FIRST CAR OF PEPPERS IS SHIPPED

FLORIDA TRUCK GROWERS GET $5 FOR FIRST CAR PEPPERS OF SEASON.

The first car load of peppers to leave Sanford section was shipped Tuesday by the Sanford Truck Growers, Inc., and the peppers brought the high price of $5 per crate or $2,000 for the car.

This is said to be the highest price ever paid here for the first car of peppers and would indicate that the pepper market will be good throughout the season. Those who know say the pepper crop will not be as heavy this season as last and that while there may not be so many peppers those that are shipped will bring good prices which is more to the point for the growers. Many of the sections that have raised many peppers in season past have been drowned out and the frequent rains here have not been good for the peppers causing much of the bloom to fall but there will be enough to bring good returns to the growers and the season should be longer as the pepper growers north of Florida will be later in the markets this year than in former years due to the excessive rains and cold weather.

SALMAGUNDI IS OUT

Sanford High School Paper Is A Credit to the City Schools

Salmagundi, the annual magazine of the Sanford High School is out and it is a most creditable piece of literature in every respect. The magazine this year consists of 112 pages consisting of fine half tones of the Senior, Junior, Sophomore and Freshmen classes, the teachers and pupils and etchings and drawings made by the pupils of the high school showed remarkable talent. The Salmagundi is remarkable this year because the editors and business manager were able to get out such a creditable piece of work despite the high cost of printing materials and the local magazine is one of the best that has ever been published being filled with good reading, with the merry quips and jest of the young people and also displays the liberal spirit of the local merchants who helped the boys out by taking space in the school paper.

Salmagundi was printed on the press of the Herald Printing Co., an shows the fine handiwork of this firm of good printers.

Comrades Attention

Memorial Service will be held on Sunday May 23rd and all veterans of the Civil War, both blue and gray, also veterans of the Spanish-American War and all veterans of the Great World War are earnestly requested to meet on the corner of Park avenue and First Street at 10:45 A. M. and march to the Congregational church to attend the service at eleven o'clock.

Beautiful Cup

Mrs. William Chase Temple, of Winter Park, whose husband, the late William Chase Temple, was former owner of the Pittsburg Nationals and donor of the famous Temple Cup of years ago, has donated a loving cup to the Florida State League.

The cup which is of silver with gold lining, is on exhibition at Evans' jewelry store. It is eighteen inches high, and a beautiful creation. It bears the words:

Donated by
Mrs. William Chase Temple
Florida State League
Organized Baseball

The cup goes to the winner of the pennant in the post series games of 1920 season. It stays with the winning club only one year. If a club can win the championship for three successive years it becomes their permanent property. It is well worth battling for.—Orlando Sentinel.

Dr. Brownlee Leaves

Dr. Brownlee left Monday for Charlotte, N. C., to attend the Presbyterian General Assembly. Mrs. Brownlee went with him to visit relatives in S. C. They will return the middle of next week.

ALL PRICES TO TUMBLE ON CLOTHES

WAVE OF PRICE CUTTING FOLLOWS TIGHT MONEY AND POOR RAILWAY FACILITIES.

Chicago, May 20.—A wave of price-cutting in retail clothing cost, reaching from the Mississippi valley to the Pacific coast, was reported today. Dispatches told twenty four cities in that territory told of promised reductions in these necessities ranging from 15 per cent. to minus profit.

Financial authorities here said indications were that the price declines would be limited to ready-to-wear clothing, principally women's garments and silks. Shoes were in the list affected.

Tight money and inadequate transportation facilities were cited among the prime reasons for the mercantile downward movement. Delays in delivery of goods in which much money had been tied up, together with inability of farmers to get grain and livestock to markets, were said in many instances to have worked a hardship on merchants.

An official of one of the leading department stores of Chicago declared that the price reduction now being reported meant also that merchants were trying to satisfy what he called "a hysterical demand from the public for lower prices." These current reductions, he said, might be only temporary.

A financial authority here said that if reports of price-cutting were dependable they indicate a tendency toward a reduction in inventories. Though this might be temporary, he said, it was undoubtedly good, in that it suggested that merchants were going ahead more cautiously. Sales are being held under various names.

In Topeka, Kas., a men's clothing firm announced a "no-profit sale" declaring that it would back its promises at the end of the sale by letting the fair price commissioner or a committee named by him take possession of its books and accounts.

Department stores in St. Louis advertised "under-selling campaigns."

Twenty per cent cuts were the most popular. On the Pacific coast, Tacoma dealers announced cuts from 20 per cent. flat to "profitless sales" declaring that on some women's garments prices were out virtually in half.

Circuit Court Next Week

The Spring term of the Circuit Court will meet here next week beginning on Tuesday and court will probably hold a week or more as there are several cases on the docket that promise to take up some time. Judge Perkins will preside and State Attorney David Sholtz will be here to prosecute the cases. Court week always brings many people to the city and next week will be a busy week.

Orlando Will Have Modern Five Story Department Store

Jacksonville architects and contractor have charge of the construction of a modern department store which will be erected in Orlando for the Dickson-Ives Company, according to information obtained yesterday, the building to cost about $150,000, and said to be one of the finest in the state.

