Hearing Officer Refuses To Reconsider FP&L Case For Geneva

By MICHEAL BEHA Herald Staff Writer

A state official has refused to hold a new hearing on Florida Power and Light's proposed corridor for a 500,000-volt transmission line through Seminole County.

Chris Bentley, director of the state's office of Administrative Hearings, told Cabinet officials Friday that he would not rehear the case, an aide to Gov. Bob Graham said today.

On Oct. 6, the Cabinet approved FP&L's proposed route from Duval County to the Seminole-Volusia County line. But the remaining 35 miles of the line through Seminole and Orange counties was referred back to Bentley for a rehearing to devise a route that bypasses Geneva.

More than 120 Geneva residents attended the Cabinet meeting to protest the route originally approved by Bentley following a February hearing. That route cut right through the Seminole County community.

A citizen's group, People Against Power Intrusion (PAPI), fought the ruling and convinced the Cabinet to consider an alternative.

That alternative is what Bentley has denied, Linda Shelley, an aide in the office of Cabinet affairs, said today.

"We're not sure of exactly what the ruling says," Ms. Shelley said. "But we know that Mr. Bentley has refused to rehear the case."

She said the written order from Bentley has not yet reached Cabinet offices so the precise reasons for Bentley's decision have not yet been revealed.

Bentley was unavailable for comment this morning.
"The Cabinet is the final authority on the siting of the line," Ms. Shelley said. "But we assume Mr. Bentley is saying the Cabinet did not have the authority to approve part of the line and remand the rest back to him for a re-hearing."

She said no comments on the effects of Bentley's action can be made until the written order is received.

"I'm sure the lawyers will have something to say about it," she said.

Sid Kraftsow, leader of PAPI, today said he had heard of Bentley's action but added, "we don't know yet what it means."

Kraftsow said if the ruling is allowed to stand, there will be some other action by PAPI to counteract it, but he wouldn't say exactly what.

Prior to the Oct. 6 meeting with the Cabinet Kraftsow threatened state officials with a lawsuit if they allowed FP&L to run its line through Geneva.

Kraftsow said the line will reduce property values and pose a health hazard to residents.

The residents had opposed the plan at the February hearing, pushing instead for a route that would take the line along Interstate 95 in Brevard County, along the route of another transmission line. But that route was rejected by Bentley, who, in August, approved the proposed corridor.

Kraftsow's group then went into action, proposing several alternatives including one which took the corridor through marshy property in Brevard County owned by the Miami Corp., a development firm which also owns property which would have been bisected by the I-95 corridor.

The other proposal would have skirted Lake Harney on the east side, traversing uninhabited property in Volusia County. But that route was rejected because of state objections to running the line over environmentally sensitive areas.

The Cabinet compromise, approved by a 3-2 vote with Gov. Graham, Secretary of State George Firestone and Comptroller Gerald Lewis supporting it, put the burden on the citizen's group to come up with a plan that crosses Seminole County to the west of Geneva.

Cabinet members said they would consider the route selected by the group at a January meeting and ordered Bentley to hold a public hearing on the plan.

FP&L's line runs from Georgia to the Poinsett Power Plant in Orange County and will be used to carry electricity from coal-fired generators in Georgia to South Florida.

Streets Receive Coating

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer

A $100,000 resurfacing of portions of 36 streets in Sanford is underway.

The project is expected to take 30 to 60 days.

Acting City Manager Steve Harriett said today the program of "slurry sealing" city streets is carried out every two years, combining funds from the budgets of the previous and current fiscal years.

The slurry seal mixture is a combination of a tar-like substance mixed with rock and applied to streets, not only to resurface but also to fill in cracks, thus extending the life of the payement.

J&B Slurry Seal Co. of Rockingham, N.C., the winning bidder for the project, is applying the coating which resembles chocolate frosting in the Dreamwold area behind Bahama Joe's Restaurant this week.

Some 266,278 square yards of the mixture is being applied to the streets in this project.

The purpose of combining the funding from two fiscal years, Harriett said, is to get a better price and more for the

Sanford Brightening Up With New Street Lights

By mid-November 383 new high pressure sodium vapor street lamps will be installed in various areas of Sanford.

This will complete the changeover of city-owned street lights from the old-fashioned mercury vapor lights to the more intensive lighting style lamps.

Other Sanford street lights, which are owned by Florida Power and Light Co. and rented to the city, are being changed over in a long-range five-year program.

The new lights which cast a yellowish glow are more intense, lighting up larger areas. These lights use less energy and thus cost the city less to operate.

Bids on the lights are to be opened by city staff Wednesday, Acting City Manager Steve Harriett said today.

month, Harriett said.

Bruce Berger, Sanford district manager of Florida Power and Light Co., said today that about 1,500 company-owned street lights are now located within the city of Sanford.

Over the past year, the first year in the five-year program, about 900 new sodium vapor lamps have been installed to replace the mercury vapor lights, Berger said.

He explained the mercury lights give off 4,500 lumens of light where the sodium vapor give off about 5,800 lumens of light, illustrating that the new lamps give off more light.

The cost to the city for the power company-owned lights is about $6.17 per month for the old style plus fuel adjustment charge and about $5.98 per month plus fuel adjustment charge for the new sodium lights.

Berger said in addition to the lights converted to the new system, as mercury vapor lights burn out, FP&L is replacing them with the new sodium style lights. — DONNA ESTES

She also was affirmed for a second term on the board of directors of the State Association of County Commissioners during its three-day meeting last week.

Seminole County's official delegate to the state association, Mrs. Glenn will be re-elected without opposition to her second term on the County Commission at the Nov. 2 general election.

Prior to running for the county commission, she served two terms on the Altamonte Springs City Commission. The state organization of planning councils represents both cities and counties in the 11 planning regions of the state.

At the State Association of County Commissioners meeting, Seminole County Administrator Roger Neiswender participated in a panel discussion on impact fees and examined contemporary development in the home construction industry.

New Workfare Plan Backed For Seminole

A pilot "workfare" program providing public service jobs for food stamp recipients will go into effect in Duval County within the next few months, the state administrator of the program said today.

Jim Clark said state officials will be

Jim Clark said state officials will be watching the program with an eye toward developing it for statewide use.

Clark hopes the workfare program, along with other programs designed to provide a positive stimulus to welfare recipients, will help reduce the welfare roll in Florida which now reaches about 11 percent of the state's population.

No decision has been made on a statewide workfare program but the director of Seminole County's food stamp office said he favors such a plan.

George Easley said he "would be in

The poor economic climate makes workfare a sensible idea, he said.

Clark said the workfare program and a job placement program being designed by the state will help people who are searching for jobs to find them.
"We're trying to integrate it with other programs," Clark said.

The placement program, if funded, will be under a contract.

"We'll hire prople with experience at placing people in jobs. There will be about 70 to 100 of them statewide," he

Clark said the program offices will stress to workers and employers that workfare is not punishment for being on welfare but training for future em-

A key part of the effort will be to retain the "dignity of the individual," Clark

A stigma is attached to people on food stamps and aid to dependent children programs, Clark said.

"People on social security don't consider themselves on the dole any more than airlines that receive aid," Clark said.

Positive reinforcement will be the key to getting welfare recipients, which not total more than I million statewide, off the welfare roll and back into the work force, he said.

Most people only get food stamps for a short time while they are between jobs, Clark said. The job placement efforts will be aimed primarily at them.

"Only 20 percent are long-term recipients," he said.

Clark said there are few alternatives available to assist the chronically unemployed. Because of that most of the department's attention is being directed toward people who already have training and just need a boost back into the work force.

"The longest walk starts with a single step," he said. — MICHEAL BEHA.

No family members were at the hospital when death came. "She was dead on arrival," hospital spokesman Tom Peck said. "She was brought to the hospital early today and pronounced dead at 4:38 a.m."

Dr. Wallace Graham, Mrs. Truman's long-time physician, said the cause of death was congestive heart fallure. He said no autopsy would be conducted, but a news conference would be held at 9 a.m. CDT to discuss details of the death. Peck said the death was related to the bleeding ulcer that recently hospitalized Mrs. Truman. At the White House, a spokesman said, "The president was saddened to learn of her death this morning."

She had suffered many close calls in recent years. Born Bess Wallace, the widow of Harry S. Truman, the 33rd

Jackson And Lober Vie For Judgeship

Two Brevard County attorneys are vying for the group 3 judgeship for the 18th Judicial Circuit (Seminole-Brevard counties) in the Nov. 2 general election.

The candidates for the non-partisan position are: Edward M. Jackson, 53, a life-long resident of Cocoa, and Jere E. Lober, 42, who received his secondary education in Orlando. The judge holding this post traditionally hears cases on a regular basis in Brevard County, sitting in Seminole Circuit Court only on special occasions. Jackson and Lober beat out Franklin D. Kelley and Eugene

Collier in the September primary for the right to square off against each other in November. Jackson was the top-vote getter in Seminole, while Lober was the high man in Brevard in that contest. In his youth, Jackson was a professional baseball player with the Sanford Giants of the old Florida State League.

He was admitted to the Florida bar in 1958. He received his bachelor's degree in business administration with honors in 1955 from the University of Florida and his law degree with honors from the university's law school in 1958.

In the Casselberry incident, a man with a stocking mask over his face entered the Pizza Inn at 209 U.S. Highway 17-92 about 3:10 p.m., approached the cashier and pulled a pistol from under a newspaper, according to a sheriff's report. The gunman forced two customers into a restroom and or-register. He pulled a platel to back up his demand and reached for the cash drawer. However, Ms. Entzminger shut the drawer before he could get to the cash, the report said. The angry gunman then struck her in the head.

About the same time, a second gunman had approached 68year-old cashler Georgia Redd with a similar note. However, she did not respond to his demand for money and was struck as well, police said.

CLEARWATER (UPI) - Police who discovered another three bottles of Lavoris mouthwash laced with acid say they are worried that "some wierdo" might poison the candy of children trick-or-treating this Clearwater Police 11. Wayne Sidbert said Sunday that the bottles of cinnamon-flavored Lavoris, spiked with hydrochloric acid, were found in addition to the one used by a tourist who burned his mouth with the acid-treated gargle Friday.

Authorities say that whoever spiked the four bottles of Lavoris, found on the shelves of an Albertson's store in nearby Belleair Bluffs, was probably copying the person(s) who laced Tylenol capsules with cyanide in the Chicago area two weeks ago.

Concordes Fly In For EPCOT

ORIANDO (UPI) - Two Concorde jets fly into Orlando International Airport today in the first-ever simultaneous landing of two supersonic transport planes.

The Air France and British Airways Concordes were scheduled to touch down on two parallel, 12,000-foot runways at 2:05 p.m.

The Concorde transported dignitaries and entertainers for the dedication of the French and British pavilions at Disney's new Epcot Center.

Reform In Sheep's Clothing?

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) - An amendment to the Florida constitution isn't the reform it seems to be, say lawyers who are scheduled to ask the Florida Supreme Court today to remove it from the Nov. 2 ballot.

The amendment would require legislators to disclose their financial records before working as lobbyists. Lawyers for Common Cause, the public interest group opposing the amendment, argue there is more to the amendment than meets the voter's eye.

They say the proposal would permit lawmakers to become lobbyists as soon as they step down from their posts, whereas the Florida Constitution already prohibits ex-lawmakers from becoming lobbyists for two years - with or without financial disclosure.

Ag Director Plane Use Okay

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has determined the Florida Forestry Division and Agriculture Department are managing federal aircraft "properly." The department conducted an audit of the aircrafts' use following charges that Doyle Connor, Florida agriculture commissioner, was using airplanes for his personal use.

"We have determined that you and your staff are managing the program and the property within the guidelines which we have provided to you. No additional action by the Forest Service is warranted, and we consider the case closed," John M. Bethea, director of the U.S. Division of Forestry, reported.

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) - The Solidarity underground urged workers to defy martial law with new strikes to protest the banning of their union and the death of a young protester who was shot by police in last week's fierce riots.

Workers at militarized facilities, having effectively been drafted into military service, could draw sentences ranging from two years in jail to death for violating military instructions.

Florida To Have Own Amtrak

Amtrak has announced it will begin daily roundtrip rail passenger service between Miami and Tampa starting Nov. 21.

The new Silver Palm train also will serve Hollywood, Ft. Lauderdale, Deerfield Beach, Delray Beach, West Palm Beach, Sebring, Winter Haven and Lakeland. Connecting bus service will be provided to Orlando from Winter Haven.

The agreement is the culmination of two years of negotiations between the state and Amtrak. The new service will make Florida the eighth state along with New York, California, Michigan, Illinois, Missouri, Pennsylvania and Minnesota — to support additional passenger rail services under Amtrak's 403(b) program. That program provides a formula for states to share train costs with Amtrak.

Amtrak also serves Florida with two long-distance interstate trains which run daily, the Silver Star and the Silver Meteor. The New York-Florida rout through Sanford is Amtrak's busiest, serving 625,600 passengers in the first 11 months of the 1982 fiscal year (October through August).

