14 Killed On Nimitz May Have Been High On Drugs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Autopsies revealed that most of the 14 servicemen killed in last month's crash on the aircraft carrier USS Nimitz had drugs in their systems, a congressman charged today.

Rep. Joseph Addabbo, D-N.Y., said his House Defense Appropriations subcommittee will hold hearings Thursday to ask Navy officials about the possibility that illegal drug use contributed to the crash of the EA-6B jet on the flight deck of the carrier.

Navy officials at the Pentagon had no immediate comment on Addabbo's charges. They said his announcement was the first they had heard of alleged drug use aboard the Nimitz as a possible factor in the deadly crash.

Addabbo did not say what drugs were found or in what concentrations. But in a press statement he said autopsies conducted on the sailors and Marines killed in the nighttime crash May 26 showed a majority of the victims had drugs in their systems.

He did not specify how he obtained that information.

In a letter to Navy Secretary John Lehman, Addabbo said landing a jet aircraft on a carrier is one of the most difficult tasks in aviation under any circumstances.

"If any of the air operations personnel on board the Nimitz were under the influence of drugs at the time the Marine EA-6B made its final approach, it would be tantamount to a death sentence for those in the aircraft as well as those on the flight deck," Addabbo said.

Addabbo said he has been concerned with illegal drug use in the military for some time. He said that the Defense Department's own studies show that 60 percent of Navy and Marine Corps lower and middle rank enlisted personnel used drugs during the past year.

The EA-6B Prowler, a modified jet fighter loaded with electronic gear, touched down off-center on the flight deck of the Nimitz and careened into several parked aircraft. The resulting explosions and fires killed 14 and injured scores.

But Racing Continues

Track Conversion Declared Invalid

By BRITT SMITH
Herald Staff Writer

Chief Seminole Circuit Judge Kenneth Leffler this morning ruled that last year's conversion of Casselberry's Seminole Park from horse racing to dog racing was unconstitutional, and ordered the facility to shut down.

However, the State Attorney General's office immediately appealed the ruling to the Fifth District Court of Appeals in Daytona Beach, a move which, in essence, suspends Leffler's order to cease operations. Racing will continue pending completion of the appeals process which attorneys on both sides of the nearly year-long legal battle say could take another year.

The case began last summer when the Sanford-Orlando and Daytona Beach kennel clubs filed a lawsuit challenging the constitutionality of a 1980 law allowing Seminole Park to convert from a horse to a dog track.

Attorneys for the two clubs argued that the bill — sponsored by Robert Hat-taway, D-Altamonte Springs — was unconstitutional because it was tailor-made for only one race track. They claimed there was little, if any, possibility of any other Florida horse racing facility being able to qualify under the statute's provisions for conversion to a dog track.

As a second line of attack, lawyers contended that the law was invalid because 1) it is a general law of local application purporting to regulate an occupation already regulated by a state agency, and 2) it extends a special state privilege to a private, as opposed to a public, corporation. Both acts, they maintained, are forbidden by the state Constitution.

Leffler agreed. In making his ruling, he noted, "In determining whether a law is general or special, statewide or local, public or private, the courts will look to its substance and practical operation, rather than to its title, form, and phraseology. The fact that a statute is expressed in general terms is not conclusive that it is a general, rather than a special or local law.

"Legislative staff analyses show that Section 3 of Chapter 80-88 (the statute section allowing conversion) was intended to apply only to the 'harness-to-dog permit conversion' in Seminole County," Leffler said.

In a companion ruling, Leffler dismissed a countersuit by Seminole Park against the Daytona Beach kennel club. Seminole's owners claimed the 1947 law allows creation of the Daytona facility was unconstitutional because it too was strictly a local law aimed at a single track. Furthermore, they said that no referendum had been held on the issue as required by state law as it then existed.

A hearing is set for Friday or Tuesday before Judge Leffler to determine if Seminole Park's owners — Jack and Bill Demetree and Paul Derveas — should be required to post a bond so racing can continue while the case is being appealed.

U.N. Debate Heats Up

France Wants Israel To Pay; Soviets Say U.S. In On Raid

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — With the United States waiting to speak today, the Soviet Union charged Washington knew Israel was going to attack the Iraqi nuclear reactor and France demanded the Jewish state pay reparations for destroying the facility.

