County Would Hike Rates More

PSC Suspects Sanlando Utilities Overcharging

At least one state accountant feels rates charged by Sanlando Utilities are already too high, while Seminole County plans to hike the rates an average 30 percent more if it buys the water and sewer company.

The state Public Service Commission, auditing Sanlando's books to determine whether it is overcharging its customers, can order a rate rollback and refunds from the private firm, but would have no jurisdiction if the county purchases the company, even over rates prior to the purchase.

Marshall Willis, accounting supervisor of the PSC's water and sewer department, said today the rates allowed by the state are based in part on a utility owners' investment. He said principals of Sanlando Utilities, according to documents they have furnished the state, have invested $500,000 in the company. The rest of the firm's value, he said, comes from fees paid directly or indirectly by homeowners.

The county is preparing to pay nearly $17 million to buy Sanlando.

Seminole County Commissioner Robert G. "Bud" Feather has said if the county purchases the utility, its owners will receive a "financial windfall." He said sewer and water lines already paid for by the customers once in the cost of their homes will be paid for a second time by the county and those costs charged off to the homeowners again.

He has also called the purchase "stupid" since the utility is already serving the customers in southwest Seminole under the direction and regulation of the state's Public Service Commission and there is no need to buy it.

Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff also opposes the purchase.

Commission Chairman Sandra Glenn, Commissioners Barbara Christensen and Bob Sturm have said the purchase is a good business deal for Seminole and the utility will pay for itself through the rates and connection fees to customers.

Mrs. Glenn said today she was "unaware an audit was being done of Sanlando."

Willis said he is "pushing to have an interim decrease recommendation" of Sanlando's rates considered by the PSC at its Sept. 4 meeting in Tallahassee.

Meanwhile, a public hearing is scheduled for 7

Central Florida Regional Hospital pathologist Dr. G.V. Garay congratulates Sandy Dunn, the 1984 winner of the Dr. Frist Humanitarian Award.

Dr. Frist Award Winner: Friend To The Friendless

Sandy Dunn, a histology supervisor at Sanford's Central Florida Regional Hospital (CFRH) known for her generosity and artistic talent, is the recipient of CFRH's 1984 Dr. Frist Humanitarian Award.

Hospital administrator James Tesar presented Ms. Dunn with a special plaque, roses and a check for $250, and said the committee of four CFRH employees selected her because her "day-to-day performance is dependable, consistent, and people oriented."

She has "demonstrated unusual concern for the welfare and happiness of patients and has performed extraordinary acts of kindness," Tesar said. The award reflects the attitude of Dr. Thomas Frist, founder of Hospital Corp. of America of which the local hospital is an affiliate, and is indelibly emphasized in the HCA philosophy, he said.

Museum Trustees Quit Over Disclosure Rule

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

Four members of the Henry Shelton Sanford Memorial Library and Museum Board of Trustees have resigned their volunteer posts rather than file financial disclosures newly required by the state.

The Sanford City Commission will wrestle with the problem at its 7 p.m. meeting today at City Hall, 300 N. Park Ave.

Those resigning from the 25-member library and museum board are: Jack Horner, president of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce; A.B. "Tommy" Peterson Jr. of St. Johns Realty Co.; Dennis Courson of Sun Bank and Ross Wontenay of the Seminole County Property Appraiser's office.

Horner, in a letter of resignation to City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles, said, while his tenure on the board has been "a most rewarding experience," the "stringent financial disclosure statute, as it pertains to unpaid volunteers... is... intolerable and totally unnecessary."

"It is time for this volunteer to call it quits," he said. "However, I do intend to request the Seminole County Legislative Delegation to take a hard look at this statute before volunteerism in the public sector is seriously curtailed or wiped out completely," Horner said. He had served on the trustees board, for 10 years as president.

Peterson, in a letter of resignation to Jim Jernigan, the city's director of parks and recreation, said, "I regret having to take this action, but I can see no possible benefit to me, the city or the state of Florida in being required to file a financial statement to carry out my duties as president of the General Sanford Museum Library."

Jernigan said today the museum and library board of directors administers a $14,000 annual budget, but all actual expenditures are made by the city.

"The board of trustees approves purchases and directs programs and exhibits," Jernigan said.

Meanwhile, Ruth Lee, vice president of the board of trustees, declined comment on the requirement for financial disclosure. But Kay Bartholomew, also a trustee, says she has no objection to filing financial disclosures.

"I have already filed a financial disclosure as a precinct committeewoman on the Seminole County Republican Executive Committee," she said.

The other members of the board are: Penny Peterson, Ned Yancey, Ruth Sweeney, Carol Kirchhoff, Janet Johnson, Dorothy Morrison, Grace O'Brien, Jean Fowler, Genevieve Richardson, Elizabeth Gallant, Mrs. Leon Walker, Edna Boyette, Florence Burhenne, Martha Yancey, Joyce Mikkola, David Lanier Jr., Frank Whigham, James Elliott and Paul Bordenkirchner.

Meanwhile, Sanford Street Superintendent George Rufas and Public Works secretary Bonnie Richard, employees who earlier announced upcoming retirements, are slated to leave the city's employ in September.

Mrs. Richard has worked for the city for the past 12 years, while Rufas has been employed by the city for 12 1/2 years. Mrs. Richard has not only been secretary to the public works director, but also complaint clerk for the public works department. Rufas, in addition to his duties as street superintendent, has also been assistant to the public works director.

Irish Kids' Visit Shows Religions Do Mix

By Rick Brunson
Herald Staff Writer

Irish eyes were smiling Saturday at a Lake Mary ice cream shop where 40 kids visiting from Northern Ireland crowded the counter for their favorite flavors.

The stop at Bell's Ice Cream Shop in the Village Square was part of a three-week tour of Central Florida coordinated by two DeLand churches in the hopes that the 20 Catholic and 20 Protestant youngsters would learn to get along and take that harmony back to their strife-torn country.

St. Peter's Catholic Church and St. Barnabas Episcopal Church embarked on the project last October, starting the Irish Children's Fund, according to George Flack, one of the organizers. He said Protestant and Catholic churches in DeLand raised $34,000 in four months for the project.

"The whole purpose of the trip is to open a line of communication," Flack said.

In addition, DeLand's Protestant and Catholic churches have been brought closer together, he said.

"We've become very close working together on this project. That's been a good side benefit."

The group arrived in Orlando from Londonderry, Northern Forty-five young visitors from Northern Ireland and their chaperones wave good-bye after an ice cream stop in Lake Mary. The group leaves for home Aug. 22.

Ireland, almost two weeks ago, accompanied by five chaperones, themselves a mixture of Catholics and Protestants.

Before they came to Florida, the chaperones held dances and suppers in Londonderry to get the kids acquainted, according to the Rev. Patrick Arkinson, one of the chaperones. Before that, the kids did not know each other at all.

Londonderry is an almost totally segregated city, the organizers said, where Catholics and Protestants are divided along educational and economic lines.

The 12-to-14-year-old boys and girls are staying in homes of parishoners from both congregations while visiting area attractions.

Jim and Carolyn Bradford, of DeLand, have hosted two kids who did not know each other before the trip because of their religious backgrounds. Leslie Goodman, 13, and Rhonda Gurny, 12, say they have enjoyed biking and swimming together, but doubt they will see much of each other in their homeland because they live in different neighborhoods. But they sheepishly turned to each other Saturday and said they would try.

Other than a few instances of homesickness, the group has gotten along well, according to the chaperones, and look forward to going to Walt Disney World this week.

Ironically, while the group of youngsters were making peace and having fun last week, renewed violence broke out in Londonderry and Belfast.

Arkinson said the group was not informed of the news because "kids of that age are not interested in current affairs."

Mistrial In Husted Case

A mistrial was declared Saturday after a 12-member jury failed to reach a unanimous verdict in the first-degree murder trial of Sammie Earl Husted, 24, of Forest City.

The jury deliberated 2 1/2 hours Friday night and 3 hours Saturday starting at 9 a.m. before telling Circuit Judge C. Vernon Mize, for the second time, that they were deadlocked and could not reach a verdict.

Mize has ordered Mrs. Husted be retried during a three-week docket period starting Oct. 9.

Although Mrs. Husted was charged with premeditated first degree murder, the jury had the option of returning a verdict for lesser included charges such as murder without premeditation or manslaughter. Reportedly, the jurors could not agree whether the battered wife should have been found innocent or guilty of manslaughter.

The 24-year-old woman, who was married to Joseph Husted, 29, for 10 years, is charged with shooting him in the left eye with a 16-gauge shotgun Nov. 9.

Assistant State Attorney Mike Peacock contended during the trial she was angry on that day

Olympic Flame Extinguished In Blaze Of Glory

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The 23rd Summer Olympics, which opened two weeks ago amid fears of massive traffic jams and terrorist attacks, ended peacefully Sunday night in a triumphant celebration of song, dance and international harmony.

Juan Antonio Samaranch, president of the International Olympic Committee, described the Games as "the most peaceful and profitable in recent memory."

The Games were exceptionally profitable for American athletes, who took advantage of the Soviet boycott to lead the world with 174 medals — 83 of them gold. The gold medal collection surpassed by three the number won by the Soviets in 1980, when the United States boycotted the Moscow Games.

The Games, marred only by the Soviet boycott, set a new record attendance with an estimated 5.7 million people buying tickets to see events, including 92,000 people who Jammed the Memorial Coliseum Sunday for the spectacular closing ceremonies.

The high-tech extravaganza included a light and laser show, a brightly-lit space ship suspended from a helicopter over the stadium, a 7-foot alien and a barrage of fireworks.

Pop star Lionel Richie sang a 20-minute rendition of his hit "All Night Long" on a huge stage in the center of the Coliseum surrounded by 200 young break dancers.

Peter Ueberroth, the president of the Los Angeles Olympic Organizing Committee and the driving force behind the Games, received a standing ovation from the Coliseum crowd of about 97,000 when he was introduced.

In an interview with The New York Times, Samaranch credited cost-cutting innovations used by Ueberroth in Los Angeles with helping revitalize interest among other cities of the world in staging the Games.

"I think the changes have been very important for the future," said Samaranch.

Ueberroth told a news conference during the Games that the Los Angeles Olympic Organizing Committee would turn a substantial profit on its $500 million investment, a remarkable feat when compared the staggering debt sustained by Montreal in the 1976 Games.

Despite fears that triggered the establishment of a huge federal, state and local security force, the Games were peaceful — in marked contrast to 1972.

The weather was beautiful, Los Angeles' infamous smog never posed a serious problem and traffic was unusually light.

The final day of competition also produced another stirring triumph when Carlos Lopez, at 37 considered an old man for racing by many people, won the gold medal in the men's mara-

Gearing Up For Convention

Republicans Tackle Tax Issue

By Laurence McGuillan
UPI Political Reporter

DALLAS (UPI) — With the only major Republican rift involving a dispute over tax increases, the GOP today opens at least four days of work crafting a final platform that formally sets party philosophy for the next four years.

Seven separate panels today begin hearings on subjects ranging from the economy and foreign policy to agriculture and education. Work on the platform is expected to be wrapped up by Thursday or Friday so it can be tackled early next week when the Republican convention opens.

Rep. Jack Kemp of New York is leading the fight to rule out a tax increase of any kind, while Sen. Robert Dole of Kansas, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, heads efforts for a more temperate platform plank that would include an escape clause should higher taxes become necessary.

Kemp told reporters Sunday night that the disagreements "are being defused. I think it will be something that is a consensus to the Republican Party and to the White House."

As various wings of the party argue over the tax language, President Reagan Sunday sought to clarify his recent remarks on the issue.

"I have no plan to raise taxes, nor will I allow any plan for a tax increase," Reagan said in a statement issued from his ranch near Santa Barbara, Calif.

He claimed that for the Democratic challenger, Walter Mondale, "raising taxes is a first resort. For me, it's a last resort."

