

ROOSEVELT TO KEEP SILENCE ABOUT CABINET

Will Make No Statement As To Makeup Until After First Of Year, He Advises

ALBANY, Nov. 11. (A.P.)—Franklin D. Roosevelt, the newly-elected president, sought last night to quell for at least two months all speculation over cabinet and other prospective federal appointments.

In a plainly worded, five-sentence statement which the president-elect said came as an answer to "wholly unauthorized rumors," he asserted no decision had been reached regarding any appointments and that none would be reached "for at least two months."

"I shall neither confirm nor deny any such reports," Roosevelt said. "Here and now I ask the public to disregard any and all such speculations. From now until Jan. 1, 1933, the greater part of my time will be occupied with my duties as governor of the state of New York."

Roosevelt in a press conference a little earlier in the day had declined to comment in a variety of reports, ranging from one that he might stop in Washington on his way to Warm Springs 10 days from now to counter with President Hoover, to others that he intended to make a trip to England between Jan. 1 and 15. He said his plans between those two dates had not been made and friends added that he did not contemplate leaving the country.

Roosevelt plans to leave today to spend the week-end at his Krum Elbow home at Hyde Park and will leave about Nov. 20 to spend two weeks at Warm Springs.

Friends of the governor stated out that the week after Thanksgiving directly preceded the opening of Congress and that it will be much more convenient for him to meet with members of Congress at Warm Springs than it would be at Albany.

There has been much discussion of the possibility of a measure being pressed in the short session to modify the Volstead Act and it was considered likely that this was one of the matters he would talk over with the members who visit him at Warm Springs.

Negro, Involved In Crash, Hurting Roy Williams, Sent Up

Sheriff E. C. M. Thomas, of Marion county yesterday notified Acting Chief of Police C. H. Shaffer that Robert Howard, negro, whose actions nearly resulted fatally for himself and Chief of Police Roy G. Williams in an automobile wreck some weeks ago, had been sentenced to Raiford penitentiary for three years at hard labor.

Howard is the negro, who, after stealing an automobile in Marion county, came to Sanford, to run into trouble when Chief Williams and Sanitary Inspector G. P. Paxton saw him in Goldboro, Howard, who was ordered from the car, started to do so, only to press the starter and drive the car away, with Chief Williams hanging on the running board. After a wild ride through the heart of Goldboro, the car was wrecked against a concrete bridge, Chief Williams receiving a broken pelvic bone and other cuts and bruises, and Howard suffering a compound fracture of the leg.

Acting Chief Shaffer and Mr. Paxton appeared in court against Howard in Ocala last week, but left the city before the verdict was rendered. The jury deliberated the case less than 10 minutes.

Mrs. Anna Woodbridge Dies In Jacksonville

Funeral services for Mrs. Anna C. Woodbridge, 68, who died Wednesday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. V. Hall, in Jacksonville, were held from the First Krause Funeral Parlors in that city yesterday afternoon. Rev. W. A. Cleveland, pastor of the Springfield Presbyterian Church officiated.

Mrs. Woodbridge left Sanford about a year ago after having spent more than a score of years here. She was a well-known local figure, and at one time owned considerable property. She was born in Georgia, and her only survivor is her daughter, Mrs. Hall.

Five Die In Airplane Crash In Kentucky

KEMPVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 11. (A.P.)—Flying far off its course and apparently lost an airplane crashed on a hillside near here last night killing five occupants. Two of the dead were identified as Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hirt, of Fort Lauderdale. A young woman, presumably their daughter, and a young boy and girl, the other victims, are believed to have been the grandchildren of the Hirts. The plane crashed during a high wind accompanied by a drizzle. It left Sky Harbor near Nashville enroute to Atlanta. Hirt said he was flying from Chicago to Florida.

Soldier's Tomb In Arlington Is Not Forgotten

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11. (A.P.)—In the safe silence of Arlington Cemetery's historic hills, the nation and capital today renewed their homage to the Unknown Soldier on the fourteenth anniversary.

The dedication of the newly finished tomb that replaced the plain marble slab under which the Unknown was laid to rest in 1921 and the memorial tributes to World War veterans under the vault of arch of the National Cathedral were part of the observance day looked on by Louis Johnson, national commander of the American Legion, who in a speech at the tomb, emphasized the necessity for preparedness. "Loyalty to our departed comrades make us stress this necessity for reasonable armament and preparation," Johnson said.

The appearance of Secretary Hurley on the program as speaker of the dedicatory address at the tomb brought an echo of the great bonus army encampments here which ended with the veterans being evicted by federal troops. Members of the drum corps of the local post announced that because of Hurley's part in the troupe a year, they would not listen to his speech.

DIES IN CRASH

BONIFAY, Nov. 11. (A.P.)—One man was killed, and three other persons were injured, but a baby escaped unscathed when two automobiles collided on the old Spanish Trail near here last night. The dead man was John Lowe, of Hartford, Ala. His wife was injured, but the baby she held in her arms was not hurt. C. C. Sellers and Dink Ezelle occupants of the other car, were cut and bruised.

FARMER ACQUITTED

NEW ENGLAND HIT BY STORM DOING DAMAGE

High Wind And Heavy Rains Lash Eastern Seaboard Wreaking Havoc Among Cities

(By The Associated Press)
The fury of the storm gods concentrated on two areas as a tropical hurricane struck Cuba and the Bahamas and high wind and heavy rain lashed the Eastern Seaboard states yesterday.

New York, New Jersey and New England were being whipped by a northeast wind that reached gale proportions in some places. A steady rain and exceptionally high tide brought havoc to communities along the coast.

Many families were marooned. Others were rescued by using rowboats in the streets.