The Security Council debate on the Israeli raid heated up Monday with Iraq saying France's demand of reparations from Israel was too tame and that the Council should slap trade sanctions against the Jewish state for destroying the $250-million French-made reactor.

The United States, however, has let it be known that it is against mandatory sanctions, and after three days of debate U.S. Ambassador Jeane Kirkpatrick told reporters she asked for the floor and expected to address the Council late in the day.

She said she favored avoiding hasty decisions. "We would like to take our time," she said.

Monday's major speeches were made by France, which built the Iraqi reactor destroyed by Israeli F-16 aircraft one week ago Sunday, and the Soviet Union, an active supporter of Iraq.

Soviet Ambassador Oleg Troyanovsky accused the United States of collusion in the attack on the facility, saying "It is difficult to imagine that the U.S. did not know of it in advance."

Supported by Britain, French Ambassador Jacques Leprette proposed the Council call on Israel to pay reparations to Iraq and suggested a condemnation of the attack and an appeal to the Jewish state to end such military action. Neither Leprette nor British Ambassador Sir Anthony Parsons mentioned sanctions in their statements.

Irish Ambassador Noel Dorr also called for a compromise, saying it would not be wise to impose formal and mandatory sanctions against Israel.

But after the meeting, Iraqi Foreign Minister Saadoun Hammadi said the reparations proposal was "not enough" and insisted on his earlier demand for mandatory sanctions.

But the non-aligned members of the Council met into the night to formulate a revised resolution. A tentative set of proposals which they circulated Saturday included a sanctions call.

SOUTHERN FRIED?

Hens may have been laying hard boiled eggs these past few days as a record heat wave continues. The temperature was hitting 95 degrees before noon today, according to the temperature gauge above these hens' coops (left). The hen above was panting in the heat when these pictures were taken today at the Venable Farms in Longwood. County Poultry farmers report a few deaths due to the heat and decreased egg production. Across northern Florida farmers report chickens dying by the thousands as the mercury went over 100 in the fifth day of the heat wave. A Nassau County Poultry producer, said Monday about 950 of his broilers died over the weekend and between 900 and 1,000 chickens died in the poultry unit at Florida State Prison supervisors there said.

County Gives Site To Humane Society

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County Commissioners, after hearing discussion from a packed meeting room, decided on a 3-2 vote this morning to lease for 25 years, at $1 per year, a 3-acre site on the County Home Road at Five Points to The Seminole County Humane Society.

The Society plans to locate its new animal shelter at the site.

Vigorously objecting to the proposal were county Commissioners Bill Kirchhoff and Robert Feather. Commissioners Sandra Glenn, Barbara Christensen and Bob Sturm voted in favor of it. Kirchhoff said the commissioners were being short-sighted in virtually giving away property that will be needed in the future by the county. He noted that the county currently is searching for an almost identically-sized site for a new health department facility and will probably have to pay as much as $50,000 for that site.

Feather pleaded with his colleagues to delay the action for at least three weeks to give him an opportunity to search out a three-acre site within the five points area for donation to the humane society.

The commissioners voted down Feather's request 3-2.

J. A. Wittington, a member of the Humane Society said he and Art Grindle, another Humane Society supporter, will guarantee a $50,000 donation to build the new facility if the donor who has offered $200,000 to construct the shelter backs out. A major reason given by Glenn Christensen and Sturm for refusing to delay the action as Feather requested was that the Society fears Thomas Van Zandt of Orange County, who has offered to pay to build the 3,000 square-foot shelter, has set a deadline by which his donation must be accepted.

JoAnne Prager, president of the Humane Society said Van Zandt will give the money contingent upon it being used by September 30 this year.

County staff members recommended the County Home Road site after analyzing this site and another off Dike Road on a tract where a county-owned sewer plant is located.

The staff report said while site preparation costs for the Five Points property would be greater because it is heavily wooded, costs of sewer service would be much less.

The report pointed out that the costs of sewer service would be about $500 annually in addition to installation costs of $7,200. The Five Points property at the same time could be served by septic tanks costing $4,500 for installation and about $50 annually for cleaning.

