11 Nabbed In Sanford Pre-Dawn Drug Raids

Eleven persons were arrested and a "large quantity" of cocaine and marijuana were seized today during 11 simultaneous predawn drug raids in Sanford and the Midway area of Seminole County, police officials said.

The raids shut down what police suspect to be the major drug supplying bases of the Goldsboro area of Sanford and Midway district of Seminole.

The sweep was a joint effort of Sanford and Longwood police officers, Seminole County sheriff's deputies, and the Seminole County and Volusia County SWAT (Special Weapons and Tactics) teams, according to Sanford police spokesman Keith Wright.

The raids followed a month of undercover investigations in the areas by Sanford police and Seminole County sheriff's deputies, Wright said.

Eleven teams of seven officers each raided one of target at about 6 a.m., according to Wright. Search warrants were served and dogs were used to search for drugs. No shots were fired and there was only one injury — a sheriff's deputy who banged his knee on a door.

Seminole County sheriff's Capt. Jay Leman said deputy Wayne Murphy, a "point man" on one of the teams, shattered or bruised his knee when entering a doorway. He was discharged today from Central Florida Regional Hospital in satisfactory condition.

While the raids yielded a "large quantity" of drugs, the amount or how much it was worth had not yet been determined, Wright said.

Arrested were:

- Larry Felton, 26, of 2323 West 18th St., Sanford, charged with possession of cocaine, possession with intent to distribute and possession of less than 20 grams of a controlled substance, held in lieu of $8,000 bond.
- Augustus Malone, 49, of Rt. 2, Stipes Ave., Sanford, charged with possession of a sawed off shotgun, held in lieu of $5,000.
- Alice Mae Franklin, 46, of 3032 Center Street, Midway, possession of a controlled substance less than 20 grams, possession of a controlled substance with intent to distribute $85,000 bond.

- Robert Jackson, 37, 1121 7th Street, Sanford, possession of a controlled substance, possession with intent to sell, possession of less than 20 grams of a controlled substance, $5,500.
- Herman Harring, 23, of 2340 Randall Street, Midway, disorderly conduct, $100 bond.
- Minnie Marian Cashe, 35, of 1305 Sheppard Ave., Sanford, possession of a controlled substance over 20 grams, possession of cocaine and possession of controlled substance with intent to distribute, $8,000.

P&Z Says No Home Calls On Business

By Rick Brunson
Herald Staff Writer

The Sanford Planning and Zoning Commission Thursday unanimously recommended denial of a proposed amendment to a zoning ordinance that would have allowed professional and business people living in residential areas to conduct business on their home phones.

The amendment, suggested by City Manager Warren "Pete" Knowles, would have allowed physicians, dentists, lawyers, clergymen and other professionals to use their homes for business communication by written or telephone contact only. The city's law against making, selling and advertising products in residential areas would have remained in force.

Knowles plans to operate as a consultant on city affairs from his home after he retires April 30.

He has urged passage of the amendment in the past saying it was needed to legalize what he estimates to be about 150 home businesses that are already operating in "technical violation" of city law. He said trying to enforce existing law is virtually impossible.

He had no comment today on the commission's recommendation.

'You mean getting (business) phone calls at home is illegal?'

The amendment, tagged with the commission's displeasure, will be sent to the Sanford City Commission for their final approval or denial.

In opening the discussion on the proposed amendment Thursday, acting commission chairman Cliff Miller said the commission is trying to prevent commercial zones within residential zones. He said the amendment was drawn up because the existing law is "too ambiguous" and difficult to enforce.

Robert Keith, of 808 Clinton St., Sanford, told the commission he opposed homes being used for businesses.

"Residential zones should be for residents," he said.

He said doctors, lawyers and the other professionals listed in the amendment should be able to afford ample office space and answering services since "they are among the highest paid in the country."

Commissioner Brent Carlisle emphasized that the issue was not using homes for offices but home phones for

Wine Sale Will Be Monitored

By Deane Jordan

Agents of the federal Department of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms were looking into the pending sale today and Saturday of 5,000 cases of French wine at 1-4 Industrial Park west of Sanford to determine if the sale is being conducted according to an agreement between the seller and the ATF.

Approval of the wine sale — the wine is valued at $300,000 wholesale — by Globe Importers of Wine and owner James W. Hickman, was being studied today by the ATF to determine if the agency was notified of the particulars of the sale, said an ATF agent.

Hickman today said he no longer owns the wine and that Sun Bank of Orlando became the sole owner of the wine Thursday by court order.

The agent, based in Atlanta, said an immediate conference was scheduled today to determine whether the pending sale should go on, be stopped or monitored by agents.

"You caught us behind the eight ball," the agent, Joan Karr, said referring to inquiries by the Evening Herald about the auction, scheduled to begin at 7 p.m. today after a 6 p.m. wine-tasting session. A second sale is scheduled Saturday at 11 a.m.; both auctions to be conducted by Rosedale Realty and Auction Co., Maitland.

ATF is interested in the sale because the feds' agreement with Globe and was conditional and a one-time agreement, according to Carroll Dukes, an agent with ATF based in Tampa. A condition of the agreement was that the agents be notified of the sale, which they would then approve or disapprove, according to Karr.

S. Joseph Piazza, of Orlando, an attorney for Globe, said today as far as he knows, all the necessary agreements have been met and there should be no problem with tonight's or Saturday's auction.

Dukes said an importer cannot sell wine or import it without a permit, which he said Globe did not have to his knowledge. However, Piazza said Dukes has agreed to give Globe a three-month wholesaler's license to be authorized prior to tonight's and Saturday's sales, and that should allow the auctions to proceed without problems.

Piazza said as far as he knows, the authenticity and drinkability of the

Lake Mary Stalls Proposed Staff Pay Hikes

By Roger Simmons
Herald Staff Writer

A committee's recommendations for pay increases for Lake Mary city employees "distress" at least one area resident and city commissioners voted to hold off on the proposal until a special workshop next month.

During the citizens' participation part of Thursday night's city commission meeting, George Duryea said Lake Mary should not compare itself to larger cities paying higher salaries.

"Frankly, I'm distressed," Duryea said. "Everytime I turn around I feel I am being betrayed."

Duryea said Lake Mary is a small city and is not capable of paying the higher salaries that other area cities are giving their employees. "We need to look at the salary study and realize we are not the city that we think we are. We are not as big as we think we are," he said.

Duryea said if Lake Mary employees did not like their salaries they should look elsewhere for employment.

The proposal was presented to the commission at a special meeting on March 14 and recommends that the city bring salaries up to the level other area communities are paying. In most cases, the committee found Lake Mary city employees were paid well below the average in the county. The personnel group also called for as much as $10,000-a-year hikes in the salaries of some city employees.

Commissioner Russ Megonegal, chairman of the Personnel Committee, said the commission would thoroughly review the proposal.

Commissioner Colin Keogh said spending money to increase city employees' salaries would be just another example of the commission's willingness to spend funds and then try to raise taxes later. "We've opened a flood gate here recently. Then we turn around and tell the people we need to raise taxes after we go on a spending spree," Keogh said.

Megonegal defended the personnel committee's findings. "The recommendation is purely an extension of the average salaries in the county," he said. "No one can present something of this sort without looking at the available funds."

Megonegal then recommended the commission set a date for a workshop meeting to go over the pay hike proposal. "We need to adopt a salary schedule and then place our employees in that schedule," he said.

The workshop was set for April 11.

Reagan: It's 'High Time' For U.S.-Soviet Summit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan, putting aside his first-term rhetoric, says it is "high time" for a superpower summit and there are some issues that could be advanced in a meeting with new Kremlin leader Mikhail Gorbachev.

At his news conference Thursday night, Reagan acknowledged for the first time that he invited Gorbachev to the United States for a summit and said chances are good for such a meeting.

Reagan, ending a long-simmering policy dispute, also said some issues now "being discussed at the ministerial level" now could probably "be further advanced if we met in a summit."

Previously, Reagan had said a summit would have to have a well-prepared agenda and a reasonable chance of results in signed agreements.

"What I always meant by an agenda of things they want to talk about, mutual problems that confront us, and I think it's high time that we did this," he said.

Reagan said protocol dictated that he invite Gorbachev to the United States because "it's our turn to be the host."

Administration officials have suggested the most convenient place and time for a summit would be in New York in September, when Gorbachev might address the U.N. General Assembly.

A summit agenda and perhaps the arrangements are expected to be discussed in Vienna in mid-May when Secretary of State George Shultz and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko are scheduled to meet.

In making the summit overtures, Reagan has set aside his first-term rhetoric of calling the Soviet Union an "evil empire" bent on fomenting revolution around the globe.

But with U.S. and Soviet negotiators meeting again in Geneva, Switzerland, to discuss nuclear weapons reductions and the change in Kremlin leadership, Reagan has moderated his tone.

During the news conference, Reagan also said he is ready to compromise at a meeting today of Senate Republican leaders whose budget plan differs from his.

But he seemed to reject their insistence on defense cuts.

SCC Parking Lot Robbery Nets Man 3 Years

A Daytona Beach man found guilty by jury of armed robbery received 3 years for the incident that was connected with the abduction of a woman in the parking lot of Seminole Community College.

Ossie Thomas Stanley, 23, was sentenced by Circuit Judge Robert B. McGregor. Stanley, who was dubbed a pathological liar by Assistant State Attorney Don Marblestone, told McGregor he was a victim of circumstance. McGregor said Stanley did not know what truth was.

According to the victim, Barbara Anne Chase, 31, of 3123 Fairwood Court, Winter Park, Stanley approached her Oct. 31 at SCC, Sanford.

He told her his car had broken down and asked for a ride to the front of the school. Ms. Chase agreed and as she drove Stanley pulled a knife out of a pair of athletic socks and told her he needed her car to drive to Daytona Beach.

Stanley threatened to kill Ms. Chase and ordered her out of the car on

IN BRIEF

Despite Defeat, Khomeini Pledges To Continue War

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Iran's Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini vowed to counter Iraqi "war mongering" and to press ahead with the 4½-year Persian Gulf war despite a major Iranian defeat in the southern marshlands bordering Iraq.

Iraq's state-run news agency warned residents of Iran's southern city of Ahvaz to flee impending attacks.

Ahvaz is east of the Howelza marshes, where Iraq last week crushed an invasion by tens of thousands of poorly trained Iraqis.

The Iraqi victory was confirmed by U.S. officials. Iraq said it had killed 30,900 Iraqis.

Iraq's official Islamic Republic News Agency said Iraqi warplanes hit several cities in the central zone of the frontier Thursday.

Iraq reported its planes shot down two Iranian U.S.-made F-5 warplanes in a dogfight over the area. In the first air battles since Iraq declared Iran's airspace a prohibited zone Tuesday.

Fires Devastate Galapagos

QUITO, Ecuador (UPI) — Fires burning for weeks on one of the Galapagos islands where Charles Darwin researched the theory of evolution have forced giant tortoises and other species he studied to abandon their offspring.

The report came as scientist Gunther Reck speculated Thursday that plants destroyed by a six-month drought in Ecuador's Pacific islands must have caught fire when one of the islands' 700 residents threw out some matches.

Reck, the director of the Charles Darwin science station on the islands, said the fires have raged for 22 days. He ruled out the theory that underground volcanic activity heating rocks on the surface was responsible for the blaze on the 1,782 square-mile island of Albemarle.

The Universe newspaper of Quito said the fire has driven penguins, flamingos, iguanas and the "galapagos" or giant sea turtles, for which the islands were named, to flee — leaving their eggs and young behind.

About 350 Ecuadorian troops are fighting the fire with the help of a U.S. Forest Service expert.

Israelis Defend Shooting Newsmen

CBS Team Hit By Tank Fire In 'Deliberate' Attack

JERUSALEM (UPI) — The Israeli army defended killing two CBS newsmen in southern Lebanon, saying journalists who go into areas where guerrillas operate "take upon themselves the risk of getting hurt."

Cameraman Toufik Ghazzawi, 45, and soundman Bahije Meini, 35, were killed and driver Ayad Hassan Harake, 45, was seriously wounded by Israeli tank fire Thursday in the village of Kfar Melki, a suspected guerrilla stronghold near the port of Sidon, 24 miles south of Beirut.

CBS News President Edward Joyce condemned the killings and sent a message to Prime Minister Shimon Peres demanding an official Israeli investigation.

Peres was not immediately available for comment.

President Reagan called the newsmen's deaths a tragedy, but said he needed complete details of the incident before he would make a decision on whether to file a protest with the Israeli government.

"I am sure this was not a deliberate killing," Reagan said during his nationally televised news conference Thursday night.

A CBS spokeswoman in New York quoted witnesses as saying the three newsmen — all Lebanese nationals — were attacked after stopping to film a car belonging to the UPITN television news agency that had been hit by Israeli gunfire.

French television reporter Marine Jacquemmain, who was helping the UPITN crew, described the attack as "deliberate" and "not preceded by a warning."

