

Gen. C. P. Stivers Relates Story Of Pacific Campaign

He told of the run at night, and said that he was not on the same boat with General MacArthur. At daylight, said General Stivers, his boat anchored in the shelter of a small island and stayed all day in order to avoid being spotted by Jap planes. The natives were friendly. It took six weeks to refuel the boat from 20 fifty-gallon drums; then all the drums had to be sunk by holding under water while they slowly filled.

The second nightly run was to Cagayan on the north coast of Mindanao. There was an air strip about 30 miles inland and from there, they were taken in two Flying Fortresses to near Darwin on the north coast of Australia, or 2,000 miles in a westerly direction. This small settlement and air base had been under almost daily bombardment by Jap planes based 400 miles away on the island of Timor, and so General MacArthur and his staff were taken immediately in other planes to south Australia.

General Stivers made the whole trip by air, a distance from Darwin to Melbourne which he compared to a flying trip from Duluth to Miami. General MacArthur had to confer with Australian leaders, enroute, and so arrived in Melbourne by train on Saturday, Mar. 21, aboard the Adelaide-Express and was greeted with flags and cheers.

They remained in Melbourne for four months then went to Brisbane, which was General MacArthur's headquarters for the next two years, except for advanced headquarters in New Guinea which were visited at certain times by the combat staff.

In the summer of 1944, said General Stivers, headquarters were transferred to Hollandia, Dutch New Guinea. From here was launched the attack on the Philippines, the initial landing of which took place at Leyte on Oct. 20, 1944, with heavy air bombardment and pounding of Jap installations by Navy rockets and shells. He quoted a Jap commander as having later said that this was one of the decisive battles of the war, and during the Naval battle, the Jap fleet was broken. On the recovery of the Philippines, General Stivers was put in charge of reorganizing the Filipino forces numbering more than 100,000. This was difficult as so many records had been destroyed, he said. He later went to Japan and was on the Missouri to witness the Japanese surrender. He returned to Manila in November, 1945 and spent some time in the hospital.

General Stivers, who was born in Illinois, served with the Illinois National Guard on the Mexican border in 1916. He took examination and became a second Lieutenant. During World War I he served with the Sixth Division, 54th Infantry as assistant G-3 in France and was in the final Agence campaign. In 1940 in Pinar, he was made assistant chief, G-1 (personnel) of the Philippine Department. When General MacArthur assumed command, he went to his staff in the same capacity with the rank of colonel. One of his most vivid memories, he said, after arriving at Mindanao from Corregidor, where they had been on half rations, was the plentiful supply of pineapples at the Del Monte plantation. General MacArthur's staff and group included 15 Army officers, one Army enlisted man who was MacArthur's stenographer, two Navy officers, Mrs. MacArthur and son and attendant.

General Stivers said that he is greatly enjoying his stay at the Mayfair Inn, and is endeavoring to get strength back in his legs with daily rounds of golf at the Seminole Country Club.

Experiment Head Tells Kiwanians Of Soil Work

(Continued from page one) was the planting of seeds, he said, prior to that time he had to hunt in the wild for food. There was little development of agriculture for century after century, he said, but today a farmer needs definite knowledge of new advances.

In 1797 came the first iron plow and in 1840 the first agricultural experiment station was started in England with work on phosphates. In America in 1864, Congress passed the Murrel Act to establish an agricultural college with the view of learning how to produce more food during the Civil War. The Florida Experiment Station was established in 1888 at a cost of $15,000.

He told of Florida's soil problems and of accepting plants from other states to grow here, of 80,000 acres of oats grown in Florida, of development of new species of corn, of use of celery wastes to feed chickens, of combating plant diseases and of growing new types of plants in Florida's seven experiment stations.

A number of growers and shippers attended the meeting as guests; these included General J. C. Hutchison, M. L. Cullum, Henry Thurston, E. J. Carruthers, Dr. R. W. Rupprecht and C. R. Dawson (county agent). Other guests introduced by Joel Field were: Tom Deen, L. Rowton, Pat Hurley, W. A. Hall, Leo White and Jan Jensen and Mrs. Mayme Hodakia. Tom Vaughn was congratulated on his birthday. Condolences to Roy Green concerning the death of Mrs. Laura P. Green, his wife, were read by Ed Shihoblen.

REVEREND J. W. Brouger, 77, of Glendale, Calif., is shown as he delivered his sensational sermon at the historic Tremont Baptist Church, Boston, Mass., denouncing the laxity of youthful morals in the Boston area. The sermon was the result of Rev. Brouger's tour of the city's night clubs, cafes and theatres. (International)

Rent Revision Rules Go Into Effect Feb. 15

New Regulation To Make It Easy For Owners To Qualify For Increases

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—(AP)—The revised regulations to make it easier for landlords to qualify for rent increases in hardship cases will become effective on Feb. 15.

The Office of Temporary Controls began work on the revisions more than two weeks ago, but did not announce the date they go into effect until today.

An OPA rent officer has said that the new provision will allow what he terms "A substantial number" of landlords to qualify for increases. But he added that "obviously most landlords can't qualify."

The new rule provides that for the purpose of comparing financial position, landlords may choose a two-year base period subsequent to Jan. 1939. The previous rule required that the base be a two-year period after that date, but prior to the time property was placed under rent ceilings.

To qualify for a hardship increase, OPA said "a landlord must show both a decrease in net income and an increase in property taxes or operating costs between the base period and the current year."

Low Temperature Of 20 Degrees Reported In Seminole County

Extensive damage to tender vegetable crops, and possibly some damage to celery may have resulted from the cold wave which in Sanford was recorded at 25 degrees this morning by B. F. Whitner, weatherman.

The effect of the sunshine today is expected to reveal how widespread the damage is, but this morning growers said it was too early to predict the effect on celery.

H. J. Lehman, manager of the Sanford State Farmers Market, said that Henry Schumacher, whose acreage is on the north shore of Lake Jessup, reported the loss of 10 acres of peppers when the temperature went down to 20 degrees according to his thermometer. The wind subsided at 4:00 A. M. and this made useless the smoke from hundreds of old tires he was burning.

"Anything like squash, tomatoes, corn or other tender vegetables were undoubtedly injured," said Mr. Lehman. In the case of corn a lot can be replanted, he declared. He quoted John Bell, Lake Monroe plant grower, as reporting the loss of large pepper plants in the field.

Celery cutting was light, and only one car of celery left Sanford yesterday, according to Market News Service. They stated it was too early to determine celery losses. J. C. Hutchison reported that celery cutting was resumed this morning and that the celery appeared to be in good condition, also that cabbage appeared to have survived the cold.