In addition, the report noted that the County Home Road site is near the jail and sheriff's department fuel tanks and patrol vehicles drive past the site around the clock, giving it a high degree of security.

County commissioners last week at the request of the humane society instructed the staff to review the two sites to determine the feasibility of locating the new animal shelter on either one.

The Humane Society facilities, currently at the Sanford Airport, must be moved because of planned expansion of industrial facilities there.

Woody Price, county planner, also recommended the county commission authorize county staff to coordinate and expedite conditional use applications, and site plans and preparation of a lease agreement between the county and the humane society.

The society also asked that the county allow the staff to assist with preparation of a site plan for the facility.

Longwood Sees Need For Area Hospital

By JANE CASSELBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

Longwood City Commissioners voted Monday night to affirm the need for a hospital in the area, but did not vote to support a particular hospital group.

Representatives of two hospital management groups made presentations on proposed facilities they hope to build in the Longwood area, but workshops are planned for more in-depth presentations.

Both Hospital Management Associates (HMA) of Ft. Myers and Hospital Affiliates International (HAI) of Nashville and Atlanta have filed letters of intent to build medical facilities with the Health Systems Agency of East Central Florida.

The HSA-ECF is part of a nationwide network of federally funded agencies designed to investigate and make recommendations on health projects. HSA's make their recommendations to the state, which has final authority over any hospital construction.

Richard Morrison, director of project review for the HSA-ECF said the agency has determined Seminole County needs an additional 55 medical-surgical beds, 20 psychiatric beds, one pediatrics bed and one obstetrics bed as of this year.

Deadline for applications for these units is July 1. The HSA will review the applications, and make recommendations to the state.

Jim Mattingly, vice president of marketing for HMA, said his firm hopes to build a single-story, 78-bed facility in Longwood with 58 of the beds for medical-surgical patients and 20 for psychiatric.

Art Diamond of M.G. Lewis and Co., bond underwriter, said HMA hopes to build the health facility through the sale of bonds by a non-profit agency that would be set up by the city with the agreement that the facility will revert to city ownership when the bond issue is paid off.

Hospital Affiliates International was represented by Dr. Glenda Benedict, director of Acquisition and Development for HAI, and HAI Southeast Group Vice President Jim Daher.

HAI has filed a letter of intent to build a health facility with 150-200 beds. Several sites are being considered and an option on one of them is planned in 10 days to two weeks according to Daher. From 7-20 acres are needed for the site he said.

Daher said HAI would totally finance the proposed facility with no request to the city or state for funds.

Cashew-Eating Charge Settled For Peanuts

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Emma Harris, a nurse and mother of eight, doesn't have to worry anymore about the possibility of going to jail for eating four cashews on a city bus.

Mrs. Harris' attorney, Alisse Camazine, and David Miller, assistant city counselor, worked out a settlement Monday. The attorney said Mrs. Harris agreed to pay $12 in court costs in return for dismissal of the charges. Mrs. Harris, 51, did not appear in court.

She had faced a maximum penalty of a $500 fine and 60 days in jail.

Mrs. Harris, a faithful user of the city's bus system, was on her way to work at City Hospital April 4 when she pulled a bag of cashews from her lunch bag and began munching.

But drinking, playing radios, littering, refusal to pay fares — and eating — have been illegal since Oct. 1 on buses operated by the Bi-State Development Agency, the area's transit system.

Mrs. Harris, who said she was shocked and humiliated by the episode, vowed to fight the arrest. She filed a complaint against the arresting officer.

"I resent the whole darn thing," she said. "I don't like it worth a John Brown, and that's a cuss word for me."

Barron's Conservative Coalition In Control Again

By SAM MILLER
TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Dempsey Barron's conservative coalition once again has wrestled control of the Senate's budget-writing from Senate President W.D. Childers.

And while its motive — picking up ground in a power struggle with Childers — may be political, it could prod the Legislature into finally reaching agreement on a $9 billion-plus state budget and ending the special session.

House-Senate budget negotiators resume work today, with senators working under rigid guidelines imposed by the Barron group on Monday to halt a feud between Childers and House Speaker Ralph Haben.

The dispute prevented the approval of the budget and a package of property, sales and gas tax increases to help fund it on Monday as scheduled. Legislative leaders are hopeful of voting out a spending plan today or Wednesday and ending the special session.

