ali was stripped of the boxing title he won from Sonny Liston. He also was denied a license by most state boxing commissions and the federal courts refused to let him fight outside the country.

IT LOOKS TOO CLOSE for the comfort of Manuel Benitez, better known as El Corodoba, but his nimble sideways leap cleared the horns with room to spare at the Valencia, Spain, Spring Corrida where the millionaire insider took top prize.

There will be 52 flower arrangements plus potted plants, cut specimens, "zoo gardening" and displays including world gardening, "What The World Needs Now" and garden therapy. "Thanks for the Memory." The stage will display the song title "What A Difference a Day Made," a before and after garden featuring conservation, anti-litter and birds.

NOT MANY PEOPLE realize you can break a rib by coughing violently. Nor do many realize more women than men do so every year. . . . HOW LONG does a pound and a half of coffee last around your place? No matter, merely wanted to mention it takes a coffee bush a whole year to turn out that much. . . . UNDER BRITISH LAW, the most a young man may be fined by the court for fathering an illegitimate child is the equivalent of about $2 a week.

HOW REMARKABLE the Parrot Fish! Come dark, it knits its own nightgown. As the sun goes down, this West Indian fish secretes a transparent mucous envelope that spreads out from its mouth to encase its entire body. At sunrise, it unbuttons the "thing," or whatever, and goes on about its business.

IN THE WEST RESTAURANT of the world's largest hotel, the Ritz of Moscow, the quickest way for waitresses to get from the main dining hall to the kitchen is down the escalator. And that's how they do it. Architects, please note. . . . "WHAT I USED to hate about a three-day weekend in the country was all the dirty clothes I had to deal with when we got home," writes a feminine homemaker at Ventura, Calif. Fortunately, that's all over now that we're vacationing regularly at the nudist camp.

This could surprise you, but cocktail gatherings wherein both men and women congregate are noisier, far noisier, than stag parties. As a rule, The Acoustical Society of America's researchers found that out. They took sound levels at various gatherings, incidentally, they also discovered that librarians—shush!—with martini glasses in their hands are just as noisy as everybody else.

CUSTOMER SERVICE: Q "Don't more young girls than young boys commit suicide?" A. More young girls try it. But more young boys actually go through with it. . . . Q "What's your stand on sex education?" A. Strongly believe in both, sir. . . . Q "Can dogs catch mumps from cows?" A. Understand it has happened.

WHEN THE WORKING MAN punches in, the time clock automatically plays a brief recorded message to him from the president of the firm. If said employee is early, the message is congratulatory. ## Letters To The Editor Sanfordites Help

Editor, Herald:
We just arrived in your lovely town about a week ago, and I've never met nicer people. They really care, and they help without any complaints. At the Mobile Park we are having at the manager helped my husband find a job. He gave him a name of Hubbard Construction Company and directions on how to get there and my husband was hired.
But what I'm really writing you about is the helpfulness of three "Sanfordites," who really make the world a better place to live and practice brotherhood.
Last night my husband, Bill, came home from work, his first day and he was ambushed, so he asked me to run down to the Plaza to get him some sun-tan lotion. When I came out again my figure would start. I couldn't figure out what was wrong being a typical woman! So finally I looked at the gas gauge it read E—for Empty! I went to the Phillips 66 gas station and asked the attendant if he had anything to carry gas in. He said, "Yes, ma'am," so I got a dollar's worth and carried the heavy can back to the truck. It wouldn't even turn over. I had run the battery down, so I set three. I remembered Penney's automotive department, so I walked over and asked the man if he had a set of cable jumpers and if he would help get the truck started. He said he'd like to, but they didn't have any cable jumpers. I'd have to call someone and it would be expensive. I walked back over to the truck. I felt like kidding it, but since I was barefooted I thought better of it. I remembered the gas can so I walked to the gas station and asked if they had cable jumpers. He said they had a battery charger, but he wouldn't leave the station and he would like to help, but was in a bind. The station attendant said he'd go back to the Phillips 66 to see if the attendant had a set. I walked back and he was waiting on a customer. He didn't have the keys, but asked the lady to leave waiting on and she got out of her car, opened her trunk and lo and behold... cable jumpers!