Mr. S. C. Dickerson reported a thermometer reading on a government issued instrument of 21 degrees and the loss of four acres of squash and three acres of corn, also damage to nursery plantings of azaleas at her farm at Mecca Hammock in South Sanford. They are already replanting corn and peppers she said.

City officials reported much damage to bloom of azaleas in Ft. Mellon Park. A. K. Rosetter, Celery Avenue florist, declared that many flowers had been damaged. These included gladioli not protected by firing, green rose buds and mature stalks. It will take a week or 10 days before recovery of plants is shown, he said.

A "Problem" In The Aleutians

THREE HEAVY TRACTORS were required to pull this 155 mm. gun from the stony tundra of Adak, where it had been placed in firing position during test maneuvers in the Aleutians by Task Force Willow. More than 200 Army teams, including clothing, guns and tanks were subjected to tests in the cold and wet chain of tiny islands where terrific winds, called williwaws, sweep with hurricane force. New Sugar Stamp To Be Validated Apr. 1

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—(AP)—The nation's housewives will get no extra sugar ration for coming this year. But the OPA announced today it will validate another sugar stamp on Apr. 1 and the stamp will be good for ten pounds of sugar instead of the usual five. This ration will cover both canned and home use.

The price agency also announced that stamp number 53, currently in use, will expire at midnight Mar. 31 instead of Apr. 30 as planned originally.

3 Youngsters Are Killed In Fire In Miami

Blaze Starts When Heater Explodes; Rest Of Family Is Seriously Burned

MIAMI, Feb. 6.—(AP)—The cold weather brought tragedy to a Miami family last night when three children were burned to death. The mother, father, and 13-year-old brother suffered critical burns when their house was destroyed by fire.

Police said the fire started when Mrs. Whitney Knowles spilled gasoline while filling a heater. The stove exploded, throwing flaming gasoline through the room.

The father and oldest boy managed to escape. Mrs. Knowles suffered serious burns. The three youngest children, ten-year-old Jimmy; four-year-old Kenneth; and one-year-old Larry, were burned to death in the flames.

CHARLESTON, W. V., Feb. 6.—(AP)—Two children died today in a fire which swept five homes in a row of houses in Charleston. Firemen were forced to battle the blaze with buckets of water, as the water lines failed to function in the sub-freezing weather.

The victims were identified as Paul Vickers, 4, and his 3-year-old brother, Tommy, children of Mr. and Mrs. Vickers.

Tickets Will Go On Sale This Week For Glider Meet Mar. 1-2

Tickets for the First Southeastern States Glider Contest at the Sanford Municipal airport on Mar. 1-2 will go on sale this week, according to Chick Lasater, chairman of the committee handling this part of the tournament.

The contests which are being held with the sanction of the Soaring Society of America will be for duration, altitude, goal and return, aerobatics and spot landing. The nation's premier pilots of sailplanes will vie for the $2000 in purses, and with handsome purses as rewards they will really give the customers their money's worth, Lasater said. "In fact," the enthusiastic chairman continued, "this two day show ought to be called the bargain of the season. Imagine it, only one dollar not for one but for both days of some of the best flying in the country."

The plans of the committee working with Lasater are to make the tickets easy to get by having them in the hands of all Junior Chamber of Commerce members in the local stores, and at airports throughout the state.

B. L. Perkins, Jr., Clarence Redding, Raymond Lundquist, J. D. Scott, Bob Baker, Bob James and D. W. Swan are making the distribution of the pasteborders.

Salvation Army Captain Hudson has accepted an award plan under which his Boy Scout troop can help their fund for a troop cabin and the effort of these lads is expected to swell the purchase list.

Clarence Redding and Chick Lasater took an allotment of tickets to the high school and when they left there, said that they were convinced that some of the largest sales would be made by the boys and girls there.

Two Sanford Teachers Named To Committee

TALLAHASSEE, Feb. 6. (ENS)—Two residents of Seminole County have been named to committee posts by Colin English, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, in preparation for the annual supervisors' conference to be held at Gainesville Feb. 11-13. They were Miss Ruth Hand, conference report committee; and Mrs. Eneas Price, recreation committee.

The five day conference will deal with discussion of all phases of education and with the supervisory program. Between 150 and 175 educators from throughout the state are expected to attend.

Communist Agent Cited For Contempt

Witness Refuses To Take Oath Before Interrogation By House Committee

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—(AP)—The alleged chief Communist agent in the United States, Gerhard Eisler, was cited for contempt today by the House Committee on Un-American Activities. The citation came after he refused to take an oath.

Eisler, who was called as a witness in the committee's inquiry into Communist operations in America, was told to take the stand. Eisler immediately showed his defiance.

"No, I am not going to take the stand," he said. "Thoughts then demanded that he raise his hand and take the oath to tell the truth."

Again Eisler refused, and finally said: "You will not swear me in before you hear a few remarks."

Thomas told Eisler to remember that he was in the United States as a guest of the country. Eisler yelled back: "I am an anarchist. I am not a guest of the country."

After a few minutes of this sort of exchange, during which Eisler fingered a sheet of paper from which he wanted to read his statement, and which he never got to read, the alleged Moscow agent raved on the table and exclaimed: "Now I have my will."

With that, Thomas ordered Eisler to step aside. The committee thereupon immediately voted to cite Eisler for contempt. That is a charge which must be tried before a jury and if the defendant is convicted, he is in line for a possible penalty of a $1,000 fine and one year in jail.

Fishing In St. Johns Reaps Large Catch

Dr. W. H. Gardner and J. W. Harris, of Atlanta, Ga., real estate broker, entered three large black bass in the Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce fishing tournament today.

The three fish were caught in the St. Johns River just north of the Ocoola bridge on Dr. Gardner's hand made menhaden aluminum lures at noon yesterday.

Mr. Harris' catch was a ten pound-four ounce specimen. Mr. Harris also caught a smaller fish, weighing slightly over eight pounds. Dr. Gardner also entered his nine pound catch in the contest.

Mr. Harris is in Sanford for a visit with Mrs. J. E. Spurling.

France To Support Small Nation's Plea

LONDON, Feb. 6. (AP)—France joined Great Britain and the United States today in supporting demands of small allied nations for a voice in drafting German and Austrian peace treaties.

The French delegate told the Big Four foreign ministers' deputies that France favored the formation of consultation committees which would supply full information to the little nations on matters involving their individual interest. But the Russians asked that the proposal be tabled.