Several senators predicted that they and their colleagues will reject two parts of the taxing package, a gas tax hike taking effect in 1983 and a plan giving county commissions the ability to raise the sales tax a quarter of a penny.

If these plans are, in fact, rejected, Gov. Bob Graham could call another special session.

The Barron coalition used an obscure rule and ordered the Senate members of the budget conference committee not to change a budget which given tentative approval by the conferees on Saturday. It acted after Childers threatened to torpedo the plan to salvage several projects for his hometown of Pensacola, including conversion of an old air base into an industrial park and expansion of the University of West Florida.

"Things definitely have started moving again," said one House leader who didn't want to be identified, to avoid getting involved in the Senate's internal struggle. "But the Childers' group can't let the Barron forces win, so they'll have to scuttle the budget work in some way."

The Senate conferees were instructed on a voice vote to stand firm for the original conference committee compromise. They were specifically instructed not to accept language earmarking an extra $50 million for interstate construction and establishing a lower division program of sorts for the University of North Florida in Jacksonville, which weren't part of the compromise.

The conferees also were told that $72 million for interstate work included in the conference committee budget but not earmarked for specific projects would go for the Tampa Bypass, acquisition of right-of-way land in Palm Beach and Martin counties for I-95 and acquisition of a right-of-way for I-95 in Broward County.

House-Senate conferees wrapped up work on the budget Saturday except for a few relatively minor items, including Childers' Pensacola projects and a related one in Panama City Beach that were to be worked out later in the weekend by Childers, Haben and their high-level committee chairmen.

West Palm Beach Sen. Harry Johnston, who originated the move to issue specific instructions to the Senate conferees, said he returned to the Capitol Monday to find much of the compromise in shambles, with Childers threatening to cut out a lot of appropriations sought by Haben and other House members in order to get his hometown items.

He said he also objected because Senate Appropriations Chairman Jack Gordon of Miami Beach agreed to the UNF language and Graham's proposal to provide an extra $50 million for interstate work since those items hadn't been approved by the conference committee.

"If we reopen the entire budget, we'll be here until July 1," Johnston said. "The coalition wants to get out of here."

Johnston's explanation notwithstanding, freshman and sophomore programs for UNF have become a symbol of the Childers-Barron power struggle.

The Barron group has been fighting the expansion of UNF because it is opposed by coalition member Dan Jenkins and favored by two Childers supporters, Mattux Hair and Joe Carlucci.

The Senate instructions do not rule out Childers' hometown projects, said Lakeland Sen. Curtis Peterson, a Senate conferee and the Barron coalition's candidate for 1983-84 president over Childers.

Those items were left unresolved when the conference committee voted out its spending plan, so they aren't covered by the instructions to the conferees, Peterson said.

Prison Guards Disciplined

Over Michigan Prison Riots

LANSING, Mich. (UPI) — Union officials say they will appeal the dismissals of a deputy warden who didn't relay reports of possible trouble and two prison guards blamed for the unauthorized search believed to have triggered last month's rioting at Southern Michigan Prison.

The union said it also would appeal the suspensions given 14 other prison workers as a result of the rioting.

Corrections Director Perry Johnson announced Monday Michigan Corrections Organization President Gerald Fry was among the 17 people who are being disciplined.

Tammy In Stable Condition

RED BAY, Ala. (UPI) — Country singer Tammy Wynette was in stable condition and "doing very, very well" today, two days after emergency surgery for abdominal blockage.

George Richey, Miss Wynette's husband, said Monday the couple flew into the state Saturday to attend the funeral of her uncle. Miss Wynette suddenly became ill and was hospitalized.

Male Contraceptive Tested

CHARLESTON, S.C. (UPI) — A Chinese medical official says his country is testing on human subjects an oral contraceptive for men derived from cottonseed oil.

Dr. Wu Chieu-ping, vice president of the Chinese Academy of Medical Sciences, said Monday the contraceptive gossypol may take several years to perfect.

"We're up to the level of clinical trial," the urologist told reporters during a three-day visit to the Medical University of South Carolina.

While China's birth rate has declined recently, birth control is still a concern with a population approaching 1 billion, he said.