While the Star and Meteor travel overnight from New York, the new Silver Palm will require only 5 hours, 10 minutes to travel from Tampa to Miami with eight stops en route. The Silver Palm will feature Amtrak's newest equipment, Amfleet II long-distance passenger cars. Each train will consist of two coaches and one Amfleet II cafe-lounge car. Florida will become the first state to offer the 60-seat Amfleet II cars in intra-state service.

Florida's share of the costs for the new service is $718,000 which is 45 percent of the operating costs and 50 percent of the capital costs of the Silver Palm through June 30, 1963. Details of the schedules and costsharing of the dedicated bus service are being worked out.

Chancellor Falls From Power

West Germany has only had five chancellors in its history, a handful of men to whom the precious torch of democracy has passed in a land ravaged by Nazi dictatorship. Now, after the long expected but traumatic collapse of Helmut Schmidt's ruling coalition, West Germany has a new chancellor: Helmut Kohl.

Ambricans' first question is: Does the new government support the United States?

Unquestionably, The Christian Democrat party is committed to the NATO alliance, including the stationing of missiles on German soil. It is opposed to Schmidt's Social Democratic commitment to welfare and cool to Schmidt's Ostpolitik — detente with East Germany and the Soviet Union. In the short term, President Reagan can expect more official support and cooperation from the conservative Kohl than the moderate Schmidt.

The next question is: Does the change of chancellors signal a deeper political change in our German ally?

Yes, a move toward political and social polarization, but the depth and extent of that division is yet unknown. While in power, Schmidt held the Social Democrat party toward the center, resisting liberal pressure to halt deployment of missiles. Now Schmidt's party is expected to move left. As Kohl follows Washington's lead on foreign policy, America must expect larger antinuclear, anti-U.S. rallies in West Germany.

At this crossroads, a new type of political party is also brewing in West Germany: the Greens. This is a coalition of environmentalist, antinuclear, youth-oriented romantics who dream of unifying West and East Germany and feel no particular preference for either America or the Soviet Union. Schmidt fell from power because another splinter party, the Free Democrats, broke away from his party and joined the Christian Democrats. But it is the Greens who are growing in strength and influence, the Free Democrats who are losing support even as they gain power. The configuration of the politics of Germany's future is hard to see through the maze of splinter groups.

But one thing is clear, that for eight years Helmut Schmidt was the very essence of a German democratic leader: brilliant, incisive, stalwart in support of the West and progressive in reaching out toward detente with the East.

President's Behalf

Good for President Reagan. He has the world's toughest job, and when he makes public appearances he does his best to explain what's going on, bringing the American people up to date on problems and solutions. He doesn't deserve any back row brashness.

Almost always Mr. Reagan's personal demeanor is above reproach. He demonstrates warmth and control in his appearances as only a person with professional stage presence can. He comes across with honesty and forthrightness.

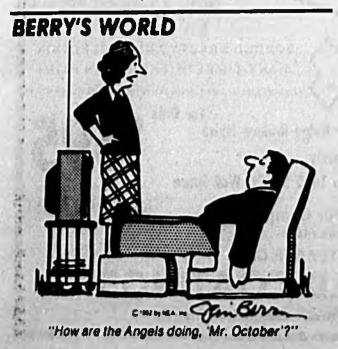

But everybody has a breaking point. Mr. Reagan reached his recently in Washington, when he told a heckler, "Shut up!" The audience, made up of Republican candidates for office, approved and later gave the president a standing ovation.

It wasn't the first time Mr. Reagan has blown his safety valve. While campaigning in San Diego for the presidency in 1980, he offered the same instruction to a harasser during a speech.

It may be a shock for some to find national leaders letting their hair down. But it happens from time to time.

Remember President Truman's pithy remark about the music critic who gave his daughter, Margaret, a bad review? Or Vice President Nelson Rockefeller's gesture of utter defiance to a pesterer? And how about Jimmy Carter's pronouncement on the chances of Sen. Edward Kennedy running against him in Carter's bid for a second term - "I'll whip his ass!"

No, we can't blame Mr. Reagan for his outburst. The heckler was rude and out of line. He got what he deserved. More power to the president.

The latest issue of the Democratic Express, the newsletter of the Florida Democratic Party, tells about Sen. Lawton Chiles' appearance before last week's meeting of state Democratic House candidates in Tallahassee.

It seems that House Speaker-designate Lee Moffitt called the candidates to Tallahassee to share some tips on election campaigns. One speaker was U.S. Sen. Lawton Chiles, D-

Democrats from the Central Florida area will be gathering Thursday at the Altamonte Springs Inn & Racquet Club, 161 N. Douglas Road, off State Road 436 and Interstate 4 for the party's "Victory '82 Dinner."

The guest speaker will be U.S. Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif. Tickets available at the door will cost $25 each. Drinks will be available from a cash bar at 7 p.m. and dinner will be served at 8

Meanwhile, a host committee which includes Mr. and Mrs. David Bludworth (Bludworth was defeated in his bid for the GOP nomination for U.S. Senator) and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Eckerd (Eckerd was an unsuccessful GOP candidate for governor a few years ago) are giving a VIP reception and a reception for state Sen. And GOP lieutenant governor candidate Lec-Callahan, running mate for L.A. "Skip" Bafalis, has returned to a full schedule of campaigning with a clean bill of health, one month after triple bypass heart surgery.

Callahan underwent heart surgery in Houston on Sept. 8 and returned to his Ft. Lauderdale home eight days later.

Sympathy From Uncle Is No Help

WASHINGTON (NEA)-"We know we are dying," said Janet C. Gorden of Cedar City, Utah. "We can see and count the cancer deaths among our families and neighbors...What we want to know is why and what can be done to help us."

The plaintive appeal came exactly one year ago, during the latest in a series of congressional hearings designed to identify what forms of medical, emotional and financial assistance can be provided to this country's civilian victims of nuclear weapons.

They are among the 180,000 to 200,000 residents of a string of small towns in southwestern Utah, northwestern Arizona and southern Nevada located downwind from the federal government's Nevada Test Site.

Since 1951, they have been subjected to radioactive fallout from nuclear weapons test. Although cancer rates in those communities are two to 10 times higher than normal, the government adamantly refuses to acknowledge any link between the two phenomena. To insure that no conclusive connecting evidence is developed, it has engaged during the past quarter of a century in a determined campaign to frustrate, thwart and discredit any reputable scientific inquiry that might produce such evidence.

Federal officials regularly offer pious expressions of sympathy for those living east of the test site who have died or become chronically ill-but they demand that the afflicted bear the impossible burden of demonstrating beyond any doubt a cause-andeffect relationship between the weapons test radiation and the abnormally high cancer rates, chromosomal damage and congenital malformations that have followed.

When the first incriminating evidence of radiation-related health problems began to surface in the mid-1960s, a senior warning that the "potential problems" posed by such medical inquiries included "adverse public reaction, lawsuits and jeopardizing the Nevada Test Site."

The AEC was not alone, however, in seeking to suppress adverse information, terminate embarrassing research projects, manipulate medical data and alter scientific studies.

Others participating in that shameful campaign have included the White House, Veterans Administration, Energy Department and Defense Department.

The list also includes many of the federal agencies that are supposed to protect the health of the country's citizens-notably the Centers for Disease Control, Public Health Service and National Cancer Institute.

Fundamental to the government's position is the claim espoused at last year's congressional hearing by Army Lt. Gen. Harry A. Griffith, director of the Defense Nuclear Agency.

Warning against any action that would "create the erroneous impression that low levels of lonizing radiation present significant hazards to health," Griffith cited "the widely held and thoroughly documented views of the scientific and medical communities" as supporting his position.

Issue: Balanced Budget

The rejection of the balanced budget amendment by the Democratic-controlled House of Representatives gives Republican candidates a highly exploitable issue this fall.

And the vote was pretty much a straight partisan-ideological vote, with the Democratic leadership and liberals opposing the amendment, and most Republicans and conservatives backing it.

Of course we have all been hearing the various arguments for and against the amendment in recent weeks, but the essence of the matter is not complex at all.

The amendment would stiffen the resistance of Congress to the demands of special interest groups.

Some argue that the proposed amendment would strait-jacket the budgetary process by placing an arbitrary ceiling on expenditures. It is argued, too, that in times of recession federal deficits are desirable in that they stimulate the economy.

Some say the amendment would be a crippling factor in wartime. But under the proposed amendment, a majority of twothirds could raise the ceiling — and it is hard to believe that in the event of some catastrophe like a prolonged recession or the outbreak of a major war such a two-thirds vote would be difficult to muster.

No, those arguments are a smoke screen. The real argument here is between the liberals, who desire more and more government spending for social programs, and Reagan-style conservatives who want to cut back these programs and expand the role of the private sector.

The balanced budget would put on the spenders the onus of raising taxes to pay for the programs they desire, and raising taxes is always politically unpopular.

The liberal spenders would far rather vote for the programs, run up the deficit, and pay for it all by means of the hidden taxation of the resulting inflation.

Using that approach, they excuse themselves from going on the record to raise taxes. and they still get their social programs. But in doing so they cheapen the currency and also raise your taxes through "bracket creep."

In theory, to be sure, Congress could discipline itself fiscally. It could refuse to vote in the programs, and live within its

That is the way the Constitution is supposed to work - only it no longer does. An array of special interests in the nation have become so powerful that Congress all too frequently bends to their desires. It is the rare congressman, for example, who has the courage to risk being called education" by the powerful education lobby, or an "enemy of the poor" by the powerful welfare lobby, or an "enemy of the farmer" by the powerful agricultural lobby.

As Theodore H. White observes in his excellent new book "America in Search of Itself," the United States has become increasingly a nation of special interest groups demanding federal entitlements and powerful enough to get them.

One vote against the amendment was cast by Rep. Jack Kemp, a conservative, and his vote seems to me to have been an eccentric one. Rep. Kemp argued that the balanced budget amendment might result in raising taxes in order to comply with the amendment - and, of course, Kemp has been consistently for lowering taxes.

It seems to me unlikely to have had any auch effect. Rather, it would deter Congress from voting for expensive programs, because Congress would know that it would have to raise the taxes to pay for them. With all due respect to Kemp, who has performed very great public service by championing tax cuts, the last thing Congress really wants to do is raise the taxes necessary to pay its way.

Republicans this fall should take the issue and run with it. They should hammer in the point that this amendment is about federal spending, and that the liberals are the big

Law Firms Are Facing

LOS ANGELES (NEA) - The practice of law in the United States is experiencing a period of great change: While small law firms are being hit by hard times, larger firms are going "multi-jurisdictional" - shaking off their one-city limits and opening offices nationwide.

Traditionally, law firms even the very largest, with 100 or more partners-have been rooted in a single city: No matter what its size, a practice was a "New York firm" or a "Chicago firm" or a "Los Angeles firm." When a client's business required representation outside that city, the matter was farmed out to a distant firm.

But in the last five years, there has been an almost explosive growth of multijurisdictional law firms—those with offices in more than one city. Most experts on law practice agree that the multi-city firm is the wave of the future.

A textbook example of this kind of firm is Finley, Kumble, Wagner, Heine and Undenberg. Six lawyers founded it 14 years ago in New York City, and today it is perhaps the fastest-growing law firm in the United States, with offices in New York, Los Angeles, Washington and Miami. The Los Angeles office alone has 65 lawyers, and its managing partner, Marshall Manley, has some strong views on how law firms must be structured if they are to most effectively serve their clients and thus prosper.

"More and more, a firm's quality clients are national in scope," says Manley. "What they are demanding from their attorneys is a uniformity of representation wherever they are doing business, on as economical a basis as possible. Even the biggest clients are costconscious these days, and rightly so.

"The only way a law firm can really guarantee a client quality representation," he says, "is to have offices in all major cities where its clients have business. That way standards can be assured and economies passed on to the client."

Most experts agree that this trend to socalled "national" law firms will accelerate over the next five to 10 years as single-city firms begin to lose business to the multijurisdictional firms. The single-city firms will have to open branches out of economic selfinterest.

But Manley cautions that there is a right way and a wrong way for a law firm to expand

"You can't just send one of your partners out and tell him to go open an office," he says. "Law is practiced differently in every jurisdiction. A firm must be involved in the local community and have a back-ground in the community.

"The best way to expand is to go into a new community and find an established lawyer, the best one around, and bring him into the firm and let him establish the new office," says Manley. "Here in Los Angeles, we started four years ago with a single lawyer, me, and now we have just hired our 65th. We've had to expand our offices seven times in four years.

"In all our cities, our lawyers have a deep understanding of the local community, but the standard of the law we practice is uniform from office to office."

Which Hands Should Stay

WASHINGTON-Party politics, with all its emotions and harangues and over simplifications, has taken over the economic debate. The choice, if the political rhetoric is to be accepted, is between the Republicans' trickle-down theories and the Democrats' siphon-off practices.

Anyone who has ever attended a night session of the Senate, or who has noticed the unnerving glitter in the eyes of a congressman as he propounds his latest panacea, or who has acrutinized the gang hanging around the reception room of a party leader, might worry.