"After — and only after — wasteful government spending has been reduced to its absolute minimum would I consider raising taxes to eliminate any gap between revenues and expenditures. Even then, I would not consider raising the personal income taxes of working Americans," Reagan said.

The statement, issued as the final drafting of platform planks begins, sent public signals the president did not want to be boxed into a position of never allowing a tax increase.

Frank Fahrenkopf, the Republican chairman, Sunday acknowledged there are "divergent views" on taxes but predicted "that following the deliberations of the platform committee and the adoption by the convention ... there's not going to be any divisiveness."

The Baltimore Sun reported that the tax debate may center on the use of a comma. A staff proposal drafted in Washington declares: "We therefore oppose any attempt to increase taxes which would harm the recovery and reverse the trend toward restoring control of the economy to individual Americans."

That sentence appears to be in opposition to only certain tax increases. The conservatives want to add a comma after the word "taxes," which would oppose any tax hikes.

The final platform document most likely will run no more than 25 pages. It is expected to ignore references to the Equal Rights Amendment which was dropped in 1980 after nearly 40 years as part of the platform. It also calls for a constitutional amendment to ban abortions.

It also is likely to tone down 1980 language which sought "military superiority" over the Soviet Union. New wording instead seeks "military parity."

Driver Rams Cable Car In Apparent Suicide

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — In an apparent suicide, a man gunned the motor of his car at the top of one of the city's steepest hills, sped down the grade and rammed head-on into a cable car packed with tourists, injuring 30 people as the cable car hurtled backwards out of control.

Police and witnesses said it appeared the man committed suicide. His car was on the wrong side of the street, racing at an estimated 50-60 mph and made no attempt to stop, police said.

The force of the Sunday afternoon collision sent screaming passengers sprawling onto the street or the floor of the cable car, which bolted back down Hyde Street on Russian Hill for nearly two blocks before the gripman, also injured, could bring it to a halt.

The identity of the driver of the auto was not immediately determined, police said. His body had to be pried from the mangled car.

The auto was demolished, but the cable car sustained only minor damage, police said.

Navy Probe Requested

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. William Proxmire wants the Navy to determine whether there was anything improper about a top Navy official taking a job with General Dynamics Corp. since he arranged more than $5 billion in contracts for the corporation while in the Pentagon.

Sawyer was a former assistant Navy secretary who took a job as vice president of General Dynamics last summer.

Federal law bars former officials for two years from appearing before the agency where they worked or lobbying on any matter they handled for the government.

Proxmire, a member of a joint economic subcommittee that is investigating allegations of kickbacks and overcharges by General Dynamics in the late 1970s, took issue with July 25 testimony from a top Navy lawyer, Eugene Paulisch, who informed the panel that the department's inspector general had cleared Sawyer of wrongdoing.

Another Paperboy Vanishes

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI) — The kidnapping of a 13-year-old paperboy is hauntingly similar to the disappearance of Johnny Gosch, a carrier who vanished two years ago and still is missing, police said.

Police said Sunday they are concerned there may be a link between the disappearances of Eugene Martin and Gosch, both paperboys for The Des Moines Register.

The Register is warning its carriers to be wary of strangers and offered a $5,000 reward for information leading to Martin.

The boy's newspapers, some folded and the rest still bundled, were found on the street corner not far from where Martin and his father live.

Quake Rattles Diablo Range

MORGAN HILL, Calif. (UPI) — An earthquake rumbled through the foothills of the Diablo Range five miles southeast of Morgan Hill early today.

The 2:51 a.m. PDT tremor was felt over a wide area, but there were no immediate reports of damage or injury.

The state Department of Water Resources placed the quake at 4.4 magnitude. The area has been hit by a rash of small earthquakes in recent days.

Mondale Conferring With Hart On Defense

NORTH OAKS, Minn. (UPI) — Walter Mondale, who is criticizing President Reagan's defense policies for doing too little at too much cost, sought the advice today of Gary Hart, his chief rival in the primary season, on American military preparedness.

The meeting with Hart and other Democratic Party defense experts is the second in a series of meetings called by Mondale at his Minnesota home on particular subjects to help him draw up specific programs. The first, last week, was on taxes.

In addition to the Colorado senator, Mondale also planned to meet with Rep. Joseph Addabbo, D-N.Y., chairman of a defense subcommittee, and several former Pentagon officials who served in the Carter administration including Clifford Alexander, former Secretary of the Army, and Mitzel Wertheim, former deputy undersecretary of the Navy.

Mondale, in the second of a weekly series of radio addresses similar to those Reagan makes every Saturday afternoon, attacked the president Sunday for stressing expensive weapon systems instead of investing on a "lean and tough" military.

"While Mr. Reagan has bought every big ticket weapon in the candy store, he has failed to provide the stocks and supplies we must have in case of a real conflict," Mondale said.

"The Defense Department's own experts say our stockpiles are so low that we would need eight to 10 months warning time to gear up our industry to produce the supplies and ammunition we need to sustain combat operations. That's not only bad management, it's dangerous."

Mondale, who favors a 4 percent real increase in defense spending each year, compared to the 7 percent increase that Reagan is calling for, said the difference between him and the president is how money for the military would be spent.

"Some recent reports question the readiness of our armed forces are troubling Americans," Mondale said. "Even after enormous increases in defense spending these last years, it appears that our troops could not handle more than a short, limited conflict without quickly running out of equipment and supplies."

Mondale cited stories of waste and mismanagement, for example when "the Pentagon paid $3,600 for a 12 cent wrench. Our latest fighter, the F-18, turns out to have cracks that could cause its tail to fall off."

Mayor Says He Saw No 'Warning Signs' Of Ethnic Violence

LAWRENCE, Mass. (UPI) — Mayor John Buckley said he was unaware the Justice Department had named his city a "high-risk area" before ethnic tensions in a working-class neighborhood erupted into riots last week.

The Lower Tower Hill neighborhood remained under a dusk-to-dawn curfew for a third night Sunday after fighting, looting and firebombing broke out last week among Hispanics, French-Canadians and other ethnic groups.

City officials reported few problems since the curfew was imposed and were to decide today whether to continue the restrictions.

"Chances are we won't," Alderman Kevin Sullivan said early today, citing only four arrests for curfew violations since Sunday night.

"It's been extremely quiet. We are concerned that there are tensions in the neighborhood over the curfew — that people are getting impatient, that they're sick and tired of being inside."

A Justice Department official said the city had been on the federal government's list as a "high-risk area" for racial or ethnic confrontations before the clashes in Lower Tower Hill last Wednesday and Thursday nights.

"The potential was there for some difficulty," said Lawrence Turner of the department's office of community relations services.

"It was a feeling that this city had the ingredients for some trouble to occur," Turner added, referring to complaints three years ago from Hispanics in the neighborhood.

Buckley said he was unaware that the Justice Department had placed Lawrence on a critical list of potential trouble spots for racial or ethnic violence. He said he also disagreed with the department's claim there had been warning signs of the violence to come.

"I haven't seen any of these warning signs," Buckley said.

Turner said he was uncertain which Lawrence officials received the Justice Department warnings concerning problems in police-community relations and charges of discrimination and unfair treatment.

Annual Depression Era Glass Show Sept. 15, 16

The Central Florida Depression Era Glass Club will host its fifth annual show and sale at the Sanford Civic Center on Sept. 15 and 16.

The show will feature 22 dealers from throughout the country. Included will be Halsey, Cambridge, Fenton and Footoria, as well as china, pottery, and collectibles.

The club was established in 1974 and has a membership of over 80 depression era glass enthusiasts making it the largest in Central Florida. The club meets the first Thursday of each month at 8 p.m. at the Altamonte Springs Community Chapel on state Road 436 in Altamonte Springs. The main goal of the club is the preservation of depression era glass.

Doors of the Civic Center will open at 10 a.m. on both days, and close at 6 p.m. on Saturday and 5 p.m. Sunday.

The theme for this year's show is "Patriotism in Glass." On display will be election memorabilia, along with table settings of red, white and blue glass from the depression era.

Reagan Bombs With 'Bombing Russia' Crack

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — President Reagan cracked a joke about bombing the Soviet Union while doing a sound check before his Saturday radio address, but the remarks, taped by at least two networks, were not reported for a full day.

"My fellow Americans, I am pleased to tell you I have signed legislation to outlaw Russia forever. We begin bombing in five minutes," the president said in a sound check several minutes before he went on the air, apparently unaware that some reporters could hear him.

The real speech began, "I am pleased to tell you that today I signed legislation that will allow student religious groups to begin enjoying a right they've too long been denied, the freedom to meet in public high schools during non-school hours."

In Moscow today, a Soviet official declined comment on the remark.

Personnel from the networks involved declined, on orders from their superiors, to discuss the matter officially, although it was learned that White House press secretary Larry Speakes asked the networks to kill the story.

Two networks, CBS and Cable News Network, plugged into a separate feed for television, picked up the comment and decided not to air them after Speakes invoked a 2-year-old agreement under which off-the-cuff comments inadvertently taped are considered off-the-record.

Food Stamps Can Buy Almost Anything

ORLANDO (UPI) — Widespread abuse has established food stamps as a black market currency that can buy everything from television sets to funerals.

"I can't think of anything you can't buy for food stamps," said Billy Davis, a director with the state auditor's office in Tallahassee.

Food stamps, issued by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, are intended for use by low-income families to purchase meat, bread, vegetables and other basic foodstuffs. But Rick Beseler, a state food stamp fraud investigator, said the coupons have become a favorite tool of criminals who obtain them illegally and exchange them for money, goods and services.

"The corruption just permeates every facet of the community," said Beseler, whose agency has arrested food stamp office workers, grocery owners, a mailman and car salesmen on charges of misusing food stamps. "These are people who are making money at the expense of the poor and downtrodden."

In Orlando, police Lt. Duane McGray said undercover agents traded $18,000 in food stamps for stolen goods during a 33-day investigation. The stamps are readily accepted as an underworld currency and often are sold illegally for 30 cents to 80 cents on the dollar, McGray said.

In one case, a funeral director offered to bury a man for $440 worth of food stamps, Davis said.

All food stamps eventually are redeemed at certified groceries and therein lies a main source of the problem. Few clerks check for food-stamp IDs, allowing nearly anyone to pass a coupon, fraud experts said.

Inmates Earn Time, Satisfaction In Work Program

PALATKA (UPI) — Putnam County prisoners are earning earlier release and the satisfaction of fresh air and "constructive" work in an inmate labor program that's saving county taxpayers about $65,000 a year.

Sheriff Walt Pellicer, who originated the program earlier this year, said it also has benefited prisoner morale by giving convicts something better to do than sit in a jail cell.

"This is giving them a chance to feel like they're doing something constructive," he said.

The program was born in March after Pellicer sent a truckload of volunteer inmates to clean up the site of a popular spring south of Interlachen. The excursion's success prompted Pellicer to ask the county commission for a formalized program, which it approved.

"It was just good business," said Charles Baird, chairman of the commission's finance committee. "It helped the taxpayers because we couldn't afford to hire outside people for those jobs."

The commission hired a full-time deputy to operate the work program, which allows inmates to earn 15 days off their sentences for 30 days of work. The first six-man crew of inmates is expected to save Putnam County $65,000 a year in labor costs, said Barbara Vegara of the county road department.

The convicts have cleaned out ditches and culverts, picked up trash around county greenbox sites, cleaned boat ramps and planted grass. The crew now is cleaning sidewalks and gutters, and next will cut down about 100 freeze-killed pine trees.

"They're doing jobs that we don't have the manpower to do," Ms. Vegara said. "In some cases they're doing work we'd have to hire contractors to handle."

Crew members have been well-behaved thus far, said Russ Heisler, the officer hired to oversee the group.

