Accident, no injuries

SANFORD — A minor automobile accident involving three cars brought ambulances screaming to the intersection of First Street and Sanford Avenue late yesterday morning.

According to records at the Sanford Police department, however, there were no injuries.

The ambulance was called to the scene because a 74-year-old gentleman involved in the fender-bender complained of chest pains. The man, who wears a pacemaker, was released at the scene after being examined and found to be in good health.

Records show that the others involved in the accident were also uninjured.

Lake Mary to help injured kids

LAKE MARY — A fund raiser barbecue is planned for this Saturday in Lake Mary. Money will go to help the families of the children involved in the school bus accident on Oct. 9.

The event is a publicly sponsored function, being organized by volunteer Lake Mary city employees, business leaders and citizens.

Tickets, at $5, include a half chicken and all the trimmings. Raffle tickets and bake sale items will also be offered, as will hot dogs for the children.

Tickets are available at the Lake Mary City Hall, as well as the Dept. of Public Safety facility on Rinehart Rd.

Clinton era begins

Democrats ebullient; Bush fares well in Seminole County

From Staff and Wire Reports

With his resounding victory, Bill Clinton threw open a window of opportunity to break Washington's gridlock. That spells change — from abortion rules and family leave to health care and cures for the economy.

Seminole County Democratic Executive Committee Chairman Bill Gilmartin commented that he was very happy with the nation's decision for Clinton. "It's going to be a change for the better," he said. "The government is finally going to get working again after being stagnant for the past 12 years."

Seminole County voters indicated they would have preferred George Bush as their man in the nation's highest office.

With all precincts counted, Seminole County residents cast 57,085 votes for Bush, for 48.5 percent, 35,849 votes for Clinton for 30.3 percent, and 24,477 for Perot for 20.8 percent of the totals.

Sheriff keeps badge

Eslinger declares a victory this morning

Sheriff Don Eslinger gives thumbs up to his win.

SANFORD — Even with a commanding 60 percent lead early this morning, Sheriff Don Eslinger wasn't quite ready to declare victory over challenger Charley Fagan in his first bid for office before the final count at 7 a.m. this morning.

"It's not over yet," said a still-nervous Eslinger, 55, at midnight.

But after all 133 of the county's precincts had been tallied, Eslinger received 63 percent of the vote to Fagan's 37 percent. Eslinger received a total of 69,868 votes to Fagan's 41,119.

Fagan was nearly ready to concede the race by midnight, however.

"It's not over yet," echoed Fagan, 55. "But I don't look for it to change much."

Early in the ballot counting, Fagan actually nudged close to Eslinger, collecting 49.8 percent of the mostly-Sanford ballots. But as additional precincts were counted, Eslinger began to pull ahead and retained that lead.

Fagan attributed his loss to the Republican predominance in Seminole County.

GOP takes county commission

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Republicans retained their grip on the county commission Tuesday with the GOP victories of Pat Warren, Dick Van Der Weide and Sanford's Daryl McLain.

With all of 133 precincts counted, first-term District 1 incumbent Warren was re-elected over Democratic challenger Ray Bertrand of Sanford, with a vote of 66 percent to 34 percent. GOP voters finally tapped Van Der Weide for elected office after two previous bids, firmly pushing him ahead of Democrat Ginger Bowman, 60 percent to 40 percent, to fill the District 3 seat being vacated by Republican Fred Streetman.

The race retains the 4-1 GOP-to-Democrat margin on the commission. Larry Furlong, looking for a fellow Democrat to serve with him, will have to wait at least another two years when District 2 along with his own District 4 comes before the voters.

The three victors will be sworn into office on Nov. 17.

In what many thought would be a close race, McLain won over Democrat Fred Streetman.

School board gains one new member

By VICKI BOGGS
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — There will be only one new member on the Seminole County School Board after elections last night.

District 3 incumbent Nancy Warren is returning for a fourth term on the board while District 4 candidate Larry Strickler is beginning what he promises will be his only term on the board.

Not long after the polls closed last night Strickler's supporters were already celebrating at the Seminole Work Opportunity Program (SWOP) facilities in Winter Springs.

"We're very confident," said JoAnn Strickler, the candidate's wife, with a smile. "But regardless of the result, we just want to thank the people who worked so hard for Larry."

He spoke little about the school board race and more about the merits of SWOP and of the United Way which helps finance the program.

Strickler, who won the seat by 13,217 votes over his opponent Bob Goff, poured drinks for the crowd.

New mayor on board in Lake Mary

By MARK PFEIFFER

LAKE MARY — Political newcomer Lowry Rockett won election as Mayor of Lake Mary yesterday. Rockett defeated Dick Fess who served on the city commission from 1980 to 1982 and as mayor from 1984 to 1990.

Rockett received 1,826 votes, 62.6 percent, over Fess with 1,091 votes, for 37.4 percent.

Following his victory Rockett said, "I plan to keep moving ahead with the city's progress, much of which is already underway."

He added, "As I promised in my campaign, I intend to provide professional and engineering expertise to continue meeting issues that face us today, as well as those that will be coming up in the future."

Among the problems he sees as of vital importance are the drainage problems, handling of the city's growth, improvements in the tax base through the addition of more businesses, and efficient handling of tax money.

"I want to help build a consensus with the other members of the commission to operate more effectively," he said. "We should focus on solutions to our problems, not procrastinations."

Rockett has served as chairman of the Planning and Zoning Board, and was chairman of the Charter Review

NEWS FROM THE REGION AND ACROSS THE STATE

Retirement benefits

Judge rules state has to repeal 2 new provisions

TALLAHASSEE — A state judge has said the state has to repeal two new state retirement provisions or find hundreds of thousands of dollars a year to pay for them.

The ruling means lawmakers must decide — probably during their organization session Nov. 17 — whether to repeal the provisions or find the money to pay for them. The union representing most state workers supports repeal.

Under the changes, pension increases would range from less than 1 percent to more than 3,300 percent, with increases averaging about $150,000 over the retiree's lifetime.

Gov. Lawton Chiles had gone to court asking for a delay in implementing the provisions because of the financial implications of the changes, which were approved in the waning hours of the legislative session this spring.

One change would waive the early retirement penalty for senior managers who retire after 25 years in the pension system at age 55 or provide a 5 percent pension boost as a retirement incentive for those who already qualify.

The second change would reduce the early retirement penalty for employees with 20 or more years in the system by changing the way the penalty is calculated.

Only four state employees applied for the first change in time for the Oct. 1 deadline, but the second proposal could benefit 169 senior managers and cost more than $35 million.

The first change was to be funded with a lump sum appropriation by the 1993 Legislature and the second with an estimated $383,436 raised by a special six-month increase in pension contributions for senior managers.

A state study has found that the money raised by a special six-month increase would be exhausted if only three of the 169 eligible senior managers applied.

5 teen-agers arrested for murder

JACKSONVILLE — Five teen-agers have been arrested on murder charges in last week's slaying of a 14-year-old girl in her home.

Police say Sheri Griffin, a seventh-grader at Eugene Butler Middle School, was fatally shot Oct. 25 by robbers looking for cocaine, said Sgt. Gus Carlson, a police spokesman.

One of the five defendants, 19-year-old Cassius Black, was linked to suspected members of a violent drug gang broken up last month, Carlson said.

Black was charged in Miss Griffin's death last week after being arrested in another robbery. A second adult defendant, 19-year-old Antonio T. Pender, was arrested Monday.

Also charged in the slaying were two 16-year-old students at Faxon High School and a 17-year-old student who attends Faxon Middle School.

Mom of shot tot sues housing authority

FORT LAUDERDALE — Raquel Jones' daughter was shot when the mother ordered a crack smoker away from their window — and the family was then evicted for disturbing the peace at the public housing project.

Now the mother is fighting the May 1990 eviction order, and her attorney has sued the Fort Lauderdale Housing Authority for failing to provide security at the facility.

"The law says the Housing Authority must provide an affordable and safe place to live," said her lawyer Jay Schwartz.

Three bullet fragments from a .357 magnum struck Ms. Jones' 23-month-old baby, Shaniqua Jones, in the back, after the mother opened a window and told crack smokers to move on.

Postal worker wins lottery dispute

TALLAHASSEE — A retired Louisiana postal worker has claimed his $1.7 million Lotto prize after winning a court fight, Lottery Secretary Marcia Mann said.

Randall Pollard of New Orleans will receive $67,000 a year for the next 30 years. His was one of eight tickets that shared a $15.7 million jackpot from Nov. 23, 1991, drawing.

Pollard's claim Tuesday was delayed because of a dispute with the Lottery Department over his use of an Illinois-based lottery "subscription service" that purchased the winning ticket in Cocoa Beach.

Circuit Judge L. Ralph Smith of Tallahassee cleared the way for Pollard to get his money by ruling that Florida's lottery laws do not prohibit a service from buying tickets for others. Smith also ruled that such services cannot redeem prizes for others.

Crash victims 'loved to fly and fight'

MURKSBURY FIELD — Four airmen killed in a Utah helicopter crash loved "to fly and fight," a comrade in arms said at a memorial service.

The airmen from this installation and adjacent Eglin Air Force Base in the Florida Panhandle were among 19 military personnel who died last Thursday when an Eglin-based MH-60G Pave Low crashed into the Great Salt Lake.

