KEY'S ILLNESS CAUSES DELAY IN BANK CASES

Judge Gray Recedes Court Until April 9 When Defense Files Continuance Motion

Four Indictments Nolle Prossed

Bankers Still Facing Charges Contained In Nine Other Cases

The special term of circuit court, which has been in session for two weeks in consideration of cases growing out of the failure of the Seminole County Bank, was recessed this morning to April 9 by Judge D. Witt T. Gray, following the filing of motions for continuance by counsel for Forrest Lake, convicted last week on an indictment charging embezzlement and misapplication of bank funds and acquitted yesterday afternoon by a directed verdict on a charge of embezzlement and abstraction of funds.

Attorney Tom Palmer, this morning filed a motion for continuance in one case and an affidavit for continuance in another. At the same time they announced their willingness to go to trial on indictment number one, which charges the making of false entries with Mr. Key made a principal in the first degree and Mr. Lake principal in the second degree. The prosecution through State's Attorney William E. Smith expressed a desire to withdraw all of the cases until the recovery of Mr. Key, who will sail for Mexico at his home at Tampa.

The court accordingly set April 9 as the date and the session came to an abrupt close. Just before recessing Judge Gray announced that a ruling upon the motion for a new trial in the conviction of the bankers last week would be reserved pending a more thorough consideration of the document.

As a result of the action by the prosecution, four indictments were nolle prossed against Mr. Lake and Mr. Key last night. Two of these were based on the statute of limitations and had been made the subject of defense motions to quash. With four charges nolle prossed, another disposed by an instructed verdict of acquittal and a sixth resulting in a conviction, the two bankers still face charges contained in nine remaining indictments returned by the grand jury in February.

Airplane Wins Race When Transporting Expectant Mother

NORFOLK, Va., Mar. 22. (INS)—Facing the storm in a strong northwest wind, naval hospital plane F-5-L, arrived here at 9:43 o'clock this morning from an isolated spot on the North Carolina coast with Mrs. Courtney Barnett, a patient on board.

Lieut. Commander L. R. Dancy, of the medical corps, was in the plane and he was hoping that the storm would win the race so that the navy could claim honors of being first to have a baby born in the air. But the plane arrived ahead of the baby-carrying bird and Mrs. Barnett was rushed to the Norfolk Protestant Hospital. The little stranger is expected to arrive any minute.

Lieut. M. R. Browning was in command of the plane which traveled 140 miles in 1 hour and 50 minutes despite the strong wind. The woman lived near Hatteras, N. C. and there being no physicians there the navy was appealed to to send an airplane and bring the expectant mother to Norfolk.

Senator Couzens States Mellon Cost Government Millions Thru Tax Fraud

WASHINGTON, Mar. 22. (INS)—The American Government has lost hundreds of millions of dollars through illegal tax settlements, favoring corporations and big business men, under the administration of Andrew W. Mellon as Secretary of the Treasury, Senator James Couzens of Michigan, charged in the Senate this afternoon in launching the debate on his resolution demanding Mellon's resignation.

Couzens charged Mellon held his office illegally because the Secretary signed stock in forty different corporations in violation of law. He said he could prove no personal wrongdoing by Mellon but that the Senate's inquiry into the Internal Revenue Bureau had shown huge tax losses under Mellon's administration of the Treasury.

"There were many unlawful or 'legal' settlements," said Couzens. "We even found memoranda on some settlements, saying 'this is a Mellon Company'."

POLO PLAYERS TO FALL'S DESIRE CROSS MALLET'S TELL ALL DOESN'T AT 4 TOMORROW IMPRESS SOLONS

Sanford people will get their view of polo as it is played professionally tomorrow afternoon when the team representing New Jersey meets the Florida trio at the Municipal Athletic Field at 4 o'clock. The game will be played for the benefit of the Sanford Shrine Club and Ed Lane is trying everyone to attend what he promises will be the thrill of their lives.

Herz Transfield, secretary of the association, in commenting upon the players and their horses, told a representative of The Herald this morning that "Cotton Field" is a famous international pony and knows more about the following of the ball than any of the polo players and will be ridden by Jimmy Ross, the Captain of the New Jersey team. It is a rare treat to see this pony perform, to watch him turn and check his speed at the moment to allow the player to strike the pellet toward his goal. It is indeed a thrill every moment for the spectators.

