SUFFRAGE WAS DEFEATED IN MISSISSIPPI ATTENTION RETURNS TO DELEWARE

Fight Turns to This State After Defeat In The South

DAY PROBLEMATIC

WHEN THIS MOMENTOUS QUESTION WILL BE BROUGHT UP IN DELAWARE LEGISLATURE.

Dover April 1 (By Associated Press) With the defeat of suffrage in the Mississippi legislature yesterday, Delaware resumed her place of leading interest in the fight for the Anthony amendment today. Another effort will be made to bring the measure to vote in the lower house today but it is problematical if it will be called up as friends of the measure hesitated to bring it to test because of the uncertainty of success.

Had His Arm Crushed
W. R. Brown who works with the hoist at the coal chute of the A. C. L. shops had his left arm crushed and received several lacerations about the head this morning when in some manner his clothing was caught in the cage of the hoist. Drs. Stevens and Tolar were called to him and sent him to the Fernald-Laughton Hospital where he was attended and made comfortable. He will be taken to the hospital at Waycross tonight. His many friends here hope for his speedy recovery.

DENMARK WILL HAVE BIG STRIKE

THREATENED BECAUSE KING CHRISTIAN WOULD NOT BEND THE KNEE.

Copenhagen April 1 (By Associated Press) The first move toward putting into effect the general strike ordered by the Trades Unions in protest against the refusal of King Christian to reinstate the dismissed Zahle ministry appears to have been taken by the bakers who began walking out here.

PLUNDERING IN RUHR DISTRICT

GERMAN STRIKERS HAVE LOST ALL DISCIPLINE AND BREAKING UP.

Amsterdam April 1 (By Associated Press) Plundering under the guise of requisition is the order of the day in parts of the Ruhr valley and advisers here state the disintegration of the Communist army and a lack of discipline adding to the seriousness of the situation.

EMPLOYEES OF CHICAGO ON STRIKE

CITY IS PARALYZED BY WALKOUT OF EVERY EMPLOYEE ON THE LIST.

Chicago, April 1.—Officials were busy today in another attempt to solve the problems caused by the strike of city clerks and stenographers for more money. Those who walked out yesterday, paralyzing business, picketed the city hall today and union leaders said they were firm in their determination to remain out until their demands for 25 per cent increase per month was granted.

The firemen's organization announced that 90 per cent of the firemen would resign if they were refused an increase of $300 a year. Seventy four food inspectors, who supervise the handling of the city's food supply, decided to strike today. Collection of garbage had ceased as a result of a strike two days ago of 200 garbage handlers. Sewer workers were called on strike today and members of the engineers, draftsmen and architects' union announced they were preparing to strike unless wage increases were provided.

The city council had before it a $130,000,000 budget bill carrying pay increases averaging 10 per cent for the city's 18,050 employees when it convened. The measure lacked only three votes for adoption when the body rested yesterday.

WORKMEN OF GERMANY RENEW ATTACK

ON WESLE AND PLUNDER SEVERAL OTHER PLACES IN WESTPHALIA.

The Hague March 30 (By Associated Press) Rebellious German workmen have resumed the attack on Wesle according to a despatch to the Nieuw Courant of Rotterdam. Hamm in Westphalia and several other places are reported plundered. A general strike is proclaimed at Essen advised as and is being carried out in full force.

MEETING FRIDAY NIGHT

COMMITTEES APPOINTED BY D. A. R. ON BUILDINGS FOR AMERICAN LEGION.

The Sallie Harrison Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution at their last meeting decided that instead of erecting a memorial arch for the soldiers and sailors of the world war they would bend their energies toward building a suitable building for the American Legion or a room in one of the buildings that will be erected on the lake front in the near future. In line with this policy the ladies appointed a Building and Grounds Committee and a Ways and Means Committee and appointed L. A. Brumley Chairman and H. J. Holly secretary of the general committee.

The first meeting of these committees has been called by the chairman for Friday night of this week at eight o'clock in the sun parlor of the Valdez Hotel and the following committees and the ladies of the interested in this great work were invited to attend. The following are members of the committees:

Ways And Means Committee
A. R. Key, Clifford Bell, G. I. Loucks, E. P. Forster, G. S. Smith, Roy Bower, J. D. Hood, Roy Symmes, E. F. Housholder, E. A. Douglass, B. F. Whitner.

Grounds and Building
John Russell, F. F. Dutton, S. O. Chase, Arthur Yowell, L. P. McCuller, G. D. Bishop, W. E. Watson, J. G. Ball, John Meich, B. E. Squires, Forest Lake, C. E. Henry, George Chamberlain, N. H. Garner, A. P. Connelly.

Also the members of the American Legion and especially the officers are requested to be present at the meeting.

L. A. BRUMLEY, Chairman.
R. J. Holly Sec.

SECRETARY MACPHERSON RESIGNED

AS CHIEF SECRETARY OF IRELAND AND GREENWOOD WILL TAKE PLACE.

London April 1 (By Associated Press) The Globe says Ian Macpherson chief secretary for Ireland has resigned and will be succeeded by Sir Hamar Greenwood Under secretary of Home Affairs.