For political solutions, invariably more expedient than efficient, have brought us to our present economic state. President Reagan's latest remedies—tight money, tax cuts and free-market measures, all wrapped up in a package called Reaganomics—started off in the clouds but lost altitude rapidly.

The supply-side theoretics didn't bring the promised prosperity, but, rather, caused the economy to plunge deeper into recession. If the inflation rate has also slowed, it has been caused by a weakened economy, not by the healthy free market that Reegan envisioned.

Our conservative president rejected the "countercyclical stabilization policies" that past presidents have used for 40 years to maintain high employment and keep prices stable. What this profound phrase means is that Reagan's predecessors managed the economy by manipulating fiscal and monetary levers.

Reagan disdained the monetary machinery and decided to let the marketplace take care of itself. His theory was that the economy would run more smoothly if the government's monkeywrenches were removed from the machinery. But some of the wrenches, in turns out, were needed to repair the wheels.

It is the genius of the free economy that it does not require the innovator to secure the permission of organized society to launch his schemes. If he can get a few gambiers to bankroll him, he is on his way - free to create, if he can.

If he succeeds, the rewards can be spectacular, and society will share in the gain. If he fails, only he and his improvident backers are the losers.

But it has become increasingly difficult to get an innovative proposal, or even an old routine one, through the layers of bureaucracy that have accumulated in the past 40 years. Just about every private enterprise of any consequence has become ensnarled in government red tape.

The problem is this: How much government intervention is necessary to protect the public from the harebrained schemes and grasping hands of private entrepreneurs? But how much government interference discourages free enterprise and results in stagnation?

SEE NO EVIL: How can any president, with the best will in the world, crack down on waste and corruption in the federal government if top bureaucrats ignore misconduct? The answer is simple: He can't.

High officials of the Energy Department have known for more than a year that a printing specialist was moonlighting at a northern Virginia printing company that was doing work for the department. Alerted to this potential conflict by conscientious employees, the bureaucrats did nothing to clear it up.

The employee is now under investigation by a grand jury on charges of funneling government printing contracts to his private employer and taking kickbacks for his efforts. High officials have been called to testify before the grand jury.

The situation is also being investigated by the Energy Department's inspector general, the Government Printing Office's inspector general and the Postal Service's mail-fraud

Top Energy officials have either denied they knew about the allegations of misconduct or refused to comment. The Justice Department attorney who is presenting the case to the grand jury refused to confirm or deny the charges. But my associate John Dillon got the story from Energy Department sources and grand jury witnesses, all of whom asked that their names not be used.

According to these sources, the employee got thousands of dollars' worth of government printing business for his compnay in violation of regular bidding procedure. On at least one occasion, according to one source, he actually did printing work on Energy Department presses, usen packaged the stuff in his company's boxes and billed the government for the job.

The man in charge of the department's management division, and ultimately responsible for the printing operation, is Assistant Secretary William Heffelfinger. Though he's been in hot water on various occasions. Heffelfinger, a career bureaucrat, has managed to survive under both Democratic and Republican administrations.

He claimed to know nothing about the case until my associate called. "I don't know a thing about it," he said. "This is the first I've Told of Heffelfinger's denial, a source who testified before the grand jury said, "I told

According to sources, other Energy officials were also informed of the conflict of interest more than a year ago, but, like Heffelfinger, did nothing to resolve the

Last Loss Painful For Posey

Seminole High's Jerry Posey is the most cooperative football coach a sports writer would hope to meet. He always returns his phone calls and is an interesting topic whether he wins or loses.

After the Tribe's fifth straight loss Friday, however, even the amiable Tribe "Chief" was having trouble putting the sentences together. It was evident that this loss — a 27-7 stunner to DeLand - hurt, maybe as much as any inflicted in Posey's successful career.

It hurt because Posey was confidently counting it as Seminole's first win this year. It hurt because Posey, whose Sanford teams have won the district three of the past five years, is not accustomed to losing, much less locing five in a row and being without a victory at the midway point of the season.

"I looked at three teams on the game films," said Posey last week. "And the way we played for three quarters against Apopka, I didn't see any reason why we couldn't beat all three of them." The teams were The Seminoles, however, didn't play like they did when rolling up 315 yards on the ground against the Five Star's top team. They played like they did against Edgewater, a 36-14 disaster.

The Tribe lost, 27-7. And when is the last time a Poseycoached team only rushed for 104 yards? The loss of the county's leading rusher - Rendell Manley was evident from the outset. Ron Burke, Tim Lawrence and Jo Jo McCloud are all solid backs, but they do not combine the speed, quickness and power which Manley does.

Manley has a broken bone in his foot. He's wearing a flexible cast and walking with a cane. He may be available for the Tribe's final twogames.

Youth continues to plague Seminole also. This was expected since only four starters returned from last year's championship team. Twice on touchdown passes by Terry Nettles, defenders stepped up too soon for the interception. Defensively, senior Harold Gaines and junior Marvin Pringle turned in solid games. Gaines tackled DeLand ball carriers behind the line of scrimmage for losses totaling 20 yards. Pringle was involved in nine tackles, one resulting in a loss.

But where are those quick defensive linemen who made coach Dave Mosure's defense so successful last

Lake Howell's conference and district hopes suffered a serious setback last Thursday with a 15-0 loss to Mainland. Howell lost five starters in the first half which didn't make the task any easier. The Silver Hawks, 2-1 in the Five Star, take on surprising 2-0 Spruce Creek at home Friday.

Also Friday, coach Bill Scott's 1-1 Lyman boys are in a "must-win" situation at home against Apopks. The Blue Darters are 3-0 in the Five Star and a victory against the 'Hounds could spur them to a championship.

An interesting mismatch Friday will pit Lake Mary against Oviedo. Coach Jack Blanton's Lions are tuning up for a strong finish after whipping Leesburg, 35-21.

A good insurance man could make a killing this week at Lake Mary. Blanton will hold the score down because that's coaching etiquette, but the Lions are looking forward to this one. Why do you think J.W. Yarborough sat out the second half after playing the second quarter on a sprained ankle?

Oh, there's no truth to the rumor UCF's schedule maker and Lake Mary's are related.

Yount, Defense Too Much For Cards

Monday, Oct. 18, 1982-5A

ST. LOUIS (UPI) - Robin Yount knows if the Milwaukee Brewers take first inning, doubled to build a run in the care of business, statistics and awards will take care of themselves.

"I'm not out to break any records," Yount said Sunday, after pulling Milwaukee to within one victory of a championship with a recordsetting four Bobby Richardson and the Cardinals' hits in the Brewers' 6-4 decision over the Lou Brock. St. Louis Cardinals.

Milwaukee led, 3-2, when Yount began finishing off the job with his homer. Then with St. Louis relief ace Bruce Sutter pitching the eighth, the Brewers added two insurance runs.

"I used him tonight because I wanted to stay close and take a shot at it," Herzog said of his decision to bring in Sutter. The move backfired and the two runs the Cardinals scored in the ninth left known about it," said Tenace. "The ball them short.

The Cardinals had 18 base-runners in Game 5 of the series, but could score only four runs. The Cards had 15 hits, drew two walks and reached on an Milwaukee error. But the Cardinals lost a manstealing hit into a double play and left 12 runners on, including the tying runs in the ninth inning.

The Cardinals head home to St. Louis knowing they must win the next two games in order to be world champions. Rookie John Stuper will start for St. Louis in Tuesday night's game.

Keith Hernandez, who ended an 0-15 slump with three hits and two RBI, said the Brewer defense caused the Cardinals' problems.

"We hit the ball right at them and they made some good defensive plays," said first baseman Hernandez, who reached base four times. "When we had men on base, we were hitting them right at

The Cardinals stranded at least one runner in each inning and had the tying runs on base with one out in the ninth. But Willie McGee, who had hit two homers in St. Louis' victory in Game 3 Friday night. struck out on three pitches and pinchhitter Gene Tenace, who batted for Ken Oberkfell who also had three hits, flied to left to end the game.

"If I had gotten all of it, you would have got in on me."

Even before the ninth, the Cardinals had a chance to tie or take the lead in the seventh inning. Trailing 3-1, St. Louis George Hendrick, who also had three hits and two RBI, drove in a run to close the gap to 3-2. But Darrell Porter was robbed of a hit on a diving stop by Milwaukee first baseman Cecil Cooper, who threw to Caldwell to nail Porter.

"Yes, I thought it was a hit, but he made one heckuva play," said Porter. As was the case in the Cardinals' loss in Saturday's fourth game, their defense and relief pitching faltered. Starter Bob Forsch threw wildly on a pickoff play, allowing Milwaukee to have runners on second and third with one out. Ted Simmons followed with an infield out that scored Robin Yount.

Forsch, who was also the loser in Game 1, said he threw the ball well. He denied the Cardninals would be returning home down.

"We could've hung our heads and died out there," Forsch said. "But we got two runs in the ninth, we don't die. We're going home and we've won two games in a row a lot of times this year."

While St. Louis ace Joaquin Andujar could be used in the sixth game, Herzog said he would stay with Stuper to face Milwaukee's Don Sutton.

when Sandra Brausch led a near-perfect performance in the DeLand Invitational. Orange Park claimed the first, third, fourth, fifth and eighth places to total 17 points. Fifteen is a perfect score. Only Spruce Creek's Carmen Gardner interrupted the Parker's party, but her second place didn't figure in the scoring since she is the Creek's only runner and five are needed for a team score.

Sandra Brausch toured the two miles in 11:20.1 to edge Gardner by a little over four seconds. Sister Sonja Brausch (11.38.4) was third while Sherri Rahm (11:45) was fourth, Loretta Simeon was fifth and Betty Lancontoure (12:14.1) was eighth.

"They are awesome," said Lyman girls coach Joe Laughlin whose Greyhounds led a powerful Seminole County showing by placing fourth. Lake Brantley, again minus Ellen Stern. was fifth and Lake Howell was seventh.

Lake Brantley's Kathryn Hayward was the top county finisher with a 12th place in 12:17. Her sister Joanne was 28th in 12:52.

Schowonda Williams paced the Greyhounds with a 20th spot in 12:34.8. Michelle Schindler (39th, 13:07.3), Donna Kilbourne (41st, 13:11), Cindy Gaskell (50th, 13:32.6) and Angle Dilello (62nd, 13:50.4) followed her home.

"Lake Brantley might have beat us with Stern," said Laughlin, "But we still ran a strong race. The first quarter mile is straight and wide open and there's a tendency to take off real fast.

"But we ran in a controlled pack and it paid off for us," he added.

In 3A, Lake Mary had its two usual standouts — Derek Tangeman and Kim Averill. Tangeman, coached by Mark McGee, turned in a 16th place out of 160 runners. He cruised the three miles in 16:11. Averill, a sophomore, was 19th out of 170 girls with a 12:45 two mile.

Niceville took the boys title. In the 4A boys, Brian Jaeger turned in a sizzling 14:30 three mile to ease to a 29.3 second victory over Billy Convey of

St. Pete Catholic won the girls 3A while

Ransom Everglades. Convey, for some reason, was allowed to run the 4A race despite Ransom being a 2A school. His effort to best Jaeger came up considerably short, but he did cost Lake Howell's Kenny Cheeseman a runnerup position as the Silver Hawk junior was next in 15:11. Lyman's Doug McBroom was ninth in 15:55.

Edgewater easily won the boys race with 119 points to J.I. Leonard's 163. Lyman had the best county finish at ninth with 200 points.

Greyhounds' Brian Hunter (21st, 16:23), Carl Schmalmaack (62nd, 17:04), Jon Natale (90th, 17:34) and Wayne Straw (91st, 17:35) were next in line.

tley's 33 points edged Lake Howell's 38 (14th, 14:46) and Kim Nutt (16th, 14:49) points to the title. Lyman, led by Christine Gigicos' eighth place (15:00) finished third with 75 points. Vaun Tachieder (11th, 15:17.2), Lori Ford (13th, 15:23.3), Melissa Sheppard (18th, 15:33.1) and Robin Wilbur (25th, 16:11.9) were next for the 'Hounds.

In the JV boys, Jacksonville Ribault ran its varsity team and tripped Orange Park (102) and Lyman (103) with 70 points. Pat Bell (7th, 17:44) had the best finish for the Greyhounds. Steve Grundorf (16th, 18:25), Tim Felecetti (22nd, 18:28), Barry Forrest (24th, 18:32) and Todd Kehrer (34th, 18:58) finished next for Lyman.

Although Trinity Prep didn't compete in the DeLand meet, coach George Austin's boys and girls picked up a pair of individual titles in the Clewiston Invitational Friday.

Sophomore Tommy Matthews (16:31) won the boys meet as the Saints were edged by Berkley Prep. 53-47. Brandon Peters (ninth, 17:50), David Green (11th, 17:50), Jamie Vierling (15th, 18:18) and Scott Urrichio (17th, 18:23) completed the Trinity five.

Freshman Adrienne Politowics claimed the girls title in 12:40 as the Lady Saints nipped Boca Raton for Westminster, 44-46, for the championship. Eighth grader Katie Sams (third, 13:00), Valdet, Coral Park 15:59.

were next in line.

Twenty-three schools competed in the A-AA meet.