The Israeli army defended the shooting in a statement issued Thursday night.

"An IDF (Israeli military) force that was engaged in military duty on the outskirts of the village of Melki in southern Lebanon spotted armed people who had taken firing position," the statement said.

"A tank that was in the area opened fire. It appears that the CBS people reported hurt were among those armed people."

"The IDF does not fire on civilians, including journalists, who are clearly identified as such," the statement said. "If journalists are approaching an area where armed terrorists are, they take upon themselves the risk of getting hurt."

The shooting occurred as Israeli troops were raiding several Moslem villages in southern Lebanon. The Israelis killed 21 suspected guerrillas, confiscated weapons and ammunition, demolished several homes containing arms and arrested dozens of people, Israeli military sources said.

Special Prosecutor Appointed To Probe Ohio S&L Closings

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — A special prosecutor has been named to investigate possible criminal violations leading to the shutdown of 70 state-chartered savings and loan associations.

One firm, Century Savings Bank of Cincinnati, with branches in Columbus and Toledo, reopened Thursday with no sign of customer "runs" on deposits.

"They felt it was a very positive opening," said Kenneth R. Cox, director of the Ohio Department of Commerce, adding other institutions are "very close" to qualifying for reopening.

Cox said it was likely more savings and loans would open Monday under bolstered insurance.

The appointment of Lawrence A. Kane Jr., a Cincinnati attorney, was made Thursday by state Attorney General Anthony J. Celebrezze, who granted Kane "the broadest possible latitude" to investigate, and said he would operate independently of the attorney general's office.

In his first comment on the Ohio situation, President Reagan told a nationally televised news conference Thursday night that he considered the problem

"limited to Ohio."

Referring to the Federal Reserve's promised extension of emergency credit if necessary, Reagan said, "That situation is being taken care of by the federal government. There isn't anything else for the federal government to do."

Cox said it probably will be Monday before the thrifts awaiting eligibility are permitted to offer limited withdrawal of $750 to customers. He said about five S&L's tried it Thursday, but were asked by his agency to close.

The Century Savings opening reduced to 68 the number of privately insured savings and loans still closed since Gov. Richard F. Celeste ordered them to shut their doors last Friday.

The Society Corporation, a Cleveland bank holding firm, Thursday became the first closed savings and loans to be turned into a commercial bank. It was given permission by the Federal Reserve Board to absorb Scioto Savings Bank of Columbus, which it had owned before the shutdown.

Bach Around The Clock

United Press International Fans of Johann Sebastian Bach celebrated the composer's 300th birthday with parties, recitals, limerick-writing contests and ceremonies dedicating museums and a street in his honor.

About 15,000 members of the East German Communist youth movement in Bach's birthplace of Eisenach, East Germany laid a wreath at the Bach memorial Thursday, the official East German news agency ADN reported.

The 32nd Street-USC Performing and Visual Arts elementary school threw a birthday celebration featuring an 8-by-5-foot cake festooned with 300 candles. The 900 children heard student performances of classical and jazz music using the works of Bach, the father of 20 children.

What might be the biggest Bach bash of all began March 19, two days before the composer's birthday, in the East German city of Leipzig, where he spent nearly half his life and wrote many of his major works.

Bach, a devoted member of the Lutheran church, produced every form of musical composition except opera.

"Most of his music is associated with the Lutheran church," said Fred Calland, music commentator for National Public Radio in Washington. "Lutherans didn't approve of opera."

In Washington, Thursday was declared "Bach Day" and Philadelphia renamed a street Bach Place.

In San Francisco, all news radio KGBS planned a series of "six or seven" one-minute spots featuring Bach's music.

The station received so many calls and letters about a half-hour tribute to Bach aired during the weekend that "We decided to run it again on his birthday," said News Director Ed Cavagnaro.

At St. James Episcopal Church in Keene, N.H., organist Jean Travaglini gave a midday recital of Bach's music.

"Bach is wonderful, glorious, fulfilling. He's just my soul food," she said.

In Boston, public broadcast station WGBH played "Bach around the Clock," 24 hours of Bach music.

Americans Living Longer Than Ever; Black Infant Mortality Remains High

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Americans are living longer than ever and the racial gap in life expectancy is closing but black infants still die at far higher rates than whites, the government's annual health report said today.

Health and Human Services Secretary Margaret Heckler, who released the report, wrote in its preface: "Progress is the word that best defines and describes the health status of the American people."

"It is clear from the basic health yardsticks that the United States is moving in the right health direction: Both men and women are living longer; infant mortality continues its decline," she said.

The report, "Health United States, 1984," said life expectancy is at a record — 74.7 years for an American born in 1983.

Most recent increases in life expectancy come because of gains in the middle and elder years. Americans who turned 65 in 1983 could expect to live another 16.8 years, the report said.

Women still have a life expectancy advantage over men — 78.3 years vs. 71 years for a baby born in 1983 — but the gap has narrowed since the mid-1970s.

Whites still live longer than blacks — 75.2 years vs. 69.6 years — but "that racial gap is narrowing," the report said. Since 1970, blacks gained 5.5 years of life expectancy, compared with 3.5 years for whites.

The infant mortality rate continues to decline, reaching 10.9 deaths in the first year for every 1,000 live births in 1983. But the mortality rate for black infants remains almost twice as high as for whites.

The lowest rate for black infant mortality in any state is still 31 percent higher than the highest rate for whites, the report said.

There is "substantial variation in infant mortality" among states, with whites ranging from nine deaths per 1,000 births in 1979-81, to 12.5 deaths per 1,000, the report said. For blacks, the range was 16.4 to 25.9.

The report said infant mortality still is considerably lower in other industrial countries. Sweden's rate is half the U.S. figure.

Administration critics say progress in reducing the infant death rate has stalled since the dramatic gains of a decade ago. The Children's Defense Fund said recently it is doubtful the nation will reach the U.S. Surgeon General's target of lowering deaths to nine per 1,000 live births by 1990.

Among the other highlights:
—Death rates, adjusted for age, dropped by 26 percent between 1970 and 1983 from heart attacks, the leading cause of death in America. For stroke, the decline was 48 percent in those years.

—In 1983, 35 percent of adult men smoked cigarettes, a slight drop from 1980. About 30 percent of adult women smoked, a rate no different from 1980.

—Motor vehicle accidents are the leading cause of death among 15- to 24-year-olds, with three Western states — Wyoming, Nevada and New Mexico — having the highest rates. But rates for young whites are twice as high as for young blacks. Among young black men, homicide is the leading cause of death.

Casselberry Couple Suing School Board Over Wreck

A Casselberry couple is suing the Seminole County School Board and a bus driver, claiming the driver caused a Dec. 3, 1982 accident that injured the husband.

David G. Artzner and his wife, Deborah, filed suit in Seminole Circuit Court Thursday asking for an unspecified amount of damages in excess of $5,000. While the school board is named in the suit, the identity of the bus driver is not known, according to the complaint.

Artzner states in the suit that he was traveling northbound on Orange Boulevard, west of Sanford, at 8:05 a.m. when a school bus at the boulevard's intersection with state Road 46 pulled in front of him. He said he had to take evasive action to avoid hitting the bus which then caused an accident.

Artzner states that he was injured in the accident and has suffered physical and mental pain as well as loss of the enjoyment of life and the ability to earn a living.

Mrs. Artzner is suing for loss of her husband's companionship, services, comfort and consortium. —Deane Jordan

Maggie Beats Marxist Scargill

Although the collapse of the British miners' year-long strike marks a victory for Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher's government, the triumph was a costly one in terms of both lost revenues and social unrest.

As for the miners and their families, the strike was a disaster — and it did little good for the trade union movement as a whole or the Labor Party, either.

In all, just about everyone ended up with the short end of the stick.

Amidst all the suffering, bitterness and recriminations it is difficult to find any silver lining, but there is a lesson or two in the tragic affair.

One lesson the strike against the state-owned National Coal Board is the danger to trade unionism of commingling politics with economic objectives in a job action against a government employer.

It is generally assumed that state ownership of industry favors workers over management.

And where purely economic disputes are involved, this is largely true, since government managers have political incentives to aid workers and — unless the state is sincerely interested in making a profit, which it rarely is — have a few economic incentives to resist workers' demands.

However, the dynamics change when state-employed workers have hidden (or, in the case of the miners, avowedly Marxist and pro-Soviet) political objectives beneath their demands.

Because, while a government may be a benign employer, it also is the sovereign political authority.

No self-respecting democratic government will, or could afford to, cede its sovereignty to what amounts to a revolutionary movement, whether the rebels brandish guns or just go out on a wildcat strike.

The great need in Britain now is to salve the wounds left by the strike.

Notwithstanding Scargill's threat to continue guerilla warfare against the coal board, the miners would do best to settle back down to business and refrain from reprisals against either the government or those miners who returned to the pits on their own.

And while the government has vowed not to rehire miners who were fired for picket-line violence, some form of limited amnesty for those culpable might hasten the return of peace in the mines.

If there is any silver lining, it may be the chastening that has been administered to Britain's fractious left. It wasn't just Conservatives who opposed the strike.

Many people in the trade union movement and the Labor Party also were disturbed by the unauthorized walkout, Scargill's violent tactics and his open courting of financial support from Soviet-bloc countries and Libya.

If they were sufficiently unnerved by these signs of the directions in which the radical left would take the country, they might initiate a move back toward the political center.

'The Fair, Flat Japanese Defense Tax'

As you may have noted, America faces some serious economic problems. Luckily, I know how to solve them.

There is the deficit. Our government spends more than we take in. In Washington, they are trying to figure out how to knock $50 billion off the deficit. People are concerned because it is believed by many that high deficits are responsible for high interest rates, and high interest rates sooner or later cause recession.

There is the trade deficit. We buy more goods from foreigners than we sell to foreigners — about $120 billion per year more. This is because the dollar is priced so high in foreign currencies, which is caused by the allure of our high interest rates. All that makes American goods too expensive abroad — which means unemployment for some American workers who make goods for the export market.

There is the Japanese problem. The Japanese are firm believers in one-way free trade. They sell us cars, videocassette recorders and cameras. But they make it very difficult for us to sell anything to them. Every year they say they will relax restrictions, but they rarely do. This one-way street further increases the trade deficit.

There is the problem of fair taxation. Everyone is trying to figure out how to make our tax code simpler and more fair. That means eliminating tax breaks. But many interest groups do not want the breaks eliminated because it would raise their taxes. Accordingly, they lobby the politicians, making it difficult to change the tax code.

So, what we need is elementary: a device to lower the budget deficit, lower the trade deficit, send the Japanese a message, and make taxes simpler. My all-purpose solution: "The Fair, Flat, Japanese Defense Tax" — hereafter called the "FFJDT."

You see, the Japanese only spend about 1 percent of their gross national product for defense. The United States spends about 8 percent of GNP.

That's not fair. After all, the United States defends Japan. We have pledged our armed forces and our nuclear retaliatory ability to let the world know that Japan is off limits. This is an important guarantee to the Japanese, who happen to live near Russia and China.

For many years we have urged the Japanese to raise their defense budget. Each year they say they will; each year they do very little. They say that it is a ticklish political problem. After all, they lost a war they started, they were bombed with atomic weapons, millions were killed. The country was traumatized and wants never to rearm.

Our policy should be this: "OK, we understand your problem, Japan. Just pay us the money."

The Japanese GNP runs about $1 trillion per year. If they spent an additional 5 percent per year of that on defense — that is, the same rate we spend — it would cost them an extra $50 billion. Under my plan, we would levy a flat tax of $50 billion on Japan.

Such a payment would meet the current target of budget-deficit reduction. It would curtail our trade deficit with Japan by an immediate $50 billion. Finally, some of the bonus from the FFJDT could be used to cut American taxes; this could be an inducement to special-interest groups not to oppose the U.S. flat-tax proposals. All of our problems would be solved.

We simply make the Japanese an offer they can't refuse: Pay up, or try to defend yourself against your potential enemies.

Skin Patch Advice

By United Press International
People who use skin patches containing drugs to prevent motion sickness should wash their hands after applying the pads to avoid contaminating their eyes, a Boston physician says.

Touching an eye with fingers that handled the patch could result in dilation of the pupil for six to 12 hours, wrote Dr. Bruce H. Price, Beth Israel Hospital, Boston, in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

Scopolamine patches — small medicated bandages placed behind the ear that slowly release medication — are becoming more popular as treatment for seasickness, dizziness, vertigo and tinnitus, ringing in the ear. But few doctors and fewer patients aware of this adverse effect, he said.

Instructions for this prescribed drug, marketed as Transderm Scop, advise users to wash their hands after application.

Once in place, a backing layer should shield the medicated layer from being touched, according to CIBY-GEIGY, the company that makes the patches.

The eyes have it
A University of Florida graduate student is trying to find out just how good a shark's vision really is in a study that could undermine the belief that sharks see their quarry as blurs of movement.

"It's really a lack of information that has led people to say shark vision is poor," says Robert Hueter.