3,000 For 8 Jobs

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Three thousand jobless people formed a line five blocks long to apply for eight job openings at a soap plant.

"We didn't even advertise," said John M. Keairnes, manager of a Procter & Gamble soap plant.

Huge traffic jams were caused by the unexpected crowd. The line began forming about 7 p.m. Sunday, 13 hours before the office opened.

Several people waiting in line said their biggest incentive was the starting salary: $10.25 an hour.

Mother Teresa Keeps Promise

MIAMI (UPI) — A seven-year-old promise by Mother Teresa, India's "Saint of the Gutters," has been kept.

Mother Teresa, who won the Nobel Peace Prize for helping the poor, Monday dedicated a new mission for prostitutes and destitute women in a run-down section of Miami.

Shreve Calls For Hearing

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Public Counsel Jack Shreve says Florida's electric utilities are experiencing "significant, unanticipated" oil price decreases resulting from current market conditions and recent actions by OPEC.

In a letter to the Public Service Commission, Shreve asked for an emergency hearing to reconsider Florida Power & Light Co.'s and Florida Power Corp.'s fuel adjustment charges.

A special fuel adjustment hearing is needed, Shreve said, so the utilities could explain "the impact of oil price reductions upon their estimates for the April-September 1981 period and order any fuel adjustment reduction found to be warranted."

More Haitians Land In Florida

MIAMI (UPI) — Just hours after federal officials announced they planned to open a second camp to handle the latest influx of Haitian refugees, about 100 had landed on South Florida shores.

One group was found adrift in the Gulf Stream on a homemade sailboat and was towed by a charter boat to the Florida Keys. A second group was plucked by the Coast Guard County Monday.

Earlier Monday the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service said the arrival of several hundred immigrants in the past two weeks has swelled.

Graham Signs Death Warrant

TALLAHASSEE, (UPI) — Gov. Bob Graham today signed a death warrant for convicted killer Levis Leon Aldridge, saying there was no basis to alter the court-imposed execution.

Prison officials immediately set Aldridge's execution for 7 a.m. July 15.

Aldridge was convicted of robbing and shooting Robert Ward, his employer, in Fort Pierce in September 1974.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Air Traffic Controllers' Strike Could Hurt Miami

MIAMI (UPI) — A total strike by air traffic controllers could cut air traffic at Miami International Airport by 40 percent and ground 60 percent of the flights going through Tampa International Airport, the Federal Aviation Administration estimates.

The controllers, who guide aircraft through the crowded airways and tell them when and where to take off and land, have set an 8 a.m. Monday strike deadline in their contract dispute with the FAA over salaries, working hours and the right to strike.

A strike wouldn't halt air traffic completely, FAA spokesman Jack Barker said at a news conference Monday — even if all controllers walk out, which he said he doesn't expect.

Retiree Persecuted Jews?

TAMPA (UPI) — The Justice Department says Kazya Palciauskas, a 73-year-old St. Petersburg Beach retiree, participated in the persecution of Jews while serving as mayor of a Lithuanian town during World War II and seeks to strip him of his naturalized American citizenship.

A six-count civil complaint filed in U.S. District Court Monday accused Palciauskas of ordering 22,000 Jewish civilians be confined in a ghetto in Kaunas which formerly had housed only 7,000 people.

The complaint said Palciauskas was mayor of Kaunas between June 1941, and May 1942, when the alleged offense occurred and that he oversaw the confiscation of the valuables of the Jewish civilians.

So Says Supreme Court

It's OK To Double-Up In Jail Cells

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Despite Chief Justice Warren Burger's public pleas for prison reform, the Supreme Court — with Burger in the majority — has ruled overcrowded state prisons may place two inmates in a cell designed for one.

The 8-1 decision Monday — a landmark interpretation of the Constitution's ban against "cruel and unusual punishment" — came in one of the most important prisoner-rights cases to confront the high court in recent years.

Just three weeks ago, Burger argued for nationwide prison reform, telling a George Washington University Law School commencement there should be mandatory programs to train guards and educate inmates. The speech was one of several by the chief justice calling for overhaul of the penal system.

On Monday, the high court declared, "The Constitution does not mandate comfortable prisons, and prisons which house persons convicted of serious crimes cannot be free of discomfort."