Tonight at Lyman, the county schools will compete in the Postal Run. The boys ! and girls varsity will run two miles and added up the times to determine the winner. The times are then entered against other schools nationwide.

Knights Tumble, 31-10

Herald Sports Editor

Third down. In football, the difference between winning and losing. Alabama A & M converted its third down situations Saturday night at the Tangerine Bowl in Orlando and the University of Central Florida didn't.

The result - a 31-10 Alabama A & M victory before 6.654 fans. The loss was the sixth straight for UCF without a win.

"They did a phenomenal job on their third down conversions," said UCF coach Sam Weir. "We made crucial mistakes on third down and on short yardage situations."

Although A & M out-converted the Knights in third downs, it took just one down - the opening kickoff - to establish Alabama's superiority on the scoreboard.

Glenn Farris gathered in Scott Ryerson's kickoff on his three-yard line and sped in and out of the Knight return team 97 yards for a touchdown. Joey Malone's extra point put UCF into a 7-0 hole before most of the crowd had settled into its seats.

The Knights bounded right back, but the first of those crucial third-down failures forced Ryerson to kick an 18yard field goal when the Knights came up short at the one-yard line.

"That was my decision," said Weir about taking the field goal over going for the TD on fourth and one. "I thought it would be better to come away with something than nothing."

Weir turned out to be quite prophetic as the next two times the Knights were inside the 10-yard line they came away with zilch, although the score at the time indicated a field goal was meaningless.

"We just don't have the personnel to line up against people like A & M and punch it over inside the 10," said Weir. "They were just too physical for us."

A & M tacked on 10 points in the second quarter on a one-yard TD run by Reginald Gibson and a 41-yard field goal by Malone for a 17-3 halftime lead. Gibson ran over and around the UCF defenders all night for 87 yards. He picked up another 35 yards in pass receptions.

Although a 21-point loser on the scoreboard, the Knights did have one more first down (21-20) than A & M and weren't too far behind in total yards (382-301). Weir attributed this offensive revival to his three-headed quarterback - Dana Thylsen, Raymond Agee and Jamle Lugo.

Alternating the "DanaRayJalme" throughout the game, the trio responded for 218 yards on 21 of 42 attempts. There were just two interceptions, a far cry from last week's record six by the Dana component.

Lugo, the head which runs the best, pulled the Knights within 24-10, with a four-yard scamper on an option around the left side with 14:18 left to play. The touchdown was set up when Greg Richards covered a fumbled punt at the Alabama 13.

"I was very satisfied with our three quarterback system," said Weir who picked up on the idea after watching Bethune-Cookman shuttle a trio past the Knights last week. "It'll get all three of these guys ready for the future." One of those two interceptions closed the lid on UCF for the night, however, when Ken Thomas picked off an Agee toss with 5:20 to play. The touchdown came on the next play as Ananias Harris popped a 20-yarder to Reginald McGary.

While the Knight offense seems to be finding itself, the defense appears to be regressing. It yielded 31 points to go with last week's 40 for 71 in two games. "That's two games in a row we've moved the ball but broke down defensively," said Weir. "When one's up the other's down." Alabama A&M 7 10 7 7-31

Gators Make West Texas Pay For Problems, 77-14

United Press International

Problems, problems and more problems besieged the Florida Gators in the last month and West Texas State to Alabama A&M. wound up paying for them.

The 19th ranked Gators burled the Division I-AA Buffaloes 77-14 Saturday, rebounding from two straight losses, a couple of squad-member defections and a drunkenness charge against defensive lineman John Whitaker that was later dropped.

In other games Saturday, Florida State (5-1) did a similar number on East Carolina, 56-17, and Miami (5-2) shifted its ground game into gear with a 34-14 victory over Mississippi State.

Florida A&M (4-2) stopped Albany State 48-0, Bethune-Cookman (5-2)

dropped a 32-24 decision to Morris Brown and Central Florida is still looking for its first victory after six games, losing 31-10

Both Miaml and Florida State are idle next Saturday, as they prepare for their showdown against each other Oct. 30. Florida (4-2) also has an open date and is home to Auburn the following weekend.

Florida A&M is home to Alcom State Saturday afternoon, Bethune-Cookman is Defensive coordinator Joe Kines at Tennessee State and Central Florida is at Nicholls State.

> Florida Coach Charley Pell said he "felt badly" about gaining the Gator record 783 yards and scoring 77 points. He also made a point of saying the Gators played 64 plays against West Texas State, and Buffalo Coach Don Davis had no complaints.

In Miami, it was the newfound running game and the absence of a passing game that provoked most of the comment. The 20th rated Hurricanes rolled up 283 yards rushing to only 19 in the air as quarterback Mark Richt completed only three of 14 passes for 19 yards.

Fred Akers had the privilege of coaching Earl Campbell when the former Texas All-America set the Southwest Conference single-season rushing mark. Next Saturday, Akers will coach against the man determined to set the new one.

The highlight of Dickerson's standout performance was a dazzling 62-yard TD run as he dashed past SMU Coach Bobby Collins, tightroping the sidelines.

Dickerson raised his 1982 rushing total to 1,001 yards.

All-Star Game Lacks Luster

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Some NFL owners said the first of 19 scheduled NFL Players Association All-Star games couldn't or wouldn't be done, but players said they were pleased with the results, despite a lackluster showing by the fans.

Washington Redskins' place-kicker Mark Moseley booted three field goals Sunday, including a 45-yard game winner with 1:01 left to lead the National Conference East to a 23-22 win over the American Conference East in the inaugural All-Star game.

A crowd of only 8,760 showed up at the 55,000-seat RFK Stadium, but the players hardly seemed to care. There were no injuries, the game wasn't decided until the final minute and, above all, the game was played. "We're not trying to start a new revolution, but

Rams' Spirit Inspires 'Bucket Of Bolts'

What a great way to spend a Friday night. For $4.50 a student could get a ticket to the Lake Mary-Melbourne football game and a seat on the "rambling wreck" of Lake Mary High, better known as the spirit bus. Of course, there was no guarantee the bus would make it to Melbourne and back without breaking

Before the excursion to Melbourne began though, one of the faculty members on the bus had to call role. That was the first time I had to say "here" since 1979 when I was a senior in high school. At my high school the spirit bus was also known as the "morgue on wheels."

The first question I was asked by the attractive young lady sitting next to me was, "do you go to Lake Mary?" First the roll call, then that question, I was beginning to think that overnight or something, I had been transformed into a 17-year-old high school student. But I guess that's the way you should feel when the team all the way. surrounded by a super bunch of students who are a credit to Lake Mary High.

Anyway, the bus may have been lacking mechanically (it sounded and ran the way I felt after a long Saturday night, but it wasn't lacking in spirit. Especially when you consider the driver's nickname was "Mr. Spirit," whose duty it was to get the bucket of bolts to Melbourne and back and act like he was having a good time doing it. There is a big difference between the

A few of the Rams' cheerleaders gave me the words to one of their cheers which all I can remember is "sardines and pork & beans." Lake Mary's cheerleaders were a very spirited group and supported take the snap. But he was mystified when he signaled for the ball and nothing came up, then he was as embarrassed as one can get when he realized he had lined up behind the guard instead of the center.

The big question after the game had ended was, "Is the bus going to make it or will we be stranded in the middle of nowhere."

That reminded me of an incident at Springstead. One of our so called spirit buses stalled somewhere in Citrus County after the football team had lost by its traditional score of 63-0.

When we all filed out it seemed the bus was smoking, it was on fire. "We were cold so we lit a fire in the back," a student proclaimed. Fortunately, all the people riding the Lake Mary bus were pretty intelligent and none were pyromaniacs. During the ride home, most of the Lake Mary entourage was torn between young race driver Ken Copley, who took the speedway's Rookie of the Year Honors for the street stock division in 1981, drove the L.W. Copley, whose Ford Thunderbird is powered by a 351 cu. in. Cleveland motor, lost no less than six engines earlier this season. But a recent phone call to Winston Cup Grand National car owner Bud Moore supplied the solution to the team's "How to get the engine's bottom end to stay together" problem and that did it for Copley who went on to score the biggest win of his career.

Finishing second was Pete Starr, who really did it the hard way, as he had to restart last no less than four times and had to replace two flat tires.

U.S. Industry Production At 1977 Levels

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Factory production took another recession tumble in September, falling 0.6 percent in the most severe cut in output since May, the Federal Reserve said.

The Fed's index of factory output, at 137.3, fell back beyond the 1980 recession to show American industry at its lowest level of activity since April 1977.

Output of equipment used by manufacturers and builders and other businesses fell 1.6 percent in September, the latest sign that the ongoing erosion in economic demand had reached far back into the production process.

The figures showed business equipment output has dropped 18.3 percent in the past year, despite the generous tax incentives granted by Congress in 1981 for "supplyside" business investment.

Auto assembly rates showed no change from the previous month's annual rate of 5.5 million units, the Fed said, while light truck and van assembly fell off.

Overall consumer goods output stayed at August's level.

Durable goods production, including automobiles and machinery, was down 0.5 percent in September for the second consecutive monthly loss.

Production of non-durables, generally for immediate use or consumption, was up a slight 0.1 percent to resume the growth of the past several months interrupted only by an August drop of 0.2 percent.

Industrial production dropped 0.5 percent in August after showing 0.1 percent growth in August.

As usual, the only major category of production that showed any substantial increase was that for defense and space, up 0.8 percent to make the past year's increase a full 7 percent.

Materials production, which accounts for about 40 percent of the total index, was off 0.8 percent, "reflecting a sharp reduction in durable materials, particularly in parts for consumer goods and for equipment," the Fed report said.

Early Treatment Of Mild Hypertension Key To Preventing Future Problems

BOSTON (UPI) — Many of the 32 million Americans with high blood pressure may be increasing their risk of fatal strokes or heart disease by ignoring mild hypertension in the early stages, government researchers said today.

Their five-year study, published in the New England Journal of Medicine, showed patients with mildly elevated diastolic blood pressure levels put on a program of diuretics and bloodpressure drugs had a 20 percent lower death rate than patients referred to their private doctors, who often do not treat mild hypertension.

"Therefore, any attempt to reduce substantially excess mortality from cardiovascular disease ... due to elevated diastolic blood pressure must include emphasis on the group with so-called mild hypertension," the study said. The research, conducted by the National Heart, Lung and

Blood Institute in Bethesda, Md., examined nearly 11,000 Americans regarded as "mildly hypertensive" — those with blood pressures ranging from 90mm to 104mm. Doctors are more likely to treat only patients with diastolic pressures of 105mm and above, the study said. The diastolic pressure is the second, lower figure given in a blood pressure The researchers found patients, many already suffering heart damage, who were taking anti-hypertensive drugs had 20.3 percent fewer deaths and heart-related diseases during the study.

Those patients who had no evidence of previous heart damage and were receiving no such drugs when the study began had 28.6 percent fewer deaths.

The American Heart Association estimates 32.5 million Americans suffer from either high diastolic pressure or systolic pressure — the upper figure on a blood pressure reading. A total of 30,600 victims died in 1979, the most recent figures available, the association said.

If doctors are to cut the death rate of high blood pressure sufferers, the study said, they must attack the group of mild hypertensives because most people are in that range and, therefore, more deaths are in that group.

"The present data suggest if maximal reduction in mortality Is to be achieved, the goals for anti-hypertensive therapy need to be critically re-examined," it said. "These findings support a recommendation that in patients with mild hypertension, treatments should be considered early, before damage to end

The 10,940 people, 30 to 69 - recruited from 14 U.S. cities were divided into two groups and followed for five years. Half were referred to their physicians, who were told the patients suffered from hypertension. Judgment on treatment was left to the doctors.

Olvera Quits Council To Challenge Mayor Sorenson

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer

Saying it's "time for a change," Lake Mary Councilman Vic Olvera resigned his City Council seat late Monday afternoon to run for mayor in the Dec. 7 city election. His resignation is effective Friday.

This move opens up a fourth council seat in that election. Two of the seats - those held by Ken King and Dick Fess - will be for two-year terms while the seats held by Olvera and Councilman Gene McDonald, who has resigned effective Oct. 30, will be for the remaining one year in each man's term.

McDonald two weeks ago announced his resignation to accept a position with a Huntsville, Ala, firm. Although he first set his resignation effective date for Oct. 15, he later changed it to Oct. 30. "to clear up loose ends" before he leaves the area.

Olvera, who had been saying for months he would run for mayor against four-term incumbent Walter Sorenson, put off a final decision until Monday.

He also said he will formally qualify for the mayor's office Friday.

The candidate qualifying period ends in Lake Mary at noon Oct. 29.

In announcing his resignation, Olvera said he wanted to give prospective candidates for his office time to make a decision prior to the qualifying deadline. "I think that's only fair," he said.

Mental Health Worker Quits

The executive director of the Seminole County Mental Health Center said today he admires the convictions of a worker at the center who has resigned because of management disagreements.

Dr. George Lindenfeld said the employee, John Rape, community support program manager at the center, "has his convictions. If he felt he had to leave because of them, I admire him for that.'