Scientists have long assumed that a shark's vision is limited and corresponds roughly to human peripheral vision. But Hueter is working to show the shark's vision is specialized on a more subtle level than previously thought.

Working at the Whitney Marine Laboratory near St. Augustine, Fla., Hueter is looking for evidence that a shark's brain has a larger working area for certain parts of its visual field by correlating points in the brain of a lemon shark with points in the shark's field of vision.

Solving that sunken look
Plastic surgeons from Emory University in Atlanta say that "sunken" facial look can be solved with padding made from a fat-laden internal membrane.

In patients with a condition called hemifacial atrophy, the fat on one side of the face dissolves and underlying bone and muscle are destroyed. Their atrophied and sunken faces can be helped with the patient's own tissue instead of silicone padding, said Drs. M.J. Jurkiewicz and Dr. Foad Nahal.

Congressman Still Fighting To Clear Name

WASHINGTON — There is nothing so devastating as an ugly political scandal that rages for months and ruins some powerful figure.

Hundreds of eager investigators, with the scent of blood in their nostrils, are now waiting for the chance to engage a big-name adversary in such a mortal battle.

Unfortunately, this has produced a number of mini-Watergates and mini-ABSCAMs, which have exploded into the headlines only to fizzle later. Too many innocent people have been recklessly accused, then exonerated only after months of defending themselves. The headlines fade, but leave a toll in ruined careers and broken lives.

This is the story of one victim, Rep. Carroll Hubbard, D-Ky., who was put through two years of anguish.

ROBERT WAGMAN

More Work For Less

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The Reagan administration takes pride in the fact that more Americans are working, and that more jobs have been created.

Others see a grimmer trend — many of those workers are barely making it, and most of the new jobs pay very little.

Today's unemployment rate is a vast improvement over the January 1982 level of 10.1 percent, the post-World War II record high. That occurred at the height of the recession. In February, the unemployment rate of 7.2 percent remained up slightly from the four-year low of 7.0 percent last November.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics says that the continuing recovery created 300,000 new jobs in February.

Experts within the government say that the latest unemployment figures show that since the 1981-82 recession, the nation has been shifting from a manufacturing-based economy to one centered on service industries.

The recovery has created millions of jobs in the past two years. But an unusually large number of them have been in service industries, which pay vastly less than manufacturing and heavy industry.

This warns of critical long-term problems for the entire economy.

Last month alone, says the bureau, while the economy gained 300,000 jobs, it lost 82,000 manufacturing jobs, one-third of them in the auto industry.

Several recent studies examine this problem. During the recession, for example, one Indiana thermostat plant permanently cut its workforce by 334 workers. Today that plant is operating profitably and more than 90 percent of the fired workers have found new employment.

This is a success story, says the Reagan administration. An industry streamlined itself and returned to profitability while the economy expanded and created new jobs for those who were displaced.

However, critics claim the specialties are as important as the numbers.

Only about half of the men fired from that Indiana plant found jobs comparable to those they held. Only about 15 percent of the women fired were able to replace those jobs with similar-paying ones. Seventy percent of the women found service-business jobs and make an average of 40 percent less than they once did. More than one-third of the women and 15 percent of the men could find only part-time jobs — and although the government defines them as "working," they no longer earn a living wage.

This reshaping of the U.S. economy frightens many analysts, who say that we must become as concerned about the underemployed as we are about the unemployed.

If the trend continues, they say, the nation might find itself with almost-full employment — but with tens of millions who can't provide their families with anything approaching a decent standard of living.

ROBERT WALTERS

Family's Victory For All

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Ken and Fran Nathanson's political odyssey — an exceptional journey that has seen their personal grief transformed into enlightened public policy — began on a stormy day almost a decade ago.

On the day after Christmas 1975, the Nathansons were driving from their home in the Washington suburbs to visit relatives in Massachusetts. Their holiday trip came to a tragic end on an interstate highway in Rhode Island when a tractor-trailer plowed into the rear of the car, killing their 14-year-old daughter, Kamy.

The operator of the truck, the Nathansons later learned, held a driver's license from his home state of New Jersey — but it was suspended at the time of the crash.

In fact, his driving record was so poor that the New Jersey license had been suspended on six prior occasions — but when the accident occurred he was driving with another license, issued in Arizona.

The Nathansons embarked on a personal crusade to ensure that the federal government maintained an accurate, current and comprehensive National Driver Register. It would provide the license-issuing officials of all states with information about drivers whose licenses had been canceled, suspended, withdrawn or denied in other states.

The NDR theoretically had been in existence since 1960, when legislation mandating its establishment was signed into law — but neither state nor federal officials had been enthusiastic about actually implementing the statute.

Abandoning their successful advertising and public relations business, the Nathansons dedicated themselves to the task of reviving and sustaining the NDR.

They had made considerable progress toward attaining that goal by 1981, when President Reagan's new appointees at the Department of Transportation decided to terminate the entire program as a cost-cutting measure.

By then, the Nathansons had considerable evidence to support their contention that as many as 20 million drivers — most of whom have been convicted on alcohol-related charges or are chronic violators of other laws — hold licenses issued by states unaware of their records elsewhere.

Refusing to allow the program to be killed, Ken Nathanson went directly to the federal officials who had proposed eliminating all NDR funding and argued that they made a mistake. After hearing him, they acknowledged their error.

entitled to some redress for the pain he had suffered. He was convinced that he was set up and that the case files would prove this. So he asked for the documents under the Freedom of Information and Privacy acts.

Months later, to his utter dismay, the Justice Department informed him that "this file number could not be located." Furious, Hubbard wrote to the attorney general:

"Does the Justice Department investigate one of the 435 members of the U.S. House of Representatives for 19 months and then inexplicably walk away, washing its hands?"

Hubbard had his suspicions about those missing files and demanded angrily in the letter: "Did those files contain the names... [of] Kentucky politicians who were pushing the investigation for personal and/or political reasons?"

The Justice Department attorney

In charge of the investigation, Robert Andary, spent "more than a year in Kentucky, where he got to know some of my political opponents," added Hubbard.

A Justice Department source insisted that Andary did not act out of malice but, in fact, was responsible for closing the case after he realized that the charge had no foundation.

Last month, the missing investigative files mysteriously turned up. But Hubbard is still not satisfied that he has received the full record in his case.

"I'm a victim of political targeting," he said, "by a few Kentucky politicians and their friends inside the U.S. Justice Department."

Who were Hubbard's tormentors? The files don't say. Under the Constitution as it's supposed to be administered, the congressman is entitled to know.

Office Pollution

Could Be 5 Times Worse Than The Stuff Outdoors

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Air pollution in the office may be two to five times worse than outdoors, warn experts who blame modern, energy-efficient buildings and a lack of federal standards.

"With the advent of airtight buildings, constructed with energy conservation in mind, indoor contaminants have become a major health hazard," said Philip Morey of the Environmental Investigations Branch of the National Institute of Occupational Safety and Health in Morgantown, W.Va.

"Pollution is in some cases two to five times higher indoors than outdoors," he said.

Contaminants that once would have been released into the outside air are in some cases recirculated throughout buildings, said Jerome Wesolowski, chief of the Air and Industrial Hygiene Laboratory of the California Department of Health Services.

"Closed systems, combined with the ever-increasing number of chemicals used in building materials, pose new problems which are little understood and which are made worse in some situations because design and occupancy recommendations have been ignored," said Michael Stenborg, director of the Air Toxics Unit of the Environmental Protection Agency, Region 9.

For instance, partitions have been used to make space for two offices where only one was intended, or copy machines placed in small closed spaces without ventilation have increased the area's contaminants.

"Jurisdiction is a problem since no one is sure whose responsibility indoor air pollution should be," said Lee Baxter, director of the western region of the U.S. Consumer Products Safety Commission.

The EPA has set no standards for indoor air pollution.

The problem is reflected in the number of lawsuits filed by workers, which has skyrocketed from a handful five years ago to several thousand, said Washington, D.C., attorney Laurence Kirsch.

The pollutants and their sources vary, the experts said, citing in particular:

—Carbon monoxide from gas stoves and furnaces that may cause headache, nausea and unconsciousness.

—Nitrogen oxides from gas stoves and heaters that may cause headache, nausea and lung problems.

—A radioactive gas called radon from building materials, groundwater and soil that has been linked to cancer.

—Asbestos from fireproofing and insulation, also linked to cancer.

—Formaldehyde from foam insulation, particle board, plywood and tobacco smoke that may cause respiratory irritation, nausea, headache and is a suspected carcinogen.

—Hydrocarbons and other organic chemicals from copiers, liquid paper, aerosols and floor and furniture polish that may cause respiratory irritation, nausea, headache and eye irritation.

—Particulates such as dust, pollens, bacteria from tobacco smoke, fibrous materials, combustion products and aerosols that may cause allergic reactions, respiratory irritations and rashes.

Baxter recommended getting "as much fresh air in your life as possible," and, if symptoms persist, seeking medical help.

Morey said many indoor pollution problems could be reduced through proper maintenance, good filters and effective ventilation systems.

Police: Drugs Removed From Kennedy's Room

WEST PALM BEACH (UPI) — A chemist says two drugs found in David Kennedy's body also were discovered in the toilet in his hotel room, adding to police suspicion that drugs were removed from the room before the body was discovered.

Jay Pintacuda, a chemist with the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Department, said in a deposition that traces of cocaine and the powerful painkiller Demerol were present in two vials of water taken from the toilet in Kennedy's room at the Brazilian Court Hotel in Palm Beach.

Pintacuda said in the deposition filed Tuesday and made public Thursday that he could not determine if the cocaine had been thrown into the toilet or was part of some mucus also found there.

He said it is possible the cocaine was in the mucus because it is often snorted, but it is doubtful the Demerol was snorted.

Kennedy was found dead of a drug overdose in the room April 25. Police have said in sworn statements they are investigating the possibility someone removed drugs from the room before the body was found.

Police have charged Peter Marchant and David Dorr with selling cocaine to Kennedy, 28, son of the late Sen. Robert Kennedy.

Pintacuda also said cocaine found in a plastic bag in Kennedy's wallet was 70 percent pure, which, he said, is purer than cocaine normally sold on the street.

Police are also looking into whether the Demerol found in Kennedy's body came from the Kennedy home in Palm Beach. Family members have said there was some missing.

Police investigated a tip that Kennedy had been given a high grade of cocaine because someone wanted him to overdose for not paying his drug bills, but they said later they had discounted that theory.

Assistant State Attorney Pablo Perhaes said a trial date for Dorr and Marchant will probably be set during a hearing July 3.

Canada Joins U.S., Allies In Space Station Project

OTTAWA (UPI) — The Canadian government has decided to join the United States and other allies in producing an orbiting space station, agreeing in principle to spend up to $600 million over the next 10 years.

Canada had been courted by U.S. space officials for more than a year to join the U.S.-led project which already has the participation of the European Space Agency and Japan. The two are expected to spend about $4 billion.

Science Minister Tom Siddon said Wednesday Canada's involvement in the space station could produce economic benefits valued at more than $2 billion by the year 2000.

"For the remainder of the century, the space station will be the predominant civilian initiative in space," Siddon said.

A memorandum of understanding to be signed by Canadian and NASA officials in the next few weeks will contain "diplomatic wording" to guarantee the station will be used for only peaceful purposes, Siddon said.

The space station, as now envisioned, will house laboratories, observatories, manufacturing facilities, a maintenance and storage depot, a servicing station for satellites and living quarters for astronauts.

Canada has not yet determined the nature of its participation but is looking at several options, including production of robotic devices for servicing satellites or solar energy collecting devices that could provide auxiliary power for the space station.

Longwood Commission OKs 'Too Tall' Building

The Longwood City Commission has unanimously granted a conditional use request from Richard H. Garland to permit construction of a three-story office building on the south side of state Road 434. The building would exceed the 35-foot height limitation in general commercial zoning by 12 inches.

In addition to the height variance, the commission also voted 4-1 Monday night to grant a conditional use requested by Mary E. Doan to operate a wholesale/retail used car sales business at 800 W. state Road 434 (next to McDonald's and the Rebel Rod and Gun Club).

Commissioner June Lormann said she voted against the request because she did not think the site was large enough to accommodate a car lot.

The commission unanimously approved a site plan submitted by the Regional Construction development firm for a Federal Express warehouse, office and distribution center on lots 24 and 25 in the Florida Central Commerce Park.

Establishment of a city parks and recreation advisory board was given preliminary approval Monday night and a public hearing and final action were scheduled for April 15.

The following zoning changes were given unanimous final approval:

● Lots 1, 2, and 3, block 4, Entzinger's addition #1 on the west side of county Road 427 from industrial to general commercial, requested by Thomas H. Hutchens.

● Lots 139, 261 and west half of lot 259, Town of Longwood, on south side of Bay Street, from residential multi-family to commercial/office at the request of Joseph L. Abrams.

● Lot 17 and west half of lot 18, Framers addition on south side of Evergreen Avenue from residential/duplex to commercial/office, requested by Stella Zaffis.