"They're all jail trustees who have been carefully screened," he said. "I carry a gun but I've only used it to kill about 25 snakes. We never have any trouble. They seem to enjoy getting out of the jail into the fresh air."

Commissioners plan to authorize funds for a second crew in the next few weeks.

'Commandos' Stage Assault On Cars At Mall

Eight Apopka "commandos" dressed in camouflage clothing invaded the parking lot of the Interstate Mall, state Road 436, Altamonte Springs, Sunday, hopped from their flatbed truck and jumped on the roofs and hoods of several cars.

Combined damage to two of the vehicles involved is estimated at $450, police said.

As the eight worked their way from the south to the north end of the lot, they entered a Jeep owned by William C. Elliott, 21, of 121 Burns Ave., Longwood, and stole $650 worth of items, police report.

An off-duty Altamonte Springs policeman working as a security guard spotted the action and called for backup officers. When the patrol cars arrived, the "commandos" fled, but were captured near the mall on North Lake Boulevard at about 1 a.m.

The eight, who have not given police a reason for the attack, were charged with burglary and criminal mischief. Four boys, 12, 13, 14, and 17 years old were turned over to juvenile authorities and the others were booked into the Seminole County jail.

Robin Wayne Conaster, 18, of 320 Dorian Road; Fredrick Anderson, 18, of 1762 Daffodil

Ave.; Marvin Lee Wacaser, 19, of 401 Ponkan Road, and George William Barnes, 19, of 903B S. Orange Blossom Trail, were being held in lieu of $5,000 bond each.

PLANE GUTTED

A plane owned by a Venezuelan company and kept at the Sanford airport had most of its instrumentation stolen.

According to a Sanford police report, someone entered hangar #4 between Aug. 3 and 6 removed the gauges, radios and other equipment from a Cessna aircraft. The thief also removed two three-blade propellers from a storeroom in the hangar.

The stolen material was valued between $10,000 and $12,000.

Albert A. Silva, manager of the hanger for Ciaca Co., said he did not know what company owned the aircraft.

The theft was reported Friday.

RAPES REPORTED

Two women in unrelated incidents told sheriff's deputies they were raped in Seminole County by men who offered them a ride.

A 27-year-old Orlando woman said she was picked up by a man in Orlando and driven to a wooded area near Oviedo where she was raped around 2 a.m. Sunday. She was treated at Central Florida Regional Hospital, Sanford, and released.

In the other case, a 30-year-old Sanford woman reported that she was raped for a third time by a man who offered her a ride home, but took her to a wooded area and raped her instead. The woman named a suspect, but told deputies she wouldn't press charges and "would handle the case herself."

DUI ARRESTS

The following persons have been arrested in Seminole County on a charge of driving under the influence:

—Victor J. Christiansen, 25, of Deltona, was arrested at 3:34 a.m. Monday after his car was involved in an accident on U.S. Highway 17-92, Casselberry.

—Larry G. Bryant, 28, 2443 Sanford Ave., Sanford, at 11:35 p.m. Sunday after his car was involved in an accident on U.S. Highway 17-92, in Sanford.

ing the driver with grand theft after a computer check showed the vehicle was stolen.

The officer also determined that the suspect had four tires taken from a Shell service station on U.S. Highway 17-92, Casselberry. The suspect attracted the lawman's attention when he drove away from the station without turning on his car's lights, a police report said.

A man tentatively identified as James Johnson, 33, of Orlando, was arrested on state Road 15, Casselberry, and was jailed at 6:14 a.m. Thursday. He was being held in lieu of $500 bond, and jail officials had not confirmed today if the name he gave police is his true identity.

BURGLARIES AND THEFTS

In separate incidents, two Sanford residents reported that someone stole their bicycles. Katherine Dodson, 30, of 1615 Terrace Drive, said her $90 white Huffy bike was taken from her home between 11 p.m. Wednesday and 9 p.m. Thursday.

Mike Doran, 16, told police he was at Burger King, 2936 Orlando Drive, between 4 and 8 p.m. Thursday when someone stole his black Schwinn bike. He said whoever took the $100 bike did so by removing a security chain.

James D. Browning, of Dunwoody, Ga., told police that someone entered his 1982 Chevy van while it was parked at the Holiday Inn, 530 N. Palmetto Ave., Sanford, and removed an undetermined amount of fishing equipment. He said the equipment included rigging for fresh and saltwater fishing.

About $1,000 worth of stereo equipment, along with a $400 rifle, a $343 radio scanner, a $50 air gun and a $145 shotgun were stolen from the home of Karl W. Crosby, 54, of 1530 Marvin St., Longwood. The thief entered the home through an unlocked, rear sliding glass door Wednesday or Thursday, deputies report.

A thief took a $420 air conditioner from a window in the home of Clarence Peter Argentine, 61, of 72 Winter Park Drive, Casselberry. The burglar entered the house through a front window between Sunday and Thursday, according to a sheriff's report.

A stereo set valued at $1,500 was stolen from the home of Sandra Jean McKee, 39, of 1430 Pelican Bay Trail, Winter Park. Deputies report the theft occurred Wednesday or Thursday.

FIRE CALLS

The Sanford Fire Department responded to the following calls:

Thursday

—1:18 p.m., 401 E. 1st St., rescue. A 50-year-old man cut his left hand while working on either a washing machine or a dryer. After the wound was bandaged, he refused transportation.

—2:51 p.m., 1108 Holly Ave., rescue. A 12-year-old boy cut his right foot on broken glass. The wound was bandaged and he refused transportation.

—2:54 p.m., 309 Park Ave., rescue. A woman, age unknown, fell down and did not want any help.

—4:21 p.m., 8th St. and Persimmon Ave., fire. A brush fire was extinguished.

—8:23 p.m., 612 Oak Ave., fire. Smoke scare. No fire was located at the address given.

The Greatest Robbery Of All

The greatest robbery of the century was not staged by gunmen but by big spenders in Congress and inflationists who reduced the value of the dollar by two-thirds between 1960 and 1980.

Mondale Democrats accuse Reagan Republicans of trying to balance the federal budget on the backs of the poor.

This is some talk coming from politicians whose devil-may-care fiscal policies have been picking the pockets of the poor and middle-income earners shamelessly for two decades.

By 1980, raging inflation fired up by reckless spending and money policies under Democrat-controlled Congresses, had cut the purchasing power of the 1960 dollar to 35 cents.

That means that just to stay even, an individual's or family's income had almost to triple during those two decades.

A pensioner with an income of $6,000 a year, which was modest but not impossible in 1960, would be getting only a bit more than $2,000 a year in 1980.

A wage earner getting $9,000 a year would have to make nearly $27,000 a year by 1980 to stay even and an income of $20,000 a year would have to rise to $60,000.

Average monthly Social Security payments rose from $68.23 in 1960 to $334 in 1980. But in constant dollars, the 1980 average monthly payment, taking inflation into account, was only $95.42.

As for wage earners moving into higher-income tax brackets — the notorious "bracket creep" — consumed a growing portion of their incomes.

For two decades the big spenders and inflationists in Congress ignored the growing rumble of discontent from Americans who were being robbed by trillions of dollars by manipulation of the economy.

Then the tax revolts of the late 1970s and the anger of the millions of Americans, who were fed up with inflationary robbery, led to the election of Ronald Reagan.

The inflationists feel the same way about him that holdup men do when they are interrupted by the sheriff.

Leave It Alone

The Federal Communications Commission (FCC) recently took an important step toward deregulation of radio and television station ownership when it relaxed restrictions on the number of broadcast licenses a company can hold.

For more than 30 years, the FCC has allowed broadcasters to own no more than seven AM radio stations, seven FM radio stations, and seven television stations. The number was arrived at arbitrarily but had remained unchanged since 1953. The new FCC action will change the so-called 7-7-7 rule to a 12-12-12 rule effective later this year, and will lift the ownership limits entirely in 1990.

The purpose of the rule was to assure diversity in the broadcast marketplace. That diversity certainly exists today, although technological advances and free-market forces had more to do with the rapid growth of television and radio broadcasting than did the FCC's limited-ownership rule. With 1,169 television stations and more than 9,000 radio stations on the air nationwide today, there is no reason to limit ownership to seven, 12 or any other number of stations.

The commission correctly concluded that the change in the ownership limit poses "no threat to the diversity of independent viewpoints in the information and entertainment markets." Indeed, elimination of the limit could result in the creation of some new, small television networks to compete with ABC, CBS, and NBC. The FCC's ruling has but a single flaw — the decision to wait until 1990 to eliminate the ownership regulations entirely.

BERRY'S WORLD

By Diane Petryk

The 1940s movie I Was A Male War Bride with Cary Grant and Ann Sheridan, portrayed, albeit hilariously, the red tape and poignant upheavals of the World War II war bride.

Mr. Grant, you may recall, played a Frenchman married to an American female military officer. To get to the U.S. to join his wife, he was forced to become a "war bride" to accommodate the paperwork of the American military establishment. Along with it, he was made to suffer the same indignities, fight the same bureaucracy and allow himself to be herded about on an ocean liner like the hundreds of thousands of women traveling to the U.S. after marrying American soldiers. Somehow, women were supposed to tolerate all the nonsense in stride; it was funny when it happened to a man.

In the movie, of course, all ends happily.

In real life it wasn't necessarily so. While many war brides remained happily married to the men who brought them to America, many others found they had to face life alone in a foreign country after a divorce, according to California researchers Barbara Scibetta and Elfrida Shukert.

Both daughters of war brides, Scibetta and Shukert, are preparing a book designed to give a comprehensive study of the war bride phenomena.

The authors' goal is to locate at least 2,000 war brides of the decade between 1942 and 1952 to obtain their stories.

In the meantime, a newsletter, War Brides Revisited, help Scibetta and Shukert maintain contact with those war brides they have already discovered. When the project is completed in about a year they plan to send out a master list of participants, except those who do not wish their names included, to help war brides get in touch with others from their native countries. They said they hope this will establish contact between women whose assimilation into American culture has isolated them from their native heritage.

Perhaps you were a war bride or know of one who has an interesting story to tell. The authors may be contacted through War Brides Revisited, 1101 Rainier Ave., Pacifica, CA 94044, or telephone number (415) 359-4192.

More than 500 women have already contributed to the research and the authors say in early 1985 they will host a reunion for all war brides aboard the ocean liner Queen Mary, which is permanently docked in Long Beach, CA, and serves as a Hyatt Hotel. Many brides journeyed to their new homeland aboard liberty ships and ocean liners, including the Queen Mary and Queen Elizabeth.

And, oh yes, Scibetta and Shukert would also like to talk to all of you who walked in Cary Grant's shoes. Only the authors are referring to you as "war grooms."

WILLIAM RUSHER Difficult Decisions To Make

NEW YORK (NEA) — The recent spate of news stories about frozen embryos, frozen sperm, in vitro fertilization, etc. is fair warning that the human race has some new and difficult decisions to make in this area. There is no point in pretending that the problem will go away: The genie is out of the bottle for good. Modern science has taught us new ways of manipulating the fundamental processes whereby human life is created, and all that remains for us to decide is how mankind shall respond to these new circumstances.

The response is best discussed under three headings: the reaction of others, our own conduct and public policy. The first of these is the easiest to dispose of, if only because we have so little control over it. There are plenty of people all over the world who, now that these new techniques are available, will insist on using them. The possible uses are almost endless, but most of them have to do with variations on the theme of parenthood: enabling the hitherto childless to have children; permitting a broader choice of "desirable" genetic traits; postponing, or even avoiding altogether, the burden of raising one's offspring; etc., etc.

To take just one example, it may henceforth be possible for a prosperous and selfish young couple to contribute genetic materials during their prime reproductive years, but postpone uniting these to create an embryo for an extended length of time — thereby assuring the survival of their own genetic strains without cluttering up their busy lives with children.