"Capt. William Hall who is the most fearless rider in polo in America says that any Mustang that is wild is what he enjoys in a polo game. Capt. Hall further states that he will bring home the goals as far as the Florida team is concerned. Any polo fan who has seen Capt. Hall perform has no doubt of his skill nor his determination.

"The majority of the players in the National Professional Polo Association are comparatively young men in years but with plenty of experience. They have come up from universities, military schools and the most have been trained by the association itself. In fact to play the game as it is played professionally requires youth with plenty of speed and courage. A prominent authority on polo as it is played in England made the following statement after seeing one of these matches: "In all my years as a player of polo in India and England I will say the spall and greatest thrill is in these games that you can see in these games sponsored by the Shriners."

CAL'S BACKERS CHICAGO GANG OF CANDIDACY KILLS ITALIAN LOSE ALL HOPE WARD LEADER

WASHINGTON, Mar. 22. (INS)—The "draft" Coolidge movement, which has been growing weaker and weaker lately, had very little left to nourish it today. For the third time in eight months President Coolidge has taken himself out of consideration for the Republican nomination, and even the hardest-boiled skeptics were about convinced today that it meant it.

Even C. Bascom Sloop, former secretary, who has installed all along that Mr. Coolidge would be drafted and that he would accept a nomination if it were forced upon him, conceded today that the Republican choice would be to fall to Coolidge. He announced plans to go to Herbert Hoover, which means that Virginia's cabinet candidate at Kansas City.

Mr. Coolidge's third refusal of the crown was couched in some what different fashion than his previous renunciations. In a brief, terse and last August he had said "I do not wish to run for the Republican National Committee here in December." He said, "I do not wish to run for the Republican National Committee here in December."

An exchange says, "vote as you please, but vote." The trouble is they won't even do that.

The old-fashioned girl didn't talk neither everything. She didn't know everything.—San Francisco Chronicle.

As we understand it, if you haven't been mentioned in the oil scandals, you are not a national politician.

To read Doyle Carlton's speech on opp. would think Fons Hathaway is the only other candidate in the race.

The Clearwater Sun has come out for John Taylor for governor, a fact which assures the Senator of at least one vote.

Newspaper advertising in the United States amounted to 1,217,704,000 lines during 1927, and fully half a dozen were in Sanford.

The East is just now digging itself out from under a blanket of snow. Visitors to Florida would be wise not to rush back home too soon.

Gene Tunney will take an active part in but one fight this year, Tex Rickard says he can find only one opponent for the champion.

They call Fons Hathaway the Uppus Claudius of Florida, because they both built roads, but Uppus is dead and Fons is about as lively a candidate in the race.

Stimuly (from some of the alimony taken recently), there are some things which went on during the early part of last August that didn't even get in The Herald.

Many Senators and representatives flew over Washington the other day with Charles Lindbergh, who probably the first time any of them had been able to get into anything since they got down to politics.

Hugh Sparkman, editor of the Daytona Beach Times has leased filling station and is trying to get the big oil companies which says are charging Daytona motorists exorbitant prices. We're the scrappy editor look, but I hate to have his assignment.

Greetings, Mr. Catts!

Sidney J. Catts, perennial candidate for governor and paradoxical champion of religion and races, will, according to an announcement, speak in Sanford, somewhere tonight. The Herald is inclined to extend to him a cordial welcome to this city and urges everyone who has not heard the famous Catts' jokes to attend his meeting.

That Catts is one of the strongest candidates in the race there can be little denying. He has a strong following in almost every section of the state. In 1916, strangely enough, he was elected governor, and since that time although he has never been elected to another office, he has always polled a large vote. In 1924 he was second high man in the gubernatorial race, and missed being elected by the narrowest margin.

We are moved to wonder, then, wherein the Catts' strength lies. And we find by a comparison of his campaign speeches with the facts in the case the answer. Catts is a remarkable student in the art of hyperbole. It isn't that he wishes to misinform anyone intentionally; it's simply that he has a poor memory, and when dealing with figures for political purposes, his mind becomes muddled.

One of the most appealing planks which we find in the Catts' platform is "tax reduction." It is one of Catts' favorite stories that he reduced taxes while he was governor. As a matter of fact taxes were higher during his administration than at any time before or since. Records furnished from the office of the State Treasurer show that the tax millage increased while Catts was governor from six and one-half in 1916 to twelve in 1919, the year before he went out of office. The millage at the present time is seven and one-half.

