Search For Soapflakes

The reasons behind the soap shortage are many, adding up to the involved kind of situation heard of frequently this year.

Fat is a major ingredient of soap. There's a shortage of fat because women are not turning in salvage kitchen grease at the wartime rate.

Behind the fat supplies are more explanations. OPA ceilings are lower than most prices offered for foreign fats in other countries.

The soap manufacturers say housewives are also to blame for their habit of snapping up every soapflake they spot, whether they need it or not.

Apparently all the mere consumer can do is save her kitchen fat and turn it in, use the soap she can get down to the last bubble, and try to keep the children from getting dirty quite so many times a day.

School For Campaigners

Here is something which may make the old-time politician scoff. A school on the organization and conduct of political campaigns will start in Chicago early in September.

The building of ward and precinct organizations, the handling of finance and advertising, and techniques of dealing with Congress are some of the other subjects.

The hitch, of course, is the word "theoretical." The veteran ward worker will say that he knows all this already without taking courses.

If the election returns are encouraging to the graduates of the school, next year's session may see pupils from Tammany and the Philadelphia Republican organization.

For Want Of A House

It is not news that housing and labor shortages hang together, but recent information from the State of Illinois illuminates the situation.

So, once again it is apparent that housing is the country's major bottleneck.

How To Read A Newspaper

Our story about the fine old should be read without any difficulty. On the contrary, it is not only to be expected but it is to be desired that the reader shall experience a certain measure of difficulty in reading his newspaper.

It is desirable that as a normal procedure newspapers should be read without difficulty. It does not require long reflection to show that the answer is in the negative.

And as a matter of fact this is a branch of newspaper publishing that is the subject of continuous study and experimentation.

But when it comes to the contents of the daily paper it is far from certain that a newspaper editor of this newspaper. We hear much today about the free flow of information as an indispensable condition of international understanding and world peace.

"CIVIL WAR RESUMED"

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

The Florida State Advertising Commission has been pointing with pride to the amount of publicity Florida has been receiving in national newspapers and magazines.

The article, written by Wesley Price, gives three pages of text and two-thirds of a page of photographs to Florida's dynamic Senator and while it describes him as "the best orator in the Senate," it also labels him as "the most dangerous man to sit there since Huey Long."

Harking back to the days when the senator was practicing as a country lawyer, the author compares his defense of Jim Buchanan, convicted of murder in 1927 and sentenced to death for shooting and killing a couple of prohibition agents, to Joshua's halting of the sun.

He points out that Pepper was successful in smothering five death warrants by court maneuvers, and that five Governors have refrained from sending Pepper's client to the chair, who lives on in Sanford, saved by gubernatorial writ of the grave security and would make Uncle Sam a professional wet nurse, charged with the responsibility of "looking after" an unfortunate critter he pleases to favor.

While Pepper has not as yet favored, pensions for convicted murderers, the author points out that the senator glories in the fact that he is termed the senate's outstanding liberal, and he favors government relief for anyone who is in financial straits.

He has spoken loud and long in his defense of Soviet Russia and has consistently taken Russia's side in international disputes advocating a get-sof-with-Russia policy as against Secretary Byrnes and Vandenberg's policy of "speaking plainly with Russia on all occasions as Russia has not hesitated to do so."

Pepper wants the United States to relieve Russia's fears by conferring with her on the control of atomic power and he wants us to destroy all of our atom bombs and factories to "prove to Mr. Stalin that we trust him so much that we are willing to throw away our gun regardless of whether he keeps his or not."

Commenting on Pepper's standing in the Senate, Price states that most of his colleagues fear him, some because of his sharp tongue and others because of his manner. He is aloof and unbounding. He is deadly serious and seldom "lets his hair down" to become "one of the boys."

While Wesley Price's article will probably please a lot of folks in Florida and elsewhere, it won't change the senator's attitude or seriously affect his following. Pepper would never have reached the United States Senate if he had had to depend on Saturday Evening Post readers for his votes.

If he had had to run for reelection last May instead of four years from now he might have been defeated, but folks have a way of forgetting and Pepper is a past master at fence patching. Remember, they've never burned Jim Buchanan and it will be even a tougher job to crucify Pepper.

STATE NEWS BRIEFS

BY WILLARD CONNOLLY

What started out to be a fine three day celebration climaxed by Labor Day at Daytona Beach flared out Monday like a wet firecracker due to a steady drizzle that lasted all day.