Dickson-Ives Company of Orlando have completely outgrown their present quarters, and have just accepted plans submitted by Marsh & Saxelby of this city for a five-story building to be erected at the corner of Central and Orange avenues, with a frontage of 120 feet on Central, running back 68 feet on Orange avenue.

The contract has been let to C. E. Hilyer Company of Jacksonville, and will begin shortly. The building will be of reinforced concrete, faced with tapestry brick and stone, with electrical and gas illumination. The mezzanine floor will be used for general office, and ladies' writing room, while the other floor will be used for various departments of the store, to special requirements of the various lines being considered in the designing of the building. The air tube service will be used by cashiers, and every modern convenience is included in the plans for this store.

There has been considerable building in Orlando during the past few years, and this is but another evidence of the rapid development of this thriving and progressive city.—Jacksonville Times-Union.

Mrs. Guy Burgess of Jacksonville is the guest of Madam Harriett.

Times Union Tells Of Several Old Landmarks In State

THE SANFORD HOUSE

WAS AMONG THE BUSY HOTELS IN THE DAYS BEFORE THE RAILROADS.

The announcement that the old Sanford House, at Sanford, Florida, was being torn down to make way for a modern tourist hotel, reminds us that the old landmarks of the early resorts of Florida are gradually giving way to the modern structures that are demanded by the hundreds of thousands of tourists who visit Florida annually these days.

This historic old hotel, built on the shores of Lake Monroe nearly half a century ago, was at one time one of the leading hotels of the state. In those days there were practically no railroads in the state and the St. John river was the principal route of travel. Harry Peck, once a prominent hotel figure in Florida and Michigan has often told of the good old days when he was a clerk at the Sanford House. At that time there were eight boats running on the St. Johns from Jacksonville to Sanford and the Putnam House at Palatka and the Sanford House were overrun with guests. In these days when the ordinary rate at a good city hotel was $2.50 a day, the old hotel on the river was charging $4 and many a night Harry charged guests a dollar to sleep in big arm chairs in the lobby after all the rooms had been filled.

The Putnam House in Palatka has been partly demolished and remodeled during the past ten years and it is understood that it will soon be torn down and replaced with a modern hotel. Probably the next oldest hotels are a group at Rockledge, which have been in operation for nearly half a century, having been built in advance of the construction of the Florida East Coast railway, being reached by boat from Titusville. These hotels are still intact but one of them at least will soon be replaced with a modern structure. Two of the oldest hotels in Miami, the San Carlos and the Green Tree Inn, which have been gradually added to in the past six years, have recently been sold, one for $600,000 and one for around $200,000 and in both cases the original sections will be demolished and new structures will replace the old landmarks.

The beautiful old Tampa Bay hotel, with its Moorish architecture and wonderful gardens is one of the older hotels that still maintain its supremacy in the resort world, although it has many modern neighbors. The celebrated string of Flagler hotels were all built along most attractive lines and, while they are not new by any means, they have always been kept up in such a splendid manner that they will never allow their glory to be dimmed, even by the lustre of the many modern caravansaries that are springing up on all sides in Florida, to accommodate the ever increasing throngs of tourists.

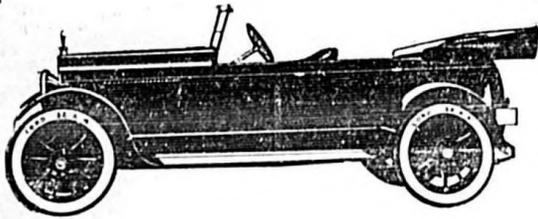

Only a few years ago we were prone to refer to certain cities as resort cities but now there is scarcely that distinction as the majority of the cities in the state have either begun to cater for tourist trade or are having it thrust upon them. This has been partly brought about by the influx of motorists, who are bent on discovery and who seek even the byways for something new in a land where there is novelty at every turn of the road. As the good roads benefit the hitherto wild places, the motorists soon find them out and follow and so the advance guard of the tourist travelers are finding new places of rendezvous and new glories are being constantly discovered and made known to their friends and this will be kept up until every corner of Florida will be invaded by our visitors who will be given a cordial welcome. The old landmarks are disappearing but new attractions are being constantly presented to old and new friends of the state and better conditions and accommodations are being welcomed on every hand.

CAMPAIGN SPEECHES BY MANY CANDIDATES KEEP ALIVE THE OLD SPIRIT

ed into that of Governor Catts, his opponent, that is being waged against him by the governor proved beyond any reasonable doubt that Catts is not now and never has been the man to intrust the sacred honor of this state in any position. Senator Fletcher in a quiet and most impressive manner told of his work for the soldier boys at Camp Wheeler and stated that he did not take any credit for this, but since the governor had assailed him for neglect he proved by actual facts in the case that it had been through the senator and not through the governor that the boys had gained relief and that when the governor had been wading through snow knee deep in Washington there was no snow at the capital at that time. In fact, the senator tore off the mask of the governor and exposed his subterfuges for votes and showed in many ways that while the governor was prancing up and down the state making a big display he was in truth doing nothing but raising the people's taxes by his taking men out of office for his friends and then having them put back in by the legislature that discredited him in a manner that was unprecedented in history. At the close of his speech he made a strong plea for safe and sane politics and policies for true Americanism, for equal rights to all and special privilege to none and for a return to the good old Democratic doctrines as against the demagogues and law-breakers and trouble breeders and he was cheered wildly as he thanked the people for their respectful hearing.