Army Officer Is Questioned For Possessing Loot

Colonel Found With $210,000 Worth Of Japanese Diamonds

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 6.—(AP)—The Army colonel who brought a fortune in Japanese diamonds to the United States is said to be flying back to Japan today. The officer, Col. Edward J. Murray of Palo Alto, Calif., is under technical arrest under orders from General MacArthur.

Customs officials in San Francisco said Murray was carrying $210,000 worth of diamonds when he arrived from Japan aboard the Westminister Victory on Monday.

Col. Murray, who has an excellent war record, was custodian of the $2,600,000 treasure of Japanese diamonds held by the Allies in the vaults of the Bank of Japan. Frequent inventories have been made, and at no time have losses been revealed. Two experts from the Smithsonian Institution appraised the diamonds last summer and said the security measures were inadequate.

Customs official Paul Lenke asserted that Col. Murray was traced through a previous sale of $20,000 worth of smuggled diamonds in San Francisco. Lenke said that the Army Colonel intimated, during questioning, that he regarded the $210,000 worth of diamonds as "legitimate loot." Murray also said: "I am pleased to go back to Tokyo since I am sure my side of the story will be given full and just consideration."

Court To Pronounce Sentences On Friday

Robert Wilder, negro, was found guilty of manslaughter by the Circuit Court Jury Tuesday. On Wednesday, Otis Robinson, negro, was found guilty of attempted manslaughter. The court was adjourned on order of Circuit Judge M. H. Smith until Friday at which time he will pronounce sentence on Wilder and Robinson, also upon John Troutman, negro, who on Tuesday morning, was found guilty of manslaughter, according to O. P. Herndon, clerk of the court.

Wilder was charged with second degree murder in connection with the fatal stabbing of Wilma Metts, negro, on Nov. 6. Robinson was charged with assault with intent to commit murder in the first degree against J. C. Fraser, who was injured, but not fatally, at Geneva on July 15. It will be decided Friday when the court will reassemble.

City Employees Alerted By Gut As Fires Dot City

Chase Warehouse Is Damaged; Russell Home Threatened

Fires which always seem to accompany cold weather, today kept Sanford firemen on the run, especially this afternoon when a call from Midway, outside the city limits, at 1:40 o'clock had to be turned down due to the fact that firemen were already out on run. The Midway fire was a negro house.

Mayor Gut and City Manager Sayer ordered all available City employees to be prepared to help fight the fires late this afternoon.

At 2:40 this morning firemen were able to go outside the city limits in order to put out a fire at Narcissus Avenue west of Rand's siding at a house belonging to Mrs. R. R. Pippin. Firemen had to cut into a well set out a fire due to a defective chimney, and damage was considerable, according to Fire Chief M. N. Cleveland.

A grass fire was reported at 11:52 o'clock at French Avenue and Nineteenth Street. This had hardly been put out before a grass fire was reported at Myrtle Avenue and Fourth Street, dangerously near the Chase and Co. warehouse. Eight minutes after that call at 1:38 o'clock, firemen hurried to put out a swamp grass fire near Mangrove Avenue. At 1:50 o'clock there was a false alarm received of a fire at Seventeenth Street and French Avenue.

At 2:30 P.M. the department was called to Fourth Street and Myrtle Avenue to stop a blaze at the Chase and Company warehouse where crates and fertilizer are stored. They also answered a call to Fourth Street and Mangrove Avenue where a grass fire was reported to be close to several houses. Another grass fire called them to Twenty-fifth Street and Elm Avenue.

At 4:00 o'clock the whole area between Palmetto Avenue and the Orlando Highway south of Twenty-fifth Street was burning. A house owned by Mrs. W. R. Russell, north of this fire, was threatened and the firemen backfired the area.

Firemen Collis Godwin and Ernest Lavey are credited with having saved the Full Gospel Tabernacle building when they arrived in time to arrest the flames which were about to engulf the structure.

American apple pie proved to be a top favorite dessert of United Nations delegates and staff members at Lake Success, New York.

Bright red holly berries grow on female holly trees but male trees usually have the finest foliage.

Max Gardner Dies Today Of Heart Attack

Announcement Concerning Death Of New Ambassador Grieves President

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6. (AP)—The new American ambassador to Great Britain, O. Max Gardner, died today in New York of a heart attack. Announcement of Gardner's death was made by the White House.

He was scheduled to leave today for Great Britain aboard the S. S. America. Gardner died at the St. Regis Hotel, where he was staying. Presidential Secretary Charles Ross said that President Truman is deeply grieved and shocked by the ambassador's death.

Gardner, who was 64, was named a month ago to succeed W. Averell Harriman in the important diplomatic post. He was undersecretary of the Treasury before his appointment.

Gardner was elected governor of North Carolina in 1928 for a four-year term. He was born in Shelby, N. C., and was the youngest of 12 children. His father was a country doctor and an anti-communist during the Civil War. At that time his father lost every penny he owned, but Max Gardner is reported to have made more than $1,000,000 in the textile business.

When he was a young man, Gardner's ambition was to gain an appointment to West Point. But he studied at the University of North Carolina where he developed talent for public speaking, football and baseball. He was graduated with a law degree and practiced in Shelby, N. C., from 1907 until he became governor.

L. C. Bender Shows Traffic Violation Movie To Jaycees

Patrolman L. C. Bender and two of his associates showed an interesting film strip on many traffic violations at the weekly Junior Chamber of Commerce meeting at noon today.

Bender stated that the movie was shown to the Seminole High School students this morning, and that all high school students of Florida will see the film as soon as possible in an attempt to familiarize Florida's youths with correct driving regulations.

Charles Luke, manager of the local Mather Furniture store, reported on the preparations being made for local Jaycees to attend the State Convention in Palatka.

Luke stated the 100 crates of Seminole County celery will be distributed in Palatka during the two day festival. All restaurants and cafeterias will have the celery on their tables for meals during the convalescence. On each table will be folders, printed in green showing a large stalk of celery with the following inscription "The celery comes to you from Seminole County farms, its growers and shippers."

Appreciation on behalf of the members of the organization for the success of the Celery Queen contest was expressed by President Jack Ratigan to Guy Allen, committee chairman, Sam Martina, master of ceremonies, and Cliff Ables and Charles Luke for their participation in late entrants in the contest.

The organization will add in the drive to enlist memberships in the Sanford Hospital Association, and it was planned to canvass a city district for these memberships.

Guests Steve Bennis, S. W. Tooter and Arthur Beckwith, Jr., a new member, were introduced.

