Firm's Sales Pitch For Water Filtration Irks Mayor

By Karen Talley Herald Staff Writer

Sanford Mayor Bettye Smith has lashed out at a local water filtration company for attempting to sell its products by alluding to the possibility of pollutants and impurities in Sanford drinking

The company's sales manager today responded to the charge by saying the mayor either misunderstood what she was told by the company's telephone solicitor, or the solicitor deviated from a prepared sales pitch and misrepresented the company.

If the latter is true, the employee will probably be fired for her "overzealous" attempts to set up a water testing appointment with the mayor. according to Tim Randolph, sales manager for Water Quality Systems of Altamonte Springs. Both Mayor Smith and Randolph also said today they were not averse to meeting with one another to discuss the matter. Mayor Smith said she planned to call Randolph to discuss arranging the session.

Water Quality "Is in business to make friends. not enemies" and has not targeted Sanford "for a scare campaign." Randolph said.

Mayor Smith, however, did use the words "scare tactics" when describing the company's sales pitch to city commissioners during Monday's budget review.

'They're trying to sell by frightening us to death about our water supply.'

"They're trying to sell by frightening us to death about our water supply," the mayor said in reference to a call she received from the company on Saturday.

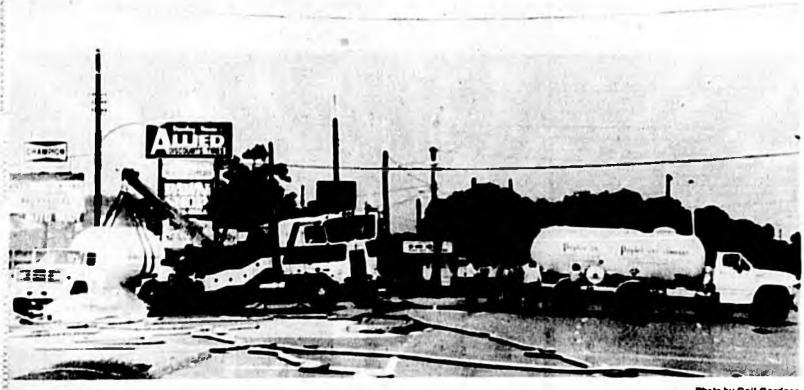

Mayor Smith said she listened to the "pitch" for several minutes before identifying herselt. The solicitor concluded the call "almost immediately" after being told who she was speaking with, the mayor said.

The scripted sales pitch includes a question rengrding residents' "concern with pollutants and contaminants in local drinking water supplies." according to Randolph, who added the company "does not in any way dispute that Sanford's drinking water meets all state and local health requirments.

A leaking propane gas tank truck with a broken drive shall prompted the closing of State Road 436 in Altamonte Springs Tuesday, snarling traffic for more than 10 hours.

More than 500 people from bustnesses and homes between Lake Howell Road and County Road 427 were evacuated and electricity to the area shut off as firefighters dissipated escaped gas. No injuries were reported.

According to reports, Richard Turcotte, 34, of Deltona was driving a Peoples Gas truck westbound on SR 436 when the drive shall broke freeing the rear wheels and dropping the back of the full tank with several thousand gallons of propane gas to the roadway. Turcotte aimed the truck into a curb to Stop II.

The 1:10 p.m. accident brought more than 50 firefighters and several pumpers to the scene from Altamonte Springs, Longwood, Casselberry and Seminole County. The pumpers watered down the truck to disperse the leaking gas.

Workers from Peoples Gas pumped about 2,000 gallons of gas from the disabled truck to two other trucks and then firefighters burned off the remaining gas ending the ordeal around midnight. The transfer of gas was halted for about 30 minutes midafternoon when a thunderstorm rumbled through the area.

An evacuation center was set up at Lyman High School on SR 427 but less than a half-dozen people utilized it. People were allowed to return to the evacuated area around 9:30 p.m.

Electricity was turned off to about 20 businesses and 100 homes after the thunderstorm because the rain forced the leaking gas closer to the ground and outside appliances such as air conditioners which could ignite the gas.

The accident, on a major roadway in the county, clogged traffic and caused up to two-hour delays as drivers were routed around the accident.

Charges Dropped Against Custodian

By Paul Schaefer Herald Staff Writer

Drug posession charges against a Seminole County high school custodian have been dropped.

A spokesman for the Seminole County State Attoney's office in Sanford said Wednesday he signed a "No Information" document and sent it to Seminole County Court declining to prosecute the custodian.

The charges stemmed from the arrest of Lake Mary High School custodian Junior Blake, 59, 2420 Granby St. Sanford, by Lake Mary police May 2. Acting on a telephone tip from an anonymous catter. Lake Mary officers pulled Blake over near the intersection of Longwood Lake Mary Rd. and Washington St. in Lake Mary after he left work. The tipster said marijuana could be found hidden in Blake's pick-up truck. Lake Mary officers pulled Blake over at about 10:15 p.m., and a search revealed a plastic bag containing other plastic bags filled with what was discovered to be marijuana. He was booked into Seminole County Jail. and released on $1,000 bond.

"We are declining to prosecute Mr. Blake because there was insufficuent evidence that he had knowledge of the substance (found) on his vehicle," Don-Marblestone, Chief Trial Attorney of the Seminole County Office of State Attorney Norm Wolfinger sald Wednes-

Wolfinger said the decision by his office to drop charges was delayed because evidence, the plastic bag containing the pot, was tied up in the Crime Lab office, at a time when the office was moving from Sanford to Orlando. Crime Lab's analysis found fingerprints on the bag, but none belonged to Blake, Marblestone said. "It appears as though the evidence

"He passed a polygraph test with flying colors, and fingerprints other than Mr. Blake's were found on the bags (of martjuana)," he added.