The other victims were service members participating in a joint Army-Air Force special operations training exercise.

A 15th crew member, one of the pilots, survived, Maj. Stephen J. Lammie, 27, of the Eglin-based 56th Special Operations Squadron, was recovering in a Salt Lake City hospital.

"They all loved to fly and fight," said Capt. Robert Baker said Monday.

Prosecutors: Inmate planned murder

ATLANTA — Federal prosecutors say a greedy Florida millionaire hired someone to shoot his ex-wife to keep her from getting his property, but she wouldn't answer her door.

So, they say, he told his mistress to buy her favorite roses to lure her to the door and her death.

"If she didn't come to the door, she couldn't be killed," assistant U.S. Attorney Robert Schroeder said in opening statements of James Vincent Sullivan's murder conspiracy trial Tuesday.

The day after the failed murder attempt, Schroeder said, Sullivan wrote in his diary: "Get Beverly."

Sullivan, 51, of Palm Beach, Fla., is charged with using interstate phone calls to arrange the murder of Lita Sullivan, 26. Mrs. Sullivan was shot at the door of her posh Atlanta home on Jan. 16, 1987, hours before a divorce hearing at which she would request more than the $2,500 a month in alimony dictated by a post-nuptial agreement.

Sullivan has pleaded innocent.

"This is a case about how an innocent man can be charged with a crime he didn't commit," Sullivan's attorney, Ed Garland, said Tuesday.

"He is cheap and greedy," Schroeder said. "He didn't want to lose anything."

Elders Ray brother is gravely ill

ST. PETERSBURG — Family members were keeping a bedside vigil with Ricky Ray, a 15-year-old AIDS-infected hemophiliac hospitalized in grave condition with pneumonia, bleeding and other complications.

"His chances of recovery appear to be slim," family friend and attorney Judy Kavanaugh said Tuesday.

"Ricky is obviously gravely ill and it may just be a question of time. But he's putting up a good fight," she said.

Ricky, the oldest of three hemophiliac brothers infected with the AIDS virus, has been hospitalized at All Children's Hospital in St. Petersburg since Oct. 17. He was listed in serious condition early today. Doctors have been unable to determine cause of the internal bleeding, Kavanaugh said.

She said Ricky was awake, but very uncomfortable.

Over the weekend he was very sick, Kavanaugh said, but on Monday seemed a little better. "He's in there fighting."

"He even joked about waking up Saturday with everyone standing beside him and thinking he was going to die, but he told them he wasn't ready yet," she said.

Parents Clifford and Louise Ray and their three other children have been at Ricky's side since Friday. Other family members also have arrived from out of state.

Ricky's two younger brothers, Robert, 14, and Randy, 13, also carry the virus that causes AIDS. Their sister, 11-year-old Candy, is not infected with HIV.

All three boys are hemophiliacs believed to have been infected by tainted blood products. The family agreed to a $1 million settlement in 1991 with pharmaceutical companies that produce hemophilia medication.

Robert was diagnosed with acquired immune deficiency syndrome in February 1990 but shows little sign of physical problems. Ricky was diagnosed with AIDS in March 1991.

The Rays gained national attention in 1986 when they were barred from attending public school in Arcadia.

Top researchers on duty

Undergrads taught 'Frontiers of Knowledge'

GAINESVILLE — Freshmen and sophomores at the University of Florida are being given the chance to look at unconventional career choices in a class taught by the school's top research scientists.

Frontiers of Human Knowledge is being taught by eminent scholars and research professors, faculty normally devoted to research and graduate teaching. The course is aimed at undergraduates, particularly freshmen.

"Students typically just don't get the flavor of all the things that are going on in the world. It takes just one spark for them to get interested in something," said Indra K. Vasil, graduate research professor in plant cell and molecular biology.

Vasil, based at the university's Institute for Food and Agricultural Sciences, developed the course to inspire students to consider new career routes.

Sixteen different professors teach the course, each giving three lectures and explaining new research in sciences, business and the humanities.

This semester's topics include: Love in Medieval Literature; Plant Biotechnology-Challenges and Rewards; Honor in American Culture; Robot Manipulators, Past and Present; and the Biochemical Basis of Vision.

"Medicine and law are obvious careers," said Madelyn M. Lockhart, dean of UF's Graduate School. "Everyone knows what it's like to be a lawyer. But how many freshmen, or even others, know what a microbiologist or a material science engineer does?"

Some 300 freshmen and sophomores have been enthusiastic about the three credit-hour class.

Sophomore Janella Letsovtis says the course requirements of weekly essays demand that students do more than memorize facts.

Thomas unopposed, qualifying for Sanford commission ends

By MARK PFEISPAUF
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Bob Thomas made it. He will retain his seat on the Sanford City Commission without being on the ballot or campaigning.

The time period for Sanford city elections on Dec. 8 ended at noon yesterday. Thomas was the only candidate to qualify for the Dist. 1 seat he has held for the past eight years.

The race for Mayor managed to stay with two candidates. Incumbent Mayor Bettye Smith, and Sanford businesswoman Sara Jacobson.

The Dist. 1 City Commission race will see four candidates seeking votes. Incumbent Lon Howell, Jordan Beckner, Bob Church, and Bill Kirchner will all be seeking that seat.

When he qualified to seek re-election last Thursday, Thomas said he wanted to stay on the commission for one more term. "Because there are still some things I feel a need to accomplish."

Just last week, he retired his post with the social services department of the Seminole County school district after slightly over 31 years of service.

For their Dist. 1 campaign, Howell and Church agreed several weeks ago to refrain from putting up election signs in the downtown area. "Especially during the Golden Age Games," Howell said. "We want Sanford to look its very best and too many political signs won't give a very good appearance to our out of town visitors to the games."

Church agreed with not placing signs in the downtown area, while Beckner said he was already having his signs made up, and Kirchner has not commented on the situation.

The city election will be held on Dec. 8. Should neither candidate in the first round for Dist. 1 receive over 50 percent of the total votes cast, a run-off election will be scheduled for the two candidates receiving the highest number of votes, on Dec. 22.

Sanford city commissioners and the mayor serve four year terms. The mayor's salary is $3,800 per year. Commissioners earn $3,000 per year.

Alzheimer's research will benefit all

In the 1960's and 1970's, the late Ross MacDonald penned several mystery novels that critics have called the finest in the crime genre. In fact, MacDonald with his accurate portrayal of both man and nature transcended the genre.

His special forte in fiction was showing how incidents in the past can influence - sometimes terrifyingly so - the present. His intricate novels wove the past and the present together in a tense and suspenseful tapestry. No minor incident was unimportant. No random occurrence was dismissable. All the plots and threads were tied together in the final chapter, leaving readers wiser and sometimes sadder.

Tragically, toward the end of his life, the man who did not forget minor details in his novels could not remember major events.

Ross MacDonald died of Alzheimer's disease. As Gov. Lawton Chiles pointed out in an Orlando speech this past week, nearly 300,000 Florida residents suffer from the disease, which progresses memory loss, disorientation and irascibility in older people. About four million people are affected with the disease nationwide.

Chiles called for spending the same amount of federal money on Alzheimer's as is spent on AIDS. Although this is a time when every federal dollar must be accounted for, it is correct. AIDS gets the most publicity but Alzheimer's affects more people.

Approximately 200,000 Americans have been infected with AIDS. It is a disease that kills. The HIV virus but not the full-blown disease. However, the one million figure is only an estimate. The four million cases of Alzheimer's are real.

In Brevard County, more than 2,500 people have been diagnosed with the disease. By 1995, that figure will increase to more than 3,500.

Research both the state and the nation have an obligation to fund the prevention and cure of this devastating disease. According to the Alzheimer's Resource Center, Inc., there will be approximately 690,000 Alzheimer's victims by 1995 in the state of Florida alone. National research now even more staggering.

Yet the government spends $200 million on research for Alzheimer's while $1 billion will be spent for AIDS. The AIDS activists are good lobbyists, which accounts for some of the disparity.

In addition to AIDS, although it is a deadly disease, the best method of dealing with it is behavior-based. Changing unsafe practices could lower dramatically the number of people infected. The same cannot be said of Alzheimer's. No one knows what causes the disease, although scientists suspect there may be a genetic "trigger" that starts the deadly count-down. People cannot change their behavior to prevent getting Alzheimer's.

The nation also has an aging population. Which means an increasing number of people will be susceptible to the disease. The medical costs of taking care of an Alzheimer's patient is at least as much as the costs of an AIDS patient.

Money spent on Alzheimer's research will be saved money in long-term medical costs if a cure is found.

So this is how campaign season ends

BOSTON — So this is how it ends. The campaign season doesn't wind down. It comes to a climax in one last great showy blaze, rather like the maple tree in the yard.

Ross Perot, that can-do mechanic under the nation's hood, that amiable host of an educational television program on the national debt, roars out the final week as a victim of assorted and dubious dirty tricks. The man who talks straight can't talk straight.

The same glibly brilliant who prides himself on sticking to the issues pops this quiet into his supporters at a news conference: "If you are going into combat and you could take any of the three of us, who would you want on your side?"

"If you were taken hostage in a foreign country which one of the candidates do you think would come in and get you?"

"Which one of the three candidates... would you want your daughter to marry?"