An aged spectator selected his own funeral march at the Daytona Bandshell Monday evening. During one of the lively marches played by the 38 piece Daytona band the old man, whose identity was not known at the time slumped from the bench on which he had been sitting to the concrete floor, while a crowd collected around him, the band played on.

Even if there were no fireworks Monday evening at Daytona Beach the rain stopped in time to permit Fuller Warren to speak at the bandshell and the Jacksonville attorney, gubernatorial prospect and Navy veteran provided some fireworks of his own.

The State Board of Control has recommended to the State Board of Education that due to overcrowding at the University of Florida, that some students be permitted to attend classes under Florida State College for Women instructors.

DRIVE SAFELY. Do you know why drivers are licensed? Every year as traffic accidents are analyzed, the experience is to the effect that violations of the traffic laws occur in about 70 percent of the mishaps. Ignorant, unskilled and inattentive drivers get into many accidents. Therefore, every state in the union, including Florida, with the exception of three, have adopted the policy of granting the privilege of operating motor vehicles to new drivers "only" when they have proved, in a test, that they can drive properly. "Accidents Never Happen. They Are Caused."

Eager Beaver A Dumb Bunny. MAYFIELD, Idaho (AP) - Trapper M. Magnusen figures this beaver was eager but not very smart. Magnusen discovered the beaver building a dam between the steep banks of a small stream. Realizing that the stream would be dry, he placed a ladder there so the beaver could climb out.

The next day he found the beaver had chewed the ladder apart and stuck the pieces in the dam.

HERE'S ONE BILL

That Costs You No More Today Than it Did 20 YEARS AGO

Although your cost of living has steadily increased, here is one thing—an important thing in your life—that actually costs you no more today than it did twenty years ago. It's your telephone!

This record of low cost performance, in these times of rising prices, is enough alone to stand out like a beacon in the night.

In addition the service has greatly expanded and as more telephones have been added the relative cost to the user has steadily declined. Today you can reach many more people by telephone—the better to serve your needs for business or personal use.

This record—which stands out as an achievement—is becoming more and more difficult to maintain as costs of everything going into the furnishing of telephone service continue to rise.

Jodie Howington To Face St. Augustine In Opener Tonight

Manager Levy Plans Attempt To Return To Higher Ball Next Year

Local Officials Expect 1,600 Fans To See Celery Feds Tangle With St. Augustine; Play-By-Play Returns Being Set

By JULIAN STENSTROM
Southpaw Jodie Howington, Sanford's only 20 game winner this season, has been tagged by Manager Ed Levy to hurl for the Celery Feds tonight when they tangle with Manager Bill Steinbeck's St. Augustine Saints in the initial game of the post-season playoffs at the Municipal Park.

Howington, who has had one of his best years in professional baseball despite not getting started when the curtain was hiked this season, narrowly missed being named the league's leading left hander.

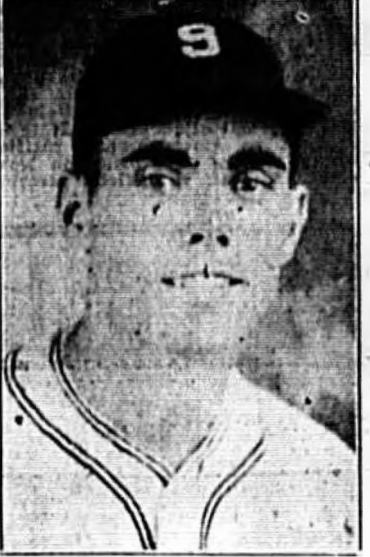

Sanford officials said this morning they anticipated a crowd of some 1,600 fans to be on hand for tonight's contest. Tomorrow night the locals travel to the ancient city for the second tilt of the best four-out-of-seven game series.

Levy said that he would send Goose Kettles to the hill in this contest and then Jim Schantel will be called on to display his ability against the Saints in the third game which is slated to be played here on Friday evening.

Meanwhile, efforts are underway at the present time to arrange to bring Sanford fans a play-by-play description of the contest via Western Union through the courtesy of the Sanford Baseball Association, Inc., and The Sanford Herald.

It was revealed by Skipper Levy yesterday that in all probability next year he will attempt to return to higher class baseball. "Since I've found out that I can't play again," Levy commented,

Tonight's Pitcher

Jodie Howington, Sanford southpaw, is Manager Ed Levy's choice to go to the mound tonight to face the St. Augustine Saints in the first game in the Shauheesy play-off series. Howington won 20 games during the regular season.