Motor traffic on many roads in Long Island and New Jersey was paralyzed. There were numerous reports of cars being washed from the roads. In the Long Island Sound district, two boats were cut between the ocean and Moriches Bay, one of them making an island of the Brookhaven town park. Part of the Long Island Sound ferry was so damaged that it was abandoned.

In the Broad Channel community of Long Island, 500 families were cut off from the mainland. On Staten Island, 25 families were separated from the mainland by flooded homes at Mollard and Woodland.

Of the New England states, Connecticut and Massachusetts were hit the hardest. Boston schools were suspended for the day and shopping was stopped. The East Boston airport was under water. All flying activities were suspended.

Archibald McNeil, Democratic national committeeman for Connecticut, reported to his Bridgeport home that it flooded. The garage had been washed from its foundations and the garden where vegetables were held for the fall by Governor Roosevelt and Father was under six feet of water.

Five cottages were swept out to sea and six others destroyed at Westerly, R. I., and at Charlestown, R. I., other cottages were swept out to sea.

Cuba fell was completely isolated as the hurricane moved on to the Bahamas, but communication lines were so badly disrupted that the task was difficult. Most estimates placed the first toll at about 10 dead and several seriously injured, but one unconfirmed report said that there were 100 killed in Camaguey City alone.

At Neivitas, where the hurricane came Nov. 10, a radio operator flashed the news that nearly all of the frame buildings in the region had been demolished and many boats sunk in the harbor and many public buildings damaged.

An airplane pilot reported seeing the steamship Florida in the Atlantic, heading out of Cuba north of the Bahamas, a radio operator flashed the news that nearly all of the frame buildings in the region had been demolished and many boats sunk in the harbor and many public buildings damaged.

Annual Red Cross Drive To End With Efforts Saturday

The annual Red Cross drive for members will conclude here tomorrow when a group of high school girls under the leadership of Mrs. Gladys M. Williams will make a final canvass of the downtown district for a stretch of members.

The drive which opened Tuesday has been a far from a quiet one. More than half of the $200 quota that had been set by Rev. H. L. Lewis, chairman of the drive, was profits in his bank and preparation to all who had contributed.

Chairman Loutin, in pointing out the need for funds for the coming year said that the freight on the five car-loads of free flour that has been distributed locally since May amounted to $279.13, and that $15.19 in express charges was paid by the National Red Cross on a recent shipment of 200 yards of cotton cloth which was made into garments.

He also said that despite the fact that many persons have volunteered in distributing this flour since May, the local Chapter spent $49 in paying for help.

John D. Rockefeller Arrives For Winter

ORMOND, Nov. 11. (A.P.)—Smiling broadly and declaring he "felt fine," John D. Rockefeller arrived yesterday for his annual winter sojourn at his home. He alighted from the train with a sprightly step and eagerly greeted a little group of friends who gathered to extend welcome. Rockefeller made no comment on the national elections but while in Jacksonville members of his party said he "always was glad to see any good man win regardless of party." He was accompanied by his cousin, Mrs. F. A. Evans and 14 members of his household.

Michigan Governor States He Will Release All Rum Law Violators If Possible

STOCKS SOAR UP IN POST-ELECTION MARKET RALLY

DETROIT, Nov. 11. (A.P.)—William A. Cooch, Michigan Democratic governor-elect, yesterday declared that "if it is legally possible" he will release all offenders against the state prohibition law serving sentences in Michigan prisons.

Records show there are now 237 persons serving terms in four Michigan prisons for prohibition violations. Twenty three of them are women.

Cooch's statement, the first since his election Tuesday over Gov. William M. Brackley, Republican, fell in the midst of heated debate in Michigan over the status of prohibition after the over-whelming vote for repeal of the state's "bone dry" clause in the state constitution.

"It is legally possible to grant such offenders a pardon, but the governor does not intend to do so," Cooch said.

"It will be one of the first acts of my administration. The good law has been repealed. The prohibition amendment is a relic of the past. It is my belief that the only thing to do is to repeal the law that the people now demand. It is my belief that the enforcement law may have no standing, but I will consult with Attorney General Cooch and the state bar before I take any action."

Brokers expected an official declaration on the question of whether the repeal of the bone dry clause automatically repealed the enforcement act. In an informal opinion, Emeron R. Boyles, assistant attorney general, said the vote did not repeal the enforcement act.

Governor Brackley meanwhile declared he would continue to "enforce the law" as long as he was in office. Oscar G. Olaner, commissioner of public safety, said the state police would continue to act against prohibition violators as in the past.

Recorder Judge W. McKay said Monday yesterday suspended sentences of 100 William Munn, charged with violating the state prohibition law, and declared he would follow in a similar way in all prohibition cases pending before him.

"It would be ridiculous to send a violator after the repeal," Judge McKay said. "I will not adopt the policy of a lenient imprisonment."

Prosecutor Harry S. Tracy in Detroit decided to hold in status some 100 state prohibition cases pending until the end of the year and decisions as to whether to enforce them will be made then.

Railroads To Seek 10 Percent Jump In Freight Rates

NEW YORK, Nov. 11. (A.P.)—The railroad industry will shortly petition the Interstate Commerce Commission to continue the 7 percent increase in freight rates authorized by the commission last year.

The road decided to take this step at the annual session of the Association of Railway Executives yesterday.

When the Commission allowed the 7 percent increase in advance it was a compromise in the industry's application for a blanket advance of 10 percent. The commission stipulated that the increased tariffs be confined to the matter of surcharges to be needed for the benefit of road which were finding it difficult to cover their fixed charges.

