

CITIZENS PASS ON CHARTER ACT FRIDAY

Largest Vote In City's History Is Predicted On Issue That Has Stirred Interest Here

Six Amendments To Be Considered

Opponents Of Changes
Hold Final Meeting
On City Pier Tonight

With the close of one of the most intensely waged campaigns in the history of Sanford, local citizens tonight are prepared to go to the polls on Friday to express their wishes with regard to the passage of six proposed amendments to the City Charter.

Herald Will Flash Results Of Election

Because of the unusual interest in the city election, The Herald has made arrangements to give the public a report every five minutes on the progress of the count after the polls close tomorrow night. Through the courtesy of the Sanford Odd Fellows lodge, The Herald has secured the use of a steroptic machine with which will flash the results on a screen to be placed across the street from The Herald office.

City Manager W. B. Williams has generously agreed to furnish a large number of benches on the street so that those watching the results may do so in comfort. The street in front of The Herald office will be roped off to prevent traffic from passing.

DIGHTON SCORES OFFICIALS AS HE ENDORSES CHANGE

Prominent Attorney Says City Commission Has Laid Itself Open To Grave Suspicion By Failure To Answer Charges

Feeling that the City Commission has laid itself open to grave suspicion by its failure to answer charges that have recently been made against it, S. R. Dighton, prominent Sanford attorney and member of the firm of Wilson, Boyle and Dighton, today announced his support of the proposed amendments to the city charter, and declared that "if there is anything wrong with our city finances, the people and taxpayers are entitled to know it."

In an interview with a representative of The Herald, Mr. Dighton voiced the following views:

"So far in this campaign I have been silent. But the moment has now come, it seems to me, for me to speak who holds in any esteem his duty to his community, even if in speaking he endangers the friendship of those with whom he has been closely associated. Civic duty, after all, is above self-interest."

"First of all, then, may I not point out that responsibility of the public officer to his constituency is the foundation of our Government; and yet the campaign which the administration forces is waging appears to direct itself toward minimizing and belittling, by every clever political trick, this sacred principle."

"If there is anything wrong with our city finances, the people and taxpayers are entitled to know it. To conceal, or evade, or to counter with cries of the 'harmony' or 'squawk' is to my mind, not only to admit the indictment that something is seriously wrong, but also to challenge a fundamental right of the people. The proposed meeting of the administration scheduled for to-night is the first indication that has come to my notice which tends to give me any reason to believe that the city is in a state of financial trouble."

"The proposed charter changes are as follows:

1. Increasing the city commission from three members to five members.
2. Placing city finances on a budget.
3. A majority of members elected to the commission shall constitute a quorum.
4. Municipal court shall be established with the office of city judge made appointive by the commission.
5. Compelling the commission to declare by resolution contemplated public improvements, and giving property owners the right to say whether or not such improvements shall be made, and also giving them the right to appeal.

OPPONENTS OF REFORM HOLD MEET TONIGHT

City Commission And Leaders Of Group Working Against Amendments To Make Effort Tonight To Deny All Charges

Commissioners, City Attorney
And City Manager, Engineer
Are Announced As Speakers

At 4 o'clock this afternoon, Mayor Lake told a Herald representative that tonight's meeting will be held by the City Commissioners "to answer questions that have been propounded to it and to reply to malicious insinuations that have been made by the Taxpayer's League."

Plans for the mass meeting, called by the City Commission and opponents of the proposed charter amendments, were reported to be reported circulated early today to the effect that the session scheduled for tonight at 8 o'clock at the Municipal pier had been called off.

Efforts to locate Mayor Forrest Lake, head of the committee on arrangements, proved to be futile. This morning a letter report to the effect that the Mayor had been taken ill and would be unable to appear tonight, was denied when a Herald representative called his home this afternoon for verification of the rumor.

Monroe B. Hutton, son-in-law of Mayor Lake, stated that the official was not ill and that he would occupy a seat on the platform tonight as one of the speakers. Asked by The Herald whether he knew of any arrangements that had been made to have members of the Taxpayers League speak at the meeting, Mr. Hutton said, "I do not know anything about it."

A request for a joint meeting was made of Mayor Lake by D. L. Thrasher, chairman of the Taxpayers League, on Wednesday morning. Despite his personal opposition to the plan, Mayor Lake's League was received by Mr. Thrasher this morning. "Graft and corruption in city government as well as extra-legal means as used in Sanford as well as in any other cities in this state, if Florida is to continue to prosper, I hope your efforts with your Taxpayers League are examined and approved," Mr. Thrasher stated.

According to plans announced this morning, the speakers at tonight's meeting will include in addition to Mayor Lake, Commissioners Chase and Housholder, City Attorney George A. DeCottes, City Manager W. B. Williams and Engineer Fred T. Williams. Their respective subjects were not announced, but The Herald has been informed that the commissioners will deny charges that have been made against them by the Taxpayers League.

Other Florida cities are watching the movement of Sanford to correct evils in city government with a great deal of interest, according to D. L. Thrasher, chairman of the Taxpayers League, who stated that he had received telegrams from the organizers of a similar organization in West Palm Beach in which it was declared that much good had been accomplished through the work of this body.

Shinholser Objects To Use Chamber Of Commerce In Connection With Mass Meet

A statement appearing in the Sanford Times in connection with the mass meeting tonight and the effect that "S. O. Shinholser, president of the Chamber of Commerce, will provide" was received this morning with considerable criticism both by proponents of the proposed amendments and members of the Chamber of Commerce who are opposed to the charter changes.

In an effort to secure the views of the members of the board of governors of the Chamber of Commerce, The Herald today obtained the following expression from E. A. Douglass, former president of the organization:

"My policy as president of the Chamber of Commerce was to do anything that could be construed as involving the organization in politics. This practice was called to attention of the legislative committee and I stopped and did nothing more until my successor, Mr. Shinholser had taken office and I stepped out."

It is understood that Mr. Shinholser, who is now in the city, has been asked to attend the mass meeting at 8 o'clock tonight. He is reported to have declined the invitation, stating that he did not know what to do and that he would not be present.

