

Casselberry Marshal Offers To Turn In His Badge

Sawyer Stresses Need For Help

Casselberry Marshal Gus Sawyer, over strong protests from board members and a near capacity audience, offered to turn in his badge at Monday night's meeting of the Board of Aldermen after Road Board Chairman Don Willson asked that something be done about speeding on Hwy. 17-92.

Annexation Request Rapped

"I can't be expected to stay on the road 24 hours a day and at the salary you pay I think you're lucky to get anybody to take the job," Sawyer stated, suggesting that the town hire him some help if it wants "someone on the highway all of the time."

Sawyer said that his only interest in the job is as a public service to the town he chose to make his retirement home and that it "is a physical impossibility for one man to be everywhere at one time."

"What do you people expect?" he asked.

The office of marshal in Casselberry carries a monthly salary of $100.

Discussing a possible solution to the problem after Sawyer was convinced to keep the office, the board considered requesting the State Road Dept. to relocate the speed limit signs which now are on the immediate entrances to the town's shopping district.

The board also discussed the traffic situation at the South Seminole Elementary School but tabled any action on the problem until the County School Board is consulted on the matter.

Lady, who lives in the nearby first class residential area and opposing the development of an industrial site there, explained that the area in question has long been a controversial one and said that a threat to oust the Redding Woods area from the city was concealed in Casselberry's request for annexation.

Attorney Kenneth McIntosh instructed to draw up the "ordinance of intent to annex" required by any request for annexation, advised upon question that those opposing the action should register their complaints at the next board meeting when the ordinance is read for board approval.

The move to have the ordinance prepared was given by the deciding vote of Board Chairman Paul Bates.

Voting for were Cliff Overman and George Howard, against were Lady and Mrs. Hope Bennett.

4-H Program Announced For State Fair

The more than 100 Seminole County 4-H Club youths and members of related organizations making the trip to the Florida State Fair in Tampa Saturday will participate in annual State 4-H Council Program to be held in the Grandstand during the morning.

Glenda Forte, president of the state girls council, will preside. Welcome will be extended by Carl Broten, fair president and the response will be given by Jackie Strickland, boys council president.

Presentation of the annual livestock trophy from the Tampa Morning Tribune will be made by the paper's editor and publisher and Dr. J. N. Busby and Dr. M. O. Watkins, heads of the state extension service, also will address the youths.

At 11 a. m., a program of entertainment featuring acts from the grandstand artists will be put on especially for the audience of boys and girls.

Seminole County leaders, Miss Myrtle Wilson and Cecil Tucker, have announced a request that all the local 4-H'ers attend the entire program and that they remain seated in the grandstand during its presentation.

Oviedo Training Union Crowns King, Queen

A welcome to "Heartsville U.S.A.," greeted members and guests at Wednesday night's Oviedo Baptist Training Union Banquet where Debbie Ward and Bruce Thompson, crowned queen and king, were given a key to the city.

Guests enjoyed a meal of broken hearts (fruit cup), tender hearts (fried chicken), stuffed hearts (baked potatoes), heartstrings (green beans) young at heart (spring salad), hard hearts (french bread) and for dessert, frozen hearts (strawberry ice cream) and sweet hearts (cookies) followed by heartburn brew (coffee).

Clyde Weaver, TU director and mayor of "Heartsville," gave everyone the customary "political welcome" and invited them to make a tour of the town beginning with a trip through Melody Park.

Conducting the tour were Jimmie Beasley and Linda Riggins, Brett Thompson and Beth Gore, Max Cook and Rose Hice, Linda Gammage and Richard Harris, Ann Riggins and Ray Haynes, Ouida Edge and David Hill and the king and queen, who sang "Sweethearts on Parade."

The group next were guided down "Skit Row" with Donnie Kasell, Sandy Mays, Larry Henry and Dennis Ward, ending up with the return up "Harmony Lane," with A. B. Tedford, W. A. Ward, S. R. Riggins and C. D. Thompson singing "My Wild Irish Rose" with the audience joining in for the last chorus.

After prayer and the benediction, the evening closed with all present singing "Let Me Call You Sweetheart."

Mrs. George Means, decorations chairman, carried out the Valentine theme arranging the white covered tables with tracings of greenery interspersed with red and white artificial carnations and paper hearts.

The speaker's table featured a large white styrofoam and net heart centered with red roses and daisies flanked with white candles and red paper hearts. Red balloons and white lace hearts were

Kennedy Makes Public Textile Pact

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy today made public a 19-nation pact that the White House said would permit the U. S. cotton textile industry to meet the threat of foreign imports.

The proposed five-year agreement will go into effect Oct. 1 for the countries that ratify it. It is designed to limit cotton textile shipments to this country at about current levels.

Favorable reaction of congressmen from textile-manufacturing states indicated that the arrangement would help win support for the administration's request for unprecedented tariff-cutting powers. These legislators, particularly southerners, have turned in recent years away from their historical support of liberal trade policies because of the growing competition from foreign textile imports.

Rep. Carl Vinson, D-Ga., leader of the powerful textile bloc in the House, lauded Kennedy in a letter for "the noteworthy stand which you have taken" in negotiations at Geneva which preceded the agreement.

Administration officials assured senators and congressmen at secret briefings Thursday that the textile imports could be held to less than the all-time high of six per cent of domestic consumption reached in 1960. The 1961 level dropped to 5.2 per cent.

The proposed pact provides that the United States—or any other importing nation—can freeze the level of imports for two years and then keep them from jumping more than five per cent annually if the shipments threaten or disrupt the domestic market.

Under provisions of the agreement, the United States could act unilaterally to impose the restrictions in any of 64 cotton textile categories.

The total shipments would be frozen at a level computed by taking the average figure for a full year, beginning 15 months before the government decided there was disruption of the domestic market.

Congressmen were assured that there would be no increase in cotton textile imports during the first 12 months of the agreement.

A Commerce Department spokesman described the agreement as "the most restrictive signed by the United States in the last 10 years."

A State Department spokesman said the United States had drawn "on a reservoir of goodwill" to bring the other nations into line.

Safety Bond Urged For School Contractors

A. R. Lormann, mayor of Longwood and prospective candidate for the State Legislature, was asked at a meeting in Lake Mary Friday night where he felt the responsibility should be placed for the recent collapse of a dividing wall in the Lake Mary Elementary School cafeteria.

"If the architects are to supervise construction as it progresses, I feel they should be responsible for the safety of the structure. Furthermore, I feel that the construction men should be requested to put up a bond over a one or two year period such as we require on our roads," he said.

Other prospective political candidates at the meeting were District Two County Commissioner Ted Williams and W. Pitt Varnes of Fern Park, expected to run for the district four county commission post now held by Vernon Dunn.

Lormann also told the group that he felt the legislative enabling act giving counties the power to establish franchise directives such as the recent Seminole County one on water and sewerage was a good act but that the people fell down by not keeping informed.

Commenting that his hat is "on its way down into the ring," he said that as a legislator he would attempt to add strength and stability to the county delegation and that he would make every effort to keep the people informed.

"I'd give the people the opportunity to at least know my mailing address and perhaps would even give them a few postcards so they could let me know their opinions," he quipped.

Both Williams and Varnes advised that they are opposed to hiring an administrative aide or county manager and that they wouldn't seek the job if they felt they didn't have time to do it.

Williams remained on record as opposed to a "signal alert system for the county" explaining that such a system could not possibly serve all of the residents and "would be too late anyway if we should get a blast."

Mayor Seeks Renovation Of Old Jail

City Approval Of Job To Be Asked Tonight

Mayor J.H. (Jimmy) Crapps will ask the City Commission tonight to approve renovating the old county jail at a cost under $10,000 and start work "immediately" moving the police department out of the present facility.

Crapps said this morning he hopes the work will be accomplished before the next fiscal year.

The present city jail accommodates 22 prisoners while the old county jail will take care of the needs of over 60.

Crapps said he will discuss renovating plans on the facility before the city commission tonight.

Plans call for new plumbing, wiring and fixing up the front of the building.

"It would give us a modern, up-to-date facility," the mayor said.

The city swapped the old jail from the county for a city pit.

Present plans call for the city to use some of the present city jail for a drive-in utility window.

Crapps has also been negotiating with the Florida State Bank to beautifully adjacent property by the old county jail and put a through street right through to Seminole Blvd.

Two Fires Burn Over 45 Acres

Florida Forest Rangers from Longwood were called out Sunday to fight two fires which burned a total of about 45 acres according to a report from Rancier Lewis Williams this morning.

The first, taking about an hour to bring under control, burned some 20 acres south of the Sanford Naval Air Station and a later four-hour fire destroyed some 25 acres on the Wekiva River off Markham Rd., Williams said.

Both were caused by carelessness, he reported.

Williams also said that the rangers have killed several rattlesnakes in the last few days and warned residents that the reptiles are beginning to crawl with the warm weather.

Deadline Near For Candidates

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—The time of decision for prospective candidates for state and national political office is right around the corner.

The candidates begin qualifying at noon Tuesday in what shapes up as one of the liveliest off-year elections in modern Florida history.

The deadline for qualifying is noon March 6, and if only three fourths of those who have "unofficially" announced qualify, a jammed ballot is guaranteed.

Sparkling the interest in for Congress, where four new this year are the races seats are up for grabs as a result of the state's growth in population. The field is already crowded with announced candidates.

It did so as Congress returned to a full schedule following its traditional lull during the week of Lincoln's birthday.

The committee chairman indicated he might accept a proposed amendment to the administration request to buy $100 million of bonds.

South Seminole Young GOP's Hear Plans For Party

Congressman David Martin of Nebraska spoke before a luncheon meeting Friday of some 80 members and guests of the 18-day old South Seminole County Young Republican Club at the Casselberry Women's Club.

Martin, in Florida for the week on a GOP speaking tour, replaced State Congressman William C. Cramer who was unable to be present due to an unexpected engagement in St. Petersburg.

Repeating the party's foundation principal of organized action only on levels that can be handled by local or statewide groups, Martin severely criticized the present administrations "handout policies" in education, foreign aid and hospitalization and medical aid programs.