Catts has also contended that when he became governor there was less than one hundred thousand dollars in the State Treasury, but according to the Treasurer's report, which we feel reasonably sure should be correct, there was a balance of $1,077,710.20 at that time. Catts further maintains that during his last year as governor, State expenditures amounted to $5,490,602.38, while the records show that some $8,390,294.95 were actually disbursed.

Such little inconsistencies as these in the statements of the former governor can easily be attributed to a loss of memory, but what appears to us as the most pathetic feature of his candidacy is his declaration in behalf of "local option." This sudden appeal for the votes of the gambling element clearly indicates that he has traded his soul for a mess of pottage.

A Baptist minister by profession, we believe, going about the state with a prayer on his lips, he has tried to convert East Coast voters to his cause by taking a stand in favor of allowing each separate county to decide whether it shall permit evil conditions to exist within its confines, regardless of whether in direct violation of state laws.

When a minister of the gospel becomes so corrupted by politics that he will appeal to gamblers and crooks for votes, it is time for him to return to his religion.

Fire Wastes

Without doubt one of Florida's greatest assets is its forest. Thousands of acres of pine lands stretch from Jacksonville far into West Florida beyond Pensacola and as far south as the northern shores of Okeechobee. Throughout this vast area are found camps where from the valuable pines are taken quantities of rosin, pitch and turpentine, and millions of feet of lumber.

In view of the lucrative business which has developed from our forests, it seems highly important to conserve them. Col. William B. Greeley, chief of the forest service of the United States department of agriculture, declares that forest fires started by men are the most destructive element with which he has to contend.

"Wood fires can be stopped," says Col. Greeley, "because man is almost the sole cause. Reach the woods-burner with the right information, enlist him in the movement to raise more and better livestock and timber, and fire protection in the South will go forward with a bound. The huge economic losses, caused yearly by woods fires should make everybody realize the importance of fire prevention. The South is responsible for the burning yearly of around 20,000,000 acres of forest and cut-over land, or about four-fifths of the total forest area burned in the United States."

The Florida Times-Union adds to Col. Greeley's statement the following statistics: "Florida does not have complete data with reference to the destructiveness of woods and forest fires within the state, but likely will have when the state's forestry board is functioning. Alabama, however, quite recently furnished information with reference to the loss sustained in that state last year through forest fires, of which Alabama had 25,030 in 1927. The total area of forest land burned over was about 1,448,052 acres, according to the report of the Alabama State Commission of Forestry. This same authority estimates that "Forest fires occurring in Alabama during 1927 resulted in money damage amounting to $1,448,012."

"Of this amount," says the commission, "$207,878 comprised damage to merchantable timber, $1,051,659 injury to young growth, $44,621 damage to wood products, $5,584 loss to other forest products, $63,000 damage to buildings, fences and other improvements and $74,670 damage to range and pasturage." These are only direct losses, the indirect losses, in some instances, exceeding the direct, as, for instance, the money-value of the time given to fighting forest fires in Alabama last year by an estimated number of 19,084 people, not counting paid employees of the state.

In view of such facts as these it does seem that there would be a united movement on the part, not of forest commissioners, and departments of agriculture alone, but of the people themselves, to see that such economic losses are stopped. There is no waste which is so wholly irremediable as that caused by fire. And this waste can be prevented completely simply by the proper co-operation of the people.

CARSON FOR GOVERNOR

After reading the advertisement of Hon. James M. Carson, latest candidate for governor of Florida, a local politician wrote the word, "Bull" across it. Bull or no bull, it hits the bull's-eye.

Carson is a fighter; and he has the courage of his convictions. That he has business ideas is shown in the fact that he starts his campaign in a business-like manner by buying advertising space for the purpose of making his announcements just as any business man does with a legitimate message for the public. Most candidates use their money greasing political machinery and ask newspapers to carry free their publicity stuff written to boost themselves. The following letter accompanying the advertisement is characteristic of Carson: "The newspapers of the state have been doing great work in telling the truth about the Hon. Sidney J. Catts and his campaign promises, but the same cannot be said for those who have so far been candidates for governor. Circumstances, it seems to me, make it imperative as a matter of duty that I shall get into this race for the purpose of presenting to the people of Florida the issue of race-track gambling in the future for their decision. Mr. Catts is openly and boldly in favor of what he calls "county home rule," which is another way of saying "law enforcement or not, as you please." This issue was created by him in a speech in Miami on January 15th, and it has been in the press of the state since January 10th. Neither Mr. Hochwald, nor Mr.