The justices reversed a ruling that had ordered Ohio to end the practice of assigning two inmates each to the 63-square-foot cells of the Southern Ohio Correctional Facility at Lucasville.

Standing alone in dissent, Justice Thurgood Marshall accused his fellow justices of glossing over Lucasville's problems and charged the prison "is overcrowded, unhealthy and dangerous."

In other actions Monday, the high court:

- Gave government regulators a major boost at a time President Reagan is trying to curb federal power, upholding a law requiring strip-mined land be restored to its original condition.
- In a decision that may drastically alter the future of health-care planning, ruled 9-0 the health-care industry is not entitled to antitrust immunity.

— Agreed to decide whether the government may withhold information the FBI collected about Vietnam War opponents and gave to the Nixon White House.

— Promised to widen slightly its review of the confidentiality of the 1980 census — challenged by cities that say their populations were undercounted.

— Unanimously upheld a Georgia law making it a more serious offense to abandon a child and leave the state than to abandon a child and stay in the state.

The prison case focused on a decision by U.S. District Judge Timothy Hogan in Cincinnati, who had told the state to end Lucasville's double-celling. His ruling was upheld by the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Joining Powell in the majority opinion that reversed the lower courts were Burger and Justices Potter Stewart, Byron White and William Rehnquist. Joining in Brennan's concurring opinion were Justices Harry Blackmun and John Paul Stevens.

16-Year-Old Sex Symbol Never Misses Church And Hates Drugs

NEW YORK (UPI) — Brooke Shields, who played a 12-year-old prostitute and made sizzling jeans commercials, says she just kisses her dates good night like any other teenage girl.

The 16-year-old sex symbol also told the Ladies Home Journal in an interview intended to show the real Brooke Shields that she never misses church and hates drugs "because they mess up your body and mind."

"I kiss my boyfriends good night. Everybody does," she said in the July issue of the magazine, adding that she has never been sexually aroused — at least "I don't think so."

"I believe I'll know it when I feel it," said the actress, who sizzles on screen but in life is a practicing Roman Catholic.

Like actress Jodie Foster, Brooke soared to fame when she played the movie role of a child prostitute. That worries her.

"I was scared," Brooke said of her reaction to John Hinckley Jr.'s alleged attempt to assassinate President Reagan to gain Miss Foster's attention. "I realized it could have happened to me, just as it happened to Jodie. ... I get lots of weird mail."

Hinckley's obsession with Miss Foster was averted by her portrayal of a young prostitute in the film "Taxi Driver." Brooke played a child prostitute in the movie "Pretty Baby."

The actress' agent and mother, Terri Shields, 47, told the magazine she protects her 5-foot-10½-inch daughter by screening all fan letters, picking her up at school and providing her with a bodyguard. Brooke also takes care of her mother.

When Brooke was making "Pretty Baby" in New Orleans, her mother was drinking heavily.

"I hated what Mom was like when she was drinking, and I just had to finally face it and do something about it," Brooke said. "So I told her that if she didn't stop, I would go live with my father."

Mrs. Shields checked herself into a hospital for six weeks of treatment for alcoholism, the Journal said.

Brooke's father, socialite-businessman Frank Shields divorced her mother — who grew up in a poor family in Newark, N.J. — while Brooke was an infant.

New Sections Opened At Carriage Cove Park

In an effort to meet the public demand for affordable housing, Dreyfus Interstate Development Corporation has opened more lots in the family and adult sections of Carriage Cove mobile home community. Some are still available in the adult section, which is filling up fast, according to Park Manager Marlen Friedman.

Carriage Cove clubhouse swimming pool — great for a refreshing dip.

One of the largest and nicest mobile home communities in the area, Carriage Cove is located on County Road 427 south of Sanford. The park has continued to expand in planned phases over the past seven years to help meet the needs of the many families and retired persons who have found mobile home living the only affordable housing. Apartment conversions, lack of housing and high expense of going into conventional home ownership have caused a critical shortage for the average family.

Ms. Friedman said. There are separate adults-only and family sections in the well-kept park. All mobile homes at Carriage Cove are individually owned and set up on roomy lots which rent for $72.50 and up including water and sewer service, use of all recreational facilities and the underground master antenna system for better television reception.

