DEPTH CHARGE SETS OFF LIGHTNING BOLT—The Naval Ordnance Laboratory at Silver Springs, Md., revealed that a depth charge explosion it set off in a remote Cheappeake Bay area caused lightning to be discharged from an overcast sky. The explosion was placed in an underwater position under a cloudless sky, but the overcast built up in the two hours before the detonation was planned. As the charge was touched off, a 300-foot waterspout heaved akyward and induced a low cloud to discharge its energy in three consecutive boils, one of which was caught by a high-speed camers, producing this picture.

Try and Stop Me

-By BENNETT CERF-GEORGE HOUDESHEL, of York, Pa., who admits to being 78 years young, writes, "Double-barreled stories are the ones I like best. Take the boy, for instance, who boasted, 'My brother's so tall that if he gets his feet wet on Monday, he doesn't get a cold in the head till Friday.' 'That's nothing, pooh-pooned his friend. 'My brother's so tall he has to stand on top of a 12-foot ladder to comb his hair.' 'Why doesn't he put the mirror down lower?" asked the first boy. 'He can't do that,' explained the second. 'It would mean he had no use for the ladder."

Of Everything Predicted

seured a statistical skyrocket ahot up the other day by Philip M. Tal-bott, president of the Chamber of Com-merce of the United States. He made the seeming prediction that by 1965 — a scant eight years hence, bear in mind — Amercans will be consuming fifty per cent more reconal goods and services than they now Talbott's prediction was based on the thought that this country's gross national product, the total of all goods and services, would reach the astounding total of 600 billion dollars by that date. Astounding it is, but many economists seem to believe that this total will indeed be reached within the next decade.

An increase of such magnitude in the personal consumption of goods and services would affect our society in many ways, some probably not yet foreseen. On the whole, the changes doubtless will be for the good; most Americans will have access to comforts and luxuries that only a few enjoyed at the turn of the century. It is not sour grapes, however, to note also that there are dangers in this prospect. For one thing, as our economy shifts in emphasis from production to marketing, there will be dislocation and a least temporary discomfort for many individuals. Industry and labor should be planning now to make this transition and restraining period as painless as they can.

Even more important; with such a prospect in store the nation must take great-

There are psychological dangers in a sen-sational news event like the Russian launching of Sputnik that could lead to serious consequences for the defense of this country. Some of these dangers were suggested by Army Chief of Staff General Maxwell D. Taylor last month when he warned that the nation must "have forces appropriate to situations short of general war."

This is not to say that we should not push ahead with all the vigor and ingenuity at our command in missile and satellite programs; but at the same time we should remember that there are other though less spectacular, defense problems.

General Taylor was right when he said that there is in this country "a national tendancy to seek solutions in machines."

Seminoles Come From Behind To Tie Winter Park Squad 6-6

A fast and deceptive Winter Park team dominated the first half of a thrilling ball game here Friday night but the Seminoles came back to thrill the 3,000 fans with a great second half. The two teams played on even terms throughout the game and the score ended at 6-6. Winter Park now holds the distinction of being the first team to reach "pay dirt" against the Sanford defenses.

During the first quarter neither team could take advantage of the breaks. Sanford played a very fine ball game and they well know now that they will have to scrap for the remainder of the season. In the first half, evidence of the recent sicknesses was very clear because they didn't show that extra jump that they have in the past. They did prove that they could come from behind and be plenty tough. After adjustments were made, hey began to again look like the great defensive ball club that they have been in the past games. THE CARD OF THANKS Very often a Card of Thanks in The Sanford Herald meets a need which is difficult to fill in any other way. Not only is it a gracious expression of gratitude to those who have sent fieral tributes but also courtepusly acknowledges the services and kindnesses of the many to whom a personal note of thanks cannot well

Le mailed. Newspaper Cards of Thanks are accepted as socially correct. Emily Post, the noted authority on etiquette, feels they serve many good uses. There is no prescribed form for a Card of Thanks. It can be as brief or as detailed as you desire. When the occasion comes you will find a sympathetically understanding member of our staff to

THE "IN MEMORIUM" NOTICE It is the custom of many families in this country to commemorate a bereavement by an "in Hemorium" notice in newspaper classified columns. They find a real solace therein, Preparation or selection of a suitable verse brings back to them tender, pleasant recollections. As Eliza Cook, the English poet has so beautifully expressed it:

"How cruelly sweet are the echoes that start

What memory plays an old tune on the heart."

Most frequently an in Memorium is inserted on the anniverany of death. However, other dates, which it is felt are appropriate or meaningful are also selected. The birthday of the departed, the wedding anniversary, Memorial Day, even Christmas are among other significant occasions chosen.

If you are hesitant to express your tender thoughts in poetic form, you may avail yourself of the Herald's collection of original verses. These express in poetic beauty the emotions of the heart atrings. Among them are verses appropriate to any circumstance.

Cards of Thanks and in Memorium notices, due to the fact they may run to considerable length, are billed at $1.00 per column inch.