"It is vitally important that we keep our financial house in order to keep Russia from carrying out its threat to let us bankrupt ourselves so that it can step in and take over," he said.

To prevent this from happening the individual must meet with his responsibility in order to keep his rights as an American citizen, Martin advised.

He pointed out that in order for the state to provide the five Republican representatives expected of it this year, the party must organize right on down to the precinct level and provide good men with the proper financing.

"If two out of three of these measures are accomplished the Republicans stand a good chance of winning," he said.

Aiming the GOP prime criticism at today's foreign aid policy, Martin reiterated that it originally was adopted 14 years ago as a four-year plan to aid Western Europe which today has grown to include 106 nations including a number of Communist countries.

"And through our educational scholarship plan we are educating those, including Communist, who will some day turn against us for the only requirements we demand are that their countries approve them for education here," he explained.

Going back to the Monroe Doctrine, he said "We must keep out ideologies that are contrary to American Democracy and I believe they should be moved out if it takes force for us to do it."

He pointed out that Florida is only 90 miles away from the strongest military Communist organization in the Western Hemisphere and although Cuba has been set up as a basis for Communist operations, the State Department is concerned about six nations other than Cuba which have become Communist strongholds in the hemisphere.

"We must fight harder than ever before if we are to keep the principals of our government alive," he stated in conclusion of his address which was followed by a lively question and answer period during which he told the local club what could be expected in the way of financial aid from national and state levels for local campaigns.

France, Rebels Sign Pact

PARIS (UPI) — France and the Algerian rebels have completed secret cease-fire negotiations, the French government announced today. Unofficial sources said the two sides reached full agreement.

Algerian Affairs Minister Louis Joxe, who headed the official French delegation, is on his way back to Paris to report to President Charles de Gaulle and the French cabinet, a government spokesman said.

Joxe has been meeting with Algerian rebel representatives since Feb. 11 somewhere at a secret meeting place believed to have been on the French border with Switzerland.

The preliminary work in the negotiations was done at lower levels.

Guarantee Dual Citizenship Joxe was aided in the talks by Public Works Minister Robert Huron and Secretary of State for Sahara Affairs Jean de Broglie.

One of the biggest problems has been French insistence on guarantees—including dual Algerian and French citizenship — for Europeans in a future Algerian republic.

There was no immediate information Minister Mohamed Yagid.

The 60-member rebel council must, by its own rules, approve any agreement by a four-fifths majority before it becomes final.

Acting as a spur to the negotiations is the violence in Algeria which, since the first of the year, has taken a toll of more than 2,500 killed or injured.

The outlawed Secret Army Organization, seeking to keep Algeria French, has sought to sabotage the negotiations through terrorist attacks which have reached outside Algeria into Morocco and metropolitan France.

Allied officials said there was no change in the policy expressed last week when extra Western military transports were sent through the air to show determination to keep them free from obstruction.

The United States, France and Britain delivered protests about the air corridor action to the Soviet Foreign Ministry in Moscow last Thursday, warning the Russians they were running "the gravest risks."

Saturday night the Soviet Union sent notes to the three embassies in Moscow rejecting the protests.

On several occasions in the past week Soviet jet fighters have shadowed Western transports in some cases engaging in dangerous acrobatics.

The Western powers told the Soviet Union they would take whatever steps were necessary to insure safe passage of the Allied planes.

Such steps have not been spelled out but it could mean armed jet fighters would escort the transports.

Soviets Demand Exclusive Use Of Corridors

BERLIN (UPI) — The Soviet Union sought to impose a claim on a block of Berlin air corridor space against today and received another firm rebuff from the Western Allies.

The Russians announced Sunday night they would be using the space below 7,500 feet in the Berlin-Hamburg corridor, northernmost of three between West Berlin and West Germany, for three hours today.

It was the 7th time in 11 days the Russians had laid claim to part of the air space allocated for Allied flights across 110 miles of East German territory.

Castro's One Man Power Seen Reduced By Shift

The selection of a western Communist to succeed Fidel Castro as head of Cuba's monolithic Land Reform Institute (INRA) appeared today to be a step toward the "collective leadership" advocated by Castro in recent speeches.

The selection of Carlos R. Rodriguez, publisher of the Havana Communist organ Hoy, for the post of INRA president emphasized his growing importance in the Communist lineup in Cuba.

One unanswered question about the change of command at INRA concerned the future of Capt. Antonio Nunez Jimenez, who as executive director of the Institute had been its working boss.

No mention was made of Nunez—or of Castro—in the brief cabinet communiqué announcing the appointment of Rodriguez to the INRA presidency. On some occasions recently, Eduardo Santos Rios has been mentioned as INRA's executive director, but nothing has been said officially about Nunez being replaced.

Rodriguez already was a member of the Cuban equivalent of Russia's Presidium Politburo, and last year he displaced Argentine-born Bernardo Che Guevara as the Castro regime's "economic czar."

The INRA presidency increased Rodriguez's economic powers. The Institute is an autonomous agency with unlimited powers over agriculture, the pillar of Cuba's economy. The constitution specifically provides that INRA decisions may not be appealed.

Rodriguez, a man in his late 40's, is the dean of Cuba's current leaders. Castro himself and his principal aides are men in their early 30's.

Anti-Red Lecture Set

The Church of the Nativity, Lake Mary, is sponsoring a lecture on Communism on Wednesday evening at 7:30 in the Chamber of Commerce Hall in Lake Mary.

James J. Blain, Miami, an authority on this subject, will speak on Communism and the American citizen, touching on the UN, the House of Un-American Activities and Communism in high places.

Blain has been closely associated with and dedicated to this work for the past eight years. The public is invited to attend this lecture.

Church Supper Scheduled In Casselberry

The study sessions serve as introductions to the Sunday sermon series the minister also is conducting on The Creed.

Citrus Pruning Program Tuesday

A citrus pruning and hedging program and demonstration will be held for Seminole County growers at 2 p. m. Tuesday according to Cecil A. Tucker, Jr., Seminole County's Agricultural Agent. The program was arranged by the County Agricultural Agent through the cooperation of the Florida Agricultural Extension Service and a number of the citrus industry and equipment people.

The program will be held at the Seminole County grove which is next to the County Home and County Road Shop on the west side of 17-92 (about 5 miles south of Sanford and about 1 mile north of 5-points). Signs will be posted at the road entrance.

Bob Norris, Lake County Agricultural Agent, will kick the program off with an illustrated presentation on "Hedging and Rejuvenating Citrus Trees."

Nikita's Wife Urges Friendship

MOSCOW (UPI) — Mrs. Nikita S. Khrushchev appealed to the women of the United States Sunday night for "friendly understanding" and support for her husband's proposal for a summit conference on disarmament.

In a nine-minute short-wave broadcast beamed to North America, the wife of the Soviet premier said the Soviet Union "will never be the first to start a war." The appeal was broadcast four times over Moscow Radio.

"Let us sink atom bombs along with the other weapons in the deepest part of the ocean and live without weapons, as good neighbors, going about our peaceful affairs," she said in accented but fluent English.

Mrs. Khrushchev, whose first name is Nina, said she was responding to letters and cables from American women who are greatly concerned about "the main problem of the day, which is how to prevent war and build up world peace, how to prevent a nuclear age slaughter."

She said peace is the most ardent desire of every Soviet man, woman and child. She said the Soviet Union would like to return to the "friendly understanding" it had with the United States when Franklin D. Roosevelt was president.

"We may have different views on the source of the danger, but it is clear that more and more people, and among them thousands of American women, are coming to realize that the danger does exist."

She said a new war could bring death and destruction into every home and every family in the United States as well as in other countries.

Mrs. Khrushchev said the Russians also want peace because they are building a Communist society in their country — "the greatest and the noblest undertaking that has ever fallen to man."

The premier's wife said general disarmament would provide protection from missiles and atom bombs. Then she put in a plug for her husband's latest proposal for a summit meeting when the 18-nation disarmament conference opens in Geneva on March 14.

Rescue Teams Hunt Storm Victims

HAMBURG, Germany (UPI) — Thousands of rescue workers toiled through mile upon mile of sodden wreckage today in search for more victims of one of the worst storms ever to hit northern Europe.

An incomplete count showed that at least 177 persons, 147 of them in West Germany, were killed by a raging storm that started Friday and raked northern Europe for nearly three days. More than 100,000 persons were left homeless.

This part of 2.8 million persons, which was hardest hit by the pounding seas and howling winds, was left a city of shocked silence, watery death and devastation.

Receding waters were expected to reveal more victims. Hardest hit areas besides Hamburg were lower Saxony and Schleswig-Holstein.

Fresh water was supplied in barrels and jars as city authorities prepared a mass immunization program against typhus.

When the fury subsided, Hamburg was permeated by an eerie stillness. After 48 hours of raging waters and crashing dikes, the only sounds were occasional cries for help from stranded persons and the clattering of rescue helicopters hovering over inundated areas.

Hurricane-force winds and driving rain forced the mighty Elbe River to cascade over its banks Friday and surge into the homes of Hamburg's inhabitants.

Today Hamburg was without radio, television or newspapers. Few homes had gas or electricity, and the telephone system was near a breakdown. Streets were littered with debris—upturned and abandoned cars and buses, uprooted telephone poles and trees, and smashed houses.

The homeless, clutching a few precious belongings, were huddled in schools, municipal halls and camping grounds on high land.

Thousands of West German, British and American rescue workers, most of them servicemen, scoured North Germany's low-lying North Sea communities for victims.

The storm triggered at least three avalanches in the Alps and thousands of tourists were reported snowbound at ski resorts. Dozens of Austrian villages were isolated.

Officials in Switzerland said at least eight persons had been killed by landslides since last Friday.

The storm left at least three dead in East Germany.

Sunny skies and dwindling winds Sunday afternoon permitted rescue workers to swarm over northern Germany in helicopters, boats and rubber rafts, plucking bodies from the water, evacuating stranded families, and delivering food and medical supplies.

Liz Taylor Feeling Better

ROME (UPI) — Elizabeth Taylor was reported recovering rapidly from a case of food poisoning that brought her husband and leading man rushing back to Rome.