So much for what others predictably will do. But how ought a conscientiously moral man or woman responsively to these new possibilities? There are at least two moral questions involved here: Is the creation of a potential new human life by these methods ever permissible? And, whether it is or not, what ought our attitude be toward such life, once it is in fact created?

The simplest answer to the first question would undoubtedly be a flat negative: Procreation must be accomplished only in what John Houseman might approvingly call "the old-fashioned way." But, for one thing, this would cruelly condemn to childlessness many married couples who desperately want children and are prevented from having them only by virtue of some relatively minor physical defect.

The answer to the second question is almost certainly predictable, as far as many orthodox religions are concerned: Life, however created, is sacred.

Hatfield Contradicted In Probe

WASHINGTON — Witnesses have given the Senate Ethics Committee sworn statements that contradict Sen. Mark Hatfield's account of his dealings with Greek arms merchant Basil Tsakos.

After I raised questions about the Tsakos-Hatfield relationship, the Oregon Republican asked the committee to investigate the matter to clear his name. His request came after the committee had already taken affidavits from two former employees of Tsakos.

According to the sworn statements, which have been obtained by my associate Corky Johnson, the ex-employees believe Hatfield did not give the press an accurate account of the Tsakos affair.

They dispute, for example, Hatfield's explanation of the money that Tsakos paid to the senator's wife, Antoinette. They say that payments totaling about $40,000 were made to Mrs. Hatfield during the same two-year period that the

Resolution To Recall

An anniversary of considerable current significance slipped by almost unmarked the other day.

It is difficult to say precisely when the Vietnam War — that is, the American war in Vietnam — began. Some would say with John F. Kennedy's dispatch of advisers to the South Vietnamese forces in 1961. Others say much earlier, with the Eisenhower administration's backing of the eventually beaten French.

But there is no question that the drift toward active involvement of U.S. forces became irreversible — at least for another 10 years — with the events of the first days of August 1964.

To refresh your memory, on Aug. 2, 1964, it was reported that a U.S. destroyer had been attacked by North Vietnamese PT boats. On Aug. 4, Americans were told there had been another run-in.

On Aug. 7, Lyndon Johnson asked and got from Congress a joint resolution authorizing him "to take all necessary measures" to prevent attacks on U.S. forces.

That was the Tonkin Gulf Resolution, the sole constitutional basis for the waging of a war that lasted longer than any other the nation has fought and the disastrous consequences of which are still with us.

The resolution did not come out of nowhere. For that matter, we now know that it did not even come out of the Tonkin Gulf.

As early as March 1964, the Johnson White House was preparing to ask Congress for precisely the war powers it got five months later. Stanley Karnow reports in his meticulously documented "Vietnam: A History." The precedent, it was thought then, might be the 1955 resolution authorizing President Eisenhower to respond to Communist Chinese aggression in the Formosa Strait.

By June, a rough draft was ready. Under the circumstances, the clashes in the gulf were at the least fortuitous, if not considerably more. That is to say, manufactured.

There is serious question as to who fired first in the first encounter. Even more questionable is whether the second occurred at all. Subsequent evidence strongly suggests a radar malfunction, signaling oncoming craft that didn't exist.

There were few questions then, however. Johnson got his resolution on overwhelming votes in both houses. And why not? We could not duck a direct challenge, and we had the word of the president that there had been one.

Many — eventually the majority — in Congress came to rue that vote. In 1971 Congress repealed the resolution and two years later, the experience shaped the War Powers Act, which prohibits the president from committing U.S. forces abroad for longer than 60 days without congressional approval.

There wasn't much to the Tonkin Gulf Resolution, a few hundred words that, following an introduction invoking the noble American purpose of promoting peace and security in Southeast Asia, declared that "the Congress approves and supports the determination of the president, as commander in chief, to take all necessary measures to repel any armed attack against the forces of the United States and to prevent further aggression."

There you have it — the legal justification for a misconceived and ultimately failed war that, far from being in pursuit of the nation's true interests, ran precisely counter to them.

Ford Studied Woman VP

By Ira R. Allen

United Press International
The excitement sparked by the selection of Geraldine Ferraro as the Democratic vice presidential nominee might have been there for the GOP eight years ago and, looking back, might have kept Jerry Ford in the White House.

Ironically, President Reagan, who is fond of telling female audiences that when a woman is elected president she will be a Republican, may have had a bit to do with the fact that in 1976 a prominent GOP woman was as close as could be to being nominated to run with Ford in a campaign he lost narrowly to Jimmy Carter.

Ford had squeaked out a convention victory over Reagan and looked around for a suitable running mate. His eventual choice, Sen. Robert Dole of Kansas, is blamed by some strategists — although post-election polls do not bear them out — for damaging the ticket with his rash campaign remarks.

Dole was a last-minute choice among four finalists in the hotel room where Ford and his top advisers met late into the night and again in the early morning following his own slim convention victory.

The other three were William Ruckelshaus, former EPA administrator and former deputy attorney general, Sen. Howard Baker of Tennessee, and ambassador to Great Britain Anne Armstrong.

Ruckelshaus was ruled out because he had no national stature and was unproven as a campaigner. Baker was scratched because Carter was a shoo-in to carry Tennessee. Dole, who few were excited about, had Washington experience, a reputation as a sharp campaigner and a good bet to win the farm states that Ford had alienated with his grain embargo.

But what of Mrs. Armstrong? She was a rancher from the make-or-break state of Texas, a leader of the Republican National Committee, a diplomat and a woman. Ford was behind by as much as 33 points in the polls, and a dramatic move such as naming a woman could have given the ticket the pizzazz it needed.

It also could have given the ticket the state of Texas, which, of course, went Democratic and helped Carter nail down his Electoral College victory.

But the Ford advisers could not agree on anyone through the night, and Ford had met with the defeated Reagan who, according to some sources, put in a good word for Dole.

senator was helping Tsakos promote a $15 billion trans-African pipeline project.

The senator contended that the money was a "finder's fee" for his wife's work in locating a Watergate condominium for Tsakos and a "professional fee" for her consultation on remodeling the apartment.

Since Tsakos' former employees testified before the Ethics Committee, Hatfield has changed his story. He now says the money was paid to his wife for her showing Tsakos properties he did not buy, and not for the Watergate property he did buy.

Here are other details from the sworn statement:

— Tsakos' former personal assistant, Margaret Stocker, said that she was the one who had supervised the Watergate apartment renovation and that Mrs. Hatfield was not involved. "Mrs. Hatfield was never anywhere near the apartment when it was redone," the affidavit states. It was inconceivable that Mrs.

Hatfield could have been consulted, Ms. Stocker claims, because of the "totally Greek style" of the renovation. "He was making a Greek temple out of it," the affidavit says.

According to Ms. Stocker, Tsakos first hired the Lascaris Design Group, run by a Greek, Climis Lascaris. Many of the furnishings were imported from Greece, she adds.

Fran Cowan, the decorator from Lascaris who handled the job, also told my associate that Mrs. Hatfield was not involved.

When Lascaris dropped out over a money dispute, the Tsakos assistant recounts, Greek architect Jason Rizos was brought over from Athens to continue the work. During that time, Ms. Stocker swears, she hired all the workers and was with Mrs. Tsakos when the drapes and carpets were selected. She also kept the books and wrote the checks for the renovation. She issued no funds to Mrs. Hatfield, Ms. Stocker says, and the senator's wife was never mentioned.

— Ms. Stocker also attests that she wrote a check for $5,000 to Susan Hurley, for setting up the apartment purchase. Ms. Hurley told my associate it was she, not Mrs. Hatfield, who introduced the Tsakos to the apartment sellers, David and Sarah Yerkes.

— Two of the checks delivered to Mrs. Hatfield were written to "the bearer" and recorded as paid to "A.H.," Ms. Stocker said. Tsakos often used initials or "code names" in recording checks whose purpose he did not want to disclose, she said.

— Hatfield has said he didn't know about Tsakos' attempt to sell attack helicopters to Iran from Tsakos' Washington office. But Ms. Mangan says she delivered a telex from Tsakos' Athens office detailing the Iranian deal to Hatfield's Georgetown home last April, with a note from her warning the senator that it was only "the tip of the iceberg."

IN BRIEF

Train Jumps Tracks; 3 Dead, 57 Injured

HEILBRONN, West Germany (UPI) — Six cars of a nine-car express train jumped the track and plunged down an embankment, killing at least three people and injuring 57, police said today.

A spokesman said six of the nine cars in the Stuttgart-to-Hamburg sleeper express left the rails late Sunday night for unknown reasons just outside Heilbronn.

Authorities said three people were dead and 57 were injured, 22 of them seriously. Around 90 people escaped unhurt from the wreck.

Scores of firemen, ambulancemen and emergency doctors rushed to the scene to free trapped passengers from the wreckage, working by searchlight through the night.

Police estimated total damage to the train at $1.6 million.

U.S. Blamed In Mining Plot

CAIRO, Egypt (UPI) — Iran has accused Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak of plotting with the United States to implicate the Tehran government in mine explosions that have damaged 17 ships in the Red Sea.

Egypt has said it was "70 percent" certain the mines were planted in the Red Sea and Gulf of Suez by Iran and Libya. The Cairo government has threatened to close the Suez Canal to the ships of any nation that is proven responsible.

In a statement broadcast on Tripoli radio, Libya denied responsibility for the explosions and blamed them on an "imperialist-Zionist conspiracy."

Minesweepers from the United States, Britain and France moved closer to the region to search for the mines that have damaged 17 ships since July 27. The taskforce was expected to reach the Red Sea on Wednesday.

Trawler Sinks, At Least 21 Dead

LAS PALMAS, Spain (UPI) — At least 21 men died when a Spanish sardine trawler in heavy winds sank 110 miles northwest of the Moroccan coast with a crew of at least 28, officials said today.

One known survivor clinging to a floatline was picked up by a passing boat, officials said. Three other crewmen he had tied to the line were all dead after more than 60 hours in the water, and the bodies of another 18 were seen snared in drifting nets and rigging.

The survivor, first officer Jose Martin Lozano, 29, was taken by helicopter to a Las Palmas hospital and was reported in stable condition Monday.

Martin said the 120-ton cargo had shifted without warning, causing the trawler to list and then go down. He said he heard two explosions from the engine room.

Radical Rabbi Sparks Protest

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Thousands of demonstrators, some of them humming the Israeli national anthem, gathered peacefully today to protest the swearing-in of militant Rabbi Meir Kahane to the Israeli parliament.

The oath of office for Kahane, an American-born rabbi who wants to expel all Arabs from Israel, overshadowed the convening of the 11th Knesset.

There have been calls for Knesset members to walk out of the chamber in protest when Kahane, 52, is sworn into the body that he has vowed to "drive crazy."

Kahane, whose Kach (This) Party won one Knesset seat in its third attempt, has promised to use his parliamentary immunity to press his anti-Arab campaign.

Horsing Around

Seminole County Commission Chairman Sandra Glenn, leading a troop of local dignitaries mounted on stick horses, helped raise funds for Muscular Dystrophy Saturday at the Sanford McDonalds restaurant. Farley the Fish watches as Mrs. Glenn aims a dart at a balloon, hoping to beat seven other riders to the obstacle course finish line where the charity ended up the winner with a $10 donation from McDonalds for each contestant's try. During this week, you can add to the $80 total by making a donation at MacDonaldis to back your favorite rider.

Officials Admit Army Weaknesses

HAMBURG, West Germany (UPI) — The defense ministry, embarrassed by a report that U.S.-led NATO forces would need to resort to nuclear defenses during a sustained conventional attack by the East bloc, admits weaknesses in the West German army, a report said today.

The controversy over readiness of the West German forces was raised by an in-depth report in the magazine Der Spiegel. The article, based on what the Hamburg-based publication said was a recent report to the West German Defense Ministry by Army Inspector Gen. Wolfgang Altenburg, said NATO forces would be hard-pressed to withstand a Warsaw Pact onslaught on West Germany.