Capt. Allie Angle, candidate for comptroller, and Senator James Calkins, candidate for attorney general, who had spoken earlier in the evening at DeLand, rolled in at that time and were given ten minutes each by the chairman who held the crowd for them and they gave a brief outline of their services in the past and were well received by the big crowd.

Van Swearingen Here

Hon. Van Swearingen, attorney general and candidate for the position of governor of the state spoke here Saturday night and despite the threatening weather he drew a large crowd to hear him. Van Swearingen is no stranger here in Sanford where he worked in the railroad shops as a youngster and while working in the day time took his nights to study law and when he had made enough to go to college he went to Emory and graduated with high honors and took up law in Jacksonville where he has been honored by the municipal judgeship and also served as mayor and made a fine reputation in both positions standing firm as a rock for a square deal to all and special privileges to none.

In fact this is the slogan of Van Swearingen whenever he raises his flag to storm the citadels of his opponents in his various campaigns and as he well said here Saturday night the opposition never had anything on Van Swearingen's past records or his life for he has been clean morally, socially and politically. He talked for about two hours and held the crowd until the end and while he is not an orator in the real sense of the word and neither does he make a political speech he impresses his audience with his earnestness and honesty of purpose. Like many of the other candidates he wearied the people somewhat by taking his text on his leading opponent Cary Hardee and gave most of his attention to him but in this instance Swearingen does not need to tell the people of Sanford about himself because they know him and know what he has done in his various offices and he will swing a big vote here on the 8th of June for he is looked upon as a "home boy" here.

FORMER SANFORD GIRL

Ruth Peabody Marshall Wins Essay Contest

The following from an Illinois paper will be interesting to the many friends of Ruth Marshall who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Marshall who formerly resided here:

Recently the War Department promoted an essay contest throughout the country on the subject of army enlistment.

All pupils, regardless of age or grade were allowed to compete. The requirements were that the essay must not exceed 400 words in length and be written in the class room on Friday, February 20. Only the best one from each school was requested to be forwarded to the War Department for consideration.

In the St. Charles schools all members of the High school and Junior High School wrote essays on the stated date during the regular English periods.

The essay submitted by Ruth Marshall was selected by the judges as the best in the High School competition and Bernice Swanson's as the best masterpiece from the Junior High School. The English instructors Mr. MacGillivray, Caldwell and Miss Cowlin acted as judges.

Ruth Marshall's essay entitled "What Are the Benefits of an Enlistment in the Army" follows:

The purpose of the army is to act as a defense in time of war, to put down internal revolution and riots, and to police the world as provided under the covenant of the League of Nations.

The army is a vast training school not merely to train men in the arts of war, but to increase the value of their citizenship. A man invariably comes out of the training camps with a better co-ordinated mind. He can do what he is told to do and do it promptly and thoroughly. The army is educational and increases a man's industrial efficiency. The poorer boy who has never had a chance to get a technical or vocational training can get it there and also receives pay while studying his vocation. The opportunity for travel is good, and travel is an important factor in broadening an individual's mind and experiences. If an individual cannot speak English, he is taught to do so, and also taught the meaning of American ideals and institutions.

Every man in the army is benefited physically and morally. Any petty physical defects are remedied, and then the body is kept as nearly perfect as possible by means of athletics and the keeping of regular hours. The men are cleaned up morally which is a benefit to themselves and to their fellows.

The army fosters a spirit of brotherhood and fellowship. No distinctions are made among men except those which arise from physique and character. The men have a common and lofty purpose, and are governed under the same discipline. Every man is taken for what he really is. They learn to respect authority and law.

In the army steady work is assured. One's living expenses are provided free. The best type of life insurance is offered to the enlisted man. A man may fail in business, but if he is faithful and deserving he will not fail in the army. For the man who is not successful in the business world, but who is persevering, an enlistment in the army is the opportunity of a life time.

"Pidgin English."

The shibboleth of the Chinaman is the word "business," which he seems unable to pronounce. In trying to do so he makes a sound which resembles "pidgin." Thus the business English he picks up in the open court, which is a jargon of the many languages he hears, has come to be known as pidgin English?

Standard Weights and Measures.

The idea of adopting scientific measurements as a basis of a system of weights and measures, was suggested as early as the seventeenth century, particularly by the French astronomer, Jean Picard, who lived from 1629 to 1682. The system was worked out and taken up by the national assembly of France in 1790. It was adopted and its use made compulsory in 1801.

Electricity Swifter Than Light.

The velocity of electricity far exceeds that of light. Light travels at the rate of 186,000 miles a second, electricity, at the rate of 249,500 miles a second.

"Rush" Work Seldom Good.