This led to the formation of the Railroad Credit Corporation with powers to function in behalf of railroad credit until May 31, 1933. After that date, unless otherwise provided, the credit corporation will become a liquidating entity to clear up indebtedness already made.

G.O.P. LOOKS TO REBUILDING OF ITS STRUCTURE

Planning Aggressive Campaign To Regain Republican Voters Who Switched Sides

NEW YORK, Nov. 11. (A.P.)—With smoke still hanging over the political field of 1932, Republican leaders last night began planning an aggressive campaign to win back Republican voters who switched their allegiance Tuesday, and to reorganize their own party.

In informal discussions of who will lead the party during the next four years, Senator David Reed, of Pennsylvania, and Secretary of the Treasury Ogden Mills were prominently mentioned by those consulted with the Hoover-Curtis battle drive.

Both are considered 1936 presidential possibilities.

"Re-organization for the presidency began yesterday," one leader said in a confidential conversation.

Reed is expected to be one of the dominant Republicans among the 26 who will be up for the next Senate. He has two more years to serve, and party leaders expect to reorganize his party.

Mills, who will leave administration duties next March, is expected to be one of the leading candidates for the presidency.

In the discussions of who will lead the party in the next campaign, the names of James Watson, of West Virginia, and frequently mentioned.

Arriving in the Senate for two terms, the New York senator declared Tuesday to the House and later he was looked to by his party chiefs to take an aggressive part in the minority leadership.

In their plan to point all activities now toward the 1934 and 1936 elections, the Republicans expect to set up in Washington an aggressive campaign organization similar to that which functioned for the Democrats between 1928 and 1932.

Bright Kiwanian Future Predicted To Club Members

District Governor H. V. Condit of Orlando, speaking to Sanford Kiwanians at Wednesday luncheon at the Maitland Hotel, predicted that Florida Kiwanians will keep and improve their record during 1933, and that the Sanford club will have a share in the record of progressive activity that will be made.

Condit, in a speech of welcome to the club, said that the club's record during the past year was excellent, and that the club's record during the past year was excellent, and that the club's record during the past year was excellent.

Borah Looms Large In Repeal Contest

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11. (A.P.)—Though assured a big majority in the new Congress, wetters today measured their chances for beer at the December session largely by the unknown opposition of Sen. Borah, Republican, Idaho, and the unknown attitude of President Hoover. Borah, who offered the prohibition party his leadership last July, made it plain immediately upon his return to the Capitol he would oppose vigorously both the modification of the Volstead Act and repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. He forecast no change in prohibition at the lame duck session, a position contrary to that expressed by House and Senate Democrats and such Republicans as Senator Reed, of Pennsylvania.

CITY BUDGET IS ADOPTED WITH 30-MILL LEVY

Independent Mandamus Action Settled Permitting Passage Of Delayed Budget

The Sanford City Commissioners have officially adopted the 1932-33 budget, declared that the millage shall remain at 30 mills, accepted the real and personal assessment rolls as prepared by City Clerk F. S. Lamson and his staff, and have authorized him to declare the books open for the collection of taxes.

This action was taken, at a recent adjourned meeting of the Commission when it was learned from City Attorney Fred R. Wilson that a threatened suit against the City by an independent bondholder had been satisfactorily handled and that the City therefore could adopt its four-week delayed budget without being subject to a mandamus ordering that the City appropriate enough funds to pay the claim of this bondholder.

The budget was drawn up during August and September and was ready for adoption in time to be put into effect by Oct. 1, when the fiscal year began. The amount contained in the suit temporarily held in final adoption.

It has been years since the City's budget to the tax figures contained in the 1932-33 budget. The figure is so low in the department of general government that the actual cost of operating this city of 10,100 persons, exclusive of debt service appropriations, is now down to $208.70 per day! In other words, the Commissioners, having shed here and eliminated there, have reduced the actual expenses such as street lighting, police, fire, and sanitary inspection to $76,198.25 or $208.70 per day. Last year it cost $294.65 per day to operate the City.

The Commissioners, in their budget, state that the total appropriation to operate the City and pay a proportionate share of the bonded debt interest totals $197,955.82.

They have reduced this figure by $31,660 by estimating that they will derive the following amounts which are grouped under the head of miscellaneous revenues: $15,000 from the collection of delinquent taxes for 1931 and prior years; $6,000 from privileges and franchises, including occupational licenses; $1,000 from the State Road and dog taxes; $30 from fines and fees; $4,000 from fines and costs levied in Municipal Court; $900 from interest and costs; $500 from the sale of a cemetery lot in Lakeview; and $250 as sundry miscellaneous income.

This leaves the total of $166,295.82 to be raised by taxation. The Commissioners, by a vote of 4-1, and personal property tax, and elimination of some property as a result of foreclosures have reduced the total assessed valuation of the City in both accounts to an approximate total of $5,500,000. They have based their budget figures on a 60 percent collection of taxes, and provided the tax collection does reach that mark, the City will have operated within its budget and all accounts, particularly those of debt service, will have been satisfied.

As announced some weeks ago when the Commissioners accepted the recommendations on the budget figures as made by the Bondholders' Protective Committee, a 60 percent collection of taxes will, under the terms of agreement between the City and the Committee, and the Committee declaring as canceled over $800,000 in accrued interest on the City's bonded debt, and the cancellation of all coupons coming due in 1933.

The Commissioners estimate that of the $197,955.82 total appropriation for 1932-33 it will require $103,257.33 for debt service; $76,198.25 for general operating expenses, and $18,500 for special litigation, including old accounts.

The $103,257.33 will be divided as follows: $82,705.87 for items of interest in four judgments held by the Bondholders' Protective Committee; $132.14 for interest coupons and interest upon the principal of bonds included in a judgment held by the United Life Insurance Co.