This is how the candidate sees his presidency: a composite of combat buddy, one-man rescue team and most unlikely savior. I am not one of the people who have never believed this campaign is over. Color me nervous. If you want, but volatile is a muted description of the autumn voter mood.

Perot has been the campaign's Rosie Ruiz, the woman who thought she could "win" the Boston

Marathon by taking a shortcut while her competitors were pounding the pavement. He went under in July and reappeared in October.

He booked 180 minutes of network television for the last three days, right at the finish line. That's a lot of exposure for a candidate.

And the morning after a Bush victory? Ever swallowed a sweet peach? The president would limp back into the Oval Office on his attacked crutch, and waddle in for a long while.

The only conviction that truly stirs George Bush is the desire to win. As a politician, he has sacrificed one belief after another for that position. An abortion-rights supporter, he turned pro-life. A man raised on tolerance, he approved

Wille Horton. Voodoo economics became his economics. He sold out piece after piece until now he is as empty as a bankrupt coffee.

As for Bill Clinton, I have not always cottoned to the man. When he bites his lower lip in sincerity, I wince. Some of his answers are too carefully constructed by half again.

But I've come to respect his tenacity and intelligence. This is a guy who wants to grab you by the collar and talk until you see his point of view. This is a politician who will hang onto a plan by the axles until he makes it happen. Who genuinely wants to make government work.

The rap against Clinton is that he tries to do all things to all people. It's said the governor isn't a leader but a consensus committee. More interested in common ground than in breaking ground.

Well, I know a lot of people like that. Most of them women. Wives and mothers are often given the role of family peacemaker. We're the listeners, the interpreters, the compromisers. We're the mediators who are always trying to keep things together.

Sometimes those roles do indeed keep people from becoming independent, take-charge decision-makers. It is possible to be too conscious of others. Too wary of conflict. But searching out a common ground in the middle of conflict is not a character flaw.

It comes to a climax in one last great showy blaze.

BIA charged with housing abuses

WASHINGTON — Though Congress proclaimed 1992 "The Year of the American Indian," a draft audit report prepared by the Interior Department portrays the Bureau of Indian Affairs in terms that typically describe slumlords — not the federal agency that's the government's guardian of Indian reservations.

The 30-page Inspector General report says that the BIA's four California offices, which administer and manage housing assistance for 100 Indian tribes, have failed to provide "decent, safe and sanitary housing to eligible Indian people."

The report also says that the BIA's housing program has been "severely mismanaged and abused."

It reinforces what Ben Tom Daehle, D-S.D., a member of the Senate Committee on Indian Affairs, has witnessed first-hand.

"It's not uncommon to see three or four people living in a two-bedroom house or even 15 to 20 people living in a one or two-bedroom house," Daehle told me. "I've stayed on a reservation in South Dakota with a family that had 20 foster kids. There were rugs on the floor for the kids to sleep on at night."

In one case, according to the audit, BIA spent roughly $10,000 to help complete a new house on the Penchanga Indian Reservation in California, but did not even connect the plumbing to a septic system. The family couldn't afford the system, so it was forced to use a portable toilet in the backyard.

Another person on the reservation was living with his wife and teenage daughter in an unfinished one-bedroom house that was missing some exterior walls and parts of the roof. The daughter was forced to sleep in a separate trailer perched in the backyard.

Yet Bureau officials declined to heed the family's plea for help "despite clearly legitimate needs which should have made it a high priority," according to the report reviewed by our associate Ed Henry.

While this teen-aged girl sleeps outdoors, however, the BIA spent $20,000 for non-emergency additions to nine homes on four reservations — not to mention a raft of bills ranging from carpentry to garage door openers.

The audit charges that many of these "nice-to-have items are not authorized" under BIA funding guidelines. About $45,000 was spent for air conditioners, a dishwasher, a carpet, ceiling fans, window screens, and garage door openers for houses on 10 different reservations. BIA is also accused of "funding improvements that did not address substandard conditions but that instead were routine maintenance or remodeling. These projects included painting interior and exterior walls, replacing vinyl flooring that was in good condition, and modernizing kitchens and bathrooms."

Daehle told us: "The way that the BIA has run the Indian housing program in the last 50 years has been a gross waste of money. The 'no frills' away the little resources that we have. Contractors have ripped the BIA off three and four times. Not enough houses are being built, and the ones that are built are built in a shabby way."

Even the BIA concedes that the housing program is a disaster. "It's a program for the homeless of the money and we ought to be getting serious about it," one senior BIA official told us. "We're not going to get it fixed until we're forced to. We're not going to get it fixed until we're forced to. We're not going to get it fixed until we're forced to."

Clinton stuns Stone

By J. MARK BARNFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Frank Stone lost his Democratic bid for re-election to a fourth term to the Florida House of Representatives to former Orange County Republican Party chairman Marvin Couch.

"I guess they believed him and not me," said Stone this morning. "Still, I don't regret changing parties last year. There's no way I'd want to be in the same party as Marvin Couch."

Couch could not be reached for comment. With 100 percent of the precincts tallied in the three-county District 33, Couch had collected 52 percent of the vote, to Stone's 48 percent. Couch collected 20,080 votes throughout the district, including 18,188 in Seminole County. Stone received 11,819 votes in Seminole County and 10,114 votes throughout the district.

District 33 takes in much of Sanford and the eastern portions of Volusia and Orange Counties. The two had waged a vicious battle in the closing days of the campaign. Stone sought to identify Couch as a follower of Pat Robinson and other Christian rightists who was opposed to abortion, social security and a host of other social issues. Couch, in return, declared Stone was unable to manage his own finances and someone who voted for billions of dollars in taxes.

In Senate District 9, which takes in southern portions of Sanford, voters kept Republican Tom Jennings in office, giving him 55.9 percent of the vote, to Democrat Doug Spivey's 44.1 percent. Spivey was reported to have received 24.5 percent of the vote in Volusia County.

In Senate District 21, Democrat Karen Johnson of Inverness appears headed to defeating incumbent Republican Dick Langley of Clermont, who has served in the upper house since 1980. With 50.5 percent of precincts counted in the district, Johnson collected 55.2 percent to Langley's 44.8 percent. Seating no County voters remained loyal to Langley, giving him with 55.3 percent of their vote.

In other Senate races, Republican Gary Sager of Fern Park breezed past Democrat Jim Kelley of Daytona with a 65.2 percent lead over Kelley in the precincts tallied. Democrat Buddy Dyer of Orlando defeated Republican Steve Berman of Altamonte Springs by receiving 54.1 percent of the vote over all precincts tallied. Dyer collected 57.5 percent of the vote in Volusia County.

In District 35, which has all of three precincts in Seminole County, Republicans Tom Fossey of Orlando walked away from Libertarian Janet Hawkins with a 71.9 percent tally.

Clinton because of the voter registration. O'Leary said, "It's just really Republican and apparently they voted on the party line rather than for the improvement of the country."

O'Leary also commented on the conservative nature of Democratic candidates in Seminole County. O'Leary said, "I was surprised," he said. "But the religious fanaticism apparently went out and got more people to register to vote their way."

District 5 was a close running campaign that showed the importance of the party line. "I don't believe the general public was as sophisticated as they are in the religious fight take over their party."

On the national level however, Democrats are used to control both the White House and Congress, bringing an end to 12 years of divided government.

"For the first time since 1980, we will have a kind of new optimism that government can work," said Georgetown University professor Stephen Wayne, a specialist in presidential elections. "Whether that optimism will be matched is another issue." About 100 federal judgeships are waiting to be filled, and Democrats will let their focus on nominations as soon as Clinton takes office.

Clinton's first priority, though, clearly is the economy. Throwing out Bush, discredited voters made the election a referendum on his lack of optimism in problems of home and industry to ease anxiety about the economy.

An Clinton Day poll of voters found that nearly 80 percent said the economy was not in good shape, and they voted overwhelmingly for Clinton. The transfer of power will be accompanied by a governmental shakeup, as the 68-year-old Bush is replaced by the 46-year-old Clinton, the first baby boomer in the White House. Clinton said his mandate was to "restore growth to our country and opportunity to our people."

Clinton needs to move swiftly to make his priorities clear and set deadlines for achieving them. The appointment of his economic advisers and secretaries of defense and state will send important signals to financial markets and world leaders.

Yet, from the economy to health care, Clinton faces major constraints: the huge budget deficit and a lack of consensus on policy approaches. His resolve will be tested against some of the nation's most powerful special interest groups. By late spring, his store of political capital may be evaporating.

Outnumbered Republicans already are plotting roadblocks. "Maybe we can frustrate some of his expanding and taxing programs," said Senate Minority Leader Bob Dole, R-Kan.

Democrats are eager to have Clinton in the Oval Office — even though he wasn't the first choice of the congressional establishment and his "different kind of Democrat" approach was more conservative than the liberal bent of the Senate and House leadership.

ocrat Fred Harlow, 57.8 percent to 42.1 percent.

McLain received 27,291 votes to Harlow's 21,287. McLain took an early lead over Harlow in Sanford-area precincts, which counted and with some exceptions, gained an overwhelming advantage.

McLain said he received countywide support. "I got support from throughout the county from both parties," said McLain. "I ran a good, clean race and I lost, but I don't think I lost."