Peter Kurt Wuerzbach, State Secretary at the Defense Ministry, said in a short interview to be published in today's edition of the Bild Zeitung newspaper that there were longstanding weaknesses in many of the areas mentioned in the Spiegel report and also in anti-aircraft defenses.

He denied, however, that the weaknesses rendered West German forces unfit to fight a conventional engagement.

Wuerzbach earlier described Der Spiegel's report Sunday as "half-truths".

The Der Spiegel report said "grave weaknesses" would force NATO to abandon conventional defense and resort speedily to nuclear escalation.

"It would be critical from the seventh day onwards," the magazine quoted Altenburg — the nation's senior military officer — as telling the ministry.

The magazine said Altenburg branded reconnaissance and command systems old-fashioned and said the army lacked drones, modern radar equipment and sufficient stocks of ammunition.

He said many communications systems were defunct and that aircraft, warships, artillery and armor could not be coordinated. Ammunition stocks would only last for a "few" of the 30 days recommended by NATO.

Altenburg reportedly also said that West German radar was incapable of neutralizing enemy radar systems and wrecking the communications of an aggressor.

Spiegel said Altenburg — whose rank is equivalent to chief of staff — told Defense Minister Manfred Woerner in the report that these deficiencies would leave the allies without the ability to hold out against a Warsaw Pact attack for the 10 days needed under contingency plans for the United States to send reinforcements to Europe.

"In this situation, the alliance would have to fall back on very early measures of nuclear escalation," Altenburg was reported as saying.

"We must be more independent of the use of atomic weapons," Altenburg said.

Olympic Hopes And Fears Shift To Seoul

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Olympic flag has passed from the city of Los Angeles to the city of Seoul, and with it the fears of another political boycott and the hopes of a rejuvenation of the Olympic movement.

The last three Summer Games — 1976 in Montreal, 1980 in Moscow and now Los Angeles — suffered political boycotts and Olympic leaders have warned that another could do irreparable harm to the Games.

South Korea was a controversial and risky choice for the 1988 Games because it has no diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union and China, which this year sent a full team to the Summer Olympics for the first time.

The Soviets, who led the East Bloc Boycott of the Los Angeles Games saying they feared for the safety of their athletes, have already voiced their concern over Seoul.

However, the two Soviet delegates were among the 83 IOC members who met in Los Angeles and pledged their full support to the 1988 Seoul Olympics. Juan Antonio Samaranch, president of the International Olympic Committee, stressed there was no possibility of reversing the decision to hold the Games in the South Korean capital.

But the boycott fear lives on and the IOC has called an extraordinary two-day session at its Lausanne, Switzerland headquarters Dec. 1 in an effort to find a solution to the boycott problem.

Meanwhile Seoul, its confidence boosted by the full backing of the IOC, has been going ahead at full steam with its preparations.

The Seoul Olympic Organizing Committee sees itself in the role of Olympic peacemakers and chose "Harmony and Progress" as the 1988 Olympic motto.

The Seoul organizers estimate it will cost $3 billion to stage the Games, compared to $500 million for the privately-financed Los Angeles Games. The South Koreans estimated 33 competition venues would be needed, 17 of which were already in existence.

U.S. Accused Of Widespread Spying

MOSCOW (UPI) — U.S. diplomats, military attaches, journalists, students and tourists are engaged in widespread spying against the Soviet Union, two national newspapers charged in Sunday's editions.

The Sovetskaya Rossia (Soviet Russia) and Trud (Labor) newspapers, as well as the Moscow publication Moskovskaya Pravda (Moscow Truth), printed lengthy articles devoted to alleged U.S. intelligence activity.

Gary, Ind: Better Suited For Steel Than Appeal

"You're in the Army now. You're not behind the plow. You'll never get rich. Just digging a ditch. You're in the Army now."

When the Altamonte Springs Senior League All-Stars qualified for the World Series Friday night, there were somewhat in the dark as to what to expect when they heard the next destination was Gary, Ind.

These 14- and 15-year-olds have led a dream existence since beginning the tournament trail with the sectional in Niceville and the state at Fort Myers. Accommodations have usually been first rate.

Well boys, welcome to Gary, Ind. — better suited for steel than appeal.

"This place is a hell hole," said assistant coach and trouble-shooter Neal Harris, Sr. "They've got the kids lodged in a barracks sleeping on a bunch of cots. It's like the Army. It's a real bad situation."

Such is the price of success. Altamonte qualified for its plight with three convincing victories in the Southern Region at Coral Springs, the Seniors buried Alabama, Coral Springs and Coral Springs by a total count of 40-1.

Maybe the Gary Senior League World Series contingent thought with that offensive explosion, the team was better-suited to an artillery atmosphere.

Whatever, Harris said the cots are lined against the walls for the 14 players manager Gene Letterio and coach Jerry Lisle. "They're got one latrine between the two buildings," continued Harris. "In the latrine, there are four toilets, of which only two are working."

Sounds like it's time to call in Gomer Pyle. It's doubtful that even the Marines could save this situation.

While Harris tries to rectify the situation, Letterio and Lisle are fittingly plotting strategy for the first game which is today at 12 noon against Seaford, Del., the East U.S.A. representative. Altamonte represents the South in this eight-team, double-elimination tournament.

Seaford was also a qualifier in last year's 13-year-old tournament at Taylor, Mich. Altamonte's 13-year-olds placed second in that competition. For Seaford, it marks the third straight year of World appearances.

Which means the Delaware town has an easy Southern Region. "Or it's building a powerhouse," pointed out Harris.

Letterio was all set to pitch right-hander Mike Schmit, but Harris said he is wavering now, and may pitch Neal Harris, Jr. Schmit teamed with Anthony Laasak to record all of the wins in the Region. They pitched 18 innings and have up just 11 hits.

If Altamonte wins today, it will play Wednesday at 7:45 p.m. against the winner of the Midland, Mich. (Central) United Kingdom game, which is the 7:45 p.m. game today.

On Tuesday, Monday's losers play at 12 noon. Canada and Walnut Creek, Cal. (West) battled at 2:30 p.m. Ping Tung, Taiwan (Far East) and the Dominican Republic (Latin America) play at 7:45 p.m.

An Altamonte victory on Monday and Wednesday would put the Seniors into Thursday's winners' bracket final.

Haven's 3-Run Blast Drops Puerto Rico — Butterfield's 1-Hitter Silences North

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

FORT LAUDERDALE — When Dean Hazen looked at the first fastball from Puerto Rico's Edgardo Diaz for a strike, there were a few murmurs from the crowd. When he took the second one right down the pipe, the grumbings grew louder.

What was he waiting for, the fans wanted to know?

One pitch later, the 6-5 200-pound first baseman showed them.

"When he got two strikes, he (Diaz) started jumping up and down," Hazen said about Puerto Rico's Pascual Perez look-alike hurler. "When he did that before, he threw a fastball the next pitch."

The fastball came and then went. Hazen launched a deep drive to right-center field for a dramatic three-run homer to propel the District 14 South All-Stars to a 4-2 victory over Puerto Rico in the Little League Big League World Series at Floyd Hull Stadium Sunday.

"I didn't know what he was waiting for," said South manager Howard Mable. "Especially when it got to 0-2, but Hazen sure made up for it on the third fastball."

Haven's blast, which came with two out in the sixth inning, erased a 2-1 lead and put the South in great shape in the double-elimination 11-team tournament. David Butterfield tossed a one-hit shutout Saturday against the North (Salisbury, Md.) in the opening game.

The South, a collection of Central Florida (Oviedo, Lake Mary, Winter Garden, Eustis, Mount Dora and Maitland) All-Stars plays the West tonight at 7:30. The West nipped Mexico, 5-4, Sunday. In the winners' bracket games, the Far East (Republic of China) hammered Europe (Germany), 17-0, and host Broward County outlasted Canada, 9-8. A victory by the South tonight will pit it against the Broward-Far East winner Thursday at 7:30 p.m. A win Thursday would put the South in Saturday's championship game at 5 p.m.

"We're in real good shape now," agreed Mable about the 2-0 start. "Monday's game will be a big one, but Sunday's win was important, too. Our pitchers did the job and Hazen came through with the clutch hit."

Oviedo's Darrin Reichle started on the mound for the South and lasted three innings before his arm tightened up. Reichle, who yielded just two hits, gave up a leadoff double to Nelson Morales in the fourth before pitching coach Max Westgate pulled him.

Baseball

The move didn't look very good one pitch later, though. Ferdinand Vega drilled reliever Jeff Lowery's first offering over the left-center field fence to push Puerto Rico on top. "Lowery did a good job after that first pitch," said Mable. "He just got that first one up a little bit."

The blast erased a 1-0 South lead which came about when Todd Maufroy, who will play at Stetson this fall, crushed a solo homer while leading off the second inning.

Maufroy's homer was Diaz' only mistake, nevertheless, through five frames. The hard-throwing right-hander struck out six of the first seven hitters. Maitland's Paul Esposito lead off the third with a single and Todd Auckland following with a base hit to right. Oviedo's Jeff Greene moved up both runners with a two-strike sacrifice, but Diaz whiffed Dwayne McLeod to get out of the jam.

After Lowery gave up his gopher ball, he shut down Puerto Rico without a hit in the fifth and sixth innings, retiring eight in a row at one stretch.

In the bottom of the sixth, the irrepressible Auckland singled to left to ignite the winning rally. Greene again sacrificed to moved him to second. McLeod was next and he walked on four pitches. The fourth ball was wild and Auckland raced to third base.

McLeod then stole second with a nice fadeaway slide as Auckland held onto third base. Maufroy, though, took a called third strike and it was up to Hazen to save the South.

The big West Orange High product took a strike at the knees on the first pitch. The second pitch then caught the corner. "I was looking for something up in the strike zone," said Hazen. "He (Diaz) was throwing in the high 80's. I knew I just needed one good pitch."

Hazen got it as Diaz uncorked a letter-high fastball, and there was no doubt about where it would land. The towering 380-foot blast cleared the bleachers in right-center field to put the South on top, 4-2.

Puerto Rico, however, wasn't dead yet. With one out, Lowery walked Jose Ortiz and Diaz drilled a base hit to left field. Westgate then summoned Auckland, who has been the South's most versatile player this summer.

Auckland, who was 9-0 at Brevard

Community College, induced leadoff hitter Roberto Arias to ground out to Hazen which moved the runners to second and third with two out.

The next hitter Felix Burriel had two of Puerto Rico's five hits. Auckland's first pitch missed the strike zone. Burriel then picked on the second offering and crunched a liner back at Auckland. Auckland literally threw his body at the ball and it glanced off his thigh toward shortstop Charles Brookes.

Brookes charged the ball, picked it up with his barehand and gunned out Burriel at first base to complete a sensational game-ending play.

"Just a super play," said Mable about his Mount Dora shortstop. "That was a gutsy move by Auckland, too. If he doesn't slow down the ball, it goes into center field and it's a tie game."

Although Oviedo had its hands full with Puerto Rico, Saturday's victory over the North came much easier. Butterfield, who pitched at Oviedo before being redshirted his first year at the University of Central Florida last spring, was near perfect against Salisbury.

The crafty left-hander struck out eight and walked three. Butterfield came within one out of a no-hitter as Henry Chavez slipped a groundball past him for a single in the final inning.

"I wasn't looking up when he hit the ball," said Butterfield. "Then I reached for the ball with my wrong (bare) hand."

After Butterfield retired the first six hitters, he walked the leadoff batter in the third, but a slick Brookes-to-Auckland-to-Hazen twin killing erased the threat. Again in the sixth, the fine-fielding trio doused another possible threat with a double play.

The South pushed across three runs in the third and added one each in the fifth and sixth innings. With two out in the third, Greene slapped a base hit and stole second. McLeod then reached on an error by the shortstop and Greene scrambled all the way in for a 1-0 lead.