No Handbills Are Printed By League

Handbills circulated on the streets today purporting to come from the Taxpayers League and giving its platform in the event tomorrow election, were not authorized by the Taxpayers League and were printed without its authority, according to D. L. Thrasher, chairman.

"No handbills have been printed or circulated by the Taxpayers League, and no such action is contemplated," he stated to a representative of The Herald this afternoon.

NAVY MEETING IS ADJOURNED AS ENTIRE FAILURE

Congress Will Be Called Upon To Enforce La Corder Building Program To Floor U. S. On Party With Gilroy

St. Petersburg, Aug. 4. (INS)—The Tri-Party Naval Department came to a total failure today, having failed to secure a treaty for further limitation of naval armaments.

The conference, called at the suggestion of President Coolidge, has been in session for nearly two weeks and at no time has there been definite promise of success.

The primary session of the conference was marked with statements by the American, British and Japanese delegates declaring that the conference's failure does not mean a resumption of the naval arms race, and that the will of all nations is for peace.

Friendly sentiments were voiced by all the speakers and a joint statement was made to the effect that the governments, essed and would continue to examine the problem of limitation of armaments and solutions which are being suggested.

While the chief procedure was not marked with bitterness, there was an apparent anxiety to the part of each member to win the blame for the failure of the conference to some extent. In the British and American camps, as pressed inability to understand the motives of each other, while the Japanese speaker pointed out that the Japanese would have good ground for an agreement if the other powers had been able to do so.

Sacco And Vanzetti Hear Fatal Words Of Governor's Decision

After Investigation Fuller Finds No Reason For Executive Order Of Clemency

Defense Attorney Informs Radicals

Defense Committee Continues Work On Plans To Save Them

BOSTON, Aug. 4. (INS)—Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, central figures in one of the strangest criminal cases on record, heard their fate in the death house in Charlestown State's prison today.

Although the outside world had known for hours that Governor Alvan T. Fuller in review of the celebrated case had decided that these men must die in the electric chair, it was not until 10 A. M. today that the two prisoners received the momentous news.

They heard it from the lips of Defense Attorney William G. Thompson, who was accompanied to the death house by Mrs. Sacco. Publicly in an irritable mood and declaring he had no comment to make on the Governor's findings, Attorney Thompson escorted Mrs. Sacco, downcast and pale through the prison offices and down the corridors to the death cells. At Mrs. Sacco's side was Treasurer Paulino of the Sacco-Vanzetti defense committee.

Newsman were barred from witnessing the breaking of the news.

While Sacco and Vanzetti were hearing the adverse tidings, members of their defense committee were outlining plans for other possible legal avenues of escape, in a desperate "last ditch" legal fight. But they must act with speed. The statute granting Sacco and Vanzetti in June expires at midnight Wednesday. The execution, under the law, could take place in a few minutes after that hour.

BOSTON, Aug. 4. (INS)—While Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, behind the grim death house bars in state's prison, were steeling themselves for today the momentous news that Governor Alvan T. Fuller, after a review of their celebrated case, had found them "guilty" members of the men's defense committee were meeting to outline a campaign for a "last ditch" legal fight to save the doomed men from the electric chair on August 10th.

Three legal moves were said to be under consideration—an appeal (Continued On Page Three)

Alabama Flogging Case Is Placed In Hands Of Jury

ONEONTA, Ala., Aug. 4. (INS)—The case of Eugene Doss, flogging of seven men on charges of kidnapping and flogging Jeff Calloway, Oneonta youth, was in the hands of the jury today, following the unexpected closing of the case last night when the defense rested without offering testimony. Lawyers for both sides agreed to dispense with arguments.

Judge O. A. Steele presented the jury with 24 charges which had been offered by counsel for the defendant before they retired.

Testimony ended abruptly last night after the defense had attempted throughout the day to discredit the testimony of Thomas Hughes and Oliver Tidwell, Alabama klansmen who admitted that they were in the party that flogged Calloway and graphically described the flogging of the youth. Attempts of the defense to introduce evidence to show that Calloway was in a state of intoxication during the alleged flogging proved futile.

Explosions Cause Near Panic In Washington

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4. (INS)—Two loud explosions in the Post Office Department today caused clerks to rush into the halls and elevators under the belief that Sacco-Vanzetti sympathizers were bombing the building.

An investigation disclosed that the agent for a new type of glycerol was used in the explosion. It is in evidence to show that Calloway was in a state of intoxication during the alleged flogging proved futile.

Supreme Court Denies Right To Assess Land Owners For All Of Paving Costs

A recent ruling of the state supreme court was made public today as having effect upon the plan which is now used by the city government in paying for the paving of streets. In effect the court's ruling says that the municipal practice of assessing property owners for the entire cost of paving public street is illegal unless the property receives benefits commensurate with the assessment.

Ask Me Another!

Each day The Herald will present five questions concerning Sanford's history, its industries, its city government, its recreational facilities and other interesting subjects. The answers will be given with the questions. Persons who have questions which they desire to have included in this column, may communicate with The Herald.

- QUESTIONS
1. What is the most profitable industry in Sanford?
 2. Who was the first celery grower in Sanford and when?
 3. Who is the largest individual celery grower at the present time?
 4. Who has bought and sold most of the celery land in the celery delta?
 5. What corporation grows and sells the most celery in this delta?
- ANSWERS
1. Celery growing?
 2. Captain B. F. Whitner in 1897.
 3. For the season of 1926-27 John Rumley.
 4. Joe Cameron.
 5. American Fruit Growers.

A MATTER OF MEASURES,

Not MEN!

"We Are Amending The CHARTER, Not Lake"

- WHY are the opponents to the charter amendments trying to camouflage the issue by neglecting to answer questions regarding the city's finances while at the same time attacking the personnel of the Taxpayers League?
- WHY don't the opponents of the charter amendments say why they are opposed to the amendments?
- WHY is the cry being raised that it is all an "attack on Lake" when the election applies only to the charter?
- WHY did the petition against the amendments consisting of some two hundred names include many repetitions, newcomers and others who cannot vote?
- WHY does the administration try to "pass the buck" by saying they awarded a contract $12,000.00 higher than was necessary because a few citizens present asked them to do it? WHY did not the County Commissioners when confronted by the same situation take the same view of their duty to the taxpayers?
- WHY does the administration think that the taxpayers have no right to know what their money is spent for?
- WHY does the administration try to employ "steam roller politics" to defeat the charter amendments by using the only political machine in Seminole County to assist them in defeating the amendments?
- WHY did the city commissioners wait until the last night before election to answer charges made against them nearly a week ago?
- IF the hospital money is now in the bank as the administration now maintains, how did they get it back after they had paved streets with it and where is the half million dollars recently raised in New York?
- IF Mr. Douglass, who was not connected with the city in any official capacity, WAS paid $1500.00 by the Hutton Construction Company a few months ago for services rendered four years ago---what has that got to do with misappropriation of city funds by the administration or with the charter amendments?