Carlton have taken issue with him on it. Somebody must do so and my friends seem to think that on account of my fight against this evil, I am the proper one to make the fight, so I am announcing in copy which will reach you perhaps on Wednesday or Thursday.

Of course, since I am going in, I am going in to win, and I expect to win, not on account of any merits of mine, but because the people of Florida have never failed to take the right side of any moral issue which was squarely presented.

I think I can promise that the issue of race-track gambling will be squarely presented before this campaign is over.

Of course, you cannot say until you see my platform just what your attitude will be, but I hope that you will agree with the principles for which I stand, because I know that if you do I can count on your vote and support in the coming primaries.

We cannot figure out how Mr. Carson expects to make much headway at this late date. Still, a lot can be accomplished in the last sixty days of a campaign. This nation saw James G. Blaine defeated during the last thirty days of the presidential campaign, and William Jennings Bryan was defeated in the last week of the great campaign of 16 to 1. Sentiment is easily and quickly changed in some instances.

The majority of the people of Florida stand for sobriety and honesty in politics as well as in business. Men and women are preparing to vote, and the winner in particular can be depended upon to express their honest sentiments at the ballot box.

Even in Dade county where the sporting element is pretty noisy, the ballots of the law-abiding people will quietly speak a sentiment against the "county home rule" idea. Dade county is a part of Florida. The "All Florida" spirit will hardly be submerged in a doctrine as vicious as that asked by the sporting element of the Miami district and as promised by Catts as a means of getting votes.

Indeed it is an insult to the intelligence and the honor of the decent citizens of Dade county for a candidate that its citizenry is so different and so far below that of the other counties of the state that a separate law has to be made for it that will permit gambling, drinking and carousing regardless of the general laws of the state.

The decent people of Miami who love their schools, the churches, the churches and the civic clubs cannot be blamed for wanting a candidate who is outspoken and fearless in his denunciation of hypocrisy and debauchery.

Bridge Club Enjoys Party In Afternoon

An enjoyable social affair was that of Wednesday afternoon when Mrs. Lee A. Conley was hostess at her home in Franklin Terrace when she entertained the members of the Sans Souci Bridge Club.
An abundance of lovely cut flowers and ferns, with snap dragons and larkspur predominating was used with pleasing effect about the rooms where the members assembled for the games.
The afternoon hours passed all too soon with the interesting games of progressive bridge and when the games had been concluded it was found that the high score, a lemonade set, had been won by Mrs. Emmet McCall.
Tempting refreshments consisting of tomato aspic, sandwiches, saltines, strawberry short cake topped with whipped cream were served by the hostess.

Polo Writer Claims Game Has Popular Appeal Which Is Greater Than Baseball

By Bert Truesdale
Polo—the word itself, the mere mention of it, arouses our interest. There is a certain distinction, a certain fascination about Polo that is hard to define, but it grips you and holds you. Base-ball, foot-ball boxing or any other sport may have its following but sooner or later they become lukewarm with Polo never. The fascination grows and grows. Talk about golf-bugs, they are dumb compared to the Polo fanatic.
After all perhaps the solution is not so hard to deduce. Polo has, until a comparatively few years ago, always been the sport of kings and millionaires. It has been confined both from the players and spectators to the very wealthy. Admission to the international matches between England and United States which have been played every three years since 1896 has until recently been by invitation. Even last year at Meadowbrook the rates were $40 for a season ticket for three games and attendance was a brilliant social event.
Perhaps this association of wealth has lent a glamour to the game for some of us, perhaps not. Nevertheless there are millions of people here in America who are intensely interested in the game. The fact that the game is being played on horseback is the big factor that arouses our interest. We all love horses and are thrilled to see them run. In spite of automobiles, tractors and airplanes, the horse always was and always will be the universal platform upon which we all meet as one class. Nationalities, religion and everything else is forgotten when two perfect strangers meet and talk horse.
No a thousand times no, there is no mystery why Polo holds a fascination for all of us.