"All law enforcement agencies (involved with this case) concur with this decision," Marblestone continued. Those agencies include Lake Mary Police and the Seminole County Sheriff's Department, he said.

"It appears Mr. Blake was the victim of planted evidence," Marblestone said. See CHARGES, page 6A

Lake Mary city commissioners and the Home Bullders Association of Mid-Florida troversial ordinance, which appear deadlocked in a dispute over the city's proposed building moratorium/voluntary growth contribution fee ordinance. The commission wants to adopt the ordinance on an interim basis, until a permanent ordinance can be adopted later this year.

The issue tops the agenda for Thursday night's regular commission meeting at Lake Mary city hall, 158 North Country Club Rd., at 7:30

The commission will consider adopting the conimposes "fair share contributions" from developers for the impact of new growth on city services such as police and fire protection.

Casselberry Helicopter Pilot Disputes Witnesses in Fatal Crash

ORLANDO (UPI) — The pilot of a helicopter that crashed on Interstate 4 told the National Transportation Safety Board he was not chasing his wife's car along the highway as witnesses reported.

Passenger Michael Fletcher, 31, of Orlando died when the two-seat helicopter crashed Saturday evening into the interstate median near Walt Disney World after striking a power line 20 feet above ground.

George Prellezo, safety board field office chief in Miami, said Tuesday his Orlando investigator interviewed "at least seven, maybe 10" witnesses who said pilot Santiago Rosell was "buzzing" his wife's car when the crash occurred.

Rosell, 35, of Casselberry was treated for a broken collarbone and due to sedation was not available for an interview until Tuesday.

"It was done downtown at his attorney's office," Preliezo said. "He said it was bad weather approaching that forced him to fly low and he didn't see the power line. There was nothing wrong with the helicopter. We even ran the engine

NTSB Probes TV Copter Crash

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) - Investigators probing the crash of "Chopper 12" theorize that flying debris from the helicopter hit the rotor or that the rotor may have malfunctioned, officials said.

"We're specifically looking into interference with the tail rotor," George Prellezo. National Transportation Safety Board chief in Miami, said Tuesday. "We also are investigating the rotor itself, the transmission and shaft portions of the tail rotor. The sound track on the tape indicated engine noise all the way to the ground and that would seem to indicate no problem with the main engine."

The rented helicopter was used by WTLV-TV, Channel 12 in Jacksonville. It spun out of control at the end of a live traffic update.

Killed in the crash were reporter Julie King Silvers, 26, of radio station WAPE-FM, and William "Buddy" Smith, 34, the helicopter pilot.

Crystal Lake's Bacteria Count Still High, Tests To Identify Source of Pollution

A third series of tests to determine the exact type of bacteria contaminating Crystal Lake in the city of Lake Mary has been ordered, a county health department official said this morning.

The most recent series of tests revealed fecal coliform bacteria present in high numbers in the East Beach area water. The bacteria indicates the possible presence of human waste contamination.

NASA: 'Group Think' Mentality Led To Shuttle Accident

WASHINGTON (UPI) - NASA officials say a "group think" mentality, which masked impending doom, and a "culture change" resulting from past successes set the stage for the Challenger disaster.

Lawrence Mulloy, head of the booster rocket program for the agency at the time of the accident, said that with the benefit of hindsight it was obvious that previous booster rocket experience did not support the decision to launch Challenger in unusual cold weather Jan. 28.

The Rogers Commission has blamed the explosion that destroyed Challenger and killed its seven crew members on a booster rocket joint that ruptured, shooting a fiery jet at the ship's external fuel tank.

The commission found a long series of problems with the joint design, beginning with ground testing and continuing into shuttle flights. Despite the troubles, booster builder Morton Thiokol and NASA's Marshall Space Flight Center. which managed the rockets, continued to approve shuttle

Meanwhile, the lawyer who represented the widow of astronaut Gus Grissom in a wrongful death suit in the 1960s says he is now trying to negotiate an out-of-court settlement on behalf of a Challenger astronaut's family.

Attorney Ron Krist of Houston said Wednesday he had spoken in the past two weeks with representatives of Morton Thiokol, the maker of the space shuttle's booster rockets, and was scheduled to meet with them again in Houston early next week.

Progress Cited In AIDS Research

BOSTON (UPI) - In a new approach to fighting AIDS. researchers have developed a substance that appears to prevent the deadly virus from spreading by binding to genetic materials needed for reproduction.

The substance, dubbed "anti-genes," is made of short strands of synthetic DNA that adhere perfectly to specific parts of the AIDS virus needed for the virus to replicate.

In laboratory tests on human blood infected with the AIDS virus in test tubes, the "anti-genes" were found to inhibit the reproduction of the virus by up to 95 percent

Researchers have no way of knowing whether the substance will work in humans, Pederson said. But plans are underway to test the substance on monkeys next, and to possibly begin experiments in people within a year, he

A Court Reagan Can Call His Ow

The ages of the two, if they are confirmed by the Senate, means that barring sudden illness or death they could easily serve into the 21st century. The result could be an answer to the conservative movement's prayers.

Reagan already has had great success in molding the federal judiciary from the bottom up and it has only been the high court that has eluded him.

He campaigned for the presidency on a promise to appoint federal judges who would shun judicial and social activism and his conservative appointments have kept to that promise.

By the time Reagan leaves office in 1989 he will have appointed half of the nation's 575 federal judges and 168 appeals court judges, all of whom, like Supreme Court justices, serve for life. He already has appointed more than 200 members of the federal bench.

The importance of just who sits on the Supreme Court and interprets the Constitution was clearly shown just a week ago. when Burger switched votes on the abortion question to make the vote striking down a Pennsylvania law a slim 5.4.