It is all right to be busy, provided it is the right kind of busy. Some people are in a constant state of hurry which borders on confusion, because they never begin in time, never make the right sort of preparation, and never stop long enough to calm their minds in order to get their bearings.

Wolf Once a Monarch.

The old fable is right—as they nearly always are if rightly read. Before firearms were well developed, no one man had any chance worth mentioning against the rush of a wolf pack. The gray wolves were the terror of Europe, as the tiger still is the terror of India, and deservedly so. Children who gather to stare at a wolf in the zoo are gazing at a captive king.

SUSPENDED PLAYERS REINSTATED ARE NOT TO BLAME

Monday at the game between Sanford and Lakeland at Holden Park, both Watts and Gaffney appeared on the field and looked to the spectators as if they might be in a semi-conscious state. Their actions, while in no way such that they could be called down by the umpire showed plainly that they had been drinking. Watts made his biggest blunders in the first inning and was at once benched by Manager Burns. It was not until the third inning that Gaffney got his.

Their actions, as we just stated, were not such that should cause the umpire to notice them, but were enough to show that they were in no shape to play ball. And they, knowing how essential they both were to this particular game and appearing on the field in the state they were in, brought down the condemnation upon themselves of the Club President, Club directors and The Manager and all the fans. Their actions left nothing for Mr. DeCottes to do but to fine them heavily and suspend them both.

However Mr. DeCottes or the Directors did not mean that this suspension should stick, or anything be done that might in any way blight these boys baseball career if any evidence was produced that might hold these boys blameless.

After a very thorough investigation by Mr. DeCottes and other Club officials enough evidence was produced to prove that both Watts and Gaffney were made victims of a plot planned by some unscrupulous individual for this same individual's personal gain, immediately upon finding out the truth of the whole affair Mr. DeCottes at once lifted this suspension and wants the Sanford fans as well as the fans about the State to know that the Sanford Club has exonerated them both for that part of the blame that they were not entitled to.

However Mr. Rose, President of the League for that same "good of the league" reason of his has suspended both Watts and Gaffney for ten days and until the time of this paper going to press that suspension has not been lifted.

The following is a letter received by the Herald from Mr. DeCottes: May 09th, 1920

Editor of Sanford Herald:
In justice and fairness to the base ball fans and the supporters of the Sanford Club, I think it only right that I should make a statement with reference to the action taken by me in fining and indefinitely suspending two players of the Sanford Club.

It is needless for me at this time to go into details as to what occurred on the field during the second game played with Lakeland this week, as the incident is fresh and has been the chief topic of conversation among the fans of this City for the past two days.

With the lights before me then, and from my personal observation of what occurred, at the time I suspended these players I then fully determined that I would at no time in the future in the slightest relent from my position or in any way modify the penalty imposed by me. However, since then I have made an exhaustive investigation of the matter, and in addition have been informed by a large majority of the Sanford fans to reconsider my action in indefinitely suspending these players.

From the investigation made by me I am thoroughly satisfied and convinced that the suspended players, notwithstanding their unseemly and absolutely inexcusable conduct, were the victims of a dastardly plan adopted by a scheming, unprincipled, itinerant individual who sought by the means adopted to insure victory over Sanford.

Both of the Sanford players have explained to me to my satisfaction the manner in which they became unintentionally involved in the scheme of this individual, and are abjectly sorry and truly penitent regarding their conduct during the game last Monday, and have made me strong assurances regarding their future conduct and behavior.

I fully realized that the action taken by me Monday in indefinitely suspending these players ended for ever their career in organized baseball, but at that time having reason to believe that their conduct was premeditated and that it was their intention to purposely "throw" the game, I did not hesitate imposing the severest possible penalty. Now, however, I am thoroughly convinced and satisfied that the players were not wilfully parties to the nefarious scheme of the itinerant stranger.

Base ball is the best and greatest of sports. It is the national game. As President of the Sanford Club it is my purpose to keep the game clean and to see that the games in which the Sanford Club participate are always on the level. I will not stand for anything crooked. We will either have clean baseball or no baseball. It is the duty of every Sanford fan to assist me to this end. Betting on the result of a base ball game is unlawful. While betting on a game of skill is prohibited by law, yet, like every other criminal offense can not be entirely prohibited, but with the assistance of the Sanford fans betting on ball games can be practically eliminated. No betting on the games will be permitted or tolerated by me, and I respectfully ask that the fans of Sanford co-operate with and assist me during this season to the end that the national game as played by our club may at all times be beyond any criticism and the public generally may have no cause whatever to conclude that the games are not strictly on the level.

After a careful consideration of all of the facts and circumstances resulting in the indefinite suspension by me of the two Sanford players, for the best interest of baseball in Sanford, I have removed the indefinite suspension, fined the two offending players, and have reinstated them on probation, with the absolute assurance on their part that if given a further chance they will more than make good and will fully redeem themselves with the Sanford fans.

GEO. D. DECOTTES,
President of Sanford Base Ball Club.