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

THE LAW A DELIGHT: I delight to do thy will, O my God; yea, thy law is within my heart. Psalm 40:8.

PRAYERS:—Lord, we believe in that which thou wilt do. Thy will shall know of the teaching.

Night after night as the hours grow long, I measure the beat of the cricket's song. In classic spondee the calm syllables move— A stately procession all poets approve.

"Rest—rest!" Ah, coil and coil! That delicate phrasing of sound on my ear!— A cadence more subtly reposeful than rhyme, As simply and smoothly unbroken as Time.

Scholarly crickets, majestic and terse, Scorning the freedom of nondescript verse! Who taught you the art of that lyrical beat— That metric competence clear and complete!

Masters of prosody, school me to name Harmonious thoughts in melodious ways! Ah, bring me your boon of a spirit at ease In the measured repose of your stately spondee!

Vote for the amendments, but VOTE anyway.

It's just before "For" that you put your X mark.

President Coolidge is getting awful "choosy" of late.

The Prince of Wales is going to Alberta to play cowboy.

This English flier Courtney has got Byrd beat for procrastination.

"HARMONEY" seems to be the war cry of the opponents to the amendments.

Al Smith says he doesn't care what Coolidge does. Well, we presume it's mutual.

The question in the LeBoeuf case seems to be, "Did Mrs. Le Boeuf paddle her own canoe?"

Doesn't Calvin look ridiculous in that picture of him fishing with a straw hat and stiff collar on?

People are still being drowned at bathing resorts, indicating that they haven't learned to swim yet.

They are having a hot time in Waycross, Georgia, too. A fire there the other day destroyed $250,000 worth of property.

Truth often is amazing, but that is no reason why people should be amazed that the truth is told.—DeLand News. But they are.

If a newspaper man can't furnish you the information you want on any given subject, he'll be brazen enough to tell you SOMETHING about it.—Waxpress Journal-Herald. If he is a professional newspaperman, he will.

Juror Says He Wouldn't Hang Dr. Dreher Who is a Personal Friend of His.—Head in Sanford Herald. Well, that would be a palatable string of a friend wouldn't it?—Tampa Times. Strikes us you're stretching it a bit.

This is kind of a peculiar paragraph for the Times-Union to be writing:

Down in Florida where the bite on the least provocation, some paragraphs were due to make the remark following the big fight July 21 that Dempsey caught a Sharkey.

It's The People's Turn Now

In view of an approaching election in which the citizens of Sanford are to decide whether a change is advisable in the City charter, The Herald has made every effort to give the people all the facts obtainable regarding the City administration and its finances. That the people were not even more thoroughly acquainted with the facts was due rather to an inability on our part to secure certain desired facts from the officials, who manifested a complete unwillingness to give out information regarding the bond funds, than to any disinclination on our part to publish the facts.

In pursuing this course The Herald has been conscientious in the belief that it was working for the best interest of Sanford. We knew that only through an intimate knowledge of the records of the administration, could the people be expected to vote wisely in the coming election. If some of the facts presented have fallen heavily on the toes of administration leaders, or have given to the outside world an unfavorable impression of Sanford, the entire blame rests upon those who made the records, not upon those who published them.

If in the mass meeting tonight, purposely placed on the night before election so that there might be no fear of a denial of anything said, the speakers see fit to contradict any fact published by The Herald, they are giving the lie to their own records, because The Herald got its facts from their records and has not published anything that was not in their records. And again, if we have not published all the facts, it was because we could not get them, not because we did not want to publish them.

Believing as we do that the people can always be depended upon to use their right of franchise wisely when they have been thoroughly informed upon the subject of election, we, now, without any fear of the result, rest our case in their hands. The people are the ones who have been hurt by the present administrative system; they are the ones who can effect a change. It's up to them.

Baseball Honors A Great Player

Baseball has honored another man who for twenty years has been identified with the major leagues and who for that length of time has piled up more pitching records than any other hurler who ever worked in the big show. Walter Johnson, star twirler of the Washington club, celebrated his second decade as a member of the Senators on Wednesday of this week and the occasion was one that will long be remembered by Washington fandom.

The tribute that was paid to the Big Train by the national capital, the American League, and heads of organized baseball was a deserved one. There is no player in either league who merits more than Johnson the commendation of baseball fans. A star performer, a gentleman, a sportsman, Walter Johnson has served with distinction and has reflected credit to the game which has been materially elevated because of his connection with it.

Walter Johnson was never a grandstand player, yet he has been the idol of the fans for a score of years. He never argued with the umpires, and his bearing on the field always commanded the respect of the officials, who knew that Old Barney played the game for the game's sake and who accepted alike the good and bad breaks. The Big Train has been the inspiration for many players who have gone to the majors and made good. His influence has been felt far beyond the confines of Washington, and his name will go down in baseball history.

"An instance of Walter Johnson's sportsmanship and his loyalty to his club," says the Tampa Tribune, "was noted during the training series of last Spring, when Johnson, in a practice game at Plant Field, was crippled by a ball hit from the bat of his team-mate, Joe Judge. It was a serious injury and kept the great pitcher out of the game for six weeks. When Judge called on his injured comrade to express his regrets, Johnson said: 'That's all right, Joe; I hope you hit them that hard all season.'"

OIL IN FLORIDA TAMPA TIMES

Whatever may result from their various efforts to find oil in Florida one gentleman has come forward with a suggestion regarding Florida and oil, or oils, which appears to be well worth following out.