Health HINTS

HEMORRHOIDS AND SCALDICA
An Atlanta business man applied for a treatment last November, complaining of a severe pain in the lower part of his back, shooting down the right leg into the calf. It was throbbing in character and had remained there for a week on account of it, and when he would walk a short distance, it would become so acute that he would have to sit down or lie down, and there was no relief. He was told that he could get relief by the use of a certain ointment. Examination showed a very tight rectal sphincter, hemorrhoids, and an irritable ulcer in the rectum. This gentleman had been to practically every doctor in Atlanta including M. D. S. astrophys, chiropractors, and one doctor that treats all diseases with light through the rectum. These men were all unscientific and undoubtedly did what they thought best in this case, but all of them had overlooked the trouble which was causing the trouble. This man was told that the trouble was reflected to the leg. His case was given a trial of the treatment, the irritable ulcer was treated and hemorrhoids removed by one method of treatment. The next day the gentleman brought the report that he was feeling better, but that he was still in pain in the leg. It was able to play golf and attend to business, which he had been unable to do for some time. His treatment had been so successful that he was able to write a letter to the papers explaining his case so that others so afflicted may be benefited.
"Dr. J. C. Howell, 10 years practice in Atlanta specializing in the treatment of hemorrhoids, piles, and rectal disease, 200 W. Gore Ave., Telephone 4282. You will be surprised how quickly you will get well without loss of time from business."

Rogers Hornsby Is Given Credit For Obtaining Bell For Boston Braves Outfit

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor.
International News Service.
NEW YORK, Mar. 22.—Without straining an ocular tendon, one can see the fine, spatulate hand of Rogers Hornsby. It is the hand of a man who has been in the center of the deal, announced yesterday, whereby Lester Bell and Andy High changed into the uniforms of the Boston Braves and the St. Louis Cardinals respectively. I am aware that a mere second baseman and field captain has no particular business figuring even obscurely in an inter-club deal. Also that Hornsby had delivered eternal allegiance to Jack Slater and that sweet spirits of appearance are announcing the entire premises.

However, this is no ordinary second baseman and field captain. We are talking about Rogers Hornsby, who managed the Cardinals into a world's championship only eighteen months ago and now draws his manager almost 3 to 1 in salary. Hornsby, as aggressive and dominating as ever, is exerting a definite influence in the affairs of his new club and, if you don't think so, then there is nothing for it but you to admit that cannot pinch him a swell course.

The Bell deal may not substantiate this contention, but it certainly offers no rebuttal evidence, either. The fact of the matter is that Hornsby and Bell were mutual admirers in St. Louis and the inference is that the trade wouldn't have been made if Hornsby's interests had been elsewhere.

In nearly forty years, was the development of Pell and Flint: Rhem the fast ball pitcher. Both were and still are Hornsby men of the most devoted type.

His effect on Bell was instantaneous. From a very commonplace third baseman, he became a ranking star in 1926, not only leading sensationally but hitting close to .300. When it was all over, Hornsby was unfranked and sent to New York. Upon which, Bell blew himself to a most indifferent season, hitting down around .260 the last days of usefulness in St. Louis apparently were over.

After a twenty ball game .250 Hornsby, during the pennant year last year, a furious flop in 1927, and the Hornsby's departure had nothing to do with it. All I know is that Bell liked him and wasn't able to win last year.

Our alleged svenzali can pin down Bell to play up to his 1926 speed, the Braves are made as a ball club. If he can't, there is no particular harm done and Hornsby is an excellent second baseman and field captain.

CUBS' MANAGER BELIEVES OUTFIT MUCH IMPROVED

With Bolstered Outfield And With Best Pitchers Among Leaders Chicago Team Will Offer Strong Competition

AVALON, CATALINA ISLAND, Cal., Mar. 22.—(INS)—Reviewing the training season today, as his Chicago Cubs were making ready to break camp for the long trek East, Manager Joe McCarthy proceeded to shake hands with himself on the trade that brought Hazen "Kiki" Cuyler to the club. Cuyler, a prominent man about the bench with the Pirates last year, has been a "wow" with the Cubs to date, his hitting, fielding, and team spirit having been the outstanding feature of the Cubs' exhibition games. "I gave up a good man in Adams," McCarthy said, "but I got a better one in Cuyler. There isn't anything a great ball player can do that he hasn't done for us since reporting. He not only has been invaluable as an individual but has given much of his time and the benefit of his experience to the young players. If Cuyler hasn't strengthened the Cubs immeasurably, then I don't know what I am talking about."