DELAYS ARE DANGEROUS IN SHIPPING VEGETABLES SANFORD WANTS ACTION

Growers And Shippers Suffer From Slow Movement of Cars

TROUBLE SOMEWHERE

AND THE PEOPLE WHO ARE INTERESTED WANT TO KNOW WHERE THAT TROUBLE LIES.

The growers and the shippers and especially the cash buyers are kicking about the slow service of the railroads in the movement of the refrigerator cars. This is a most serious situation and should be investigated at once by the government and not shelved as these matters usually are shelved by the red tape and delays and other methods. The growers and the shippers of the Sanford section and of every other section of Florida are suffering big losses this season and suffering more each day as the hot season approaches and while everybody recognizes the

AVIATION FIELD IS NAMED

COMMITTEE DECIDES UPON "CELERY CITY FIELD" PAUL RADFORD GETTING THE $20 GOLD PIECE.

The aviation field south of this city was named this morning by the committee composed of A. P. Connelly, J. D. Ball and F. L. Miller. Several months ago a gentleman who resides near this city and who is greatly interested in aviation gave $20 in gold to the person giving in a suitable name for the aviation field. The donor does not want his name to be mentioned in connection with the contest although he may later and the only stipulation he made was that the names be handed in to the Herald office and the committee appointed decide upon the name.

Strange to say only about twenty five names were handed in for this contest that did not cost the people a cent to enter and the lucky one to get $20 in gold.

The committee took about two hours of their time to decide upon the name most suitable carefully weighing the various titles and their connection with the field and the city of Sanford and finally decided upon the name "The Celery City Field" suggested by Paul W. Radford of this city who is a student at Randolph-Macon Academy at Bedford Virginia.

The committee wanted a name that would mean something in connection with Sanford and while many of the other names were good and the committee had quite a time making a selection they finally took the "Celery City Field" as the most appropriate and the $20 gold piece was given to Mrs. Radford here to send to Paul.

And hereafter the name of the aviation field will be known as the "Celery City Field" and take its place upon the aerial maps and aviation journals.

cars that have been ordered. They get ready to cut celery and the car arrives a day or two days late on the siding and the celery has been cut and packed in crates and remained in the field all that time.

The growers and shippers of this section want to know why the cars are delayed after they start rolling and why they are delayed in getting to the various sidings in this section and it is up to the railroads to answer the question. There is not much celery left to in Sanford move and it seems that a better service could be had for the remainder of the crop that means much to every individual that handles it and to the community in general.

WORKERS LEADERS AMNESTY

GERMAN WORKERS IN RUHR VALLEY GIVEN 48 HOURS TO QUIT OR ELSE.

Paris April 1 (By Associated Press) The German government has granted the leaders of the workingmen's forces in the Ruhr district forty eight hours extension time in which to accept or reject the terms of the ultimatum sent to Essen last week Berlin advises state today. Negotiations are proceeding at Berlin and it is believed that the conflict in the Ruhr valley will be settled without any further hostilities.

MUCH ORATORY FLO'D

FROM NEW YORK LEGISLATURE AFTER HOT ORATORICAL FIGHT AND MUCH FUSS.

Albany N. Y. April 1 (By Associated Press) The five Socialist members of the New York state Assembly expelled early today after the debate which continued all night crammed with fiery oratory. Separate votes were taken for each of the expelled members but forty votes were the maximum mustered by the defense in any of them. The vote to expell the members ranged from 110 to 116.

Albany April 1 (By Associated Press) Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., was among those voting against expulsion of the Socialists; Louis Waldman August Clausen Charles Solomon Samuel Dewitt and Samuel Orr charged with disloyalty and the action of the Assembly marks a precedent as the first time in history when all members of a party have been expelled from a legislature body.

Cinders

The residents of Palmetto Avenue were rejoicing when they learned the street was to be improved, but when they learned further that cinders was the material to be used business began to pick up, that is objections to come up.

We know Palmetto Avenue is considered out in the woods by some, but our best schools are located on this avenue and it should have some attention. But if the City has cinders on hand, we hope and pray there will be found some other place for them—in the lake or out in the woods—but not on Palmetto avenue.

We were taxed once for wooden curbing which has rotted out and gone, now comes CINDERS. If the City cannot do anything for us please do not do anything against us. If we have done anything wrong please let us know and we will come to the City Hall and be arrested without cost or trouble to the City, and we will stay by the sand street until something better can be done. But of all things, don't give us CINDERS.

FIND HOLINESS IN FOREST

Buddhist Seekers After High Knowledge Let Themselves Be Absorbed in World of Nature.

The gods were believed to love the high forests on the mountain slopes, and there doubtless they were worshipped, even as today; every traveler must be struck by the secluded beauty of the ancient groves wherein, in the far East, the most famous temples are reared. We may gather from a story in the Upanishads how Satyakama, the cowherd, learned from his solitary communing with the wilds some lessons of the unity of man with nature. His guru, struck by the luminous gaze of the lad, questioned him. "You shine like one who knows God; who, then, has taught you?" and was answered with a radiant smile: "Not man."

Even in these early days the seeker after knowledge withdrew into the forest or sought refuge in the mountain fastnesses, and in Brahmanic times we are told that contemplation was practiced "in a place apart, pure, delightful by its sounds, its waters and its bowers, full of shelters and caves." By this means man might himself be absorbed in the world of nature, and so in the divine.