Health, Safety Seminar For Elderly Thursday

A health, information and safety seminar will be sponsored by the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce Senior Citizens Committee on Thursday 1-4 p.m. at the Sanford Civic Center. Open to the public, it will be of special interest to senior adults.

There will be free testing for blood pressure, blood sugar, tuberculosis and hearing problem. The Neuman Eye Clinic will test for cataracts. Flu shots also will be available.

The Seminole County Sheriff's Office and the Sanford Police Department will have information on personal and home security.

Various groups such as the Alzheimer's Support Group, and local nursing homes, will have informational displays.

Computer printouts assessing retirement and recreational interests for the elderly also can be obtained.

April 29 Trial Date Set For Accused Obscene Caller

An April trial date has been set in the case of a Casselberry man charged with making obscene telephone calls.

Cory R. Griffith, 29, of 2860 Red Bug Road, has been ordered to appear for trial in Seminole County Court April 29.

Griffith was arrested on the charge March 10 and is out of jail on $100 bond awaiting trial. According to court records, an Orlando woman received several phone calls a day from a man making sexually suggestive remarks during a 3-month period ending in October. On one particular day, the man called the 45-year-old wife eight times.

The phone calls were traced by the phone company in October and Griffith was subsequently arrested.

Lady Hawks' Win Streak, Rainy Reputation On Line

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

The past two years, a good get-rich-quick scheme would have been to set up an umbrella stand at Red Bug Park. That's where the Lady Hawk Softball Tournament is held and where the skies have dumped rain on the tourney the past two years.

One of the wickedest rain storms in recent history took place on the day of the tournament last year. There was so much water on the field that Oak Ridge, which came out of the loser's bracket, conceded the final game to Lake Howell, which sailed through the winner's bracket.

"That was the most unbelievable storm I've seen in my life," Lake Howell coach Jo Luciano said of last year's monsoon. "The field was flooded so Oak Ridge conceded that one game since we were in the winner's bracket."

So, it wasn't surprising to see the wet stuff start falling Thursday because the Lady Hawk Tournament is scheduled for Saturday.

Hold on though fans. Don't break out the scuba gear yet. According to the weather people, it is supposed to clear up for the weekend.

"Thank God," Luciano said. "I just heard it's clearing up. Hopefully, it'll miss us this year."

Luciano's Lady Silver Hawks are the two-time defending champions of the tournament and take an eight-game winning streak into this year's double-elimination competition which starts Saturday morning with a pair of games at 9 at Red Bug Park.

Lyman's Lady Greyhounds (2-4) and Sanford's Lady Seminoles (3-5) go up against each other in one 9 a.m. game while the other pits Oviedo's Lady Lions (5-5) against Oak Ridge's Lady Pioneers.

At 10:15, Lake Mary takes on West Orange in the top bracket while Lake Brantley tangles with Colonial in the bottom bracket. At 11:30, Lake Howell plays the Seminole-Lyman winner in the top bracket while Evans takes on the Oviedo-Oak Ridge winner in the bottom bracket.

The finals are scheduled for 8:15 p.m. with a second game, if necessary, at 9:30.

Lake Howell again has a good shot at the title as the Lady Hawks have one of the most defensively sound teams in the state. The infield of Ava Gardner (first base), Sandy Gillies (second base), Grace Ley (shortstop) and Erin Hankins (third base) is a talented group which has combined for 15 double plays so far this season.

Left fielder Eileen Thibault has one of the strongest arms around. Joining "E.T." in the outfield are Jaudon "Pee Wee" Jonas, Alicia Dinkelacker and Beth Saunders. Christy Tibbitts has been impressive on the mound for the Lady Hawks during their win streak.

"Defense will probably win it," Luciano said. "And ours is one of the strongest in the tournament."

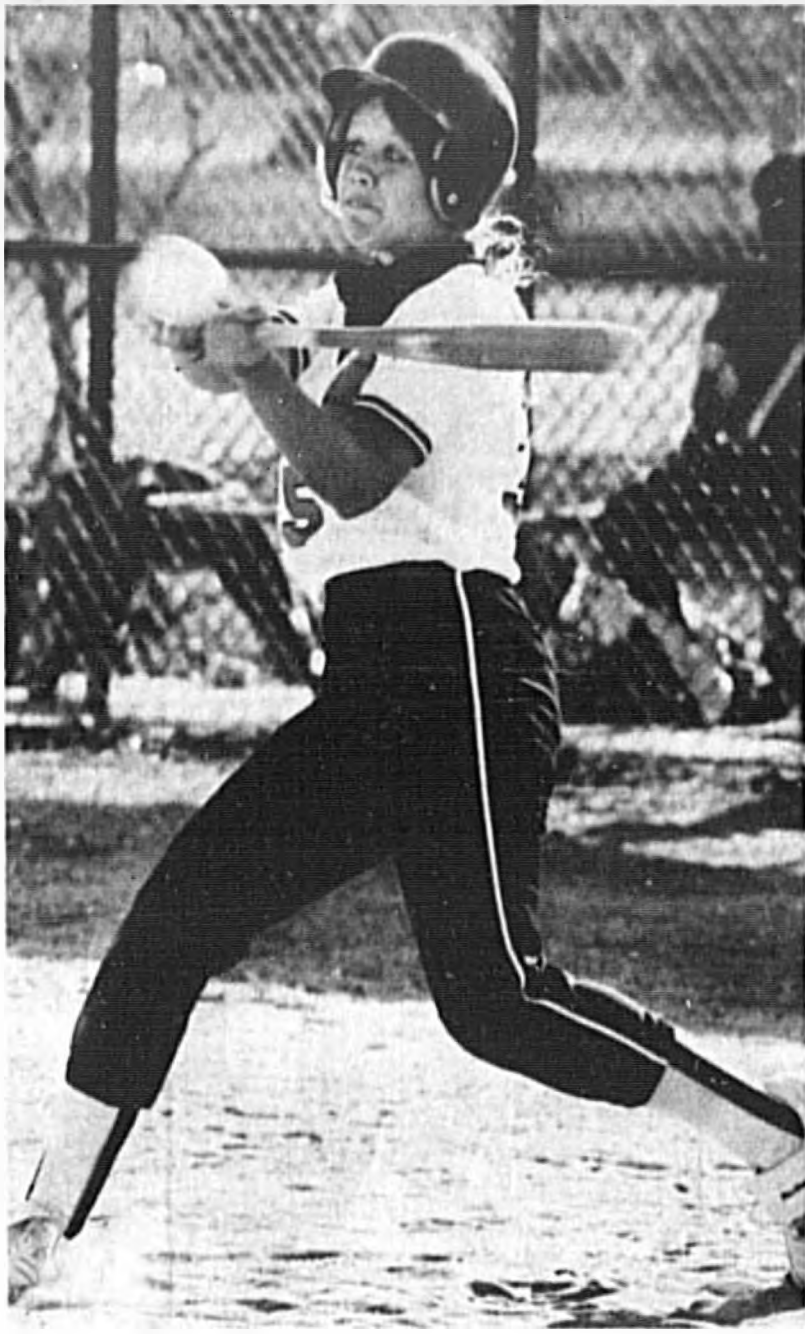

Lake Howell also has a good combination of speed and power in its batting order. The Hawks' leading hitters include Gillies (.471) and Jennifer Wallace (.444). Wallace also leads in the team in runs batted in with 11, which ranks second among the county leaders. Wallace, Gillies and Thibault provide the power while the speed comes from Jonas, Hankins and Ley.

Lake Mary and Lake Brantley are also very sound defensive teams but have had trouble at the plate.

The Lady Rams, 5-3, have a strong infield with Valerie Smith at first, Lisa Simkins at second, Kim Averill at short and Laurie Leifer at third. Pitcher Beth Watkins is also an excellent fielder. Lake Mary also has speed in the outfield with Karen DeShetler, Amy Adams, Lisa Santulli and Liz Stone.

Lake Mary coach Cindy Henry hopes the Lady Rams can get their bats going for the tournament. The leading hitters for the Rams are Averill (.611, second in county) and Watkins (.440). Santulli

Track Teams Split 3 Ways For Weekend

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

While Seminole County's girls track teams head for Gainesville and the Lady Gator Relays, the boys will be split up among three meets.

Seminole's boys team will journey to Jacksonville for the Bob Hayes Invitational at Raines High School. Bob Hayes, former Olympic gold medalist and world record holder in the 100 yard dash, will be on hand for Saturday's meet which gets underway at 9 a.m.

The Seminoles have been the dominant force in the Central Florida area so far this season and Saturday they will find out how the competition from the rest of the state is like as teams from Miami to the panhandle are expected to be on hand.

In the recent county track honor role, the Noles have the leader in 10 of 14 individual events and all three relays. In the long jump, the Tribe has 5 of the top 6 leapers and it also has 5 of the top 6 in the 440 dash.

Seminole's top performers going into the Bob Hayes meet are Frank Barnett in the 120 hurdles (13.6), Cliff Campbell in the 440 (state's best 48.1) and 220 (21.8), Billy Penick in the mile (4:26.1) and Leo Peterson (48.6) and Alvin Jones (47-7/8) in the triple jump. Seminole is also among the best in the state in the 440 and mile relays.

Meanwhile, Lake Howell's boys will be competing in the Wildcat Relays at Showalter Field in Winter Park. But, because of still qualifying standards, Lake Mary, Lake Brantley and Lyman have decided not to go to the Wildcat meet. In fact, the Wildcat qualifying standards are set so high that only Seminole would have multiple qualifiers, and the Tribe is not going to that meet anyway.

Instead, Lake Mary will host a relay meet with Brantley and Lyman Friday. Action at Lake Mary High begins at 3:30 with field event relays. Other events include the 480 low hurdle shuttle relay, the two mile relay, the 440 relay, the 330 hurdles relay, the distance medley relay, the sprint medley, the team two mile and the mile relay.

The team two mile should be one of the most competitive races of the Lake Mary meet. The Rams have four talented two milers (top three times are added up) in Matt Palumbo, Ken Rohr, Bobby Howard and Eric Petersen. Lake Brantley's top distance runners include Jose Calvino and Chris Ross while Carl Schmalmaack and Robin Rogers lead the way for Lyman.

Top field events performers include Lake Mary's Troy Stutts (pole vault), Lyman's Ralph Philpott (high jump) and Brantley's Mark Bousquet (shot, discus).

This year's Lady Gator Relays will be held at Santa Fe Community College in Gainesville because the University of Florida track facilities are in the process of complete renovation. The meet will attract some of the best talent in the state so Seminole County will have a chance to see where it stacks up before the big meets begin.

Among the top performers for Sanford's Lady Seminoles are Katrina Walker and Glenda Bass (200 and 400), Shownda Martin (400, 800, long jump), Dorchelle Webster (800, 1,500, long jump), Tammy Johnson (hurdles), Catherine "Kitty" Anderson (shot jump) and Adrian Smith (shot put).

Lake Mary's Lady Rams are keying on a pair of relays, the distance medley and two mile. The same four performers will run on both of those teams including Fran "Flash" Gordon, Jill Buddenhagen, Sonja Walker and Heather Heikkila.

Lake Howell will be a team to watch in the distance events and the distance relays with talented performers such as Lisa Samocki, Amy Ertel, Nancy Nystrom, Martha Fonseca, Mary Fonseca and Angie Smith. Other key performers for the Lady Hawks include Rochelle Spearman (hurdles, long jump), Michelle Spearman (100, 400), Kim Hamontree and Cheryl Brinkley (high jump) and Mary Kay Scott (discus).

Leading the way for Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots are Debbie Lovelace (discus), Cathie Wild (hurdles), Joanne Hayward (800, 1,500) and Barbara Panluso (400).

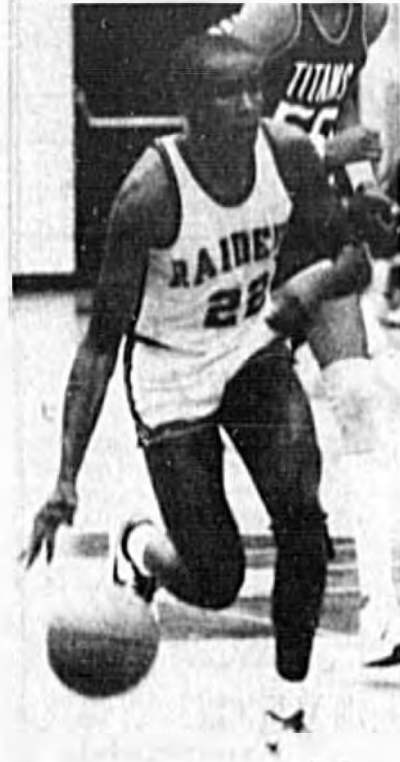

Lyman's top performers include Tracy Fisher and Julie Greenberg, (1,500, 3,000) and Maybelle Bryant (hurdles).