SEMINOLE HIGH READY FOR BIG GAME OF SEASON

Squad Meets Orlando in Night Game There At 8:00 O'Clock Friday

The outstanding game of the Central Florida football season, that annual tilt between teams representing Sanford and Orlando high schools, is a brilliant feature of tomorrow, Armistice Day.

Both teams today stood ready, although crippled, for the tilt which will be played under the flood lights of Tinker Field in Orlando tomorrow night at 8:00 o'clock.

Victorious in five of the seven games played so far, Coach McClellan's Seminole High griders face tomorrow's tilt with more or less confidence as to its outcome.

Harry Green's Orlando team, winners of only two of seven games played, tomorrow night will be experimenting with several new combinations, according to press reports.

Sanford fans will have their hands full watching the stellar work of stars on both teams. Seminole High's backfield of McClelland, Vincent, Smith, and Currier is more than a match for Orlando's Shaw, Keene, Godwin and Welch.

All Orlando eyes will probably be on John Harrington, the helmet-less left tackle, whose work has been sensational. This youngster has consistently been a thorn in the side of the opposition's backfield, for he breaks through a line with the ease of a brilliant college star.

All in all, local fans and those from all over Central Florida will witness an interesting game that is a feature of Orlando High's Homecoming Day celebration.

present chief executive, Doyle E. Carlton, next January.

He soundly defeated the Republican nominee, William J. Howey, who also was an unsuccessful candidate for the office in 1928, by a ratio of approximately 2 to 1, on the face of latest tabulations.

With only 98 precincts unreported, the vote gave Sholtz 164,192 to 84,444 or Howey.

From his headquarters in Orlando, the Republican nominee conceded his defeat yesterday and sent his congratulations to Sholtz.

"Returns indicate your election by a very substantial majority," Howey's telegram to Sholtz said. "I offer my hearty congratulations and since but one could win, I am delighted it was you. May we hope your own new deal really means economy and reduction in taxation and cost of government. Kindest personal regards."

In a statement of thanks to his workers and supports, Howey said:

"After sending Mr. Sholtz a congratulatory message, my first thoughts are of the loyal band of workers throughout the state who stood by me in this contest, and to them I express my sincere thanks and appreciation.

"I can add that in the face of the returns, I continue happy and satisfied in the thought that the people have spoken and if they wanted to vote for a ticket and a thing else, that is their privilege."

Besides electing a governor, Florida Democrats rode to victory in two contested congressional races and also sent to Washington three other nominees who were unopposed.

W. J. Sears, who represented the Fourth Florida District in the national capital until defeated in 1928 by both Bryan and Hoover, captured the Congress-at-large race there on the Congress-at-large race from Glenn B. Skipper, Republican national committee man, by nearly a three-to-one margin.

With 1000 precincts tabulated, the vote was Sears 139,310, and Skipper 46,228.

J. Hardin Peterson, Lakeland attorney, who nosed out Congressman Herbert Brane of the First District in the second June primary, had little difficulty in turning back the Republican opposition of Arthur R. Thompson, of St. Petersburg, in Tuesday's election. The cent-stout Peterson hit 729 and Thompson 17,413 when 818 of the district's 276 precincts had reported.

Those who go to Washington by virtue of an appointment in the election are Senator Duncan U. Fletcher, and Congressmen Robert A. Green, Second District; Millard Caldwell, Third District; and Mark Wilson, Fourth District.

GATORS TO FACE AUBURN WITH ITS TOUGHEST FRONT

Strongest Offense Believed Picked To Resist Alabamians

By FRANK S. WRIGHT

GAINESVILLE, Nov. 10.—With it rather certain that the University of Florida's backfield for the Auburn game in Montgomery Saturday will consist of Hughes, McAnly, Moys and Stolz, Gator football fans are beginning to believe that Coach Charlie Bachman has hit upon the strongest offensive combination since the days of 1928 when Crabtree, Brumbaugh, Goodbread and Cawthon ran rampant over Southern grids, carrying Florida to the national high scoring championship.

With only four games remaining, three of which are against the few unbeaten teams of America, Coach Bachman is not making of his new backfield in the sense of the 1928 backfield when big acres were abundant, but he has turned to Hughes, McAnly, Moys and Stolz because that foursome reveals power, aggressiveness, momentum, and each of the group lacks will.

The present backfield will probably average a few more pounds than the "Phantom Four" of 1928, and it is a more balanced quartet. Hughes at 160 pounds is the heaviest, and McAnly at 171 is the lightest. Four years ago Crabtree weighed 185 pounds, and Goodbread went above the 190 mark.

The greatest difference between Bachman's new set of backs, and the one at famous Florida's backfield is in the experience factor. Four years ago Brumbaugh was a senior, and his three running mates were juniors. Now there is a senior, just one junior, Hughes, and the other three are sophomores. Provided the change of this week works, the Gators will have the same quartet to use in the 1933 campaign.

A big single difference is at left halfback. In 1928 Brumbaugh was one of the greatest backs that played to the left, South East, North, or West. Today he is referred to as Florida's greatest all-around, all-time back. McAnly is a sophomore today whereas Brumbaugh was a senior. McAnly, while possessing possibilities, has a long way to go before he can hope to measure up to the abilities and the record of Carl Brumbaugh.