McLain said one of his big problems is to call for a continuation of development and construction in order to meet the needs of the county.

"I want to see a continued development of the county and a continued growth of the county," McLain said. "I want to see a continued growth of the county and a continued development of the county."

Goard stays Election Supervisor

Sandra Goard is pleased with results.

By BOB PEREASAP
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Republican incumbent Supervisor of Elections Sandra "Sandy" Goard, outpolled her Democratic opponent Sandra M. Brown yesterday. Goard received 68,049 votes, 55.7 percent, over Brown's 53,709 votes, for 44.3 percent.

Goard, 48, has served in the position for the past nine years. The term length of office is four years.

"I'm happy that the voters chose to have me serve for another four years," she said last night. "This has been a very busy time for me. Not because of any campaigning, there has just been so much work to do in the office with reapportionment, and a heavy increase in voter registration."

She added, "I haven't been able to spend hardly any time on campaigning for re-election, and I only had a few signs up, so I'm delighted that it turned out this way.

Rather than comment further on her victory, Goard said wanted to stress how great her staff was in working together to get this year's elections operating smoothly and successfully. "I owe them a lot of credit," she said, "we all do."

The campaign was extremely clean, with each candidate choosing to run on their individual merits rather than pointing out any faults of her opponent.

Both women stressed the importance of maintaining a well trained office staff, and both commented on the need to manage the elections office in the best possible way, but in keeping with budgetary restrictions.

On the Sept. 1 primary, Goard defeated Theresa Coher, taking 58 percent of the votes. In the final tabulation in the primary, Goard received 12,461 votes, and Coher received 11,031.

Lake Mary sees new faces on commission

By BOB PEREASAP

LAKE MARY — Lake Mary will have a new mayor, a new city commissioner and a present commissioner who will be moving to another seat. Lowry Rockett, Gary Brender and David Meador each won election yesterday.

The closest race was between David Meador and Sheila Sawyer for Best 3. Final figures released this morning by the Supervisor of Elections office showed Meador with 1,457 votes, and Sawyer with 1,378, a difference of only 79 votes.

"I feel very fortunate that the voters have given me the opportunity to serve for another two years," Meador said this morning. "I promise to do my best to continue representing all of the citizens of Lake Mary, and believe the Commission can really begin to work together now, for the benefit of everyone."

Regarding his opponent, Meador said, "I was very impressed with Mrs. Sawyer and her supporters. They worked hard, and overall, this was a good campaign."

Meador was the only candidate in Lake Mary to refuse to put up political signs. "During my past four years on the commission," he said, "There were many times when I have voted against some request from a business to put up a sign, and I just didn't feel it was right to put my signs up all over the city."

Sawyer said this morning, she is considering asking for a recount of the vote. "I have heard from a few people who told me they were turned away from one of the precincts because they ran out of ballots," she said.

"I'm not really concerned with the close vote," she added. "I'm bothered if people who really not allowed to vote. Sawyer said she would be contacting the Supervisor of Elections office to discuss the situation."

Lormann's 1,235 votes, for 44.3 percent.

Meador had previously held the seat but chose to leave the position, opened by Council member Paul Tremel, after Lormann announced his candidacy. "At the time," Meador said, "I hadn't made up my mind about running, then when I did, I decided not to oppose Mr. Lormann so I ran for Best 3."

Commenting on his win, Brender said, "There is a lot of strength in Lake Mary and its people. Now we have to join together and continue this strength to meet the challenges of the future."

"Lake Mary has been a combination of developments, and old established neighborhoods," he commented. "What we have to do is try to improve the overall city in a joint effort."

All three of the victors in yesterday's election will be officially sworn in at Lake Mary City Hall on Dec. 7, and will officially take over their new posts beginning with the subsequent first city commission meeting scheduled for Dec. 17.

Only 1 of 5 School referendums defeated

By BOB PEREASAP
Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY — The only referendum on the Lake Mary ballot yesterday that would have cost taxpayers money was the only one of the five that went down to defeat at the polls.

A total of 68.3 percent of the voters were against the bond referendum which called for adding up to one mill to property taxes to pay for a massive paving and drainage project.

All other referendums received approval by the voters.

The tax increase had been suggested as a way to finance the paving and drainage through the issuance of up to $5 million in bonds to pay for the initial work. The bonds would be paid off by the tax, which was not to exceed one mill, but could be added to tax rolls for as long as fifteen years.

Voters said no to the additional tax, with 1,815 voting against it, while 988 voted in favor.

A list of suggested changes in the City Charter were also approved by a comfortable margin, with 1,417 voters favoring the changes while 1,099 voters opposed them.

The other three referendums, all dealing with run-off elections, were related. One called for run-offs to be added to the new City Charter if it was approved. One would add the run-off requirement to the present charter if the new one would have been rejected. The third was the result of a citizens petition, which called for the run-off. Each of the three received a sufficient number of favorable votes ranging from 62 percent approval.

celebrants who were gathered around the television watching for election results.

"I'm pleased with the results," he said later. "I'm looking forward to working with the new superintendent and with the other school board members."

Strickler's opponent Bob Goff who left town for a short vacation after casting his vote early on Tuesday.

After checking on the results Wednesday morning he said that he was pleased that he had a "respectable showing" in the race.

"I'm looking forward to continuing to work with the school board through the business advisory board," he said.

Strickler took 57 percent of the vote with 53,709 ballots cast in his favor; Goff's 45 percent of the vote represented 40,482 votes.

The party at Nancy Warren's home was more subdued. Friends came in and out all evening to congratulate her with only the "oh hey" starting to hear the final election results.

Warren said she was "happy" with the results of the election, but not just for herself.

"This was a vote of confidence for the whole school board," she said, citing the difficult time that the board has had in the wake of several controversial issues lately.

"I think there are very positive four years ahead," Warren said.

Her opponent Berris Masters was unavailable for comment this morning.

Masters earned 37,838 votes for a 39 percent share of the ballots; Warren took 59,045 votes for 61 percent of the vote.

Sanford County, Republicans outnumber Democrats 75,379 to 52,503.

"I started out with 23,000 votes in the hole," said Fagan.

Eslinger and his campaign manager Dennis Dolgner had two slightly different views of the win.

When asked if the vote represented an affirmation of his fiscal policy of improved services with the same income, Eslinger answered "We provide the leadership and the direction, but really we would have not been able to accomplish what we have done without the 540 employees of the sheriff's office that provide the service and the dedication the people deserve."

Dolgner viewed the success of the campaign with a last-minute push to Democrats.

"We had gotten our message out to the Republicans twice before," said Dolgner. "This last week, we only reached Democrats."

Eslinger survived an often bitter first primary that attracted three challengers who criticized his two-year tenure as an appointee to one rifle with problems. Eslinger went on to face runoff opponent Larry Conniff to win a position on Tuesday's ballot opposite Fagan. After losing, Conniff became the only GOP sheriff hopeful to endorse Eslinger.

Eslinger pledged to continue his program of hiring non-sworn employees to perform low-risk tasks to free the higher-paid deputies for crime fighting.

Fagan said he had no immediate plans for his future.

IN BRIEF

AROUND THE STATE

Lightning shock Blues

TAMPA — Chris Kontos scored two goals, giving him 13 for the season, as the Tampa Bay Lightning broke a four-game losing streak with a 6-4 victory over the St. Louis Blues.

Kontos, a journeyman forward who had been out of the NHL since 1990 before making the team as a free agent, had never scored more than eight goals in a season before.

Kontos' first goal capped a three-goal second-period burst that snapped a 2-2 tie. After the Blues scored twice in the third period to make it a one-goal game, Kontos assured the Lightning's second victory in as many games with St. Louis by scoring with 2:22 remaining.

Tampa Bay, which had a season-high 42 shots on goal in improving to 5-8-1, snapped the Blues' three-game winning streak.

Shelmerdine resigns

DAYTONA BEACH — Kirk Shelmerdine, who has been crew chief for 44 wins and four of Dale Earnhardt's five National Championships, has resigned effective at season's end to spend more time with his family.

AROUND THE NATION

Lurie lobbies for St. Pete

CHICAGO — Giants owner Bob Lurie lobbied for the move of his team to St. Petersburg, Fla., during a meeting with representatives of 14 major league clubs. Major league owners are to vote next Tuesday in Scottsdale, Ariz., on the fate of the team.

Lurie announced Aug. 7 that he had agreed to a $115 million deal with a group of Florida investors led by Vincent J. Naimoli. A San Francisco group led by Peter Magowan countered with a $100 million offer.

Karros top NL rookie

NEW YORK — Los Angeles first baseman Eric Karros, who hit .257 with 20 homers and 88 RBIs, was selected NL rookie of the year.

He received 22 of the 24 first-place votes and 116 points overall in balloting by the Baseball Writers Association of America. Montreal outfielder Moises Alou was second with 30 points, followed by Pittsburgh pitcher Tim Wakefield with two first-place votes and 29 points.

Yankees-Reds trade outfielders

CINCINNATI — The New York Yankees traded All-Star Roberto Kelly to Cincinnati for Paul O'Neill and first baseman Joe DeBerry.

Kelly, 28, hit .272 with 10 homers and 66 RBIs and 28 stolen bases last season. O'Neill, 29, hit .246 with 14 homers and 66 RBIs. DeBerry, 22, hit .240 with 15 homers and 68 RBI for Cedar Rapids of the Midwest League.