Save The Children

Parents once lived in dread of their children coming down with diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus. Modern medicine developed a vaccine - DTP - that protects children from these infections. But modern law has developed a disease — million-dollar damage judgments - that may stop production of the serum, leaving millions of children vulnerable to deadly bacteria.

DTP is not a perfect vaccine. One in 6,000 children has a severe reaction. Each year, a few perfectly healthy children go to the pediatrician for their shot and have a seizure.

Some have died. Shocked by the fact that the vaccine can harm or kill, juries have awarded milliondollar damage judgments to the parents. The money comes from the drug companies. Once, several companies producted DTP vaccine. Now, only two make it. This year insurance companies refused to insure the nation's largest DTP producer. The company responded by taking on the risk itself - and tripling the price. The new cost is $171 per vial - $120 for product liability and $51 for

Yet the company faces 100 more suits. dating back to the 1960s, which, if damage awards mount up, could halt production, at any cost. Juries are well meaning. But juries - and the rest of us - have forgotten about the infections themselves. Grandparents and doctors who have seen children suffering the infections don't forget.

Diphtheria begins with a high tever. The child has difficulty swallowing. The threat blocks up. The child may choke to death Or toxins from bacteria may stop the heart. Death can occur 72 hours after the first symptoms.

Whooping cough usually attacks children from three months to a year old. The baby begins coughing and can't stop. The cough bullds up into a "whooping" crescende. The baby turns blue and goes into convulsions.

Tetanus was the horror of all farm families The child cuts himself on infected barbed wire. A fever begins. Muscles cramp up all over the body. The jaw locks shut. The child drowns in his own secretions.

Antibiotics can kill these bacteria. But drugs cannot remove the toxins, which permanently damage the lungs and heart.

Private pediatricians, who still have access to the DTP vaccine, fear that the higher cost will make it inaccessible to poor children.

We need to back up DTP producers with co-insurance, or to set reasonable limits on damage awards for suits involving vital vaccines. Research funds must be provided to make the DTP vaccine even less dangerous.

If DTP vaccines go off the market, parents will again awake to the nightmare of whooping cough. And babies will strangle to death in their cribs.

Oreo Survival

All hail the Oreo cookle, edible artifact of the machine age: two crisp chocolate wafers with coin-edge border encircling a garland of four-leaf clovers. And in between, a sinfully sugary white icing just walting to be scraped off by a child's two front teeth. Once separated and de-iced. Oreo halves can be savored plain; dunked in milk to reach a perfect state of sogginess; or fed to the dog when a parent isn't looking.

Hatched in Nabisco ovens in 1911 and now observing its 75th anniversary. Oreo remains the world's best-selling cookie. It's design has changed a little over the years, and there's even a double-iced version, but basically it's the same Oreo.

The tough cookies at companies like Coca-Cola, who are inclined to tamper with American icons, could learn a lesson from the success of Oreos: If it ain't broke, don't fix it.

The Military Is Getting More Secretive

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (NEA) - When a plane piloted by Lt. Gen. Robert M. Bond plunged from the sky and crashed 100 miles northwest of here, senior officers at nearby Nellis Air Force Base faced a seemingly insoluble conflict.

They wanted to publicly acknowledge the death of the three-star general who was vice commander of the Air Force Systems Command - but they could not reveal any details about his fatal mission because it was part of a secret "black" program.

As a result, the Air Force issued a cryptic announcement that said Bond was killed while flying a "specially modified and equipped aircraft." Even today, more than two years after the crash, officials at Nellis will not discuss the matter.

"Black" programs in the armed forces are hardly new, but there is a growing concern among some knowledgeable observers that the Defense Department in recent years has unnecessarily conducted too many of its operations in secret.

"The issue isn't protecting technology, but hiding the basic data that citizens in a democracy ought to have access to in order to make some judgments on how their tax resources are being used," Rep. Les Aspin, D:Wis., chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, said in a recent floor speech.

Earlier this year, the National Journal, a Washington-based magazine acclaimed for its coverage of government, estimated that the Defense Department's "black" budget has increased more than fourfold since President Reagan took office - from $5.5 billion in 1981 to $22.6 billion requested for next year.

That includes $8.6 billion worth of research and development and procurement items not identified in any fashion and $14 billion bearing code names or vague titles.

In that last category are items such as "special programs," "special activities." "selected activities," "special update programs" and "special improvement projects."

Similarly, the Navy's budget calls for funding 15 classified research projects, all believed to involve submarine silencing and detection efforts. They bear code names such as Chalk Banyan, Link Hazel and Retract Maple.

The Air Force is seeking $2.3 billion for a project designated only as Aurora but widely believed to be the Advanced Technology Bomber (popularly known as the "Stealth" aircraft) specially designed to avoid radar detection.

Also in the Air Force budget is more than $150 million for annual operation and maintenance of the Special Tactical Unit Detachment. the purposely unenlightening title of a highly classified facility at Nellis known to insiders as 'Dreamland.'

Indeed, a sizable portion of every year's "black" budget is spent at Nellis. Some of it supports secrecy-shrouded "Area 51" where Bond was killed piloting a MiG-23, one of the Soviet Union's most advanced fighter planes, and where Stealth aircraft reportedly are tested.

Both Aspin and Rep. William L. Dickinson, R-Ala., the sentor Republican on the Armed Services Committee, insist that the Stealth program is a notable example of a "black" project that ought to be declassified.

Watching Special Interests

Fashioning legislation and public policy in our country involves a battle of interests - farm, industrial. labor, consumer, regional. This battle is as old as the country and as legitimate as the institutions of government and opinion-making.