A nurse at Salvo Mundi International Hospital reported this morning that the ravishing movie actress "had a very good night" and might return home today or Tuesday.

"She is feeling tipsy and eating breakfast," the nurse said.

Miss Taylor was sped to the hospital by ambulance Saturday night from her $3,000 a month rented villa on the Apennine Way.

Although persons close to her said she was suffering from "exhaustion" as the result of her work in the movie "Cleopatra," Dr. Richard Pennington said she had been afflicted with food poisoning.

Miss Taylor's husband, Eddie Fisher, hurried back from Portugal where he had been on a business trip and was allowed to spend an hour with her in the hospital Sunday night. The doctors kept him from her bedside for six hours to give her complete rest.

Her leading man, Welsh-born Richard Burton, 36, flew back from Paris and said he wanted to see Miss Taylor "as soon as possible" but he "did not get into the hospital Sunday."

The husky Burton plays Marc Antony in the multimillion dollar film being made here.

First recorded Christmas celebration in North America was on St. Croix Island, Maine, in 1604.

Seminole Students Tour Florida Medical Center

DR. LAMAR CREVASSE, head of heart research at the University of Florida Medical School demonstrates to Seminole County students how a piece of tissue can be kept alive in a special solution. (Herald Photo)

Hillis Miller Medical Center on the campus of the University of Florida at Gainesville, Friday.

Under the guidance of the head of the research department, Dr. Lamar Crevasse, assisted by Drs. John Bartley, Russell Green, L. J. Krovetz and a number of laboratory technicians, the students saw how the heart of a rat could be kept alive outside the body for a period of time in a specially constructed machine, how bits of living tissue can be kept alive and studied, and how particles of radio-active carbon can be introduced into the experiment to indicate the amount of sugar or fat used by the heart.

Later they were given a demonstration of the famous heart-lung machine, the machine that takes over for the patient during delicate heart operations. Dr. Crevasse said that there are only two places in Florida where these operations using this machine can be performed. One at Gainesville and one at the University of Miami Medical School.

"The use of this machine enables doctors to perform heart operations that were impossible ten years ago," said Dr. Crevasse.

Following lunch, which the students and sponsors enjoyed in the Hospital cafeteria, the group then went into a laboratory where they observed how injections of dye can be placed in the blood stream and traced all the way through the heart, indicating if it follows proper channels or if a passage is blocked or leaking. The machine also can tell how much oxygen is in the heart and measure the heart beat.

A living example of testing all functions of the heart was later performed, using one of the doctors as the subject. He was prepared for the tests with wires and equipment taped to various parts of his body. Students could observe various functions demonstrated to them as seen on several different types of testing machinery, but not demonstrated, how a catheter can be inserted through an artery in the arm, directly into the heart, observing the passage of the thin steel instrument through the fluoroscope, to make several different kinds of tests.

During a question and answer session, Dr. Crevasse answered many queries as to the study through which a student may become a doctor, nurse or laboratory technician. The doctor outlined courses of study, listed required subjects and described the steps necessary to preliminary preparation for medical careers.

Dr. Crevasse said that there was very heavy emphasis on math, algebra, chemistry, plus a high grade average in pre-med. studies.

He explained that admission to medical school is limited because it is necessary for one training doctor not to have more than three or four students at one time. The admission maximum of 50 students per year means that there will be 200 students in school all the time.

In reply to the question of whether many med. students flunked out, Dr. Crevasse emphasized that very few flunked out, because those admitted were chosen carefully and doctors bend every effort to see that they do not flunk out.

Dr. Crevasse said in answer to questions that first and second year medical students study anatomy, histology, bio-chemistry, bacteriology, pharmacology, pathology and other introductions to clinical medicine.

In the final two years, they work in the hospital, with patients, under a doctor's supervision, as well as attend lectures, conferences and instructions.

There are now 10 girls in medical school at the University of Florida School of Medicine, was the answer to another question and two years of college are required for study to be a lab. technician.

The two groups of students, parents and teachers were met at the University by Douglas DeNeen, field representative for the Florida Heart Assn. who was responsible for arranging the trip and tour for the students.

President Faces New Battle Over Testing

MIDDLEBURG, Va. (UPI)—President Kennedy today faced new arguments against U.S. resumption of nuclear atmospheric testing, this time from a powerful British voice.

The President, after a quiet weekend with his family at their estate in the Virginia hunt country, planned to return to the White House this morning. He had a lunch date with Hugh Gaitskill, leader of the British Labor party.

Gaitskill arrived in Washington Sunday with the announced intention of urging Kennedy not to resume atmospheric nuclear tests, although the British government has made Christmas island in the Pacific available for such tests should the President order them.

The British political leader was expected to outline his opposition to new nuclear tests to Secretary of State Dean Rusk before going to the White House to see Kennedy.

Gaitskill, the vocal opposition leader against Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, represented another pressure element as Kennedy neared a decision on nuclear testing.

No Excuses Now

"I'd like to continue my education and learn to do something useful, if only . . ."

Everyone of us has heard that complaint.

Here in Sanford, there isn't much of an excuse for any adult who honestly desires to further his education.

E. S. Douglass, adult educational supervisor of the Seminole County School System, has been working for several years to broaden the scope of courses offered here and elsewhere in the county.

It is now possible for an adult to receive his high school diploma by successful completion of a general education course. Classes are held throughout the week. The cost is "peanuts"—if you want an education.

There are classes in shorthand, French, Spanish and business. Each is taught by an instructor who is fully qualified by state standards.

Attending night classes requires a lot of determination for those who have worked all day making a living. Yet many are taking them and Mr. Douglass hopes more will see that those adult courses are the key to knowledge and betterment of one's position in life.

As we say, if a man or woman really wants an education, it's there waiting.

Dr. Crane's

Worry Clinic

Henry is like millions of anxious Americans who live under the sword of Damocles. He's had one heart attack and now he is in constant dread of another. Herapbook this case for it shows you how to save your life if all alone during a heart attack. Pass the advice along to your relatives. CARE 1-443; Henry D., aged 49, is a high pressure executive.

"But, Dr. Crane," he protested, "I am now a slave to fear!"

"For six months ago I had a heart attack. I didn't lose consciousness but I suffered intense pain."

"It felt as if a knife were twisting under my breastbone. And I gasped for air."

"Now I have recovered, and my doctor tells me I may never have another. But I am constantly apprehensive."

"Suppose I should have a second attack when I am all alone in the house! What could I do then?"

Heart Strategy

That haunting fear lurks in the minds of millions of people, especially if they are bachelors or spinsters and thus live alone.

"Dr. Crane," a school marm exclaimed, "suppose I should fall to the floor with a heart attack on Friday night?"

"Why, I am all alone and nobody would probably miss me until I failed to show up in my schoolroom Monday!"

"Maybe I couldn't even reach the phone to call for help!"

Scrapbook this case for your own peace of mind, since I shall now give you the quick strategy by which you may save your life while all alone during a heart attack.

First, realize that if you are still conscious during a heart attack, the odds are with you, for the more severe attacks knock you out.

Even then, you may recover if you get oxygen. In fact, oxygen is the chief treatment for a hampered heart.

Free Oxygen

But everybody has a FREE supply of oxygen in the air.

Be just grit your teeth and breathe both deeply as well as rapidly. This will quickly increase the oxygen supply to your blood stream and thence to your heart.

What you do in those first five minutes after an attack, may thus tip the scales in favor of life vs. death.

Although we medicate you oxygen from a bottle or tank AFTER you get to the hospital, it is far more important that you get extra oxygen during those first few minutes at the scene of the attack.

"But, Dr. Crane," Henry protested, "the pain was so intense, I hesitated to move or even breathe lest it be my finish!"

"Her Majesty's government resolutely condemns the many manifestations of flagrant North Vietnamese interference in South Viet Nam in violation of the Geneva settlement," the note said.

Letters

To The Editor

Dear Editor:

I have noticed the remarks you have made in your "Around the Clock" column recently in regards to the "paddle" and its use in the school system and about not calling the Sanford High School the "Home of the Paddle."

Well, I am not like the majority of the parents today, who feel no one should lay a hand on their "Little Darlings". I have always been among the minority who feel, if all other methods fail and the child needs it, let 'em have it. Nine times out of ten, if the child has received enough discipline at home it would never have to be considered by outsiders.

Why should a teacher, principal, or any other person who has to deal with other people's children have to put up with the belligerence, disobedience, arrogance or defiance that is handed out by so many of the children of this day and age?

I've preached to my children that if I ever heard of them getting reprimanded or paddled in school they would get it again when they got home. I've talked to their teachers and principals and told them if my children ever gave them any trouble to do what they felt best, then let me know and I would cooperate by taking care of it at home too.

Consequently, because of this, I have been told on numerous occasions one of two things - either my children were no problem, or if they had to be spoken to they were well mannered and minded when spoken to and never once were they ever threatened with the paddle.

If more parents took this attitude the teachers and principals would find it much easier to accomplish their aim and purpose in life of devoting their time and efforts to others and perhaps feel it was all worthwhile. Heaven knows they aren't doing it for the money they make, because they don't make that much.

What is wrong with parents who bring up their children to be inconsiderate, expose them to society so that others cannot stand the sight of them, or hate to see them coming? Don't they want children that they can be proud in knowing that others will accept them and glad to have them around?

Yes, I will admit there are exceptions to the rule and occasionally there might be a teacher or principal who may be in the wrong. This can be taken care of through the proper channels. I've told my children so often that it is because I love them so much and I want others to love them as much and think highly of them as I do, that I am firm and demand respect and cooperation.

It all falls back on the parents' responsibility to their children. If they cared

Phil Newsom Says:

Reds Face Dust

(UPI) — In communism's "dialectic materialism" even the laws of nature have been expected to conform to the laws of the party.

These laws, as we now know, do not always relay on literal translations of Marx and Engels but also may be subject to interpretation by a chosen few. Illustrative of Nikita Khrushchev's de-Stalinization program and his current struggle with Red China's Mao Tse-tung over the role of chief party theoretician.

Under Stalin, the man who shaped Soviet agriculture to the mold of dialectic materialism was a half-educated plant specialist named Trofim Lysenko.