McLeod moved to second base on a wild pitch, then scored when the third baseman threw away a groundball by Maufroy. Maufroy moved to third on a pair of wild pitches and scored when Lake Mary's Kevin Wick reached on an infield single for a 3-0.

Wick, who played his prep ball at Orlando Luther, contributed an RBI fielder's choice to score McLeod with the fifth-inning run. In the sixth, Brookes walked and scored when Greene delivered a clutch, two-out single up the middle for the final 5-0 count.

Hall Of Fame Recognizes Speed, Inducts Aparicio

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (UPI) —

A firm step toward emphasizing defense and speed rather than power in baseball was achieved Sunday with the induction into the Hall of Fame of former shortstops Luis Aparicio and Harold "Flea" Reese.

Defense and speed were noted repeatedly by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, who presided over the induction ceremonies on the porch of the library alongside the baseball museum and Hall of Fame.

Baseball

Harmon Killebrew, whose 573 home runs place him No. 5 on the all-time list, was the only one of the five inductees honored because of power hitting. The other inductees, raising the number of players in the shrine to 183, were Don Drysdale — a pitcher who won 209 games for the Brooklyn and Los Angeles Dodgers — and Rick Ferrell, a catcher for three American League teams from 1928-1947.

Aparicio was praised by Kuhn "for re-introducing speed as a key offensive weapon" as well as for his defensive prowess. Aparicio led the AL in stolen bases in his first nine seasons and led the league in fielding eight times. Kuhn also noted the leadership qualities of Reese, the former Dodger captain, who helped Jackie Robinson break baseball's unwritten color line in 1947.

"When I first came to this country, I had little in my pocket but dreams," said Aparicio, the first native of Venezuela to be elected to the shrine. "But I had the opportunity and the help of my teammates. I just played my best for my team. The Hall of Fame was a far away dream."

"Thirty years after I came to this country I thank you for the opportunity to play this, the greatest game in the world."

Nationals Just 3 Wins From Series

By Chris Flater
Herald Sports Writer

The trail to the Little League Baseball Southern Region Tournament has been a rather smooth one for the Altamonte Major National League All-Stars, but it has not been without obstacles.

Altamonte has won 11 straight games to earn a berth into the Southern Region which starts today at the Al Lang Little League complex in St. Petersburg. Three victories in the Southern Region tourney would give the Nationals a place in the prestigious Little League World Series at Williamsport, Pa.

Altamonte, which drew a first-round bye, will play the winner of today's 2 p.m. game, Georgia or Kentucky, Tuesday at 2 p.m. Other pairings today include Texas-West Virginia at 10 a.m., Arkansas-Louisiana at 12 noon, South Carolina-Mississippi at 4 p.m. and Virginia-North Carolina at 6 p.m. Tennessee and Alabama also received first-round byes in the single-elimination tournament.

One of Altamonte's toughest opponents came at the beginning of the tournament trail. The West Volusia (DeLand) All-Stars, led by Chip Jones, had a very strong team and gave Altamonte all it could handle. In its first tournament game, Altamonte got a brilliant pitching effort from Jimmy Musselwhite as the Nationals shutout West Volusia, 4-0.

Altamonte rolled up its biggest run production in its next game, a 29-1 trouncing of Oviedo. Altamonte then disposed of Maitland, 9-4, and then had to face West Volusia again.

West Volusia got off to an early 1-0 lead, but Musselwhite held tough the rest of the way and Altamonte pulled out a hard-fought 3-1 victory.

"We haven't faced another team as tough as West Volusia," Altamonte pitching coach Greg Ebbert said. "Getting by them was the turning point for us."

After defeating West Volusia for the second time, Altamonte then went up against Rolling Hills in a best 2 of 3 series for the District 14 title.

In the first game, Altamonte lefty Chris Radcliff and Rolling Hills fireballing righthander Noen "Billy" Duncan locked up in a classic pitching battle. Both hurlers tossed nine-inning shut-outs and both struck out 19 hitters.

However, both starters had to give way in the 10th and that opened the floodgates for Altamonte. The Nationals scored five times in the top of the 10th and Jason Varitek held Rolling Hills in check in the bottom of the inning as Altamonte came out of the marathon with a 5-0 victory.

Altamonte came back in the second game and breezed to a 9-0 victory over Rolling Hills for the District 14 championship behind lefty Aaron Iarotola.

That sent Altamonte into the Section I Tournament which was played in Apopka. Altamonte upended Northwest Escambia, 6-2, in the first game, then went up against a tough Dunnellon team in the second and third games.

Altamonte survived the first game against Dunnellon, pulling out a 5-3 win, then came back to sew up the Section I title with a 11-3 victory and a trip to the State Tournament which Altamonte Springs hosted.

The Nationals came through big in the state tourney and defeated St. Petersburg Pay Point twice, 10-4, and 9-3 to win the championship. It was the first ever State Tournament title in the Altamonte Little League Major division.

"I'm so happy for the kids and what they've accomplished so far," Altamonte manager Jerrey Thurston said. "We've worked harder than anybody else and the hard work has paid off."

Thurston hopes Altamonte can continue its winning streak in the Southern Region Tournament as it is single elimination and there is no room for error.

Overlooked Lopes Runs Away With Marathon

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — When everyone talked about the strength of the Olympic men's marathon field, the list of names that followed often did not include Carlos Lopes of Portugal.

But Lopes, known more for his proficiency in the 10,000 meters, left the talented field in the dust with three miles to go Sunday evening and went on to a decisive 35-second victory in the marathon, the climactic event of the 1984 Los Angeles Olympics.

The marathon was included in the dramatic closing ceremonies but Lopes, at 37 one of the oldest entrants in the field, took all the drama out of it by setting a blistering pace over the last six miles of the 26-mile, 385-yard race on a warm, muggy day.

At that point, Lopes, John Treacy of Ireland and Charlie Spedding of Britain broke away from a pack of eight or nine frontrunners. With three miles to go, he left Treacy and Spedding behind. The only question after that was the size of his victory margin.

Lopes was timed in an Olympic record 2 hours, 9 minutes, 21 seconds. Treacy, who currently makes his home in Providence, R.I., and was running in his first marathon, took the silver in 2:09:56, two seconds faster than bronze medalist Spedding.

"The purpose of this race was to win, especially in the United States and with so many other favored opponents," he said. "I was expecting to win the race. I came prepared for any type of climate."

The favored opponents included Rob

Olympics

De Castella of Australia, Toshihiko Seko of Japan and Alberto Salazar of Eugene, Ore. None of them was a factor, although De Castella was with the first-place pack coming up to the 20-mile mark.

"I went to get a drink at 35K (kilometers) and when I looked up, eight or nine of the runners had opened up a 50-meter lead," said De Castella, who finished fifth in 2:11:09. "I feel as though I ran as fast as I could."

The Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum crowd of more than 90,000 gave Lopes, who was completing a marathon for only the second time in four tries, a rousing ovation when he entered the stadium.

The marathon concluded an Olympic track and field competition that was dominated by Americans, who had 40 medals in 40 events, including 16 golds.

Two Americans stood out. Carl Lewis won four gold medals to match the historic achievement of Jesse Owens at the 1936 Berlin Games. He picked up his fourth gold Saturday night when he anchored the U.S. 4 X 100-meter relay team to the only track and field world record of the game, 37.83 seconds.

"Everybody else is trying to say that I matched Jesse Owens," Lewis said

Sunday, "but I'm not trying to match him. He's still a legend in me and it will always be special that way."

Valerie Brisco-Hooks, who has done her best running since returning last year after the birth of her son, took her third gold medal Saturday as a member of the U.S. 4 X 400-meter relay team. She set Olympic and American records during the week in becoming the first person — male or female — in Olympic history to win the 200 and 400 meters.

Another memorable performance of the competition belonged to Britain's Daley Thompson, who became only the second person in Olympic history to win back-to-back decathlons and came within a single point of tying the world record.

Waltrip Wins Michigan 400

BROOKLYN, Mich. (UPI) — A fuel-efficient new Chevrolet that Darrell Waltrip called the "state of the art" proved to be the key needed to unlock the door to victory in the Michigan 400.

With seven laps remaining in Sunday's 200-lap event at Michigan International Speedway, Bill Elliott was forced to relinquish the lead to refuel his Ford.

Waltrip inherited the top spot and held on to finish 1.2 seconds ahead of Terry Labonte, also in a Chevrolet.

"I didn't know Bill had to pit for gas," Waltrip said after earning $40,800. "I thought he slowed down because he had a bad tire."

Elliott's car stalled twice on the late pit stop. He returned to the track a half-lap behind the leader, but managed to finish third.

"I can't tell you how depressing it is to have the best car on the track and get beat on gas mileage," Elliott said. "There was no way that I could stay in the draft with Darrell and Terry to save enough gas to make it to the end. I was praying for a yellow with about 15 laps to go, but nobody was listening today."

Labonte knew his Chevrolet had enough fuel to finish the race, but felt he couldn't stay with Waltrip.

Ron Cey clubbed a two-run homer Sunday to help the Chicago Cubs stay in first place. Cey's 18th home run of the year helped Chicago maintain its 4 1/2 game lead over the New York Mets.

Full-Scale Brawls Enliven Braves' Win Over Padres

United Press International

By the time the Atlanta Braves concluded their 5-3 defeat of San Diego Padres, there was hardly any members of the two teams remaining.

Two full-scale brawls forced umpires to clear players from the both bullpens and benches in the ninth inning and line the dugouts with police to restore order. In all 13 players, coaches and managers from the two teams were ejected.

Pascual Perez, who was hit in his last at-bat and had pitches thrown close to him in his other three trips to the plate, was the focal point of the brawl-filled contest.

"I got to pitch my game," said the right-hander. "Some of the other ballplayers get mad at me. I don't know why. I don't try to hit nobody."

Perez allowed five hits in his eight innings and raised his record to 11-4. He was hit by reliever Craig Lefferts' first pitch in the bottom of the eighth, triggering one of the brawls. Both benches emptied and fans came onto the field as a series of fights broke out simultaneously. Five fans were arrested during the incident.

Padre first baseman Steve Garvey sounded a note of calm after it was all over.

"That was the longest (fight), and probably, if you're a fight fan, the best that you'll see," he said. "I think a lot of people released their frustrations. Hopefully, things will simmer down and we'll go back to playing baseball. It was just one of those volatile days."

The second game in top of the ninth, Donnie Moore, in relief of Perez, hit Craig Nettles with an O-1 pitch, causing both benches to clear. Fans on the third-base side began throwing beer at the players and one spectator came onto the field and tried to take a loose helmet. Atlanta players Chris Chambliss and Jerry Royster tackled the fan on the third-base bag.

Bobby Brown, Champ Summers, Ed Whitson, Greg Booker, Lefferts, Manager Dick Williams and coaches Jack Krol and Ozzie Virgil were the Padres thrown out. Manager Joe Torre, Steve Bedrosian, Rick Mahler, Gerald Perry and Moore were ejected on the Atlanta side.

The game started on an ominous note, after rain delayed the start for an hour and 32 minutes. Alan Wiggins was hit by Perez' first pitch.

Atlanta scored twice in the first off losing pitcher Whitson, 12-6. With one out, Glenn Hubbard walked and Claudell Washington drilled his 16th home run.

The Braves took a 3-0 in the second on Jerry Royster's RBI single.

Cubs 7, Expos 3

At Montreal, Ron Cey's two-run homer broke a 3-3 tie and Rick Sutcliffe, 10-1, won his eighth straight game to lead the Cubs. Tim Lincecum singled in four at-bats for the Expos.

Mets, Pirates 3

At New York, George Foster blasted a two-run homer and Ron Darling, 11-7, earned his first victory since July 6 to pace the Mets.