GREAT PEOPLE PLAN AHEAD AND THEN SEE IT THROUGH... WHEN YOU COMPLETE YOUR JOURNEY YOU WILL BE REPAID FOR YOUR EFFORT... THE UNSEEN THINGS ARE ETERNAL... I must be on my way today and tomorrow with the day following... -Lake Erie-

The court in the Mt. Clemens Pottery case on appeal to the Supreme Court is considering whether to grant certiorari... with such titles... about four billion dollars worth of trifles.

Palestine a Too Much Promised Land... St. Pete Times... Tampa Tribune... Yet, promised to the Jews, and promised to the Arabs.

Someone left the water sprinkling system on at Casselberry Tuesday night and the next morning motorists saw something not often seen in Florida... Huge icicles covered the beautiful azaleas and hung from the branches of nearby pines... Never was a more frozen sight to be found in Florida... The tragedy of it is that the azaleas may not recover from their unaccustomed icing.

The Florida Citizens Committee on Education urges greater effort on the part of Florida citizens to provide its young people with college educations... "A study of the support of higher education in Florida," says this committee, "indicates clearly that the state has never exerted itself in its effort to provide college education for its young citizens... Education costs money, but it pays dividends in the long run."

That was a fine editorial, a friend of ours told us the other day, after reading something with which he happened to agree... "But you should have put it on the front page," he added... Those who did not agree with the editorial probably would not agree with him that it should have been put on the front page... The sad part about writing editorials is that no matter which side you take, or how convincingly you write, there will always be as many brickbats as bouquets, or at least, very nearly as many.

Dr. Quillman reports that athlete's foot is not as serious a menace at Seminole High School... Nevertheless, out of 106 boys examined, 19 were found to be infected... three seriously, a percentage probably no higher, he points out, than would be found among First Street merchants... We have no idea how many Sanford merchants are seriously hampered in their movements by athlete's foot, but if they will use Macressin promptly upon the first sign of trouble, and repeat it at intervals of once or twice a week, meanwhile observing other ordinary precautions, they may avoid such infections as recently cost Joe Tinker his foot.

Earl McCollum, president of the Kansas City Star, died the other day of a heart attack at the age of 57... No economic royalist, McCollum started out as an office boy, worked his way up through the circulation department, then became head bookkeeper... In 1926 he and other long-time and faithful employees bought the newspaper from the estate of publisher William Rockwell Nelson, and McCollum became general manager... Recently a bulk of contract carriers in the circulation department forced suspension of the newspaper for 15 days, the first time it had missed an issue since it was started over 75 years ago, and McCollum, who handled the negotiations, suffered a heart attack from which he never recovered.

Welcome Tourists

At a time like this when the bottom has dropped out of the citrus market and usual weather conditions have so affected the celery yield as to reduce seriously both profits and employment in agriculture, the real value of the tourist business to Sanford and to Florida is more fully appreciated.

Citrus and agriculture will continue to be the economic backbone of this community as they are of Florida, but they are industries vitally affected by conditions over which we have no control and are apt to be highly profitable one year and extremely unprofitable the next. We need tourists to help fill in these gaps.

Fortunately, Sanford this winter is enjoying the greatest influx of winter visitors it has ever known. The pent-up desire of war-restricted northerners to travel, the years of promotion by Chamber of Commerce officials, the over-crowding of certain other Florida communities, the new and progressive management of Sanford hotels have all combined to put Sanford on the tourist map.

Sanford merchants report that they are selling as much merchandise to strangers, as to home folks. Every apartment house and every rooming house is full. The Fellowship Bible College at the former Naval Air Station is bringing in many new people. Among our visitors are the umpires at the George Barr School and the baseball players training for the Lookouts.

Entertainment for our visitors has been well organized by the Chamber of Commerce under the direction of E. M. Armitage who was himself a tourist when he first came here. Incidentally that is how most Florida's cities have grown. A tourist comes to town planning to spend a couple of weeks. He sees something he likes, buys it, and soon becomes a permanent resident.

Sanford would do well to continue its efforts along this line. Additional street lighting would make the city more attractive at night. East First Street is in a sad state of repair. The eastern half of Fort Mellon Park should be beautified. The Municipal Zoo, one of our most interesting and popular spots, could be enlarged to advantage.

If you want to know why Orlando outstripped Sanford in its growth, it is because Orlando early went after tourists, and got them; Sanford didn't. But it is not too late, even yet, for Sanford to catch up.

Equality Of Education

A minimum of $40 for the education of every child in every state will be a reality with passage of a bipartisan bill recently introduced into the senate by six senators. Benefits would be limited to states that now spend less than this minimum per child.

An appropriation of $150,000,000 would be authorized for this year, with $200,000,000 for the next school year and $260,000,000 the following year. The National Education Association is backing the proposed legislation, emphasizing the fact that it would automatically increase income for teachers, since 70 to 75 percent of all school budgets go to their salaries.

Even with this bill a law, not all states could insure their teachers the $2,400 minimum salary that the N. E. A. feels is essential for proper instruction standards. The bill, however, would make for tremendous progress in equalizing educational opportunities throughout the country. Low-standard schools must be brought up if the United States is to discharge its duty to its children.

The bill should have the support of the nation, and the senators endorsing it deserve the backing of citizens. These men are Senators: Taft, Ohio; Hill, Alabama; Cooper, Kentucky; Smith, New Jersey; Thomas, Utah; Ellender, Louisiana. The first four are Republicans, the other two Democrats.

Senate Commerce Committee Tackles Maritime Problems | Miners Federal Employees? Question Baffles Industry

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—The Senate commerce committee, with a subcommittee hearing on air safety already under way, now is ready to go into maritime problems.

Aviation hearings were set up after the whole committee heard James M. Landis and other Civil Aeronautics board members explain CAB's problems and point out that the airline safety record in 1946 was better than ever before.

Senator Albert Hawkes (R) of New Jersey said the maritime commission has legislation it wants passed and said discussion with the committee will clarify the problems—which are principally financial.

Senator Owen Brewster (R) of Maine said he believes the whole Merchant Marine faces money dangers because of the prospective discontinuance of war-time subsidies.

AN UNUSUAL PROBLEM has arisen in coal mining areas over federal seizure of the soft coal industry. The miners are as confused as everyone else about whether they are federal employees.

Government lawyers told the Supreme court that miners are government workers "for some purposes" and that for other purposes they are not.

United Mine Workers' attorneys contend the seizure was a "paper" transaction. The union says that private operators still pay the workers' wages, pay the taxes and take the profits from the operation of the mines.