Lindenfeld said the agency under his management is "open." Employees are free to comment on the operations within the center or to the public If they choose, he said. Rape submitted a letter of resignation which spelled out "vast differences in philosophy of management" and outlined problems within the center. Rape is the second manager to resign from the mental health center since August.

The letter said the center is "rapidly failing to meet our mandate of serving the public." Rape said in his programs, which serve the chronically, emotionally disabled, six employees serve 600 clients.

managers from being effective and makes a mockery of the chain of command." The letter continues, claiming administrative and computer costs are "draining the center financially and if not corrected will ultimately cripple the center."

Lindenfeld and the mental health center directors have complained that budget cuts from federal and state funds have forced program cuts. Since 1980, the center's staff has been reduced from 112 to 60.

The Omega Workshop, which rehabilitated mentally disabled clients, and the Alpha House, a home for the mentally disturbed, were closed for lack of funds. In that two-year period Lindenfeld's salary climbed from $33,000 to $41,000. The letter states that mismanagement, not funding cuts, are to blame for problems at the center. "A management posture that has created one crisis after another, all of which has been blamed on shortage of funding...The blame should be placed where it belongs, with mismanagement," the letter reads. Rape's letter also charges that morale at the center has declined because of management paranola.

Four staff members, including Rape, a four-year employee, were suspended following the resignation of Outpatient Services Director David Fleischmann in August.

The investigation following Fleischmann's resignation was "a headhunting mission born out of paranola. This is the latest in a series of actions that have caused disruptions at the center from serving clients and has caused staff to become preoccupled with job survival rather than job productivity," the letter states.

Lindenfeld agreed there are problems in the agency but he insisted they are caused by funding cuts. -MICHEAL BEHA

Two Genevas To Fight Over Power Line

By MICHEAL BEHA Herald Staff Writer

It's going to be West Geneva versus East Geneva in the battle over the route of Florida Power & Light Company's 500,000-volt transmission line through Seminole County.

A group of West Geneva residents will meet at 7 tonight at the home of Millie Gilbert on Mullet Lake Road to organize opposition to a

But Cardenas said today, "There is only one basic corridor that's west of Geneva and east of Lake Jessup. That's what FP&L and the state Department of Environmental Regulation have approved."

Cardenas said many of the people who will be affected by the switch are people who have purchased property in developments and plan to use them as retirement homes. "Those people currently live out of the area

Flag Conviction Upheld...With An Unusual Dissent

WASHINGTON (UPI) - An unsuccessful appeal by two communists of an American flag burning conviction revealed one Supreme Court justice in favor of striking down the law that prohibits the desecration of Old Glory. Justice William Brennan, a staunch free speech defender, asserted Monday that the Constitution protects even the right to burn a U.S. flag to express a political statement. In an eight-page explanation, Brennan said he thinks the court should declare unconstitutional the law that prohibits "knowingly casting contempt upon any flag of the United States by publicly mutilating, defacing, defiling, burning and trampling upon it."

Brennan made his views known in a dissent from his colleagues' decision to reject an appeal by Teresa Kime and Donald Bonwell, who were sentenced to eight months in prison for setting fire to an American flag during a protest in Greensboro, N.C., in March 1980. Ms. Kime and Bonwell burned the flag as protest, which was staged in part to advertise an upcoming political demonstration and also to protest the prosecution of a party leader. Brennan, agreeing with the protesters' attorneys, concluded the law violated the protesters' rights to free political expression.

The justice also argued that the law "con-part of a Revolutionary Communist Party and simple."

"Under this statute," Brennan stated, "one may freely burn, mutilate, or otherwise abuse a flag for any reason in the world, except for the purpose of stating a contemptuous political message about the flag and what it stands for.

"This censorship goes to the heart of what the First Amendment prohibits," he said.

However, Brennan was unable to convince the three other justices needed to grant review to the case. It was the third time the high court has rejected challenges to the federal flag-stitutes overt content-based censorship, pure burning statute.

Attorney John Kernodle, representing Kime and Bonwell, said once he gets a copy of the court action, his two clients will go to prison. He said, however, he plans to ask for a reduction of sentence.

Although disappointed by the court's decision, Kernodle was heartened by Brennan's comments.

"I believe that history will prove Justice Brennan correct and this is another example of the tradition ... where the dissenting opinion represents the best qualities of American jurisprudence.'

Cuba-U.S. Bank Nationalization Dispute To Be Reviewed

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Supreme Court today agreed to settle a 20-year-old controversy stemming from Fidel Castro's nationalization of American banks in Cuba following the revolution that toppled Gen. Fulgencio Batista.

The court will review an appeal by First National City Bank of New York, which argues it should not have to pay $193,000 to a Cuban bank on an unpaid letter of credit.

The federal government urged the high court to hear the case on grounds the appeals court ruling rejecting the bank's claim gives foreign governments ready to expropriate American property a "blueprint" on how to shield themselves from suit in the United States.

In the months after the overthrow of Batista Jan. 1, 1959, the revolutionary government nationalized all private banks in Cuba. Among them were the Cuban branch of National City, now known as Citibank.

Prior to nationalization, American banks regularly issued "letters of credit" to Cuban importers seeking to purchase government. Thus, it can bring suit in U.S. courts to recover money owed by an American bank. The same court ruled against First Boston, finding Banco Nacional was "acting as an alter ego of the Cuban govern-

The federal government urged the high court to take up the issue because the appeals court decision will "severely limit For Wreck Victims, Time Is Critical

Firefighters across the state have gathered in Sanford this week to rip spart about two dozen automobiles. But, they're not practicing to become demolition experts. They're trying to find better ways of freeing accident victims from wreckage in life-saving time.

"About 80 percent of the calls we get are not fire-related. but rescue-related," said Gary Kaiser, Seminole County's public safety director. "Seminole County is sponsoring this week-long program, which involves about 44 firefighters from our agency and firefighters from Orlando, Altamonte Springs, Longwood, Casselberry, Cocoa Beach, Homestead Air Force Base and several other departments, so that these fire personnel can learn the most up-to-date methods for extricating people who are trapped in vehicles at crash

"During practice, we're averaging about 22 minutes to get the 'victim' from a crashed vehicle," Kaiser said. "The goal is to have them out within 30 minutes and so far we're surpassing that.

"The participants have also been able to get into a car in less than 10 seconds without damaging it to free, for instance, a child who is locked inside or and elderly person who has had a heart attack in the vehicle," he said.

"Wednesday there will be some classroom instruction for the participants but after that, they'll all be back out at the Sanford Airport working," Kaiser said.

Begin Scoffs At Reagan's Plan For Mideast Peace

Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin, in a speech marking the start of a national debate over the future of the Israeli-occupied West Bank, scoffed Monday at proposals for a Jordanian and Palestinian federation and vowed that Israel would never relinquish control of the territory.

Begin's speech, made in Jerusalem at the opening of Parliament's winter session, came as Lebanese President Amin Gemayel made an appeal to the U.N. General Assembly for an "immediate and unconditional withdrawal of all non-Lebanese forces from Lebanon."

Meanwhile, a Lebanese army unit moved into the Shouf Mountains southeast of Beirut to keep peace between right-wing Christian Phalangist forces and leftist Druze Moslem militias.

NAIROBI, Kenya (UPI)-Iran tried to win support today for the expulsion of Israel from the International Telecommunications Union by offering to assume U.S. payments to the agency if the United States withdraws.

Before the offer was made, the U.S. delegation had been optimistic the anti-Israel vote would fail. The United States contributes $3.1 million of the $40 million annual ITU budget.

The move, sponsored by hard-line Algerian, seeks to exclude Israel from the 157-nation organization because of the recent "massacres of Palestinians and Lebanese civillans" during Israel's invasion of

National Championship At Stake

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer

A Longwood born and raised Arabian stallion will compete this week in Louisville, Ky., for a national championship and a Sanford city official who bred the animal and owns his dam (mother) will be in the stands watching the show.

High Jack out of Royal Bay by High Hopes, a seven-time national champion park horse, will compete with other Arabians for the title of "Champion Amateur Park Horse." This type horse has an animated three-gait style - in walking, part horse trot (a high stepping trot) and canter.

High Jack, bred in Ft. Myers, was born to Royal Bay in Longwood and reared there by Sanford Personnel Director Francie Wynalda before he was sold 21/2 years ago for $7,500.

To compete in the annual show, a horse must be a champion already. With his two championships, High Jack now has a waiting list of mares for stud service.

Ms. Wynalda is going to Louisville this week to see how the horse, now owned by Ford Arabians of Texas, does in the competition. High Jack was champion at the prestigious

Scottsdale Show in February and he was named reserve (second place) national Champion Park Horse of Canada in August. "This shows that a small breeder can breed a championship horse," said Ms. Wynalda. She said Royal Bay is a pleasure horse and is due to deliver a new foal at the Wynalda home near Longwood in February. "The horse that wins the park horse championship will bring high stud fees for its owner," she said. The Louisville show is the largest Arabian breed show in the world and 1,500 horses will be

She said the high stepping park style comes naturally and cannot be trained into the horse. "All man can do is control the gait for uniformity and consistency," she said.

While Ms. Wynalda will be rooting for High Jack in the competition, she noted he has some tough competition. The Louisville show began Sunday and will end Saturday.

She plans to take Royal Bay back to High Hopes for breeding in the spring. Stud fees for a horse with the championship record of High Hopes can bring a stud fee of $2,000 to $25,000, Ms. Wynalda sald.

Currently, High Hopes' stud fee is $2,500, but she can pay for the fees through an installment arrangement.

Ms. Wynalda said Arabian horses are the oldest breed of horses in the world. Their ancestry, she said, can be traced back to the Egyptian desert for more than 2,000 years. Fine Arabians from Egypt, Saudi Arabia, Russia and Poland are imported into the United States.

She said an Arabian horse was recently brought into the United States from Poland and the sales price of Arabians of superior quality runs from $100,000 up. The high-priced horse imported from Poland is now syndicated for $10 million.

Ms. Wynalda explained that persons join the syndicate for stud rights.

She said even small breeders can recover their investment in a horse in a short time if it is championship quality. Breeding a good horse takes considerable research to match up blood lines.

She said High Jack's grand sire was an Egyptian desert horse and his mother, Royal Bay, is the daughter of a stallion that produced more winners than any Arabian in history.

It costs $1,500 to $2,000 for entry and stall fees and shipping for an owner to enter a horse in a national contest.

Ms. Wynalda got involved with horses and their breeding about six years ago. "I have a tremendous love for horses and decided the Arabian horse is the most beautiful and intelligent," she said. "I have a place to keep them at my home off Markham Woods Road. I bought the mother - Royal Bay - on installment payments."

High Jacks is the oldest of Royal Bay's offspring. There are three others.

She said horses appreciate in value and a breeder can get his investment in the mother back every time she produces a foal.

High Jack, an Arabian stallion, bred and raised by Sanford Personnel Director Francie Wynalda, (here with an unidentified rider) is competing for a national championship.

Dual Concorde Landing In Orlando

It's The Biggest Thing...Since Canned Peas'

ORIANDO (UPI) - About 180 people rocketed up to 1,200 miles to Florida in less than two hours aboard two supersonic Concorde jets - then spent another hour in buses creeping through 20 miles of tangled traffic.

"This is the biggest thing to hit Orlando since canned peas," Air France spokesman Gordon Bassham said Monday as the white needle-nosed planes made the first-ever simultaneous

"This is spectacular. What a sight to see," he said, clapping and flashing a wide grin as the planes touched down within seconds of each other at the Orlando International Airport. "Watching these babies come in was worth a million bucks," estimated 35,000 birdwatchers who gathered to watch the jets

Like a pair of swans gliding in for a landing on a smooth lake, the Concordes touched down on parallel, 12,000-foot runways after flying side-by-side for 12 miles. There were no sonic booms because the planes dropped to below the speed of sound (760 mph) several hundred miles out of Orlando.

The Air France jet flew to Orlando from New York, while the British Airways Concorde made a stop in Washington before coming to central Florida.

The Air France jet was scheduled to depart Orlando today on a non-stop flight to Paris, a record distance for a Concorde. said Fitz Fitzgerald, an Orlando architect who was among the The British plane was scheduled to return to Washington.

The passengers were foreign dignitaries and entertainers, who came to the Epcot Center for the dedications of the French and British pavilions this week. The British jet also included tourists, who paid $1,850 for the one-way trip from Europe.

Before Monday's landings, a Concorde had never visited Orlando and two supersonic jets had never touched down simultaneously at any airport in the world. The Concorde was developed by the French and British governments in the 1960s and early 1970. It has been in commercial service since 1976. Each jet costs between $50 million and $60 million.

The United States scrubbed supersonic transport development in March 1971.

DALLAS (UPI) - Bankrupt Braniff was excited about the possibilities. International Airways capped weeks of secret negotiations by signing a tentative contract with the nation's 14th largest carrier, Pacific Southwest, in hopes its planes can fly again by Braniff President Howard Putnam said Braniff and PSA must resolve labor and tinancial problems before Braniff planes are relaunched. PSA Chairman William Shimp said it probably be next spring when the venture takes off.