Among Lysenko's claims was that by a method of refrigeration he could permanently change the characteristics of winter wheat so that it became spring wheat.

Then, as now, Russia needed desperately to increase its agricultural production.

Lysenko held sway in Soviet agriculture for more than 20 years and in one season is estimated to have cost the Soviet Union as much grain as could have been produced by six million acres.

In 1953, the year of Stalin's death, Khrushchev made the first of many denunciations of the state of Soviet agriculture. Simultaneously, Lysenko's influence began to wane.

In the succeeding years, no Soviet project has been more closely associated with Khrushchev's name than agriculture.

Radio Liberty, an organization which broadcasts in 18 languages of the Soviet Union from transmitters in Western Europe and the Far East, recently concluded an interesting study of the Khrushchev methods.

Khrushchev must face the fact that results of the virgin lands program so far have been disappointing and that yields throughout the Soviet Union for the last three years have been below expectations.

The Radio Liberty survey suggests that his efforts may prove as disastrous as those of Lysenko.

In 1951, Khrushchev denounced as wasteful the practices whereby hay was planted in rotation with other crops. He demanded the use of sugar beets, corn or such legumes as peas and beans instead of hay.

With Russia's varied soil and climatic conditions, its lack of fertilizer, the experts foresee from Khrushchev's efforts first a vast increase in production and then the possibility of a dust bowl as a result of the abandonment of the crop rotation system.

British Protest Russian Moves

LONDON (UPI) — Britain called on Soviet Russia formally today to restrain Communist North Viet Nam from attempts to overthrow by force the established government in South Viet Nam.

The appeal was made in an aide memoire the Foreign Office handed to the Soviet charge d'affaires in London, A. V. Logunov.

"Her Majesty's government resolutely condemns the many manifestations of flagrant North Vietnamese interference in South Viet Nam in violation of the Geneva settlement," the note said.

Thirty commonly known infectious diseases attack swine, accounting for an annual loss of $210 million to U. S. farmers.

Peter Edson Political Notebook

WASHINGTON (NEA) — As Congress takes a week off to let the Republicans ring a few rafters observing Abraham Lincoln's birthday anniversary, there's a chance to take stock of what has happened in the first month of this election-year-and-obviously-political session.

Action has been completed on only two measures which President Kennedy has signed into law. One changes the name of Playa del Rey Inlet and Harbor, Venice, Calif., to Marina del Rey, Los Angeles, which is something short of sensational.

The other relates to sale of General Motors stock owned by Du Pont to enforce compliance with antitrust law. Neither is this top priority, though important to the companies concerned.

The administration's first three witnesses, Secretary of State Dean Rusk, UN Ambassador Adlai Stevenson and Assistant Secretary Harlan Cleveland were prepared for this, but it never developed.

Instead, most of the questions and objections were raised over the point of whether the United States could afford to put this much money into supporting the UN.

Investigation of the administration's Congo policies was also expected to stir up another explosion. It flared out in a couple of closed door appearances by Rusk before Senate and House foreign affairs committees.

Rusk's performance at the Latin-American foreign ministers' conference in Punta del Este, Uruguay, also seems to have soft-pedaled crescendos of criticism on Cuba.

The Senate Security Committee's investigation of raising the speeches of admirals and generals was expected to bring a broad review of national defense and anti-Communist policies. The hearings quickly deteriorated into a battle over disclosure of the names of Pentagon field and line officers who have the thankless job of reviewing speech texts written by the flag and general officers' ghost writers.

Meanwhile, ways and means, finance, appropriations and other legislative committees have begun the big job of picking to pieces every administration proposal.

This unspectacular but necessary work will develop into the real battles later in the session.

Dick West Says

50-Year Senator

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Everyone knows that the way to succeed in politics is to lodge yourself in the public eye and cling there with the tenacity of a cinder.

Here are some of the ways you accomplish this, particularly if you are trying to make your political mark in the U. S. Congress:

You hold as many news conferences as the traffic will bear. You appear on radio and television programs at every opportunity. You issue statements and press releases, and you make yourself available for comment on any given issue.

You make speeches on the Senate floor and contribute material to the Congressional Record. You accept as many outside speaking engagements as you are fortunate enough to receive.

You make appearances at dinner parties, receptions and other social functions. You associate yourself with congressional hearings and investigations that are in the headlines.

Everyone knows you must do this sort of thing in order to get re-elected—everyone, that is, except Sen. Carl Hayden, an 84-year-old Democrat of Arizona.

Whoever served as Hayden's original political mentor apparently neglected to put him wise to the value of publicity. At any rate, he has gone through life courting obscurity.

What happens to a politician who shuns the limelight will become obvious next Monday. On that date, Hayden will complete his 50th year as a member of Congress.

This will make him the first lawmaker in American history to serve for half a century. Hayden, you see, got a late start.

Before being eligible to run for Congress, the former Maricopa County sheriff had to wait for Arizona to become a state.

As president pro tempore of the Senate and chairman of the appropriations committee, he is now one of the most respected, beloved and powerful figures in government.

Therefore, it pleases me to report that Hayden is finally catching on to some of the secrets of political success.

On the eve of his semi-centennial celebration, he will break precedent by appearing on a TV discussion program for the first time.

The program, a Sunday morning show called "Washington Conversation," provides only limited exposure, but for Hayden it is tantamount to joining the Radio City Music Hall Rockettes.

Had he been as publicity conscious as most politicians, there is no telling where Hayden might be now. He might still be sheriff of Maricopa County.

The fishing harp contest being sponsored by The Herald and Robson's Sporting Goods has brought a few unabashed tale tellers out into the open and today will be the beginning of printing their little gems here.

With all due respect, it must be reported that the first fabrication received in the contest came from a lady liar, if that wording can be applicable.

Here's the fish story of Mrs. Beverly Grabkiewicz of Sanford:

"Recently my friend and I and another couple started out in separate boats to fish in the Wekiva River, noted for some pretty good bass.

"The others were using live shiners, but I decided to try a new, shiny, colorful lure. On my first cast, a big bass latched on so hard he bit my line and I reeled back nothing. In a split second we saw him break water and shake the lure with a jingle of the hooks. He did this about five times, always in the same spot and always with a 'jingle, jingle.'

"We figured he was caught by the line on a sunken tree limb and was trying to shake loose the lure. One of our friends in the other boat volunteered to dive under (you know how deep the Wekiva is) and try to retrieve the lure and jangle. When he came up, he was bent with laughter.

"Seems when he got below he found that the bass had decided to have a banquet on all the shiners they could outfit us out of that day. The big one was using my lure to call the others together. Our friend found them all in a circle eating shiners and the big one was saying 'as soon as I get the fancy clothes off this one, I'll join you!'

Another one with a Wekiva locale was sent in by Lonnie Thompson of Sanford, who apparently has been mingling with some of the outstanding fishing and gabbing experts:

"The biggest fish I ever caught was out of the Wekiva River. He was so big I could not find scales large enough to weigh him, so I took the picture to the butcher shop and had it weighed. It weighed 15 pounds."

There are some other stories already entered and they will be printed this week as space permits. In the meantime, let yourself go, admit that to fish is to exaggerate and send in your yarn for the contest. They may be sent to The Herald or Robson's Sporting Goods.

Roosevelt's Son Visits Jai - Alai

A packed house was on hand Saturday night to welcome John Roosevelt, youngest son of the late president, to the new Orlando Seminole Jai Alai Fronton, located on U.S. 17-92 just south of SR 436.

Roosevelt, who is a partner in Bache and Company, a New York investment house and a director of famed Carnegie Hall, flew up from Miami to discuss with the local management a projected series of concerts and stage productions to be presented this coming summer at the local fronton.

Mt. Dora Trips Oviedo

Mount Dora Blits downed Oviedo in Oviedo Friday night by the score of 47-37.

Oviedo grabbed an early 8-6 first quarter lead, only to have Mount Dora bounce back to take a 18-18 halftime lead.

Mount Dora continued to hold the lead in the third stanza as they led 31-27 at the end of the period. Oviedo tried to overcome the deficit in the final period but were once again outplayed by the Bulldogs and the buzzer sounded with Mount Dora in the lead by the score of 47-37.

Haakina led Mount Dora with 21 points, with Wainwright dunking 19 for the Lions.

Roberts' Record Victory Challenged

Review Set By Officials

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—Glenn (Fireball) Roberts' world record victory in the Daytona 500 was challenged today by the man he beat but officials were expected to uphold his 152,529 mile per hour triumph.

Officials of NASCAR National Association for Stock Car Automobile Racing were to review a protest filed by 24-year-old Lee Petty, who finished more than a half lap behind Roberts. Petty charged that on his last pit stop, Roberts had more than the permitted six crew members over the wall.

NASCAR officials pointed out that the rules called for such a protest to be made immediately and, if upheld, Roberts would have been flagged from the track. But Roberts made his final pit stop with 50 miles remaining in the race and the protest wasn't lodged until an hour after it was all over.

Roberts shrugged off the protest over his triumph in the fastest 500 mile automobile race ever run. He covered the distance before an announced crowd of 62,384 in three hours, 10 minutes and 41 seconds in a 1962 Pontiac as only 21 of the 47 starters were running at the finish.

Petty, the only other man to complete 200 laps on the two and one-half mile high-backed Daytona Speedway, piloted a 1962 Plymouth and a new Pontiac was driven home third by Joe Weatherly of Norfolk, Va.

Tourney Held At Mayfair Club

A sweepstakes golf tournament was held at the Mayfair Country Club on Saturday in which two were tied for top honors. Duke Marks and Andy Caraway held nets of 85 each. Tied for second were Bane Weber and Mrs. A. Pastore with net scores of 83.

The Mayfair Men's Golf Assn. Sunday sponsored a Scotch Foursome tournament. Low gross winner were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Faulk, with a 76. Second gross were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Phillips with an 81. First low net was held by Mr. and Mrs. Deganahl with an 82-18-68.

Second were Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Pearson with 88-17-70-4. Third was the team of Abe Sennell and Mrs. Blanche Nicely, 88-17-71.