Here is the rub: Many miners think they are government employees and hence entitled to the 30-day sick leave of federal workers. They've been writing to union headquarters about it, but headquarters is also confused about the situation.

It is a tricky problem for the Federal Coal Mines administration.

ALTHOUGH PRESIDENT TRUMAN estimates that the government will spend only $350,000,000 to support farm prices next year, the agriculture department is prepared to put up as much as $1,000,000,000.

In his budget message to Congress the president named the $350,000,000 figure. However, he warned that further expenditures would become necessary should markets weaken. If prices drop, the $350,000,000 would be merely a drop in the bucket.

Agriculture department officials point out that commercial banks already are authorized to loan money on crops, and that these loans are guaranteed by the Commodity Credit corporation.

Should markets slump, farmers could—and would—turn their crops over to the government to cancel the loans, which are based on 90 per cent of parity for most commodities.

It is considered unlikely that farm prices will go down to any great extent for the next year or two. However, if they do, the result would be a large federal expenditure for price support, expended in the form of extending never-to-be-repaid loans. The source already is available. The CCC has a borrowing authority of $4,000,000,000.

VETERANS' LOBBIES IN WASHINGTON are getting ready to demand more drastic regulation of real estate operators, builders and auctioneers to protect ex-G.I.'s from rackets growing out of the housing shortage.

Practices exposed in the nation's capital have focused attention on an unavowed situation. Hundreds of Washington veterans made down payments on homes and then found their hopes blasted—contractors were unable to deliver. The former servicemen lost most of their deposits.

"FLUID DRIVE"

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

By RUSSELL KAY

This week being occupied with my duties at the Florida State Fair, I'm turning this column over to the Editor of the Ft. Lauderdale Daily News and publishing an editorial that recently appeared in that publication entitled, "Peppering 'The Political Pot.'" It follows:

"The Florida writer and conductor of the Volusia Mirror's 'Political Pot,' T. A. Price—whom we don't believe we know or can't recall having read any of his work other than in the December 18, 1946 column in which he calls upon 'liberal' Democrats of Florida to go forth like Diogenes (Greek philosopher, 412 to 323, B. C. founder of the Cynics, and according to history spent most of his time in a tub) in search for an honest man—may not know it, but we have done more to elect Tom Watson our next Governor than any other writer, including himself, in the State. And if we are to believe his writing, that is the least of his intentions."

"Mr. Price's literary attack on Mr. Watson reminds us very much of the story told us by a former New Dealer who said the party thinks when he learned that Joe Stalin was the real head of the 'Liberals.'"

"The story dealt with New Deal theory which was based on taking all of the 'classes' in America and choosing up sides and then pitting them against each other. As long as you could keep them fighting each other they'd be too busy engaged in battle to fight for correction of administrative mistakes."

"Mr. Price does just that—on the one side he places the agricultural workers and on the other the union workers. He tries to paint a word picture of the illers of the soil being misled in an effort to elect Mr. Watson, while the union men will be asking for nothing less than total defeat of the Attorney General."

"We wonder if the Volusia writer has ever given any consideration to the fact that many union industrial workers have voted for Mr. Watson in the past and will vote for him again. That there were thousands of those same workers who voted for the right-to-work amendment in 1941. Just because a man is an industrial worker doesn't mean that he is blind to the American way of life."

"This writer claims that if Florida is doomed to suffer under four years of a Tom Watson, the State will be set back 20 years and the death rattle will be in the throat of Democracy."

"The writer's words are meaningless when one considers the fact that Mr. Watson's right-to-work amendment and his fight against the Federal Government's move to overthrow States' Rights by grabbing for submerged lands, are the very essence of democracy."

"If Mr. Price means that Florida is doomed to suffer under a four year term Watson government that would run all of the crooks, mobsters, gamblers and Red argumenters out of our State, then he is talking not through his hat but with an open alley. We've been awaiting the day that we could suffer four years of an administration that would crack a whip loudly enough in Tallahassee so that it could be heard at all times down here in Broward County. We believe that when the whip is handed to Mr. Watson you'll be able to hear it crack and feel its lash in every one of the 97 counties. The Attorney General believes, as we do, that everyone should abide by the law and if it is going to take us back 20 years by electing Florida a law-abiding state, then let's start in now."

never heard Mr. Watson profess to having anything to do with the bullrushes, we think he is just the man to do the leading.

"There is one statement by Mr. Price that will bring down upon him the wrath of thousands of Watson followers. The writer accuses Mr. Watson of tearing a page from the political books of the late Gene Talmadge and Senator Illinois and perfecting an appeal to ignorance. No man likes to be referred to as ignorant, and we hope Mr. Price of Volusia is around the day after the 1948 elections to prove our point.

"Incidentally, and aside to Mr. Price: We thought it poor literary taste to mention the names of Mr. Watson and 'your friend' Senator Pepper in the same column."

WASHINGTON LETTER By JANE EADS WASHINGTON—When Mrs. Roosevelt was First Lady, guests were ever conscious of her presence when she hosted a party. Always quiet—voiced, sympathetic and extremely unassuming, she nevertheless was a dominating personality. One gets a different feeling at White House parties when Mrs. Truman is entertaining—and she does entertain beautifully. The food is always excellent, the service so perfect you never notice it. Everything runs smoothly. You realize that the modestly-dressed, matronly-looking woman without a hat, whose greying hair is carefully coiffed, is the wife of the President of the United States. But somehow you feel she's "just one of the girls"—a guest like yourself. The day I attended the broadcast for the March of Dimes send-off, she approached me alone. "Hello," she said. "Hello," I answered. "How are you?" she asked. "Thank you, I'm fine," I replied, after the 1948 elections to prove our point. "Incidentally, and aside to Mr. Price: We thought it poor literary taste to mention the names of Mr. Watson and 'your friend' Senator Pepper in the same column." Editorial published in the January 6th issue of the Ft. Lauderdale Daily News not very helpfully. "I like your hat, it's such a pretty shade of blue," she ventured. "We wandered out of the room together, still making small conversation, and mingled with the rest of the women leaving the affair. Blue is Mrs. Truman's favorite color, she says, and talkman roses her favorite flower. At a luncheon for Mrs. Roosevelt prior to the broadcast, Mrs. Truman talked about how she had shaken 1,100 hands in one hour and ten minutes at a recent White House affair. Mrs. Roosevelt said she knew what Mrs. Truman was talking about. She said that when she first went to the White House she thought the hand-shaking was going to be a terrible ordeal. Then, Mrs. Roosevelt said, she saw how many persons enjoyed shaking hands with the President and First Lady and how they seemed to get a "personal feeling with the government." She recalled a letter she had received from a woman who had sat one time on the side-lines and had watched Mrs. Roosevelt receive her guests. "Do you think as you shake, or do you just shake?" the woman asked. "Thirteen years old Joan Shepard, New York actress who is just about to appear on the legitimate stage in "A Young Man's Fancy" was among the guests that day. She had traveled from Manhattan to be on hand in case Nancy Ann Garner, 18-year-old Hollywood star, who was traveling by air, couldn't be in time for the broadcast because of bad weather.