Sakyamuni, the Buddha, trained in the Brahmanic school, adopted this discipline of meditation in the presence of nature into the practice of the religion he founded. All the important recorded events of his life are associated with the works of nature. He received the truth eternal under the Bodhi tree and under it he entered Nirvana; his favorite retreats were the Deer forest, the Bamboo grove, the Vulture peak, and he and his immediate followers accepted nothing from convert rajahs of greater value than a grove or a garden plot wherein to set up their rustic shelters of leaves. To them "the body itself was but a hut in the wilderness, a flimsy shelter made by tying together the grasses that grew around. When they fell apart, they were again resolved into the original waste." Their aim was to become at heart a wild creature "filled with the forest sense of things," as one of them sang, and united with nature. This union, the Buddha taught, both by precept and practice, was to be obtained by meditation in solitude.—Hamilton Bell in Asia Magazine.

Origin of Nautical Terms.

What is the origin of the nautical term "dead reckoning"? Perhaps the general impression is that the prefix "dead" is so common in technical terms related to the ship and its rigging that it is merely the mariner's way of expressing himself. There are "dead-eyes," "dead-lights," "dead-wood," "dead-door," "dead-flat," and a host of others, and all savor more of the ozone than of etymological necessity. But there is a peculiar interest in the origin of "dead reckoning," which has always been regarded as one of the most puzzling terms to trace. The old-fashioned method of keeping the ship's log, before the admiralty supplied specially printed books, was to use small, loose sheets of paper, ruled into several columns. The latitude column being too narrow to admit the words "deduced latitude" in full at the head, the words were abbreviated to "Ded. Lat." "Ded." easily became corrupted into "dead," and hence the singular phrase for describing the mariner's "deduced" position on the high seas.—Christian Science Monitor.

Chinese Peanuts.

Shantung appears not only in peace treaties, but in peanuts. It is the biggest peanut raising district in China. It is estimated that it raises about 500,000,000 pounds of peanuts every year and that it exports about 200,000,000 pounds of shelled and unshelled nuts. Before the war some 60 per cent of the total export went to Europe. In 1918 the total exportations from China of peanut oil were 40,000 tons, worth $8,000,000. One-half of this was sent to America. The domestic consumption by China of peanuts and oil is enormous. In north and south China the people use peanuts for food and for cooking purposes. What is sent abroad is but a small percentage of the aggregate product. Peanut cake, which is the refuse after extracting oil, is used mainly for the feeding of animals.

Wedgwood Ben, M. P.

When you see Wedgwood Ben, British "M. P.," you are not surprised that he should suggest the nickname of "Buttons." Though about forty years old, he looks just the height, size and age of the boy Buttons of the English household. He is scarcely five feet high. His body is slender as a boy's. His cheek is peach blossom and the expression of the face, with rather comic eyes, is exactly the look of the typical street gamblin of London, with its shrewdness, its imperturbable good humor, and its readiness to take on any little job. Wedgwood Ben might act the part of Petey Pan on the stage, or perhaps the apter analogy is to Charlie Chaplin of the films.—San Francisco Argonaut.

Famous Forest of Arden

In the Forest of Arden near London England the ancient custom is still observed of holding a May Day procession in which people from all the parishes surrounding the forest take part. The scripture is afterward read in the shade of one of the "gos pet oaks," which are held sacred to this purpose. Little by little civilization is encroaching on the Forest of Arden. Railroads have cut through its trees, which are said once to have been so numerous that a squirrel could travel all over the forest without touching foot to the ground.

RED-HAIRED GIRLS ADMIRER

Few Old Maids Among Titian Types Says Noted British Anthropologist.

London.—"Have you noticed that there are very few red-haired old maids?" said a noted anthropologist. "Red-haired people are of a very high order of intelligence. Consequently red-haired girls have many admirers and marry young."

His opinion was expressed relative to the statement of a cinema producer that brunettes are cleverer than blondes. Several scientists agreed generally that both men and women of dark complexion are quick-witted and imaginative, while the great majority of fair people are more hard-headed, but a little slower in mental response.

Like Some Grown People.

Two young acquaintances were playing house and an argument arose over something they were to do. Mary said, "Betty, you always want your own way no matter what we are doing" to which Betty replied, "Yes, Mary, I always want my own way, but you always get it."

ZUYDER ZEE TO BE RECLAIMED

Work on $125,000,000 Engineering Project Will Start This Year.

PROVIDE LAND FOR 300,000

Dike Thirty Miles Long Is Part of Plan to Add New Province to Holland—Area of 827 Square Miles to Be Reclaimed.

The Hague.—Work is to begin this year on the reclaiming of the Zuyder Zee, one of the world's greatest engineering projects, by which it is proposed to restore to Holland within 35 years what was once hers but was taken away by storms of many centuries.

When the work is finished not only the original land will be restored, but many thousand acres which always have been beneath the sea will be ready for cultivation.

According to pre-war estimates the entire work of reclaiming the Zuyder Zee would have cost approximately $88,800,000, but, with the increased cost of labor and materials in the last six years, it is believed, the cost will be well in excess of $125,000,000. The work will be done and paid for by the state, through special loans, and the state, through rental of the land reclaimed, expects the scheme to pay for itself within a few years, and thereafter yield a handsome revenue.