At the last luncheon of the agricultural bureau of the board of trade J. A. Russell, who has had extensive experience in the production, recovery and refining of essential oils and in operating of plants turning out by-products from fruit and vegetables, directed the attention of those assembled to Florida's possibilities in connection with the production of oil-bearing herbs. He spoke especially of the peppermint, spearmint and sweet mountain basil types. According to him these cuttings a year with an average of 15 to 20 pounds of oil per acre for each cutting can be expected here, owing to the climate conditions. And, he said, these herbs thrive best on rich, damp soil. This indicates that they would afford splendid crops for the muck lands to be found in this section and other places in Florida.

What was said by Mr. Russell impressed the body to which it was said, as it must any who will consider it. As a result, there will be the near future be undertaken a comprehensive test of the oil bearing herbs and their adaptation and possibilities here.

While efforts to locate the other sort of oil go on, this just now gives promise of being Florida's best bet so far as oil is concerned. If what has been stated by Mr. Russell can be accomplished, or approximated, growing herbs for oil will prove quite a profitable Florida enterprise and will furnish another use for Florida soil.

There has been of late no change in the fact that Florida is basically an agricultural state, therefore any suggestion of a broadening of the agricultural industry is of interest. We have tried the one crop system in reference to Florida soil, the particular crop in connection with which the trial was made being subdivision lots. All of us know how that turned out. What we need to do now is to find all the things we can that may be profitably produced out of our soil and set about producing them. What has been presented by Mr. Russell shows signs of being a quite valuable find of that sort.

THE BIG "I" IN MUSSOLINI PALM BEACH POST

Some people have greatness thrust upon them, and some people thrust greatness upon themselves. Among those who get greatness by the latter method, there is at times noted a peculiar egotism which the more lowly mortals find hard to understand.

Bruno Mussolini, elder son of Italy's strong man, was quizzed in school the other day on points of grammar. "Give a definition of the imperative mode," commanded the teacher, Bruno gave it correctly. "What person cannot be commanded?" the teacher then asked. It was a question in grammar remember, and the correct answer to the question is naturally, "the first person," for the imperative mode is always second person. But was this the answer young Bruno gave? No, indeed. He said, "The king and my father."

As Brisbane Sees It

Ford's Something Ahead. 30,000,000 in 30 Years. A Trust in Himself. Gen. Motors, Steel, Dupont. By ARTHUR BRISBANE Copyright 1927 by Star Co.

HAPPY THE MAN with "something else and something bigger to do." Henry Ford told Detroit reporters on his sixty-fourth birthday "the biggest job of my life is ahead."

The word "ahead" is what counts. When everything is behind them, men wither and die at the top, as the trees do.

THE BIG JOB AHEAD to which Ford alludes is making automobiles. In less than 19 years Henry Ford has built 15,000,000 automobiles of his "Model T" type. His new job is to build 15,000,000 automobiles of a different, better kind, in much less than 19 years.

MR. FORD SAYS he doesn't want to take business from any other concern. Unless every man building a good car is prosperous the industry is on a wrong basis. Mr. Ford wants to build 15,000,000 more light cars, low in price, faster and more powerful than the old car. He is also working on a new 1000-horsepower air-cooled airplane motor to run his new super multiple-engine airplane built to carry 100 passengers.

IN ADDITION FORD is preparing to put out a new heavy power truck to sell at a low price and haul four tons or more. He is increasing the engine power of his tractor, running his railroad, operating lumber works, coal mines, steel works, and does not neglect his big Lincoln car. You might say that at 64 years of age, he is busy enough to make life interesting. The busier the better, work means youth.

OUR GOVERNMENT, as solemn as any that ever locked the barn door a little late, will "quizz" the big steel company, General Motors and the giant Dupont de Nemours Company. Government suspects they are combining. If, so, all the better for them and this country. The bigger our business the better the nation can compete with other nations, and the better for the American people.

WHEN BUSINESS GETS bigger, with proper supervision and control by the public, it gains efficiency. If the people haven't brains enough to watch one big business, they wouldn't have enough brains to watch and control a hundred little businesses secretly conspiring and conspiring.

Men that build great institutions wisely reduce costs as they build, and serve the public in this period of competition among nations, no longer among individual concerns.

WHAT GREATER HONOR could there be than to carry out the program that Ford, who is half a dozen gigantic trusts in himself, lays out for himself after his sixty-fourth birthday? He has built 15,000,000 cars within reach of people of small means, putting the world on wheels, and will build 15,000,000 cars more powerful, faster and better than the first 15,000,000. And then, he'll build more cars.

HENRY FORD SHOULD have written on his tombstone, may it be 64 years from now, "Here lies a man who built enough automobiles to carry at one time all the people in the United States and fifty millions more in other countries, lowering prices and raising wages at the same time."

WOULD IT HAVE BEEN better for the country to have 10,000 little men trying to do what Ford has done alone, keeping wages down and charging the people three times as much for what they did as Ford has charged them?

MUSSOLINI WANTS to keep Italians in their villages to prevent starting factories in big cities. Factory owners object. Three things in a factory, money, intelligence and labor. Money and intelligence plant factories where labor is plentiful and cheap.