S.H.S. BOYS TAKE GAME OFF OCALA TO THE TUNE OF 8 TO 2

The local High School team played their last game of the season with Ocala High last Friday and it proved to be the fastest and prattiest game of the season. The game was played on the Ocala grounds and the final score was Sanford 8, Ocala 2. Lingle starred in the pitchers box striking out twelve men and giving up but three hits. Ed Henderson was strong with the bat getting four hits out of four times up. One of these was a two bagger. It was an errorless game both sides playing perfect ball.

The Ocala High have laid claims to the State Championship. Now that Sanford has taken her into tow it looks like the State Championship may come to Sanford.

Sanford is not the only team to have players suspended. "Bugs" Ery Lakeland's best pitcher and utility man was put on the bench for ten days.

But we should worry, we'll give 'em a helluva run for their money yet. This don't mean just Orlando but the whole bunch of 'em.

Gaffney was batting .462 at the time of his suspension. After this little rest up there aint no tellen but what he will just murder that pill when he gets a chance at it again.

Skinny and Gene are both just as sorry as the Sanford Club and the Sanford fans that this little unfortunate incident should have come up. But now that we are all sorry and now that we all know who the guy was that was to blame for the whole thing lets all get together and work like the mischief to make up for what little time we might have lost.

Orlando here to-day, we go to Orlando to-morrow. This comes right after two hard battles with Tampa. And just as soon as we get through with Orlando we battle right on with Tampa again for two more games. We believe after these six games are all finished up Tampa and Orlando will find themselves somewhere else in the Standing of the Clubs.

Sanford is noted for being one of the greatest little baseball cities in the United States. The Sanford people are loyal to their team and loyal to the club but they want the team to stand by the town in the same measure that the town stands by the team. And with such men as George DeCottes for president and Jimmy Burns as manager there will be no horseplay this season.

ONE OF THE PETTY ANNOYANCES OF THE TIMES.

One of the most exasperating and annoying incidents of the sugar shortage, and one which it is safe to say has given rise to more charges of profiteering than any other one thing, has been the requirement of many grocers, that in order to be allowed to buy a pound of sugar, the housewife must purchase something else in the store to entitle her to the consideration of a "regular customer" It was an arbitrary restricting of the dealer, imposed without authority of law, and in fact being against the law as was recently announced by the department of justice. It was responsible for an immense deal of grudgefulness and ill feeling between dealers and customers. It was, in reality one form of profiteering and the most annoying one. It has driven away trade from those grocers practicing it, but it has not in anyway restricted the consumption of sugar. The family, maybe gets a single pound of sugar from its favorite grocer, but one pound of sugar is a small supply for a family of four or five more so different members are dispatched to all the groceries within reach with instructions to make some small purchase, and get as much sugar as the grocer will allow them. The consumption of sugar has not been reduced, but the family has been put to an annoyance and the grocer has lost a customer and friend. It is a vicious practice, which defeats its own end, and now that it has been shown on good authority to be under the ban of the law, we may hope to see it discontinued.—Tampa Times.

RAISE IN RATES

On account of the high cost of paper, labor and everything that enters into the manufacture of a newspaper all of them have been obliged to raise the subscription and advertising rates during the past year. The Herald did not raise the rates before but when the price of newsprint jumped from 3 cents a pound to 15 and 20 and but little to be obtained at that price the Herald thinks it is justified in making a raise and is not only justified but can safely assert that it is imperative and there must be a raise or a suspension. We have mailed cards to all the advertisers and they will readily understand our position in this matter for all of them have raised their rate no matter in what line of business they may be engaged. All business has raised except the newspapers and it is high time they raised before they cease to exist. The subscription price of the Herald will be raised to $2.50 a year, $1.25 for six months and 75 cents for three months. The latter figure has been in effect for some time and the only real raise is on the yearly rate. All those who bring in their subscription before the first of June will be allowed to subscribe at the old price of $2.00 per year. After June first the rate will be $2.50 for the weekly.

DR. HULLEY HERE

Candidate For Governor Spoke To Big Crowd on Saturday Night.

Dr. Lincoln Hulley candidate for governor spoke to a large crowd on street last Saturday night. He came in unannounced and had been busy all day in other counties and was tired out but this did not prevent him from making a fine talk to the people about his candidacy. He was introduced by R. J. Holly and spoke to the people while standing in the street at the corner of Park avenue and First street and would not speak from his Ford car but said he wanted to be on a level with the people. He launched into his subject with his accustomed vigor and dwelt much upon the expenditure of Cary Hardee and said legally Hardee was out of the race. Dr. Hulley made a great impression upon his hearers as he said he was neither the candidate of the corporations or of the labor unions and therefore needed the votes of the great middle class in order to get the office. He said he was for the corporations when they were right and for the unions when they were right but he did not expect to follow either blindly when they were wrong and cited his audience to his business qualifications.

There is no doubt about Dr. Hulley making hundreds of friends all over Florida wherever he has been and he will be a factor in the race for governor when the votes are counted. He has many staunch friends in this county who are not making a big noise but are working for him quietly and effectively.

George DeCottes "Treat 'Em Rough"

Back in June 1918, when the writer of these sketches was on army recruiting duty in Jacksonville, he received a letter from a fire-eating Cracker who seemed to labor under the belief that the hordes of hunsdom couldn't possibly be routed without his assistance, and the one desire of whose life was to get a foothold in the "Treat 'Em Rough" thereby gaining the privilege of soon being "Berlin Bound in a Tank".