Collier Magnificent, 'Gades Lose

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — Reggie Collier and Mike Rozier fought to a stalemate, but the Jacksonville Bulls managed to outslug the Orlando Renegades.

Orlando quarterback Collier rushed for four touchdowns, including the tying score with 55 seconds remaining in regulation. However, his effort went for naught when Jacksonville's Brian Franco connected on a 29-yard field goal 9:17 into overtime to lift the Bulls to a 34-31 victory over the Renegades.

Jacksonville running back Rozier, the Heisman Trophy winner of two seasons ago, reverted to the form he showed in college at Nebraska, scoring four times — three on the ground and one on a reception.

Rozier opened the scoring with a 5-yard touchdown reception from Ed Luther. He added TD runs of 1, 2 and 6 yards as he carried the ball 38 times for 199 yards.

"All those yards wouldn't have sounded right if we didn't win," Rozier said. "The offensive line did a great job opening up the holes."

Collier carried 18 times for 171 yards and completed 14-of-27 passes for 187 yards. He had touchdown runs of 1, 6, 36 and 15 yards.

"It's kind of a shame that either team had to lose," said Orlando coach Lee Corso, who is still searching for his first professional coaching victory. "The most gratifying part about the game is that we played as hard as we can play. I thought Reggie did a magnificent job."

The Bulls improved to 2-3 before 31,883 hometown fans and a national cable television audience. Orlando remained winless in five starts.

After Rozier's touchdown reception, he and Collier exchanged 1-yard TD runs in the second quarter. The Renegades' Jeff Brockhaus kicked a 42-yard field goal with one second left in the half to move Orlando within 14-10.

Orlando took a 17-14 lead on Collier's 6-yard TD scamper, but Rozier put Jacksonville back on top entering the fourth quarter by going in from 2 yards out. Collier gave Orlando its last lead of the game, 24-21, with a 36-yard TD run 1:15 into the fourth quarter. Jacksonville then scored the next 10 points, getting a 24-yard Franco field goal and a 6-yard TD run by Rozier.

After Collier's run tied the score with 55 seconds left, Franco had a chance to win the game in regulation, but his 31-yard field goal attempt was wide left. Orlando was forced to punt in overtime and Luther engineered a drive to set up Franco's winning field goal.

"This is our reward for working hard," said Jacksonville coach Lindy Infante. "When things looked bad, we refused to give up. We figured out a way to pull the game out."

Payne, Brooks Enjoy Week — Grace Is MVP

Bill Payne had a good time Wednesday and an even better one Thursday. SCC's third-year basketball coach honored his '84-'85 eagles with a luncheon and the next day signed Lake Howell's Efrem Brooks to a scholarship.

On Wednesday, Payne named sophomore Lanny Grace, his standout forward, as the team's most valuable player. Sophomore Greg "Skywalker" Bates was the best all-around, freshman Greg "Slim" Johnson was the best rebounder, freshman Mike Landell was the best defensively and sophomore Kenny Edwards was the best offensively. Cheerleader Debbie Harvey was cited for her outstanding leadership by sponsor Joy Hinkle.

Brooks said he was impressed with Payne and the program, which made Brooks' coach, Greg Robinson, extremely happy. "I wanted for Efrem all along to go to SCC, but I wouldn't tell him that," said Robinson. "It was his decision and he made a great one."

Robinson, who played at Crooms High in the late '60s, played on SCC's great teams for two years before going on to a fine career at Birmingham Southern.

Brooks, like Payne, had a pretty good Wednesday. He was selected as the Burger

The baseball and softball action was washed away by Thursday's daylong rain but Saturday should provide enough diamond action for any appetite. The girls start play at 9 a.m. in the Lady Hawk Softball Invitational at Red Bug Park and there are two big baseball games Saturday.

At Lake Mary, the Rams, ranked No. 9 in the state, and Lyman, ranked No. 5, battle in the most important Five Star Conference encounter to date. At Apopka, the Blue Darters and Lake Brantley try to hang on in the conference as each has four losses. Both games begin at 1 p.m.

Tisdale, Turner Make Final Unsafe For Faint Of Heart

United Press International

If the NCAA Tournament Midwest Regional semifinals were any indication of the closeness of the competition, then finals on Saturday between Memphis State and Oklahoma should be declared unsafe for the faint of heart.

Wayman Tisdale and Andre Turner, two very likely heroes, put the No. 5 Sooners and fourth-ranked Memphis State into the Midwest finals with last-second shots in their games Thursday night at Dallas.

Tisdale provided the game-winner for Oklahoma in an 80-84 overtime victory over Louisiana Tech, and Turner did the same for the Tigers just as regulation ended in a 59-57 thriller against Boston College.

The Tigers and Sooners face each other Saturday afternoon with a trip to the Final Four at stake.

Tech defeated No. 10 Illinois 61-53. The Hoyas and Yellow Jackets meet Saturday in the East finals.

Tonight, in the Southeast Regional at Birmingham Ala., Maryland faces Villanova and North Carolina squares off against North Carolina. In the West Regional at Denver, Alabama plays North Carolina State and No. 3 St. John's takes on Kentucky.

Tisdale hit a 6-foot jumper with three seconds remaining in overtime to bring Oklahoma its victory.

"A lot of guys didn't have the point total they want, so they want to play five more minutes. I think Wayman was one of those. He wanted a few more shots," said Sooners coach Billy Tubbs.

Tisdale, a 6-foot-9 junior who played the final nine minutes with 4 fouls, scored 8 of his 23 points in overtime.

Louisiana Tech overcame a 4-point deficit in overtime to tie the score with 18 seconds left on two free throws by Robert Godbolt.

Oklahoma worked for the final shot, with Louisiana Tech trying its best to deny Tisdale the ball.

But with three players surrounding him, Tisdale got the ball just outside the lane, turned and tossed up a soft left-handed shot.

"It seems like it took forever on the rim," said Tisdale, an All-America. "I just wanted to turn and shoot it as soft as I could. I wasn't trying to run off as much time as I did."

Turner's jumper came after Boston College had tried to run as much time off the clock as it could.

With the score 57-57, the Eagles held the ball for the final two minutes and called timeout with 14 seconds remaining. However, Vincent Askew stole the ball from Roger McCreedy after the ensuing inbound pass with 10 seconds left and fed Turner, who moved left before hitting the winner just prior to the buzzer.

At Providence, R.I., Patrick Ewing provided 16 of his 21 points in the second half and grabbed 14 rebounds in the Hoyas' triumph. He also served notice to the rest of college basketball.

"I'm not ready to go home yet," Ewing said.

Andre Moore had 19 points for Loyola. Alfredrick Hughes, averaging 27 a game and a double-figure scorer for 94 straight games, had 8 points on 4-of-13 shooting.

"It was a great season," Moore said. "It's too bad it had to end losing."

Georgia Tech was led by Mark Price who scored 20 points on 9-of-12 shooting as the Yellow Jackets withstood a second-half scoring assault by the Illini's Doug Alteneberger, who had 24 points.

"Anytime you have a player who can shoot from the outside like that, he can really hurt you," Illinois coach Lou Henson said of Price.

Winfield Checks Into Hospital, Joins Henderson On Injured List

United Press International

The New York Yankees are losing outfielders faster than they can lose games these days.

One morning after right fielder Dave Winfield had to check into a hospital, rain kept New York from playing Montreal Thursday.

Winfield, sidelined since fouling a ball off his left instep Saturday against the Chicago White Sox at Sarasota entered a local hospital suffering from a severe infection in his left elbow. He is expected to be hospitalized for five to seven days.

Winfield fell on the elbow after fouling the pitch off his instep.

The veteran outfielder received intravenous antibiotics while in the hospital and is not expected to be back in the lineup for a least a week to 10 days.

Rickey Henderson, who the Yankees obtained to play center field this season, is already sidelined with a sprained left ankle, which will be re-examined Friday. He, too, is expected to be sidelined for at least another week.

Games between Atlanta and Montreal, Toronto and Houston, Pittsburgh and St. Louis, Los Angeles and Boston and Philadelphia and the New York Mets were also rained out.

Sinn, 17, Leads At Oakmont

GLENDAL, Calif. (UPI) — Betsy King, the 1984 LPGA Player of the Year, shot a 77, and 1984 Rookie of the Year Juli Inkster had a 78. That's a shame.

A 17-year-old high school student, however, shot a 2-under-par 70. And that's a Sinn.

Pearl Sinn, a senior at nearby Bellflower High, tamed the treacherous Oakmont Country Club and vaulted into a four-way tie for the lead Thursday after the opening round of a $250,000 LPGA tournament.

The tournament is sponsored by GNA.

Sharing the lead with Sinn were Jan Stephenson, Barbara Moxness and Japan's Atsuko Hikage as only six players in the 144-player field bettered par on the tough, 6,328-yard Oakmont layout. Fifty-three players failed to break 80.

But Sinn, who has played golf for little more than seven years, had four birdies and two bogeys, jumping into a tie for the lead by posting birdies on the final two holes.

On No. 17, she hit a 7-iron to within a foot of the cup and on No. 18, hit a wedge to within a foot, sinking both putts for birdies.

Blazers Lose In Many Ways

United Press International

Portland Trail Blazer coach Jack Ramsay can tell you why his team lost to the Phoenix Suns 124-114 Thursday — oh, let him count the ways.

"Tonight, we had 15 turnovers at the half, we shot about 20 percent from the floor in the first quarter. It's incredible," he said. "We missed six layups early. I don't have an answer."

"You've got to bring yourself to the game every night. If you don't, there is not a team in the league that can't beat you."

Kyle Macy scored 24 points while Jay Humphries had 19 and 8 assists. Maurice Lucas 17 points and Jones 14.

Clyde Drexler led the Trail Blazers with 26 points while Kiki Vandeweghe had 24. Steve Colter 17. Sam Bowie 14 and Bernard Thompson 10.

"This one is certainly high on my list of disappointing games," Ramsay said. "We've had some frustrating games in the past, but ... I just have no explanations."

In the only other game Thursday, Detroit defeated Golden State 122-113.

Dr. Carter Favored At Hialeah

HIALEAH (UPI) — Favored Dr. Carter will be out to break a string of upsets in the Widener Handicap when he runs in the 48th running of the $125,000 race at Hialeah Park.

Not since Jeffrey Fell rode Private Account to victory in 1980 has a favorite captured the Widener. Mat Boy surprised World Appeal a year ago while Land of Eire, Lord Darnley and Swing Till Dawn scored upsets in the three previous years.

In all, favorites have won 18 times in the previous 47 races.

A victory in the 1 1/4 mile Widener would put Dr. Carter in a strong position for consideration as the winter's top handicap horse. The 4-year-old son of Caro scored an impressive triumph in the Gulfstream Park Handicap last month.

But he'll face strong challenges from Nepal, who tied the track record March 9 in the 1 1/4 mile Seminole Stakes, and from Mo Exception, the upset winner of the Donn Handicap.

Darn That Alarm and Rexson's Hope also could be factors.

Boat-A-Cade Begins June 15

KISSIMMEE — Boaters, be sure to mark the 36th Annual Kissimmee Boat-A-Cade on your calendar. This year's trip will begin June 15 at the Kissimmee Yacht Club and cruise 600 miles through Florida's waterways, returning to Kissimmee June 23.

Planned overnight stops include Lake Okeechobee, Punta Gorda, Port of the Islands, Ft. Myers and Lake Wales. Registration fee is $25 per boat, and meals and accommodations are extra. Boaters may stay aboard their vessel at each stop or at nearby hotels.

As part of cruise events, there will be a barbecue, two pool parties, a fish fry, and the traditional Boat-A-Cade Banquet. Several day-long layovers provide plenty of time for fishing, sunning and exploring. Hundreds of dollars in prizes will be given away throughout the cruise.

Joyce's Homer Salvages Tie

James Joyce's solo home run enabled Sanford to tie Longwood, 3-3, after five innings and, after five more innings, it was still tied and that's the way it ended in Pony League action at the Seminole Pony Baseball complex.

Joyce also added a single and pitched the first three innings for Sanford. Tommy Keiger went seven innings on the mound for Longwood before giving way to Joe Taylor.

Sanford left fielder Bill Driscoll threw out the go-ahead run at the plate in the top of the 10th while Longwood catcher Keiger picked off the winning run at third in the bottom of the 10th.

Midland Advances In JUCO Play

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (UPI) — Teylin Binns scored 27 points Thursday night, helping Midland (Texas) post a 79-63 victory over Allegany (Md.) and advance to the semifinals of the National Junior College Athletic Association Tournament. Midland, 31-4, will face Dixie (Utah) in the semifinals Friday. The Rebels, paced by Averain Parrish's 19 points, held off Erie (N.Y.) 83-78.

Glasson Walks Race With Time

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — The leader of the $1 million Las Vegas Open, Bill Glasson, is running a race with time.

The personable 24-year-old unknown capped a solid 4-under-par round of 68 Wednesday by canning a 40-foot, uphill birdie putt to maintain a slim lead over Tom Watson.