Astros 6, Reds 1

At Cincinnati, Nolan Ryan struck out 11 batters in 6 2-3 innings and Terry Pugh and Jose Cruz slammed homers to lead the Astros.

Dodgers 5, Giants 4

At San Francisco, Candy Maldonado, who entered the game as a defensive replacement, hit a two-out homer in the top of the 10th to lead the Dodgers.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Denis Watson Wins Buick Open; Bad Mouths Player For Remarks

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (UPI) — South African Denis Watson took the audience gained from his first PGA tour victory to unleash some sharp words for his country's most famous golfer, Gary Player.

Watson shot a tournament record 17-under-par 271 Sunday to win the $400,000 Buick Open and then criticized Player for saying only Olympic runner Zola Budd had the winning spirit among South African athletes.

The 28-year-old Watson made the remarks when asked if his victory made him the best South African golfer since Player.

"He (Player) said in a South African paper that Zola Budd was the only South African that had the heart to win," Watson said. "I felt offended by that. So did other South African players."

Watson hoped his victory, which carried a $72,000 prize, would make Player reconsider his remarks.

Watson said Player gave him some encouragement early in his career but "he says some strange things."

Watson's 271 broke the 16-under mark set last year by Wayne Levi, who failed to make the cut this time.

Payne Stewart, who came in second, was 17-under at one point but had a bogey on the 14th hole to finish at 272.

Sheehan Covets 'Special Win'

HIGH POINT, N.C. (UPI) — Patty Sheehan has won tournaments with a lot more money and prestige at stake, but would take Sunday's victory in the LPGA's $180,000 Henredon Classic over any of them.

"This was a very special tournament for me," Sheehan said. "It was the first time my dad has seen me win an amateur or professional tournament. It's something I've always wanted."

"I told my dad, 'This is it. This is where it's at.' The competition is just great."

What Sheehan's father almost saw was a disaster for his daughter.

Sheehan recovered from a double bogey on the 17th hole, to birdie the 18th and win by one shot over JoAnne Carner and Dot Germain.

Thompson, DeBerg Still Fighting

TAMPA (UPI) — Although the NFL exhibition season is half over, there is some question about who will be taking the snaps for the Tampa Bay Buccaneers and the Cincinnati Bengals.

Saturday night's 21-13 Tampa win did little to solve the quarterbacking problem for either organization.

Last year's Bucs starter, Jack Thompson, is in a dead heat with veteran Steve DeBerg, obtained in the off-season from the Denver Broncos.

Cincinnati veteran Ken Anderson has locked up the starting position, but there is a battle for the back-up slot between fifth-year man Turk Schonert and rookie Boomer Eason.

Schonert was the only one of the five who managed to pass for a touchdown — a 48-yard screen pass to fleet running back James Brooks in the first period to give the Bengals a brief lead.

Angels Outslug Oakland

United Press International

While the Braves and the Padres were making like the Hatfields and the McCoy's down in the heart of Dixie, the California Angels and the Oakland A's had a slugfest of their own.

Atlanta and San Diego, which had two bench-clearing brawls in their game, used their bats to make noise Sunday. The Angels and A's weren't as colorful, but they still gave the fans plenty of rockem-sockem action by belting seven home runs in California's 10-9 victory.

"Today was kind of like a heavyweight fight," said California's Gary Pettit. "They jumped out and we came back. Then we caught them and they came back."

Pettit scored the winning run in the eighth on Rob Wilfong's single after he tied it with a two-run triple.

Juan Beniquez led the home-run derby for California with a pair of homers and Reggie Jackson added his 497th career blast. Dwayne Murphy launched a pair of two-run homers, Tony Phillips hit a three-run shot and Mike Davis clouted a solo homer for Oakland.

"This is the best season of my career," said Beniquez, who went 4-for-4 and now has eight homers on the year. "I've learned a lot about baseball. I've learned what to do in certain situations. After they came back, it took something out of my (second) home run and I thought, 'Here we go again.'"

"We needed this win because now we have nothing bad on our minds as we go to Detroit."

With the Angels trailing 9-7, Pettit tied the score when he stroked a two-out triple to drive in Beniquez and pinch hitter Mike Brown. Wilfong's game-winning RBI, his first of the season, made a loser of Bill Caudill, 8-5. Luis Sanchez, 8-5, got the win despite surrendering Davis' homer in the eighth.

Indiana 6, Yankees 0

At Cleveland, Joe Carter drove in six runs with a grand slam and a two-run homer to back the five-hit pitching of Bert Blyleven,

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

State Prison Education Crippled By Lack Of Funds

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Department of Corrections officials said they doubt Florida's new prison education law will bring significant change for the state's inmates, nearly two-thirds of whom never finished high school.

Buried in this year's 172-page Omnibus Education Act is a provision to upgrade the academic and vocational programs in state prisons across Florida. The legislature voted in June to transfer responsibility for prison school programs to local school boards, community colleges and state-accredited private schools by July 1986.

But the law allows the Corrections Department, which has traditionally been responsible for inmate education, to retain control over the prison education budget.

The $1,400-per-inmate allocated by the Legislature is not enough to replace outdated textbooks and equipment. Much less expand the programs, public school officials say. Enthusiasm for the program is admittedly low among public school and college officials.

Freighter Still Stuck

KEY LARGO (UPI) — The Coast Guard will continue trying "every 12 hours or so" to dislodge a 5,900-ton ship from Molasses Reef, a spokesman said after yet another attempt failed to free the vessel from the delicate coral ridge.

Four tugboats pulled mightily at high tide Sunday morning and again at high tide Sunday night in a futile attempt to free the freighter Wellwood from the federally protected reef where it has been stuck for more than a week.

The federal government filed a $22 million lawsuit in Miami Friday against the owners of the freighter, the Wellwood Shipping Co. Ltd. of Limassol, Cyprus. The suit asks for $20 million in natural resource damages, $1.4 million in statutory penalties and $750,000 for cleanup and removal costs.

A $20,000-a-day bill for the operation will be sent to the ship's owner.

Cocaine Addiction Up

ORLANDO (UPI) — Increased availability is spreading cocaine use through Florida's population at an unprecedented rate, a problem attested to by grim statistics on death and addiction, experts said.

"It used to be that only the wealthy could afford it, so the supply was kept in check," said Frank Nelson, administrator of the drug abuse program for the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services in Tallahassee.

But Nelson said the plummeting price and increasing strength of street cocaine has allowed addiction to spread to all segments of society.

In one gauge of the problem, the number of cocaine addicts seeking help in Florida's 150 state funded treatment centers has more than doubled in the last three years, from 1,000 to 2,600. The increase from 1983 to 1984 alone was 40 percent.

because she learned her husband was not a work, had been drinking, and he had offered to have sex with his niece. The state maintained that Mrs. Husted told the niece that she was going to kill her husband and took deliberate steps to do so including getting the family's shotgun, loading and cocking and keeping it handy for when her husband came home.

Defense attorney Mark Horwitz claimed during the 6-day trial that Mrs. Husted loaded the family's shotgun for protection because Husted was a habitual wife-beater. He maintained that the shotgun was held waiting for when Husted, uncoordinated because he was drunk and intent on beating his wife, tried to grab the gun away from her and caused the gun to discharge.

During the trial, Mrs. Husted testified that her husband beat her often and particularly when she was pregnant. At the time of Husted's death, his wife more than 6 months pregnant and the defense maintained that the woman was not only protecting her life but that of the unborn child.

...Olympics End In Blaze Of Glory

thor. His Olympic record setting performance was the first medal earned by his country in the Games.

Greg Louganis of Mission Viejo, Calif. won the men's platform diving competition. Tracie Ruiz of Seattle captured the solo synchronized swimming event and Joe Fargis of Petersburg, Va. took the individual equestrian title Sunday to help the United States break the previous record of 80 set by the Soviet Union four years ago in Moscow.

Louganis was a perfect example. Deprived of a chance to participate in the 1980 Games, Louganis became the first diver in 56 years to win both the springboard and platform events in an Olympic Games.

"It's like running the 100 meters in the Olympics and winning by 10 yards. It's like lapping someone in the mile run. It's like Carl Lewis jumping 31 feet," said Ron O'Brien, Louganis' coach. "It's unbelievable. Clearly the achievement of these Olympic Games."

O'Brien's assessment is arguable but there was nothing to debate concerning Louganis' performance Sunday. The 24-year-old, the premier diver in the world for the past six years, definitely peaked for the Olympics.

His point total of 710.91 was 21 points higher than the previous record he set in Saturday's prelims. His 87-point margin of victory over silver medalist Bruce Kimball of Ann Arbor, Mich. was unheard of in an international competition.

"To get over 700 points is truly remarkable. I don't think anyone has come within 50 points of it," said Kimball, who won the silver over China's Li Kongzheng on the final dive of the day. "Only Greg will be able to match it."

Louganis definitely believes he can do better.

"There is always room to do better," said Louganis.

Ruiz, who earlier teamed with Candy Costle of Seattle to win the pairs event, delighted the crowd of 12,000 when she opened her routine with a 50-second underwater sequence that included 15 variations.

Swimming much stronger than she did in the preliminaries, Ruiz had 12 changes in music and was rewarded with a perfect 10 score from the Japanese judge.

The 21-year-old student said it probably was her best swim ever.

"The energy from the audience filled my entire body, so it was very easy for me to swim well," she said.

Ruiz' victory came in a new sport to the Olympics but emphasized just how far the United States has come in its training of athletes in the minor sports. It also clearly demonstrated just how much the support of the home crowd meant to the U.S. athletes in these Games.

The solo competition was only accepted into the Games three months ago, when the organizers scheduled it into the final day program to help compensate for the East Bloc boycott.

In the marathon, Lopez, previously beat known as a 10,000-meter runner, showed what the Olympic spirit is all about by winning in an Olympic record time of 2:09:21. It was only the second marathon he had completed.

For the first time in history, the marathon was tied into the closing ceremonies with the runners entering the Coliseum to officially touch off the proceedings.

Sportsmanship was the theme of the ceremonies and, instead of the countries parading in one-by-one as they do in the opening ceremonies, all the athletes paraded in together to symbolize brotherhood. Jeff Blatnick, a gold medal winner in Greco-Roman wrestling whose dramatic fight against cancer was one of the more heart-warming stories of the Games, carried the flag for the U.S. team.

Few athletes missed the chance to be in the Coliseum Sunday night.

One of them was American gymnast Mary Lou Retton, who flew home to West Virginia after winning her all-around gold medal, but who came all the way across the country again just to be a part of the closing ceremonies.

...PSC Suspects Sanlando

p.m. today in Room 200 of the Seminole County courthouse at Sanford on the proposed purchase by the county of the company. And, at a 2 p.m. meeting Thursday in Room 200 of the Seminole County Courthouse, the county commission will consider approving the purchase. Today's hearing was scheduled at Kirchoff's urging. Kirchoff has opposed the purchase because he says the asking price is too high and because of his concern that the state Department of Environmental Regulation may not continue allowing effluent from one of the company's sewer plants to be dumped into the Wekiva River.

The commission is also scheduled Thursday to consider adopting a resolution authorizing the sale of $31 million dollars in bonds to pay for Sanlando, the Greenwood Lakes Utilities and to refinance an outstanding bond issue for the purchase a water and sewer utility company years ago.

Willis said from the financial information submitted by the Sanlando Utilities Co. for the calendar year which ended Dec. 31, 1983, it appears that even though the firm has not increased rates in some years, it may be earning more money than allowed by a utility in Florida and thus should reduce its rates.

If the Public Service Commission follows the staff recommendation and directs an interim decrease, it will not mean that rates will be immediately reduced. "It will mean that Sanlando will have to put the amount of the anticipated decrease under bond to safeguard those funds, which would ultimately be refunded to the customers," Willis said.

Saying he is aware that Seminole County is considering the purchase of Sanlando Utilities, which serves much of southwest Seminole County, Willis said, nevertheless, his department must follow through with its investigation.