A Closeup Of The PACs

Democrats in Congress try to give the impression that Republicans are the biggest beneficiaries of political action committees (PAC).

Statistics compiled by the Federal Election Committee don't add up that way. Instead, PAC contributions reveal an entirely different picture: Democrats lead in political donations from special-interest groups. In the 1.5 years ending last June 30, they received $20 million, while Capitol Hill Republicans were given $14.5 million to trail by $5.5 million.

This is not a new development. In mid-1980, Democrats held a $5 million lead in campaign funds from PACs.

In the latest FEC tabulation, about $7.4 million of the $8 million in contributions went to Democrats, who also are doing quite well with PACs operated by corporate and professional groups. Corporate committees gave 44 percent of their donations to Democrats, who fared even better with other political action units. Nearly half of $10 million in contributions was given to Democrats by groups representing doctors, dentists, bankers, auto dealers, contractors, etc.

Total PAC contributions have soared; now they amount to about 3.5 times the total donated by such groups five years ago. The number of these committees also is mounting. The FEC list includes 3,479 PACs, or 900 more than two years

The growth and diversity of the political action groups disproves allegations hurled by liberal Democrats that PACs are a right-wing phenomenon when, in fact, they represent a side range of views and interests. Their support helps candidates with assorted views to offset some of the vast built-in advantages incumbents normally hold in a contest election.

The problem with many critics of PAC is they seem to believe that only their own point of view is not a special interest.

Beatles Unmatched

Twenty years ago four mop-topped, English musicians who played at the Cavern Club in murky Liverpool struck it big. Their song, "Love Me Do," was a leader on British charts.

Thus, the Beatles stood revealed, and the world underwent a revolution in popular music.

George Harrison, John Lennon, Paul Mc-Cartney and Ringo Starr gave rock music a new direction. Their lyrics had deep meaning for a generation in turmoil. Their devotees numbered in the millions.

International fame came in 1964, when the Beatles appeared on television's Ed Sullivan Show and then in concert in New York's Carnegie Hall. America was caught up in Beatlemania.

Their songs, such as "Ticket to Ride," "Strawberry Fields Forever," "Hey Jude," and "Come Together," still can be heard daily throughout the land despite the fact the Beatles began to drift apart in the late 1960s and never

Then came the tragic death of John Lennon, shot and killed in New York in 1980, a few weeks before Christmas.

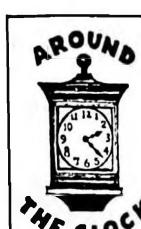

During the week celebrating the 20th anniversary, British radio broadcast Beatles' songs. Tours were conducted in Liverpool to see such sights as Ringo Starr's old home, the hospital where John Lennon was born during a World War II air raid, the restaurant where Lennon and his first wife had their wedding breakfast.

The faithful even search through the rubble of what once was the Cavern Club on Mathew Street in hope of finding some memento.

Times change. New artists lead the charts. But none can match the Beatles.

Can The GOP Save Its Jobs?

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The continuing dismal economic news - capped by the first double-digit unemployment rate since the Depression - is changing the face of the upcoming elections.

Many Republican candidates have reinforced their already-defensive stance. In recent weeks, the GOP has been telling its candidates to hold firm and to broadcast the national party line. This line - known as the "Give the Man a Chance" campaign - states that falling interest rates, lowered inflation and the stock-market upswing indicate that President Reagan's economic policy is starting to work and that, given time, it will return the nation to economic health.

But for many GOP candidates, especially WILLIAM A. RUSHER for those first-term congressmen elected in the 1980 Reagan sweep, the new unemployment figures are the last straw. They are frantically trying to put some distance between themselves and the administration's economic program - but many are finding this impossible, since their voting records show support for that program right down the Many Republican professionals have held out hope that the overall damage to the party would be held down because of most GOP candidates' financial advantage over their Democratic opponents. However, the continued gloomy economic news may well change this.

An examination of reports that political action committees have filed with the Federal Election Commission shows that, thus far, PACs have given most of their money to incumbents. Through June 30, of the $35 million that PACs gave to 1982 congressional campaigns, more than $27 million went to incumbents, while $3.5 million went to campaigns for open seats. This means that only about 10 percent of PAC money has gone to the challengers of incumbents.

This is a normal giving pattern: Traditionally, incumbents get their money first, while Congress is in session and while special interests can hope to get some immediate legislative favors for their dollars. In most elections, money starts flowing to challengers in the final weeks of a campaign.

But the PACs are not inclined to funnel their money into losing causes — at least, in more than token amounts. Most PACs now are reevaluating campaigns before making final disbursements, and a great deal of the money that GOP candidates hoped for may not be forthcoming.

As the head of one major corporate PAC says, "Obviously, many GOP challengers, especially those for House seats, who looked strong as recently as late summer no longer appear as viable. We will be sending out our final checks about mid-month (October), and I'm sure we are going to sit out more than a few races we thought we would commit to."

The Republican Party still holds a huge dollar advantage over the Democrats - but, in coming days, more than a few Democratic incumbents will be getting unexpected checks from corporate PACs. Many PACs are coming to grips with the fact that they will have to deal with these Democrats in the next Congress.

But some GOP strategists think that the economic news may be so bad that, paradoxically, it actually will benefit Republicans - by keeping voters away from the polls.

These strategists talk about growing "voter disaffection" caused by one pessimistic economic report after another. They point to polls that show considerable voter confusion and the growing feeling among many voters.

Global Bad-Mouthing

SEOUL, Korea (NEA) - Maybe it's Coolidge administration of the 1920s," because I read it sitting here in Seoul, rather than at home in New York City, that Charles Maechling Jr.'s article in The Los Angeles Times, which was picked up and reprinted all over the globe in five separate editions of the International Herald Tribune, annoyed me so.

I don't know who this character Maechling is - the Tribune describes him only as "a resident scholar at the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace in Washington," which is to say just another liberal feeding at one of their older tax-exempt troughs - but, whoever he is, he is entitled to loathe Ronald Reagan if he wants to, and to spew his venom all over any newspaper crazy enough to carry it. As the saying goes, it's a free country.

But here I am in Korea, reading the Trib's Hong Kong edition, which is a facsimile of the Paris original radioed by satellite to Hong Kong, printed there, then distributed and read within 24 hours by tens of thousands of English speakers all over the Far East. There ae also editions published in London, Zurich and Singapore. By sheer luck if nothing else. Br'er Maechling has found himself a bully pulpit for bad-mouthing Ronald Reagan all over the world.

And what does he tell us? (Us, and many thousands of Europeans and Asians hungry for informed opinions on American topics.) Under a Washington dateline, he elects to discuss the condition of the NATO alliance:

"Like a marriage breaking up, the alienation between western Europe and the United States is proceeding apace, accompanied by the usual symptoms of mutual recrimination, non-communication and psychological withdrawal. Unless the trend is arrested, the next step will be separation (the withdrawal of U.S. forces?) followed by divorce. For this state of affairs, the Reagan administration is largely responsible."

We can dismiss any possibility that such Grade A baloney will be taken seriously by Helmut Kohl or Margaret Thatcher or Francols Mitterrand - or for that matter by any other sensible West European. We can also set aside, as inadvertent and in one sense irrelevant, the sheer pleasure that passage will cause when it is read in the Kremlin. But can you imagine how (just for instance) it will fuel and anti-American blases of the "Greens," the new leftist party of disaldent youths in West Germany? Or (a far different example) how it will dismay the students of English in the universities here in Korea? "For the first time since the Calvin Maechling goes on, "The political leadership of the United States is provincial in background and isolationist in spirit. In contrast to his predecessors, Mr. Reagan has neither the experience nor the Intellectual roots to appreciate the problems of Europe and to feel an affinity to European culture."

In contrast to what predecessor? Harry Truman, with all his limitless experience in appreciating the problems of Europe? To Lyndon Johnson, with his plercing affinity for European culture? To Gerald Ford (speaking of provincials)? To those muscle-bound specimens of "intellectual roots," Richard Nixon and Jimmy Carter?

Maechling is also full of specific com-

"In December 1981, (the Reagan administration) cut off funding for the International Institute of Applied Systems Analysis, a globally acclaimed experiment in East-West scientific cooperation, thereby closing off a valuable window to the West for Polish, Czech, Hungarian and Bulgarian scientists." (And, just possibly, for Russian scientists, too?)

"It has allowed the Israeli membership issue to interfere with full participation in the specialized agencies of the United Nations" another of the "crippling effects," Maechling charges, "of a sterile conservative ideology masquerading as principle." (How long do you suppose it took him to confect that gaudy phrase?)

The current publisher of the International Herald Tribune is Lee Huebner, whom I used to know slightly when he was a red-hot Rockefeller Republican back in the 1960s. But Lee, if you think you are serving some worthwhile purpose by spreading garbage like Maechling's in front of an important international audience, you've come a long way from the Rippon Society, baby.

Eyeing Mount Vernon

It is as familiar to Americans as the Washington monument. In fact it is his monument, one which bears the first president's personal touch and knew his presence. Mount Vernon.

An interesting point of which most Americans are unaware is that the colonnade white mansion overlooking the Potomac south of Washington is not public property and is not maintained by public funds.

It is owned and operated by the Mount Vernon Ladies' Association of the Union, a private organization founded in something of an emergency situation to acquire the property and hold it in trust for the nation.

That was in 1853, long past its glory days when Mount Vernon was all but emptled of Washington's possessions and heirs, who wanted to dispose of their rapidly deteriorating legacy. Neither the federal government nor the Commonwealth of Virginia was interested in taking it on.

Ann Pamela Cunningham of South Carolina was. She initiated a nationwide fund campaign that in five years raised the $200,000 purchase price.

The Mount Vernon Ladies have fulfilled their trust with distinction. During the Civil War, Washington's home was neutral ground where soldiers in both Blue and Gray were welcome. But without arms.

The more than a century since has been one long process of restoration. The goal is to restore the mansion and its outbuildings to their condition in 1799, the last year of Washington's life. To the original purchase of 200 acres, an additional 300 have been added as protection against encroachment by one of the nation's most rapidly expanding metropolitan areas.

To those who have never seen it, Mount Vernon today is a memorable experience. And to those who not have seen it for several years, it may be a stunning surprise.

Intensive research, including analysis of fragments of original paint, has yield ever clearer picture of Mount Vernon's appearance when the Washingtons were in residence. The rooms are being refinished accordingly, in bright colors that are in initially startling contrast to the faded shades our time has come to accept as "colonial."

Original furnishings and other personal possessions of the Washingtons have been reclaimed and restored to Mount Vernon's rooms. The museum has also become a research center, drawing scholars to a growing library and archival collection.

All this requires money. Since its purchase, Mount Vernon has been financed primarily by admission fees, sales from the museum shop and gifts. Most of these have come from the Mount Vernon Ladies themselves, a selfperpetuating association currently numbering 33 members, no more than one from any one state.

These resources are no longer adequate. So for the first time since the original purchase the ladies are asking the assistance of the nation in a $10 million capital campaign to fund necessities ranging from a $2.8 million library and research building to a new fire engine ($80,000).

Big money is being sought, and if it is really blg it brings name recognition. Named gift opportunities include the research center, for a million. A reading room goes for $75,000.

But contributions can be much-muchmore modest. For $500 and under, any American can become a Mount Vernon Donor and an active participant in the preservation of the American heritage. Full information can be obtained from:

The Mount Vernon Ladies' Association Mount Vernon, VA 22121 It could not be more simple. Or worthwhile.

Dangerous To Ignore Iran-Iraq War

WASHINGTON - While the Reagan administration has been preoccupied with Lebanon, it has been virtually ignoring a far more important problem a few hundred miles to the east: The Iran-Iraq war.

Lebanon has little strategic importance to the United States. Iran, on the other hand, is vital to our interests. It has always served as a roadblock to Soviet expansion toward the Persian Gulf oilfields on which the Western World depends.

But the exigencies of war have endangered Iran's status as a buffer state. In his hour of need, Ayatoliah Khomeini has turned to the Soviet bloc for replenishment of his war machine.

For their part, the crafty cynics in the Kremlin are perfectly willing to play both ends against the middle, furnishing arms to both Iran and Iraq. Continuing chaos in the Middle East serves Russia's purposes as effectively as a victory for one side or the other. And the longer the war goes on, the more likely it is that chaos will engulf the entire region.

The war has taken a fearful toll in lives and material. Even conservative intelligence estimates place the number killed at 80,000, with an additional 20,000 wounded and 45,000 taken prisoner. (The ratio of killed to wounded, the reverse of most wars, reflects the ferocity of the conflict and the primitive quality of the medical care.)

In addition, a vast amount of military hardware has been destroyed. Both countries are increasingly relying on the Soviet bloc for replacements.

When the war began two years ago, 70 percent of Iraq's equipment was Sovietmade. Last year, the Russians sent Iraq 400 T-86 tanks from Poland and 250 T-72s. Intelligence sources told my associate Dale Van Atta these are 2,000 Soviet advisers in

Meanwhile, there have been reports of anywhere from 50 to 200 North Koreans attached to the Iranian armed forces on the Iraqi front. The Russians have encouraged both their Syrian and North Korean clients to provide Iran with armored personnel carriers, air defense systems, 130-millimeter guns and small arms.

