The Legislature Adjourns

The State Legislature adjourned Friday—12 hours ahead of schedule with most of the Governor's program approved and not as many harmful or unnecessary bills enacted into law as in general the case with Florida legislatures. On the whole, we believe this has not only been a good legislature but, actually, the best, one within our memory.

While it has been almost a practice with previous sessions to spend the first six weeks in haggling, the last two in frenzied attempts to get something done, with practically everything worthwhile put off until the last minute when it became necessary to stop the clocks and hold the boys in session for at least another 24 hours, this legislature did what it was supposed to do without any haste or confusion whatever.

It is easy to find flaws in most of the measures approved. It is just as easy to denounce the cigarette tax and cite its injustices, or to insist that more stringent labor laws should have been passed, or none at all, or that the anti-prostitution bill will prove ineffectual, but no one has yet suggested better ways of raising public revenues, regulating labor without oppression, or of curbing prostitution.

Although this legislature has been accused of extravagance and denounced for disregarding the taxpayers' rights, as a matter of fact it actually cut expenditures by a million dollars, which was a quarter of a million under the estimate set up by the budget commission, and it cut the expenses for its own operations by $150,000. This reverses a trend which has gone on under previous legislatures for more than a generation.

The cigarette tax, virtually the only additional burden heaped upon the taxpayer, is resigned to raise $3,500,000, not for new expenditures, but to take the place of revenues lost through the closing of the racetracks, the decline in documentary stamp tax sales, and other circumstances resulting from the war. In keeping with the times it might have levied many new taxes for every conceivable expenditure.

You can't judge a legislature by what it did or did not do with respect to one particular matter. It must be gauged in the light of its enactments as a whole and by comparison with previous legislatures. Measured in this way it seems to us this has been one of the best sessions Florida ever had.

War Progress

The peril of the free nations was so great when the United States entered the war, and there were so many things to be done, that most Americans have not yet realized the immense progress made by American enterprise. An impressive and reassuring survey was given the other day by Walter Lippmann in his New York Tribune column. Here are a few of the high points.

He finds that the seemingly impossible goals set for arming this nation have been reached, and output is so great that formerly baffling problems are solved. Instead of a lack of nearly everything needed for the big struggle, there begins to be enough for almost every purpose.

The big rubber famine is eased. Likewise the gasoline problem, the problem which has been the greatest dread, is apparently under control.

Complete understanding and co-operation with the allies has been achieved, including unity of operation with Russia. The dissolution of the Comintern has helped much. Recent Allied staff discussions at Washington were very satisfactory. Italy is knocked almost out of the war. The Japanese peril, although it has not been met by the full power of this nation, is considerably reduced.

Obviously there is still much to be done, but the free nations are on their way. With internal unity there can be no doubt of complete victory, possibly sooner than has been expected.

Human Alarm Clocks

A good many people would like to help in war work, but can't think of anything they would be able to do. They might get a suggestion from Mrs. Roy Hall, a Washington woman. She advertised herself as a "sleepytime gal" who would call anyone on the telephone at a certain hour every day of the month for 50 cents a week or $2 a month. Just the service they could get if they were staying at a hotel.

At the end of a month she had 14 clients. This meant that she had to wake up 14 times in the course of a morning and call 14 surprised and indignant customers, to say nothing of checking up by extra calls to make sure that they had not said "Aw-right" and turned over to go to sleep again.

Mrs. Hall certainly has not monopolized the field. There are plenty of sleepyheads all over the country who are impatient for ordinary alarm clocks. The work is useful, but is definitely not the road to popularity. Unless the victims, once thoroughly awake and on the way to work, begin to appreciate her true value.

Twenty Years Ago Today

A very delightful birthday party was held at Lake Mary Casino Wednesday afternoon in honor of Master Charles Sewall on his ninth birthday.

There were 15 young guests and a merry time was had by all. First of all everyone spent a joyful hour bathing in the lake, then all kinds of games were played, after which a dainty lunch was served.