Back to the car lot and the salesman took one of his new cars and drove me to the Plaza and looked up the cables. My truck started, and the salesman told me to let it charge up and then I could go.
Through all this I never learned any of their names. I thanked all, but it just didn't seem enough, so that's why I'm writing to you, telling you this wonderful story and to thank them publicly.
Thank you all... the gas station attendant at Phillips 66, the night salesman at Trucks and Opel Kadettes, and most of all, the lady who works nights at the Sanford Plaza Theater. God bless you all.
Bita Martin

Help!
Editor, Herald:
Oversight! I read the book, "Down Under" by Grey McElduff, and believe, they never failed to mention the inevitable Cottonwoods. Now, could someone be kind enough to tell me where these blooms? Cottonwoods grow here in Sanford?

(Ed. Note—Sorry, Viki... this another "bloomer" without the facts. Perhaps our readers will come to our rescue.)

Appreciation

Having just recently been a patient at the Lakeview Nursing Center, I wish to express my sincere thanks and appreciation to all the nurses and aides for their kindness and good care of me during my stay there.

Generosity
Editor, Herald:
It's just too bad that you must be at the office putting the paper to bed when you should have the thrill of seeing about 2,000 sixth graders of our county enthralled by a live symphony orchestra.
But you've been most generous in making the public aware of this big cultural event in the lives of these youngsters through the columns of "The Herald." So, on behalf of the sponsors, our school board, and especially of the young Seminole county youngsters many thanks for helping make this a real big event.
Your generosity in remembering along with the talent that went into the realization of this dream for about 2,000 of our fine youngsters as they attended this "double-header" concert.

To Mayor
Editor, Herald:
First of all, to you the editor, this has nothing to do with any politics, so for all concerned I do hope you publish this.
An open letter to the Mayor of Sanford.
Sir, several months ago I wrote you and asked you if something couldn't be done about the speeders in our immediate neighborhood. I also asked you if it could be possible to put a sign up on Bel Air Blvd. and Jefferson St., saying go slow and put a speed limit on it.
We have small children that play in the park across the street from my house.
Now, first of all, the children are between seven and twelve years of age. They couldn't possibly get out of the way in time crossing over because the cars that come by are driving between 60 and 90 miles an hour, which means that a driver could not in fact stop a car in time without hitting one of the children.
Both my neighbor and I have been asking you and the people at city hall to please do something about this serious condition, and serious it is.
Why haven't you done something? You can't be that busy as where you can't concern yourself of the safety of children.
I belong to the Sheriff's Helping Hand and I'm trying to help out as best I can, but in the name of heaven can't you!

I wonder how you would feel if one of these children was hit or killed by one of these speeding cars.
Is this what it is going to take to get some action out of you people? I certainly hope not.
We need a sign and I don't believe it would cost the city an arm and a leg to put it up.
(Ed. Note—We'd recommend you circulate a petition and make a request to be scheduled to appear before the entire City Commission with your request.)

In Mississippi Black Seeking Governorship

Possible Tourney Preview? SJC Raiders Split Weekend Pair

By GARY TAYLOR
Herald Sports Editor
ST. PETERSBURG (AP)—The Seminole Junior College Raiders split a two-game weekend in what could be a preview of the first round play of the state tournament. The winner in Division II will meet the runner-up in Division III that will be either St. Petersburg, Manatee or Howard. The runner-up in Division II will meet host Gulf Coast.
Should the Stars of Florida Junior College sweep a pair from Central Florida, the weakest team in the division next week, the Stars and the Raiders will meet in a single game playoff April 20 in Palatka.
The Raiders won the first game Saturday 13-4, but couldn't push the needed runs across the pay station in the second contest, falling 5-1.
Tall and lanky Joe Turnbull, who has spent most of the season roaming the outfield for the Raiders, made his first start on the mound in the first game and went the distance. He fanned six batters.