The Soviets have also expanded their own influence in Tehran by providing military and intelligence advisers and by bolstering the Iranian communist party, Tudeh. When Khomeini finally passes from the scene, the Russians clearly intend to occupy positions of strength for the turmoil that seems sure to Israel is supplying some backdoor military aid to Iran - a shrewd move to cultivate close ties with the Iranian army, which is the most likely successor to Khomeini. Just as the United States has been beholden to Israel for most of its intelligence information out of post-shah Iran, so we may have to go begging to Israel for introductions to some new nost-Khomeini military regime.

Though the United States is officially neutral in the Iran-Iraq war, as a practical matter the Reagan administration won't tilt toward Iran, both because of the residual bitterness over the American hostages and because it would outrage our moderate Arab friends like Jordan and Saudi Arabia, which are desperately afraid an Iranian victory would spread Khomelni's revolution.

Yet there is no ignoring Iran's strategic position, which far transcends that of Iraq to say nothing of Lebenon's. Dr. Joseph Churbs, the farsighted director of the Center for International Security, says the Reagan administration has "misplaced the focus of its Middle East policy on Beirut and the Palestinian issue, and explains:

"The outcome there is marginal when compared to the (Persian) Gulf, which is the epicenter of world politics. Unless we device a policy thwarting potential Soviet predominance (there), Europe will be further neutralized and the U.S. isolated to the point of genuine jeopardy."

Willis' Dink Stops 'Noles

Teresa Willis scored on a dink after a long series of volleying Monday night to lift the Oviedo Lions to a 15-7, 8-15, 15-6 victory crer Seminole in nonconference prep valeyball action at Seminole High.

"Taesa's dink was the turning point," said Oviedo coach Anita Carlson. "We must have volleyed for two minutes refore somebody finally scored."

The victory improved Oviedo's record to 12-3. The Lions host Jones in a big District 3A-8 game Wednesday at 3:30 p.m. Seminole, 11-7, journeyed to Port Orange today for a 4 o'clock game with Spruce Creek and Mainland.

Seminole coach Beth Corso felt her team's inability to defend Oviedo's dinks hurt the 'Noles. "We weren't covering for the dinks and we backed out of our attack," she said. "I don't know if it was a lack of reading their offense or what. We were always two seconds late."

In the first set, Fran Foster served points 6 through 12 and Fayetta Robinson crunched several good spikes to hand the Lions an easy win.

"We were playing very wall and they weren't. They just couldn't seem to get going," said Carlson.

In set two, Sanford's Teri Hardy got the 'Noles going with her serving as the Seminoles jumped on top. Hardy returned to hit the final three for the

In junior varsity action, coach Nancy Van Wormer's Seminoles concluded an excellent 10-2 season with a 15-4, 8-15, 15-6 victory over Oviedo.

Cindy Hogan and Katie Barbour served six points each while Kaylyn Withrow and Janet Hauck spiked four points apiece as the 'Noles coasted to an easy win.

' Oviedo regrouped to take the second set, but Angela Galloway, Octavia Horn and Debbie Alderman keyed Seminole's third set victory.

Howell Girls Can't Win For Losing In Postal Run

By SAM COOK Herald Sports Editor

Coach Tom Hammontree's Lake Howell girls picked the wrong time to finally beat Lyman and Lake Brantley this year.

The Silver Hawks would have won the county gathering at Lyman High if the meet had used a conventional scoring method. However, Monday night's get together was the Postal Run and the top five times were added together for a place instead of the order of finish. "That shows you how important Schowonda Williams' time was," said Lake Mary coach Mike Gibson about individual winner of the girls meet. "It was low enough to enable Lyman to pull out the win, although all three schools were close."

Trinity Prep freshman Adrienne Politowicz was second to Williams in 11:55. Trinity eighth grader Katle Sams was ninth in 12:34.6.

Lyman ran the two miles in a combined total of 62:47.1 as Williams (11:53.2), Cindy Gaskell (10th, 12:35.5), Donna Kilbourne (12th, 12:39.9), Michelle Schindler (14th, 12:47) and Angie Dilello (15th, 12:51.5) gave the narrow victory to Lyman. Sara Ellmore was 24th in 13:34.5.

Lake Brantley, minus junior Kathryn Hayward but plus senior Ellen Stern, was s4cond in 63:02.2. Lake Howell, led by senior standout Kerry Pyter, placed third with a clocking of 63:09.8. Lake Mary (66:30.9), Trinity Prep (67:30.9) and Seminole (70:36.1) followed in order.

"We just came over to have fun." said Hammontree when informed he would have won the race with conventional scoring, "It's no big deal. The only race that matters is the one (State Meet) at the end of the year. That's what we're looking forward to."

Hammontree also had an excellent showing by freshman Angle Smith. "She really ran a competitive race," said Lyman coach Joe Laughlin. "That had to be one of the highlights of the meet."

While Hammontree is pointing to the State Meet, Lyman's boys have had it within sight for some time now since there hasn't been much competition in the county. Coach David Huggins' varsity boys coasted to over a three-minute victory while the junior varsity boys swamped the opposition in their two-mile run. "They're awesome, that's for sure," said Seminole coach Ted Tombros about the JV race which Lyman won by almost four minutes. "I don't know where he (Huggins) gets them. He has them coming from everywhere. He's about 12

Lake Howell's Kenny Cheeseman, as McBroom for the number one spot in 9:30.6. McBroom ran 9:41.6. Lake Mary's Derek Tangeman shattered the Rams' school record in the two mile by over 50 seconds with a 9:48 clocking for third, according to Lake Mary coach Mark McGee.

Lyman's varsity ran a 50:41.3 to beat Lake Howell's 53:56.1. Trinity Prep (54:01), Lake Mary (54:20.7), Seminole (54:32.9), Lake Brantley (54:56.1) and Oviedo (55:17.2) were next in line. Brantley was without its top runner, Mike Garriques.

In the JV race, Marc Overbay (10:44.1) romped to a 13-second win over teammate Steve Howe. Lyman's Pat Bell was third and Jon Golnik was fourth. The 28. Kim Wager (LM) 7:07.7.

'Hounds also had Jim Felicetti (sixth), Steve Grundorf (seventh), Todd Kehrer (eighth) and Jame Rowle (10th) in the first 10.

In the JV girls run, Lake Brantley was just as dominate, taking the first five places. Laura Barnhill ran the mile in 5:56.7. Tammy Roberts, Mindy Berridge, Kim Pacetelli and Melissa Meghdadi followed her home. Lake Howell's Candy

Herzog Searches For Solution To Soothe Torrid Yount

ST. LOUIS (UPI) - Whitey Herzog is so honest it hurts.

One writer covering the World Series, who has known him a long time, was trying to make him feel a little better Sunday night after the Brewers handed his St. Louis Cardinals a 6-4 beating in Milwaukee to move out in front in the World Series, three games to two.

"You're going back home now, you'll be all right," the newsman tried to encourage him.

"I dunno," answered the Cardinals' manager candidly, "We gotta get some things straightened out."

One of those things undoubtedly is how the Cardinals should pitch to Robin Yount, the Brewers' spectacular hitting and fielding shortstop who has done everything but take over the entire Series by himself. Yount easily is the most dominant player on both sides; beyond question he is the best ballplayer on the field. Batting a cool, .524 with 11 hits in 21 at-bats, he's only two hits shy of the record 13 hits in a World Series set by Bobby Richardson of the New York Yankees in 1964 and equaled by Lou-Brock of the Cardinals in 1968. When he homered into the right-field seats off loser Bob Forsch in the seventh inning Sunday to complete a perfect day in which he had a double and a pair of singles, the curly-haired, 27-year-old Yount, who also had four hits in the Series opener, became the first player to have four hits in two games of the same World Series. "We haven't pitched him too well," Herrog sald, "When we get the ball

the ball where we want..." From the instant the ball left his bat, there was no question about his homer, a fastball which Forsch got up a little too much and Yount deposited in the right-field seats, 380 feet from the plate into the wind.

The way Yount is going against the Cardinals now, he's almost a cinch to wind up with the keys to that car they give to the Series' MVP. Anytime they ask him about that, he says he doesn't care about it. Why should he when he already owns the keys to the kingdom in

He's a cinch to win the American League's MVP Award on the basis of what he did to help the Brewers win their first Eastern Division title and AL pennant. Yount wound up with the second-best batting average in the league, his .331 one point less than Kansas City's Willie Wilson's, and he had 114 RBI and 29 homers along with

Late in the season, the fans in Milwaukee, shouted "MVP, MVP," every time Yount came to the plate. He had no reaction to that but he did

he snapped: "Knock it off, knock it

He meant it too.

"He's not hung up on himself," says Sal Bando, the Brewers' former third baseman who now is one of their assistant general managers.

Yount's appearance at Milwaukee County Stadium Sunday was his last of the year, and the record 56,562 fans on hand showed how they felt about him when he acknowledged their tremendous cheers in a curtain call along with Manager Harvy Kuenn, winning pitcher Mike Caldwell and outflelder Charlie Moore.

"I've said it before and I'll say it again," Kuenn, an old shortstop himself, said about Yount. "He's the best overall shortstop I have ever seen

Harry Dalton, the Brewers' general manager who spent 18 years in the Orioles' organization and was involved in four pennants and two championships with them, looks at Yount and is reminded of Baltimore's greatest performers.

"I'd compare Robin to Brooks Robinson as both a person and a player," Dalton says. "Neither ever got highly angry or depressed when he was very young and neither has any peaks or valleys. Both are tops in my book."

Angelo's Restaurant continued its unbeaten streak in Altamonte Women's Softball League play as it won twice and gained a full game's lead in the pennant race at the halfway mark. Lisa Cheney, Kerry Young and Laureen Garrett led the way against Pandemonium with three hits each. Mary Meier and Laura Atkinson chimed in with a pair apiece. Young had four RBI. Young and Cheney had the lone extra base hits, doubles.

In the Sparks game, the Altamonte defending batting champ, Barbara Michalek, led Angelo's attack with three hits. Cheney, Sandy Denmark, Rose Fry and Tempesta all added two each. Cheney had four RBI again and a double. Chris Fry pinch hit with the score 4-3 and ignited a three run Angelo inning to clinch the

The Mice sparkled defensively led by the infleld of Atkinson at third, Denmark at short, Mary McDonough at second and Fry at first. They handled 24 putouts and assists between them, to perfection. ### Official: Thorpe Medals Back

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — It's official.

Charlotte Thorpe, daughter of the late Jim Thorpe. was read a telegram Monday from the Internationl Olympic Committee formally announcing the IOC decision to restore her father's 1912 Olympic medals.

The telegram said: "It is my great pleasure to inform you officially that the executive board of the IOC meeting in Lausanne (Switzerland) on the 12th day of October, 1982, decided to restore the amateur status of James Thorpe and award the two medals to his family on the occasion of the IOC meeting in Los Angeles in January, 1983. As president of IOC, I shall present the medals personally to you. Sincerely, Juan Samaranch, President IOC.

Ms. Thorpe said she expected to receive the telegram in the mail Tuesday. She had been informally notified of the board's decision Wednesday.

Devils Whip Flyers, 3-1

The New Jersey Devils aren't sure if anybody around the NHL takes them seriously yet, but if not, they're not complaining.

"I hope they continue to not take us seriously," defenseman Bob Lorimer said after the Devils' 3-1 victory over the Philadelphia Flyers Monday night at the Meadowlands Arena in East Rutherford, N.J.

New Jersey, the transplanted Colorado franchise, is now 3-1-3 including wins over Patrick Division rivals Philadelphia and the New York Rangers.

Bob MacMillan, brother of Devils' General Manager-Coach Billy MacMillan, scored two goals and assisted on another to help New Jersey, which also received a 30-save effort from goaltender Chico Reach.

Philadelphia took a 1-0 lead on Behn Wilson's unassisted goal at 3:36 of the first period, but New Jersey tied it when MacMillan converted a pass from Don Lever at 5:53 of the opening period. MacMillan was credited with his second goal at 14:38 when Aaron Broten's shot from the left faceoff circle bounded oil MacMillan's skate past Flyers goalie Rick St. Croix.

In Bloomington, Minn., the North Stars remained the NHL's only unbeaten team at 5-0-1 with a 4-3 win over the St. Louis Blues. Defenseman Gary Sargent scored two goals and Tom McCarthy netted his first of the year with 2:31 to play to lift Minnesota.

McCarthy's late goal snapped a 3-3 tie, which St. Louis achieved on Brian Sutter's second goal of the game 8:10 into the final period. It was the third tie of the game, as St. Louis, 3-4, opened the scoring 29 seconds into the game on Sutter's rebound of Rob Ramage's point shot.

Cecil Cooper (left) and Doug McClure are two of the reasons the Milwaukee Brewers need just one victory over the St. Louis Cardinals to wrap up the World Series tonight. Cooper has produced several clutch hits while McClure has been tough out of the bullpen. Game time is 8:20 on NBC.