If Seminole County does buy the utility for the asking price of $16.7 million, the utility will no longer come under the authority of the Public Service Commission. Under state law, the PSC does not regulate the rates of city and county-owned utility systems.

Explaining the expected rate increase for Sanlando customers when the county takes over the utility, Mrs. Glenn said, "Our (the county's) rates for water and sewer service are based on how much it costs to manage the utility system," she said.

Willis said the audit is expected to continue through September. "This is not something we can do quickly," he said.

"The staff reviewed the financial documents submitted by Sanlando," Willis said, "and there is the possibility the utility is overearning. We must do a complete review of the books to find out for sure and that audit is now on-going."

Willis emphasized that Sanlando had not asked for a rate increase. "If a utility is underearning, it is their problem and they come to us. If it is overearning we do our own investigation."

County Environmental Services Director Ken Hooper has said the rates to Sanlando customers must be increased an average of 30 percent, after the county purchase, to bring them in line with the rates charged to other county water and sewer utility customers.

Sturm has said that the rates to Sanlando customers, which have not been increased since 1976, would be increased within the next few months by the state Public Service Commission. However, Willis said today Sanlando's records do not show that an increase is needed and the firm has not asked for one.

Ms. Dunn, although that is not the first impression one may receive when meeting her, according to CFRH spokesman Kay Bartholomew. Exuberant at the point of being brassy, Ms. Dunn has a heart of gold which shines with greater brightness because it is real, she said.

When asked what was her greatest accomplishment, she said, "Raising a family, making them self-reliant." Yet that family has included many young people in need — unwed mothers, runaways, and youngsters caught in a web of drugs. And little old ladies left in tears in the emergency room without money, transportation and alone, two little brothers asleep in her car, a young girl sleeping outside a truck stop, and many more.

But there is one who's special — the son of Sonny Turner, one of the original "Platters," who came to live with Ms. Dunn and her three children when his mother died of cancer. In a rare quiet moment, Ms. Dunn reflected on those trying times with Jason and said, "It was a difficult time, having a child from another race, another culture living in an all-white neighborhood. But it was worth it all."

And Sonny Turner knows. She said he once chided her by saying, "Sandy, when are you going to learn you can't be a mother to the whole world?"

But Ms. Dunn always tries. "I feel I have never been used, although my sister tells me I am a fool. I don't regret any of it," she said.

Generous and giving, Ms. Dunn gave away most of her furniture, china, crystal. "Everything but my clothes and car" when she thought she was being sent to Saudi Arabia where HCA manages a hospital. When she didn't go, she had to start all over again.

She has artistic talent which is generously shared with not only her co-workers and the hospital, but with the community. Mrs. Bartholomew said. The pediatric department is denoted with riotous animals denoting the alphabet. It is at once a feast of bright colors for the young ones, and a learning experience what with her rhymes and riddles that go along with the characters. She did it all from start to finish on her own time.

Ms. Dunn creates the sets for the Ballet Guild here in Sanford, designs clothes, and makes dolls mirroring live people.

Her warmth of heart comes through at work where she says she is happy in doing what she does.

"I feel I contribute to patient care, because being single and my family grown, I am available 24 hours a day," she said.

"It is easy to run into the hospital and see that a test is being processed so that there is a quick turn around for the reports. That way, the patient doesn't have to stay another day."

"I love people and have found that if you treat them fairly, they will treat you fairly. My work is a career, not a job. I don't plan to retire!"

Waitresses Tell Off Bible-Thumping Miser

DEAR ABBY: I'm a waitress who just returned home after putting in 10 hours at a restaurant. I started to relax with the newspaper when I read the letter in your column from a man signed, "Loves to Travel in Oak Park, Ill." He says he and "the wife" eat out a lot, and instead of leaving a tip, he leaves an inspirational religious tract!

Dear Abby

He says he and his wife have taken some lovely trips with the money saved on tips!

Abby, I've been a waitress for 13 years. My salary right now is $1.65 an hour. I am divorced and have three children to support, and I couldn't make it on my salary alone. I need tips to live. I love to travel, too, but I haven't had a vacation in 13 years.

STEAMED IN RICHMOND, VA.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a waitress and single parent in Seattle, raising four children on the money I earn from tips. In this state, restaurants are not required to pay minimum wages — and an employer can get away with paying as low as half the minimum wage. Many of the better restaurants here start their wait-persons at $2.30 an hour, and if the establishment serves cocktails, I have to split my tips with the bartender, the captain and the busboy. After the federal government takes 8 percent for assumed tips, there's not a heck of a lot left to take home.

If we could keep 100 percent of our tips, we would be overjoyed. But if we got religious tracts instead of money, we wouldn't even break even.

BUE IN SEATTLE

DEAR ABBY: That Oak Park, Ill., chiseler who leaves "inspirational spiritual messages" instead of tips — but saves his tip money for a vacation — blew my mind!

I work 10 hours a day, no health insurance, no profit sharing, no paid vacations. My average paycheck for 40 hours is around $30 after taxes. I'd like to see somebody live on that for a week.

Believe me, no Christian feelings come from being "stuffed" when you depend on tips for a living.

I have a message for "Loves to Travel": If you can't afford to tip, stay home. We aren't working our butts off for inspiration!

MAD IN MICHIGAN

DEAR ABBY: I am doing a slow burn. I'm a waitress in Philadelphia, and my salary is $1.85 an hour before taxes. My tips put the food on my table and the shoes on my children's feet.

If anybody left a religious tract for me instead of a tip, first I would tell him my name. Then I'd inform him that if he ever came back, he had better not sit in the station I serve because he would sit there until the second coming of Christ before I'd wait on him.

The guts of that cheapskate — using the word of the Lord as an excuse to get out of paying for service!

HATES HYPOCRITES

DEAR ABBY: This is for "Loves to Travel": Will you please tell my husband where he can turn your religious tracts in for cash? Our kids aren't goats — they don't eat paper.

My husband is a cab driver, and he takes home a third of what the meter reads — plus his tips. So if he doesn't get a tip, he is working for nothing.

Do me a favor, next time you need a cab: Take a bus!

CABBIE WIFE

DEAR ABBY: I've been a waiter in Las Vegas most of my adult life, and you are the only person who has ever come out and said that a tip is not a nice little "something extra" for the waiter or waitress. It's their bread and butter. Our salaries are peanuts. Don't blame the employers. If they did away with tipping and charged the customers what they had to in order to stay in business, the prices would be at least double — and probably more.

Thanks for educating the public, Abby.

NEVADA WAITER

DEAR ABBY: Please tell your readers (and especially the Bible-thumping miser who "Loves to Travel") that a tip is not a nice little "extra." It is survival. Also, 15 percent of the dinner check is the standard tip. A 20 percent tip for excellent service is appreciated more than you can imagine. Also, the tip is not the waiter's to keep. He has to share it with the busboy, bartender and captain.

Tell "Loves to Travel" to keep traveling, but please don't stop in Denver.

Completes Musical Workshop

Lisa Hewitt, 557 Penisong Drive, Casselberry, has completed a level I workshop in the Orff-Schulwerk approach to music education held at Western Carolina University, Cullowhee, N.C. The two-week workshop was a process of teaching music developed by the late Carl Orff of Austria. It incorporates the study of speech patterns, movement, singing, playing and listening. Instruction covered the use of several musical techniques in addition to basic body movement and its application to the Schulwerk. Miss Hewitt received an Orff certificate for her completion of the workshop.

Elimination Diet May Pinpoint Diarrhea Cause

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a 30-year-old female and have been suffering from diarrhea for more than two years, since my last child was born. My gynecologist put me in the hospital for an upper and lower GI series and gall-bladder test. Nothing was found. He prescribed Lomotil, which I took for a while and then couldn't take anymore.

Then I went to a specialist and he gave me every kind of test, including another upper GI with small bowel studies and various lab work. Just recently I had a very painful colonoscopy. The doctor said everything looked fine except for some inflammation of the colon. He prescribed Imodium, which I am taking.

Could you please tell me what causes this diarrhea and why it isn't getting any better? My doctor doesn't seem to offer any answers.

DEAR READER — Evidently, despite rather extensive evaluations, no cause for your diarrhea has been found. Sometimes even repeated stool cultures fail to identify various organisms that can cause diarrhea. Giardiasis is one example. The organism is found in some drinking water and may be one cause for "traveler's diarrhea."

If there is no infectious process present, then you need to think about substances that are a common cause for unexplained bowel complaints. The best known is lactose intolerance. Individuals with this problem often stop having problems by eliminating all milk and milk products from the diet.

A more rare problem is intolerance to gluten, which is found in all cereals except rice and corn. Soybean products may be used as a substitute in most of these cases, too, even though they are not cereals.

After such an extensive negative evaluation, you are justified in trying some strong measures. An elimination diet may help you find out if food intolerance is the cause. Eat and drink nothing but distilled water, lean beef and rice for several days. Use no seasoning but salt. If your symptoms disappear, you are on the right track. Gradually add food items one at a time to find out what you can and cannot tolerate. I hope that this will include enough to build a balanced diet.

I have discussed other details about diarrhea in The Health

Letter 13-8. What You Need to Know About Diarrhea. Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By Oswald Jacoby and James Jacoby

Don't give up just because your opening lead against a slam doesn't win the trick. If you play carefully, you still may be able to defeat the contract.

North-South bid to a touchy six no-trump, hampered by K-Q doubleton of clubs facing A-x doubleton. Although West should have tried a neutral lead of either minor, he elected a low spade. Declarer won the jack, crossed to dummy with a diamond and led a low heart to the king. West gobbled up the ace and tried the eighth of clubs, won in dummy. Now South played out his two remaining high spades, the second high club (noting that East had originally been dealt eight cards in that suit), and ran the remaining diamonds.

In the two-card ending, declarer held the Q-10 of hearts, while dummy held the spade eight and heart deuce. West had been forced to unguard the jack of hearts to preserve the spade queen. When the heart was played from dummy, declarer knew that East had started with eight clubs, one diamond, and two spades. There was no particular brilliance involved in going up with the queen and dropping the jack.

Nicely done, South. But wake up, West! Sure, you lost a trick on opening lead. But if you had kept your thinking cap on, when declarer played a heart to the king, you would have let him hold that trick. Now let's see him make the contract.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY AUGUST 14, 1984

You could experience some major changes this coming year that are not of your making. Even though they may not start out in a desirable fashion, they will end up to your liking.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Confidential family matters should be kept within the confines of your household today. Don't let one who is more curious than helpful butt in. The matchmaker wheel reveals your compatibility to all signs, as well as showing you to which signs you are best suited romantically. To get yours, mail $2 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Persons with whom you associate will have a great influence over your attitude today. Active chums will spur you on, sluggish ones will slow you down.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Your financial prospects look encouraging today, but only if you follow through to conclusion situations that are financially meaningful to you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You're capable of meeting and overcoming challenges today. However, don't put yourself in situations where you bet a dollar in order to win a dime.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Beware of tendencies today to try to alter matters that are presently running favorably. Your input could end up doing more to hurt than help.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) It could be a trifle difficult for you to focus on your responsibilities today because your physical and mental energies may be more geared to having a good time.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You have the wherewithal to get what you go after today, but do not make your expectations unrealistically excessive. Keep your feet on the ground.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Someone with whom you're involved today may have impressive credentials, but this does not mean that his or her ideas are superior to yours.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Your investigative faculties are exceptionally keen today, yet you might be doubtful of your abilities and fail to take advantage of what your probes uncover.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Someone who has been helpful to you in the past may require assistance from you today. Regardless of how difficult the request may be, do all you can to comply.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Career objectives can be achieved today if you rely upon yourself and not associates. Do your own thing and do it alone.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) This could be a fun day for you if you are the one who arranges the activities. Do not allow someone dull to supersede you as chairperson.