This interest approach to law and public policy allows the real concerns of real people to be part of the contests which take place in Washington. It is proper, for example, that congressmen from the farm states represent the interests of people in those states - voters who have common economic concerns not represented on a national

Nevertheless, from time to time there is specious talk about "special interests." as though affected groups in American life were doing something underhanded when they made a case for their interests. President Reagan recently urged the American people to support the Senate Finance Committee tax plan and not heed the "special inter-

The President received poor advice on this. He knows as well as anyone the legitimacy of interests in American political life. He came to public attention as the voice of a 'special interest," the General Electric Co., when he traveled around the country and presented the company's message on economic issues. His presentation was sensible and effective. The nation needed to heed this "special inter-

A few years ago, the late U.S. Sen. Henry Jackson of the State of Washington was known as "the senator from Boeing," the leading manufacturer in his state. It was not improper for Sen. Jackson, a stalwart advocate of a strong national defense, to defend an industry - the airframe industry - which was important to his state and the nation. Boeing aircraft are used by airlines around the world, and Americans can be thankful for that.

American democracy does not suffer from advocacy by "special interests." The advocacy makes the public and governmental decision-making process more complete and responsive to real needs and conditions. Mobil Oil, for instance, is noted for its newspaper and magazine advertisements in the form of editorials in which it states the case for government decisions regarding its part of the energy industry. These are brilliant ads. albeit special pleading. The public would be less well-informed if this "special pleading" were eliminated.

DON GRAFF President Waldheim

The president of Austria appoints the federal chancellor and calls parliament into session.

He also approves the chancellor's selection of government ministers. gives final OK to acts of parliament. signs treaties and swears in provincial governors.

That's about it. Pretty much your basic ceremonial head of state in a parliamentary democracy. The job has almost nothing to do with running the country. That's the business of the chancellor who, as leader of the strongest party, is responsible to parliament.

The Austrian presidency is not exactly one of the world's power centers. That's one thing to keep in mind in the fussing over the election of Kurt Waldheim to the post in something considerably short of a landslide.

Another is that the Austrian relationship with Nazi Germany was considerably more complex than much of what we've been hearing on the subject would suggest.

True, large numbers of Austrians did enthusiastically accept the German embrace in 1938. By most estimates, a national referendum scheduled for March 13 of that year would have shown at least 30 percent in favor of union. Hitler issued marching orders on March 11 precisely to prevent that vote which, despite the strong pro-German sentiment, would nevertheless have produced a negative majority.

Furthermore, being pro-German in the Austria of that time was not necessarily the same as being pro-Nazi. Pan-Germanism predated Hitler. After the unification of Germany in the 19th century, many Austrians thought their proper place was with fellow Germanspeakers, not with the Hungarians, Czechs and others of the polyglot Habsburg empire.

That empire disintegrated in World War I, leaving the Germanspeaking remnant, forbidden by the peace treaties from uniting with Germany, a people in search of an identity.

So "Anschluss" was not as simple and complicitous an event as some in retrospect see it. Not all Austrians went along quietly. Tens of thousands were rounded up and shipped off to concentration camps. Others fled into exile.

And there was a resistance, communist-dominated but with broad representation. While Waldheim was jackbooting, many of his countrymen were risking their lives for the other side. By the end of the war, more than 35,000 Austrians had died in the cause - executed as resistance fighters, murdered in concentration camps or wasted in German prisons. The number is not inconsiderable for a population of some 7 million.

A postwar American evaluation found that "considering their greater difficulties, lack of support from the outside and the large number of arrests and convictions (the Austrian resistance) can bear comparison with some of the liberated countries in Western and Northern Europe."

The Austria that emerged from the war and a decade of occupation has developed into a stable democracy with a strong economy.

Challenge To Byrd Out Of Line

By Steve Gerstel

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Traditionally, congressional leaders, once anointed, are safe and secure in their coveted roles and titles, subject only to the rarity of a palace

The most famous of these uprisings, masterminded by a gang of Young Turks, deposed a doddering Charley Halleck as House Republican leader and, in his stead, installed a future president. Gerald

It is not too far-fetched to conjecture that Ford, the amtable and unknown congressman, would not have reached the White House without first serving an apprenticeship as a House leader.

Uprisings of this magnitude are truly rare, although a the lower levels of the leadership ladder, the fighting can truly turn flerce. This year, however, Senate Democratic leader Robert Byrd is under attack - facing an open-dealing straightforward challenge from Sen. Bennett Johnston of Louisiana. Johnston is not staging a secretive coup. He has announced his intentions and both are already campaigning. The election will be held in secret by Senate Democrats in December and and the two-year term will commence in January. Ironically, Byrd, who fought hard to bring television to the Senate. could become its victim. The wily West Virginia veteran.

who has served as leader since 1977, is this time running as part of a "team" with assistant leader Alan Crarston and the third-ranked leader, Daniel Inouve of Hawaii. But when the three line up, as they did at last week's news conference to announce their re-election plans, they do not present a made-for-television appearance. Byrd is sort of mid-sized man with pompadoured gray hair. Cranston is tall, pale and gaunt. Inouve is colorless and running to fat. Byrd has never been comfortable with television. Cranston loves the medium. Inouye has rarely appeared since the Watergate hearings. Matched against charismatic and quick-witted Senate Republican leader Robert Dole, and the humorous, cloquent assistant GOP leader. Alan Simpson, the Democratic triumvirate does not come off well.

To lead, specifically in a period dominated by master communicator Ronald Reagan, the Democrats must offer someone who can take the case to the people through the medium of television.