Carriage Cove offers an attractive combination of city conveniences and country living. Churches, schools, Seminole Community College, banks, shopping centers and entertainment are only five minutes away. School children are picked up at the entrance by school buses.

Several new mobile home models are for sale, completely furnished and ready for occupancy are on display at the park by Gregory Mobile Homes.

Activities at Carriage Cove focus on the exclusive air-conditioned clubhouse, 34-by-60-foot swimming pool and open air teen center.

In the all-adult clubhouse, there is a party-game room, TV lounge and kitchen facilities. Laundry facilities and a fenced-in clothes drying lot are also available. Closed Sunday, the Carriage Cove office is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Saturday. Ms. Friedman and Sales Manager Shirley Runney welcome visitors and will be glad to show you around and answer your questions.

Laser Face Lifts Popular

In the three months since Dr. Thomas F. Yandell Jr. introduced the laser face lift procedure at his Sanford Pain Control Clinic those on the program have been getting excellent results, he says. "Some say their children tell them they look 10 years younger already," the Chiropractor reports. "Their facial wrinkles are 90 percent better than they were prior to starting the treatments and their skin is smoother and the tone and color are much improved."

Dr. Yandell said. There are no needles used and there are no scars," he added. Does the laser burn? "No, the laser used for the face lift is a class 2 laser, below the level of burning," said Dr. Yandell. The class 1 laser is a focused beam and the class 2 would be like a light bulb and infra red rays—these will not burn. How well the results last depends on the individual's heredity, rest nutrition and exposure to the wind and sun and stress. The cost of a laser face lift is less than the surgical procedure, he added. He also does face lifts and breast lifts utilizing acupuncture.

Dr. Yandell practices chiropractic family medicine specializing in acupuncture, pain control, nutritional counseling and weight control. The clinic located at 2017 S. French Ave., has the most up-to-date physiotherapy equipment, lab and X-ray facilities. Acupuncture is also used for such diverse problems as helping patients quit smoking, relieving, menstrual cramps, diarrhea, bed wetting, headaches, asthma, impotence, ulcers and tennis elbow.

Dr. Thomas F. Yandell Jr. of Sanford Pain Control Clinic demonstrates Laser face lift

There has been a great deal of interest in the non-surgical technique and patients on the program range from 35 to 76 years. There is a waiting list for those desiring a free consultation and demonstration without obligation. The laser face lift procedure includes photographs prior during and after the program; laser therapy to rejuvenate facial muscles; a program to tonify and rejuvenate facial muscles through approximately 10 treatments; specialized nutritional testing and dietary recommendations and personal consultation and information on facial care and maintenance.

"A very specialized helium neon laser combined with electrical stimulation produces a mild stimulation of the facial muscles and other tissues to help to restore the natural tone and lift the sagging skin," Dr. Yandell explained.

"Is there any pain involved?" "Laser therapy is painless and completely comfortable."

Sensational Hearing Aid Costs Pennies Per Year To Operate

Space age technology has come to the hearing aid industry. A hearing aid has been developed that actually costs pennies per year to operate. This is a far cry from the $25.00 to $70.00 a year the average hearing aid costs to run. Aid also automatically controls speech interfering noises and can be custom adjusted for correct hearing on the spot.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Don't Neglect Skin Scrub And Moisten

DEAR DR. LAMB— I am 67 and my facial skin is getting papery and wrinkled. In the past few months I have used fresh aloe plant, cucumber and wet oatmeal to try to help. Now I use egg white, let it dry and sponge off gently, followed by moisture lotion and makeup.

I'm getting brown patches on my hands and lower arms. They do not bother me but look so bad that I wear long sleeves for dress occasions.

Please do not publish my name as we live in a noisy, gossipy small town and I have to meet many of my "friends" every day. Let them read their paper and your comments. Some need your advice about skin care much more than I do.

DEAR READER— I like to see people with problems from aging skin consult with a dermatologist if one is available. Certain changes, solar keratosis, may become skin cancer and should not be neglected.