The Notre Dame system of football calls for an expert at left halfback, a splendid ball carrier, a true passer, and a good kicker. Brumbaugh had all of the qualifications, in addition to experience, and drive. He was a "natural". When McAnly, in the North Carolina game last week, went out to pass, laked it beautifully, and then swept over tackle for 14 yards, he revealed a trait that is found when football players are natural at the game, and not man-made. Against Sewanee, McAnly galloped 105 yards for a touchdown, and against the Tarheels gained 147 yards from scrimmage, or ten more than the entire Tarheel backfield. He ran to the tune of "The Wild Man from the Everglades", and McAnly's home, Arcadia, is just a little north, and a little west, of that famous district of Florida.

Charlie Stolz, the boy from Hicksville, N. Y., who was the unstoppable demon of the N. C. state game, has shown himself to be too good a player to sit on the bench, and yet no line-up without Jimmy Hughes, the Daytona Beach boy, would be complete. For football players with the dynamic gridiron personality of Hughes are not scattered about this country in big numbers. A keen student of football, a strong blocker, indefatigable in his aggressiveness, unrelenting in his aggressiveness, Hughes can probably adapt himself to quarterback, and do a masterly job. Going to that position provides the fullback slot for Stolz, and he is probably the most vigorous driving back in many years, at least on a number of occasions. This fall, particularly in the Tampa game, did he slash the opposing line with uncanny power and fury.

George Moys, who came from Sanford the relay center of this country, and who had an older brother precede him in Florida football, but not in a conspicuous way, does as good a blocking job, if not better, as any Gator football man this season. A blocking halfback mole "Red" Orange, a great extent, the spectacular phenomenon that he was. Without blocking, by linemen, and backs, no football team has an offense. But Moys is not only a blocker. There are some who think him the best ball carrier on the club. The saying of some weeks ago that "Moys is the B. Y." looks better all the time.

CRUCIAL EVENTS TAKING PLACE IN BALKAN NATIONS

Trouble Between Serbia And Croatia May Result In Conflict

GENEVA—Significant political events are now developing in south-eastern Europe and there is a sinister region where the World War originated.

The people most concerned are the Croats, who, approximately 4,000,000 in number, constitute the second largest racial group in Yugoslavia.

One of the most authoritative spokesmen for the people, Dr. Joraj Kervitch, now a refugee in Geneva, says that in the course of a comparatively short time he expects the complete transformation of Yugoslavia. Dr. Kervitch is secretary of the outlawed Croatian peasant party, which enjoys the allegiance of 95 per cent of the Croats, and he is in a position authoritatively to voice the views of his countrymen.

He declares that whether or not Croatia shall remain a part of Yugoslavia depends on Serbia. If Croats can obtain liberty and self-government within the framework of a reorganized Yugoslavia they will not object to remaining. But the Croats must be a sovereign people. They will not accept a constitution "granted" by a monarch, nor liberty given them by the Serbs as a concession. In all negotiations they must be treated as an independent power.

This very categorical point of view is shared by practically all Croats of all classes and callings. None are less extreme than those while some are even more pretentious.

Nothing could be plainer than that Croatia is at war with Serbia. Many Croats expect violence this winter, but the most responsible leaders are opposed to such methods. They are using their authority to restrict the struggle, to passive resistance, considering such tactics the most effective.

In this struggle the Croats are cooperating with the Bulgarians, the Albanians, and even the Italians. It is a land-sitting coalition, but still no less real. No nation in the world is so completely devoting all its energies to a single ideal as are the Croats in their fight for independence.

Mr. Kervitch states that the Serbian politicians treat the Croats as a subjugated people and deprive them of every vestige of liberty. The Croats have no representative in any real parliament. "Financially and economically they are subjected to egregious injustices," it is said, "and have no control over their affairs. Their wealth has been poured into Serbia, despite their protests and they are left without sufficient schools, roads and other essential public works. They are given a bad knife for two weeks, and can not play in all likelihood until the Tech game here Homecoming. It will be up to "Sunny Boy" Henderson, open-field runner deluxe, and Otis Hession to carry on at left half, while there is "War" Brown, Bobby Treadgold and Johnny Fountain at right halfback.

Dick Wood and Walter Middlekauff will be in there to handle the fullbacking assignments after Stolz, while Sam Davis and "Monk" Dorsett will continue their quarterbacking.

But just now it is Hughes, McAnly, Moys and Stolz, and as the combination acquires game experience, and perfect understanding as a unit, there is reason to believe that as a backfield it will take rank with the best in Florida's football history.

PICK THE WINNER
You are again invited to participate in The Herald's Pick-The-Winner football contest for which two valuable prizes are to be offered through the cooperation of Sanford merchants. To the first two persons handing in the nearest to correct list will go the choice of any minkow in the stock of the Sanford Sporting Goods Co. or a $10 box of Sheriffs Face Powder donated by The Touchin-Sanford Drug Co. Simply draw a line through the name of the teams listed below that you think will win or tie, clinch the coupon, sign your name, and bring it to The Herald office before 5:30 P. M. Saturday. Names of winners are awarded as they come in so it is imperative that your list come in early.

BEER QUESTION LOOMS BIG AS U. S. PROBLEM

These anti-prohibition groups also counted heavily on the pressure for beer as a means of raising revenue to balance the federal budget. Still unanswered, however, was the question whether President Hoover would sign or veto such a measure.

Senator Robinson included in his statement the possibilities of considering at the short session repeal or amendment of the 18th Amendment. This would require a two-thirds majority while a simple majority would suffice to change the Volstead law.

Senator Pat Harrison, Democratic whip in the Senate, said the Democrats would take immediate steps in the December session of Congress to modify the Volstead law to permit manufacture and sale of beer within constitutional limitations.