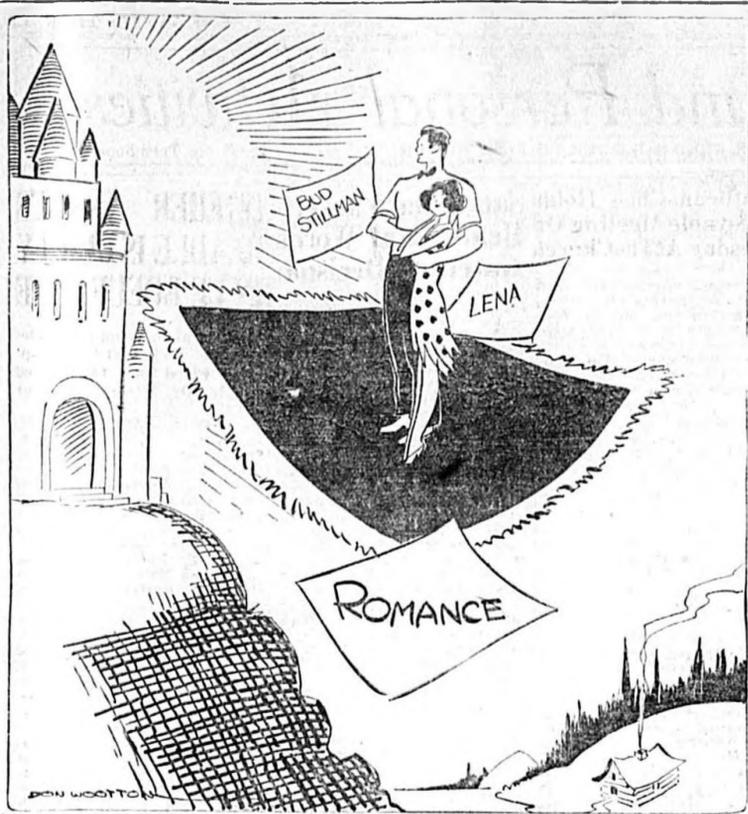

FLYING MACHINES, eventually, will carry out Mussolini's idea. Men will work in great central factories and fly away to homes on the hills, as gulls go fishing at sea level and fly back to the high rocks. The human race will be better off when it becomes a flying race. There's a great difference between a hoptoad and a bird.

MEN THAT EXPLOIT forests, stripping earth of its trees and soil of its fertility, are reported to be changing their tactics. They have found that instead of chopping, slashing, then moving on, it pays to adopt the European method, treat the forest as a crop, felling big trees, protecting and preserving little ones.

LUMBERMEN, NOW CUT and use twenty-five billion cubic feet, which means 12 times as many linear feet, equivalent to a board one inch thick, 12 inches wide, three hundred billion feet long. The new lumbering method is more important to future generations than any other news of this century.

Mrs. Schumann-Heink, just back from Europe, is 60 years old. She'll sing with the Metropolitan Opera Company this season and plans a tour of 70 concerts. Our only suggestion is that she get Chauncey Depew to help her out with the duets.

The Magic Carpet

THE TRADITIONAL SOUTH Ocala Star

Speaking of the chivalry that prevailed in the south in the olden days; the urbanity and courtly manners of its citizens, a late issue of the Milwaukee Journal Comparing the new with the old South says:

The South, these days, is painting a new picture of chivalry. It has but it comes up to us from Galveston, Tex., from Marshall, Tex., from other points. And to say that it is done in colors is to put mildew on it.

We know that old picture, knew it as it was painted by the poets and novelists of the South. And it came to us all scented with magnolia blossoms and lyric of the mocking bird's note. It was a picture of men who were ever courteous to women, ever ready to do the knightly thing. Chivalry lived in the South.

Lets put our shoulders together, and heads to the front, and cleave closely to the anchorage that made the Old South so illustrious in the graces and courtesies that gave a tinge of beauty and magnificence to all the things of life.

Flogging women and lynching would have been regarded as a degradation to the traditions to the founders.

Lets us try to make a new South as lovable as the old which caused our old friend George Bailey, for so long a time editor of the Houston Post-Dispatch to pay the following South—"His Dixie Land"—which traditions and customs of the old wonderfully beautiful tribute to the he loved so well.

He made the Post-Dispatch a national news paper. "Yes there still is a Dixie. A Dixie in the hearts of some of us older ones and in that realm of the spirit fancy may summon visions of the most beautiful of scenes, the loveliest of faces, and days of cloudless blue! Dixie, the east to which those of us stand on the rim of the fading day turn in devotion.

Alathean Class Holds Enjoyable Meeting On Tuesday At The Church

An unusually interesting meeting of the Alathean Class of the Baptist Church was held on Tuesday afternoon in their attractive class rooms at the church.

Bright-hued zinnias were arranged with pleasing effect in baskets and bowls forming a pretty setting.

The meeting was presided over by the class president, Mrs. J. C. Mitchell and routine business carried out. Reports were given by the standing officers and chairman.

One new member, Mrs. J. G. Pierce, was welcomed into the class. A nominating committee was appointed to present names for officers for the ensuing year.

During the afternoon an especially interesting talk was given by Dr. F. D. King, pastor of the church.

After all business had been transacted a clever contest was enjoyed under the direction of Mrs. C. P. Henderson.

A social hour followed the contest when punch and sandwiches were served by the hostesses Mrs. Volie Williams, Mrs. Guy S. Solomon, Mrs. C. P. Henderson, and Mrs. J. C. Mitchell.

Little Miss Katherine Spencer Is Hostess To Friends On Birthday

Little Miss Katherine Spencer, the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Spencer, was hostess Thursday afternoon at an unusually lovely children's party when she entertained a number of her young friends at her home on Palmetto Avenue in celebration of her third birthday.

The rooms were artistically adorned with quantities of zinnia and ferns, carrying out the pastel tints. In the dining room the table was centered with the birthday cake, and in white and topped with three tiny pink candles encircling the centerpiece were garlands of asparagus ferns studded with tiny pink blossoms.

The afternoon was merrily spent with games of all kinds and at a late hour refreshments of ice cream and cake were served by Mrs. Morris Spencer assisted by her sister, Mrs. Ernest Gormley. Each child was given a bright colored paper cap as favor.

About 50 children enjoyed this happy occasion.

TOBACCO GROWERS

ATLANTA, Aug. 4. (INS)—Georgia tobacco growers marketed more than 1,000,000 pounds of leaf yesterday at the 20 principal centers. Despite the fact that the poorer grades of tobacco are marketed first, the price for all sales averaged close to 20 cents per pound.

And growers over the belt are expressing satisfaction over market conditions.

Sacco and Vanzetti Hear Fatal Words Governors Decision

(Continued From Page One) to the state courts on the ground of "new" evidence discovered in the Fuller review, appeal to the federal district court on the ground that the men have a fair trial, and an appeal to the United States supreme court on the basis that the defendants constitutional rights had been violated.

Governor Fuller in his 2500-word decision, refusing executive intervention, found that the men had a fair trial, that there was no undue prejudice by trial Judge Webster Thayer, that Vanzetti was guilty of the slaying in Braintree, and that the jury was composed of competent men.

After the afternoon an especially interesting talk was given by Dr. F. D. King, pastor of the church.

