James B. Kirby Is Honored At Dinner Held At Mayfair

By WILLARD CONNOLLY
James B. Kirby of Cleveland, Ohio, inventor of the first vacuum cleaner (1906) and thereby the benefactor of all woman-kind who possess these appliances, was an honored guest at the dinner meeting of state distributors of the Kirby vacuum cleaner company held Saturday at the ballroom of the Mayfair Inn.

H. W. McCullough and A. W. Hueneme, Florida distributors for the product, were hosts at this testimonial dinner at which Mr. Kirby told some of his experiences in pioneering the vacuum cleaner. Two other guests from Cleveland were G. H. Scott and C. S. Fetzer, makers of the Kirby Vacuum Cleaner, whose Cleveland plant has grown to large dimensions since 1915.

Mr. Kirby also holds many patents including that of the spinners on modern type washing machines. The centering of the vacuum cleaner industry in and around Cleveland is the result of his pioneering in that direction. His latest electric cleaner is the first to bear his name. It was first introduced in Florida at Daytona Beach in 1945 by Mr. McCullough, W. A. Hall of Charleson, W. Va., and Charles M. Carrick, a former associate of Mr. Hall.

Walter E. Barr, also a Charleston associate of Mr. McCullough, was so successful in selling Kirbys at Gainesville that he was made distributor for a larger territory at Orlando. Sales mounted and a huge backlog of orders was established at company headquarters for the state in the Sanford Atlantic National Bank Building. Mr. Barr returned his son home from war service with the Marines, in the Kirby and the son now heads the distribution agency in Gainesville.

The Kirby organization in Florida and centered in Sanford, now numbers over 35 persons and is constantly growing as more cleaners become available.

NEWCOMERTOWN, O. — "My greatest thrill," mused Denton True (Cy) Young, answering a question with the same question. "Well, I guess you'd think that with all the baseball I played that would be a tough one, but, funny thing, it's easy."

The most durable of the big league pitchers continued: "It was on May 5, 1904, but I can remember it just as though it had happened yesterday. It was the perfect game I pitched for the Boston Red Sox against the Philadelphia Athletics. Not one of the Athletics reached first base. Old Rube Waddell was pitching against me. Cy, who will observe his 80th birthday March 29, laughed as he reminisced:

"I guess my teammates were more excited than I was. When I walked over to the bench after the game, they just about mobbed me."

Cy recalled that fans came out of the stands to congratulate him and pat him on the back. One fan slipped a $5 bill—big money in those days—into his hand. It is still one of Cy's prized souvenirs.

There may be some question as to the best all-time pitcher in baseball but there can be no doubt as to the game's most durable hurler, Young, truly a work-horse, possessed several records that have not even been approached—and they probably never will be.

There are just a few of them:

Pitched 211 major league victories.

Pitched 22 major league seasons for five different clubs.

Started three no-hitters, one the forementioned perfect game.

Pitched .871 games. His winning percentage was .419.

Fanned 2,832, walked only 1,192.

Averaged over 300 five times, three in succession, ranging from

.727 to .783.

Won more than 30 games in a single season five times, in 1892, he won 36 and lost only 10.

Fanned 207 batters and passed only 28 in 1905.

He appeared in only one World Series (1903). He won two out of three games. In all, he worked 33 innings, appearing in four contests.

Young walked only four batters and fanned 17.

Old Cy says he decided to hang up his spikes at the age of 44 when, pitching for the Boston Nationals, he lost a 1-0 decision to a Philadelphia recruit. His name was Grover Cleveland Alexander.

Young points out that present-day pitchers are handicapped by the livelier ball and small parks. He says:

"When I was pitching it took a powerful wallop to knock the ball against or over the fence."

Young chuckles to himself as he recalls when the Canton club sold

House Group Cites Lawyer For Contempt

Testimony Describes Leon Josephson As Russian Secret Police Member, Forger

WASHINGTON, Mar. 24—The House Committee on Un-American Activities today unanimously cited New York Attorney Leon Josephson for contempt after he refused to testify before members of the committee. He had been described in testimony to the Un-American Activities Committee as a member of the Russian secret police and a figure in a passport forging ring in the United States.

The contempt citation will be sent to the entire House. If approved, the citation will then be turned over to a United States district attorney to present to a grand jury. Conviction is punishable by up to $1,000 fine and one year in jail.