Deets Pickett, of the board of temperance, prohibition and public morals of the Methodist Episcopal Church, said in a statement yesterday that Roosevelt's election "is in no sense a wet victory." He added: "The acceptance speech of Mr. Hoover had eliminated the prohibition issue from the campaign as a clear cut issue. ... Those believing that prohibition is the best method of dealing with the liquor traffic can and will win any national election in the United States when the people are not deprived of any opportunity for choice."

Daniel A. Poling, chairman of the Allied Forces for Prohibition, extended best wishes to Roosevelt, but reserved a statement on prohibition until next week.

Rufus S. Lusk, legislative spokesman of the Crusaders, an anti-prohibition organization, said: "It's a wet landslide; an Anti-Saloon riot. The prohibition issue was clear cut between the two candidates. ... The time duck season of Congress should certainly follow the mandate of the people and pass a beer bill before March; it means a quarter of a billion in added revenue for a sorely pressed treasury."

The Age Of Selection is here

Our times are marked by one vast advantage over all past history—freedom of choice for the average person.

A young man now has a hundred interesting careers to consider. His grandfather had ten. Many paths are open to the scientist, writer, teacher, athlete, business man. When we travel, we often choose between rail and bus and car and plane. Every last thing we buy is one of many offered.

This is the Age of Selection. For advertising keeps us informed. Tells us the special benefits of this, the new features of that. Shows us how to build houses and how to make muffins. Explains why and where and when and how much.

As we read we learn how to discriminate, to recognize worth, to be sure of value received. Before we buy a car or refrigerator or a can of beans, we know what it is and what it offers. Advertising teaches us how to live by this year's rules.

Read the advertisements in this paper. They bring you up to date in this Age of Selection.

"Phantom President" Is At Milane Tonight

The "Phantom President", political comedy, featuring George M. Coburn, Charlotte Collier and Jimmy Durant, closes its showing at the Milane Theatre tonight.

The picture deals with a presidential campaign, with Coburn making his talking picture debut after a quarter of a century of stage success, in a dual role as a candidate losing personality to his votes; and a mediocre show-biz actor who is not only a stage actor, but a personality on the air.

All goes well until the candidate discovers the candidate is out on the "up-end-up" and that he is himself in line with Miss Coburn, the candidate's girl. Then an amusing and dramatic climax ensues. Durant is cast as the barber who pols a young figure who acts in the campaign.

Garner's Congressional Service Has Spread Over Period Of Thirty Years

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—In a few months a full three decades will have passed since the day when John Nance Garner came up from Texas to sit in the national House of Representatives.

The passage of all that time partly explains his rise to eminence in American politics. In his younger days whole years went by without a speech in Congress from John N. Garner. But every two years his huge district down on the Rio Grande, sent him back to Washington, and, all the while, the respect and the high regard and the rule of seniority were working for him, allies of his own talents in pushing him upward toward the high places.

Thus it was that twenty years after he reached Washington he became ranking Democrat in the powerful Ways and Means Committee—a good record which he had set out many a winter before. Thus it was that the twenty-six years in Washington he became minority leader in the 71st Congress. As the years passed older leaders died and some lost their public places in the battle of the ballot boxes.

In the Seventy-second Congress after the 1930 reelection from the Hooper vote of 1928 had carried him a Republic to Representative rank into the seat of private life, the Democrats had found themselves with a slender, but curial majority in the House. Mr. Garner was elected Speaker. There followed, last winter, a spring, his battles with the conservative bloc over how the budget was to be balanced and how the House Democrats' presidential nomination. He already had an of force eminently considered in the single exception of the present day.

The delegates of Texas and California supported him for the presidential nomination. Then, after a long and hard struggle, he was elected Speaker. There followed, last winter, a spring, his battles with the conservative bloc over how the budget was to be balanced and how the House Democrats' presidential nomination. He already had an of force eminently considered in the single exception of the present day.

TAX COLLECTION SURVEY REVEALS METHODS USED

Report Shows How Cities Are Handling Their Delinquents

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—How cities may collect delinquent taxes without waiting for new laws is pointed out in the results of a survey conducted by the Municipal Finance Officers Association of the United States and Canada. The survey was undertaken, said Mr. Carl H. Chatters, executive director of the association here, because of the nation-wide increase in delinquency of taxes levied on real estate and personal property.

Mr. Chatters gave figures showing delinquencies doubled and tripled since the 1929-30 fiscal year in many localities. Delinquency exists in its mildest form, he said, in New England, and in its most serious aspect in Florida and the industrial and cut-over sections of the North Central states.

He makes no mention of Chicago where a spectacular, organized tax strike has been in progress, throwing Cook County and the city into financial chaos that some have declared to be on the verge of bankruptcy. He makes a point of Los Angeles, however, showing a tax shortage of only $302,285 or 1929, as compared to a shortage of $5,202,416 for 1932.

"Inadequate tax collection statutes and lax enforcement of such laws as did exist," he said, were contributing causes to the situation, in all parts of the country. "The immediate demands of the situation do no permit officials to wait for remedial legislation, the return of prosperity, or a change of heart on the part of the taxpayer."

Having this in mind, 750 cities were asked what they were doing to stimulate tax collection. Responses were received from 200 officials. The replies, tabulated, resulted in a series of 11 suggestions for procedure in the collection of delinquent real-estate taxes. The list follows:

Notify the property owner by mail when the tax is originally levied.

Permit payment of current taxes in installments.

When taxes are payable in installments and the first installment goes unpaid, investigate the reasons for delinquency before succeeding payments are due.

Notify delinquents by mail or telephone as soon as the penalty becomes effective.

Use a special tax collector to in-

Trade Balance Of China Unfavorable By Large Amount

SHANGHAI, Nov. 11.—China's unfavorable trade balance during the last few months has reached the unprecedented figure of $340,000,000 annually, according to Mr. Tang Yujen, chief secretary of the Central Political Council.