Glasson stood at 11-under-par 130 after two days of the tournament. Watson was also 11-under-par, but had a total score of 131.

The difference in the two scores came about as a result of different pars on the three courses the tournament's early rounds are being contested on. Glasson is forced to play with elastic knee braces on both legs as the result of four knee operations. He said his physical condition does not affect his swing, but hampers him when he walks on the course.

"My problem is not in the swing, it's in the walking," he said. "In Tour school, we played six rounds and I did well the first four days. But the last two rounds were a grind."

The Las Vegas Open, sponsored by Panasonic, is the richest on this year's Tour. Unfortunately for Glasson, it is also the longest running at five days.

"I think my knees are getting too much attention," Glasson said disgustedly. "I don't want to be known on the Tour because of my knees."

The native of Fresno, Calif., has rallied this season after losing his playing card for a second time. He tied for eighth in San Diego and fifth at the Bay Hill Classic so far in 1985.

leads in RBIs with five.

Brantley's defense is keyed by middle infielders Michelle Brown (shortstop) and Kim Wain (second base) along with slick-fielding first baseman Sherry "Ice" Asplen. Laura Davis and Deana Jeffers are a pair of fine outfielders for the Lady Patriots who enter the tournament with a 3-5 record.

Lake Brantley's leading hitters are Davis (.389) and Heather Meyer (.375). Brown leads in RBIs with five.

Lyman has experienced inconsistency both at the plate and in the field this year. The Lady Greyhounds got it together offensively this past Tuesday as they scored 23 runs in a win over Spruce Creek. But the defense had it problems, allowing 13 runs against a weak-hitting team.

Leading hitters for the Greyhounds include Lori Helms (.591, third in county), Kristie Kaiser (.571, fourth) and Denise Stevens (.550, fifth). All three have six RBIs and Stevens has two home runs.

Strong Mound Staff Helps Astros Pick Up 3 Victories

Unveiling a strong pitching staff, the Astros picked up three wins in a five-day span in Altamonte Little League Major Division action.

Last Thursday (the 14th), the Astros rallied for five runs in the last two innings to take a 6-5 victory over the Expos as Jay Kane picked up the mound victory. On Saturday, Andy Spolski hurled shutout ball for four innings to lead the Astros over the Cardinals, 5-2. On Monday, Chris Pleicones turned in an impressive pitching performance as the Astros trounced the Braves, 14-2.

In the win over the Expos, Spolski cranked a home run while Pleicones smacked a RBI double. Neil James unloaded a two-run homer for the Expos.

Against the Cards, the Astros built up a 5-0 lead behind key hits by Mark Pleicones, Spolski and Danny Gault. Against the Braves, Chris Pleicones ripped a pair of singles while Spolski and Dave Robinson added doubles.

In other Major Division action, a six-run fourth carried the Yankees to a 7-4 victory over the White Sox. Ronnie Perk started off the rally for the Yankees with a solo home run over the fence in left center. C.J. DiFlumeri added a two-run double in the inning while Eddie Howard and John Young added RBI doubles.

Howard was the winning pitcher for the Yankees while Joe O'Donnell took the loss.

In Rookie League play, Danny Polidoro, Tim Frazier and Shawn Whitlock had four hits each to lead the Cardinals over the Astros, 19-13. Mark Tolone, Carlos Torregrosa and Chris Wilson added three hits each.

The Cardinals also picked up a 23-7 victory over the Angels as Polidoro and Scott Kuhn had four hits each and Craig Moser had three, including a home run.

The Angels bounced back to take a 30-27 decision over the Indiana. Johnny Lynch and Tracy Wistrom each clubbed a two-run homer for the Angels.

Lyman, Mary, Brantley Girls Dominate All-County Choices

By Chris Fliter
Herald Sports Writer

State Champion Lyman, district runnerup Lake Brantley and Lake Mary placed three players apiece on the Evening Herald's All-County Soccer Team while Sanford's Lady Seminoles, in their second year of girls soccer competition, had two selections on the First Team. The voting was done by the county coaches.

For Lyman, which finished at 23-0 and won the state crown after finishing second the previous season, First Team selections included junior forward Dawn Boyesen, junior midfielder Alyson Barnes and sophomore defender Karen Abernethy. All three were All State selections as well for coach Tom Barnes.

Boyesen was second on the team in goals scored with 27 and led in assists with 16. Boyesen and Sheila Mandy combined to score 56 of the Lady Greyhounds' 104 goals this past season.

Barnes contributed seven goals and eight assists and was impressive at midfield where Lyman thoroughly dominated its opponents. Abernethy was not only an imposing figure on defense, she also contributed eight goals and three assists. Abernethy also packed power in her right foot as she took most of the Lady Greyhounds' free kicks and corner kicks.

Lake Brantley's three selections, all underclassmen, include junior defender Pam Anderson, sophomore forward Kristin Bame and freshman defender Renee Deaver.

Along with Abernethy, Anderson was one of the most dominating defenders in the state. The Lady Patriots' junior leader was also named to the All State team.

Paine was the leading scorer for Brantley this past season while Deaver, the only freshman on the First Team, combined with Anderson to give the Lady Patriots one of the toughest defenses around.

First Team selections for Lake Mary's Lady Rams included sophomore forward Kelley Broen, senior defender Marianne DiTucci and junior goalkeeper Laura Hellegaard.

One of the most explosive players in the state, Broen led Seminole County in goals scored in the regular season and capped off a fine sophomore season by being named to the All State team. DiTucci, the only senior on the First Team, was a mainstay for the Rams' defense the past three years. Hellegaard, in her first season with the Lady Rams, used her 5-10 frame and excellent athletic ability to catch on quick in goal for Lake Mary.

First Team selections for Seminole High included junior defender Angela Freeman and sophomore forward keeper Sherri Rumler. Freeman, one of the quickest defenders around, combined with Cindy Bengo to give Seminole a strong defense and help the Lady Tribe to a 14-6-3 record.

Rumler was one of the most versatile players in the county as, for most of the season, she spent the first half in goal and the second as forward. In a 1-1 tie against rival Lake Mary, Rumler turned in a stellar first half in goal and came on in the second to score. For her outstanding play this season, Rumler became the first Seminole High girls soccer player named to the All State team.

Lyman placed five more players from its talented squad on All-County Second Team including junior forward Sheila Mandy (29 goals), senior midfielder Alyson Wright (the lone senior on the team), sophomore midfielder Stacy Roy, sophomore defender Diana Boyesen and junior goalkeeper Lisa Chatman (followed just 14 goals in 18 games).

Mandy was a Second Team choice in All-County but was also named to the All State team. With all but one starter returning next season, the Lady Greyhounds will be odds on favorite to win it all again.

Second Team selections for Seminole included senior forward Beth Nelson and sophomore forward Vicki "Spully" Pakovic, two of the leading scorers in the county. Nelson, despite Second Team selections for Lake Mary included senior forward Fran "Flash" Gordon and junior midfielder Kristin Jones. Lake Brantley's Second Team choices were junior midfielder Susan Toepfer and sophomore midfielder Michelle Herbst.

Honorable Mention picks were led by Seminole with five including Bengo, Rachele Denmark, Kim Walsh, Tracey Farrelly and Janet Hauck. Honorable Mention selections for Lyman included Kim Mitchell, Nancy VanVoorhis and Kellie Straw. Honorable Mention choices for the first-year Lake Howell Lady Silver Hawks were Melissa Mearns, Megan Lane and Darcy Mistak. Lake Mary's Dorrie Elders also made Honorable Mention.

Lake Howell's Silver Hawks, the top-ranked team in the state (4A) much of the season, had four selections to the First Team to lead the voting for the Evening Herald's All-County Soccer squad. Lake Brantley and Lake Mary had three First Team picks each while Lyman had two and Oviedo one. The voting was done by the county coaches.

First Team selections for Lake Howell, which was stunned in the district tournament by Lake Mary, included senior defender Kevin Ryler, senior defender midfielder Jim Morrissey, senior forward Mike Serino and junior forward Eric Reesman.

The Silver Hawks were the Five Star Conference champions with a 80-1 record under coach Norm Wight. Lake Howell lost just once in the regular season before bowing out to Lake Mary.

For the state (4A) runnerup Patriots, junior goalkeeper Aaron Kindel and senior forward Mo Moghaddam were the only unanimous choices to the First Team. Also making the team for Brantley is senior defender Sean Putegnat.

Time after time this season Kindel pulled the Patriots out of close games with a key shutout. He is one of only three juniors on the senior-dominated All-County First Team.

Moghaddam, one of the most prolific scorers in Central Florida, is one of the most skilled players to ever suit up for a Seminole County team. His senior leadership this season was instrumental in Brantley's quest for the state crown which fell just one win short under coach Jim Brody.

Lake Mary's First Team selections included senior midfielder Paul Holmes, senior forward Andre Sanders and senior defender Eric Zimmerman. Holmes turned in an outstanding season at midfield where he often single-handedly dominated a match. Sanders was the leading goal scorer for Central Florida 4A schools and a All-County First Team selection. Zimmerman's defense was instrumental in Lake Mary's district upset of then top ranked Lake Howell.

Cannas Brighten Spring, Summer Landscape

If you have a bright, sunny garden spot that needs some summer color, why not try cannas this season. These tropical flowering perennials are very easy to grow. You've probably have seen them growing somewhere. They have showy, tropical-looking foliage with leaves resembling those of a banana tree. The bright, large flowers come in a wide variety of colors, including ivory, yellow, rose, salmon, and red. Plants may reach a height of ten feet, depending on the variety you choose.

Even the foliage is attractive, with colors ranging from green or greenish-blue to copper, purple, or ruby. Some varieties are variegated with green leaves with white stripes. If you're interested in adding cannas to your landscape, you should know that the plants are classified in two ways — flower type and growth habit.

Cannas come in two basic flowering types. Gladiolus-flowering cannas have wide flower petals on flower spikes spread closely on long stalks. Orchid-flowering cannas are more loosely spaced and they have narrow petals.

By growth habit, cannas are classified as tall-growing, low growing, and dwarfs. The tall-growing plants need quite a bit of room. They should be spaced about two feet apart. Most of the tall-growing types will reach a height of four to six feet. They bear very large spikes and huge, satin flowers.

Low-growing cannas shouldn't ever get larger than three feet high. They make a nice addition to a small garden, along terraces, and in other areas where space is limited. The low-growing cannas have green leaves and large, well-proportioned flowers.

Dwarf cannas grow from 16 to 18 inches tall. They're used most often as accents in front of shrubs, or in mixed flower bed plantings.

Like most garden plants, cannas grow best in well-drained soil that's rich in organic material and plant nutrients. They will grow in most soils, without extra amendments, as long as they get enough fertilizer and water.

No matter what kind of soil they're planted in, cannas like plenty of plant food. The more they get, the more they bloom. Fertilize your cannas at least once a month with a complete 6-6-6 fertilizer. Apply about two pounds per 100 square feet of garden area.

Cannas can be grown in the garden two ways. First, they can be grown in containers. Four or five gallon plastic pots are ideal. To get them started, fill the pots with good organic soil and plant the cannas. Then, space the pots out and set them in the ground. Make sure the soil in the pots is about level or slightly shallower with the surrounding soil. Add a layer of mulch and no one will ever guess that the plants are growing in containers.

This method may sound like a lot of extra work, but it has advantages that make it worthwhile. For one thing, it's easier to be sure the plants have enough fertilizer when the root systems are in pots. And, since there's practically no leaching, you'll get good results with less fertilizer. The plastic pots cut down on soil-borne insects and nematode problems, too. Finally, cannas growing in pots usually need less water, because the organic soil holds more moisture than the sandy soils so common in our landscape.

As you know or soon will, cannas grow from rhizomes — special food-storing roots. You can also plant the rhizomes directly in the flower beds. Mix about one-third of a cup of a complete 6-6-6 fertilizer into the soil for each rhizome you plant. Cannas planted this way usually won't flower as soon as those rooted ahead of time in pots.

Be careful pruning you can keep cannas blooming all summer. As soon as the first flowers wither, remove the part of the stem that bore them. Usually there will be a second flowering shoot growing from the joint just below the top flower of the first shoot. Just continue this process, removing each stem as the flowers wither. Finally, when all the flowering shoots finish blooming, cut the entire stem at or just above the ground level.

After the blooming season, cannas should be dug and stored until the next spring. Clean off any sand or organic material clinging to the roots. Separate them and throw away any rhizomes without "eyes." Cut off the remaining stems, and let the rhizomes dry for a week or so in a cool area. Cut off all the dried roots, put the rhizomes in a flat wooden box, cover them with peat moss, and store them under cool conditions. Do not refrigerate them, though, they will deteriorate at temperatures of 45 degrees Fahrenheit and below.

Since cannas can grow quite large, they should be used with care in the average landscape. A few plants might be fine, but too many in the same area should be disastrous. Try some cannas this season. They'll brighten up your spring and summer landscape.