Last Friday, Josephson was de-scribed in testimony to the Un-American Activities Committee as a member of the Russian secret police and a figure in a passport forging ring. Josephson said in Daytona, Fla., over the weekend that the testimony before the committee was part of a plan to build up a Communist slate in the United States.

Meanwhile, American Legion officials asked Congress to ban all aliens advocating the overthrow of the government by force.

A legion official, James Green of Omaha, said the Legion considers that the Communist Party is not a political party, but is an agency under foreign influence set up for what he called the purpose of destroying America's democratic form of government.

Three Negroes Sentenced To Jail By Circuit Court

Two negroes were sentenced on conviction of arson to terms in the State Penitentiary at Ralston, and one negro to a year in County Jail on two charges in Circuit Court which recessed Saturday afternoon at 8:30 o'clock, subject to call. The sentences were pronounced by Judge Frank Smith, according to O. P. Herndon, county clerk.

D. W. Gibson, negro, found guilty Friday by a jury of having stolen a motorcycle, drew a five year sentence at Ralston. Wesley Tucker, negro, was convicted of stealing an automobile, the property of W. H. Hickton and drew a three year sentence at Ralston.

Johny P. Hall, negro, charged with assault with intent to commit murder in the first degree, was convicted in two cases of aggravated assault and sentenced to serve two month terms, one to follow the other, in County jail.

The court of the State of Florida against Katherina Colgan, negro, charged with mayhem in connection with alleged throwing of potato which put out the left eye of Theodore Randall, colored, was not pressed on a plea entered by the state.

HAMBONE'S MEDITATIONS

'MONEY DO TALK — EN ALL IT IS EVLUH SAY TO A FOOL IS GOODBYE!'

Confidence Demanded By Chiang Kai-Shek

NANKING, Mar. 24—Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek today demanded confidence in his leadership in an address before a joint meeting of Chinese government officials and delegates to a government party conference.

Chiang deplored attacks at the convention in Nanking against government officials. He announced that the political future of the party depends upon unity within the group. Informed sources said that a central committee has adopted a formal resolution urging that Russia be asked to hand over the Manchurian part of Dalat. These sources add that the resolution also asks that Russia be asked to open negotiations over industrial machinery removed from Manchuria.

Dutch Judge Affirms Confiscation Of Ship

BATAVIA, Java, Mar. 24—A judge of the Dutch Land Court today confirmed a confiscation by the Netherlands East Indies Government of the cargo of the United States Liberty Ship Martin Behrman.

The government seized the $300,000 cargo early this month on grounds that it had been loaded at the Indonesian republican port of Cheribon in defiance of Dutch export regulations.

The cargo included rubber, cinchona (quinine) bark and sisal fiber.

Judge M. L. Swaab ordered the master of the Martin Behrman, Captain Rudy Gray, to pay the costs of the legal proceedings. The ship is operated by the Indonesian Company, Inc., of New York.

Score Of Employees Are Not Re-Instituted At Allis-Chalmers

MILWAUKEE, Mar. 24—The director of industrial relations at the Allis-Chalmers plant in Milwaukee said some workers of Local 238 of the CIO United Auto Workers were recalled to telephone today not to report for work. The local strike was called yesterday to end its long strike at the plant.

The company official, W. E. Van Cleef, said less than 100 employees were told not to come back to work, adding that their employment status is in doubt because of what he called their disruptive acts.

Telegrams said: "In the near future you will be advised of your employment status by letter after your case has been carefully considered on its merits."

Violence had broken out on many occasions during the course of the 11-month work stoppage.

Van Cleef said returning strikers will go to their old jobs, as no employees have been hired in the production unit since last April. All departments have been operating with whatever members of the union crews were available.

Mrs. Beal Is Elected Supervisor Official

Mrs. Louise A. Beal, supervisor of registration for Seminole County, was elected secretary of the Florida State Association of Supervisors of Registration at their annual meeting held in the Americana Hotel in Orlando Friday and Saturday. She was also named chairman of the publicity committee.

President of the Association is DeWitt Upthegrove, supervisor of registration of Palm Beach County; John Q. Boatwright of Sunwasee, first vice president; Miss Hattie Cole of Leon, second vice president; and Nevin C. Perkins of Marion, treasurer.

Six major changes in State registration laws were recommended by the association whose aim is the strengthening and unification of the election laws. Harry McDaniel, Tampa attorney and former member of the State Legislature and Asst. Attorney Gen. Howard Bailey were named to incorporate the proposed changes into a bill for presentation to the coming Legislature.