"I'm going to try to return to higher ball. I don't think I'll have any trouble signing with a club but I'm going to give Mr. Mack (Philadelphia Athletic manager) the first chance."

The number of certified civil air men now is more than 10 times the prewar total, or about 112,000.

INSIDE SPORTS REPORT

By ARTHUR BECKWITH, JR.

"Heave" Humor

There have been quite a few rumors concerning the possibility that the Boston Braves will maintain their Spring training camp in our city. First of all let us say that the statements are purely unfounded and there is no truth in the matter. To go one step farther we will state that there has been no feeling sent to Boston in an attempt to get the Braves here.

The Boston club may add another farm to their fold this year but it will not be Sanford. The Braves are interested in the Bluefield team in the Appalachian League.

It's not yet as wrong. We would definitely like to see the Braves in Sanford next year or any year for that matter. Boston has a good club and any Florida city will do well to have them in their town for Spring training. We wish that we had them but there is no chance.

There have been communications sent to a number of teams with reference to coming to Sanford and the nearest luck we had was Pittsburgh.

The reason the Braves selected Miami over Sanford is that they received a wad of cash to train there. Incidentally the "inducement" ran into five figures as can anyone blame them for going south?

The possibilities for Sanford to obtain a team to train at the local high next Spring are enlightening but no details can be or have been revealed at this time.

Fed Mound Corps

The Fed mound corps led by Jodie Howington has performed a magnificent job this year and a lot of credit should be given where credit is due.

Howington has won manager Ed Levy's approval as the starting hurler for the initial Sanford-St. Augustine series game.

Next in line on the Fed mound staff is Big Goose Kettles. Kettles has turned in some remarkable games this year. Included among his accomplishments was a no-hit-no-run game against the Gainesville G-men. Kettles turned in a one-hit performance against the Orlando Senators in this year. Kettles has drawn the second game pitching assignment in the St. Augustine series and this tilt will be played in the Saints park. Kettles has won 19 tilts and lost 12 this year.

Third in line is Jim Schantel. Schantel was left here on option by the St. Paul Saints and has done a creditable job for Sanford this year. He turned in 10 victories against 10 defeats. Schantel is scheduled to face the Saints here in Sanford in the third game of the playoff.

Charlie Bisson came to Sanford after the season started but won 10 games against seven defeats for the locals. He was called the work horse of the Sanford team. Jim Payne turned in a no-hit, no-run tilt against the G-men as one of his accomplishments for the season and has six victories and a like number of defeats for the season. Cal Hane pitched a number of relief tilts for the Feds this year and has a record of seven victories and nine defeats during the year.

Wolf's Predictions

Head Coach Ray (Bear) Wolf of the University of Florida has rated Alabama Georgia as the teams to beat this year in the Southeastern Conference.

Of the three, the Gators will meet Tulane and Georgia. Florida will meet the Green Wave for their bid to the national title on October 5 in New Orleans. They meet Georgia's Bulldogs November 2 in Jacksonville.

Florida State League Playoffs Begin In Sanford, Orlando Tonight

By LEAGUE SERVICE BUREAU
Orlando and Sanford tonight will be the scenes of opening games in the Class D Florida State League's eighth annual Shauheesy playoffs and record crowds are expected for the start at 8:15 o'clock.

Ted Madjeski's pennant-winning Orlando Senators will be hosts to Bill Fuchs always troublesome Deland Red-Hits, while Ed Levy's second time Sanford Celery Feds will entertain Bill Steinbeck's St. Augustine Saints.

With National Association regulations preventing players from sharing in any of the revenue of the loop's Shauheesy games, their prime incentive, aside from sweeping aside season-long losses in a crack at the receipts from the first four games with the Georgia-Florida loop winner. All-time record crowds are expected for this inter-league affair, and the jack-pot for the players should hit an all-time high.

Regular admission prices will prevail for the Florida State play-offs. Games will alternate between the cities involved until one wins four. In case of rain, the teams move to the other city just as in the regular season to continue the series. All games must go nine innings or be declared "no contest."

The league receives 20 percent of the gross gate receipts, with the balance divided between the contesting clubs. One half of the league's 20 percent is paid to the play-off inner to be used to help level expenses of the series with the Georgia-Florida League.