The children present were: Beatrice and Bernice Snow, Blanche White, Madeline Lloyd, Anna Jones, Norma Snow, Albert Whitaker, Gladys Walker, Jean Whitaker, Raymond Locke, William Locke, Elmore Lloyd, Eugene Wester, Harry Wester and Charles Wester.

Miss Nell Whitner was the gracious hostess last evening when she entertained at bridge at her home on Magnolia Avenue.

McKays Honored At Meeting Of O. E. S.

Seminole Chapter No. 2, Order of the Eastern Star, Thursday evening at the Masonic Temple, honored Mr. and Mrs. G. E. McKay, past grand patron and past grand matron, who are leaving Sanford to make their home in Miami.

The chapter room was beautifully decorated with tall baskets of yellow gladioli and greenery, the colors used by Mrs. McKay when she was grand matron of the Grand Chapter of Florida, O. E. S.

Before the chapter meeting opened a program of melodic music by violin and piano was presented by Miss Doris McCall and Robert McCall, talented daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. George McCall, who are home on vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. McKay were introduced and greeted by the worthy matron, Mrs. Charles Hewson who presided in the East and Hasky Wright, worthy patron. Mrs. Basil C. Moore sang an appropriate song dedicated to Mr. and Mrs. McKay. The couple was then escorted to the East of the room and presented with grand honors.

Many Testimonies of appreciation to Mr. and Mrs. McKay were expressed by individual members of the chapter and by out-of-town guests and Mrs. Hewson, in behalf of the chapter, presented a lovely gift of china. A number of individual gifts were also given to them.

The Past Matrons' Club presented a drill for Mrs. McKay who was the first president of the club and a song written especially for the honor guests was sung by the past matrons and a sleigh bell chime chorus was sung.

Each past matron and past patron read some bit of advice which was placed in a sailor's bag with an attractive bouquet of yellow gladioli and a festive Sunday night supper tray from the club, was presented by the club president, Mrs. R. F. Crenshaw.

Mr. and Mrs. McKay expressed their appreciation to their friends for their friendships and gifts and said that as the time for their departure nears, it is increasingly hard to break away from the ties that have meant so much to them in Sanford; that friends who made here are treasured above all.

During the meeting, Mrs. Crenshaw was appointed to succeed Mrs. McKay as chapter instructor.

Many out-of-town guests were present to honor the McKays. Arthur B. Granger, past grand patron of the Grand Chapter of Florida, drew near, it is increasingly hard to break away from the ties that have meant so much to them in Sanford; that friends who made here are treasured above all.

Italian Islands Hit In New Allied Raids

President Warns Axis Against Use Of Poisonous Gas When Invasion Commences

WASHINGTON, June 9. (AP)—The Army Chemical Warfare Service today warned the nation that effective protective devices have been developed in case Allied soldiers have to face poison gas in invading Europe. President Roosevelt spoke again of the possibility of the Axis resorting to such promised retaliation if they did.

The U.S. Army itself has developed a stand-by production of poison gas, and Maj. Gen. William N. Porter, chief of the Chemical Warfare Service, said if the enemy starts using war gases, "We have plenty to give back and they'll probably get more than they give out."

By sea and air the Allies bludgeoned Italy's Mediterranean citadels of Pantelleria, Sardinia and Sicily and stepped up the assault of Axis-occupied Greece. Italian headquarters announced that the garrison at Pantelleria had refused to surrender on an invitation contained in leaflets dropped from the air. Since May 9 the island has been attacked 140 times.

Other war developments today included President Roosevelt's third warning to the Axis against the use of poison gas, Russia's repulse of German attacks in two sectors, the bombing of four enemy bases by United States planes in the southwest Pacific, and a warning to the Japanese by a Tokyo parliament speaker to prepare for a long war.

Beardall Is President Of River Group

Association Formed To Work For Development Of Central Florida Waterways

Mayor William Beardall of Orlando was elected president of a new organization designed for the development of the St. Johns River and Central Florida inland waterways at a luncheon today at the Mayfair attended by several scores of civic leaders from every community in Central Florida and as far away as Jacksonville.

The purpose of the organization was explained by Mayor Beardall who presided over the meeting. It is to make numerous surveys in order to develop a program which all can agree to and work toward its fruition.