CIA Lauds Mexico's Fairness Push

By Jack Anderson And Dale Van Atta

WASHINGTON - Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., has taken a lot of heat for his hearings on corruption in Mexico. But while he may be faulted for lack of tact, there is no denying the seriousness of the problem. In past columns, we have exposed massive, top-to-bottom corruption. Privately, the Mexicans themselves acknowledge this. The same high Mexican officials who complain about the indignity of the Senate disclosures readily admitted to Dale Van Atta on his three recent visits to Mexico that corruption is a critical problem that must be curbed. The CIA and other U.S. intelligence agencies recognize this as well. But in their latest National Intelligence Estimate on Mexico. they give President Miguel de la Madrid credit for doing more than his predecessors to fight corruption.

"In particular," the secret report states, "he has worked to distance himself from the egregious corruption and fallures of President Lopez Portillo (1976-1982) and other sentor officials of the previous government by pursuing an anticorruption campaign that has included the imprisonment of at least one former high official and revelations of abuses by others, and by projecting an image of fairness. competence and probity the president so far has provided generally effective and popular leadership." In fact, the secret report suggests that the most serious threat to de la Madrid's government would be the popular perception that he is not living up to his campaign promise of "moral renovation."

Eight out of 10 Mexicans in a recent poll said they believed "that the country's current crisis is the fault of corrupt or inept officials who enriched themselves while in office," the intelligence report states.

"Though bribery, influence peddling and nepotism and illegal profiting have historically been accepted elements of the political and social systems, corruption reached such excessive and conspicuous levels during the oil boom years that senior party and government officials as well as some labor leaders are apparently blamed by many for most of the country's current problems.

The report predicted that de la Madrid will persist in his anticorruption campaign, at least for a while, but added this warning: "There are dangers in his proceeding too quickly or casting the net too widely."

As we pointed out two years ago in a series on the high-level corruption and profiteering that were bringing the country to its knees. Mexico's problems have a far more direct and important effect on the United States than those of Nicaragua and El Salvador com-

Actually, the Helms Foreign Relations subcommittee that deals with Mexico had planned to hold hearings last fall. A key Helms aide wrote a memo to the senator listing the topics for the hearing: U.S. economic aid to Mexico: "Mexican crimes against Americans" (like the murder of a U.S. narcotles agent in February 1985); "corruption in Mexico": "fraud in Mexican elections": "failure of land reform": and "religious persecution."

Helms staffers sardonically refer to it as "The Earth Shattering Memo." It was dated Sept. 18, and in the next two days earthquakes devastated Mexico City, killing thousands.

The tragedy led to postponement of the hearings untill the first of the year, and then they were delayed further by other foreign-policy crises: the fall of Haltian dictator Baby Doc Duvalier and the ouster of Philippines President Ferdinand Marcos.

Sanford Man Gets 12 Years For Hit-Run Death

By Deane Jordan

Herald Staff Writer Sanford man has been sentenced to 12 years for the hit and run manslaughter of a 27-year-old Sanford man. Thurman Latherio Byrd, 18, of 2370 Grandby St., was charged in the Jan. 17 death of Raymond D. Clark.

According to Seminole County Sheriff's Investigator Willie Chandler, who investigated Clark's death along with Florida Highway Patrol Trooper R.E. Davis, said Clark was chased curred after sheriff's deputies had arrested Byrd's brother. Vincent E. Byrd, 22, at the club on a possession of marijuana

After the pot arrest, Thurman Byrd started to protest as deputies took his brother from the primarily black bar. Byrd allegedly incited a group in the bar forcing the deputies to form a wedge to get the man out. After sheriff's deputies left the seene with their prisoner at about 11:30. Clark and another women attempted to leave, the investigator said.

The group was chased outside and Clark didn't make it to a car. Byrd chased Clark to the roadway and reportedly shoved him into the path of a westbound vehicle. He hit the pavement and an eastbound vehicle ran over him. Neither vehicle stopped.

Witness accounts of the incidents led to the arrest.

Clark was in the wrong place at the wrong time. Chandler said. Clark had, Chandler said, from the Club Two Spot on State been invited to the black bar by Road 46 at Brisson Avenue into friends. "They (white people) the roadway. The incident oe- don't go out there in great numbers," Chandler said.

South Africa Security Tight; ANC Leader Predicts Bloodbath

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) - South Africa, In the seventh day of a nationwide state of emergency. appeared calm today and authorities credited the "Iron fist" of security forces with keeping the peace.

More than a million blacks who joined a nationwide strike Monday to mark the 10th anniversary of the Soweto riots returned to their jobs Tuesday and major city streets bustled again with activity.

Government spokesman Leon Mellet said Tuesday that, although 11 blacks died in political violence Monday, "the incidence of violence was nowhere near what was expected."

In Paris, African National Congress leader Oliver Tambo predicted South Africa would "wreak havoe" in Africa and said the United States, Britain and West Germany would be to blame for blocking effective sanctions against Pretoria.

Tambo called on blacks to "steel ourselves for war," and Zimbabwe's Prime Minister Robert Mugabe proposed formation of a Pan-African army to fight the minority white government of South Africa.

"Unless the world takes decisive action in South Africa, a bloodbath ... is inevitable," Tambo told a U.N. conference Tuesday.

In Washington, a House supporter of new economic sanctions against South Africa says such action will make that country's citizens, black and white, understand the United States cannot tolerate the system of apartheid.

"The next move is up to the city." Howell continued, "The legal standards are clear that impact fees must be supported by adequate information established by a rational study. If the city lacks that information then they need to develop it. These objections are not based on the desires of the HBA, but of the Florida Court.

Friday, Howell sent a four page letter to the commission outlining the HBA's objections to the city's proposed ordinance.

In the letter, Howell points out that the city's "fair share contributions" are actually impact fees, "regardless of the terminolservices are available. He protested calling the fees a voluntary contribution: "There is nothing voluntary about a system in which you either pay the fee or you don't build."