Brewers Look For Break Of Form Against St. Louis

ST. LOUIS (UPI) - The Milwaukee Brewers who seldom do anything the easy way, hope to break form tonight and capture the World Series with one game to spare.

Leading three games to two, they send veteran Don Sutton against St. Louis Cardinals' rookie John Stuper in Game 6, aiming to avoid a seventh and deciding game.

"This is a little different situation for us as we've been behind the last couple of weeks," said Milwaukee rightfielder Charlle Moore, a .350 hitter in the Series with three doubles. "We're putting the pressure on someone else and now it's up to them to catch us."

With Robin Yount hitting .524 and the Milwaukee defense producing enough plays to relocate on Broadway, catching the Brewers could prove difficult. The Cardinals nevertheless believe their home field can help generate some runs and they believe Stuper can prevent some.

"The pressure is something I'm thinking about right now, and maybe after the game I'll reflect on it," Stuper said. "If you're out there on the mound shaking, it can interfere with what you do." The weather forecast calls for temperatures in the 50s and a 40 percent chance of showers, but it might take a snowstorm to stop Yount, a candidate for both the American League and World Series MVP Awards.

He is 11-for-21 and has become the only player to achieve two four-hit games in the Series. He is within two hits of the World Series' record shared by the New York Yankees' Bobby Richardson and the Cardinals' Lou Brock. Milwaukee Manager Harvey Kuenn is running out of ways to describe him.

"As I've said before, he is the best allaround shortstop I've ever seen play," he said. St. Louis Manager Whitey Herzog is running out of ways to pitch to him.

"We kept trying to get the ball in a spot," said Herzog. "Every time we get the ball in the

Baseball

"He's done the job defensively all year long and he certainly has done it offensively," said Brewers' first baseman Cecil Cooper. "... I don't think he cares for all the attention."

The attention will increase if the Brewers win. But don't be surprised if they make a struggle of it. They lost three straight games before capturing the AL East in a showdown in Baltimore, then became the first team ever to capture an AL playoff after dropping the first two games.

Now the Brewers, whose only breather was a 10-0 rout of the Cardinals in the opener, need one victory in two games on the artificial surface at Busch Stadium for the world championship.

The Cardinals, who left 12 runners stranded in Sunday's 6-4 loss, hope to leave Milwaukee one victory short.

"We certainly can't count them out," said Cooper, "One advantage we have is that we've got possibly our best pitcher going in Sutton." Sutton failed to hold a 3-0 lead in Game 2 of the World Series but, who knows, he may need the pressure of a deciding game to be at his

Despite the emphasis on Yount, Milwaukee's defense, and the Cardinals' home field, the Series might ultimately revolve around the bullpens. The Cardinals' Bruce Sutter, pitching with his team trailing, allowed two runs and may be working on a bad knee. "He's just a human being," said Herzog.

"He's not going to get you out every time." And the Brewers appear unlikely to entrust their season to ace Rollie Fingers after his being inactive for seven weeks. That leaves it up to Bob McClure, who has two saves in this Series, and Pete Ladd.

No matter what happens, Milwaukee should make it a nail-biter. After all, it's a little late to

Negotiations Creep Along

HUNT VALLEY, Md. (UPI) - Negotiations in the 29-day National Football League strike were to resume today amid conflicting reports about why mediator Sam Kagel canceled the latest scheduled bargaining session.

Kagel rescheduled Monday night's meeting between negotiators to 9 a.m. EDT today, a union source said. The 73-year-old mediator postponed the talks to allow both sides to continue with separate meetings. But Jack Donlan, the NFL's chief negotiator, insisted management was ready to appear at the bargaining table Monday night. "We waited all day for the union to show up, but they had other things to do," Donlan said in a rare statement to the media since the marathon talks began a week ago. Ed Garvey, executive director of the NFL Players Association, said the players also were prepared to convene at the bargaining table with management representatives and Kagel. "We're ready to go if they (management) want to go," Garvey said when asked why Kagel had canceled the talks.

Garvey and Donlan talked to the press Monday night despite Kagel's imposition of a news blackout when talks began at a hotel in the Baltimore suburbs. Both sides met without Kagel to open discussions on the crucial ecnomic issues. But after the hour-long meeting the two sides spent the rest of the day meeting separately with Kagel shuttling between the groups.

Both management and union sources reported little progress in the talks. A management source said the discussions "did not give us a lot to jump up and down about."

The central economic issue in the strike is the players' demand for a $1.6 billion fund over four years that would be used to pay salaries, bonuses and severance benefits. About half of the money would come from the league's contract with the television networks.

The union's proposal also calls for a wage scale that sets salaries for rookies ranging from $81,000 to $94,000 and $330,000 to $409,000 for 12-year veterans.

Garvey said Monday night the union will not budge on the wage scale and need for the compensation fund.

The owners' latest offer is a total package of $1.6 billion over five years with no money being put into a compensation fund. The money would be used to pay each player a $10,000 bonus for each year played since 1977.

90,000 Disguised As Seats Watch NFL Players Game

LOS ANGELES (UPI) - To borrow an old line, either very few people showed up at the Coliseum to watch Monday night's NFL Players Association game, or more than 90,000 people came disguised as seats.

Promoters said the attendance was 5,331, but most observers put it closer to 4,000. And of that number, only 681 paid to watch the AFC players defeat the NFC players, 31-27. The rest attended compliments of the promoters.

The game, however, was nationally televised by Ted Turner's cable network and more than 70 commercial stations around the

Despite the light turnout, the players - on the 28th day of the strike — didn't seem disappointed. The winners earned $4,000 each while the losers picked up $3,000. When you're out of work, every little bit helps.

"I thought it was great," said Chicago quarterback Vince Evans. "The intensity wasn't quite as much as a regular game, but we all played hard and had a good time: The only difference was that the players were all taking good, high, clean shots. I appreciated

It's Time For Marketers To Stop Thinking Young

NEW YORK (UPI) — The aging of the American population has become a reality, says a Fordham University graduate business school associate dean, and that means the elderly are becoming demographic in-group for marketers.

This aging of the populace has been predicted periodically for decades but has been slow in arriving.

Some demographers think the baby booms following War War II and the Korean war delayed it. But Fordham Prof.

OWNER: CONNIE DYE

of the population seems to prevail in Sweden and other countries that have not had baby booms. He thinks the aging simply is the result of improved geriatric medicine and the fact young couples are having fewer children. Regardless of the reason.

the fact is the fastest growing market in America today is persons over 55. It also is the most affluent market.

"More than 70 percent of them own their homes, many with no mortgages, and for Louis C. Kaufman said that's those over 65, per-capita not really clear because the spending is more than two and same time schedule for aging a half times that of the general population," Kaufman said. "Households headed by persons over 55 have 28 percent of the nation's discretionary income, while families headed by a man or woman under 34 have only 15 percent and families whose head is under 25 have a mere 1 percent of discretionary income." Yet, Kaufman said, marketers have been very slow to recognize this demographic trend and absorb its implications.

Earlier this year, Sandra Timmermann, a market researcher, made the same point in an article in the Journal of the Institute for Socio-economics. She said marketers cling to misconceptions and outright myths about the elderly in America.

Ms. Timmermann saw in this a great opportunity for business to escape the recession and rebuild sales by abandoning the "think young" policy that has been so popular in the business world ever since World War

Coming Back

ATLANTA (UPI) - Former federal budget director Bert Lance, who was forced out of the Carter White House because of questionable banking practices and later vindicated by an Atlanta jury, is on the rise again in Georgia politics.

The portly millionaire banker from Calhoun, who started as a $24-a-week teller and wound up directing the nation's finances, has kept a low profile since his acquittal on bank fraud charges in 1980.

But the political bug that bit Lance in 1966 has not let go. Lance considered running for governor this year, but instead backed winning Democratic candidate Joe Frank Harris and parlayed that into the nomination to head Georgia's Democratic Party. Lance is now virtually assured of the post when party delegates vote Sept. 25.,

Lance said as head of Georgia's Democratic Party, he will take a leadership role in national politics. Georgia and other southern states, he predicted, will have a major role in selecting the 1984 Democratic presidential nominee.

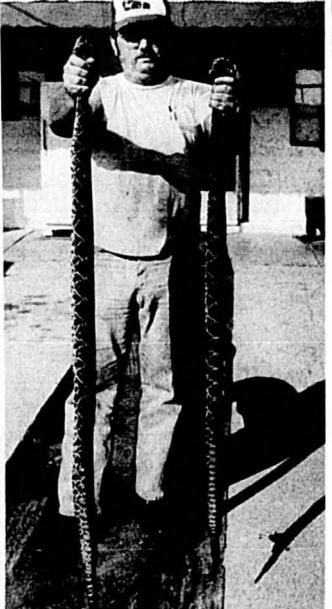

Lance began his political career in 1966 when he met and befriended Jimmy Carter, who was campaigning for governor. As president of the Calhoun National Bank, Lance mobilized support for Carter in north Georgia. Carter lost that year, but was elected in 1970 and put Lance in charge of the state transportation department.

When Carter decided to campaign for the presidency, he picked Lance to succeed him. Despite spending $1 million, Lance finished third in a 12-man race for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

But Lance's political fortunes were far from over. Lance, who calls himself a "country banker" and "just plain Jolks," became president of the National Bank of Georgia in 1975 and a year later Carter tapped him for the Office of Management and Budget. In Washington, Lance's flamboyant lifestyle raised eyebrows and instead of "just plain folks," he became known as a wheeler-dealer.

Lance and his wife, LaBelle, owned a 60-room Atlanta mansion, a 300-acre Calhoun farmhouse and a Sea Island summer home. Their Atlanta house, called Butterfly Manna, was furnished in antiques.

Lifter Must Eat Wholesome Foods

DEAR DR. LAMB -- I am a 23-year-old male. I have been exercising vigorously three times a week with weight training equipment and have been doing so for a year. I weigh 150 pounds but could afford to gain some weight. I eat three to four wellbalanced meals a day but feel that I do not consume enough high-grade protein. I started taking a powdered protein supplement and used it for four months before quitting because of rumors of harmful effects it could have on kidneys. Don't weight lifters need extra protein to build muscle tissue?

DEAR READER - During your training program you may have eliminated some body fat, using it for calories, while you may have increased your muscles. sometimes obscures a real gain in muscle, if you just look at pounds.

Now, I have to say that promoting protein powders to those who want to grow muscles is one of the biggest ripoffs in the health market. Protein supplements are fine for people who cannot or will not eat enough of the right wholesome foods, but that usually does not include people in weight training.

Keep in mind that each pound of lean muscle you develop contains only 100 grams of protein. If you gained a pound of muscle a week, your body would need an additional 100 grams of protein a week. You could eat a pound of steak and get get that much of the same proteins that you use to build muscles. Most people wouldn't have much trouble eating a pound of lean beef a week in addition to their regular diet. You can get essentially the same protein from fish and poultry.

And milk provides from eight to 10 grams of good quality protein. You need 56 grams of protein a day even if you are not weight training. If you increase that to 100 grams a day (easily met with fortified skim milk and meat) you will have far more good quality protein than you need. Be sure to get enough calories (which don't need to be from protein), or your protein will be used for energy rather than muscle building.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 5-4. Weight Training for Energy and Weight Control, to give you more details about diet and the factors that control muscle growth.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I have been taking thyroid pills for six years now. What would be the symptoms if I would stop taking them? I am taking Synthroid, I know tiredness would be one sign as that is how we found out that my thyroid was low.

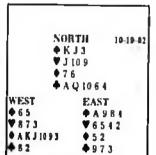

DEAR READER - Yes. you can feel sluggish and tired if you have low thyroid function, but most fatigue is on an entirely different basis. Put another way, just because a person is tired does not mean he has low thyroid function.

The same applies to weight gain. Individuals who have low thyroid function may gain weight while eating very little. Their metabolism has slowed down. But most people's weight problems are unrelated to a low thyroid condition.

Oily thick skin, coarse oily hair, menstrual disorders and intolerance to cold are all

If you stop your medicine and you didn't need it in the first place your thyroid gland might just start producing more thyroid hormone and you would not notice anything. But if your thyroid does not function normally, then that can't happen and you might have some of the symptoms I mentioned, and perhaps other changes as

Vulnerable: East-West Dealer: South West North East South

Pass 3 NT Pass Pass Opening lead #A

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

One of the oldest of the defensive conventions is that when you open an ace against a no-trump contract you are telling your partner to play his highest card in the suit

Hence, when West opens the ace of diamonds against South's normal three notrump contract, East will follow with the five spot. South will want West to continue the suit and should false-card with his eight. This eight-spot play will give West a problem. West will not have seen the queen, four or deuce. He will be sure that South holds the queen. He won't know about the four and deuce.

West may hope that South had not false carded and continue with the diamond king. In that case South will make four no-trump.

If West is clairvoyant enough to read South's slight attempt to bamboozle him. West will abandon diamonds and probably shift to a heart. South will run off three hearts and five clubs and eventually lead a spade. East will take his ace, lead his deuce of diamonds and leave South to reflect that down one may be good bridge, but it certainly isn't happy bridge. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)