Chiang deplored attacks at the convention in Nanking against government officials. He announced that the political future of the party depends upon unity within the group.

Thirty Candidates Report For Drills; First Game Scheduled For April 15

By ARTHUR BECKWITH, JR.
Herald Sports Editor

The 1947 edition of the Sanford Celery Feds entry in the Florida State League opened their drills this morning at 10 o'clock with 30 candidates reporting to manager Buddy Lake.

The exercise included light wind sprints and conditioning workouts.

Lake reported that 26 of the players were under contract, and that the others would have their names on the dotted line by tomorrow.

Eight fielders, seven infielders, seven pitchers and four catchers were under contract this morning and reported for the first drill.

Lake announced that the prospects for a good club are bright. "We have some good looking boys out here," Lake asserted. Most of them are rookies too," the Sanford manager would say.

The former Florida State League batting champion stated that he intended to work at the third base position this year instead of in the outfield as he did last season. "I feel sure that I can handle the hot corner and I will be in a better position to manage the team," Lake announced.

Charlie Binson is now the property of the Feds and will not have to report to the Tampa Smokies. Binson was in a Fed uniform for the session this morning.

Other men returning from the 1946 team include Rudy Sloan, Jerry Silverman, George Mottelet,

Bank In Palestine Is Robbed Of $80,000

JERUSALEM, Mar. 24—Police in the all-Jewish coastal city of Tel Aviv said the Palestine Discount Bank in the city was robbed of about $80,000 at the peak of business this morning. A group of men first walked into the bank as a screen for the gunmen, who walked in a few moments later.

The gunmen forced a dozen employees and 50 customers to stand with their hands raised. The bandits then proceeded to scoop cash methodically from teller's cages.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

DON'T GO IN DEBT FOR PLEASURES YOU CANNOT AF-FORD: He that loveth pleasure shall be a poor man.—Prov. 21:17.

Sanford has done it again. Dick Aiken stole the show in the Orlando radio contest.

Decent people everywhere, rejoice in the victory of Governor Thompson, and we might add, law and order, over Herman Talmadge in Georgia, but the rejoicing may be short lived, on account of the fact that Talmadge will be a candidate for governor next year.
The unit voting system and the prejudices and animosities that have been engendered make the outcome of such a election somewhat unpleasant to contemplate.

Former Mayor LaGuardia laid it on the line when he said "Chas will set in on this country unless we start building homes. In-laws just can't live together." In fact, there is reason to believe that the rising divorce rate in this country is largely attributable to the failure of the housing program.
When a young couple can't find a decent place to live, have to hunk in with other people who get on their nerves, anything can happen, and does.

Harold Cole of the State
Chamber of Commerce predicts that Florida will have a population of four million in ten years. That will be fine if it will mean better business, more jobs, more thriving communities. But it will also entail certain obligations and responsibilities. Four million people need more recreational facilities than two million people need. Four million people need more schools, more libraries, more streets and sidewalks, better sewage disposal systems, bigger hospitals, better highway supervision and traffic regulations. Four million people in ten years will present a problem our public officials should be studying now.

Mar. 19, 1947 was a red letter day for the court in this country and for the superiority of law over man. Georgia's Herman Talmadge, who had marched into the Governor's office at the head of state police and armed political henchmen, much after the manner of a Hitler or Mussolini, stepped quietly down when the State Supreme Court ruled against him. And at another scene another equally powerful potentate, John L. Lewis, bowed. In the Supreme Court decision, when he called off his coal strike slated for Mar. 31. In this country nobody is bigger than the law—though sometimes some big-head will think he is—and all men are equal before the law.

The best tourist season which Sanford has ever had is drawing to a close and local business men are looking forward confidently to another good season next winter. But because the tourists came here this year should not make us too confident or complacent about their coming here in the future.
Many of our visitors came to Sanford for the first time because they could not get accommodations anywhere else. They will, we believe, come back if we have something to offer them or a particular attraction.

Meanwhile, British spokesmen had surprised "surprise and disappointment" to an American proposal that Britain cede the island of Cyprus to Greece.

One official who refused to be identified, made this comment:

"It will be a relief to all of us when some people in the United States overcome their tendency to be so liberal with territory that does not belong to them."