Will Support 300,000 Persons. The total amount of land to be reclaimed will be 827 square miles, which will constitute a twelfth province of Holland, capable of supporting a population of 300,000, and where the great cities of ancient trading fame are expected to be restored to commercial importance. The engineering work is now well under way.

Centuries ago, at the beginning of the Christian era, when the Romans had their settlements in Holland, much of the space now occupied by the Zuyder Zee was land and the south part of the present sea was a lake, called Flevo. Northwest tempests swept the North Sea, washing away the tract of dry land between the sea and the lake. One large, shallow body of water—the Zuyder Zee—was formed.

The towns situated on its bank thrived as the merchantmen came to their ports. But as ships became larger and of deeper draught, traffic was diverted to deeper seas, leaving the once famous towns on the Zuyder's shore mere fishing villages, which they are now, while Amsterdam's commerce came to her through a canal leading direct to the North sea.

To Build Dike Thirty Miles Long. Dr. A. A. Beekman of The Hague, who has devoted nearly all his life to the idea of reclaiming the Zuyder Zee, explained the plans to the Associated Press correspondent. He is now a member of the state council which will carry out the work.

"The first thing to do," said Doctor Beekman, "is to construct a gigantic dike to keep out the North sea. This will be 30 miles long, stretching from Wieringen to the Frisian coast, where the water ranges in depth from 33 to 11 feet. It will be everywhere 16 to 17 feet above the sea level. There will be a double-track railway on top of the dike. Its construction will take nine years and its cost, by pre-war estimates, will be more than $20,000,000.

"The total surface to be reclaimed is 827 square miles. There will remain a lake of 600 square miles, which will act as a reservoir during the periods when, owing to northwestern storms, the water of the River Yssel and of the canals cannot be emptied into the North sea. The water of the lake will be let out into the North sea through five great sluices at the Wieringen end of the dike.

"Most of the land to be reclaimed now lies 13 feet beneath the sea level. Part of it is expected to be dry within 14 years, as pumping out will begin as soon as the dike is completed. The last of the land is expected to be dry within 55 years."

N. Y. Hostelry Opened in 1812 Closed by Dry Law

New York.—Prohibition closed the doors of another famous hostelry, the Eastern hotel at the Battery, which was first opened shortly after the war of 1812. Solid mahogany beams form the framework of the structure, one of the oldest on the island of Manhattan. Many prominent persons made their headquarters at the hotel, including Robert Fulton, steamboat inventor; Daniel Webster, Commodore Vanderbilt, Jenny Lind, P. T. Barnum and General Grant.

Roof Garden on Church.

Pittsburgh.—A six-story church with a roof garden and dormitories for its members will be built in Pittsburgh. Trustees of the West End Christian church have announced the new edifice will cost $500,000 and the funds set aside for the building will be used to make the roof garden a place where the congregation will find clean and wholesome pleasure.

Arabian Plant Produces Seeds That Cause People to Behave Ridiculously

In Arabia there is a plant whose seeds produce effects similar to those caused by laughing gas. The natives dry the seeds and reduce them to powder, a small dose of which has curious effects. It causes the soberest person to dance and laugh excitedly and to behave in a ridiculous manner for nearly an hour. By this time exhaustion sets in and he falls asleep, to wake up after several hours with no recollection of his antics.

The fruits of some plants destroy the taste of sweetness. A berry found in the district of Ashanti renders sour and bitter substances sweet. Electric shocks can be obtained in central India by merely touching the leaves of the electric tree.

In Brazil some plants show remarkable luminosity. One is so luminous that it can be plainly distinguished in the darkest nights for a distance of more than a mile. In its immediate vicinity it emits sufficient light to enable a person to read the smallest print. One of the most wonderfully constituted plants of this country is the ball-throwing fungus. It is a small fungus, about the size of a pea, which projects a ball to a distance of several inches with a distinctly audible report.

Giraffe Has Use for Long Neck in Defending Himself

The giraffe has neither claws nor sharp teeth with which to defend itself or to attack its enemies; so when it is out of temper with one of its own kind it does not attempt to disembowel its adversary, as a rhinoceros might, or tear it, as a tiger would. But nature has given it a long and pliable neck, and, according to a writer in the New York Herald, it uses the upper part of itself like a flail, swinging its neck round and round, and brings its head down at each swing with a thump on its antagonist. The other combatant uses precisely the same method, and the two animals bludgeoning themselves as firmly as two sible by stretching out all four legs to the utmost, stand opposite to each other and hammer away with their heads until one or the other has had enough.

"Pork Barrel" Legislation and What the Term Means

"Pork barrel legislation," in political parlance, is legislation involving appropriations for buildings and public work largely for the purpose of aiding representatives and senators in making a good impression on their constituents. The expression is based on the rural custom of sharing the contents of the pork barrel with a neighbor who has failed to lay aside a winter's supply, and the similarity of this custom to that of congressmen trading votes to help each other weather the political storms back home.

Using Wood With Concrete.