Two teams were tied for fourth. They included Cal Bennell and Mrs. Reda Mahan at 86-14-71-4, and Russ Wilson and Mrs. Elsie Eaton, 95-28-71-4.

Funeral Rites

Funeral services will be held today for former boxing manager Ray Carlin. Two of Carlin's proteges who reached the big time were heavyweight contender Lou Nova and world junior lightweight and welterweight champion Frankie Kluck.

Had The Cold Chills, Roberts Says

By Oscar Fraley
DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—Glenn Roberts, proud at last of being known as Fireball, figured today that he had beaten a kiss of death twice.

Fireball won the Daytona 500-mile race for last model stock cars in Sunday's sunshine with a world record average of 152,529 miles per hour.

"But I sweated it out all the way," he grinned. "Particularly those last 30 miles."

Not because of the fantastic speed he was making with his 1962 Pontiac, which brought him home a half lap ahead of 24-year-old Richard Petty's Plymouth.

Roberts was up in the air all through the three hours, 10 minutes and 41 seconds of his blazing ride because he was afraid history might repeat itself—and because he had been kissed by a former Miss America.

"I had the cold chills," he said after it was over. "Back when I first started racing, one of those racing beauty queens gave me a 'good luck' kiss and I had an accident. The next race, another beauty queen gave me a 'good luck' kiss and I had another accident."

"The third time," he recalled, "another beauty queen said she knew how to break that jinx. She kissed me three times—and I flipped my car and over and over seven times."

As a result of such "good luck" smooching, Roberts ever since hasn't even permitted his wife to kiss him before a race.

So there he was, getting set to go in the Daytona 500, when Mary Ann Mobley, Miss America of 1959, leaned over unexpectedly and gave him a "good luck" smack on the cheek.

Going into the final 30 miles he was involved in a desperate driving race with young Petty and all he could think of was that "good luck" kiss and the happenings of a year ago.

Because in the 1961 race, Fireball was blasting along to the head end with 30 miles to go when his crankshaft broke and he was forced out of the race.

"So all through those last 30 miles, I kept waiting for something to happen," he explained. "Man, I really gave it a careful, Sunday drive through the last few laps."

Roberts rid himself of another mental block with his winning performance.

Back when he was in high school he was a fast ball pitcher whose mates tagged him with the nickname Fireball. But while he hated the name, it stuck to him during three years at the University of Florida while he studied mechanical engineering. It became a fixture when he started racing while in college and finally left his classes behind to make a career of racing.

"Every time I heard that name it made me mad," Roberts chuckled after his victory. "But somehow, now that I've won this race, I figure maybe that name fits, after all."

Roberts admitted to a lot of "luck"—particularly after that good luck kiss—because he ran out of gas on his first two pit stops but had enough speed to coast all the way in to where his pit crew was waiting.

"So I guess kissing's okay," he laughed. "And being called Fireball, too."

The other drivers admitted that, as far as they were concerned, they figured the name was deserved all the time.

Three Aim For Victories In SOKC Feature

Three greyhounds who have racked up four wins this season will be trying for a fifth victory when they go to the post in the featured ninth race at the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club tonight. They are Orville Mosses' Wonderon, Summit Kennel's Freedom Seven and Mrs. M. V. Kirkland's Irene Frawley.

Wonderon may rate as the favorite for she has already won two feature events and two in Grade B. Also she represents the track's winningest kennel for, as of Friday night, Mosses was tops in the victory chase with a grand total of 66 wins.

Freedom Seven has posted two wins over the long 4th-mile course but has not yet scored a Grade A. Irene Frawley has won in Grades D, C and twice in B.

Rounding out the all-star octet will be Driving Dude, Max Briar, Rex Tray, Dinah's Micky and O. B.'s T-Bone. Driving Dude, running for Carl Tracy, is a three-time winner and one of his victories was in a main event. Rex Tray was a fan favorite at Daytona last summer where he acquired a national A-2 rating. Here he has posted just two firsts but is capable of a better score. Last out winners in this main event are Irene Frawley and O. B.'s T-Bone.

Apopka Wins OBC Crown

By Ronnie Broadway
Apopka's Blue Barriers retained their Orange Belt Conference Championship Saturday night as they went all the way to the finals to defeat Leesburg 66-63.

In Friday night's action, Leesburg ripped favored Wildwood by the score of 46-45 in a game that was a thriller all the way and when the first quarter came to an end, the score was knotted at 15 all.

In the second contest Apopka dropped the Winter Park Wildcats 65-58 in a game that saw the Barriers take command from start to finish.

It looked as if the game would go into overtime. The Wildcats took a one point lead with ten seconds to go in the game and got the ball when the Yellow Jackets missed and shot and it looked like it was all over, but Leesburg stole the ball and Max Wolfstein sank a layup with only two seconds to go and the game ended at 46-45, Leesburg.

Harv had 17 points for Wildwood and Stephenson collected 12 for the victors.

In the second contest Apopka dropped the Winter Park Wildcats 65-58 in a game that saw the Barriers take command from start to finish.

After the halftime intermission, Leesburg roared back to close the gap but Wildwood managed to hold on to a 38-30 lead going into the final eight minutes of the game. Leesburg tied the game once more and

Ocoee Five Downs Greyhounds, 76-48

By Ronnie Broadway
Ocoee's red hot Cardinals took an early first period lead and went on to down the Lyman Greyhounds by the score of 76-48 Friday night in the Lyman Gym.

Ocoee took the first period lead at 21-6 and were never headed from there. The score had risen to 31-21 in favor of the Cardinals as they were setting a hot pace.

Lyman tried to counter as Bob Stephenson scored several first half baskets, but after the halftime intermission, the Cardinals had built up a 61-34 lead as the final eight minutes began.

In the final stanza of the contest, Ocoee raked up a dozen more tallies and led by the score of 76-48 as the final buzzer sounded.

Ocoee's Joe Worsham led all scorers with 23 points and was very effective on the backboard. Johnson had 13 points for Ocoee. Stephenson had a total of 15 for the Greyhounds as Jim Williams added ten.

Garden Club Names New Officers At Luncheon

Members of the Sanford Garden Club held the February General Business and Luncheon meeting at the Mayfair Hotel, Wednesday. Guest speaker was Mrs. C. V. Loach of St. Augustine. She demonstrated the art of making artistic arrangements, using several exhibits to emphasize her suggestions. She also spoke on Oriental arrangements and stated that the mechanics of flower arranging was the most important thing to learn.

Each circle was responsible for one of the table arrangements, which were judged. Mrs. John Morgan, from the Ixora Circle won the first place award and Mrs. R. L. McKnight, of the Hemerocallis Circle won honorable mention with her arrangement.

Missionaries To Speak At Pinecrest WMU

Mrs. C. E. Wade, program chairman for the Women's Missionary Union, of Pinecrest Baptist Church, announces a very interesting program for their meeting, Tuesday night.

Rev. and Mrs. L. E. McRae, missionaries for migrants in this area will be the guest speakers. The group will meet at the church at 8 p. m. A nursery will be provided for small children and anyone interested in the work is cordially invited to attend.

Mrs. A. N. Cobb Honored At Morning Coffee

By Shirley Wentworth
Mrs. Ralph Newcomer of Fern Park was hostess at her W. Lauren Ct. home at a 10:30 a. m. coffee Tuesday honoring Mrs. A. N. Cobb who plans soon to return to her home in Cleveland, Ohio.

Attending were Mrs. Glenn Humes, Mrs. Milton Tinsley and Mrs. C. L. Legett. Other invited guests were unable to attend due to illness.

The hostess served homemade coffee cake, rolls, date dainties and coffee from a lace covered table with appointments in the Valentine theme.

The centerpiece, a Valentine arrangement of pink and red carnations, was held by a lovely glass container. Napkins and candies in the chosen motif completed the accessories.

Mrs. Dowrie Honored At Farewell Tea

By Carol Jepson
A farewell tea was held recently at the home of Mrs. Wilma Willard of 5th Street, Chuluota, honoring Mrs. Harold Dowrie, who will leave Monday to return to her former home in Canada.

Mrs. Dowrie plans to spend a month visiting friends and relatives in Connecticut before completing her trip. Delicious refreshments were served, including a novel carrot cake. Hostesses for the event were Mrs. Willard and Mrs. Sophie Kostl, and guests included Mrs. Inga Guthaus, Mrs. Wilma Madden, Mrs. Edna Beccard, Mrs. Eileen Rattliff, Mrs. Rose Muska, Mrs. Emily Broeker, Mrs. Mina Morrison, Mrs. Maurine Walker and Mrs. Maude Haig.

Mrs. Edward McCarthy led the devotions assisted by Mrs. J. Rucker at the piano. Two new members were welcomed by Mrs. Ottovenger. They were Mrs. James J. Davis and Mrs. W. E. Allan.

"Happy Birthday" was sung for several members as they helped fill the birthday bank. Mrs. Elmo Moore was in charge of the program, on Latin America, assisted by circle leaders and members who told of work done by Methodists in that area.

DeBary Club Sponsors Art Show

The Arts and Crafts Department of the DeBary Women's Club sponsored a showing of antiques and works of art last Monday at the home of Mrs. Preston McBean on Oleander Lane.

Mrs. McBean had gathered these works of art on her trips abroad. On view were old clocks, brass candlesticks both small and large, chests, Florentine Madonnas, copper objects of rare beauty, an old dough box made into a beautiful end table, braided rugs and many other collector pieces including an old melodian.

Mrs. L. Annis, chairman of Arts and Crafts, assisted the hostess. Refreshments were served on the patio to the 16 members present.

Garden Circles

HIBISCUS CIRCLE
The February meeting of the Hibiscus Garden Circle was held at the home of Mrs. Byron Fox on Magnolia Ave. with Mrs. H. W. Sellers and Mrs. John Fox as co-hostesses.

Following refreshments of lemon cream delight and coffee, club members enjoyed a demonstration on unique floral arrangements in keeping with the Valentine season by Mrs. Frank Donahoe.

The speaker suggested the use of fine containers such as china and silver in making floral arrangements, rather than having them gather dust. She demonstrated arrangements for each age group from granddad to the tiny tot of the family. She also gave instructions on home corsage making.