A foreign office spokesman in London asserted: "British policy in regard to Cyprus is plain. It has been stated previously."

Many times in the past Britain has refused to change the island's status, saying that it was an important guardian of her imperial interests. Originally, Cyprus was colonized by the ancient Greeks.
It first came into British hands
when King Richard the Lionhearted conquered it in the year 1191. Cyprus passed from one nation to another after that until in 1914 it was formally annexed to the British empire.

The Greek government, said a London official, is known to favor a union with the island but has not yet done so.

Moving Germans

The proposal of the French Foreign Minister, Georges Bidault, that Germany's population be reduced through organized emigration into other countries strikes at the heart of the German problem.

Hilter justified his war aims on the basis of need for room for his countrymen. Bidault says that the present policy of repatriating Germans expelled from other countries will increase the Reich's population to where it will reach 196 persons per square kilometer as compared with 156 in pre-war days. France offers to absorb a quota of such expelled Germans into her own nation, and the inference is that other European nations, particularly those with war-made man shortages, would do likewise. The results would be strengthening population-depleted countries on the one hand, opportunity for individual Germans and a weakening of a German expansion threat on the other.

Bidault's idea has sound logic. Yet it is a device that touches the philosophy of individual right and freedom, the cause for which the Allies fought. Mass moving of human beings is a dangerous affair. It can be considered for the Germans only if assurances are given that liberties and equality of opportunity will be safeguarded.

The Germans were not so considerate in their mass movements of human beings. But the Allies must be. Otherwise seeds of another war are surely planted.

Speed

The worst thing about this generation is its speed mania, says an elder, who goes on to explain that probably its worst phase is the apparent belief that there is some kind of merit in the production and utilization of mere speed in itself, without regard to productive or esthetic purpose. As a matter of fact, the average speed maniac, especially when he carries his operations into the sky, soon arrives at a point where he can neither see nor hear anything but a great roar, to which an ordinary waterfall is much superior.

It is all right, he says, to develop all these scientific processes and ideas, and utilize mechanical power for whatever it is good for. But it is quite possible that a time may come, in the not too distant future, when this blind worship of speed and mechanical power will be regarded as rather silly, comparable to a grown man playing with marbles.

Maybe what Grandpa needs to make him feel better is a nice long airplane ride. But when he says that it is the human being himself that needs developing, rather than mere mechanical devices, it has to be admitted that he has something.

Gerlache Was There

The Belgians are trying to get international recognition for the work of Adrien de Gerlache. In 1897 he organized an Antarctic expedition which was the first to be frozen in the South Polar ice and the first to winter in the Antarctic.

The Gerlache ship, "Belgica," explored the Weddell Sea, below South America, and suffered the fate of almost all visitors to that quarter—getting caught in pack ice before they could get very far. They never got much beyond the 71st parallel, whereas if they had tried the Ross Sea, below New Zealand, they might have reached the 75th before being blocked by the Great Ice Barrier. The Gerlache geographical contributions were not great, but the scientific facts they accumulated proved of great interest.

The best remembered fact about the "expedition is that its crew included two of the best remembered men in all the history of Polar exploration. They were Dr. Frederick A. Cook, later discredited for his unsupported claim to have reached the North Pole, and Ronald Amundsen, one of the great explorers of all time, who, except for our own Admiral Byrd, is the only man to have attained both the South and the North Poles.

TOKYO—Emperor Hirohito, who must dispose of most of his real estate to pay his 90 percent property tax, will have to get by on 13,000 yen a year from now on.

At the official exchange rate that is $300,000, but in actual buying power it is only about a half-million yen a tidy sum.

Hirohito isn't going to break up his palace grounds, however, and he still will be able to use his branch palaces and villas. It's all a bookkeeping deal. The government will get title to them, but the emperor will use them and the government will give him the money to keep them running.

I have in hand reports from Sanford, Wauchula, Fort Pierce, Florida City and Pahokee indicating the serious character of this bit of bad weather, which adds to earlier disaster of cold and rain which have beat vegetable growers as well as farmers and fruit growers in general.

neyer requested the British to consider the move. Now that the United States has urged that the island be given to Greece the British have expressed mild indignation. However, the foreign office said that any American views on the matter conveyed to London will receive normal consideration.

However, Acheson did take note of some of the questions. He said, for instance, that President Truman's proposal to aid Greece does not mean that the United States is assuming British obligations or underwriting British military policy in Greece, or anywhere else.