The 1927 Cubs needed some strengthening, as they proved when they hit their league lead in mid-Sept. and wound up in fourth place. Bad infielding and a none too certain outfield defense completely qualified the Cubs' excellent pitching on those occasions. Cuyler's acquisition just about takes care of the outfield situation but the infield still has questions to answer before the Cubs can be rated a sure fire pennant contender. The have the pitching, the hitting, one of the best catchers in baseball, "Gabby" Hartnett, and an insidious manager who gets the best there is from the material at hand, but three of the four infield positions are far from water tight. Charley Grimm, the former St. Louis pennant vendor, is one of the ranking first basemen in the league, and may be figured to steady the other infielders not a little. But he couldn't step the Cub infielders from kicking them away last year, so the natural conclusion is that Johnny Butler, Los Angeles; Elwood English, Grandville, O.; Clyde Beck, Carlsbad, Cal.; Freddy Marquette, Worcester, Mass.; Norman McMillan, Latta, S. C.; and Elmer Vokes, Chicago, are the ones to make good strictly on their own or the club infield will fail again.

...ofhtSlabrSzfFemfwmfwfywv Beck, English, Vokes—(CQ) were regular infielders last year, which may not be much of a recommendation. English, however, was coming along as a shortstop late in the season and generally is given the edge in that position now. Marquette, once with the Giants, and McMillan, once with the Yankees, and several other clubs, are staging a great duel over Adams' former position at second base. McMillan has held the call to date but those close to McCarthy believe he regards McGuire as the better prospect.

However, there is no doubt about the fact that the infield situation is far from reassuring. The rest of the club is absolutely set. It has pitching strength second to none. Charley Root, was the league tender last year; Hal Carlson, was not far behind, John Blake, Guy Bush, Percy Lee Jones, and Bob Osborn, also contributed much toward this strength. All of them are black and so is Art Nehf, veteran,

Irish Women Form Society To Batter Modes Of Dressing

DUBLIN, Mar. 15.—(INS)—With the bringing back of Irish women to the deorum of former times its objective and the blessing of the Irish bishops behind it, the Modest Dress and Department League has been launched here. Already the League is reported to have gained a thousand members, and recruits are said to be steadily coming in.

be lower than the collar-line of the neck for church services, ordinary occasions, while the parent dress material is forbidden unless worn over a thick, front.

Ladies who join the League must refrain from immodest gures, loud laughing and talking, public and coarse and irreverent exclamations in private. Smoking among women is forbidden as being opposed to the dignity of the League. All night-dresses must not be indulged in, while another lays it down that modest costumes must be worn when a lady claims to have a special allusion of the Pope for the occasion, the promise of His Holiness bless all women joining the League.

DOCTOR BELIEVES LAUGHING MAY BE HEALTH MENACE

Common Desire Of Northern And Southern Leaders For Maintaining Tariff Autonomy May Result In Unification

CHICAGO, Mar. 22. (INS)—"Too much laughing" in the opinion of Dr. Morris Fishbein, of the Journal of the American Medical Association, is already the number of grinning Americans is appalling. It would be a terrible spectacle if continuous laughing would become a new habit.

He in his book "Laugh and Grow Fat." "It is unfortunate that the gospel of good cheer should be bolstered up by so much erroneous physiology and loose logic," Dr. Fishbein observed.

"I shudder to think of the economic and social possibilities of an epidemic of forced laughter."

Several other prominent physicians in this city have become alarmed at the impending favor of laughing as a cure-all for thinness, or what have you.

ing a telegram full of bad news," one Chicago physician remarked. "Or fancy the terrible psychological consequences that would result if a number of persons went around trying to express all the complex gamut of human emotions with an abdomen stirring cackle."

Opposition to Dr. Walsh has mounted almost to alarm.

"The alarm, however, is sounded chiefly by serious minded persons who have been contemplating, since the advent of the Walsh book, the inevitable possibilities in meeting laughter on all sides, regardless of the mood of the listener."

ideas shudder at the apparition. Need More Exercise. Dr. Walsh contended that too little exercise is had by the abdominal and chest muscles of the average individual, and that frequent laughter would provide health-giving flexing.

"The laugh is confined almost entirely to man," Dr. Walsh's book stated. "Why not prove that you are human by laughing once in a while?"

"People are too serious," one school of thoughts argues. "If people would yield to their desire to laugh, it would provide much needed relaxation in a world too busily engaged in weighty problems connected with getting-money and power."