St. Pete went ahead in the bottom of the first frame, but the lead was short-lived. The Raiders exploded for eight runs on eight hits in the second inning. Ron Hebe started things off with a triple. Bill Dancy led the game with a single. Mike Combs walked and then Dancy and Combs executed a perfect double steal. Mike Rudd, Mike Nolan, Tom Varn and Joe Turnbull all singled in rapid succession. After two were out, Hebe was up again and this time singled. Dancy followed with a single, also his second hit of the frame.
A single by Hebe scored a pair of runs for the Raiders in the fifth, after Nolan had walked and Turnbull reached on error. A pair of doubles helped the Raiders put two more on the scoreboard in the seventh. Turnbull and Dancy

Lyman Hopes Falter

By CHUCK GRILE
Herald Sports Staff
The Lyman Greyhound club dynasty of 1971, the team that captured the Metro conference crown in its first year of eligibility, and the squad that finished second in district playoffs to earn a state berth, last Friday was crushed in its bid for a coveted state crown. The Greyhound effort was for the first time of competition, folded in the final 18 holes of the tournament to finish well down on the list in 12th place, while the team that beat them out for the district crown, Ocala Forest, stormed to victory.
Following Forest were Daytona Seabreech in second, first round leader St. Petersburg Lakewood third, St. Thomas Aquinas fourth and Hialeah fifth, to round out the top five. The other Central Florida entries were Lakeland which

Milwaukee Takes Title In Western Conference

By BOB GREENE
Associated Press Sports Writer
MILWAUKEE (AP)—Will Chamberlain captured the title of the seven-footers, but battling "Captain Marvel" powered the Milwaukee Bucks to the Western Conference title Sunday in the National Basketball Association playoffs.
The Bucks, 116-98 winners over the Los Angeles Lakers, now will take on the Eastern Conference champions Wednesday night in the opening game of the best-of-seven championship series. The Bucks, led by Chamberlain, the veteran Lake center, continued his sparkling play against Alcindor. The former Kansas All-American outscored the Bucks' center, 23-20, and blocked six shots while Alcindor slugged away three would-be baskets.
Four times, Chamberlain knocked away an Alcindor field goal attempt, and twice Alcindor did the same on Chamberlain's shots.
In the rebounding battle, Alcindor finished with 15 and Chamberlain 12.
With Chamberlain dominating play at both ends of the court, Los Angeles hung close until the half, when the Lakers trailed by only six points, 55-49.
Then, as has been their custom, the Bucks exploded in the final two periods to post their

Orioles Winning Again

 Orioles' Orioles repeated their winning touch last Friday downing the Pirates 12-7, and pulled two games into the lead in the Orioles Little League.

Frankie Scott's booming bat most responsible for the Orioles victory as the star catcher rapped out four hits in five trips. Only a super catch by the Pirates' Dwayne

 The Orioles took a 2-0 lead in the first inning on Don Ja-the bottom of the first when Golden singled and Randy Williams unloading a booming shot to deep left center for a cinculated ball.

 Three more runs in the second.
 The Pirates got within a run at 5-4 when they tallied twice in the third. Glenn Zambo's single, a walk to Willis and Clayton Beasley's double accounted for the two runs.
 Scott's third straight single and a single by Steve Brannon accounted for two more opened their second-round play in Chicago with a stunning 2-1 overtime victory. Cliff Korall put the Black Hawks ahead

 midway in the first period,
 Jean Hattelle finally tied it barely three minutes to go in regulation play, then Pete Stenkowski slammed in the winner 1:37 into the extra period.
 The Canadiens had several

 Disaster struck the Seminole

Friday's game saw Oviedo take the lead in the second inning when John Kirkpatrick singled. David Belt was walked and the bases were loaded when Robert Boston was hit by a pitch by the Cocoa Beach hurler, Kirkpatrick came home to score. Mike Hobbs, then Kirkpatrick singled to bring home Hobbs who had stolen third. Belt got on base on an error and stole second with Kirkpatrick advancing to home. Tulp was walked and stole second. ## Cepeda Has A Hot Bat Against Philadelphia '9'

 Hitting against Woody Fryman has been no picnic for Orlando Cepeda.

Cepeda, who once said he didn't like hitting at the Phillies' old park, Connie Mack Stadium, because official scorers were not fair to him, hit a triple in Friday night game and then came home on a wild pitch with two outs in the bottom of the seventh as the Crooms Panthers dropped the Lynas 5-3.