Each team can have as many as 18 men in uniform at one time, and the game eligibility rules as

Tucson High Just Keeps Rolling On

By MURRAY SINCLAIR
AP Newsfeatures
TUCSON, Ariz. (United Press)—Tucson High School's football team will be heading for the national championship when the season starts in September.

Why Tucson continues to win is a bit of a mystery. It meets good competition from throughout Arizona parts of Texas and California. Some of its opponents have to travel three or four hours to get to Tucson.

At times it is a sucker for a good passing attack. Yet in their 32 games winning streak the Tucson boys have been able to score 87 points in their opponents' net and were successful on their first try game last year.

Last time they were beaten was in 1942 by Santa Barbara in the California city by means of a 14-0 victory. Coach Fred Wolf, who all his success, Tucson's coach, Rollin T. Grady, believes too much emphasis is placed on high school football. He supported a move which killed spring training for Arizona teams after this year.

At the same time, the site of Tucson's games had to be moved from the high school field to the University of Arizona stadium in immediately after the 1945 season. Grady's contention was that the school's every time out.

This year they will be forced to play on their own field but will give the highly regarded university a very real competition in attracting fans.

With 10 of last year's starting 11—and nine good second-stringers—out of school, Tucson's prospects for this year should be dim. They aren't.

Coach Grady asked the boys of his school, which has an overall enrollment of about 2,000, how many wanted to play football. More than 200 said yes. In the latest spring practice game his team will play in some years he used 29 promising prospects against the seniors that was all the uniforms the school owned.

Red Williams Hurls 5 Hit Tilt; Errors Prove Costly In Affair

58, 664 Fans Watch Feds During Season

Sanford Baseball Association officials revealed yesterday that the Celery Feds during the regular Florida State League playing schedule, attracted a total of 58,664 fans.

This is believed to be a record for this city during a Florida State League season. At the end of July, officials said, 43,721 fans had seen the Feds in action at the local park during the month of August and the final tilt on Sept. 2, a total of 14,943 paid customers poured through the gates at the Municipal Park.

Officials said this morning that they hoped that Sanford could set an attendance record for the first post-season play-off with St. Augustine.

VALUABLE PLAYER

Third baseman, Harry Schantel of the Tulsa Oilers has been voted the most valuable player in the Texas League for 1946. The 24-year-old infielder is the Tulsa club's leading hitter. He scored on Bill Woyt, Fort Worth catcher, in the ninth in the balloting by members of the Texas League Baseball Writers Association.

REVELA, N. Y. (AP)—Al Vandevogel, former coach of the Buffalo club of the All American Conference, took over as coach of the Buffalo club of the All American Conference today.

SPORTS LAUGH

By Associated Press
A prize fight referee sometimes comes in for more verbal abuse from sport fans than any other type of official. Usually, the referee just takes the abuse heaped upon him. However, such was not always the case. In Salt Lake City recently, referee Al Ablett was the third man in the ring when Jack Fox met Windmill Pearce. When Pearce was knocked down twice in the third round, Ablett ruled that he had enough and awarded the bout to Fox on a knockout. Pearce then bounced to his feet and began swinging at the referee. The fans also began clamoring for a continuation of the match, so the official called on the two fighters to continue. However, Fox refused with the comment: "I won the fight and I won't fight any more tonight." Finding himself in a very uncomfortable position, the referee proved himself equal to the occasion. He raised his hands and shouted to the fans: "What do you want? Leave the match."

Men Who Got Around During War Develop Acute Cases Of Wanderlust

By Associated Press
By JANE HADS

WASHINGTON—A lot of young people who got around the world a bit during or just after the war have developed an acute case of wanderlust.

"I never want to settle down again—not even when I get decrepit."

So says pretty Emily Towe, who was a newspaper woman in New York and Washington until she joined the Red Cross last year.

Emily has itching feet all right. She joined the Red Cross in a public relations job and was sent to India in September, 1945. In November she flew over the hump to Shanghai.

Then she got all over north China, flying around in Army and Marine planes till the middle of March.

In Peiping she went shopping with a couple of Marines. She was looking for a pair of earrings. She found the pair she wanted in a tiny little shop in the courtyard of an old palace. The shopkeeper served tea free.

He said the earrings, which were hand made, were worth $6.

The Marine said that was too much. The shopkeeper, accustomed to bargaining, came down to $4.

The Marines told the wizened old man he was the Jesse James of China. Of course he had never heard of Jesse James, but he had an idea that he must be a big shot in America.