Neighbors Do Slow Burn While Firemen Refuse To Fight Fire

DEAR ABBY: What a strange coincidence! On the same day you printed a letter signed "Grateful in Millsboro, Del.," praising the heroism of volunteer firemen, this Associated Press item appeared, datelined Salem, Ark.:

"Volunteer firefighters refused to fight a fire that destroyed Anthony Brazil's $150,000 house and killed the family's dog because they said he had not paid $20 in annual fees.

"They just sat there and watched it burn. We have nothing left but the clothes on our backs and our cars," Brazil said.

"The chief of Salem's volunteer fire department, Ronnie Courtney, said, 'We've had a policy for a number of years. If you're not a member, we don't fight the fire. The fire association charges $250 to put out a fire, but the fire victim must be a member whose $20 annual dues are paid.'

"Brazil and his wife were at church when Brazil's brothers discovered the blaze Sunday morning. Courtney said flames were coming out of windows when firefighters arrived in three trucks, staying near the house to make sure the fire didn't spread.

"Neighbors offered to pay the $20 and the additional $250 if the department would fight the fire, but the firefighters refused.

"The firefighters were just standing around. As a matter of fact, they were out hosing their new fire truck down in the street to 'keep it clean,' said Barney Taylor, a member of the church the Brazils attend."

PETER W. MARY JR., NEW ORLEANS

DEAR PETER: Thanks for sending the item. I received several from other parts of the country.

I cannot understand how any person could justify the actions of the Salem, Ark., volunteer firefighters.

If their chief, Ronnie Courtney or any of the volunteer firefighters who stood by refusing to fight a fire that destroyed a house and killed a family dog has anything to say in their defense, please write. I will be glad to print it.

DEAR ABBY: Who was the wise soul who wrote "Any woman who will accept attention from a married man — no matter how lonely, misunderstood, henpecked, mistreated or neglected or unhappy he claims to be — is stupid and cheap, dishonest and shortsighted?"

SCC Ensemble Rated 'Superior' At Festival

The Seminole Community College Jazz Ensemble recently returned from the Loyola University Jazz Festival in New Orleans where 30 Jazz Ensembles participated. The band brought back the only Superior Performance trophy the judges awarded to Community College Jazz Bands.

Under the direction of Dr. William Hinkle the group literally "blew" their way into the judges' and audiences' hearts, according to Hinkle. The NAJE (National Association of Jazz Educators) adjudicator's comment sheets read: "no criticism," "this band swings," and "outstanding."

Receiving "Outstanding Musician" trophies were J.B. Scott (trumpet), Kim Coats (alto saxophone) and Jose Betancourt (baritone saxophone).

A foods demonstration on money saving recipes using eggs entitled "Eggonomics," free and open to the public, will be presented on March 27 from 12:30 p.m., and again that evening from 7:30-8:30.

Hysterectomy Pushes Woman Near Suicide

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB — Three years ago, at 51, I had a needless hysterectomy that solved nothing. What it did do was take away my libido, which was very strong, and left me with no interest in sex. I was a very orgasmic woman before the operation and now I feel castrated, very depressed and in agony about my loss. None of these effects were ever mentioned to me.

I also now have bladder and rectal problems.

DEAR READER — Your letter suggests that you need help. I suspect that you need hormone replacement and are not taking estrogen. You might have had the same reaction when your ovaries stopped producing estrogen with your expected menopause. At 51, it could not have been far off. The doctor has to think about the possibility that the cancer of the ovaries may occur. If the ovaries will not provide any needed function because of the menopause anyway, he must consider whether a woman should be exposed to the risk of ovarian cancer.

The removal of the uterus has no effect on libido, but female hormones do. I do not know what you mean by bladder problems, but if you mean recurrent infections, these, too, occur when a woman is low on estrogen due to the natural menopause or surgery.

Your comment about suicide suggests strongly that you need to see a psychiatrist. Anyone with such thoughts needs professional help. Despite your hostility toward your doctor, I must insist that you see him and ask about your hormone status. If you are not getting estrogen, you may be on the road to bone loss and other problems.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My husband is in his 80s and has trouble with drooling. He is active and his health is fairly good for his age. He asked his doctor, but the doctor didn't say what causes it. Is there a cure for it?

DEAR READER — Perhaps the two most common causes of drooling in a person your husband's age are poorly fitted dentures and weak muscles from a previous stroke or disease that affect the nerves that control the muscles of the mouth. He should have a dentist check his dentures, if he wears them.

Sometimes an excess production of saliva also contributes to the problem. In some cases, medicines can be used to decrease the saliva production, but some of these have undesirable effects.

If the problem is strictly muscular control, some exercises to strengthen the facial and jaw muscles may be of some use.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

A leopard cannot change its spots, nor can you, as a bridge player, change the spots on the cards. But you can certainly notice what the spots are and use them to your best advantage.

The three-heart bid by South was an effort to get to three no-trump if North wanted to bid it. When North returned to only three spades, South would have been well advised to pass, but he felt that his spade ace and A-K of hearts outweighed the flat shape of his distribution, and he carried on to game.

Declarer ducked the opening lead of diamond king and won the diamond continuation. Though chances were dim, he had to take them. He led a heart from dummy and put in the jack. Next came the heart ace followed by the heart king.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Today you are apt to be a bit of a daydreamer but your imaginings will be positive and practical and could lead you to ways to add to your resources. Major changes are in store for Aries in the coming year. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today. Mail $1 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) This is a good day to devote time and study to your long-range plans. Keep your tomorrows in mind, not just your immediate concerns.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Someone extremely fond of you is aware of your present needs and will help alleviate a responsibility that you thought you'd have to shoulder alone.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) A friend you'll be associating with today may provide you with a fresh outlook that will be of great help to you in making a business decision.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Speak up today if you feel credit or other acknowledgments are due you for service you recently performed. Your demands will be recognized.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You have a charismatic manner and style about you today that others will find quite appealing and pleasing. You'll be a standout in any group.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Everyone should be in harmony today regarding a common, confidential family interest. Collective action is now in order.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Decisions you make today should not be based upon their material or financial aspects alone. Consider other factors that are equally as important.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) The ways and means may present themselves today to make it possible for you to acquire something you've desired but always considered too expensive.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Companions will be swayed by the example you set today. Your influence over others is far more powerful than you think.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Restrict current sensitive or secretive activities to yourself and those directly involved. Don't tip your hand to outsiders.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) A pal might tell you something in confidence today and leave it to your discretion whether another friend should be informed. Weigh the decision carefully.

13 Others Sentenced For Drunk Driving

Woman Loses License For 5 Years

A Holly Hill woman was fined $500 and ordered to serve 10 days in the Seminole County jail for driving under the influence of alcohol.

Elizabeth Hughes Haight, 46, was arrested Dec. 15 after her car hit two vehicles in separate accidents in unidentified areas of Seminole County. Her driver's license was suspended for 5 years.

In other court action, the following persons have either pleaded or been found guilty of driving under the influence.

As first-time offenders, most have had their driver's license suspended for 6 months, ordered to pay a $250 fine, pay court costs of $27.50 and complete 50 hours of community service. When a guilty or no contest plea is entered or if the defendant is found guilty of an alcohol-related offense, other charges are usually either not prosecuted or dismissed. Most of the first-time offenders are allowed to apply for business-only driving permits. In cases where the sentence differs, the actual sentence is reported:

Boy, 11, Makes 'Miraculous' Recovery, Visits Classmates

MIAMI (UPI) — Frail, brown-haired, 11-year-old Wayne Lenker went to school Thursday, and that, his doctors said, is a miracle.

On Oct. 7, Wayne was taken to Palmetto General Hospital in a coma, with a fractured skull and a severe right frontal lobe contusion — a bruise to part of the brain.

"Technically, he should be a vegetable," said Tania Fedusenko, a hospital spokeswoman.

Wayne was in the front seat of a "scrambler," a 1,500-pound motorized land-or-water vehicle, which was sitting in the street while a friend attempted to move it. The vehicle was struck by a car and his friend, Eddie Smith, 25, was killed. Wayne was not expected to live more than 24 hours.

His heart stopped, and it took doctors 20 minutes to revive him.

"They said he had massive brain damage," his mother, Geraldine Hoehl, said Thursday. "They kept his body temperature low, at 60 degrees, to slow down the damage."

A few weeks ago, Wayne slowly began to regain consciousness.

On March 12, Wayne began to speak one word at a time. He cried as therapist Steven Musco began working with his atrophied muscles. Six weeks ago, he took his first steps, using a walker.

On Thursday, Wayne told his doctor, "I'm going to my school."

He left the hospital, and accompanied by his physician, Dr. Ernesto Valdez, and his mother, he walked into Palm Springs North Elementary School unassisted.

"It's nothing short of a miracle," Fedusenko said.

Wayne was greeted at the school doors by his brothers, Nelson, 10, and Al, 8. His classmates, teachers and the school janitor quickly surrounded the group.

Wayne walked around the schoolyard, shaking hands, touching his classmates' clothing and turning his head from side to side to absorb the flood of colors and sounds.

Seeing Wayne again is "O.K.," said sixth-grader Robert Scavuzzo, "but he's different."

Wayne walks hesitatingly, with a limp. He still loses his balance and says little. He faces extensive therapy and it will be at least a year before he can return to school for classes.

'I Knew In My Heart I Was A Murderer'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Subway gunman Bernhard Goetz, in newly released portions of his confession for shooting four teenagers aboard a subway train Dec. 22, said "I knew in my heart (I) was a murderer" when he chose to shoot the youths.

Goetz, who made the confession while in police custody in Concord, N.H., shot and wounded the four teenagers, one of whom remains paralyzed from the waist down.

The shooting is being investigated by a second grand jury. The first one indicted Goetz for illegal weapons possession, but declined to charge him with attempted murder.

Goetz was scheduled to appear in federal court today in a $50 million suit filed by one of the four teenagers he wounded.

The lawsuit was filed by Darrell Cabey, 19, the most seriously wounded of the four teenagers.

The New York Daily News Friday reported that Goetz would not testify before the second grand jury as originally expected.

The paper said a letter from Assistant District Attorney Gregory Waples to Goetz's lawyer, Barry Slotnick, said if Goetz cannot testify on Monday, the panel will use other information to make its decision on an indictment.

Slotnick has said he is working on another case and cannot appear with Goetz before the panel until next Friday.

In the confession, broadcast on ABC's "20/20" program Thursday night, Goetz told a Manhattan prosecutor in Concord how one of the youths demanded money.

Goetz said he originally was not going to shoot the youths, but changed his mind and shot to kill when he thought the four youths "were going to have fun with me."

"It was at that point I decided I was gonna kill 'em all, murder 'em all, do anything," Goetz said.

He went on, "You can accuse me of a lot of things, okay? Because I know in my heart what I was. They didn't die, well, that's what God wanted. If there is a God, that I knew in my heart (I) was a murderer."

Bank of Orlando loaned Globe $150,000 over a two-year period since 1983. The loans were guaranteed by H&C, according to the suit. The bank states in the suit that it is "insecure" about the loan and wants it paid back.

In a joint agreement between Globe and Sun Bank, according to the suit, the wine is to be sold to cover the loans.

H&C was also required to deliver to the Florida Division of Alcohol and Tobacco a check for $27,000 to cover the excise tax estimated by state auditors. Attorneys for Sun Bank said today they expect the $27,000 to be paid today prior to the auctions.

Carmen Rosamonda, assistant administrator with the state department of revenue, said today his office will monitor the auctions to be certain the state receives the sales tax revenues, amounts separate from the $27,000 excise tax.

Today's Skateboarders A Throwback To 60s Surfers

By Rick Brunson
Herald Staff Writer

It has just turned spring, you're 14 years old, and you like to surf but the water is still too cold. Even if you could afford a wet suit that winter surfers wear to keep from freezing, you couldn't get to the beach because you can't drive. So what's a young "fun in the sun" happening type dude to do? Why he goes over to his messy closet, rummages around a bit and finds a dusty old skateboard, of course.

And that's exactly what some young people are doing in Seminole County. Skateboard fever has rolled into the area after a long snooze and according to hardcore skaters it will be a long time before the sport goes out with the tide of other fads.

Almost weekly, wooden "half-pipe" ramps are popping up in Seminole neighborhoods. Teens clad in helmets, pads, camouflage shorts and purple and pink checkerboard tennis shoes roll back and forth on the ramps — twisting, turning, flipping and often tumbling to the ground.

Gene Feuerhahn, co-owner of a skateboard specialty shop in Sanford, estimates about 20 percent of the area's students are riding skateboards. He said interest in the sport locally exploded just before Christmas and continues to climb. During the holidays, orders for skateboards increased and more youngsters started buying safety equipment, he said. Now he says his store has become a hangout for the mostly teenage skaters. They thumb through his skateboard magazines, talk skate talk with the sales help or gawk at the latest "hot" addition to his skateboard inventory.

"This is more like a winter time sport. It's cold and they can't get to the beach so they skateboard," Feuerhahn said.