Shortly afterward the bloodthirsty one appeared in the recruiting station, and his first question was "If I enlist in the tanks how long will it take me to get across?" "Oh about six or eight weeks," replied the writer. "All right, let's go," said the ambitious visitor—and he's been going ever since. But France and Germany have never felt the tread of his mighty heels. Now he's back home trying to rebuild a law practice amounting to thousands of dollars annually—and is doing it. At the same time, he's making a winning race for state's attorney of the Seventh circuit.

The lawyer-soldier referred to is First Lieutenant George A. DeCottes of Sanford, who showed wonderful self-control by not committing mayhem when the writer sauntered into his office. "You must have meant that, and not me, would get over in six weeks, didn't you?" was his first query. "As for me—well, I got landed in a training camp as instructor and have had it in for Uncle Sam generally and the war department particularly ever since."

Enlisting as a buck private, Mr. DeCottes was sent to Camp Colt, Gettysburg, where he entered the second officers' training school held on that historic battlefield, emerging therefrom as a second lieutenant. He was assigned to the 32 8th battalion, which received overseas orders ten days later and he was utterly happy—until the day on which the battalion departed for Hoboken. Then he was called to headquarters, was promoted to first lieutenant, placed in command of Company C, Fourth Training School—and told to "stay put". And he said wearily, "I fought the Germans on 'Big Round Top' and I was allowed to get out I had the privilege of resuming my practice August 1st, 1919, thank heavens."

A native of Jacksonville, Lieut. DeCottes graduated from the law department of Stetson university in the class of '93, practised law in his native town four years and in 1907 began his career in Sanford. Since that time he has held the positions of prosecuting attorney of Seminole County two years, county solicitor of Orange county four years, county attorney of Sanford eleven years—and, without having expressed a desire for the place is running for the state's attorneyship of the Seventh circuit at the request of friends of the counties included therein.

"From a dollar-producing standpoint," said Lieut. DeCottes, "the Sanford celery section is agriculturally the most productive in the world, our city, beautiful in location has recently been given additional impetus by the erection of the magnificent Valdez hotel, with another and even larger tourist hotel promised. I'm glad I cast my lot here—and that I'm back from the war that you failed to get me into. So long, I'm busy re-occupying."

"But, hold on, Huff, I'm president of the Sanford baseball club. That's the best job I ever had."—Frank Huffaker in Tampa Times.

GAVE HIM THE LIMIT

Man Who Gave Whiskey To Ball Players Gets Heavy Fine.

The man named Trotman who was found guilty of having liquor in his possession and who gave Watts an Gaffney liquor just before the ball game on Monday was brought up in Police Court Tuesday and was represented by Attorney A. K. Powers while City Attorney Herring prosecuted. Several witnesses were called who saw Trotman hand a bottle of liquor into the cold drink stand on the grounds and a quart bottle was also found in his room and after the evidence had all been submitted Judge Muines gave Trotman a fine of $350 and costs. President George DeCottes of the ball association was thoroughly disgusted with the players and the man who was betting on the game and giving the players liquor and he assisted in the prosecution of the man and will see that he gets all that is coming to him for this act of trachery against clean baseball.

Forest Lake and "Going Some where"

Every once in a while some freak of the genus politician rises up, cracks his heels, shouts that he's going to Washington, tells how he's going to demolish things when he gets there, reaches the national capital on a fluke the good, dear people having been asleep for a time, starts a verbal rampage, gets a call-down that takes the wind out of his abdomen and stays just one term because the mild people are unable to recall him and because he is afraid to do anything that will bring about impeachment. You've seen that kind, haven't you? Cheapest of cheap demagogues, aren't they? Yea verily.

Well, these remarks haven't got anything to do with the subject at issue—far from it—other than lead up to the writer's first impressions of Forest Lake, of Sanford, candidate for congress from the Fourth district, when he first met him in Cuba years ago and when he met him again while he (Lake) was serving Orange county in the legislature session of 1913. Over in Cuba Mr. Lake seemed to be going somewhere in a business way—but he wasn't saying much about it. He was establishing the first ice plant in Santiago, which he put on his feet during the first year of the first American occupation. Up in Tallahassee Mr. Lake seemed to be going somewhere in a legislative way—and he wasn't exhausting his vocal organs unnecessarily while going. Nor was there anything demagogic in his actions, which were those of a plain, everyday business-man legislator. Now he's going toward Congress from the Fourth Florida district—and he'll be heard from if he gets there. Because he represents perpetual not lost motion—and because he's practical and accustomed to associating and dealing with men of big affairs. That's a habit he formed in young manhood.