National Health Insurance Program Now 'In The Works'

By EDMOND LEBRETON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Under present plans Congress will go to work in earnest about mid-June on a national health insurance program that could be the most sweeping legislation of its kind since the advent of Social Security in 1936.

Before any plan can be enacted profound differences over how to administer and finance it must somehow be resolved.

Yet it seems likely the lawmakers will drive themselves to accomplish the monumental task of decision-making and compromising before the end of the present Congress.

A wide consensus has formed that the country can wait no longer for better ways of delivering health services to every citizen, regardless of income.

The agreement sweeps across the political and social spectrum, from the Nixon administration to the AFL-CIO. It even includes the American Medical Association, which changed from fighting the idea of government in medical affairs to now recognizing the need of the times by coming in with its own plan.

From the dozens of variations displayed in bills before Congress, one clear difference in approach stands out.

The insurance plan could be government-run and tax-financed, somewhat as Medicare now is. This method is favored by the AFL-CIO and many liberals, in and out of Congress.

Or, the government could use current and state health insurance which would have to conform to legislated standards. The government would participate to some extent, typically by picking up the tab for persons outside regular employment.

One thing is certain. Whoever pays, and in what combination, the cost will be high. Cost estimates of some of the more prominently supported plans range from about $12 billion to nearly $20 billion.

House Ways and Means Committee Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., says the panel is approaching the health insurance legislation without commitments and will look into all the variations and probably choose elements from several producing a "Ways and Means bill."

It will have plenty of options. The heart of the administration proposals is a requirement that employers provide for employees and their dependents basic health insurance, including hospitalization, physicians' services and coverage against catastrophic illness.

Initially, the employer would pay 65 per cent of the premium, the employee the remainder. Later the employer share would increase to 75 per cent.

For the poor, the unemployed or intermittently employed, the government would provide coverage through a Family Health Insurance Plan. The coverage would cost nothing to a family of four with an annual income not more than $3,000. Above that level, families would pay on a sliding scale.

In common with other plans, the administration proposal would encourage the use of Health Maintenance Organizations—HMOs.

HMOs are organizations offering their subscribers full medical services on a prepaid basis and emphasizing preventive care.

A few have been in existence a long time, but their spread across the country has been slow.

In his health message, Nixon lauded the effectiveness and economy of HMOs and proposed federal financial assistance for planning and organizing more of them. His proposal would require employer health plans to offer HMO membership, where available, as an option to covered workers.

He also proposed increased assistance for training doctors and other health personnel and for research, especially in cancer cure.

Spouse Stands By Censured Officer

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — An Orlando, Fla., Army officer relieved of his helicopter battalion command would never in the "whole wide world" criticize the military, his wife said today.

"He is military all the way down to his toes," said Jean Miller of her husband, Lt. Col. Frank Miller who was reassigned to an obscure outpost for allegedly criticizing the allied Laos operation.

Mrs. Miller said she received a telephone call from Miller Monday night. It was learned that his address had been changed effective immediately to Camp Frenzell Jones, a remote staging area 12 miles northeast of Saigon.

When she asked why, Miller replied, "That's classified, man" and said only that a letter would follow.

Miller had for eight weeks directed a helicopter battalion that played a key role in the defense of Fire Base 6 in the central highlands.

Apparently a Failure

He told a newsmen that the allied operation against North Vietnam's Ho Chi Minh trail in southern Laos had apparently been a failure. He also let television crews film helicopters from his battalion when they dropped napalm on North Vietnamese positions around Fire Base 6.

"That command is something he wanted with all of his heart," said Mrs. Miller. "After 25 years of service, he thought of retiring. But he gave up retirement and went back to Vietnam because he thought he could help in some way."

"He went back full of enthusiasm. He was so proud," she said.

Maitland Residents

Mrs. Miller and three of the couple's sons live in Maitland, an Orlando suburb. A fourth son, Michael 18, is attending Georgia Institute of Technology on a four-year Army ROTC scholarship, she said.

AROUND THE CLOCK

By JOHN A. SPOLSKI

There was a purpose in permitting the signatures for only one name onto that petition which ran on Calley's behalf—"Do It NOW" . . .