But Acheson did not rule out the possibility that a program of aid to Greece and Turkey might lead to similar programs elsewhere.

Acheson also took up the question of whether American aid to Greece constitutes a blanket endorsement of the present government. He said: "It is our object to help maintain the present constitutional system of Greece so long as the majority of Greeks desire it. In Greece today we do not have a choice between a perfect democracy and an imperfect democracy. The question is whether there shall be any democracy at all."

He gave a vivid picture of the centers visited, including Jacksonville, which he described as the "Gateway to Florida"; Gainesville, "the University of Florida"; Orlando, "the city beautiful"; Silver Springs, an attractive resort. Sanford, known for and wide for its celery which is mainly planted and harvested by colored help; Lakeland "the progressive city"; St. Petersburg, "the sun-blessed city"; and St. Augustine, which he said is believed to be the oldest city in the United States, a city with a deep historic background.

Regarding the trip he stated that never before had he traveled in a space of only a few hours, more extreme weather conditions, remarking that when he left Jacksonville, the temperature registered 10 degrees.

Speaking of the tourist business, Mr. Wilson predicted this year the best yet, providing fair prices are maintained by everyone catering to the travelling public. He cautioned that if not, then what had taken years to build up might be lost overnight.

He referred to the vast number of enquiries made to date regarding tourist accommodations in this district and informed his listeners that it is expected that several bus tours from the United States will visit this section of the country during the summer months.

HOLLYWOOD

By GENE HANACKER

HOLLYWOOD — When the movies create an imaginary home town, it becomes everybody's home town.

On a set at RKO right now, for example, stands "Grand View, U. S. A." a stone and wood replica typical enough to start any small-town weeping tears of nostalgia.

It's courthouse is a copy of what used to be the U. S. Mint and is now a museum at Carson City, Nev., because producer Robert Riskin and Art Director Elmer Banks decided that structure was the most court-house-looking courthouse anywhere.

The plant of its newspaper, the Grandview Dispatch, just off the public square, is a frank imitation of the structure that houses the late William Allen White's Emporia Gazette.

A sidewalk clock was built from photographs of one in Marysville, Calif. The trees in the square remind Jane Wyman of the elm along the street where she lived in St. Joseph, Mo.

Banks visited half a dozen towns, photographing everything he thought had a quality of universality. Sets for the picture, "Magic Town," starring Miss Wyman and James Stewart, were built from his photos.

Robert Mitchum, brushing a long wavy lock of brown hair out of his eyes, told me that he's tired. He looked it, and little wonder. In just over a year he's completed five major pictures, only two of which, "Till the End of Time" and "Undercurrent," have been released. He's working in a sixth, "Out of the Past."

In the can, and sure to increase this already hot boxoffice property's popularity by several degrees, Farenheit when they are released, are "The Locked Room," "Pursued," and "Sudden Impact."

Vending Machines In Grocery Stores May Become Actual Fact

ST. LOUIS.—The grocery store with its white-aproned clerks may soon give way in an automatic market that will dispense thousands of items day or night entirely from vending machines.

Sounds fantastic, but the idea may come to pass largely through the ingenuity of John Gottfried.

Gottfried is president and principal stockholder of National Receptors, Inc., of St. Louis, manufacturers of the gimmicks which go into automatic vending machines and toss back the slugs, beer checks and sales tax tokens anyone might try to slip into the mechanism.

The "honest Johns" are found on vending machines dispensing everything from cigarettes and candy to golf balls.

The tricky little gadget, not much larger than the palm of your hand, is guaranteed to reject 98 out of every 100 phonoy colys. Because of it, the day of the exact change vending machine is just about over. Practically all of the new model vending booths a change maker as well as a slug rejector.

Latest customer for the gadget is a company with a contraption that serves a cup of coffee induced by human hands. It dispenses a cup of Java, black or with cream, or with without sugar. It has an automatic change maker.

So even though you may not have a nickel, you can still get your coffee with a dime or a quarter and receive the correct change.

Right now, Gottfried is working on a gadget to sell railroad tickets and an invention to play a phonograph record successively on its top bottom sides without playing through a whole stack of discs to get to the numbers on the down side.

He and his associates are at work on the gimmick that may show up soon in the grocery stores. It is a cabinet equipped to stock, preserve and sell merchandise at any price, as the idea of an automatic, mechanized grocery store doesn't seem too remote.