Page named to top court

MINNEAPOLIS — Former Minnesota Vikings defensive tackle Alan Page easily moved into the Minnesota Supreme Court in an election forced by his legal challenge. Page, 47, became the first black elected to the high court by defeating Kevin Johnson in the first race since 1966 for an open seat on the seven-member court.

Hawks-Nets trade

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. — New Jersey traded guard Mookie Blaylock and forward Roy Hinson to Atlanta for guard Rumeal Robinson.

Blaylock averaged 13.8 points a game and 6.8 assists last season. Hinson, a nine-year veteran, did not play last season and has seen limited action over the past three seasons because of an injured right knee. Robinson averaged 13 points and 5.5 assists last season.

AROUND THE WORLD

Courier advances in Paris

PARIS — Top-seeded Jim Courier of Dade City beat Andrei Chesnokov of Russia 6-3, 6-0 and David Wheaton of the United States upset fourth-seeded compatriot Michael Chang 6-4, 1-6, 6-3 in the second round of the Paris Open.

In another second-round match, third-seeded Stefan Edberg of Sweden defeated Andrei Medvedev of Ukraine 6-1, 1-6, 6-1. In a first-round match, John McEnroe beat Mark Woodforde 6-3, 3-6, 6-3.

Lighting makes trade

VANCOUVER, British Columbia — Vancouver acquired center Anatoli Semenov from Tampa Bay for forward Dave Capuano and a fourth-round draft pick in 1994. Semenov had 20 goals and 22 assists for Edmonton last season.

Raiders open with win on the road

By DEAN SMITH
 Herald Sports Writer

NEW PORT RICHEY — What an opening night. The Seminole Community College men's basketball team placed four players in double figure scoring and pummeled the home team on the backboards as the Raiders made head coach Bernard Merthie's debut a success with an 81-66 victory over Pasco-Hernando Community College Tuesday night.

The margin of victory was somewhat surprising because SCC had struggled in the preseason and was playing without two of its best scorers, forwards Deon Gavin and Sanford's Shawn Washington. But Merthie never doubted his team.

"I told everyone we were coming down here to win," said Merthie, who is now 1-0 as a college head coach. "Injuries early in preseason had put us behind in our preparations, but we've been coming together well in the past week. I was happy that everyone got to play

Spikers open district play

From Staff Reports

LAKE MARY — The first postseason event of the 1992-1993 school year will get underway tonight when the 4A-District 9 and 3A-District 6 girls' volleyball tournaments get underway at Lake Mary and Flagler-Palm Coast high schools, respectively.

The 4A-9 tournament actually got underway last night as Lake Brantley, seeded No. 8, hosted DeLand, seeded ninth, in the play-in game.

Oviedo received the No. 1 seed over Seminole Athletic Conference champion Lake Mary because of a superior winning percentage against 4A opponents. Seeded third through ninth were Deltona, Lake Howell, Mainland, Spruce Creek, Lyman, the Patriots and the Bulldogs.

At the Lake Mary High School gymnasium, the Oviedo Lions will take on the Lake Brantley-DeLand winner at 4 p.m.; Lake Howell's Silver Hawks play the Mainland Buccaneers at 5:15 p.m.; the Spruce Creek Hawks challenge Deltona's Wolves at 6:30 p.m. and the host Rams battle the Lyman Greyhounds at 7:45 p.m.

The semifinals and finals will be contested Thursday night at Lake Mary. Wednesday's 4 p.m. winner will face the 5:15 p.m. winner at 4 p.m. and the 6:30 p.m. and 7:45 p.m. winners will meet at 6 p.m. The winners of Thursday's games will then meet for the district title at 7:30 p.m.

Seminole will be the only local team in the 3A-District 6 tournament that also gets underway today at Flagler-Palm Coast. The Tribe will carry the No. 4 seed and will play fifth-seeded Leesburg at 4 p.m.

Edgewater earned the top seed for the tournament and a bye until Thursday in the seven-team district.

Seebreeze is seeded second and will take on No. 7 New Smyrna Beach at 5:30 p.m. The last game of the evening will have host, and No. 3 seed, Flagler-Palm Coast welcoming No. 6 seed Cypress Creek.

On Thursday, Edgewater will play the Seminole-Leesburg winner at 4:30 p.m. and the Seebreeze-New Smyrna Beach winner will take on the Flagler-Palm Coast-Cypress Creek winner at 6 p.m. The winners of the 4:30 p.m. and 6 p.m. games will then meet for the district crown at 7:30 p.m.

Gatherine Foye (No. 6), Megan Hay (No. 14) and their Seminole teammates play Leesburg at 4 p.m. today in the 3A-District 6 tournament.

Whelchel wraps up men's title

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — Craig Tossli's three-run home run highlighted a seven-run fourth inning that carried Whelchel & Howard to a 10-6 win over Riptide Tuesday night at Chase Park, clinching the Sanford Recreation Men's Slowpitch Softball League championship.

After falling 14-5 to ABB Power in the first game of the night, Signature Homes finally won its first game of the season by beating Briar Corporation 7-6.

With one week to play, Whelchel & Howard (8-1) has an insurmountable lead over ABB Power (5-3), Briar Corporation (5-5), Riptide (3-5) and Signature Homes (1-8).

The final night of the season has Riptide playing Signature Homes at 6:30 p.m. before facing ABB Power at 7:30 p.m. Whelchel & Howard plays ABB Power in the final game of the season at 8:30 p.m.

Providing the offense for ABB Power on Wednesday were Mark Heiny (three singles, three runs, two RBI), Tom Burnham (two singles, two runs, two RBI), Roger Kinnaird (two singles, two runs, one RBI) and Kerry Myers (two singles, two runs).

Also contributing were Tony Trice (single, run, two RBI), Manny Silvia (single, three runs), Bill Reflett and Howard Surrimento (single, RBI), Manny Rivera (single) and Ray Badal (run).

Doing the hitting for Signature Homes in the first game were Ralph Bowe (two singles, run), Ken Earley (single, run, two RBI), Carmen Rosamonda (two singles, RBI), Dan Casey (single, run, RBI), Randy Pelfrey and Scott Covell (each with a single and a run) and Larry Gregory and Jim Knowles (one single each).

Leading Signature Homes to victory in the second game were Early (three singles, run, two RBI), Pelfrey (three singles, run), Knowles (two singles, run, two RBI), Bowe (double, two runs), Rosamonda (single, two RBI) and Covell and Gregory (each with a single and a run).

Facing Briar Corporation were Duke Ferrato (triple, run, four RBI), Don Baldwin (triple, single, run, RBI), Robert Burgess (two singles, two runs), Alan Traskauskas (two singles, run), Brian Burgess and Dave Ferrato (two singles each), Bill Keck (single, run) and Mike Good and J.J. Jiles (one single each).

Greenleaf wears crown (almost)

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — Greenleaf Landscaping all but claimed the Sanford Recreation Women's Slowpitch Softball League championship Tuesday night at Pinchurst Park with an 18-5 romp over Mid Florida OB-GYN.

In other games, the Lake Mary Rams topped Lake Mary Veterinary 11-7 and Hopkins beat Beer: 30 10-4.

Greenleaf (8-0) has a 2½-game lead over Hopkins (5-2). While Hopkins has a mathematical shot at tying Greenleaf for the title, Hopkins does not have a game left with Greenleaf this season, having already lost both games to the league leaders.

The lead pair are trailed by the Lake Mary Rams (4-3), Beer: 30 (3-4), Lake Mary Veterinary (1-5) and Mid Florida OB-GYN (0-7).

Next week, Lake Mary Veterinary challenges Greenleaf at 6:30 p.m., Beer: 30 faces the Lake Mary Rams in the 7:30 p.m. game before Mid Florida OB-GYN plays Hopkins at 8:30 p.m.

Cook sets fast time, dodges wreck, scores win

Special to the Herald

SAMSULA — Ormond Beach's Jack Cook, driving the Bob's Space Racer Camaro, took top honors in the 50-lap Late Model championship race Saturday night at New Smyrna Speedway.

Cook, who set the evening's fastest qualifying time, started the race from the eighth position in the 24-car field by virtue of the draw. While running in second, Cook avoided a five-car pile up and inherited the point when race leader Wayne Anderson pitted with mechanical problems.

By the halfway mark, Cook had pulled to a comfortable lead, only to see his advantage disappear when a caution flag bunched the field. David Rogers, who was involved in two earlier incidents, restarted the event alongside of Cook. At the drop of the green, Cook regained the lead and, despite several challenges by Rogers, took top honors in the FASCAR-sanctioned event.

"Jack is back and so is the motor," said Cook in victory lane. "For several weeks, we had a real bad miss and couldn't find it. Tonight, we changed everything and the miss was gone. The car ran just great."

"The track was a little slick, though, and hard to figure out. If I over-drove the car, David (Rogers) would close on me. But if I went into the turns kind of easy, I could pull away from him."

Tony Ponder led the first lap of the race. Greg Froemming took command, only to lose the No. 1 spot to Bruce Lawrence on lap four. Anderson closed on Lawrence's bumper and, after a bump-and-run situation, claimed the lead.