I believe that whenever a long list of names is entered onto most petitions, the majority . . . (well over 75%) . . . don't have the slightest idea of the purpose of the petition.

In ours . . . it belongs to you and you alone. Put it into an envelope, and if the President ever actually reads it, he'll see your name affixed to the petition.

To prove my point that most people don't read what they're signing I offer you the example of the Texas House of Representatives.

They actually passed a resolution endorsing the job performed by the Boston Strangler in the field of population control.

You think I'm kidding, don't you? Well, I'm not!

The resolution, submitted by a representative who believed the Texas House would pass any resolution set in front of its members, commended Albert De Salvo for "dedication and devotion to his work in population control."

Rep. Tom Moore, the chief sponsor of the resolution, withdrew the commendation after it passed last Thursday.

Need I say more on signers who fall into the "me too" category.

Another good guy award . . . to Florida Highway Patrolman C. E. DePuy of Sanford—certainly one of the most cooperative law enforcement officers, and a pleasure to work with . . .

As Seminole grows, so does the Publix chain of stores. Like the latest to be added on SE 436 and Howell Branch Road, just surrounded by all those apartments. . .

SAIGON (AP)—Lt. Col. Frank Miller, a veteran of two wars, wanted his opinions about Vietnamization to get back to the President of the United States.

So 45-year-old Frank Miller talked to the press during the North Vietnamese stage of Fire Base 6 earlier this month. He said the Laotian invasion was a failure, and then he flew television cameramen in his helicopter to film napalm being dropped around the besieged base in the central highlands.

Relieved Of Command

The Army said Miller talked out of his field of competence, and relieved him of his command of the 52nd Aviation Battalion supporting South Vietnamese troops at Fire Base 6. He was put in command of Camp Frenzell-Jones, 12 miles northeast of Saigon, a staging area for GIs being sent home. It's a real command for a man who commanded 100 helicopters and has been an aviator for half his 25 years in the service.

Miller is serving his second tour in Vietnam. He received a Purple Heart for action in Korea.

"I'm not bitter," Miller said today. "I've been a soldier too long. I'll retire within a year to central Florida and lie in the sunshine. I've got 10 months to finish this tour and then I'll retire."

"I wanted my words and facts that I put out to get back to the President of the United States who is getting bad recommendations on Vietnamization and how effective it is and the time schedule involved. It is working to some extent but not as rapidly as President Nixon thinks or is being told."

City Acts On Log Jam

BLAZING BARRACKS at the Sanford Airport today, when airport officials set afire the former Navy billets, which have been designated as surplus property by the FAA. It was determined it would be too costly to renovate the wooden structures that housed Navy men in World War II, Korean War and the Vietnam War. (Staff Photo)

By BILL SCOTT

City of Sanford is apparently undertaking plans to bring the use of the sale of Sanford Airport utilities to a head by instructing City Manager W. E. Knowles to consult with the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) head at Washington on the log jam stopping the conveyance can be cleared in the next few days.

This was the indication after a discussion Monday between city commissioners, industrial commissioners and other interested citizens with Gene Faulkner, Miami FAA compliance officer, held at the city hall.

Faulkner was in town to explain first hand the "strings" held by the FAA in the conveying to the city the former Navy base, which has been converted into a combination municipal airport and industrial complex.

Faulkner removed all doubt as to who was responsible for the reluctance of the FAA to release to the city the right to sell the airport's electric and telephone lines to private utilities, when he admitted the FAA would not concur with the sale. He said the FAA considers the utilities to be like real estate and not subject to sale just like the airport property is not for sale, but he admitted that two years ago when the FAA conveyed the property to the city it was indicated the FAA would approve the utility sale.

Knowles said efforts are underway to obtain FAA approval of the sale at the Atlanta office but if not fruitful then he (Knowles) would ask the City Commission to send him to Washington to talk with Chief Bowers, FAA airport branch chief.

The city had intended the money obtained from the utility sale be used for needed airport sewer improvements by connecting the old Navy mans to city facilities and thus avoid having to dump effluent into an open ditch at the airport, as at present.