"Jesse James—me. Ah Jesse James." He grinned with pride. "You can have the earrings for $3."

The Marines and Emily walked toward the door.

"All right, $2," he said. Emily was wearing the bangles when she had lunch with her other day.

Later she went to South China, to Canton and Hong Kong. Stopping off in Tokyo and Honolulu, Emily came home only to trapeze off again. This time it was to Alaska. Emily had resigned from the Red Cross and was doing freelance writing.

She says women are streaking up to Alaska on the theory that prospective husbands grow on trees. There are still more men than women there, she says, but they're mostly rugged characters and not too willing to pop the question.

A lot of gals seeking matrimony end up as waitresses, teachers and clerks and life is just about as it is back home, only more so. In Nome, for example, life's most exciting moments seem to be when the boat steams in from the states with supplies.

She says Nome is bleak and grim, boasting only one street with wooden sidewalks. Even in late May, she says, ice is piled up in front yards and a half mile out on the Bering Sea. Eskimos come to town in their wolf parkas. Nome is a metropolis to them.

Ex-Soldier Makes Friends With Pair Of Live Pythons

By MURRAY SINCLAIR
AP Newsfeature

TUCSON, Ariz. — Two of the strangest souvenirs brought back by World War veterans are a pair of live pythons, pets of William Woodin III, grandson of the first secretary of the treasury under President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

He brought back three Indian pythons but he swapped one with the Bronx Zoo for an African variety which subsequently died.

Young Woodin has been interested in snakes as long as he can remember. So he sees nothing strange in the fact that among the souvenirs collected while an ambulance driver with the U. S. Field Service in Burma, should be a couple of eight-foot, 15-pound pythons. And he'll be disappointed if they don't grow to 25-foot adulthood.

It would make a better story if he had captured them in the jungle. But, he says, look for them as he did, he failed to see a single wild snake all the time he was overseas. He bought the pythons for $7 each in the native sections of Calcutta and Hyderabad.

None of his cabin-mates on the ship bringing them back to America objected to sharing their room with the snakes, so long as Woodin kept them locked up.

The nonpoisonous pythons have bitten him a few times, drawing plenty of blood. But, Woodin explains, they meant no harm.

In addition to the pythons, Woodin has 45 other live snakes in his reptile house, including five types of rattler. He has caught scores of the latter, and was bitten once. That was the time he reached far what he took to be a dead rattler stretched across a desert road and it promptly swung around and bit him on the arm.

There is no chance of his pythons breeding little pythons which might introduce this snake to the southwest because they are both stretched across a desert road and he knows? By the length of their tails, he says.

very soft soil. If you get off the sidewalk you sink into it up to your knees. Each year when the snow melts the wooden houses buckle up. So do the sidewalks. All this gives a lopsided appearance to the town.

Emily said she never saw darkness the whole time she was in Alaska. If she came in from a date at 11:30 or 12 o'clock, it seemed broad daylight.

Now she is off again—this time on a freighter for South America. She hasn't figured out where she'll go after that.

Claim Triplets Set World Weight Record

MELBOURNE—(AP)—Triplets born to Mrs. L. Elizabeth Farrar-wonga Hospital Aug. 9 are believed by Melbourne medical men to hold the world's weight record—a total of 23 lbs. 1 oz. at birth.

The trio of boys, Gary, Geoffrey, and Peter, weighed 7 lbs. 13 oz., 7 lbs. 12 oz., and 7 lbs. 8 oz. each all well. Their 31-year-old mother had twin sons three, and one-half years ago.

Medical records were cited to show that the triplet children of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bagley, born in Melbourne July 1, 1933, held a record combining weight of 19 lbs. 13 1/2 oz. for living children for 1944.

To those who are awaiting delivery of their New Oldsmobiles

A Word of Appreciation... and a Suggestion, too!

We know how anxious you are to get your new Oldsmobile. And there's nothing we'd like better to do, right now, than to say to every Oldsmobile buyer: "Your car is here. Come get it!"

But frankly, it just isn't possible to do that. There still aren't enough new Oldsmobiles to go around. Due to shortages in materials and unavoidable limitations on production, the output of new cars still is behind schedule. And our allotments are far below the figures that we originally anticipated.

We want to assure you, however, that everything possible is being done, both here and at the factory, to get your car in your hands promptly. And we'd like to take this occasion to thank you sincerely for the patient and considerate way in which you have borne with us during this period of waiting.