After all business had been transacted a clever contest was enjoyed under the direction of Mrs. C. P. Henderson.

A social hour followed the contest when punch and sandwiches were served by the hostesses Mrs. Volie Williams, Mrs. Guy S. Solomon, Mrs. C. P. Henderson, and Mrs. J. C. Mitchell.

The chief executive stated flatly that the final decision and responsibility were his but that advisory committee arrived at the same conclusion as he did. The committee—President A. Lawrence Lowell, of Harvard, President Samuel W. Stratton of Massachusetts Institute of Technology and former Judge Robert Grant—were congratulated for their "unselfish service on this disagreeable and extremely important problem."

Forming the governor's decision "unbelievably brutal in its partisanship and even more brutal in the omission of facts," a statement made public today by the Sacco-Vanzetti defense committee said: "The days separating Sacco and Vanzetti from the electric chair are few, but this defense committee will continue to fight for justice for these two men. Our faith in their innocence is unshakable. We call upon the million of people throughout the world, who have supported them, as come forward and join us in this last desperate effort to stay the hand of the judicial hangman."

The committee in seven years has spent $325,000 on the defense of Sacco and Vanzetti, claiming that they were being "railroaded" because of their radical beliefs.

Extraordinary precautions were taken today to prevent any unlawful demonstration as the result of the governor's adverse decision.

His home was guarded, a detail was stationed in the Boston hospital where his ten-year-old son is convalescing from an appendicitis operation.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4. (INS)—Fearing possible violence and sabotage by radical sympathizers with Sacco and Vanzetti, the government took unusual steps today to protect federal personnel and property.

At the treasury all persons entering the building were scrutinized, and if they carried packages they had to convince the guards of the innocent nature of them before entering.

At the same time, the State Department notified American embassies and legations throughout the world of the decision confirming the death sentence of the men, and warned all diplomatic personnel to be on guard against attacks or demonstrations by foreign radicals.

Since the Sacco-Vanzetti case became world-wide in interest there have been a number of bomb attacks on American embassies and legations. Both in Europe and in South America bombs have been exploded or discovered in American embassies, and hostile demonstrations against the United States have been fairly numerous.

TOKYO, Aug. 4. (INS)—Fearing possible attack upon American Ambassador Macvaugh in connection with the Sacco-Vanzetti case, Japanese police today assigned a guard to protect the American statesman in his summer home at Hayama.

Tonight's meeting is not expected to assume the proportions of a gala affair as was first planned. An order for 200 torches, was reported to have been placed by the committee in charge, is said to have been cancelled in face of criticism from certain leaders within the ranks. The band which supposed to have played a part in the ballroom, will not play until after the meeting.

DREHER INSISTS BEADLE IS GUILTY IN LE BOEUF CASE

Dreher Takes Stand In Own Defense And Testifies Trapper Fired Shot That Ended Life Of Utility Manager

COURT HOUSE, FRANKLIN, La., Aug. 4. (INS)—James Beadle, backwoods hunter and trapper, fired the shots that killed James Le Boeuf, Morgan City utilities superintendent, and later disemboweled the body and weighted it down with two railroad angle irons in the waters of Lake Palourde. Dr. Thomas E. Dreher, on trial with Beadle and Mrs. Ada Bonner Le Boeuf, the murdered man's wife, testified upon taking the stand this afternoon.

Dreher closely followed the testimony of Mrs. Le Boeuf, his alleged paramour, and adhered to her assertions that it was Beadle who committed the slaying of her husband when the latter fired from his boat as the two were rowing.

"I've got you where I want you at last," Dreher testified Le Boeuf shouted at him in the way of greeting as they met on the lake. Then Le Boeuf fired a shot and Beadle answered with two shots from his shotgun. Mrs. Le Boeuf screamed and went into hysterics as Le Boeuf's lifeless body crumpled forward from his seat in the boat, he said.

"No doctor, I want you to turn to that jury and tell them all you know about the events of the night of July 1, on which they say Jim Le Boeuf was murdered," his attorney requested.

"Did you know Mrs. Le Boeuf and her husband?" He was asked, to which he answered, "I did."

"Did you ever receive any communication from either of them?" "I did, I received a note from Mrs. Le Boeuf on the afternoon of July 1, at about 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon."

"What was in the note?" "It told me that she (nudging towards Mrs. Le Boeuf) had fixed things up with Jim and said he would meet me in a friendly way and we would fix all this foolishness up."

"Had you had any misunderstanding that had to be fixed up?" "Were you on friendly terms with Mr. Le Boeuf?"

"Not at that time," he answered. "Were you on speaking terms?" "No sir."

"What preparations did you make for this meeting?"

SHINHOLSER OBJECTS TO LINKING CHAMBER WITH MASS MEETING

(Continued From Page One) Shinholser said, "My connection with the meeting tonight is as a private citizen and is not to be construed as involving the Chamber of Commerce. My attention has been called to the use of my name as president of the Chamber, and I want to state that it was done without my knowledge and was entirely unauthorized."

"I especially regret the incident in view of my efforts to keep the Chamber of Commerce at all times out of political discussions. In this effort I think that I have been very successful and I am sorry that this matter has come up. In view of the possible misunderstanding that might arise over my connection with the mass meeting, I have planned to make it clearly understood that I am presiding over the meeting as a private citizen."

The Herald was unable to locate R. J. Holly and Forrest Lake, members of the board, for statements and E. F. Hausholder, another governor said, "I don't believe I care to say anything on the subject." J. G. Ball was reported out of the city but The Herald received the following statements from other members of the board: S. R. Dighton: "Frankly, I cannot criticize Mr. Shinholser for aligning himself on one side or the other as every good citizen should do. However, I feel that the administration is subject to criticism in designating their chairman of tonight's meeting as president of the Chamber of Commerce, thereby dragging the Chamber into politics."

A. P. Connelly: "I don't think you can say anything on the subject of the Chamber of Commerce president in naming the president of the Chamber of Commerce as chairman of a political gathering."

J. W. Meisch: "I don't believe Shinholser meant to do anything wrong but it is certainly a mistake to have the Chamber of Commerce mixed up in politics by having its president as presiding officer at tonight's meeting."