Faulkner explained that no airport property could be sold but said long term leases up to 40 years are available to help industries wanting to locate on airport property.

Faulkner said in the event of a national emergency, the Defense Department could reactivate the airport but a fair

Port Meet Is Cancelled

The lack of a quorum prevented the Seminole Port Authority (SCOPE) from transacting any business at last night's regular monthly meeting but a discussion involving several problems was held.

Included with the session was information developed by James Ryan, Sanford Port Administrator, concerning the new port's spoil area where dirt was dredged from port during construction and deposited by mistake in boundaries onto adjoining property holder.

Ryan reported that this far Weiss Construction Company, port contractor, had not obtained a release from the adjacent property owners, who were later identified as being three attorneys from Orlando and upon whose property Weiss had trespass.

Ryan explained that SCOPE did not provide sufficient data for the best boundary, thus indicating that authority was responsible in the removal of port property onto the adjacent owner.

This prompted M. L. Raborn Jr., authority member, to opine the person that did not provide necessary information for the best boundary is the person he would be looking to make good for the claim.

Editor's note: The Herald's reporter at Casselberry City Hall, Kathy Niblack, who believes in government in-the-sunshine even on the deck of a carrier, will accompany the members of the City Council

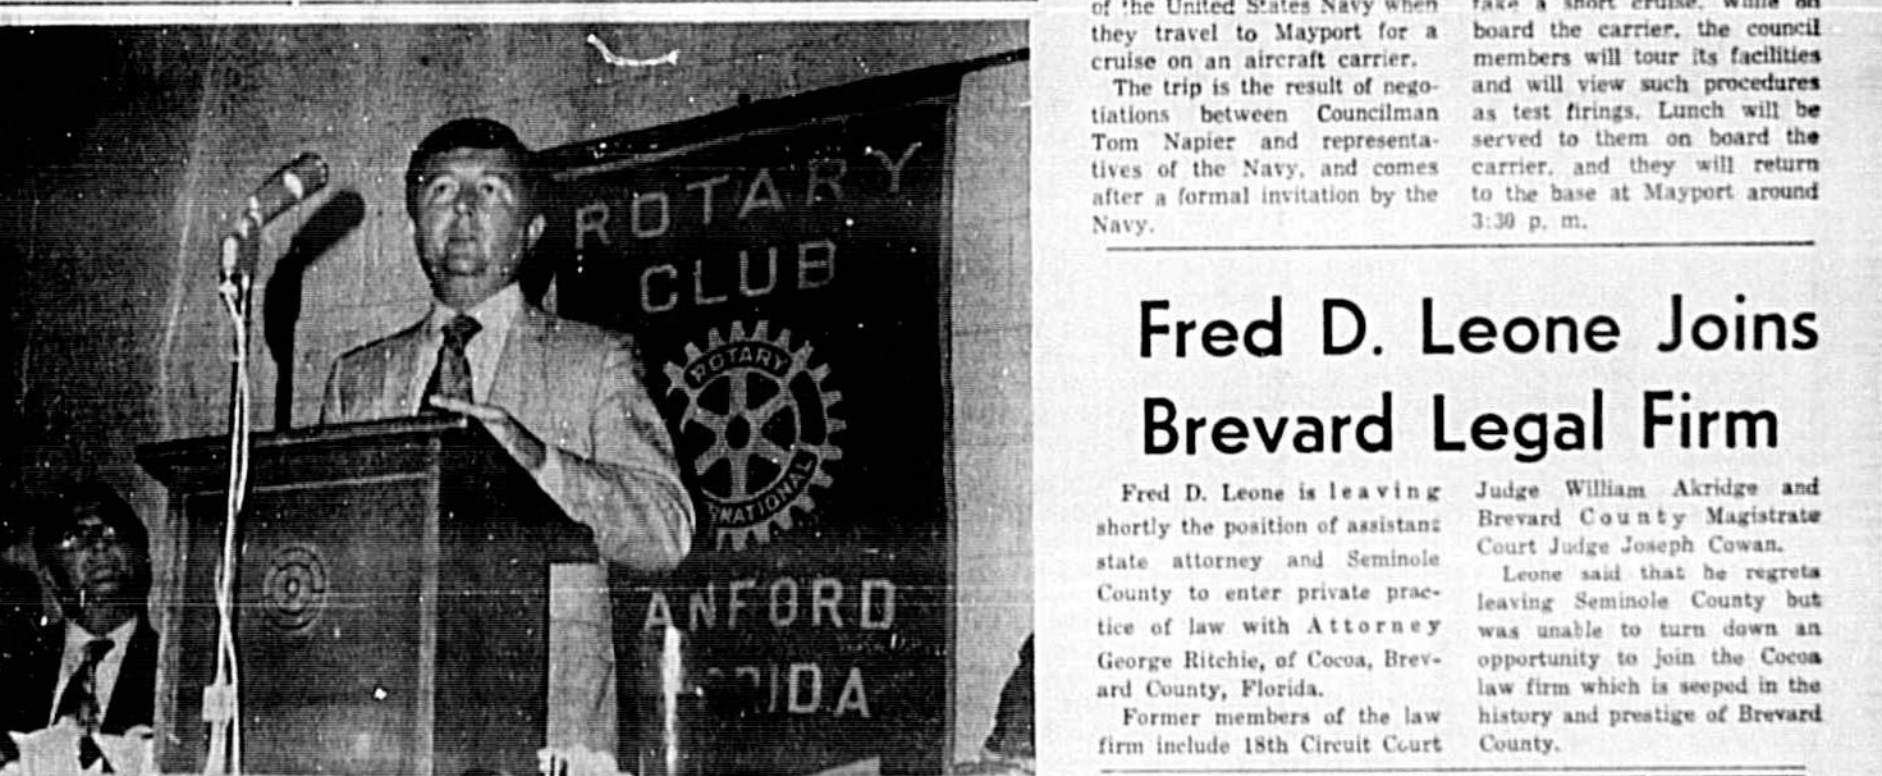

Friday when they go to sea and promises a full report on their adventures. Bon Voyage, Kathy!

By KATHY NIBLACK

Members of the Casselberry City Council will have a chance on Friday to see the operations of the United States Navy when they travel to Mayport for a cruise on an aircraft carrier.

The trip is the result of negotiations between Councilman Tom Napier and representatives of the Navy, and comes after a formal invitation by the Navy.

The council members will travel to Mayport on Friday morning where they will tour the facilities of the Naval Station there. Then they will board the USS Saratoga, one of the newer aircraft carriers, and served to them on board the carrier, and they will return to the base at Mayport around 3:30 p.m.