Mr. Lake was born July 15, 1868, Newberry, South Carolina, being his home—but his friends have never held that against him. Why? Because he showed the wisdom of coming to Florida, locating in Orange county, of which Seminole was then a part, in his eighteenth year. His first work was in sawmill—and his first political position was that of mayor of Sanford, to which he was elected in his twenty-first year. He has served as mayor of the Celery City six or eight times—and each administration was a progressive, result-producing administration. Twice he represented Orange county in the house of representatives, following which he went to Tallahassee from newly-created Seminole—and a record of constructive progressiveness is the only thing marked on house and senate journals against him. Four years ago he ran for Congress from the Fourth district, was defeated in a three-cornered race. Characteristically he came back for another try this year, and is making an unusual campaign for the honor.

Immediately after the Spanish-American war Mr. Lake went to Santiago established his big ice plant operated it successfully eight years, and sold it in order to come "back home." Then he bought the Sanford ice and water plant, made it over again and sold it to the Southern Utilities Co. Then came the principal business achievement of his career Assisted by other Sanford business men, he established the Seminole County bank, capital $50,000, in 1913. He is president.

At the end of the first year the bank's deposits amounted to about $100,000.

Today these deposits amount to $1,100,000.

If any bank in the nation has made an equal or better record in a seven-year period the fact hasn't been recorded in cold figures. Credit to the management of the bank, to Sanford and to the richest vegetable producing center of the world.

The Seminole County bank has been built upon service-interest in the community in which it operates—and upon the fact that Mr. Lake inspires his co-workers to follow the pace he sets.

Last year Mr. Lake was honored with the Florida Bankers' association presidency, and a year prior was president of the State Bankers' association of Florida.

 The following notice in the New York Times shows that Giffin Herring son of Hon. George G. Herring of this city is not only a good student of the Naval Academy at Annapolis but he is winning honors on the athletic field as well:
 "The Navy defeated Syracuse at Lacrosse here this afternoon by a score of 7 to 1. The better team play and greater speed of the midshipmen made them easy victors. Herring scored four of the seven goals made by the Navy team, including a three in the first half. Gould scored Syracuse's only goal at the opening of the second period."

Changes Eliminate Vibration In Lexington Motors

Although little that is revolutionary in engine construction was in evidence in 1920 car models displayed at the New York and Chicago automobile shows, a marked improvement in motors that should make them more satisfactory to owners, was apparent.

Take the motors in the new Series "S" line of the Lexington Motor Co., of Connersville, Ind., for example. Vibration in this motor has been practically eliminated. Crank shafts have been made so much larger that they cannot whip.

These changes for the betterment have been made possible largely as the result of pressure oiling systems which amply take care of bearing surfaces.

In the Lexington motor, four bearings instead of three are provided. Bearings are bronze, lined with babbit. This combination has resulted in the practical elimination of "whip" and it has advanced the vibration point so far that it is negligible. The result is a smooth, responsive, quiet motor, remarkable for its fund of reserve power owing to the Moore Multiple Exhaust System and the Lexi-gasifier, gas distributing machine.

The lubrication of the motor is by high pressure through leads from the gear pump to the main bearings, then through oil leads in the crank shafts to connecting rods. Oil thrown off the rods lubricates cylinder walls and piston rings, giving perfect lubrication for all moving parts.

The crank case is of aluminum. To it is attached the cylinder which has a detachable head, making valves and pistons readily accessible.

TELLS OF ROUT OF BRIGANDS

Chicago Soldier Gives Thrilling Picture of Skirmishes in Near East.

YANK DRIVERS NOT MOLESTED

Trucks Driven by Natives and Guarded by Turk Gendarmes Are Held Up and Lobbied—No Luxury in Near East.

New York.—A tale of exciting skirmishes with marauding bands of Turks and Kurds in Armenia is told by a Chicago soldier, W. A. Brown.

Brown's adventures in the near East were experienced while he was a Red Cross worker in company with American boys from Philadelphia and Louisville, with whom he volunteered for near East relief service after the armistice. The job of these young men was to get the supplies to the starving villages in the mountainous interior and they found truck driving in that stricken land filled with excitement.

"Brigands are numerous," said Brown, "but uniforms commanded respect, although we always went unarmed. Trucks driven by native drivers, however, were held up and looted. They were supposed to be guarded by Turk gendarmes, but the gendarmes themselves did their bit at stealing. Our convoys with American drivers were never molested, although we could see the armed brigands on the hills watching us.

Go Ahead Despite Warning.
"One time Mr. and Mrs. Hugh S. Miller wanted to go to Harpoot with one of our convoys," continued Brown. "We had 11 trucks and started off in line shape. After a few miles we saw some trucks with native drivers that had started some time before us, coming back. 'Brigands' yelled the native drivers as we drew alongside. 'Thirty brigands ahead!'

"We went ahead. A few miles farther along we came upon the bodies of four brigands propped up against the side of the road. They had been shot by the gendarmes and the bodies left us a warning to others. For miles along the route we could see some of the others watching us, but our train was too strong for them to risk an attack.

"The returning Kurds are a problem. There were thousands of them who fled to European Turkey during the war and now they are streaming back. Hungry and ragged, they steal every opportunity and relief supplies, if left unguarded for a moment or in charge of native drivers, are not safe.

"Horses and mules are especially sought, for the Kurd likes to ride. More than once they attempted to steal our mules or donkeys used in our work, but they never kept them longer than it took us to get to them. The Turks aided them in taking whatever property belonging to non-Muslims that they could.