Annual Golf Tourney Opens At Cleveland

RDGEWOOD COUNTRY Club, CLEVELAND, Aug. 4. (INS)—W. J. Palmer, Baltimore, today eliminated Clark Arce, medalist in the first round match play of the Sixth Annual National Public Links Golf Tournament. Palmer was 2 up and one.

Carmen Hill, Cleveland, who trailed Morse by only two strokes in the qualifying round, was also eliminated in the first round of match play by Richard Walsh, New York. The score was 4 to 3.

Tom Welsh, Boston, had an easy time, eliminating Walter Paer, Toledo, 6 and 5.

"Neither should it avail the administration forces to attempt to excuse the apparent condition of the city by likening it to the estate of an individual caught up in the boom infatuation. If the present City Commissioners had plunged their private fortunes in speculation it would be no one's concern but their own, but for them to overstep the bounds of good business judgment in public improvements is, while not an offence, a mistake by which the people have a right to measure them."

"Further, when the administration evokes the aid of a political machine in this campaign, as it openly professes to be doing, it does not augur well for our future if it should win. What is there about the amendments to be so resisted? The only obvious answer is that the present regime is either selfish, egotistical or afraid."

"Lastly, I cannot subscribe to the plea that silence is necessary to preserve our stability. Foreign capital has already refused to assist us under present conditions. The sooner our City affairs are brought clearly into the light, the quicker all pretenses and excuses are put aside, and the earlier we face the situation after finding out exactly what it is, the faster will we work out our own salvation."

"The people will hold the present Board accountable, but for these Commissioners to so strenuously object to the addition of two other colleagues is reflecting an attitude for which I have yet heard no intelligent explanation."

"I sincerely trust that the people of this fine city will go to the polls tomorrow and fearlessly yet calmly vote to decide whether they will tolerate politics closely touching the ring type or choose to stand by the principle of responsibility without which no Government can be safe."

Setting the time of city elections as the first Tuesday after the first Monday in December of each year, and providing that the mayor-commissioner will be elected by a direct vote of the citizens.

The election is expected to attract the largest vote in the history of Sanford. More than 2,200 are registered on the City books, and local observers predict that a total of 1,400 to 1,600 votes will be cast.

According to figures given out this morning by H. C. DuBois, supervisor of registration, 1,352 citizens have qualified for the election by virtue of registering on city books and paying their poll taxes. It is expected that many additional people who have registered, but who have paid their poll taxes since the books were checked, are also qualified. It was pointed out that poll taxes may be paid as late as tomorrow.

The voting will take place in the commission rooms at the City Hall. Numerous booths have been arranged to handle the rush of voters anticipated by poll officials. Those who have been appointed to have charge of the polls are: Mrs. Henry Wright, Mrs. W. A. Pitts, Lefroy Chittenden and R. R. Dean.

The polls will open at 8 o'clock, according to an announcement this morning and will remain open until sundown, which will be at 7:18 o'clock, according to local weather calculations. Tabulation of the votes is expected to get under way shortly after the polls close and will probably be finished between 10 and 11 o'clock.

- 1.-Because contracts have been awarded through favoritism at higher prices than necessary.
- 2.-Because public funds have been mis-appropriated.
- 3.-Because the public records have not been properly kept and facts which the people are entitled to know have been withheld, especially records of bond accounts.
- 4.-Because extravagance and mis-management have characterized the present administration during recent years.
- 5.-Because the City charter has been flagrantly violated in at least three sections.
- 6.-Because the three commissioners form has resulted in an ineffectual representation and a centralization of governmental power in the hands of one man, as we see it.
- 7.-Because the present Commissioners by so vigorously opposing the amendments have given cause for suspicion in the minds of the people.
- 8.-Because we have been unable to get information on the bond money.

Rioters Burn Palace In Vienna

Here is graphically pictured the climax of Vienna's recent war between the government and communists—the burning of the Palace of Justice by a mob. Police fired into the crowd in an attempt to restore order, and in the fighting that followed more than 70 were killed and 500 wounded. A general strike followed. Police declared communists set fire to the palace and led the disorders. After three days troops were able to restore order and maintain peace.

Bitter Quarrel Is Waging In Group Of Oil Organizations

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—A bitter family quarrel has broken out among the principal companies of the Standard Oil group over the purchase of Russian oil products, in which competent observers here see a possible future alignment of the Standard Oil group, and the Royal Dutch Shell interests, against other members of the Standard group, including the Standard Oil of New York and the Vacuum Oil Company.

oil until the Soviet Government recognizes private property rights, while the Standard Oil Company of New York and the Vacuum Oil Company, two other large companies of the Standard group, have been buying large quantities of Russian oil and dealing in a friendly manner with the representatives of the Soviet Government.

Much Is Involved A great deal more is involved in this controversy, observers here declare, than the mere question of the advisability of American oil companies purchasing Russian oil while there is excessive production in the United States.

The Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, issued recently, in which the last named company denied that it had been negotiating for the purchase of Russia oil. That statement was issued a short time before Walter C. Teagle, president of the Standard Oil of New Jersey, sailed for Europe on the Herengaria. It is understood that he will study the European oil situation at some length while in Europe.

Channel Swimming Is About To Break Forth This Summer

DOVER, ENG. Aug. 4.—(INS)—With the warmer summer weather and an appreciable rise in the temperature of the water filling the twenty mile stretch of sea between Dover and Calais, the 1927 channel swimming season may now be said to have started in earnest.

with the avowed intention of emulating Gertrude Ederle's feat of establishing new records. They are:

Mrs. Clementine Carson, the American mother who swam from France, to England last year, and who is to attempt to swim from England to France, a feat never before accomplished by a woman; Mrs. Weidman, widow of Jack Weidman, a well known Channel swimmer; Miss Millie Hudson, a London stenographer; Frank Perks, a Birmingham champion swimmer who has already made two unsuccessful attempts to cover the short stretch of water; Edward Tenme, London insurance clerk; Harry Luskombe, of Exeter, champion of Devon County and a powerful swimmer.

lia Zitenfeld are shortly expected to swim the Channel. Paula very sturdily built, she is in employment to make the attempt. Similarly Mrs. Carson will make the difficult trip from land to France. Her training steadily progressed, and she starts here are very anxious to her chances. She will be accompanied by her two children and her husband during the swim.

