Report Charges Duplication

By U.S. Intelligence Agencies

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. intelligence agencies duplicated each other's efforts and emphasized quantity, not quality, in gathering data abroad, according to a study that led to a major overhaul of the intelligence community

The pivotal study, which was declassified and released Thursday, was prepared under the direction of James R. Schlesinger, then assistant director of the White House Office of Management and Budget (OMB).

Former President Richard M. Nixon not only heeded Schlesinger's call for reform, but eventually chose Schlesinger to serve as director of the Central Intelligence Agency and, later, as Secretary of Defense.

Detectors May Malfunction

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Consumer Product Safety Commission says it has collected several reports of alleged malfunctioning of certain household smokedetectors made by an Illinois firm. The manufacturer is inspecting the units. BRK Electronics of Aurora, Ill., said after the commission's announcement Thursday that it believes only 220 of the 110,000 Model SS749-series units it is trying to inspect may be subject to malfunction.

Darvon Controls Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal regulators want to clamp strict controls on distribution of Darvon, the nation's third most-prescribed drug. Researchers have warned that abuse of the painkiller can cause dependence or death.

The Food and Drug Administration has recommended imposing limits on how often patients can refill prescriptions for Darvon, an FDA spokesman said Thursday.

Japan Endures Its Watergate

A few months ago Japan's former Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka had the inside track to replace faltering Takeo Miki, the current prime minister. Today Tanaka occupies a cell in the Kosuge jail accused of taking some $2 million in bribes from Lockheed Aircraft. It will be a miracle if he ever holds high office again.

The Tanaka shock symbolizes the biggest postwar scandal that Japan has endured. Sixteen officials already have been arrested for taking money under the table, some of the country's biggest firms are in financial trouble and many pelieve that the worst is yet to come — not all of the $12.6 million hat Lockheed admits that it spent Japan to influence officials has been accounted for.

We hope that those who are comparing Japan's agonies to Watergate also remember the common 'wisdom" of that era that a "watergate" could not happen in a disciplined parliamentary government that catches incipient corruption in fetal stages. Having undergone a similar national experience recently Americans can sympathize with the Japanese leaders who are asking the same questions that bedeviled us for several years. What can we do and will we ever be the same? For our part, we have no worry about Japan. The strength of the Japanese character was amply revealed in 1973 when the country underwent its most severe depression and many feared that its economy would collapse. Today everybody is worrying about how Japan's recovery is collaring an increasing share of the world market: Finance Minister Ohira underscored the reason for the recovery when he said that "it isn't something that can be calculated and expressed in figures; it's just that we are people with strength."

The strength of the Japanese institutions themselves was evident when Prime Minister Miki decided to move ahead boldly no matter who was involved or who would be hurt. Overnight Mr. Miki was transformed from an indecisive and lackluster leader into a dynamic prime minister who may yet survive in office. His liberal Democratic Party has nearly five months before the election to pull itself together and exhibit that it is making progress in resolving Japan's crisis. We hope that he succeeds. a stable Asia is an essential part of the United States' foreign policy. and a unified Japan is the key to that stability Americans, more than any other people outside of Japan itself, know what that country is going through. Consonant with the preservation of our own legalities we should help all that we can, but we also know from our own recent experiment that in the long run the Japanese people will have to solve their problem themselves.

Just Call Him Mr. Keen,

Tracer Of Lost Schools

whatever Lake W well High's record this fallin football, coach Curtis Keen will be singled out for action beyond the call of duty. An undefeated prediction? Hardly, considering the Hawks' ambitious schedule. "I want to put Lake Howell on the map. . .for people to know where the school is located," he said Thursday afternoon leaning back in a chair behind

Now there is a truly ambitious statement. Just consider that over the two years the school has fielded athletic teams, one opponent is yet to find the campus and several other teams drove around so long looking that the matches were almost cancelled.

My first trip to the school last fall was a twoday affair. I gave up the first day because I was almost out of gas, and the next day when I resumed the hunt, I finally succeeded only to learn that the ootball team didn't practice at the school. Dateline for the ultra-modern campus is

They call it the sticks, rattlesnake country. But don't expect to see the students decked out in overalls and giving you that "aw, shucks" talk. Despite the Old McDonald farmer scenery, some of the most affluent families in Central Florida reside just a stone's throw from Lake Howell. Eastbrook, Lake of the Woods, Greengate, English Woods, Wrenwood and Woodcrest Village Green are a few of the subdivisions which supply youths to the 1,800-plus student body. Keen, who took over last spring when former coach Tom Ruby resigned to enter private business, has completely ditched the old grind 'em out offense on which the Hawks stumped their toes last season. Veer is the word nowadays, and with Jim Pritchard quarterbacking, Howell has a chance of surprising a few folks. "We went from big-slow to small-quick," said

Keen with a grimace that said it was for the best. In the spring the new offense was installed, and lines were clearly drawn. A few of last year's personnel, including some starters, couldn't cut the mustard in the new offense and quit the team. Others sprang forward, however, and there are no deficiencies in spirit.