Governors Will Hear President

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Political Writer

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) — With 11 million possible new voters their target, the nation's Republican governors gathered in this museum city today to lay out tactics for 1972 and to hear President Nixon push for his domestic program.

The focus of the conference is now to attract the GOP banner the 18 to 21-year-olds eligible under a new law to vote in all federal elections. A constitutional amendment halfway to ratification could lower the voting age to 18 in all elections.

In addition to the President's speech and an appearance by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, the GOP statehouse executives scheduled sessions today on drugs and education and Tuesday on the 16-year-old vote.

Underlining the governors' concern for picking up a major share of the new, young voters is the fact that their are only 21 GOP state executives, the lowest number to control statehouses in six years.

Current political issues also were on the minds of the delegates and the administration officials attending. Sen. Robert J. Dol of Kansas and the GOP national chairman told the governors recent Democratic attacks on the FBI are politically inspired and irresponsible.

In a speech prepared for delivery today but released Sunday, Dol pointed to Edmund S. Muskie, the undeclared but widely considered frontrunner for the Democratic presidential nomination, and charged the Maine senator with "a deliberate effort to turn the FBI in the eyes of the American people into an American version of the Gestapo."

The Kansas also took up another key political issue, Vietnam.

"I predict here—and let me hasten to add that I do not have any inside information—I predict that in the very near future American casualties in the Vietnam war will be at zero or near zero," he said.

The next election will not deal with the issue of war, Dol added, but with peace and "that issue will be our."

Nixon's speech was his first appearance at a GOP governors conference since he took office and was seen as an effort to bolster administration strength on the state level.