Howell wrote. He also said that collecting additional fees if there is a shortfall in fees collected under the proposed ordinance is unconstitutional, and that "the exemption of religious, educational, or charitable entities" from the ordinance "may create a constitutional problem." Howell's letter concludes, "On behall of the HBA, we encourage you to go forward with appropriate and adequate studies to support a legally defensible impact fee, rather than passing the... proposed ordinance."

At last week's meeting, commissioner Charlie Webster likened not collecting growth tees while waiting for a final ordinance to be developed by saying "We don't want all of the water to slip under the dam before the dam is built. Superintendent of Seminole County Schools Robert Hughes will recommend the school board reinstated Blake to his lob effective June 26. Schools' Personnel Director John Reichert said the recommendation will come at the regular school board meeting June 25.

Hughes suspended Blake from

But on May 28, the board voted to continue Blake's suspension, but put him back on the payroll, when evidence from investigators began to point to the possiblity that Blake was set-up.

According to Reichert. Blake has been a fixture at Lake Mary High School since before it opened.

"He worked for one of the companies during the construction of the school, and (school Principal) Don Reynolds asked him if he wanted to come to work." Reichert said Blake was hired as a school custodian July

Summer Meets: Local Runners Have Full Slate

The Full Moon Frolic, Junior Olympics, NCR's 20-mile relay and the Lake Mary Summer Track Meets will be among the highlights for local runners over the summer.

The Full Moon Frolic, to be held in DeLand in August, has also been a hot spot for Seminole County female distance runners to compete. Last year's champion Jill Buddenhagen of Lake Mary will look to defend her title as Trinity Prep's Adrienne Politowitz, winner of the previous year, may look to take another shot at the title.

Buddenhagen, a 1985 Lake Mary High graduate, is currently attending the University of Miami. Politowicz is coming off an impressive senior season at Trinity as she won the IA State cross country individual title along with the mile and two mile at the 1A State Track and Field Championships.

Seminole High School will send three athletes to participate in the Junior Olympics and the Sunshine State games to be held

Billy Penick, Eric Martin, and Alvin Jones were the three able to reach the proper regulrements. Penick, a distance runner, will compete in the 5.000 meters in the Junior Olympic meet and run the 2.000-meter steeplechase. Jones will participate in each meet in the triple and long jump. Many Seminole County athletes have risen into the nation's spotlight as others continue to train for their upcoming seasons. Local runners are also more than likely to be going head to head again for top honors over the summer.

Neither placed in the finals.

Lyman grad Schowonda Willimas competed in the the 100- and 400-meter hurdles. Williams fell in the qualifying for the 400s and didn't make the final, where the Louisiana State standout was one of the favorites. She didn't place in the 100s. Winter Park's Brian Jaeger placed fifth in the 5.000 meters recording a time of 14:00.63.

Jackie Johnson, a recent graduate of Seminole High, also had success in the college ranks this past track season as she attended William Penn College in Oskaloosa, lowa.

Johnson was noted for her five in a meet. In her conference meet she placed second in the triple jump, third in the 400jump, fourth in the 100-meter dash, and ran the second leg of the winning 400-meter relay

In the 100-meter hurdles she set a school record with a time of 14.74.

The Lake Mary distance corps will once again set its sights on winning the NCR relay run. Last year's record breaking team will be the same as this year's. It includes Ken Rohr, Matt Palumbo, Dave Smith, Paul Evans, Eric Petersen, Buddenhagen, Harold Pitts and Jack and Jason Likens.

Not very long if your son is Dave Martinez who is currently patrolling center field for the Chicago Cubs. Just a week ago he was doing the same for the lowa Oaks in Des Moines.

"As soon as Lefty and Lillian got the word, they were gone," Carlos Martinez said about his brother Ernest "Lefty" Martinez and wife Lillian. "I can't blame them. Everybody that knows Dave is excited about it."

Boston Third Baseman's Mother Dies In Crash

United Press International

The Boston Red Sox dedicated Tuesday night's game to third baseman Wade Boggs.

"I'm not a good bunter, so (Manager Steve Boros) let me swing away," said Nettles, who connected on his 10th homer of the season and 378th of his career, off loser Jeff Robinson. "I've had some good luck against (Robinson). For a while it looked like another loss. It's a good sign when we can hit and hit late in the game like that. We need all the good signs we can get right now."

Robinson, 4-2, had entered the game in the sixth inning when

USFL-Hired Economist Will Be Allowed To Calculate Damages

NEW YORK (UPI) - Nina Cornell, an economist hired by the USFL to calculate the damages it allegedly has suffered at the hands of the NFL, will be allowed to present to the jury her estimates the league will need $300 million to $565 million to be made whole.

Judge Peter Leisure, presiding at the USFL's antitrust trial against the NFL, overruled NFL objections Tuesday and will allow Cornell to present her analysis today to the jury in U.S. District Court in Manhattan.

The jurors were not present Tuesday during arguments by the leagues' attorneys concerning the scope of Cornell's testimony.

Cornell drew up two methods of calculating revenues which the "undamaged" USFL would have earned playing football in the fall from 1983 through 1992.

The USFL, which actually played its first three seasons in the spring, maintains the NFL's monopoly position prevented it from starting as a fall league.

The first method, based on projections from the American Football League's experience in the 1960s before its merger with the NFL, would give the USFL $565 million in damages for the 10-year period.

The second method was calculated from a study performed by CBS in 1984 when it considered - and later rejected - the possibility of televising USFL games in the fall. That analysis yielded damages of $301 million for the same period.

Select 16 Continues Fundraising

The Central Florida Select 16 and under girls basketball team continues its fundraising drive for its trip to Plainview, Conn., for the AAU/USA Junior Olympics National Tournament.