Promoter Says Amateurs Make More From Sport Than Professionals Do

LONDON, Aug. 4.—(INS)—Charging that amateurs in all branches of sport get more financially from the game than many professionals, Charles B. Cochran, the famous British theatrical impresario and sporting promoter, who was the first man to introduce professional lawn tennis into England, declares it is little to be wondered at that prominent amateurs refuse to become professionals.

Cochran's charges are in the nature of a reply to criticism levelled against him for professionalizing lawn tennis this side of the Atlantic. During the recent Wimbledon Tennis Tournament he raised a great outcry by offering Betty Huthall, the 16-year-old English girl tennis wonder, up to $100,000 to turn professional. He was also reported to have offered Helen Wills about $50,000.

Dozens of amateurs receive valuable "gifts" for their services, according to Cochran, who alleges that many of them are doing extremely well out of such "gifts" and "considerations."

"I have often been asked how amateurs manage to travel all over the world playing in various tournaments, when some of them obviously have not the means to do

Large Amounts Of Quake Insurance Written In 1926

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 4.—(INS)—Earthquake insurance written in New York State in 1926 totalled $22,747,000 as compared to $75,248,000 in 1925, according to the State Insurance Department.

Average insurance last year totalled $17,000 as compared to $16,500 the previous year. The 253 joint stock and 74 mutual fire insurance companies, authorized to do business in this state, showed a gain in business last year of $128,734,959 over 1925. Their assets on December 31, 1926, totalled $2,461,927,339.

The risks written during the year totalled $71,891,852,001, which was an increase of nearly $12,000,000,000 over the previous year. The companies paid out $1,000,000,000.

The total amount of fire risks written by joint-stock and mutual companies in the state in 1926 was $1,189,504,895, an increase of $1,647,662,442 over 1925.

The total amount of all risks written in the state last year, other than fire, was $2,777,917,045, an increase of $2,088,421,900. Of this amount $6,398,215,311 covered ocean marine risks, a decrease of $1,232,331,910 from 1925.

Labellé, State to take over and complete cross state highway.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 4.—(INS)—Assessing that one of the principal reasons for his trip to America at this time, the first time he has come to this country since assuming the office of Governor-General of the Philippines six years ago, was to assist in the campaign, Wood voiced the opinion that if the necessary funds were forthcoming, "we shall be able to eradicate leprosy in the Philippines as we have yellow fever, cholera and smallpox."

"Our methods will be available for the treatment of the 3,000,000 lepers in other countries, too," he said.

DARK CLOUD IS SEEN HOVERING OVER BUSINESS

Preliminary Estimates For The Month Of June Show Sharp Decline In Exports

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—(INS) A ominous cloud in the business sky is seen in figures just compiled by the Department of Commerce on American export and import trade.

Preliminary estimates for the month of June shows that the value of exports and imports struck an even balance at $359,000,000. It is the first time since April, 1926 that exports failed to run millions ahead of imports.

During the first four months of 1926 imports exceeded exports by $10,000,000 or more a month. Since then, however, the exports had predominated month after month up to June with an average of $50,000,000 excess for the 13 months intervening. The last four months of 1926 the excess of exports over imports averaged $100,000,000 a month.

Balance Disappears

For the first five months of 1927 this $100,000,000 a month export excess had shrunk to less than $20,000,000 a month and in June disappeared entirely.

In the face of the figures, just issued, economists here are asking the question whether the tide has turned and the United States is on the verge of again losing its trade supremacy, as it did during the first half of 1923 when imports exceeded exports by approximately $150,000,000.

There are numerous factors entering into world trade today that did not apply in 1923, nor in the first few months of 1926. In 1923 Europe, without had not stabilized their economies and reestablished their commerce to the point that they could finance the extensive purchases they have been making the last year or more. But with the extensive purchases of raw materials and equipment that have been going abroad European industry now is making a determined bid for the trade that American has been enjoying.

The amount of European competition has been evidenced in the falling off this year of trade with certain Latin American countries. And not only that, foreign competition is making headway in the United States itself.

For two consecutive months, May and June, imports have shown substantial increases over the corresponding months of 1926. June, 1927 imports were $23,000,000 more than in June, 1926 while in May they were $25,000,000 more than in May last year. These figures are in contrast to a $22,000,000 loss for April of $63,000,000 for March, $67,000,000 for February and $60,000,000 for January. The amount of last year that imports were in the ascendancy.

Exports in June were only $21,000,000 more than in June 1926, against the $24,000,000 June gain in imports. Thus imports last month scored a net balance of $2,000,000 over exports as compared with June of last year.

Rooster At Poultry Congress Crows Recognition Of Prince Of Wales

Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 4.—(INS)—The Prince of Wales and his brother Prince George, took advantage of a lull in the official program this morning and rested. They plan to play a round of golf over the Ottawa hunt course if the weather is fair.

The two Princes and Premier and Mrs. Stanley Baldwin will be guests tonight at a dinner given by Premier W. L. Mackenzie, of Canada. This will be followed by a reception in the Ottawa Country Club after which the visitors will board their special train to spend the night. They will leave for Brockville tomorrow morning.

The Prince of Wales danced last night with Mrs. William Phillips, wife of the United States minister to Canada. Earlier in the Day he had attended the World's poultry congress where chickens from his Alberta ranch were on exhibition. As the Prince approached a cage containing Wyandottes from his ranch, a huge rooster rose up and flapped his wings, crowing.

"By Jove, he knows me," exclaimed the Prince.

Some of the Prince's exhibits were purchased by C. S. Miller, an American fancier, and owner of Grand Hill Hatchery in Mogadore, Ohio.

Stepping Stones for Heavy Tanks

British engineers have found a way for tanks to step across unbridged rivers—by means of specially constructed wooden "stepping stones." Here one of the heavies is shown picking its way across the River Avon near Amesbury, England.

This Will Spoil My Shape, But Here Goes!

This egg is about twice the size of Muriel's mouth, but she doesn't care. She'll eat it whole, regardless of the effect it will have on her slender shape. When the egg gets about half way down it'll break anyhow, so why be fussy? Muriel is a pilot snake and harmless.