Meanwhile, we have an important suggestion: Don't neglect the car you drive today.

New York Port Hit By Maritime Strike

Walkout To Roll On Until Wage Board Decision Reverses, Union Heads Say

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5. (AP)—President Truman has announced that the A. F. of L. maritime strike is in the hands of Secretary of Labor Schweitzer. Mr. Truman said that he himself has not intervened.

NEW YORK, Sept. 5. (AP)—The scheduled nation-wide maritime strike today hit the country's busiest port. A. F. of L. seamen began walking off ships in New York harbor despite the fact that the actual strike deadline has not yet been announced.

Yesterday, officials of the Seafarers' International Union said that the men probably would begin moving ashore at noon (Eastern Daylight Time) today and that picketing would not begin until tomorrow. The sailors halted their vessels in New York harbor shortly after 9:00 o'clock this morning. Joining thousands who jumped the strike deadline on the west coast by walking out yesterday.

SIU Vice President John Hawk says he can't give definite figures on the number of seamen who have left their ships in New York. He asserted that the ones who were streaming into union headquarters were men who were reporting for strike duty.

Hawk declared that strike plans are rolling and he added: "We will stay rolling until the decision of the Wage Stabilization Board is reversed." In the last minute offer by the Wage Stabilization Board failed to avert the scheduled maritime walkout, union leaders have ordered A. F. of L. seamen to quit work at every port today in protest against a WSB ruling which denied them the full wage increase which they were granted in recent negotiations with ship operators. Yesterday the board declared that it was willing to hold a hearing today to consider additional information, but the unions replied that nothing but a complete reversal of the board's decision would satisfy the seamen.

Phillips' Condition Reported Improved

The condition of J. B. Phillips, Florida Power and Light Company employee, who on May 18 suffered serious burns and injuries while at work on a power line near Road 44, is reported to be much improved. He can now see visitors and will probably be confined at Fernald-Loughlin Memorial Hospital for a few more weeks, according to his sister Miss Vera Phillips.

The severe electricity burns necessitated amputation of the right leg above the knee. Grafting of skin on his back has been necessary. Dr. Orville L. Barba has been in attendance.

Army Wife Beams Stork To Germany

FRANKFURT, Germany—Sept. 5. (AP)—It was a close race, but Mrs. Margaret Allen, Santa Ana, Calif., has beaten the stork to Germany. Mrs. Allen started ten days ago to rush her plans and travel from the United States to Germany to join her husband, Lieut. Jack Allen, stationed in Erding, Germany. Mrs. Allen arrived safely with her two-year-old son, Bobby, yesterday afternoon and now awaits the birth of her second child.

The reason for all the rush: Army regulations forbid transportation of children under the age of six months. Mrs. Allen set out to beat the stork's arrival in order to help her reunion with her husband.

President Says Special Session Not Anticipated

Chief Executive Endorses New York Democratic Ticket

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5. (AP)—President Truman today virtually ruled out any possibility of a special session of Congress before the new year. The Chief Executive told his news conference that he knew of no emergency that would require a session before the November elections and that he had given no consideration to a special session after that time. Therefore, according to the President's comments, Congress will not convene until the new session in January.

Mr. Truman said he thought that all members of Congress should have a chance to devote their time to campaigning. He endorsed the New York State Democratic ticket headed by Senator James Mead for governor and former governor Herbert Lehman for United States Senator. Mr. Truman said he intended to support Mead and Lehman and predicted their reelection.

Mr. Truman disclosed that he still is working for the immigration of 100,000 Jews into Palestine. The Chief Executive declared he was pushing the plan and that conferences were still under way on the Palestine problem between American and British representatives.

PICKET IS SHOT

KEARNEY, N. J., Sept. 5. (AP)—A truck strike picket was shot through the chest today in Kearney. A union spokesman said the picket was wounded by the driver of a truck who refused to stop. Larger Tourist Industry Urged By Miss Truluck

Herald Writer Lauds Efforts Of Jaycees At Weekly Meeting

Miss Cecelia Truluck, society editor of The Sanford Herald, declared today that the tourist business is one of Florida's largest industries and she called on members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce to continue their current efforts to enlarge the industry in this section of the state and particularly in Sanford and Seminole County.

President Jack Hatfield announced that a kickoff breakfast for the house-to-house canvass to register rooms in the city to see how many tourists can be accommodated during the coming season will be held tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock at Motor Inn. All Jaycee members and workers are requested to attend.