Mayor Higgins made the address of welcome and Hon. Frank Puley pronounced the invocation. Mayor Beardall called upon all Sanford persons present, as well as guests and visitors, to introduce themselves. He also called upon a representative from every community present to express himself upon the proposed program.

W. A. Leffler, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, said that Sanford is primarily interested in the development of the St. Johns River, but he suggested that each community should present its own project and then all work together for the betterment of all.

W. J. Johnson, manager of the Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce, said that better water transportation means better freight rates and added that the present use of the St. Johns, small as it is, is keeping freight rates from being much higher than they are.

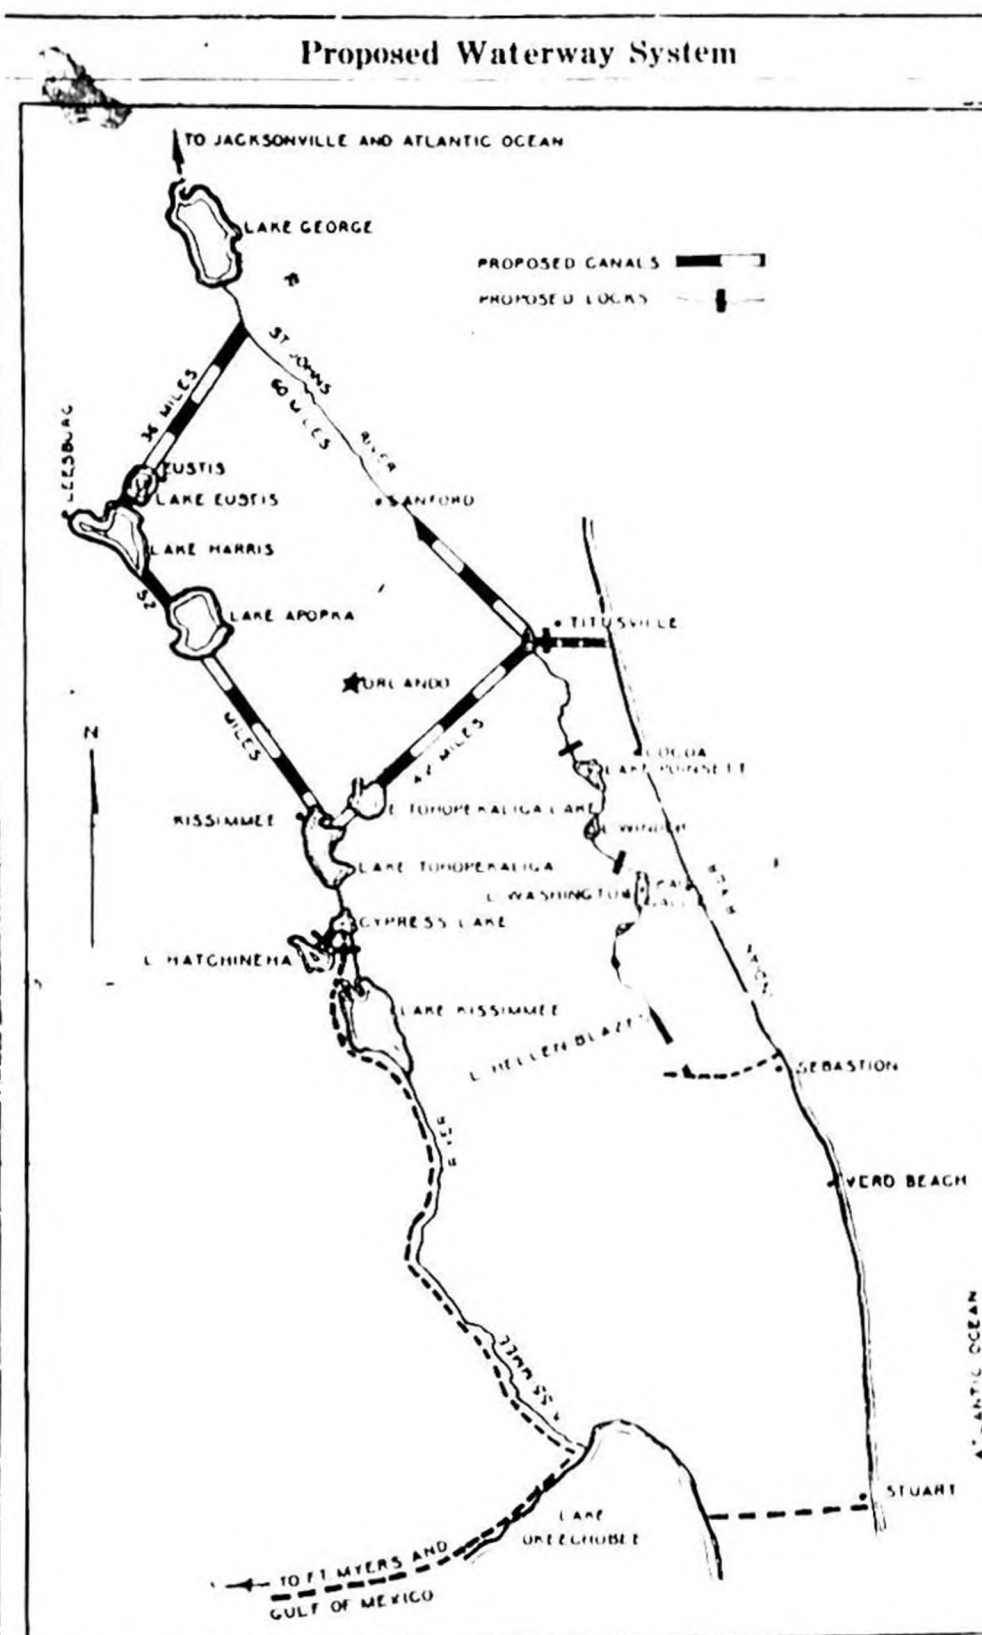

When Robert, editor of the Orlando Sentinel, expressed his gratification at seeing so many men of liberal minds present, Beardall said that he hoped they would be able to do something in their own right before we ask help from anyone else. He urged that the threshold of doing something.

Others who spoke included Fred Ward of Winter Park who offered the cooperation of the State Road Department, and H. C. McNeill, who said that the cross-state canal was lost because of diversified interests and the split between north and south Florida.

Salvation Army Leader Crossed Paths With Frank Evans In Youth

While Col. C. J. Hickey, veteran Salvation Army man was speaking at the luncheon at Hotel Mayfair, Monday, your reporter noted an astonishing likeness between him and Frank Evans, seated at the table but a short distance from him.