When wood is used as a reinforcing material for concrete it should be impregnated with magnesium chloride, and the wood must be so placed that any change in the cross-sectional area does not affect the durability of the structure. If the latter precaution is overlooked the concrete may crack.

The Biggest Crater.

Two young Swedish students of geology named Wadell and Yrberg, after an expedition in Iceland, have discovered what is believed to be the largest crater in the world, measuring five miles long and a quarter mile wide, and further claim to have discovered warm springs.

Why I Love My Country

Now ask me why I love my country. Such homes as mine are to be found at the country over and may are what make it a great country. Every boy scout has these loved ones that he prizes above all others. For these we would gladly give our lives for all boy scouts are brave and unselfish. Being unselfish we are not only interested in the happiness of our loved ones, but we are determined to see that every other family is just as happy as our own.—Lieut. Belvin W. Maynard in Boys' Life.

Turks and Alcohol. Though the laws of Mohammed forbid their consumption, alcohol drinks are not unpopular among the Turkish working classes. They have long been in favor with the upper classes, even in the days when prohibition laws were so strong in Turkey that the grand vizier tried to stop foreign diplomats from importing wine for their own use.

MEMBER OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

We don't know how much money the campaign committee of Gen. Leonard Wood spent on his nomination in the western states but we can safely say that the committee is spending a lot of good money in sending a bunch of slush through the mails to the various newspapers expecting to have it published free. We own General Wood nothing and if he was wise he would call off his expensive publicity committee and pay for his advertising and he might get results—that is he might in some of the Republican states.

There is a lot being said and written about the no fence law and it would be well to discuss it publicly and above board before the legislators are elected. Also it would be a good thing to have a ballot in the primary election to decide what the people want their legislators to do after they are elected. The editor of the Herald when he was a candidate for the legislature was open and above board on the proposition of fencing the cattle out of the farming section of Seminole county. The candidates for the legislature in every county in the state should be instructed on this measure by the majority of the voters at the polls. If the majority want cattle fenced the majority should rule in every county in the state and it is too early to have a state wide law as many think it would become a local option law and get a fair test before it became state wide. Like every other question it has many people on both sides and has two sides.

PEOPLE'S FORUM

Public Utilities

Hon. Robt. Holly,
Dear Sir:

Present methods of control and regulation of public utilities are not giving sufficient relief or protection either to the public or to the investor. We need the utilities and we need good service at a fair price. Consequently a permanent remedy should be found just as soon as feasible.

Two courses present themselves for consideration. One, public ownership and operation, will not be discussed here because the public is apparently not ready to undertake such operations on a large scale regardless of the recognized advantages or disadvantages of the scheme. The other alternative involves private ownership and operation with public control which creates a spirit of co-operation and confidence by insuring reciprocal profits.

The citizens are chiefly concerned in getting service, with charges consistent with the commodity required. The organization must be remunerated sufficiently to justify risks taken together with ample earnings on the money invested to attract capital.

The more precautions created to protect the venture the lower the rate of return that that will attract capital.

The utility must have freedom from unfair, hampering restrictions and from political interruption.

A satisfactory permanent agreement must provide for adequate service, compensation fair to all parties, an incentive to the utility plan to increase its efficiency and lower its costs and an inducement to the public to aid instead of hindering the organization in performing its functions. A proviso to make the rates reflect actual conditions as nearly automatic as possible would dispense with much arguing over rates. Ample and correct methods for obtaining data involving actual operating affairs can be made possible by providing public control of methods in accounting and a periodical public audit.

The public should also exercise control of extensions and improvements, with the right to veto as well as order, together with public control involving the issue of securities. Methods of arbitration should be devised for handling any disputes which might arise.

A DASHING SPORT MODEL

The New "Thorobred" Has Those Rakish Lines That So Appeal to Many Automobile Owners

The dashing new member of the Lexington Motor Company's new Series "S" line is "The Thorobred" its sport model.

This model has a touch of the unconventional but still retains that dignity which appeals to the discriminating motorist. The model is lower and has those rakish lines that bespeak the true sport model.

"The Thorobred" is mounted on the new Thorobred chassis, pronounced by automobile engineers as almost epoch-making in chassis construction. The new sport model is narrower than the regular touring car, yet it has ample room in the rear seat. The car will seat four passengers with the maximum of comfort.

The equipment on "The Thorobred" sport model is as complete as modern engineering and construction skill can make it. Like all of the other Lexington models it is equipped with motor meter, engine-driven tire pump, an inspection light, and 2-Way semi-automatic head lamps that solve the head glare menace. This and all other Lexington models are equipped also with the One-Finger emergency brake; the Moore Multiple Exhaust system and Lexigastifier, which utilize every last ounce of fuel and give the maximum of power. Cord tires are standard equipment.

The sport car is light in weight has a remarkable road-ability, and is easy to handle in traffic because of the narrower front which gives it a shorter turning radius.

This model has proven decidedly popular at not only all of the automobile shows but everywhere else that it has been shown.

THE OLD WOODEN TUB.
I like to get to thinking of the old days that are gone. When there were joys that never more the world will look upon. The days before inventors smoothed the little cares away. And made what seemed but luxury. Yes then, the joys of every day; When bathrooms were exceptions, and we got our weekly scrub by standing in the middle of a little wooden tub.