Three laps later, a five-car melee in turn one brought out the red flag. The incident began when Glen Hume blew an engine, dumping oil down the straightaway and into the turn. Rogers, Lawrence, Jeff Burkett and Morgan Hoover, unable to avoid the spill, bounced off of each other, causing various degrees of sheet metal damage to each car.

Fortunately, there were no injuries and after cosmetic repairs, Rogers, Burkett, Lawrence and Hoover resumed racing.

"There were a whole bunch of cars up there and no place to go," said Lawrence, who was involved in a similar situation two weeks ago.

Cooking comes naturally to her

By ED KORDAN
Herald Correspondent

SANFORD — Effie Kruk left Germany 11 years ago but she brought all her cooking and baking talents with her.

Effie explained, "All my life I have enjoyed cooking whether it was for friends, neighbors or family, it just seemed like something natural to me."

"When I was eight years old I started watching my grandmother cook." She continued, "She showed me a lot of patience and many different ways to cook and bake. I liked cooking so much I took over many of the cooking duties for the family."

She remembers a Friday night cook show called Bon Appetit. "I would sit in front of the television copying the recipe for the week. Then I would turn around and cook it Sunday for my family. Even the neighbors would come by because they knew I had a new recipe and they would want to try it out."

When Effie, born and raised in Frankfurt, came to the United States in 1981, she could only speak German. Her hobbies became the movies, reading and television. The hobbies became the tool she used to learn the English language. She studied her hobbies intently so she could learn the language fast and continue her career.

A career hair stylist, she learned her skills in three years of apprenticeship back in her home country. It is going on five years since she went to work for Mane Creations in Sanford.

An avid reader, her three favorite authors are Stephen King, Dean Koonits and Jonathan Kellerman. She is now reading Jonathan Kellerman's "Private Eyes." The movie "Pet Cemetery" from the book by Stephen King is her favorite movie.

When she is not at a movie theatre or working, she is a student at Seminole Community College taking physical education courses. She plans to take other courses and eventually get an AA degree. Effie is also working on her citizenship papers.

"Gulaschuppe" is a famous German snack comparable to the chili served in the United States. It can be served as a main dish with potatoes, pasta, rice, or dumplings of any type. The "Speck-knoedel" recipe is similar to the "American dumplings" and their base is one- or two-day-old rolls.

"Gulaschuppe and Speck-knoedel is a wonderful tasty snack or meal, exclaimed Effie. "I have always fixed it for guests because it is easy to prepare and there is never anything left over."

SPECK-KNODEL (BACON DUMPLINGS)

3 Tbsp. bacon, cubed
6 Chicago hard rolls, 1-2 days old

1 onion, chopped finely
Salt and pepper
3 Tbsp. flour
1 cup milk
2 eggs, beaten
Some bread crumbs, if needed

Saute bacon until it has a glassy appearance. Mix with thinly sliced rolls, onion, salt, pepper and flour. Heat milk to lukewarm. Add to mixture. Let sit for 2-3 minutes. Add beaten eggs and bread crumbs if needed. With wet hands form dumplings. Put in boiling salted water. Turn heat down and simmer until ready.

GULASCHUPPE (GOULASH SOUP)

1 lb. onions, chopped
3 Tbsp. bacon grease or lard
1/2 lb. cubed potatoes
1 green pepper, cubed
1 lb. tomatoes, peeled and chopped

1-2 Tbsp. tomato paste
2-3 Tbsp. paprika
1 1/2 quarts hot water
1/2 lb. cubed beef
1/2 lb. cubed veal
Salt, pepper and basil to taste
6-7 oz. red wine
Fresh garlic (optional)

In a large, heavy pot over medium heat brown onion in bacon grease or lard. Add cubed beef and veal and brown for about 5 minutes. Stir often, remove from heat. Add paprika and stir in hot water immediately. Return to heat. Peel and cube potatoes. Add to pot. Then add salt, pepper, basil and tomato paste. Continue stirring until all ingredients are well mixed. Turn heat to simmer and cover pot. After 20 minutes, add cubed green pepper. Dip tomatoes in hot water to peel easily. Then chop and seed tomatoes. Add to pot and simmer for 40-50 minutes. Stir occasionally. If needed, add more salt and paprika. Near the end of the cooking time, add red wine. Let boil once more and add garlic if desired.

This recipe can be used as a main dish or poured over potatoes, pasta or dumplings. It makes a good soup for a supper party as well.

CREAM OF WHEAT FUDGING

2 1/2 Tbs. Cream of Wheat cereal
2 1/2 cups milk
3 Tbsp. sugar
Pinch of cinnamon
Zest of one-half lemon
2 eggs

Prepare cream of wheat according to package, only with milk, not water. Include all seasonings. Let sit for 10-15 minutes. Separate eggs. Beat egg yolks and add to cream of wheat mixture. Beat egg whites until stiff. Add to wheat mixture, mixing well. Put ingredients into a springform pan. Chill. Turn onto plate and decorate with fruit.

RABBIT STEW

1 or 2 rabbits
2-3 Tbsp. flour

2-3 Tbsp. butter
3-4 garlic cloves, chopped
Salt and pepper
2 chopped onions
Broth or water to cover

Cut rabbit into pieces. Roll in flour, salt and pepper. Heat butter in large pot or Dutch oven. Brown. Add broth or water, onion, garlic and more salt and pepper if needed. Cover and cook over medium heat until tender. This recipe can be cooked in oven or on stove top.

GREEN SAUCE

1 cup mayonnaise
1 cup sour cream
2 handfuls fresh herbs such as parsley, basil and chives, chopped fine

3 hardboiled eggs, chopped
1 dill pickle, chopped fine
1 small onion, chopped fine
1 clove garlic, finely grated
2 Tbsp. mustard
Salt and pepper
Juice from 1/2 lemon
Mix everything together. Let sit for 2-3 hours in refrigerator. Serve with baked fish or meat.

Squash is an old friend in abundance

Some dining delights of rich and famous

By MARIALBA CALTA
NEA Food Writer

You can learn a lot reading cookbooks. Recently, for example, I learned that at Elizabeth Taylor's latest wedding, her floral centerpieces were accented by double-faced, pool-edged lavender and mauve satin ribbons. I learned that the place to be seen in Monaco is the Sporting Club, a six-story open air "fun center" on the Mediterranean, where you can dance, gamble or dine and you might even spot the likes of Tina Turner, Ray Charles or Princess Caroline.

I learned that Eva Gabor is a nice six, and that Randy Travis' horse is the grandson of Roy Rogers' Trigger.

Now clearly, not every cookbook delivers this kind of goods, but this is no ordinary cookbook. It is "The Lifestyles of the Rich and Famous Cookbook," by — it goes without saying — Robin Leach, Mr. "Champagne Wishes and Caviar Dreams" himself (Viking, 1992). It also delivers a few laughs, which begin in the Introduction when Leach writes — apparently in all seriousness — that "the rich and famous are no different from the rest of us when it comes to cooking and entertaining." It's just that the rich and famous throw their parties in private rooms at the Plaza hotel in New York City (as Ivana Trump does), or on luxury yachts (as Ernest Borgnine does), or at seaside villas (as heiress Isabel Goldsmith does). It's just that guests might include Queen Elizabeth II or Margaret Thatcher (read the chapter on Texas hotelier Caroline Hunt) and that tables are set with antique Haviland plates or Spode china or Baccarat crystal or Venetian glass. Menu items include Sushi Pave, Moroccan Grilled Salmon and Marscarpone Sorbet. Sounds like Saturday night at our house.

But the photos are lavish, spiked with stunning women in a fabulous array of fashionable clothes. The food looks, well, good enough to eat. And even though I may never actually make the Chilled Lobster Bouillon from the Hotel de Paris, it is somehow comforting to know that Princess Caroline of Monaco and I share a recipe.

Squash of one variety or another is an old friend that we can find in great abundance this time of the year. It comes in an array of colors, shapes and sizes. A member of the gourd family, squash is believed to have originated in Peru about 2,000 years ago. There are two main types, summer and winter, and a number of varieties of each.

Since winter squash are at the peak of harvesting now, we need to include them in our meal planning. Winter squash is hard shelled and allowed to remain on the same vine until fully ripe, usually until the first frost. The best known types are: Acorn, green or white, oval in shape, pointed at one end. Its shell sometimes turns orange during storage. The flesh is sweet and moist. Butternut is cylindrical shaped. The skin is smooth and tan colored. The flesh is orange, sweet and moist. Hubbard is large. It is shaped like a sphere and tapered at both ends. The shell is ridged and bumpy, varying in color from blue-gray to deep green or orange-red. It too is sweet and moist. Turban looks just like that in shape. Has bumpy skin, orange with stripes at the blossom end. Spaghetti squash is pale yellow, has a whitish flesh which when flaked with a fork, falls into spaghetti-like pieces. When selecting this vegetable, look for firm, well-shaped squash without soft spots. Allow 3 pounds of winter squash for 4 servings.

Butternut and Acorn squash can be cooked using this method. For larger squash allow about 6 minutes per pound.

COOKED WINTER SQUASH

Pierce a 3 lb. squash several times with a fork to allow steam to escape. Place whole squash on a paper plate or towel in microwave oven. Microwave on 100 percent power, uncovered, 18-18 minutes or until just about tender, turning squash over once. Let stand 5-10 minutes. Cut squash in half; remove seeds and membranes. Scoop out squash and use in recipes or serve directly from the shell, just add seasoning if desired. A squash cooked in this manner has a wonderful sweet flavor and is very moist.