The Central Florida team will hold a car wash Saturday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Health Connection in Altamonte Springs. The team is scheduled to leave next Thursday, June 26, for the national tourney.

The Central Florida team includes Seminole County prep standouts Teri Whyte and Tonya Lawson of Sanford and Lake Mary High and Ashely Thomas of Lake Brantley High. The team is coached by Lake Mary High's Bill Moore.

Perregult Retires After 16 Years

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) - Gilbert Perreault, whose trademark was rink-long rushes, made sure he went end-to-end with the Buffalo Sabres when he announced his retirement Tuesday after 16 years with the NHL club.

The first-ever draft choice of an expansion franchise in 1970. Perreault went on to become the cornerstone and then captain of the Sabres.

Perreault becomes a free agent on July 1 and his announcement stilled speculation he'd play at least one more season, possibly with Vancouver or Detroit.

The second-round results set up two quarterfinal pairings: Brazil-France on Saturday in Guadalajara and Mexico-West Germany on Saturday in Monterrey.

The last two berths in the final eight will be determined today when England plays Paraguay at Mexico City for the right to meet Argentina, and Denmark faces Spain in Queretaro with winner taking on Belgium.

The Italy-France game matche, the defending champion against the European champion. And the French, led by their elegant midfield, were the commanding team at Mexico City's Olympic Stadium.

"It's usually said that one team is better and one team is bad, there is no such correlation." France coach Henri Michel, said. "Today one team was very good and the other team was not quite as good."

Michel Platini, one of the world's premier. players, opened the scoring in the 14th minute with his first goal of the tournament. He took a chip from Dominique Rocheteau and easily beat goalkeeper Giovanni Galli.

In the 58th minute, any hopes of recovery for Italy were dashed. Jean Tigana made a long run before crossing to Rocheteau in the box. The striker held off two opponents and pushed the ball to Yannick Stopyra for the hammering shot.

Stone complimented Dave on his quick hands and Dave detailed several things about hitting and playing center field.

"I was kind of surprised I was called up so soon." Dave said. "I'm really excited and it's great that my parents can be here to sce me play.'

Eric was also surprised with the quick call. "No one thought he would come up this soon," he said. "We were all surprised."

Wimbledon: Connors Vs. Seguso — Lloyd Vs. Fernandez

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI) - If he recovers sufficiently to make an appearance at Wimbledon, Jimmy Connors will get to meet the man who helped send him to the sidelines.

In one of several ironies that developed Tuesday at the Wimbledon draw. Connors was paired in the opening round against Robert Seguso. It was during a match with Seguso last Saturday at Queen's that Connors pulled a groin muscle while stretching for a volley.

Connors had to retire from the final the following day against Tim Mayotte because of the injury, and it is questionable just how fit the 33-yearold American will be when the 100th Wimbledon Championships starts

Connors, a two-time Wimbledon champion, was seeded third, but there is speculation he will be forced to withdraw.

Another interesting twist developed in the draw when second seed Chris Evert Lloyd got the toughest assignment of any seeded woman when she was paired against 14-year-old Mary Joe Fernandez, a fellow Floridian.

Not only did Fernandez surprise most observers by reaching the quarterfinals of the French Open two weeks ago, thereby boosting her ranking from No. 50 to 25, she gushed about the fact that Evert Lloyd long has been her hero.

"I've been watching her play since I was five," said Fernandez, who lost her second round match at Eastbourne

Martina Navratilova, the defending champion and top seed, should have an easier opening round against 26-year-old Australian Amanda Tobin Dingwall.

Navratilova dropped the first three games of the second set to Canada's Helen Kelest but the world's topranked player calmly swept the next six games to earn her 6-1. 6-3 victory. Mandlikova of Czechoslovakia had

Maffei Is Big Asset At Bayhead

Simone Maffei has been named assistant pro at Bayhead Racquet Club. Simone, who had been working with the new pro. Steve Pellitier, decided to come to the club as the assistant, and from all indications she is a great Simone is from Birmingham. Ala. and is definitely no newcomer to the game of tennis. She brings with her a great deal of experience, both as a player and as a teaching pro.

Already, her presence is being felt around Bayhead as she has assumed the many duties that go into being a pro at a busy tennis club.

Working at a tennis club is nothing new to Simone. From 1985 until the present time she worked with Hector Villorrell at the Rosemont Country Club and also at the Mission Inn Golf and Tennis Resort.

While working at these two clubs she gained a great deal of experience in several phases of the professional tennis business.

She worked with groups. lessons involving vounger children and also gave private lessons to the children. She worked in the pro-shop in selling and ordering equipment. She strung rackets, re-gripped rackets and in general was very instrumental in the operation of the clubs and camps at both Rosemont and Mission Inn.

Of course, in the meantime, she also had a full schedule of private and group lessons with

Add to this experience a stint working at Nevada Bob's Tennis Shop, buying and selling tennis equipment and you come up with a tennis pro who has a bundle of experience. All of this in such a short time. Simone is only 20 years old.

If it surprises you that a person so young could already have done so much in the world of tennis, you will really be surprised when you see her play. She has beautiful strokes and moves about the court in such a way that makes the game of tennis look effortless.

Of course, this high-level game did not come overnight. Simone has been playing for many. many years and is a highranking tournament player.

A graduate of Mountain Brook High School in Birmingham. Ala., she was an outstanding junior player. She was ranked No. 1 in the 16 and unders in Alabama and later also achieved the No. 1 ranking in the eighteen and unders.

She qualified for national events in both age divisions and dld quite well on the national level. Simone also qualified to compete in the Seventeen Magazine Tournament at Mission Viejo, Cal.