The cantata will be under the direction of Roger Harris who in a brief talk at the meeting Tuesday emphasized the importance of correct posture and breathing for all singers. He also tested all voices for the various parts to be sung.

 From where I sit, anyone can find something in his neighbor to complain about. (Some folks may even disagree with Thad's right to enjoy that glass of beer with Lem!) But where would we be if everybody tried to have a law passed against everything they disagreed with? We wouldn't have many neighbors left!

Lem's Dogs vs Thad's Chickens

Running a newspaper, you get to know a lot about human nature. Thad Phipps was in the other day, all burned up. Wanted me to run an item on how Lem Martin's dog had raided his chickens again, and ought to be put away by law. I told him: "Lem was in on Saturday. Said you shouldn't be allowed to keep those chickens so close to his house—and in a residential zone, at that."

Men Steal Show At White House State Reception

By JANE EADS WASHINGTON—The women outfit themselves. Their gowns were marvelous to behold, newly fashioned of rare and expensive fabrics. Their hair was fixed in new ways, and they seemed to have put on all the jewelry they possessed. Exotic perfumes waited in their wake, but— It was the men who captured the spotlight at the diplomatic reception at the White House—the first of the official season. The last had been held in 1945. Representatives of 64 countries were received by President and Mrs. Truman in the beautiful blue room. Many of the men wore their court uniforms, resplendently embellished with gold, encircled with sashes and ribbons and bejeweled medals. Some carried plumed hats. A few had ceremonial swords. To start off with, President Truman is no back-seater, when it comes to sartorial know-how and he looks right impressive in his white tie and tails. One of the outstanding figures was the Netherlands ambassador, Dr. A. L. London, in cream-colored trousers and black tail coat, extravagantly embroidered in gold. A crimson sash across his chest. With this he carried a black hat, his country's coat of arms on one side and across the top a sweeping white plume. Danish Minister De Kuffmann wore white knee-breeches, a scarlet coat and pale blue sash. Miklafr Herman Eriksson of Sweden wore a black and gold costume. A representative of Indo-China wore a black silk turban. His conventional, resplendently embellished trousers were wrapped, native-fashion in a broadened satin skirt.

Report States Raise Of Citrus Prices Deterred

Canned Juice Competition, Heavy Volume Continues

LAKELAND, Feb. 6. (Special)—Heavy volume of Florida citrus continues to discourage any substantial move toward higher price levels, according to current reports of the Florida Citrus Commission's dealer service men.

Florida fresh fruit not only is facing competition from California and Texas oranges and grapefruit, but also from canned citrus juice, which is resulting in big volume sales of fresh fruit and competing canned items such as apple, pineapple and tomato juice, the reports, covering the week ending Jan. 29, indicate.

Most of the citrus commission men found that quality of Florida fruit was improving as the season progressed, but there still were a few complaints that oranges and tangerines were not holding up well. This condition has been blamed chiefly on the unusually warm weather this season in Florida and, at times, in the market. The quality of grapefruit has been reported unusually good since early in the season.

A typical report was the one from Chicago and Elgin, Ill., which said in part: "Florida oranges are moving readily in these markets, but no permanent strengthening of the market is indicated, since supplies seem to be too heavy for the consumer to absorb. The public is just beginning to realize now that canned citrus is the best buy that has been offered for some Shoe Store; Eloise Cook, Robb's Bakery, and Margaret Parfitt, Mother of Sanford.

Miss Aiken, a Seminole High School sophomore and contest entry of the Sanford Hardware Co. is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Aiken of Sanford, and she is noted for her singing and dancing ability which she recently displayed at the Tourist Club. In her initial appearance she wore a white evening gown with bouffant skirt and strapless back, with years, and undoubtedly this factor is having its effect on the fresh market.

"Carlot unloads of Florida oranges in Chicago to Jan. 24 were substantially ahead of unloads for the entire month of January, 1946, and at the same time it is believed that truck receipts this year are ahead of last year to date. This, together with greater supplies of California oranges and competitive fruits, such as apples and bananas, has created the continued saturated market conditions of the past several weeks."

"Florida oranges are only now showing fairly consistent eating quality and juice content for which they are famous, and are admittedly superior to the California fruit in general as regards these qualities. Not as much can be said for color and sales appeal, however. An encouraging picture is seen in the small city of Elgin, Ill., where receivers state that the Florida movement at this time is going ahead of California citrus volume, a very unusual situation in that market, where in past years the rate of sale in favor of California was as much as 10 to one.

collar effect in front. Her second entry was in a black bathing suit. She wins a $100 trip to Cuba, the gift of the Jaycees and will vie for state honors at the Jaycee convention at Palatka on Feb. 15 and 16. The Jaycees gave her a beautiful bouquet.

All of the entries announced by Sam Martina, able master of ceremonies, were roundly applauded as they entered one by one through a white trelis in the center of the stage. Each contestant received a gift from the Jaycees. Judges were stationed in different parts of the theater and when they met were unanimous in choice of Miss Aiken. The judges were Steve Bennis, glider pilot; S. W. Tudor of Alexandria, La., and Mrs. Mayme Hodgkin.

During the interval of the change of costumes, Norma Jean Sayer and Simon Dinglefder of Seminole High School presented a graceful tango dance. A double quartette of high school boys from the Glee Club sang under direction of Miss Ollie Reese Whittle. A five piece high school orchestra played during the entry of the contestants and also gave a special swing number.

Announcer Martina thanked those who had helped make the contest a big success, including Mrs. Peter Tepic of the Coburn School of Dancing who directed the girls on entry, the Myra's Beauty Shop; Hollywood Shop, A. K. Ramey, florist, and Seminole Cabaret Shop, which built the trelis.

Charles Luke and Cliff Able of the Jaycees, got encores for their comic impersonation of bathing beauties with white mop hair-do. This was when Theater Manager Bob Harris appeared in the stage wings and told Announcer Martina that he had two late registered contestants, Guy Allen, contest chairman, who handled entry of the girls, obtaining of parents' consent and printing of the tickets, today said he was much pleased with the success of the contest. Girls may obtain their prizes from Mr. Allen at the Gulf Station at Second Street and Park Avenue.