We had no rapid heaters, and no blazing gas to burn; We tilted the water on the stove, And each one took his turn. Sometimes to save expenses we would use one tub for two. The water brother Billy used, for me would also do. Although an extra kettle I was granted, I admit.

On winter nights to freshen and to warm it up a bit. We carried water up the stairs in buckets and in pails. And sometimes splashed it on our legs and rent the air with walls.

But if the nights were very cold, by closing every door. We were allowed to take our bath upon the kitchen floor. Beside the cheery stove we stood and gave ourselves a rub. In comfort most luxurious in that old wooden tub.

But modern homes no more go through that joyous weekly fun. And through the sitting rooms at night no half-dried children run; No little flying forms go past, too swift to see their charms. With shirts and underwear and things tucked underneath their arms;

The home's so full of luxury now, it's almost like a club. I sometimes wish we could go back to that old wooden tub. (Copyright by Edgar A. Guest.)

ORGANIZATION

By George Matthew Adams.

THE greatest Law of Success is Organization. Nothing so marvellously emphasizes the Infinite Mind of the Creator of this World, as His wondrous Solar System. His Organization is perfect. Organization means Results—real Triumphs. Before any Man or Business is able to get Results, there must be Organization. The greater your Organization is, the greater will your Success be.

Every healthy human being is fitted out in the first place with every Factor and Faculty for a powerful Organization. There is your Brain with scores of Elements ready to act in the Organization. There is every member and organ of your Body ready—Waiting and Willing. To Win—get all these things into a sound, workable Organization. For—

The greater your Organization is, the greater will your Success be. If you feel yourself in the position of many a Failure—take Heart. Organize yourself. Write down upon a piece of paper every useful Quality you believe yourself gifted with. Plan out how your different Abilities may help each other. Then write down the names of every possible avenue of Endeavor where your Abilities seem most adapted. Give every one of them something to DO. Set them to Work. Realize what Organization can do. Realize that—

The greater YOUR Organization is, the greater will YOUR Success be.

THE APE

THE ape is a vest-pocket edition of man which is brought to this country and exhibited in a cage for the purposes of comparison with the real article. After a full-bearded man with a face which is a cross between a spitz dog and a chrysanthemum has leaped over the railing at the zoo for a little while and studied the countenance of the naturalized ape, he will break for the nearest barber shop on the dead run.

The ape has long, eager toes and a prehensile tail, with which he is able to swing pro and con with a preoccupied look. He also has a coarse speaking voice, with which he argues violently with anybody who tries to pass him a sour peanut. The commercial ape is the kind which earns a living for some exhausted Italian who emits hymn tunes from a hand organ. There is also the cultivated trick ape, which smokes a cigarette with much the same facial expression as his brethren in pants.

The mandrill is an ornamental form of ape which is as highly colored as a Fourth of July poster. When the mandrill opens his mouth to say something he is half undressed. The gorilla is the nearest approach to the male sex which science has yet dug out in Africa. He walks on two feet with the dignified air of a blouse floor walker. The late Mr. Darwin discovered the ancestors of some of his wife's relatives. It is said, by studying the gorilla at close range.

The chimpanzee is a blood relative of the ape, but comes in a larger package. The chimpanzee is a haughty and reserved animal, and has very little affection for anything except his meals. It is not safe to toy with a chimpanzee unless the toyee is looking for a pleasing form of suicide. (Copyright.)

Spring Carnival Beauty Show
Among the many interesting features of the Woman's Club Carnival in April, "Flora's Dream" a flower cantata under the direction of Mrs. Fred Walsman and "Children in Art" (tableaux) directed by Mrs. W. E. Watson will be the beauty shows of the great event.

In the former, pretty girls and attractive young matrons representing flowers in song and dances. The songs are bright and tuneful and the dances, the poetry of motion, while the costumes will be charming representations of the flowers chosen: Poppies, wild-flowers, roses, garden flowers, old-fashioned flowers will form an ensemble of beauty and color most pleasing.

"Children in Art" will be reproductions of famous paintings by living children. Sanford's own little people of which there are none sweeter or lovelier than the groups that will feature the tableaux. Pricilla and John, "Hiawatha", "The Boy and the Rabbitt", Baby Stuart, Innocent "Kewpie", "Bo Peep" and "Betsy Ross" will be among the paintings copied by living children. Lovers of art and children will enjoy this display which will be given two days only of the carnival, however there will be two productions daily.

Genius.
The book reviewer of Everybody's Magazine drops, somewhat unaccountably, into these rhapsodical reflections on genius: "It is the queerest thing in the world, the most unexplainable. It burns now in the mind of a tax-collector's son in ancient Rome, now in a tent-maker of Persia, now in a livery keeper's son in London, now in a mixer of pills in a dreary Norwegian town. Like the wind, it bloweth whither it listeth. It is a fire that may not be quenched, either by failure or success. And whether we know it or not, its rays light the paths of all of us."

Kulling, China.—E. S. Little, noted scholar and traveler, will head a party of sportsmen early in the spring in an expedition into the district to the southwest, where an effort is to be made to rid the country of a number of man-eating animals, said by the natives to be tigers.