THIS MAP IS NOT supposed to be final in any way definitive of the proposed waterway project for Central Florida. In a general way only it is suggestive of how the final plan might evolve. The final plan will come only after the report of army or other competent engineers. But the connection between the two river systems is practicable, as the map shows.

Axis Present Condition Compared To U. S. After Attack On Pearl Harbor

ANNAPOLIS, June 9. (AP)—Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox declared today that "secret information" to the United States says the feeling in Tokyo and Berlin is akin to ours after Pearl Harbor. The choice, place and time for striking is now ours.

Addressing 500 Naval Academy midshipmen, Secretary Knox asserted there is a lot of talk about a second front. "When they see there are eight fronts and one," he said, "they will realize the importance of our power and that the United States would not consent to pass up a chance of naval strength."

For the second time in three days, Japan's South Pacific air force suffered a severe defeat at the hands of American airmen Monday, the Navy reported yesterday. In a battle giving fresh evidence of qualitative superiority of American planes and pilots, the enemy lost 19 Zero fighters out of a flight of 40 to 50 fighters and bombers apparently attempting to raid United States positions in the Russell Group of the Solomon Islands. In addition 20 Zeroes were damaged. Seven of our planes were lost but three pilots were saved.

A Naval communique announced the latest South Pacific air victory shortly after Secretary Knox disclosed at a press conference that Adm. Ernest J. King, naval chief, had conferred with Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, Pacific fleet commander, on plans for the prosecution of the war in the Pacific theater.

It was announced that King had left for Annapolis, Md., to attend the second annual conference of the National Board of Fire Underwriters.