Crop Damages From Cold May Run Into Millions

He said a quick thaw would cause more damage than a gradual advance in temperatures. It may take several days to determine the total damage to the citrus crop.

Farmers in the big strawberry growing area around Plant City reported young berries were frozen to the bushes and tender truck crops generally seemed to be killed.

At 7:30 A.M., Miami, the lush winter resort city, shivered at exactly 32 degrees. All public schools were ordered closed for the day. Perhaps the coldest spot in Florida was Jasper, in the northern part of the State, with a chilly 21 degrees.

The heart of the great citrus belt was gripped in temperatures ranging from 25 to 30 degrees. Isolated spots in the citrus region had even lower temperatures.

One of the southernmost cities on the west coast, Fort Myers, reported 33 degrees. Freezing weather extended generally over the fresh vegetable section, the winter breadbasket of the nation. Daytona Beach on the East Coast, another resort center, woke up this morning to find the mercury at 25 degrees.

Other readings about the Sunshine State, at 7:30 A.M. were: Ocala 23, Jacksonville 29, Tallahassee 25, Vero Beach 30, Tampa 33, West Palm Beach 34, Key West 51, Orlando 29 and Lakeland 30. Elsewhere in the South, tem-

Agronomy Director Declares Corn Yield Could Be Increased

GAINESVILLE, Feb. 6. (AP)—The director of the Florida Experiment Station Agronomy Department, W. E. Stokes, said today farmers could increase the state's total yield of corn by more than 1,000,000 bushels.

Stokes said to do this many farmers would only have to plant a better variety of corn than they have been using. He explained that numerous tests by the experiment station and farmers in cooperation with the station have indicated that farmers who plant the common run of corn could hike their yields 20 percent by planting an improved variety.

Florida has been growing about 700,000 acres of corn and getting an average yield of 10 bushels per acre. Agriculturists say this is a low yield, but about half of Florida's corn acreage is seemingly widespread belief that the lid is off on all construction and it is serving notice today that it will enforce rigidly the ban on unauthorized commercial building. Persons starting construction of stores, factories for other commercial jobs without a Civilian Production Administration permit are warned that they are letting themselves in for difficulties. The agency said it is tightening its whole program of supervision of construction.

Unauthorized Building Ban To Be Enforced

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6. (AP)—The government is alarmed at the

also interplanted with peanuts. The peanut yield runs from five to six hundred pounds per acre when planted in with the corn.

Stokes also recommended that Florida farmers fertilize their farms. He said that many are not fertilized at all, but that a judicious that many are not fertilized with a relatively high nitrogen content will increase corn yields.

Stassen, Taft Clash Over Labor Policy

Former Governor Recommends Secret Ballot Of Workers Before Walkout

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—(AP)—Two leading Republican presidential possibilities clashed over proposed Labor legislation today when former Governor Harold Stassen of Minnesota urged a secret majority vote of workers as the last step before a strike. This brought a retort from committee Chairman Robert Taft of Ohio that the suggestion was trivial.

Stassen said: "If you believe in the democracy of workers, you must have confidence in a secret ballot." Taft said: "Workers do not go against their leaders."

However, the views Stassen expressed on Labor this morning were being carefully weighed for their political implications. He told the Senate Labor Committee to go right ahead and correct the most flagrant abuses in the present Labor set-up, but not to rush headlong into drastic legislation which might so weaken labor that the result would be injurious not only to Labor but to our free economy as a whole.

Court Pronounces 10 Year Sentence In Manslaughter Cases

Two ten-year, and one five-year sentence in State prison at Raiford were pronounced this morning in Circuit Court by Judge M. B. Smith.

John Troutman, negro, found guilty of manslaughter in connection with the shooting of Roosevelt Drane, negro, last November, drew a 10-year sentence.

Robert Wilder, negro, found guilty of manslaughter in connection with the stabbing of Wilma Metts, negro, on Nov. 4 at the Zanzibar Inn, drew a 10-year sentence.

Otis Robinson, negro, found guilty of attempt at manslaughter following injury of J. C. Frazier, negro, was sentenced to five years imprisonment.

It was made known to the court that there were matters needing further investigation by the Grand Jury, which was therefore recalled for Feb. 13. Court will reconvene on Feb. 14, according to O. P. Herndon, clerk of the court.

Truman Expected To Make Bid For Re-election Soon

President Truman soon may make his own personal bid for re-election according to Democratic National Chairman Bob Hannegan when he disclosed today that the President will get an opportunity to speak for himself on the matter when he addresses a Jefferson Day dinner in Washington on Apr. 5.

Mr. Truman's address will be broadcast to other Jefferson Day dinners across the country. Hannegan said the President's theme will be "Peace and Prosperity."

The Postmaster-General and Democratic boss added: "On that theme, President Truman's record of achievement, qualifies him as the best authority in America today."

Meanwhile, the Republicans were getting ready to meet the challenge. They'll have a chance to make known their views in a broadcast of Lincoln Day speeches next Wednesday.

The first Republican comment on Hannegan's declaration came from GOP Chairman Carl Reece. He said "It is again the voice of Hannegan but the hand of Pendergast." Reece's reference was to the Pendergast organization in Kansas City which gave Mr. Truman his start in politics.

City Investigates Coin Operated Device

An electrically lighted, coin operated machine, seized Tuesday by Patrolmen George Smith and J. H. Patterson at the Laney Drug Store on First Street, following complaint to police of Mrs. M. T. Miller of Orlando that she lost more than $200 in the machine, is now at the City Hall pending investigation by the City Attorney as to legality of operating such a machine. Police Chief Roy C. Williams stated today.

Charges have been made against J. O. Laney, proprietor of the store of operating the machine for gambling purposes, said Chief Williams. The case, which was due to come up in City Court today, has been continued until the investigation is made, he added. The machine, a gaudy affair with cylinders on which are painted cherries, plums and, and which is called a Twin Super Bell is said to operate upon both nickels and quarters. The machine was licensed by the City "for amusement purposes only," according to City Manager H. N. Sayer.

Britain Faced With Critical Fuel Shortage

Announcement Made Of Reduced Electric Power, Ban On Coal For Export

LONDON, Feb. 7. (AP)—The economic crisis in Britain grew more desperate today with announcement of reduced electricity and gas rations and a ban on coal exports. These moves were taken in an effort to halt factory shut-downs which already have thrown 200,000 persons out of work.