Children delight in this interesting squash.

CHERRY SPAGHETTI SQUASH

1 medium spaghetti squash*

MICROWAVE MAGIC

MIDGE MYCOFF

(about 5 lbs.)
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1/4 cup Parmesan cheese
1 tsp. parsley flakes
Pierce squash several times with fork. Place squash on paper plate in microwave oven. Microwave on 100 percent power, uncovered, 25-30 minutes or until squash is just about tender, turning squash over once or twice. Let stand 10 minutes.

Cut squash in half crosswise; carefully scoop out seeds. Pull spaghetti-like flesh with fork and place in serving bowl. Dot with butter. Add cheese, parsley and salt; gently toss to mix evenly. *Spaghetti squash can also be served with your favorite spaghetti sauce.

MEAT LOAF MIXTURE TOPS RINGS OF ACORN SQUASH FOR THE FLAVORFUL FALL MAIN DISH

2 medium acorn squash (about 3 lbs.)
1 lb. ground beef
1/4 lb. bulk pork sausage
1 small onion, chopped
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup dry bread crumbs
1/4 tsp. salt
1/4 cup apple jelly

Pierce squash several times with fork. Place squash on paper towels in microwave oven. Microwave on 100 percent power, uncovered, 13-15 minutes or until just about tender, turning squash over twice. Let stand 10-15 minutes. Cut thin slice from pointed end of each squash. Cut each squash crosswise into 3 slices; remove seeds. Place slices in 12x8 inch glass baking dish.

Combine remaining ingredients except apple jelly. Mix well. Divide into 6 portions; shape each into a ball. Place in center of each squash slice, pressing into hollow area. Cover with waxed paper. Microwave on 100 percent power 9-10 minutes or until meat is no longer pink. Spoon apple jelly onto meat, spreading evenly. Microwave on 100 percent power, uncovered 2-2 1/2 minutes or until meat is glazed.

Save the seeds you remove from the squash. They can be roasted and seasoned just like pumpkin seeds.

SEASONED SQUASH SEEDS

1 cup squash seeds
1 Tbsp. butter or margarine
1/4 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
1/4 tsp. garlic salt
1/4 tsp. onion salt or seasoned salt

Remove most of membranes from seeds. If seeds are washed, pat dry. Place in a 9-inch glass pie plate or shallow microwave-safe container. Add remaining ingredients on 100 percent power 8-10 minutes or until lightly toasted, stirring 4 or 5 times.

Low-calcium diet may be unhealthy

DEAR DR. GOTT: My husband is subject to kidney stones. To date he's had surgery four times for removal. His doctor has forbidden him to drink milk, eat cheese and ice cream, yet I fear this will greatly decrease the needed calcium in his system. What can he eat or drink that will afford his bone structure the nutrients he needs?

DEAR READER: Many experts disagree with a low-calcium diet for calcium kidney stones for the very reason you suggest; namely that such a restriction may lead to other, more serious health consequences, such as osteoporosis.

However, controversial the low-calcium diet, your husband should consider the following modifications: increase his fluid intake to at least two quarts of water a day (to dilute the urine) and use one of the thiazide diuretics, which will substantially lower his risk of new stones. He should confirm these suggestions with his urologist.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Kidney Disorders." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Please comment on atrophic vaginitis. DEAR READER: The vaginal lining requires the female hormone estrogen to remain moist and elastic. When a woman's estrogen level declines during and after menopause, the vaginal lining becomes atrophic; thin, dry and less healthy. This may make intercourse difficult or impossible. In addition, women with this condition may notice a slight discharge with an unpleasant odor.

Although the problem may be partially overcome by using lubricants during intercourse, a more satisfactory approach is to apply daily estrogen cream to the vagina. After a few weeks of this treatment, the vaginal lining often returns to normal. Of course, estrogen patches or pills can also be prescribed. However, some authorities endorse the cream because -- unlike patches and pills -- the hormone in the cream is not absorbed into the body in appreciable amounts.

It is good to push your opponents into the wrong contract. But it serves little purpose if you cannot then find the right defense to defeat them.

Today's deal occurred during the Women's NEC World Team Olympiad, in the match between Australia and Spain. At the first table, the Australian pair played quietly in four spades. At the second table, the auction went as given.

One no-trump showed 9-11 high-card points and, supposedly, a balanced hand. The mini no-trump, as it is called, is a two-edged sword that balances the risk of conceding a big penalty against forcing the opponents to start their bidding at the two-level.

Here the auction became competitive. If North had doubled five hearts, declarer would have gone one or two down. But when North didn't double, South went on to five spades.

West led the heart jack, which held the trick. Next, she cashed the club ace. What should she play at trick three?

Perhaps not expecting partner to have five hearts, despite a count signal to that effect from East at trick one, West led a second heart. Declarer ruffed, drew trumps and established the diamonds, using the spade eight as the re-entry to dummy.

Note that if West leads a top club at trick three, the contract goes down. Declarer must ruff in the dummy, losing her late entry. If she draws trumps, the diamonds don't run. If instead she tries to ruff another club in the dummy, East overruffs.

YOUR BIRTHDAY
Nov. 5, 1992

Your leadership qualities could become more pronounced and effective in the year ahead. The aspects indicate you might be slated to head up a significant endeavor that will prove to be very gratifying.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 23) Challenges tend to awaken your finer qualities today, especially your courage and optimism. Because you're not apt to think of yourself as a loser, you won't be one. Trying to patch up a broken romance? The Astro-Graph Matchmaker can help you understand what to do to make the relationship work. Mail $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You could be rather lucky today in situations that are not of a material nature. You're still apt to do well in this area, but chance is not likely to play a role.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your best asset today is your ability to get along with individuals from all walks of life. In fact, you might have to deal with a feisty individual who you'll transform into a pushover.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Do not waste your time on unproductive pursuits today. Conditions are propitious where your material interests are concerned, but you'll have to earn what you'll receive.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) A goal you've been placing considerable emphasis on recently may be revised today, when you come to the realization that it isn't worth the efforts you've been expending.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You might have an opportunity to set things right today concerning a misunderstanding that occurred between you and an associate. This opening may come by way of another individual.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) If you have some leisure time today, try to spend it in a fun activity that involves several others. You'll function best today as a participator rather than a loner.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)

Conditions that affect your career and finances are quite favorable today. It's to your advantage to focus your efforts and attention in these areas instead of on side issues.

CANCER (June 21-July 23) You might have to face a situation today that you've been negatively anticipating. However, once you become involved, you'll be surprisingly bold and secure.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 23) Instinctive guidance is a valuable asset that should not be ignored today. There are indications you may get involved in something and find out how effective it really is.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 23) Partnerships should work out rather well for you today, especially two in particular. One deals with an ambitious friend; the other deals with a mutual business interest.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You are in a good achievement cycle today, so don't be afraid to elevate your sights and strive for an objective you were too timid to attempt previously.

ELIZABETH TAYLOR'S CHILI

1 pound blade or chuck roast
3 cups dry kidney beans
2 small onions, chopped
1 stalk celery, diced
1 carrot, peeled and diced bay leaf
2-3 tablespoons olive oil
1/2 pound ground sirloin
1/2 pound ground pork
1 cup red wine
4-6 medium medium tomatoes
2 cups tomato juice
1/2 tablespoons chili powder
1/2 pound Cheddar cheese.

grated pinch cayenne pepper
Tabasco or other hot sauce, to taste

Preheat oven to 425 degrees.
Place the blade or chuck roast in a large skillet and sear on stovetop. Then roast in oven. Cook until medium rare, about 15 to 20 minutes. Remove from the oven and let cool. Cut meat into chunks.
Cook kidney beans by covering with water in a pot. Bring to a simmer and remove from heat. Let stand 15 minutes. Add 1 chopped onion, carrot, celery, bay leaf, salt and pepper. Bring to a simmer and cook until almost done. Drain and spread on sheet pan to cool. Remove bay leaf and discard.

In a large saucepan, heat olive oil over moderately high heat. Add the remaining chopped onion and cook until soft, about 5 minutes, then add the ground sirloin and ground pork. Saute until all traces of pink have disappeared, about 5 minutes. Add beef chunks and heat through.

Add tomatoes, chili powder, wine and tomato juice. Bring to a boil over moderately high heat, then reduce heat to a moderate simmer until the flavors are blended, about 15 minutes. Stir in beans, cheese, salt, hot sauce and cayenne. Reduce heat to low and simmer, covered, until chili is thick and rich, about 2 hours. Stir frequently to prevent scorching. Taste and adjust the seasoning as needed. Serve hot.

Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

LIZA'S SALADE DE PROVENCE

4-5 ears yellow corn or 2 cups frozen corn
1 medium pink grapefruit
1 cup hearts of palm (canned or frozen), thinly sliced
1/2 pound fresh mushrooms, wiped clean and thinly sliced
1 teaspoon Dijon mustard
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon freshly ground pepper
2 tablespoons red wine vinegar
1/3 cup safflower oil
In a small saucepan, combine the corn with a tablespoon of water. (If using frozen corn, thaw to room temperature first.) Over moderate heat, cook until corn is tender, about 2 minutes. Drain and set aside.