At the present time she is ranked in the top 20 in the south in women's tennis.

1 asked Simone about college and if she had any aspirations to play college tennis (It is for certain that many, many schools out there would love to give her a scholarship). She said that that is a possibility in the future but for now she wants to see what she can do in the teaching end of the game.

After many, many years as a great coach and teacher of tennis at Rollins, Ginny Mack has decided to retire. She has coached many All-Americans and many girls who made it in pro tennis.

Tennis will miss this grand lady and great coach. Good luck in the future to Ginny Mack.

"We lived in two mobile homes when we first got married," Mrs. Murray exclaims, "because netther one of us had room for everybody! It was quite an expe-

Married in 1971, the Murrays have a son, Michael, 14, who will be a student at Seminole High School next fall. "I guess I was born loving children," says Mrs. Murray. "Our house was always full with teenagers and neighborhood children coming and going. The one thing about this family is that they have the most fun when they're together. You don't have to plan anything. they just get together and do it. We've had pool parties and they dance and just have such a good time. It amazes me that they get along so well together because they were raised differently. My kids were never out of the county where we lived in Indiana but my husband's kids have traveled and lived all over. Microwave Magic

Creamy Cheese Recipes For Dairy Month

June is National Dairy Month and a good time to review some facts about microwaving cheese and other high protein foods. The high fat content of cheese attracts microwave energy: therefore, in many recipes the cheese is added at the end of the cooking. Cheeses vary in hardness, fat and moisture content and in the way they melt. A processed cheese melts more smoothly than many natural cheeses. Because of the high fat content cheese melts quickly and can become tough or stringy. When cheese is combined with eggs, cream or milk a lower power setting is desirable to produce a smoother and creamier consistency. Some favorite ways to microwave cheese are suggested here.

Eliminate extra calories in chicken by removing the skinbefore cooking. Use paper towels as a covering to allow moisture to escape and the coating to retain a crisp texture.

CHEESY CHICKEN 2 whole chicken breasts, split and skinned

2 ounces Monterey Jack cheese

Legg, beaten 4 cup cornflake crumbs

1 tablespoon parmesan cheese I teaspoon parsley flakes

1 teaspoon instant chicken

bouillon 14 teaspoon salt

Dash of pepper Cut 3-inch lengthwise slits in thickest part of each chicken breast. Cut cheese into four sticks about 1/2 x 21/2 inch each. 10 Insert cheese sticks into opening of each chicken breast. Secure opening with toothpick. Place breast boneside-down on rack or baking dish. Brush other side with egg. Combine remaining ingredients. Sprinkle evenly over chicken. Cover with paper towel. Microwave on 100% power 10-12 minutes or until done.

*Doneness for chicken is tenderness, no pinkness around bone and juice runs clear.

Summer Garlic Festivals Crop Up For Lovers Of The Stinking Rose

By John DeMers UPI Food Editor

ILROY, Calif. (UPI) - The second-most able thing about Lloyd John Harris is that he debated the folks at Lever Brothers on the rits of his garlic versus their mouthwash.

The most notable thing is that he's convinced he the year edges into garlic season - and nmer garlic festivals crop up in far-flung mers of the country — Harris is talking a great al about his clove-in-cheek fan club called wers of the Stinking Rose and his new book, The Official Garlic Lovers Handbook" (Aris.

Yet he doesn't view what he does as preaching. ot anymore.

"If people haven't gotten the garlic message at s point, they're either hopeless food illiterates they're vampires," said Harris. "Come to think of it, that's just about the same thing,"

The author alludes here to the notion garlic rightens off beings more interested in blood than arkling personality. Yet this is just one of arlic's benefits, joining its culinary intrigue and proven health benefits.

Harris helped set up late July's Gilroy Garlic Pestival a decade ago and then worked outward to inspire others in places like Berkeley, Calif., where he lives, and Nahcotta, Wash., Fitchburg. Mass., Los Angeles, Guilford, Vt., and Covington,

He is currently pushing festival plans in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., and New Orleans.

"As the population goes from relatively nongarlic to one of the world's largest consumers. we'll hopefully get past whatever prejudice did once exist," Harris said. "Wherever there are garlic lovers, there can be a garlic festival."

Narsai David, who for years had Narsai's restaurant in the San Francisco Bay area, now keeps busy catering, writing cookbooks and supporting the Berkeley Garlie Festival. Here he contributes his recipe for Napa Valley Butterflied Leg of Lamb.

Potatoes With Garlie and Chilles is by Barbara Karoff, author of the forthcoming "The Tastes of South America," who found her inspiration in Peru — natural habitat of the potato.

The recipe for Garlic Ice Cream is by Barbara Flaska, has been published in both Garlic Times and "The Book of Garlic" and has been adopted by the Nucleus Nuance restaurant in Los Angeles as its official garlic dessert.

And by the way, people seeking more information about garlic, "The Official Garlic Lovers Handbook" or garlic festivals nationwide should contact: Lovers of the Stinking Rose, c/o Aris Books. Dept. I. 1621 Fifth St., Berkeley, CA

Masterful Marinades Add Balanced Flavor To Barbecued Meats

The barbecue is one area of American cooking well. Place steak in shallow glass dish or plastic that especially brings out our creative juices. Here are two with the master's touch of well-rounded, balanced flavor.

Hearty Mustard Marinade combines popular teriyaki sauce ingredients with two of the choicest condiments around.

Don't Count On Leftovers In Favorites From Mexico

By Aileen Claire

NEA Food Editor It's been discovered that Mexican cooks making traditional dishes are most economical in their cooking. There is little waste from leftovers or ingredients because the same basic foods go into most recipes. These include flour for tortillas. cheeses, beans and nuts.