The British are critically short of fuel after a three-weeks' cold wave. A heavy snowfall in the industrial Midlands and northern England has tightened the pinch. The lack of coal has blacked out many factories.

Fuel Ministry officials said the ban on coal for export is strictly a temporary measure, but it means that all coal-burning foreign-bound ships cannot re-fuel at British ports. This will prevent some 200 vessels from departing on schedule. It is planned to lift the ban as soon as movement of coal on snow-banked railways is resumed.

Gas pressures all over the country has been ordered reduced and the Central Electricity Board has warned of widespread power cuts.

The British Fuel Minister, Emanuel Shinwell, said that his country's badly strained electric power system will break down next week because of the fuel shortage. The bitter cold has aggravated the situation, and as a result Shinwell said that beginning Monday no electricity will be supplied industrial consumers in a number of areas. Domestic consumers will have their power cut off from 9 A. M. to noon and from 2:00 to 4:00 o'clock in the afternoon.

Lieutenant Governor Thompson Declared Acting Governor In Superior Court

ROME, Ga., Feb. 7.—(AP)—The forces of Lieutenant-Governor M.E. Thompson today won a surprise victory in the court battle to have Thompson declared governor of Georgia, when Superior Court Judge Claude Porter ruled in Rome this afternoon that Thompson is the legal chief executive of the state.

The Rome judge declared the Georgia General Assembly had no right to elect Herman Talmadge as governor. Immediately, attorneys opposing Thompson announced an appeal to the Georgia Supreme Court.

The action in Rome surprised all political circles. All eyes had been focused in McDonough, Ga., where a direct suit began today to eliminate any claims by Talmadge to the governorship.

The action in McDonough was still in its early stages when Judge Parker made his surprise decision in Rome. The Rome suit was brought by Thompson to force the State Pardon and Parole Board to turn over information to him as acting governor.

The suit originally was set for Feb. 12. There was no explanation of why it was advanced to today.

Judge Parker made it clear that the governorship was involved in the Parole Board suit. In a written opinion, he declared the legislature was without jurisdiction to declare any person to be governor. The opinion held that the General Assembly was bound by the Constitution to declare M. E. Thompson as the acting governor of Georgia.

"We feel we are in the same country in traveling across the border, because tiger is courtesy on both sides," he declared. He said that he was impressed with Sanford and its agricultural country, and that it was a fine place for tourists. Sending daily papers to friends is a fine way to bring tourists here, he said.

To the Lions, he brought the greetings of J. D. Carmichael, District Lion governor of Zone 11 in Ontario.

Now staying in Orlando, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson are on a six weeks' visit to Florida, the tickets for the journey having been given them by the Thousand Islands and St. Lawrence Tourist Association. They were presented with the tickets and many gifts at a testimonial dinner given in their honor attended by 175 citizens of Ontario.

Mr. Wilson said that he found tourist rates in Florida to be reasonable, and told of the scenic and fishing attractions Ontario and Florida both had. He declared that he would bring good reports about this state back to Canada and invited Lion members to come to Ontario on their vacations.

King Lion Henry Witte thanked Mr. Wilson for his fine talk and the stressing of friendship between the two countries.

Damage To Crops From Cold Wave Declared Spotty

C. R. Dawson States Celery Not Hurt; Squash Wiped Out

Damage to vegetables by the cold wave was spotty, according to County Agent C. R. Dawson. He predicted that planting of corn and peppers will be necessary in many cases. There is not much hope for lettuce, he said, as it was severely damaged.

Celery, he declared, does not appear to be hurt much. Squash is wiped out. A lot of damage to oranges and other citrus fruits, it will take about 10 days to determine whether they should be kept up before being sent to market, he declared.

He forecast a rather short season with peak prices prevailing in the near future. About half of the Glades celery and about one-fourth of the Sanford produce has either been shipped or discarded, said Dawson. The big back log of celery, such as during other years, will not materialize. There has been much stopping of celery at harvest and in the wash houses, he added, due to effects of heat and drought.

A few cucumbers planted here have been lost, it has been reported. Practically no damage to celery or cabbage was reported at the Central Florida Experiment Station by Dr. A. A. Foster, plant pathologist. Tomatoes and peppers as well as corn and lettuce, have been severely damaged in the area, he stated. Gladioluses in bloom and stative, were also damaged, he said.

Model Plane Meet Will Be Held At Airport On Mar. 2

Model plane fans who have been eagerly looking for a place where they might test their tiny ships against those of other builders were given an answer today by George Tully, general manager of the Southeastern States Glider Club, when he announced that a model plane meet also will be sponsored. The meet exists will be held at the Sanford Municipal Airport at 2:00 A. M. on March 2.

This contest is being sponsored by the Junior and Senior Chambers of Commerce and the City of Sanford as the regional tests of the coming ships.

For some time W. D. Hofmann, who has long been a model plane fan, has been directing attention to the wide spread interest in the miniature planes, and has been hoping to hold in Sanford a competition as well as take place next month. Because thousands of people who interested in aviation are at the Sanford airport during the glider contests, an opportune time is afforded to have the smaller ships tangle for some prizes.

Chairman Hofmann named E. H. McAlexander to assist him. Members of the Florida Model Association will be invited to enter their planes and their rules of this association will govern the meet.

According to McAlexander there will be four classes of competition, classes 3, 4, 5 and 6. Prizes will be awarded for the first three places in each of these classifications.

In order to keep the midget airplanes out of the crowd and away from the gliders, the contest will be limited to control line planes.

Officials anticipate a large field of contestants.

'House Of Magic' Baffles Audience With Inventions

Demonstration Given Of Recent Scientific Discoveries

By Willard Connolly
As compared with the General Electric Company's "House of Magic" show presented to a large audience at Semmes High School auditorium, the legendary of the most noted "magicians," however intriguing and baffling, seems strictly "amateur night."

W. A. Glusung, General Electric scientist, completely baffled his audience with feats which it presented in an early century would have resulted in his being branded as a wizard and burned at the stake. Just one feat such as casting a shadow on a white screen and then walking away and leaving the shadow there, would have been enough to convict him of forbidden magic in the old days.

As it wasn't enough, he walked to the other side of the screen and cast a shadow which shook hands with the first one.

However, as Mr. Glusung pointed out, this is an era of scientific development and these new inventions will have a great effect on our way of living. This was graphically illustrated by his demonstration of a sun motor which may provide electrical power in the future. The only one of its kind in the world, it turned a wheel from electricity generated by light from a bulb falling on (Continued on Page 12)