Reports are that 20 Chinese, besides a large number of cattle, sheep, and other animals, have been killed and devoured in the district that the hunters will visit. The country, which is about 1,000 feet above the plains along the upper foothills, has been in a state of terror since last summer. Inhabitants have abandoned their homes and farmers their fields, and Chinese report that at least five different tigers have been seen.

PLAN CHAIN OF LANDING FIELDS

Army Air Service Officers Cover 300,000 Miles in Making Aerial Survey.

IS LIKE HARBOR TO LINER.

Thirty-two Southern Cities Invited to Provide Stopping Places for Planes. —Must Be Fit to Handle All Forms of Aircraft.

New York.—Plans for establishment of a chain of airplane landing fields have been worked out by officers of the army air service and the Manufacturers Aircraft association. It was announced here.

Army flyers have covered more than 300,000 miles in an aerial survey of the country and made exhaustive reports on the facilities offered to cross-country flyers.

Representatives of 32 southern cities already have been invited to establish landing fields under army direction. Many others will receive like invitations during the next few months.

These must be laid out according to specifications given by the army, and in return the government gives steel hangars to the municipalities. Operation of the "air harbor" is assumed by the municipality.

Since the armistice the number of army fields has been reduced from 50 to 16, and the naval air stations from 17 to 9.

Like Harbor to Liner.

"The landing field," says the aircraft association, "is to the airplane what the harbor is to the ocean liner and the railroad terminal is to the train. It is not merely a flat piece of land on which a flyer can bring his craft to earth. Such a piece of ground bears the same relation to a real landing field as an unimproved water inlet to a harbor like New York or Liverpool.

"A landing field should have, first of all, dimensions which fit it to handle all forms of aircraft. It should be drained to permit its use even in the wettest weather. It should have shelter and supplies for flyers and their craft and should be accessible to the trade center it is meant to serve. "This feature is of supreme importance because commercial aerial navigation will develop only in proportion to its commercial value. The field should be identified with markings visible from great heights and with radio apparatus so flyers may be aided in finding their way in spite of the fog or failure to identify the country over which they are passing.

Haven if Mishap Occurs. "Fields at frequent intervals means that cross-country flyers can come to the earth for rest, replenishment of supplies and adjustments to their machines without inconvenience or unnecessary delay. In the event of a mishap in the air, such as a stalled motor, the near-by landing field permits the pilot to glide to it without damage to the machine or to himself.

PROFITEER CONVICTIONS HIGH

Twenty-Four Convictions in England Cost Government $5,000 Each.

London, England.—Twenty-four convictions obtained before the 1,900 anti-profiteering tribunals set up throughout England have cost more than $1,000 (nominal value $3,000) each, it was declared by Captain Wedgwood Benn in the house of commons during discussion of a proposal to extend the profiteering act for another period of six months.

Captain Benn summarized the results of the act, during its first six months of life by stating:

"Nineteen hundred committees have been appointed, 1,935 cases have been heard—one case per committee; twenty-four convictions have been obtained; £25,000 has been spent. And the cost of living has gone up!"

The proposed extension of six months was voted.

Strike Over Price of Blood.

New York.—Men who sell their blood for transfusion in operations struck for more money at the Flower hospital. They demanded $55 for a pint of blood, $30 more than they received two weeks ago, since which time the price has increased to $10. Student nurses responded as strike-breakers. Ten minutes after the strike started one nurse was on the operating table as a surgeon performed a transfusion operation and the hospital received a pint of blood free. Two hours later the nurse was attending a child. "The strike was broken. Professional blood donors on the job next day at the old wage.

DOG'S GREAT LOVE

Death Could Not Separate Rags From His Master.

With the Man He Worshiped Gone, Life Had No Charms for His Dumb Companion, and He Quickly Followed.

A professional man in a New Jersey town was the owner of a Skye terrier named Rags, which was regarded as an unusually intelligent dog, the New York Times states. His master commuted regularly to the city. Rags, no matter how bad the weather might be, always accompanied him to the station, saw him safely aboard the train, and waited until it was out of sight before he could be persuaded to return home. Rags was then quite disconsolate for the rest of the day, but late in the afternoon when his master's homebound train was due his spirits revived and he was sure to be at the station to meet him.

When the train lumbered into the town and came to a stop, Rags would run along the platform from car to car, scanning the passengers eagerly as they alighted. At sight of his master he would bark delightedly, wag his tail and jump about with joy. His pleasure was sometimes dimmed by his master missing the train. When this happened the little dog remained at the station long enough to convince himself that his owner was not there, and then, tucking his tail between his legs, he repaired to a nearby cafe, which his master customarily visited before returning home. If necessary, Rags would remain in the bar room for an hour or more, knowing well that in the natural course of events his master would call for him. On such occasions he rebuked his master by exhibiting toward him a certain shy canine indifference, which he maintained until he was regaled with dainties from the free-lunch counter.