Analyzing China's imports, Mr.

investigate the cause of nonpayment and make an effort to collect. Obtain extensive local publicity about the effect of tax delinquency on the community activities and place before the public squarely a statement of what it gets for its tax money.

Co-operate with civic groups such as luncheon clubs and the chamber of commerce, in promoting a spirit favorable to tax payments.

Where possible and necessary permit the payment of delinquent taxes in installments proportionate to the taxpayer's ability to pay.

When the above methods have been tried, use every legal means to collect, sparing only those whose necessities may be saved and who are willing to co-operate.

Adopt a statute permitting the attachment of rent on tax delinquent properties.

Build up a tradition of prompt and rigid enforcement of tax collection laws.

Tang said that they consist chiefly of food products and raw materials, which he declared shows the extent of China's economic collapse. He pointed out that China predominantly an agricultural country, should find no need to import food products, and that China has more than enough raw materials of her own, if they were developed.

These figures, Mr. Tang declared, make it clear that China faces an unprecedented economic crisis. Energetic and far-sighted leadership is necessary to prevent matters becoming worse, he said.

Mr. Tang attributed the present crisis to a variety of causes, among them being floods and famines, widespread banditry, lack of communications, decline in the value of silver, political instability, unsoundness of the currency system, multiplicity of taxation, and financial disorganization.

GEORGIA - OWNED RAILROAD FORMS BASIS FOR BOOK

History Of Line From Early Beginning Is Traced In Account

ATLANTA, Ga.—The history of the Georgia-owned railroad, which figured prominently in the Civil War, is told in a book recently printed under the direction of the Georgia Public Service Commission.

The book tells the story of railroad transportation in Georgia, from its start up to the present time, in tracing the career of the Western & Atlantic. It was first state operated, then leased by a company organized by former Gov. Joseph E. Brown. At present, it is leased and operated by the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis Railway.

The financial aspects are gone into thoroughly; the appropriations by legislature at various times, the cost of construction expenditures for operation, revenue from operation, and payment to the State Treasury and for redemption of bonds are all dealt with. It also reports the results of operation by the different lessees. About 20 illustrations add interest to the book.

There had been no one, until an act of the General Assembly in 1918, designated a department of State Government to supervise the railroad, to preserve carefully the road's contracts and records. Under this act the Georgia Public Service Commission, succeeding the railroad commission, was placed in charge of this data, after the Western & Atlantic Railroad (lease) commission completed its work and was discharged in 1920. Thus the files of the Public Service Commission contained much important material on the Georgia owned road.

At length, the Public Service Commission by a joint resolution of the General Assembly, was instructed to have its engineer, J. Houston Johnston, "compile in one or more volumes all data pertaining to the history of the Western & Atlantic Railroad."

Having had close contact with the state railroad for many years, and having an extensive knowledge of the property and its records, Mr. Johnston was eminently fitted to write its history, which he has now completed, and printed under the title, "Western & Atlantic Railroad of the State of Georgia."

MILITARISM SEEN AS BIG MENACE TO CIVILIZATION

High Bishop Gives Address In Interest of Universal Peace

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—Unrest in the world is destroying civilization, which depends on the peace of the past, declared Rev. Lord W. Gascogne, bishop of Exeter, England, at a reception given to the Rev. and Lady Florence Gascogne by the English-Speaking Union. The venerable churchman and his wife have been spending several days in Chicago in the interests of international peace.

In an eloquent plea for peaceful settlement of international misunderstandings, the bishop reviewed the rise and fall of the Roman Empire to demonstrate his point that war builds no lasting empire, but destroys in the end whatever it has built. The Romanians, he said, taught the barbarians warfare and the barbarians became the masters of the art they had learned from the Romans and conquered them.

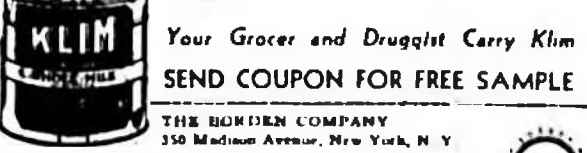

Here's FOOD VALUE!

There's a quart of milk in this cake!

THERE'S really a quart of milk in this cake. And how delicious and nourishing it is! Of course, liquid milk wasn't used. The batter would be 'way too thin. This cake was made with Klim, the modern powdered milk. All the rich food and health elements of the finest cows' milk are in Klim. Only the water has been removed. You use Klim dry just like salt or sugar. The quantity isn't limited by moisture as it is with liquid milk. With Klim, you can make your every-day dishes much tastier and much more nourishing.

This FREE Booklet tells you how you'll find out new recipe book, "Food Value Multiplied," very valuable, particularly if you children can't or won't drink enough milk. It tells you how you can add 25% to 75% more milk elements to your regular recipes. And it tells you all about Klim, the pure, safe milk, powdered for convenience. With your copy of this booklet, we'll send you a generous free sample of Klim. Then you can try one of the delicious recipes for yourself without cost.

SEMINOLE HIGH FAVORED OVER TIGERS TONIGHT

Traditional Contest Is Event In Orlando At Tinker Field At 8

With Levy Branan, stellar left guard as an ailing member, Coach Leonard McLane's Seminole High School football squad of 35 boys late this afternoon will head for Orlando where at 8:00 o'clock tonight they will meet Harry Green's Orlando Tigers in the annual inter-city clash.

The largest crowd of the season is expected to be in the stands under the flood-lights of Tinker Field when the contest gets underway. The game has been pointed to for weeks, and press comment in Orlando and up and down the streets of both cities indicates a new high mark of enthusiasm.