No Luxury in Near East.

There is no luxury in the near East relief work. We roughed it and made the best of things. When we made our stations we got our meals. Otherwise we camped out or went to the alleged hotels they call khans. Another good name would be stables, for the guests slept in straw-lined bunks along the walls while cows and horses, donkeys and mules had the center of the floor.

"For food there was the common bowl of yort, a mixture of maize or wheat and some kind of sour milk. Sometimes there is meat, but not often."

All three youths agreed that but for the work of the near East relief hundreds of thousands more of the victims of the Turks would have perished. The one hope now of the helpless people is continued help from the American people.

Boy Only Six Years Old Robbed by Playmates

Detroit.—Something in the way of holdup records was established in Windsor, The victim was Lawrence Fraley, 118 fifth street, West, who is just turned six years. Some of his playmates lured him to an old lee house, threw sand in his eyes, and took all his clothes and 13 cents—his entire fortune. Then they locked him inside, where, after half an hour, his walls attracted Edward Neal, who rescued him, got him some clothes, and took him home, and notified the police. Lawrence was rather cold from his adventure, but otherwise showed no ill effects.

May Make Soap From Clay.

London.—Extensive experiments have been made in this country to ascertain whether clay can be used in the manufacture of soap. The soap will be announced. The idea is to substitute colloidal clay for the fatty acids now derived from animal and vegetable sources. If this proves commercially successful, it is claimed it could effect great reduction in the cost of manufacture.

CONTENT IN THEIR ISOLATION

Citizens of Little Republic of Andorra Ask Nothing of the World Save Tolerance.

While new republics are engaging attention, a very old one continues living its life in northern Spain and seemingly well enough content to remain comfortably hidden in the Pyrenees. Covering perhaps 100 square miles of fertile valley among the mountains, a census of the republic of Andorra would number no more than 5,000 persons, many of whom make matches; to buy those matches in Andorra a purchasing agent of the Y. M. C. A. journeyed from Paris during the war, and his account of the adventure in the pages of Travel introduces the little republic to the readers of that periodical. Charlemagne once learned, gave the Andorrans their liberty something over 1,100 years ago, and there they have remained ever since, too small and at the same time too inaccessible, presumably to have their liberty taken away from them. The bridge still stands, arching a mountain stream, on which the ancient Andorrans are believed to have signed their treaty with Charlemagne in 810. A "picture-book country," says the seeker for matches, and enumerates "black mountains with real caverns, re-

HARD TO BEAT THAT SYSTEM

Negro Waiter's Method of Securing Tips Apt to Be a Trifle Dwell-dering to the Uninitiated.

In New Orleans there is a negro waiter who is the name of polite attention and skill. There really isn't much for one to do but open one's mouth when John is the servitor. The other day a man came in who was sized up by the experienced John as probably a "little close," but the service was fully up to the usual high standard. The bill came to 80 cents and the patron handed over a dollar bill.

John proceeded to present the man with his bill as though it were a present, at least, and was in the middle of his second bow of dismissal when the man asked:

"Where's my change?"
"Change, sah? Our warn't none, sah, 'ceptin' my tip—thank you, sah!" John replied with another bow.

"But I hadn't given it to you," the man protested.

"Oh course not, sah!" John responded with still another bow and smile. "Ah wouldn't think ob permittin' you to go to all dat trouble, sah!" and the customer went slowly out, looking a trifle dazed.

New Portable Furnace.

A recently designed portable industrial furnace is self-contained, requiring no wire or pipe connections as it is moved about in shop or field. Its fuel is kerosene, which is reduced to a gas the moment before being ignited, and is claimed to give a temperature ranging from 2,500 to 3,000 degrees Fahrenheit. The kerosene is held in a storage tank supported under the burner on the stand carrying the burner. The capacity is sufficient for a ten-hour shift, in which the ordinary consumption is not over seven and one-half gallons, and the air is supplied to the burner by air compressed to 80 to 100 pounds, one charge of air sufficing for the day's work. The nonoxidizing character of the flame permits leaving hot metal in the furnace a long time without damage. The furnace is especially adapted for heating rivets and for hardening tools, but may be useful in many other operations.

War Memorial in China.

At its last meeting the Shanghai war memorial committee considered the various suggestions for a civic memorial to those of the allied citizens who fought and died in the war, and it was unanimously agreed to erect a cenotaph at the junction of the Bund and Avenue Edward VII. The trustees will have to be diverted to either side of the memorial. Shanghai arch-itects are to be asked to submit designs for the cenotaph, and presumably they will base them upon home models, with due allowance for local conditions and space at command. Provision will of course be made for a roll of honor, as complete as it can possibly be made. The memorial will be paid for by public subscription, with the possible addition of grants from the foreign and French municipal councils.—North China Herald.

Mine Fire Burns 15 Years.

Shenandoah, Pa. — Announcement was made officials believed the fire which has raged in the underground workings at Raritan Mammoth colliery at Raritan, Pa., for 15 years, is now under control. In a short time the burning area will be opened up and hundreds of thousands of tons of anthracite will be reclaimed.