"We have a few great athletes and a lot of strong hearts," says Keen. "We're going to be rowing the boat, but at least we are in the ocean." Keen's personal approach to football is not the standard "hit 'em where they live" line. "I'm a people coach," he says bluntly. "I'm the coach, but I'm also a friend. They can come to me with a problem. I established this relationship last year as an assistant. It hasn't changed."

A few of Keen's "people" who will join Prit-chard in putting Lake Howell on the grid map include offensive backs Donnie Andriano and Donnie Schenk, Bob Luby is the best receiver on the squad, but help comes from Les Schmidt and Randy Pruitt. Offensive linemen in sound standing on the depth chart include Tony Cacciapuoti, Roy Hykoski, Larry Cannariato, Paul Hines, Rich Arnold, Doug Greider and Steve Perry.

Defensively, linemen looked to include Mike LeCore, Steve Dickson, Steve Foster, Bob Bray,

It was too good to be true. Suddenly I found I had the opportunity to visit the land of my dreams - a tropical island! It was long ago when my beloved "rolling stone" uncle visited my home, brimming with stories of the fascinating, delightful South Seas. I had been convinced that life in this land would be a forever-happy thing. And now the magical moment had come. I found that the sky was, indeed, bluer than blue, the flowers brilliant and luxurious, the sea clear and everchanging. Yes, it was all this and more. But one day as I stood on the shore listening to the roaring rhyme of the waves, I realized that I was no happier than I had been before. I discovered that my problems were within me. How could I have assumed that happiness would be guaranteed on an enchanted island? These thoughts prompted me to return to my church which I had ignored for many years. Here I found my faith was renewed, and I found self-respect and understanding that come from loving God and doing His will. I sensed anew that no man can expect to experience true happiness without Him. Hurry to your church — there to find the ingredients to make your days and your life glad and secure. Friday Isaiah 40:21-31 Revelation 4:1-11 5:9-14 46:1-11 121:1-8

Oral Roberts Seed-Faith Planting Question: What do you mean by planting seeds? Answer: There are three key principles of Seed-Faith. The first is trusting God as your only Source. This means turning your life over to God, looking directly and personally to Him as the Source for all your needs. The second principle is planting seed, which means giving God multiplies back to us what we give. That's why it's more blessed to give than to receive. I can understand this better by saying it's more productive to give. Why? Because God multiplier what we give, not what we receive. Think of it this way. When you plant seeds in the earth, you expect a harvest from those seeds. You can wish and wish for watermelons and petunias; but if you don't plant any seeds, your wishing will never result in a harvest.

Now think of your giving as planting seeds, which God can then use to meet your needs. A seed is whatever you give. . . a gift of love, time, money . . . it can be a smile of understanding or a word of encouragement. You sow your seed in faith, and the means you trust God to multiply. When you plant a seed, you're going to read harvest. What kind of harvest? That depends on the kind and quality of seed you put in. You know if you plant wheat, you reap wheat; and if you plant potatoes, you get potatoes. And so if you need a smile, plant your seed by smiling first. If you need a friend, be friendly. If your relationship with someone needs healing, plant seeds of love . . give your time, give kindness, gentleness, and forgiveness. If What A Man!" will involve other churches.

RUSSELL, Kan. (AP) - Sen. Robert J. Dole, President Ford's running mate and the man Democrats expect to spearhead attacks against their Carter-Mondale ticket, says he will avoid personal, vindictive remarks in the Gerald Ford was a "key cheerleader" for the Nixon administration.

Dole said Friday, when he appeared in his home town with President Ford, that he was ready for an aggressive but proper campaign. Ford told the crowd he chose Dole as a running mate because he was the right man to wage a tough campaign.

Dole's vice presidential opponent, Minnesota Sen. Walter Mondale, on Friday accepted Dole's challenge to a debate. "We've been doing it (debating) long enough in the Senate. I'm willing," Dole said Friday in offering to debate Mondale.

Mondale, vacationing in Hibbing, Minn., said a debate "makes a lot of sense." He said Mondale described Dole as a "nice man" Carter said he didn't see Watergate as a but called him a sharp, tough campaigner. major campaign issue.

MONDALE: Mondale, the Democratic candidate for vice president, says his use of Watergate as a campaign issue is entirely proper because

Mondale, in northern Minnesota for a family vacation at a friend's lakeside cabin told a news conference Friday that Ford had been very much a Nixon administration leader since January 1969, first as House minority leader and later as vice president. "Mr. Ford was one of the key cheerleaders in the Nixon administration. He was one of his last defenders. He has been true to the Nixon principles in all the economic and social policies since he became President," Mondale

MT. LAGUNA, Calif. (AP) - Don't say b-aa-a. It is your tax dollar they are saving. The U.S. Forest Service has 1,200 goats clearing fire breaks in the Cleveland National Forest, saving an estimated $30 to $100 an acre. The goats are eating their way through the scrub brush and undergrowth just west of Mt. Laguna, a resort and camping community in the national forest about 60 miles northeast of Their task is to clear the 300-foot-wide spaces meant to keep forest fires from spreading. The area is rich with Mountain Mahogany, shrub goats enjoy. "That's the first plant they will go after, but it's not the only one they'll eat," said Stan Allgeier, ranger for national forest's Descanso District. "The goats do eat the brush and it looks like we're saving money."