Last night students of the rival schools staged pep meetings that were accompanied by scenes of the most enthusiastic confidence. Locally the Seminole High pupils staged a bonfire and song-fest, following which the down town district was alive with boys and girls and automobiles crowded with yelling cheering youngsters all of them bent on seeing Seminole High score a decisive victory tonight.

The game as far as Seminole High is concerned is the high spot of the season. Coach McLane is placing confidence in his line and the usually good work of his backfield combination of McChland, Vincent, Smith, and Connor. In the loss of Branan at guard, Coach McLane is naturally disappointed for this stalwart player has filled an important position with satisfaction. Oliver Miller will be at guard position along with Young and in the line to face each other tonight.

From Orlando come reports that the Tigers are in poor physical condition. As a result, several last minute changes will be made. Frank Murphy, big left end who suffered an ankle injury some weeks ago, will be back in the team tonight as captain Johnny Harrington, left tackle who is being groomed for All State honors will be the center of all eyes in his position. Frank Barnett, husky right end who turned his ankle last week, will be replaced by a substitute while Oliver Hawley, with a badly lacerated mouth will probably not start at guard and George Shaw, a backfield ace will be replaced by Nesbit because he has two fractured ribs. They in Orlando, players will be playing their first home game as seniors on the team.

Orlando reports say that the game is very nearly a toss-up on paper. If either team has an edge it is Sanford by virtue of an attack that has shown power in the early season. Orlando's defense has been at a standstill when it has backed up against teams of near their strength but the Orlando defense is believed to have the edge.

Local observers declare that all the odds will be in favor of Sanford if Harrington is stopped in his tracks. This tackle has been a thorn in the side of every team that has faced Orlando this year. Getting him out of there tonight will depend upon how well John Stanley at Sanford's right end and Skippy Vincent at center (Orlando) in the secondary defense perform.

The starting line-ups: Sanford - Orlando: Murphy, Harrington, Barker, Rogers, Crews, Humphreys, Jones, Welch, Nesbit, Goodwin, Krene. Orlando: Branan, Vincent, Smith, Connor, Miller, Shaw, Nesbit, Goodwin, Krene.

The Anglo-Saxon race will live if it is built on good, if it believes in justice for its own sake, goodness for its own sake, sacrifice for its own sake. If these are the high ideals of a race its civilization will inherit.

Work Will Begin On New Box Cars Of Pennsy Road

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 11.—Actual assembling of the Pennsylvania Railroad's 1285 new steel box cars, now being constructed with money provided by the $2,000,000 Reconstruction Finance Corporation loan was scheduled to start Monday, according to an announcement of M. W. Clement, vice-president in charge of operation.

Of the total number of new cars to be built, 925 will be steel box cars of standard construction, and 360 will be steel automobile cars. In the latter type changes in construction features will be made, so that the cars will be the largest automobile cars ever constructed. They will be 50 feet, 8 inches long, and will be higher and wider than the present type of automobile car, with a curved roof designed to avoid exceeding the clearance dimensions of tunnels and overhead bridges.

Some of the new cars will be equipped with a built-in motor for raising and securing automobiles in an inclined position at each end of the car. A number of the cars also will be built with oil tanks to afford increased convenience and facility in the loading and unloading of large parts of equipment.

Canada Rejects Amendment To Inflate Money

OTTAWA, Nov. 11.—The first stage of the current session of the Canadian Parliament was tonight to a close, nearly three months after the opening of the session.

The first vote rejected a substantial amendment to the Finance Bill, amounting to inflation of the supply of money. The amendment was rejected by the Liberal Opposition which charged that the Government had wholly failed to provide for the employment and agricultural distress.

The amendment was defeated by 68 votes to 11, the amendment being in the hands of the members of the Conservative Party. The vote was taken by the House of Commons after a debate of several hours.

Mr. Goodwin, in a statement that the trade recession had cost Canada $3,000,000,000, urged that the Government should not give under present farm production prices, and urged inflation as a means of increasing commodity prices.

In the Senate the Liberal Leader, Raul Dandurand, urged a new form of co-operative management in Canada, the Canadian National for the two great railways, the Canadian Pacific and the Canadian National. He said the railway bill which implements the findings of the Duff Royal Commission and which re-organizes the continuing of negotiations between the privately owned railways with, how ever some measure of compulsory co-operation.

Senator Dandurand was apparently that the "troubling luxury" of competition would continue on the terms of the railway bill.

CONSTITUTION OF FASCIST PARTY GIVEN REVISION

Revised Statute Indicates Power of Controlling Group

ROME, Nov. 11.—A new constitution for the Fascist Party has been drawn up by its secretary, Signor Achille Starace, and was submitted to the approval of the Fascist Grand Council at a meeting here tonight.

The revised statute shows clearly the position of pre-eminence importance the party holds in the public life of Italy, it reaffirms in a more emphatic way that Signor Benito Mussolini is the sole arbiter of the destinies of the Fascist Party and of Italy, and it recognizes the importance to the regime of the younger generation.

While in the previous constitution, Benito Mussolini was recognized as holding the first place in the party hierarchy, it is now classified as the supreme, final and absolute arbiter to that of any other party leader, which should still in case his prestige and authority among his adherents.

The statute consists of a preamble and 21 articles. The former, presumably has been attacked and replaced by the article on the political and social doctrine of the Fascist movement, controlled by Signor Mussolini to the Italian Fascist Party.

The Fascist Party, according to the revised statute, is a political party of the people, and its aim is to realize the political and social doctrine of the Fascist movement, controlled by Signor Mussolini to the Italian Fascist Party.