But skaters would rather skate than hang out so most of them can be found at one of the many backyard ramps between Sanford and Longwood — the "Banzai Pipeline" of Seminole County.

'It's just surfing on wheels. I'd rather surf but I can't get to the beach as easy as I can here'

-Danny Young, 18

'It's a way of life. There's no limit to what you can do on a skateboard. It's a struggle to see who can be the most far out.'

-Pete Hodges, 14

At one such ramp, in the Idyllwilde subdivision of Sanford, a group of about 15 skaters meet almost daily to rock and roll. Steve and Carol Letchworth had the 15-foot ramp built because they believed some of the ramps going up in the neighborhood were "rickety" and unsafe.

They commissioned a local skateboarding carpenter, 18-year-old Danny Young, to put one up in their backyard.

The Letchworth home was a logical site for the ramp.

"We had the biggest backyard — and the most patience," she said.

The word got around and soon youngsters were skating their way to the "Avalanche II," what the thrill-seeking skateboarders have named the $600 plywood ramp. Regulars have even contributed money (nobody is sure just how much) to help pay for it.

The Letchworths demand parental releases from each skater and require them to wear safety equipment at all times.

At a recent skate session about 15 boys age 10 to 18 talked about why skateboarding has become the "in" sport of the 80s. The conversation sounded a lot like what you would have heard talking to a group of surfers 15 or 20 years ago.

"It's a way of life," said 14-year-old Pete Hodges. To him, skating is more than a sport — it's a lifestyle, complete with its own music, (hard rock), clothing, (i.e. lime green skate shorts stuffed with padding) and vocabulary. Skaters also group themselves according to loyalties to a certain brand of equipment or a particular skateboard shop.

Skate lingo goes something like this: A "radical" skater has a good "bio" when he "drops in" and does numerous "scrambled eggplants" without "slamming."

In laymen's terms that means an exceptional skater has an good performance when he starts his run from the top of the ramp, jets to the other side and turns back around using his hands on the floor of the ramp. If he does this without falling on his head it's a "bio." It takes about one year to become a radical skater, Pete said.

To Young, the ramp's architect, skating is a substitute for surfing, his true love.

"It's just surfing on wheels. I'd rather surf but I can't get to the beach as easy as I can here," he said.

Others are strictly skateboarders, viewing "the ride" as much a part of their adolescence as pimples and changing voices.

"It's all my life consists of right now," said Dean Young, 16. "But that's all right because it keeps me busy and it's something to do."

Tom Anderson, 13, said his parents "get depressed" because all he talks about is skateboarding.

Skaters are challenged by attempting new tricks and wearing outrageous garb, Pete said, adding rather proudly that skateboarders are not conformers like their classmates.

"There's no limit to what you can do on a skateboard. It's a struggle to see who can be the most far out," he said.

And you can be "far out" in three basic ways — freestyle, which consists of trick riding on a level

3 Movies Best Bets For Oscars

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Two lavish historical spectacles, "Amadeus" and "A Passage to India," and a brutal, bloody account of war in Southeast Asia, "The Killing Fields," are expected to dominate next week's Oscars telecast.

As with most years, there are a couple of sure bets to win Oscars. And there are certain to be a few oddities that catch moviemakers and filmgoers by surprise.

The 57th annual Academy Awards ceremonies will be televised worldwide to an estimated audience of 250 million from the Los Angeles Music Center Monday.

Co-producer Gregory Peck has promised a trimmed-down affair featuring Jack Lemmon as host with the help of 10 co-hosts including Diana Ross, Tom Selleck, Candice Bergen and Michael Douglas.

If the awards follow the script written by the nominations, the final results will be a tie between the two movies that captured 11 nominations each — "Amadeus," a musically uplifting and morally challenging tale about the intrigue surrounding the genius Mozart in the Viennese court, and "A Passage to India," the epic retelling of the 1920s Raj tale presented in E.M. Forster's novel.

"Amadeus" seems to be the biggest favorite following honors from several critics groups, the Directors Guild, the Golden Globes and a nationwide poll of moviegoers in the "Your Choice for the Film Awards" show.

Should the Mozart story prove too stylized for academy voters, the probable winner is "The Killing Fields," a graphic account of friendship and survival during the Cambodian revolt that won seven nominations and recently swept the so-called British Oscars.

Also competing for best picture are "Places in The Heart," the saga of hard times in a small Texas town during the Depression that picked up another seven nominations, and "A Soldier's Story," a stark drama of murder in a black U.S. Army unit during World War II that got four nominations.

Competing for best actor are the co-stars of "Amadeus" — F. Murray Abraham as Salieri, the scheming courtier driven mad with envy, and Tom Hulce, the talented and tormented Mozart. See OSCARS, page 8

'Sara' Isn't 'Mary'

By David Handler

I keep waiting for "Sara" to get better, but it doesn't. This mid-season NBC sitcom has been hailed as "The Mary Tyler Moore Show" of the '80s. It isn't. It has been called the first major Yuppie sitcom. It isn't.

"Sara" breaks no new ground, provides no new sensibility. It just follows the formula.

It's not terrible. This is a pleasant, sincere little ensemble comedy about a law office. But we've already seen a sitcom about young lawyers, "The Associates." And we've already seen this assortment of oddballs, stinkers and losers in every gang comedy form "Taxi" to "Barney Miller."

There is also a major flaw here. "Sara" is a show that is built for a star, and they don't have one.

They have Geena Davis from "Buffalo Bill." She is very tall, very pretty and very sweet. She has a naive, kid sister charm to her, but Mary Tyler Moore she ain't.

She lacks the presence and experience to hold a show together. She does not, on her own, stand for something. And — not to be sneezed at — she isn't particularly funny. Call me old-fashioned, but I still like sitcoms that make me laugh.

Sara McKenna is a young, single San Francisco attorney who shares office space with three other young attorneys, all of them struggling. Sara is idealistic and caring. She seems to want it all — true love, independence, a meaningful career, good friends.

But there isn't much depth or intelligence to Sara. She's not particularly hip. She doesn't have much of a personality. She's actually quite vapid. To me, there isn't much more to her than there is to those well-dressed Yuppies in the Michelob commercials.

Her colleagues are more interesting. Her best friend, Roz (Alfre Woodard), is a daffy, man-hungry black woman with a sharp, self-deprecating sense of humor.

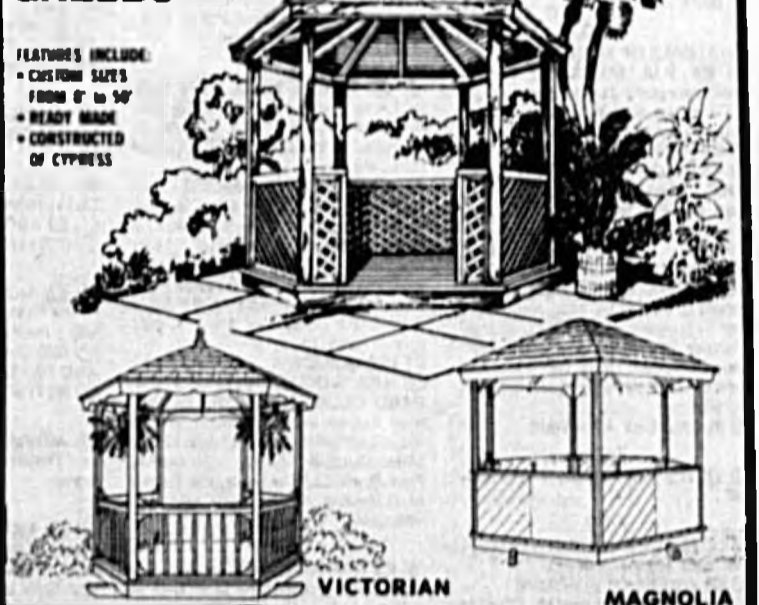

Actually, Miss Woodard is so warm and winning I think they might have had a stronger show here if she were Sara and Miss Davis were her leggy, tepid white girlfriend.

"Sara" has its flaws, but I believe what it suffers from most is too much hype. If it had slid quietly onto the air without any fuss, it might have grown into something. Certainly, it would have been free to take some chances, go out on some limbs.

Instead, it's a self-conscious, tentative show, one that plays it safe, because it's afraid to fail. Therein does not lie the path to greatness.

Lab Tech Suing MGM

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A former MGM film laboratory technician is suing the studio and more than 25 other companies, charging that film processing chemicals and equipment permanently damaged his nervous system.

Among the defendants named in Abel Everett's Superior Court suit are Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Film Co., Warner Brothers, Eastman-Kodak, Technicolor Corp., Dow Chemical Co. and Union Carbide, companies that developed, tested, packaged and manufactured the chemicals, court documents show.

He claims that in the three years he worked at MGM he was exposed to numerous dangerous chemicals including benzene, trichloroethylene and formaldehyde.

...Skateboard

plane, dry swimming pool and ramp riding, and skating for transportation, like to school or to the corner store for some Milk Duds.

Skateboarding has become more of a precision sport as the equipment has evolved with it.

Far from the boards of yesteryear — wooden, skinny boards usually hand-made with metal wheels probably taken from an old pair of roller skates — today's skateboards are wide and can be made of wood, metal or plastic. They have fancy axle/shock absorber systems, called "trucks," and wide rubber wheels.

In addition, skaters can add a myriad of accessories — "birds," plastic sheaths that protect the axle system from damage when the skater runs over curbs. They are called "birds" because they resemble the profane hand gesture of the same name.

A skater can also get "bones," plastic moldings to protect the front of his board, and "ugly sticks" to protect the sides from scrapes. Incidentally, the ugly sticks are screwed into the board with "sex bolts," Feuerhahn said. (Don't ask).

A complete board costs about $140. A full set of safety equipment, including helmet, wrist, knee and elbow guards, costs another $100, he said.

These skaters are more than willing to shell out the bucks to underwrite their pleasure and Feuerhahn said they pay with their own hard-earned money. To them, it's an investment. These rough-and-tumblers say skateboarding is here to stay.

But it has fallen out of fashion before and will probably wane again in five years, Feuerhahn and other business analysts say.

A primitive form of skateboarding originated in the 1930s, according to Brian Ridgeway, public relations officer of TransWorld Skateboarding magazine in Carlsbad, Calif. At that time, roller skate wheels were attached to apple boxes and rolled down the street in a haphazard fashion.

But it was in 1958 at Malibu Beach, Calif., Ridgeway said, that skateboarding got its first boost. By then skateboards had evolved into "two-by-fours" on roller skates," he said.

By 1965, interest was steamrolling on the west coast, skateboarders began competing, and three skateboarding magazines rolled off the presses, multiplying the sport's publicity.

For the next nine years skateboarding enjoyed a steady rise of popularity and then in 1975 it hit the east coast like a typhoon. About the same time polyurethane wheels emerged — which revolutionized the way skaters got around. The wheels gave skaters a smoother ride and enabled them to turn on a dime, which in turn led to more death-defying tricks for their repertoires.

Skaters also discovered the thrill of doing their thing in dry swimming pools.

The first skateboard park — a rink devoted solely to skateboarding — opened in 1976 in Carlsbad, Ridgeway said. Many more followed, including one in Orlando.

But in 1977 the sport "slammed."

"A lot of people started getting hurt around '77 ... because there was not enough good equipment out on the market," he said.

Skate parks started closing in 1979 and there were almost none by 1980. High insurance premiums and lawsuits brought by injured skaters drove them out of business.

"It was a real down point when everyone, skaters and businessmen, just quit," Ridgeway said. The number of exclusive skateboard businesses, including equipment manufacturers and magazine publishers, went from about 300 to 10, he said.

But skateboarding was yet to be wiped out completely.

Thrasher, a San Francisco-based skating magazine, kept circulating and fueled the skating spirit. "It gave everybody hope" that skateboarding would rise again to its former status, Ridgeway said.

In 1981 ramps started popping up in backyards across the country and with them came a renewed interest in the sport. The sounds of skaters whizzing back and forth infected a new generation of "radicals."

By 1982 contests were cranking up again in Ohio and other Midwestern states and by 1983 professional circuits were in full swing.

"It's been going up ever since. And it'll be a lot safer this time around though maybe not as big as in 1978," Ridgeway said.

Peggy Cozens, co-publisher of TransWorld, says in addition to being a safer sport, today's skaters are more "committed and sophisticated."

Right now skateboarding is a $20 million to $30 million annual business, she said, and she predicts there will be a boom in equipment sales this summer.

"This time because the technology is already there ... we feel the market is going to grow more steadily."

But the sounds of ramp skating this summer may be stifled locally by municipal governments.

Casselberry already has a ramp ban due to the noise they make. And there is a move underway in Longwood, a popular haven for skaters, to pass an ordinance banning, or at least tightly regulating, ramps.

If skating is banned a few "radicals" may be so bummed out they might do a few scrambled eggplants on the sidewalks of city hall.

And wouldn't that be grotesque to the max?

Fer sure!