Nevertheless, there are a host of things you can do for yourself. First, protect your skin from the sun by using a sun screen and avoiding excess exposure. Next, learn to use epi-abrasion. That means cleaning off the surface layers of dead skin. A good washcloth is your best ally here. Use the rough side and start gradually. Don't overscrub. If you do, let your skin rest a few days before repeating. The mechanical irritation is good for your skin and will give you a good complexion. Use it for all the face and neck.

After epi-abrasion moisten your skin with water, pat dry (don't rub) and apply a moisturizer. Any number of creamy products will do. Vaseline is great: for maximum moisturization put it on before going to bed two nights a week and sleep in it. Rub it in well. Wipe any residue off the next morning. I am sending you The Health Letter number 7-10. Your Skin: Sun, Aging, Spots and Cancer, which will give you information on avoiding the dangers of the sun. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Your dermatologist may be able to remove those brown spots for you. If you have the usual form they are called liver spots but they have nothing to do with the liver. They are just increased amounts of pigment, the same that induces a suntan.

DEAR DR. LAMB— Can you please tell me anything good for brittle finger and toenails?

DEAR READER— A common problem with fingernails is fingernail polish and particularly the strong chemicals used in nail polish remover.

The other point I would make is that nails are specialized skin and like skin must contain adequate moisture for normal appearance. Dry nails need to be moisturized just as does dry skin. Excessive soaking can cause them to lose oils just as excessive bathing can wash away oils from the skin and make it scaly and sometimes itchy.

After bathing rub in a moisturizer. None is better than plain Vaseline. It prevents the loss of water from the underlying cells and the trapped moisture makes your nails healthier and look better.

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE HEDE OSOL

For Wednesday, June 17, 1981

YOUR BIRTHDAY
June 17, 1981

This coming year you're likely to make a shift in the type of friends who will appeal to you. Pals who are doers with a more serious outlook are apt to be the companions you'll seek.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Be especially careful if making any larger purchases today. You're too willing to believe what you want to hear and you could make a bum deal. Romance, travel, luck, resources, possible pitfalls and career for the coming months are all discussed in your Astro-Graph which begins with your birthday. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) All transactions today, especially legal matters, must be clearly defined and detailed, step-by-step and put in writing. Assumptions will prove unwise.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Something you may have neglected to take care of could surface today. Don't waste time making excuses. Attend to the matter at once.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Uncharacteristically, today you could allow your social interest to woo you into spending far beyond your means. Save your dreaming for when you're sleeping.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Be careful what you say about anybody today, even those who may deserve a tongue lashing. It could make YOU look bad, instead of the wrongdoer.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) If you've made a mistake, don't try to cover it up with a lot of rationalizations. Taking a stand on a hopeless cause is fruitless.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) A material involvement must be handled prudently today. If you display an unrealistic approach, you could alienate others altogether.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) This is not the day to get into a finger-pointing contest with associates regarding who is right or wrong. Each could end up making things much tougher for the other.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Political intrigues could cause you problems today, whether it be with your peers or at work. Don't be placed in a position where you must choose sides.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Situations may develop in your business dealings today which will require extreme tact to rectify. Keep palsy with persons who can make you money.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Get all the facts before "lashing out" if you hear some unflattering things were said about you. You could make matters worse by accusing an innocent person.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) If you allow an unpleasant material matter to get the best of you today, about all you'll accomplish is to cause an unproductive day. Keep cool.

WIN AT BRIDGE

expert Tony Priddy in the 1945 "Bridge World."

"Uter" is a Latin word that can be roughly translated "which of two."

West led the ace and five of trumps. You are on lead and need the rest of the tricks. You will go after spades or diamonds first, but which one? A quick check shows that if both suits break as good as 4-2 you can come to 12 easy tricks.

Suppose one breaks 4-2 and the other breaks 5-1; can you make your slam? Now you find the winning solution. If you go after diamonds first and they break 5-1, you will need a 3-3 spade break to get home. If you start on spades and they break 4-2, you don't care how diamonds behave. You can set up your fifth spade for your 12th trick and you see that if spades break 5-1, you can still go after diamonds and get there if that suit breaks 4-2.

So you start on spades. Cash dummy's ace-king and ruff a spade. Enter dummy by ruffing a club to ruff another spade. Now you can discard one club on the last spade and one on a good diamond.