Miss Truluck, speaking before the organization's weekly luncheon at the Motor Inn pointed out that tourists crossing the Florida borders last season spent an average of $20.00 per day, a total of $600,000,000 for the entire year. She also stated that the Chamber of Commerce predicts that the 1950 population of Florida will reach a total of 6,000,000 to 7,000,000, according to figures based on past growth.

"The trend is now to merchandise each city's chief wares," Miss Truluck continued, and Sanford's chief wares would be the St. Johns river, Orlando, its lakes, Trade techniques at improving each day and manufacturing devices are being made to step up production because this is a moving and selling world."

Miss Truluck emphasized that Sanford "must move and sell into the world and in competition with us we must seek new ways of entertaining and must teach tourists other tourist attracting tourists to get the most out of Florida in Sanford. Miss Truluck remarked, "we could sell relaxation" and she stressed several methods in which Sanford could be advertised. "The majority of the tourists are from the heavy duty areas of the country and for the most part they are looking for the clock and are tired," she declared.

"Since the tourist industry is the preeminent business in Florida," Miss Truluck remarked, "it should be Sanford's preeminent business. We should all search out those things which could be advertised and at the same time agree to develop that something new under the sun that people talk about so much. We have the sun and its good brothers, water and soil. Have we the ingredients?"

She applauded the plans outlined by the Jaycees in cooperation with the senior Chamber of Commerce to bring tourists to this to this area. She pointed out several ways in which the tourists coming here could be entertained and urged that every effort be made to make the Jaycee tourist program a reality. "The whole burden of pushing Sanford as a tourist city should not be up to the Junior Chamber alone but should be posted for all to see," she proclaimed. "A certain duty," she added, "devolves upon each Sanford citizen."

"We are an alert citizenry here," she said, and "we are beginning to do our duty by the tourists. We are beginning to get results. We must step up production here for we cannot send our sunshine and waters away. People must come here and we must treat them as guests and make their trip worth while."

Sanford Cops First Series Tilt, 5 To 0

Howington Handcuffed St. Augustine With Five Scattered Hits Before 1,500 Fans

By JULIAN STENSTROM—Jodie Howington dug his way a little deeper into the hearts of local baseball fans last night at the Municipal Park when he handcuffed Manager Bill Steinbeck's St. Augustine Saints with five scattered singles to rack up a 5 to 0 verdict over the ancient city crew.

Equally acclaimed by a majority of the 1,500 fans, who paid their way into the local plant to see the initial tilt of the first post-season Florida State League playoff series, the field right fielder Jerry Silverman. The youth from St. Petersburg came to the plate in the fifth frame and drove one of Saint pitcher Gene Smith's deliveries straight into centerfield to score Manager Ed Levy from third and Byron Sharpe from second for what turned out to be the only margin needed for the Sanford victory.

Although Howington's personal ability last night was strictly outstanding, a portion of his success was the result of a sparkling bit of play aided by the note. The only error chalked up behind Howington was Al Bryant's miscue in the sixth on Gene Colek's hot grounder after he had made a brilliant stop.

The Fed outpaw displayed sparkling control on the hill by allowing only one Saint to scamper down to the initial sack with a free ducat. Meanwhile, he sent the ancient city crewman down via the shifting route.

The locals scored their final three runs in the eighth frame. Steinecke saw fit to yank Smith in the eighth for a pinch hitter, IR apt Dick Nelson. The latter half of the same inning Bryant dropped a bludge into center and to second when Bob Tuttle-tapped a drive into right. Dave Bride worked Nelson for a free pass to fill the sacks. With the count two balls and one strike on Buddy Lake, Nelson was given his ticket to the showers and left-hander Jack Finch was called in from the bullpen to the firing line. He went on to walk Lake and Bryant came over to the mound for the final out.

The Fed attack was paced by Bryant and Tuttle who obtained two singles in four trips during the contest. Not a single member of either squad was able to drive out a hit for more than one base throughout the affair. The benefit of radio broadcast of WFMY in St. Augustine, which is broadcasting all the series tilt, both in Sanford and in St. Augustine city. Manager Steinecke declared that he is upset by Madjeski's Orlando Senators. He agreed with Manager Levy, Sanford sacker Jack Wilke and Fed outfielder Buddy Lake, that the St. Augustine-Sanford series would be nothing more than a (Continued on Page Five)