For years the dog accompanied his master to and from the station, and their loyalty and devotion to each other was the talk of the town. Then one day the master was taken ill and died, and was duly laid to rest in the town's quiet and peaceful little cemetery. Rags never recovered from the shock of his death. Although neighbors did their best to make life pleasant for him, he refused to be comforted. He began to visit the cemetery and haunt the plot where his master was buried. There have been stories of dogs dying from grief, and some such stories have been doubted and exploded by certain naturalists, but he that as it may, one day the sexton and caretaker of the cemetery, in making his morning rounds, discovered Rags cold and lifeless beside his master's grave. This sexton, an unromantic old fellow, said he guessed the dog had died naturally from old age, but Rags' friends, and they were many, were sure it was from loneliness and grief.

In this same town there was another dog which delighted to frolic about the station with Rags. He was owned by a local hackman who plied his trade to and from the station and their homes. This dog, as though he were an integral part of it, followed the hack wherever it went. Negro pantrymen on the Pennsylvania express "Nellie Fly," which made a brief stop daily, took a fancy to the dog, and used to throw him bones from the window of the dining car. It mattered not where the hackman might be when driving a fare home, his dog knew by instinct the hour at which the express was due, and rather than be late, he would desert his master and run to the station for dear life. If his master left the station a short time before the express was due, his pet refused to accompany him, fearing evidently he might miss the train with its treat from the pantrymen.

Surveying by Airplane.

The airplane in Tasmania has been used to survey a route for the erection of a transmission line capable of delivering 10,000 horsepower of electric current from the Great Lake works to Launceston, a distance of 50 miles. No man had ever been through this part of the country. The airplane, which carried an engineer of the government hydro-electric department, traveled 150 miles, and flew over wild mountain peaks, rising to an altitude of 6,000 feet, over very heavily timbered country, numerous lakes, lagoons and rivers. Information, which in the ordinary way would have taken some months to obtain, owing to the forbidding nature of the country, was gained in a couple of hours.

That's All.

The fashionable physician had been giving instructions to the young man who was acting for him during a holiday.

"I hope everything will be all right," stammered the nervous understudy; "only I've had so little experience."

"You don't need experience with my patients," said the great man, as he grabbed his hat. "They're as simple as A, B, C. Ask them what they're eating—and stop it. Ask them where they're going for a holiday—and send them somewhere else."

Lusitania's Gold.

Efforts will be started soon to recover the treasure in the Lusitania. It is believed that the depth of the water will forbid raising the ship or any of her cargo, but some valuables can be recovered, and she carried much gold.

BILLIE BURKE

Miss Billie Burke, the pretty blond actress, is one of the most popular idols of the American "movie" stage. Some time ago she gained much fame because of a "siege" of twenty weeks in which she faced a battery of "movie" cameras.

ERRANT FANCY.
This is about the time of year when Fancy, (attempts fool)
Goes straying 'round the edges of some minnow-muddled pool;
One hears the frogs go "Gullump!" or "Gullump!" or "Gullump!"
To tell you it's "knee deep!"
This vision will grow stronger as the season upward creeps
But when 'tis spring and we have had heated day or two,
That same fool Fancy will bring back a snowy day to view!

I love the summer, when 'tis cold, I spring I like the fall,
The summer, in the winter time, I love the most of all
I love to snowball folks in June, and come through warm July
In January, over the stream I'd cast the tempting fly.
In mid December I'd go forth and pluck the daisied dell—
I strongly hope that heaven won't give me a yearn for the other place!

Treat It as Ore.

We'll not believe what we are told by any man upon the stump. Smelt what he says, save all truth's gold.

Then throw the tailings on the dump.

THE PROVOKING ANSWER.

"Who dares," the ranting speaker cried "dispute the things I say tonight?"
A quiet voice at once replied: "Well, to us who it is—I'll bite!"

DAY OF KNOWLEDGE NEAR

It is only about a month, now, till the hopeful candidate with a ballot containing the list of names of those who have promised to vote for him can look over the same list and count how many liars there are in his town ship, county or ward.

Jump Rails, Ride Ties and Jump Back Again!

Sharon, Pa.—Jumping the track on the Hilliards branch of the Bessemer railroad, a locomotive, pulling a freight train, traveled along the hard packed snow for a distance of 400 feet and then mounted to the rails again.

An Erie freight locomotive east-bound on the Bessemer road jumped the track in the Shenango (Pa.) yards and after proceeding 200 feet, again regained the rails.

And to prove their stories, railroad men will show the locomotives.

Thousands of Rabbits Killed.

Walla Walla, Wash.—More than 11,000 rabbits were killed in a drive near Burbank the other day, thousands of the bunnies escaping because the shooters ran out of ammunition. Forty thousand shots were fired. Within the last few months 25,000 rabbits were killed in drives in counties bordering the Columbia river.

EDWARD I. EDWARDS

Edward I. Edwards, the new governor of New Jersey, was elected on a "wet" ticket and does not conceal his intention to permit constitutional prohibition to be circumvented in this state if it can be done without technically violating the law.

Distance is reckoned on the Seas by Knots, on the Land by Miles and in the City by Blocks. Thereby making it just Three Blocks from First Street to the only General Merchandise Store in the City where you can purchase what you want or need.

There are two sides to a buying problem. The Dollars and Cents Side and the Service Side. The Service we do render. The Dollars and Cents Side we let you be the Judge. Service means that little something that makes a tired Counter Jumper walk several blocks after the Store is closed to deliver that package his customer couldn't get otherwise.