During the business meeting, officers were named for next year. They are Mrs. Herbert Moreland, president; Mrs. J. V. Jones, vice president; Mrs. J. A. Edwards, secretary; and Mrs. Vernon Brewster, treasurer.

It was announced that the club misses the presence of one of its favorite members, Mrs. Fred Zerrner, who has been ill for several months. Twenty-three members and one visitor, Mrs. Frank Grieme, of Springfield, Ill., were present for the meeting.

CENTRAL CIRCLE
Mrs. Frank Evans, Mrs. A. C. Benson and Mrs. George Robert McCall were co-hostesses for the monthly meeting of Central Circle at the Lake Mary home of Mrs. Evans.

Members were served dainty refreshments of Danish rolls, nuts, cheese and coffee from a beautifully appointed table, using a Valentine motif. The table, covered with a red cloth, was centered with an arrangement of red and white carnations and held four silver candlesticks in white lace doilies.

Mrs. Benson presided at the altar service and Mrs. E. H. Wood greeted guests at the door. Mrs. R. W. Turner brought a message from the Bible on the meaning of love. Mrs. B. C. Moore read a tribute to Mrs. Hazel Moughton, a life member who died recently.

Mrs. Turner gave the horticulture instruction of the month on the care of plants and Mrs. A. K. Rossetter reported on the work of the Junior Garden Club.

Mrs. A. F. Collum, civic beautification chairman, reported that Central Circle was one of the first to pay for maintenance of the Blue Star Memorial marker on the highway. Mrs. Ira Southward, courtesy chairman, stated that she would be in charge of table arrangements at the General Business Luncheon at the Mayfair this week.

A request was made for the Sept. 2, 1961, issue of the Saturday Evening Post. Mrs. Walter Swartz of DeBary presented the program and show-

Club Plans Luncheon Meeting

The Civic Department of the Sanford Woman's Club will meet Wednesday for a luncheon meeting.

A covered dish luncheon will be served at 12 noon with Mrs. C. M. Flowers and her committee in charge of arrangements.

Following the business session, Kenneth McIntosh will speak on "inheritance." No reservations are necessary.

New Arrivals

Mr. and Mrs. Aloysius Moyan, 1808 Elliot Ave., announce the birth of an 8 lb. 7 oz. daughter, Feb. 9 at Seminole Memorial Hospital.

Speakers Present Projects To DAR

Mrs. R. W. Ruprecht and daughter, Barbara, entertained members of the Sallie Harrison Chapter, DAR, Friday afternoon, with Mrs. C. R. Dawson, Mrs. A. C. Benson and Mrs. F. E. Bolz serving as co-hostesses.

Mrs. C. E. Butler, regent, announced that February has been designated as "American History Month." She recalled some of the important events that happened in February and noteworthy personages whose birthdays occur during the month.

Mrs. Butler also stated that Feb. 8 is observed as Sanford Founders Day. Almost 100 years ago Gen. Henry Shelton Sanford arrived and laid plans for what is now the city of Sanford.

Members recited the ritual, the American's creed and pledge to the American flag and sang two verses of the National Anthem. They also sang one verse of the Florida state song, "The Suwannee River," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. F. E. Roumillat, state and chapter chairman of American music.

Mrs. Roumillat gave a short biographical sketch of Francis Hopkinson, one of the signers of the declaration of independence and composer. His Seven Songs is said to be the first song book published by an American composer.

Mrs. James L. Sims, program chairman, presented Cecil Tucker, county agent, who gave an interesting talk on conservation and illustrated it with colored slides.

He stated that agriculture is our basic industry and each grower produces enough for himself and 26 others. He said that "we need a water control system" and gave a list of problems that will confront us in the future.

Pilot Club Gives Student Awards

The regular business meeting of the Pilot Club of Sanford was held in the Caucus Room of the First Federal Savings and Loan Co. with 26 members present.

Among reports from the chairmen was an especially interesting one of the awards presented to the eighth and ninth grade students. Mrs. David Gatchel made the presentations and explained to them what "Pilot" means and some of the ways the club helps others.

Mrs. Raymond Ball received the honor of being asked to serve on the District Four nominating committee. Mrs. B. E. Chapman, finance chairman, gave a report on the plans for a bridge party and fashion show scheduled for March 15 at the Civic Center. Proceeds will be used for the club's major project, the milk fund.

It was announced that a very interesting program is being planned for the Spring Convention, at Miami Beach. Members were saddened at two announcements: Lt. Gov. Herbert Rice, Jacksonville, had to resign and will undergo cardiac surgery in Gainesville soon and the former Ruth Mettinger (Mrs. N. H. Nisson) lost her husband by death. She will be remembered here as an aunt of Dr. John Morgan and a cousin of Mrs. Easter Rive.

Mrs. Genie Duckworth, Mrs. Chapman and Mrs. A. O. Payne were elected to serve on the nominating committee. Alternates named were Mrs. Harry Boone and Mrs. Marvin Williams.

The club plans to hold the annual Civic Night Dinner, Tuesday, Feb. 27, at 7 p. m. at the Civic Center. Presidents or representatives of all civic clubs have been invited. Judge Volie Williams will be the guest speaker.

Jacoby On Bridge By Oswald Jacoby

The bidding by North and West resulted from the 60 part score. For South's choice of a four heart bid instead of a double of four diamonds, the explanation was that the hour was late and South wanted to get the rubber over and go home.

West collected two diamond tricks and shifted to the queen of clubs.

South now wished that he had settled for a small profit, but he was stuck with his four spade contract and he looked about to see if he could find a distribution that would allow him to make it.

It seemed reasonable to mark West with two major suit singletons, six diamonds and five clubs. In that case everything would be fine if

We The Women: By Ruth Millet

"Dieting incognito" is "in" dieting conspicuously is "out." At least that's the idea that a women's magazine tried to sell its readers in a recent issue.

But will women ever fall for the idea of dieting silently, inconspicuously, secretly? Wouldn't that take all the fun and satisfaction out of dieting? When a woman turns down her hostess' rich desert, she is calling attention to her own will power. For the moment she feels vastly superior to every woman enjoying the desert she has passed up.

If a woman can make conversation out of her diet the same pleasure out of it—the pleasure of talking about herself.

When a woman can brag about the number of pounds

Dear Abby:

DEAR ABBY: My husband refuses to Twist with me. He says if I want to make a fool of myself in public, he isn't going to help me. I have seen many women older and fatter than myself Twisting in public and I admit it looks terrible, but I am only 42 and have a nice figure. Please say something in your column to convince my husband that the Twist is just another modern dance and he should learn it as he learned the rumba and cha cha.

LOVES TO TWIST

DEAR LOVES: If your husband is over 45 and overweight, maybe his insurance policy doesn't cover the Twist. His thinking is straight. Don't try to twist it.

DEAR ABBY: The lady next door is pulling some funny business on her husband and I am quite certain a man is involved. She gets all dolled up and pulls out of her driveway a little before noon. And she doesn't get home until 6 p. m. She tells her husband she has been to a "PTA meeting." She does this three and

The young men of Penicost, a South Pacific Island must do this to prove their manhood. The almost unbelievable jolt when they reach the end of the rope seems to separate every bone and joint in their bodies. The dive is one of several ancient rituals photographed by explorer David Attenborough in the New Hebrides. 8-8:30 p. m. CBS. Pete and Gladys. For once, garrulous Gladys (Cara Williams) is speechless, determined to win a bet that she can keep her mouth shut for a certain period of time. But then she is called to court as a witness in her Uncle Paul's (Lyle Garner) behalf and you'll get some good laughs as Gladys resorts to sign language to get her testimony across. DEAR WIDE AWAKE: Perhaps your neighbor's definition of PTA is "Pretty Terrific Afternoon." Don't tell anybody. You could be mistaken.

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I decided to quit smoking several weeks ago. I have always said that if you make up your mind, that's all there is to it. Within a week we were both smoking again. I had no idea of the mental and physical discomfort involved. I thought some of your readers who have licked the problem might have some helpful suggestions.

HEAVY SMOKER

DEAR SMOKING: If they have, you can be sure I'll print them.

CONFIDENTIAL TO G.I. IN KOREA: Your buddy has made his "bunk" . . . tell him not to lie out of it.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

UN—YES, UNO, YOU'VE BEEN THE UNWITTING OBSERVERS OF A HISTORIC BREAK-THROUGH IN TRAINING METHODS—HAK-KAFY—WILL OBTAIN SUCH A HIGH CLASS DIPLOMA BODY'S WAS IN REALITY RESTORING HIS SHATTERED CONFIDENCE IN HIS ABILITY AFTER COMPLETING HIS SELF-CONDUCTED COURSE IN SELF-ASSURED AND SELF-RELIANCE.

HE SAID "I'VE GOT TO GET SOME EXERCISES" AND HE DID IT ALL HIMSELF FOR DINNER.

I MUST SAY, SLIP YOU LOOK AS FIT AS JACK DEMPSEY ON THE EVE OF ONE OF HIS TITLES BOATERS—HAK-KAFY—BOARDERS HAVE NOTED THAT THE PEOPLE CONDITIONING COURSE HAS GIVEN YOU A COUPLE OF A TREAD.

I SUPPOSE YOU'D LIKE—PREFER TO CONTINUE TRAINING A BIT LONGER BEFORE STARTING YOUR COMEBACK AS A TIGHT-WALKER?

NIK, MASON, NOW I COULD DANCE A JIG ACROSS A GREASED FLOOR WITH A PIANO ON MY BACK!

YES, HE'S TURNED ALL RIGHT!

SLIP FIGURES READY!

Art Show Is Better

Mrs. Beth Gregory and E. B. Stowe, both well-known local artists shared honors at the Sanford Art Assn. Art Show Sunday, taking blue ribbons for their work.

Mrs. Gregory's first place award was for her pastel "Portrait of a Young Man," and Stowe's was given for his huge picture entitled "Great Bamboo".

Mrs. Gregory's scene of "Fish Crows" and Stowe's scene of "Green Springs" were also chosen as the best in Florida scene, and after further competition, they eventually hang in the Governor's mansion in Tallahassee.