Peel and remove the white pith from grapefruit. Separate sections, cut each in half, and dry with paper towels.
In a large salad bowl, combine the mustard, salt, pepper and vinegar, stirring until everything has dissolved. Slowly pour in oil, whisking constantly until smooth. Arrange the corn, grapefruit, hearts of palm and mushrooms in the bowl. Bring to the table and toss just before serving.
Yield: 2 to 4 servings.

'Hymen rebirth' restores virginity to anxious woman

DEAR ABBY: In a recent column, you told a distraught woman that there is no way a girl's virginity can be restored. Maybe not, but the enclosed news item may be considered a good alternative. I use this news item in my political philosophy class when we discuss "Plato's Noble Lie" — and whether it's really a good idea to always tell the truth.

PROFESSOR DAVID LINDSAY

CENTRAL MISSOURI STATE UNIVERSITY

DEAR READERS: The "news item" is from The Kansas City Star, Sept. 19, 1974, and the dateline is Tokyo, Japan. Here it is, in part:

An anxious mother sits in Dr. Fumio Umezawa's office, tearfully relating her tale of woe: Her daughter, about to be married, is not the virgin her fiancé thinks she is.
The doctor, a plastic surgeon, tells Mama not to worry; for $175 he can take care of the problem with a surgical procedure that takes only five minutes. In Japanese, it is known as a "maku-saisei" (hymen rebirth).
The doctor said he performed his first "maku-saisei" in 1945 when a hysterical woman appeared in his hospital after having been raped (she said) by an American sailor. "She was desperate," the doctor said. "Her whole world collapsed, since she would no longer be able to marry the fine Japanese man to whom she was betrothed."

The good doctor added, "This operation served a noble purpose — removing guilt feelings, and the necessity to lie, which is dishonorable. And besides, a girl should not have to feel that she has ruined her entire life if she has one (or two) weak moments." (Who's counting?)

The doctor stated that he refuses to perform this operation on a "geisha" who requests it only for commercial purposes.

DEAR ABBY: This concerns a question concerning the propriety of a telephone invitation to a wedding that came just two weeks before the wedding; I am sure many will join me in disagreeing with you.
This is the very understand-

ADVICE
ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: The other night I was at the home of a friend and was dismayed to observe that she allowed her young son and his friend to make prank calls in her presence.

I asked why she permitted it, and she said, "Children will do improper things with or without permission, and I would rather have him do it while I'm here to supervise so he won't make any toll calls."

I then asked her if her son wanted to smoke, would it be OK as long as she supervised?

I would appreciate your opinion on this, as it is causing a rift in our long friendship.

E.H. IN LOWER BRANCH, CALIF.
DEAR E.H.: I don't know what kind of "prank" telephone calls your friend's son was making, but a parent who would permit this kind of "play" is giving tacit approval to her son's shenanigans.

She reminds me of the parent who says, "I know my children are not legally able to drink alcohol — but I'd rather have them drink it at home than somewhere else." The fact is, parents should not allow their underage children to drink at home or anywhere else. And the same goes for prank telephone calls.
Telephones are not toys! A telephone call can awaken a sick or elderly person from a much-needed nap. Prank calls upset and frighten people — and they are illegal.

ADELINE IN BOWWOOD, I.
DEAR ADELINE: (I nearly said "Sweet" Adeline, but I'm sure you've had your fill of that.) I admire your generous attitude; it has probably saved you many an ulcer. However, I still think it's very inattentive to make guests feel that they are on any list other than the "A" list. And when an invitation to a formal affair is issued by telephone less than two weeks before the "big day," the recipient cannot miss the implication.

Golden agers mix coffee with Clinton

By MICK PFENAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The results of yesterday's presidential election was the main topic of conversation at the Golden Age Games breakfast this morning.

Participants in the 18th annual games from across the nation were sharing news they had heard from home about the election results. Most had voted on absentee ballots before coming to Sanford.

"I voted for Bush but my county went for Clinton," an Ohio woman commented. A man responded, "I went for Clinton and my county went overwhelmingly for Bush."

As in past years, the early morning breakfast is a regular meeting place for many of the out of state participants in the games. In addition to many leased cars, the parking lot vehicles showed license plates from Ontario, Missouri, Maine, and four from Ohio.

A few local participants were also enjoying the morning meal and renewing old friendships made during the games in the past.

Although the blue T-shirts with the Golden Age Games logo were still the uniform of the day, many are wearing the yellow shirts from last year's games.

Co-chairman Chris Ury was at her desk at the Civic Center late last night and early this morning, still taking registrations from new arrivals. "It looks like we could have more than ever," she said. "Maybe over 4,000."

"The average person signs up for two events, and many sign up for four or five, and each individual entry is counted as one," according to Ury. "So when we say 4,000 people, we are looking at the number signed up for separate events," she said. "We are probably looking at around 2,000 actual people in Sanford for the games."

Three events got underway at 9 a.m. this morning: basketball free throw at the Salvation Army Gym; women's 8 ball billiards at the Senior Center, and Tennis at Bayhead Racquet Club.

This afternoon, the schedule calls for cribbage at 1 p.m. at the Senior Center, badminton at 2 p.m. at the Salvation Army Gym, and dance competition at 2 p.m. at the Civic Center.

The mid-week banquet is scheduled for 6:30 this evening at the Civic Center sponsored by the Over 50 Club. Tickets are available at the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce or from club members.

The hobby and photography show, open to the public, will be held from 2 until 5 p.m. this afternoon at the Sanford City Hall.

Games attract age, experience to events

By GEORGE DUNCAN
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — There is plenty of age and experience in the Golden Age Games, but there are also a few rookies among the participants.

Jacksonville nurse Genevieve Ivey is one of the rookie runners in the Race Walking event. Race walking may seem like a contradiction in terms but it's simply a race where contestants must keep at least one foot on the ground and "walk like a duck."

"With two feet off the ground, it's running," she said.

This is the first year that Ivey is age-eligible for the games. She is involved in one other walking event. She chose both events for health-related reasons.

"I'm health-conscious. This is one way that women can protect themselves. Walking is a lot better for the joints than running," she said.

Although it's only her first year, Ivey is already impressed with the Sanford games.

"I love them," she said.

Health was also a contributory factor with Gordon Blaum, of Haines City. Blaum, a former physical education instructor, started walking after a kidney operation.

"Now I'm up to three and four miles a day," he said.

Although this is his first race in Sanford, he did participate in a similar event earlier this year in North Carolina.

The former University of Miami instructor is signed up for a number of events, including golf and shuffleboard. He, too, had high praise for the games.

"They keep you active," he said.

Ozzie Whitman, 71, and Newlie Hewson, 70, await the beginning of the 5K race.

Golfers tee off to a successful day

By GEORGE DUNCAN
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Just because your age goes up doesn't mean your golf score has to.

Three contestants in the Golden Age Games proved that Tuesday in the golf event held at the Mayfair County Club.

An estimated 100 competitors teed off at 1 p.m. in a "shotgun start." In this event, golfers tee off at different holes around the course at the same time.

The game can yield groans and anguished cries from golfers but Sanford residents Wallace and Eleanor Wolf were smiling after they made par on the ninth hole on their way to the 10th.

Wallace Moore, another Sanford resident playing with them also scored four on the hole.

"I'm doing better than expected," said Wallace Wolf. "I'm lying two on the green so you know I'm doing pretty good."

Moore had a rather long putt but used two strokes to put his ball in the hole so preserve his par.

"I love it," he said, referring to both golf and the Golden Age Games.

Both the Wolfs and Moore admit this is not the first time they have been on a golf course. All have participated in the games before.

The Wolfs have been in Sanford for approximately four years. They came down from Ohio when he retired after a 30-year career in the Navy.

Another former Navy man, retired Admiral Harry Smith, was in the twosome playing in front of the Wolfs and Moore.

However, not every golfer was making pars.

One golfer, when asked about his game, merely shook his head.

"It's terrible. Had a lot of strokes," he said, before heading for the next hole.

Seniors enjoy a break during the reception

SANFORD — Athletes huddled together in small groups in chairs pushed against the wall of a small portion of the Sanford Civic Center Monday evening.

A number of the athletes taking part in the Golden Age Games this week were on hand for the social reception that was sponsored by The Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce.

"I'm sorry to see so few people here," said Trevor Banks of Ontario, Canada. "They don't know what they're missing."

Meatballs, seasoned rice, fruit, vegetables and cookies, donated by local caterers including Bueks and Mr. Bill's North Carolina Barbecue, were gobbled up by those in attendance.

"Good food," said Marit Benton of Sun City Center. "I'll bet the other guys don't know what they're missing."

While athletes sat quietly, making short trips to the buffet table, local dignitaries greeted them and chatted.

Mayor Bettye Smith, police chief Steve Harriott, Sheriff Don Ealinger, and Dave Farr, executive director of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, talked to the athletes.

"I think it's pretty nice of them," said Jean Dillon of Lady Lake "even if they are running for election."

Joe Nibsch, 64, of Longwood, paddles his way through the canoe obstacle competition.

Ria Ter-Haar, 60 of Pensacola, races to the finish line at the 10K Bike Race.