Second place in oils went to Mrs. Helen DeWit for her study of butterflies entitled "Triangle," and Gretchen Lewis Crowell's "Fresh From the Garden" still-life took the red ribbon for pastels.

A heartcatching study of a little boy, called "Little Boy Blue" took third place for Mrs. Mildred Babcock and third place in oils went to Mrs. Georgia Ball for her "Portrait of George Swain."

In the junior division of the art show a nine year old boy, John Stoffbeem, won a blue ribbon for his oil painting of a beached boat, entitled "Beached."

The third place white ribbon was won by Barbara Little, a ten year old, for her still-life study of a "Staghorn Fern."

Close to 300 visitors inched their way through the Civic Center auditorium during the afternoon, looking at the paintings, sketches, pastels and charcoals created by the members of the Sanford Art Assn. during the past year.

Some have been seen at Senkarik's or the Florida State Bank, and some already hang in prominent places in homes around the area, but there was something to appeal to every taste, and every age.

One picture that almost anyone could have recognized even without a title was a painting of Mr. Jim Hardy, Sanford's busy parking ticket patrolman, in the old days on his little motor, with the green umbrella over his head.

Visitors to this third annual art show came from all over Central Florida, including New Smyrna, Orlando, Mt. Dora, DeBary, Cocoa, DeLand and Eustis, plus winter visitors from out of state.

Comments on the show ranged from notations on the "budding talent" to "rapt enjoyment." Many expressed the hope that "you do this every year." Some said with emphasis, "Let's have more art shows."

JENO PAULUCCI

Riksha Inn Is Latest Paulucci Brainchild

Riksha Inn, the pagoda-styled restaurant now open on Hwy. 17-2 at Fern Park, is the latest brainchild of a busy young man, Jeno F. Paulucci.

The 43-year-old president-founder of the Chun-King Corp., the largest U. S. company producing canned and frozen American-Oriental foods, selected this area for the start of his newest enterprise because, in his words: "Central Florida is dynamic, growing and challenging."

Riksha Inn was conceived as an ideal place to serve the American-Oriental foods for which the Chun-King Corp. has become famous, and Paulucci plans a world-girdling chain of the uniquely styled restaurants, with the delicious, different food served at prices everyone can afford.

The "Orient Express" trucks of the Chun-King Corp. are an already familiar sight on Hwy. 17-92 as they shuttle millions of pounds of celery from Chase and Co. in Sanford to Chun-King plants in Jackson, Ohio; Cambridge, Md. and Duluth, Minn.

Paulucci makes no secret of the fact that he started his rapidly expanding business as a simple bean sprout raising venture, financed with a $2,500 loan in 1946. Business was soon so good that he had to set up a plant to can the bean sprouts. Today, Chun-King produces more than 20 million pounds of bean sprouts a year.

From there it was a natural and rapid step to chop suey and chow mein. The Chun-King list of canned and frozen products now includes fried rice, egg rolls and complete "Cantonese" dinners.

Celery, mushrooms, wild rice have also been added to the list of Paulucci products, with side branches of blueberries.

The Paulucci's make their winter home in Sanford in a luxurious home just off Mel-lonville Ave. commuting to the home office territory in Duluth, Minn. in the summer.

Other Chun-King representatives who will soon become familiar faces around Central Florida are:

Bob D'Aversa, general manager of Riksha Inn, a veteran of 12 years experience in food service operations, and former manager of the Old Chinatown Restaurant in Freedomland.

Joseph Puglisi is special projects director and was formerly marketing office manager with Chun-King at Duluth.

management schools at Denver University and was formerly associated with the catering department of the Hotel Duluth.

Beats Laver

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Manuel Santana of Spain defeated Wimbledon champion Rod Laver of Australia, 6-3, 6-4, 5-7, 7-5, Sunday to win the Pan American tennis championship. Mexico's Yola Ramirez won the women's singles title by beating Elizabeth Starkie of England, 6-3, 6-1.

Dark Captures Players Tourney

MIAMI (UPI) — If Candlestick Park were a golf course, the San Francisco Giants would probably be un conquerable in the National League this year.

Their manager, Alvin Dark, is the best golfer in baseball. Sunday he won the National Baseball Players Golf Championship for a record-tying fourth time, and became the first man to win the event at both medal and match play.

Dark, seven strokes ahead going into the closing round over the testing Miami Springs course, showed a 78-hole card of 298. Defending champion, Philadelphia coach Harry (Peanuts) Lowrey, finished second with 300.

Dark, 32, won the event previously in 1952, 1953, and 1957. Wes Farrell is the only other man to win that many times. The event was changed from match to medal play in 1960.

Behind the two leaders were Philadelphia pitcher John Gray, 304; Baltimore outfielder Jackie Brandt, 306; and Milwaukee pitcher Bob Shaw, 308.

Robin Roberts, former Phillies pitcher now working for the Yankees, shot his first hole in one Sunday. He aced the 160-yard seventh hole with a three iron.

Fire Regan
PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Bat Bastien, business manager of the Pittsburgh Hornets, assumed the temporary post of coach today until a successor is named to replace Larry Regan.

Building Condemnation Session Ends In Flareup

City Manager W. E. Knowles asked the City Commission for a vote of confidence for two city officials Monday night and got it by a questioned 3-2 majority. A heated argument was avoided by adjournment.

The outbreak came after Knowles in a strong memo to the board suggested that the program of condemnation of structures be held up until the commission clarified its position on whether to continue the program.

Last week the fire chief and building inspector made their investigation of 19 structures on W. Ninth St. They asked that all 19 be included in a public hearing set March 2 to condemn them, but two were rejected by the board because they were "not in that bad a shape."

Knowles emphasized that the report turned in by Fire Chief Mack Cleveland and Inspector M. A. Yelvington shows the two structures, 701 and 703 W. Ninth St. were in a condemnable condition and a fire hazard.

"This program must have an impartial and objective administration if it is to be fair to the public and if strong court suits are to be built. In addition, the city officials making the inspections and reporting need strong, clear backing in performing their duties as required by the new ordinance," Knowles said.

"Their work lays them wide open for all types of charges and criticism such as favoritism, partiality, discrimination and poor judgment," Knowles added.

The city manager urged that these officials should be given the commission's backing ing all the way and be granted the courtesy of an objective public hearing right along with the property owner.

"If the city commission feels that these two are now qualified to make fire hazard and building inspections it should be stated now prior to any court cases and qualified personnel obtained to carry out the commission's ordinance," Knowles added.

Mayor J. H. Crapps said he felt those two structures were not as bad as the other 17 while Joe Baker and Tom McDonald said this should be determined at a public hearing.

Baker said the city's plan to raise old buildings was a step in the right direction and "would be one of the most important programs this board has ever undertaken."

He called for a vote with McDonald backing him up.

However, Al Wilson voted no and it was 2-1 for Crapps. Crapps attempted to explain the situation to Commissioner Earl Higginbotham who was not present at the previous meeting.

Democratic congressional leaders were with the President during the launching. White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said the President "watched it very intently."

At one point, Salinger said, Lloyd "moved the phone to a position where the President could hear Glenn's voice." Kennedy listened to Glenn's own reports to the Project Mercury control center for about 30 seconds.

Col. John H. Glenn, Jr.

Destroyer Noa Lifts Him Aboard

BULLETIN
CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—The recovery fleet today recovered astronaut John Glenn from the water at 3:01 p. m. EST and reported that his spacecraft was aboard the destroyer Noa three minutes later.

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) John H. Glenn Jr. broke the space trail for the free world today with a magnificent leap into orbit that carried him three times around the earth to a splash down in the Atlantic about six miles from a recovery ship.

The ten-and-a-half cabin returning to earth arched into dense layers of the atmosphere at an altitude of about 33 miles above the East Coast.

In the space of five minutes its speed was cut from about 17,500 to 270 miles an hour, and air friction heated its blunt re-entry heat shield to nearly 3,000 degrees.

Glenn's own comment on his glowing spacecraft was, "Boy, that was a real fireball."

The towering Atlas rocket which boosted Glenn into his orbital space flight rose from the launch pad at 9:48 a. m. EST and performed faultlessly.

It was the first orbital flight by an American and the first for the free world. It came about 10 months after the first Soviet flight around the earth in space.

During the first five minutes of powered flight Glenn absorbed acceleration stresses which abruptly multiplied his 160 pounds of weight to nearly 1,200 pounds.

Then, suddenly he became weightless.

As he lost all sense of heaviness, at 9:53 a. m. Glenn reported "I feel fine."

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced 15 minutes after the liftoff, that Glenn had achieved orbital flight.

He hurtled eastward at a top speed of 17,545 miles an hour on a flight path that curved over Bermuda, the Canary Islands, Africa, Zanzibar, the Indian Ocean, Australia, the Pacific, and back over the southern United States.

Scientists said his orbit ranged in altitude from 100 to 160 miles.

He reported constantly on what he was doing and seeing. The "tremendous view" included a "very large" cloud pattern extending behind him toward the Cape.

Glenn's voice came loud and clear to the Mercury control center here and to tracking stations elsewhere.

Glenn ate the first food of his historic flight over Kano, Nigeria. Being weightless, he squirreled the food into his mouth from plastic containers.

The mighty 93-foot Atlas topped by Glenn's Mercury space capsule climbed steeply into a brilliant blue sky.

It began arcing slowly to the northeast and continued its drive to put Glenn into orbit.

As it arched, a sparkling white vapor trail curled from its engines and reeled over the sky.

The rocket left a smaller contrail as it moved quickly toward space.

One minute after liftoff, the word was relayed from Glenn that all systems were "go" and that the flight was very smooth.

Glenn reported his cabin pressure was holding at 8.5 pounds.

"I feel fine," Glenn said.

Fuel, oxygen and pressure reported "all OK," according to Lt. Col. John A. Powers, Mercury information officer, in the control room.

At 9:53 a. m. Glenn reported "the view is tremendous." At that point he was weightless.

Within five minutes, Glenn and Friendship 7 were in the inky vacuum of space, where the sustainer engine cut off.

Kennedy Hears Glenn's Voice As He Watches

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy today watched the orbital blastoff of Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr. on television. He was described as "very pleased" at success of the first phase of the flight.

Democratic congressional leaders were with the President during the launching. White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said the President "watched it very intently."

At one point, Salinger said, Lloyd "moved the phone to a position where the President could hear Glenn's voice." Kennedy listened to Glenn's own reports to the Project Mercury control center for about 30 seconds.

IRONTON, Ohio (UPI)—Richard Villars, 34, and his seven children, ranging in age from one to 10 years, burned to death early today when fire swept their rural southern Ohio home. The mother, Mae, 29, was in fair condition at Lawrence County General Hospital here suffering cuts and burns. She jumped through a window when she was unable to arouse her husband and children.

Davis Qualifies To Oppose Sen. Smathers

FORT LAUDERDALE (UPI)—Roger L. Davis laid down a $1,125 fee today to qualify to run against Sen. George A. Smathers in the Democratic primary this spring, but it's doubtful that his action caused Smathers much concern.

Smathers' camp expects the little-known Fort Lauderdale attorney and tax consultant to reap only 10 to 12 per cent of the vote in the first party primary May 8.

Said the 32-year-old Davis: "If I were handicapping it, I would say chances today are 1,000 to 1 against my winning."

Smathers has faced little campaign gunfire since he shot Claude Pepper out of his senatorial saddle in the Democratic primary of 1950. He trimmed a political unknown, Erie L. Griffin, in the 1956 Democratic primary, but has faced no Republican opposition since 1950.

The Smathers-Perpe campaign was a bitter one fought out along conservative-liberal battle lines. The Smathers-Davis campaign, however, is unlikely to be like that. Davis, if a political test could be given them, would probably show up as more conservative than Smathers.

"Smathers," he contends, "plays a perfect game of following leadership instead of leadership."

"Sen. Smathers," he continues, "has tried to make nobody mad. I think the only way you can measure a man is by his enemies."

Band Clinic Set
Otto Kraushaar, past president of the American Bandmasters Assn., will conduct a clinic for the Seminole High School Band today and Wednesday at the school. Kraushaar was a bassoonist with the famous John Philip Sousa band during their world travels. The clinic will last six hours, 3:30 to 5:30 and 7 to 9 p. m., today and 8 to 10 a. m. Wednesday.

Casselberry Marshal G. S. Sawyer told the Herald shortly before noon today that he had "no statement for publication on whether he is resigning, or even contemplating resigning his job."

That leadership course for county officials will start on Monday March 5 and will last four weeks. Ready fellas!

One of my friends said that he sure did appreciate the fine pictures that local artists are showing. He commented that he had tried painting, but that the stuff he does just doesn't look like the things he's painting—and it doesn't look enough like nothing to be an abstract.

'Concrete' Plan Asked For Old Jail Repairs

The City Commission Monday night authorized City Manager W. E. Knowles to come up with "concrete" plans and figures to renovate the old County Jail into a complete police station after an angry J. H. (Jimmy) Crapps shouted "if we don't utilize the facility let's give it back to the county."

Mayor Crapps, obviously angry over petty bickering between the commissioners over the jail, said "All I want to do is make it (the jail) into a decent police station which we don't have now."

Earlier in the day, Crapps told the Herald he hoped to have the job done before the next fiscal year at a cost under $100,000. However, City Manager W. E. Knowles presented the board with figures around the $16,000 mark.

Crapps said he was hoping the Florida State Bank would cooperate on granting an easement through their adjacent property by the old jail so the city could pave a street right through to Seminole Blvd. However, Crapps said, "so far not much luck and Bank President T. E. Tucker said it would be around three to four months before we could get an answer."

Under preliminary plans a 20 foot addition would be put on the old county jail to be used as a lobby.

Crapps favored making a drive-in window at the present city jail but was beaten down by commissioners, led by Earl Higginbotham, who said a drive-in was just a "modern fad."

Higginbotham favored keeping the utility department where it was and even criticized the waste in city hall, asking that the wall next to the Civil Service room be knocked out.

"The civil service board doesn't need any special room. It's for the birds and they meet only once a month."

Crapps kept emphasizing that "what we do with the present jail can come later. All I want to do is utilize the county jail."

The board then asked Knowles to come up with cost estimates and plans.

C of C To Hold 'Ladies Day'
Women employees of members of the Seminole Chamber of Commerce will be guests at the Coffee Club's Washington Birthday celebration and "Ladies Day" at the chamber building Thursday at 10 a. m.

Each person attending will be presented with a miniature American flag and in addition to the coffee and doughnuts usually provided, there will be several door prizes.

A cordial invitation to attend is extended to all secretaries, receptionists, sales people, and office workers.

No Action On Water

City Commissioners listened for two hours to consulting engineers on the merits and needs of a water improvement program. After engineers made their appeal, the board thanked them but took no action on water or sewage needs for the city.

Dr. Jesse Diets of Clark, Daily and Diets, with local engineers Bill Laffler and Bill Hush, urged the board to "start now" on a $1,000,000 water program combining it with a $200,000 sewage treatment plant program. No action was taken on either request.

He reported that "we're late and should have started over a year ago."

He ruled out any phase-by-phase program saying it would be better to finance the whole project at one time. "You don't buy an auto by bits," Diets said.

City Manager W. E. Knowles said that the water problem in the city would "get worse, not better." He explained that water consumption would go above plant capacity this summer and explained the need for additional fire flow reserve in case of any major fire.

The commission refused to commit itself at this time. However, indications are that they will go ahead with the sewage treatment plant and bypass the water program.

Court Appoints Appraisers For 436 Property

Circuit Court Judge Volie Williams today appointed real estate men Howard Monteith and John Seals as court appraisers for the 436 condemnation proceedings.

Some 45 property owners are involved in the suit along SR 436.

Attorney G. Andrew Spear Jr., who said he represented some of the property owners, urged Judge Williams to appoint two qualified men for the job because of the "unusual amount" of property to be appraised by the state.

Law Arnold and Ray Lundquist were hired by the state to make the appraisal of rights of way for some 33 acres which were estimated at over $114,000.

Earlier County Commissioner Vernon Dunn called the appraisal system "something rotten and not in Denmark."

County Attorney Harold Johnson asked Judge Williams to name Arnold and Seals to the appraising job.

However, Judge Williams said it was the court's policy to hire two different men who were not connected with the earlier appraisal.

Job Okays Asked By Health Board

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—The State Board of Health planned to ask the Cabinet today to okay six new jobs for work on federally-financed research projects.

The jobs include two biologists at $7,200 each and an administrative assistant at $6,600. None of them were included in the legislative budget.

Hunting Protest Gets Few Takers

A group of property owners got little encouragement Monday night on their petition that dove and quail hunting be discontinued in one area south-east of Sanford to Lake Jessup.

The Seminole County Sportsman's Assn. discussed the petition of 278 residents of a four-mile area bounded by the south end of Sanford Ave. to Lake Jessup and from SR 46 back to the lake in the vicinity of the Naval Air Station.

The petition had been presented to the County Commission and the board asked the sportsman's group to give an opinion on the closing of the area for dove and quail shooting and, in effect, making it a bird sanctuary.

B. F. Kutz, a resident of Sipes Ave., spoke for the petitioners and said that the landowners have the most trouble with out-of-town hunters who have no regard for the owner's rights.

"We have had them shoot up our houses, shoot up our cars and put pellets into at least two people," Kutz said.

One woman was hit in the shoulder by two pellets from a hunter's shell and a girl was hit in the thigh, he said. Several cows also have died from wounds inflicted by the hunters, he pointed out.

"These men are not good hunters and we are asking protection of our rights against them. When they enter our area to hunt, they are violating the law," Kutz stressed, adding that the petitioners represent 90 percent of the residents of the area.

There were several association members and others present at the meeting who questioned Kutz on the motives of the petition and whether closing the area to bird hunting would be in the general interest.

Francis Meriwether, a landowner in that section, made the only definite suggestion about a possible solution.

Meriwether proposed that a law be passed in the county requiring that hunters using lands with the owners' permission carry a signed permit from the owner and that all other hunters be barred.

The problem could be solved by strict enforcement of existing trespass laws, Attorney G. A. Speer told the group. He said he felt that the county's sportsmen should let the county commission know how they feel on the subject.

Speer spoke after a motion was made that the association turn the petition back to the county commission without any recommendation.

The consensus of those present who spoke against closing the area to hunting was that hunters could be made to cooperate with landowners if flagrant violations of the law and safety were reported to the sheriff, with the identities of the violators furnished and warrants signed by the owners.

Sheriff J. L. Hobby said that the opening of the hunting season each year creates so many complaints in the area that at least one deputy is required full time to answer them.

He said that his department will "give all the help we can to everybody who will get license numbers or identify violators and sign a warrant. We can't do anything if the trespassers aren't identified," he said.

George Hughes, who said he was a property owner in the section, said he was against closing the lands to hunting. "I don't want anybody else telling me what to do with my land, we have enough of that already," Hughes said.

The sportsman's association finally voted to let its board of directors study the matter later.

Russian People Wish Glenn Well

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet citizens joined Americans and people throughout the world today in wishing American astronaut John Glenn a safe return.

"He is a brave man. I sincerely hope he lands safely," said one Moscow office worker. The worker expressed what appeared to be the general feeling among his fellow citizens.

Although the Soviet press, radio and television carried no advance news of the flight, some Soviet citizens heard about the plans from Westerners.

Women's Clubs Meet Thursday

The Seminole County Federation of Women's Clubs will meet Thursday at the new Woman's Club building in Oviedo.

The executive board will meet at 10 a. m. and be followed by the general business meeting, at 10:30 a. m. Guest speaker will be James Batai, representative of the Arab Information Center in New York City. He will talk about the role of the Arab women in the modern world.

Federation president, Mrs. C. N. Rust, urges all members to attend as many important things must be decided at the business session.

C of C Directors To Meet Tonight

The quarterly meeting of the Board of Directors will be held at 7:30 tonight in the First Federal Savings and Loan Caucus Room.

This will be a short business meeting, and all members are urged to make every effort to attend, said Richard R. Deas, president.
